GREAT BATTLE IS STILL RAGING FIERCELY ALONG 250-MILE LINE IN THE EAST WITHOUT DECISION

RUSS CLAIM ADVANTAGE ON BOTH FLANKS

Outcome of Struggle Rests on Results in Center Section.

Austrians and Germans Are Pressing Offensive on the San.

Petrograd Says They Can Go No Further in That Locality.

London, May 22.—A great battle is still raging along a 250-mile front on the eastern line. Although Russia apparently is gaining on both flanks the decision must come along the sixty-mile front in the center, along the river San in central Galicia, where the Austrians and Germans are still pressing the offensive.

The latest Petrograd communication states that this attack is being checked between the San and the great marshes of the Dniester. The Russian press, while admitting that the Teutonic forces have established themselves across the San, declares they can go no farther in that direction. Petrograd also has been cheered by the official report that the Russians are again advancing against the Turks in the Caucasus.

French Stop Attack.

On the western line, Paris reports that the French have stopped a strong night attack of the Germans north of Ypres, and also have driven the invaders from the slopes of Lorette, thus giving the allies full possession of this important salient.

Concerning the Dardanelles one of the most significant reports is the dispatch from Sir Ian Hamilton, comman-

WILSON'S SPEECH MODEL OF ENGLISH

Remarks of President to Be Used in Philadelphia Public Schools.

Philadelphia, May 21.—President Wilson's speech delivered here on May 10 to a group of newly naturalized citizens, is to be used as a model of the English language in the public schools of this city. It will be used first in the George Washington school. Supt. Jacobs said yesterday that the plan is meeting with widespread approval among principals, from whom he has received many requests for copies of the speech.

Dr. Jacobs has had similar requests from educators of other cities. At present, models of English used in the schools here, include Lincoln's Gettysburg address and Washington's farewell address.

TURK ATTACK IS REPULSED

Determined Assault Made on Australian and New Zealand Corps.

Moslems Are Driven Back With Losses of Over 7,000.

London, May 22.—An official statement issued today reads:

"The following has been received from the Mediterranean forces:

"On May 19, in the southern area of Gallipoli peninsula the French forces, in conjunction with the British, made a considerable advance, and have consolidated the new position.

"Our aeroplanes dropped bombs amongst Turkish reinforcements landing at Ak-Bashi Liman and caused considerable losses.

"On the night of the 18th-19th the Turkish forces made determined attacks against the Australian and New Zealand corps, which were all repulsed with heavy losses, their casualties being over 7,000, of which 2,000 were killed. Our losses did not exceed 500."

Turks Repulsed.

Petrograd, May 22, via London.—There has been issued from the headquarters staff of the Russian army in the Caucasus the following report:

"Attempts of the Turks to assume the offensive along the coast of the Black sea have been repulsed. In the Oltz region there has been rifle firing between outposts, and our troops have occupied Saraivan and Bashkaleh. The Turks fled toward Bytlis and the south."

VERDICT FOR COLONEL; JURY SAYS HE TOLD THE TRUTH ABOUT BARNES

MAY BE POSTMASTER GENERAL IN THE NEW BRITISH CABINET

C. E. H. HOBHOUSE.

The Right Hon. Charles E. H. Hobhouse is spoken of as probable postmaster general in the new British cabinet. He is 53 years old.

Agreement Reached After Discussing Placing of Costs for Eleven Hours.

Barnes Not Having Been Libeled, Entitled to No Damages, Says Verdict.

Roosevelt Greatly Pleased and Thanks Each Juror Personally.

WILL APPEAL.

New York, May 22.—William M. Ivins, of counsel for William Barnes, announced this afternoon that an appeal would be taken from the verdict of the jury at Syracuse, which found in favor of Theodore Roosevelt in the trial of the libel suit brought by Mr. Barnes against the former president.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 22.—The jury in the trial of William Barnes' suit for libel against Theodore Roosevelt today returned a verdict in favor of the defendant after considering for more than eleven hours the question of placing all the costs of the action upon the plaintiff. It is the belief of the jury everything Col. Roosevelt charged is true and therefore the plaintiff, not having been libelled, is entitled to no damages.

The foreman of the jury, Warren W. Summers, announced that the verdict was for the defendant and then the jury was polled. Ten jurors answered "for the defendant," then the clerk hesitated, called the name of Edward Burns and waited. Burns, a big rosy-cheeked Republican, stood up in his seat and in a deep voice said:

"For the defendant."

Juror No. 12 gave the same answer.

Spectators Warned.

Before the jury came in the spectators in the crowded courtroom were warned that any demonstration would be met with severe punishment. Except for the voice of the clerk and jurors the room was absolutely quiet until the name of Burns was called. When he announced that he, too, favored a verdict for the former president, the courtroom buzzed like a dynamo with voices. Several persons in the courtroom stood up and waved their hands but there was no outburst of applause.

After the announcement of the verdict attorneys for Mr. Barnes objected to its receipt. The objection was over-

ROCKEFELLER IS EMPHATIC

Insists on Full Reading of Letters Before He Will Answer.

Washington, May 22.—With only four members of the Industrial relations commission present, Chairman Walsh today resumed his vigorous cross-examination of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., on his relation to the industrial warfare in the coal fields of Colorado. Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, who protested against the attitude of Mr. Walsh in his examination of Mr. Rockefeller, was one of those absent.

Rockefeller reiterated his opinion that when the authorities failed to protect life and property, the private citizen had the right to use force to protect himself. He argued that the use of force against an officer would be justified only in circumstances which would assure a finding of innocence in a court of law, and in spite of a long wrangle with the chairman steadfastly refused to add to the statement.

Walsh read a letter to Rockefeller by L. M. Bowers in September, 1913, saying:

Mother Jones on Ground.

"Old Mother Jones has been on the ground for two weeks, but we understood the governor has ordered her to

USE THEIR TEETH TO CRACK NUTS

Albany, N. Y., May 22.—"Little children in the New York tenements crack with their teeth nuts that are used at the stylish banquets of society folk," declared Abram I. Elkus in urging the industrial relations committee of the constitutional convention to adopt the amendments offered by Alfred E. Smith empowering the legislature to create a minimum wage commission.

Mr. Elkus, attorney for the state factory investigating commission, said he had seen tenement workers, fatigued to the point of exhaustion, lying asleep over their work. He insisted that the legislature should be empowered under the new Constitution to prohibit "sweat shops" and all manner of work in tenements.

"Conducting factories in tenement houses," said Elkus, "exposes the purchasing public to all manner of contagious diseases."

"Hideous" was the word used by Mr. Elkus to describe conditions in many New York tenements where work is now carried on. Under the present Constitution powers broad enough properly to regulate sanitary surroundings are not conferred on the legislature.

INVENTOR STARTS FOR ITALY TO SERVE TERM IN THE army

WILLIAM MARCONI, Inventor of Wireless Telegraphy.

MARCONI CALLED HOME BY KING

Wireless Inventor Leaves New York to Serve Term in Army.

New York, May 22.—William Marconi, inventor of the wireless, sailed today on the steamer St. Paul, in response to a summons from the king of Italy to serve his term of military service in the Italian army.

Mr. Marconi, who is a member of the Italian senate, and an adviser of King Victor Emmanuel, is a reserve officer in the engineering corps. He said he expected to complete his term of service and return to America by next September, but would not venture a prophesy as to whether the war would end by that time.

EVERYONE TO SING ON FOURTH OF JULY

Star Spangled Banner Will Be Sung at Noon All Over Country.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 22.—"The Star Spangled Banner" will be sung all over the United States at noon on the Fourth of July, according to plans of the committee which is arranging for a national celebration of independence day in this city. Governors of all the states and mayors of cities throughout the country have been requested to issue proclamations asking the people to join in the observance of this feature. The executives of many states, Governor Goethals, of the Panama canal zone, and Governor Stone of Alaska, have already written to the committee approving the suggestion.

STAND AS UNITED BEHIND PRESIDENT WILSON, IS PLEA OF EX-PRESIDENT

Taft Says He Is Not Democratic President, But "Our President."

Former Executive Declares Progressive Party Has Disappeared.

Predicts Victory for the Republicans in Election of 1916.

Kansas City, Mo., May 22.—The time has come when the Republicans of the country should receive the Progressives back into the party, but "they must leave behind their fads, nostrums and isms," according to William H. Taft, former president, who spoke before a meeting of Republicans here today. Mr. Taft is here attending the convention of the Western Association of Yale Alumni clubs.

"The Progressive party is done and has disappeared," said the former president.

Mr. Taft predicted victory for the Republican party in 1916, saying that the people of the country had learned again the lesson that Democrats are not the proper agents of the government. He also spoke emphatically on the necessity of unity behind President Wilson at this time.

"He is not a Democratic president," he said. "He is our president. He is first an American, the same as we are. We must all be Americans first."

Mr. Taft concluded by saying he is out of politics now, but would continue to take an active interest in public affairs, "as a private citizen."

SAYS WAR IS COSTING $2,000,000 AN HOUR

Enormous Expense of Hostilities as Figured By French Expert.

Paris, May 22.—Capt. Edmond Thery, widely known as an economist, estimates that the total military expenditures for the first year of the war will be 50,000,000,000 francs ($10,000,000,000) for the seven allies and 37,000,000,000 francs ($7,400,000,000) for Germany, Austria and Turkey. This makes an average of 7,250,000,000 francs ($1,440,000,000) a month, 242,000,000 francs ($48,400,000) a day, 10,000,000 francs ($2,000,000) an hour. He believes the economic powers of Great Britain, France and Russia can support the strain much more easily than their opponents.

COMMANDER OF BRITISH LAND FORCES AT THE DARDANELLES

GEN. SIR IAN HAMILTON.

THREE TRAINS IN COLLISION

Seventy Persons Killed, 350 Injured in Wreck in England.

Most of Dead Soldiers Who Were in a Troop Train.

Carlisle, Eng., May 22.—Seventy-three persons were killed and nearly 350 injured when three trains collided on the Caledonian railroad at Gretna, near the city, at 6 o'clock this morning. It is expected that many of the injured will die.

One of the trains was a troop train; another was a local, and the third was the express from London to Glasgow.

Fire broke out in the debris and added to the horror of the wreck.

Assistance arrived quickly. The fire force was called out and after controlling the flames the firemen joined in extricating the dead and the wounded. The adjoining fields soon had the appearance of an immense mortuary, with the dead, the dying and the injured laid out in gruesome ranks.

Dead Mostly Soldiers.

The dead mostly are soldiers. The troop train collided first with a local from Carlisle and before the occupants were able to get clear of the wreckage of this accident the express from London to Glasgow ploughed into them. Locomotives and cars, shattered and splintered were hurled about in confusion. Then fire broke out and spread with great rapidity. Men engaged in rescue work were driven back until the coming of the fire brigades.

Before the fire was put out many travelers pinned under the wreckage were burned alive before the eyes of the helpless onlookers.

The wreck is one of the worst in the annals of British railroading.

CUMMINS INDORSED FOR THE PRESIDENCY

Des Moines, Iowa, May 22.—Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa was indorsed as a candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1916 at a meeting of the Republican state central committee last night.

GOVERNMENT GIVEN POWER TO GO AHEAD

King Signs Act Granting Unusual Rights for "Duration of War."

Proclamation to Be Issued Explaining Why Italy Resorts to Arms.

Vast Multitude Cheers King When He Appears at Quirinal.

London, May 22.—A dispatch from the Stefani News agency of Rome says that King Victor Emmanuel signed today an act conferring extraordinary powers on the government "for the duration of the war."

War Not Yet Declared.

Paris, May 22.—The announcement that Italy has declared war against Austria-Hungary is awaited hourly in Paris, but up to 5 o'clock this afternoon no definite news to this end had been received.

The Italian cabinet is still reported to be discussing the phraseology of the declaration of war. It has been in session with this idea in view since half past 10 o'clock this morning. It is understood here that the passports of Baron Von Macchio, the Austria-Hungary ambassador to Italy, are ready for delivery to him. In Paris it is believed they will be handed to the ambassador before the day is over.

To Issue Proclamation.

Rome, May 21, via Paris, May 22.—King Victor Emmanuel will issue a proclamation to the people countersigned by all the ministers tomorrow (Saturday). The document will explain how Italy has been driven to take up arms and will appeal to all citizens to do their duty in such a way that victory will be assured. Another royal proclamation will be addressed to the army and to the fleet.

Consecrate War.

Almost the entire population of Rome, except the aged and invalids, gathered this evening on Capitoline hill where Prince Colonna, the mayor, had convoked a solemn sitting of the municipal council to consecrate, in the heart of the capital, the new war.

The mayor delivered a patriotic address which provoked tremendous applause from the throngs gathered in the senatorial hall.

After his address Prince Colonna, surrounded by aldermen and the municipal council and preceded by the standard of Rome, started for the

SUBMARINE SINKS BIG SAILING VESSEL

Glenholm, Loaded With Nitrate for Liverpool, Victim; Crew Saved.

Berehaven, Ireland, May 22.—The British sailing ship Glenholm was sunk yesterday evening by a German submarine at a point fifteen miles off this port. The members of her crew have been landed here.

The Glenholm was on her way from Chile to Liverpool with a cargo of nitrate.

The submarine intercepted the sailing ship and signalled the crew to abandon her. The ship was then sunk, the submarine firing thirty-nine rounds from her gun before she went down.

Berehaven, or Castle town Barhaven, is on the southern coast of Ireland, on the north shore of Bantry bay. The point where the Glenholm was sunk is roughly not more than sixty miles from Old Head of Kinsale, where the Lusitania went down.

NOT YET, BUT SOON.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

King Victor Emmanuel will issue today a proclamation to the Italian people, stating that Italy has been driven to war and appealing for popular support for the government's policy. Another royal proclamation will be addressed to the army and navy.

Although Italy and Austria-Hungary are virtually at war, no reports have been received thus far of actual hostilities. A train which crossed the frontier from Italy, however, was seized by Austrians, who arrested the train crew. Great patriotic demonstrations were held last night in Rome and Vienna.

Aside from the Italian situation the point of greatest interest at present is Central Galicia, where a battle of far-reaching importance is under way. The Russians are credited with having made progress on both flanks of the Austro-German forces, but apparently have not been able to menace their communications. The main struggle is being carried on along the San, from Przemysl northward for a distance of about sixty miles.

An official statement from Petrograd states that attempts of Turkish forces to advance along the Black Sea coast have failed.

The British sailing vessel Glenholm was sunk by a German submarine off the Irish coast yesterday. The crew escaped.

King Victor Emmanuel today signed a decree conferring upon the Italian government extraordinary powers during the period of the expected war. Austrian troops are being concentrated in large numbers along the upper course of Adige river, which flows from the Tyrolese Alps into Lombardy.

An official British report says the allies have won further ground on the southern end of Gallipoli peninsula.

Fifty years ago the boys in blue and gray laid down their arms after a four years' struggle and returned to their homes to take up the task of developing the United States of America until it should be one of the greatest, if not the greatest nation in the world.

In 1915, half a century later, the work started by these men has been carried on until their ambitions have been realized. On Monday May 31, citizens of every city and town in the United States will assemble to pay homage to the living, and again to pay their respects to the many dead.

In Duluth the Memorial day program will be one of the most impressive ever given, and the rapidly thinning ranks of the veterans will again march together, while all citizens and their children will assemble to honor them and the memories of the many comrades who have gone before them.

Duluth still can boast of eighty-three men who marched through the long campaigns of the Civil war and fought under Grant, Sherman, McClellan, Thomas, Mead or Rosencranz to preserve the integrity of the nation. The Joshua B. Culver post, originally consisting of more than 200 men, now has but thirty-three names on its roster, while the Willis A. Gorman post has but fifty.

Within another decade "Taps" will be blown for all but perhaps one or two of the defenders of the Union and they will have joined the rapidly growing army of the dead, to await the blowing of the final reveille.

All of the G. A. R. men in Duluth have passed the three score and ten mark, and in a few years the survivors of the army which kept the Union intact will be no more.

Following a custom inaugurated last year, the oldest old soldier in the city will be honorary grand marshal of the day, with the next four oldest as his aides. This year the honor has fallen to the lot of John Frazier, aged 87. The members of his staff are N. L. Upham, aged 82; William Carnathan, 80; J. H. Baker, aged 80; and John Dimond, aged 80.

ALTERNATIVE FOR N. P. ROAD

Must Give Better Service to Suburbs or Live Up to Franchise.

The Northern Pacific railroad will be requested to give the service to the suburbs and the steel plant as asked for or operate its trains according to its franchise provision in Minnesota, according to members of the New Duluth Commercial club. The train service proposed is the replacement of the evening train on the schedule in vogue up to last Monday, and the placing of a special train to handle the steel plant employes.

It is claimed that the franchise now held by the Northern Pacific is the one handed down by the St. Paul & Duluth railroad, which acquired it from the Lake Superior & Mississippi railroad. The original franchise provides that all trains operated between its terminals at Duluth and St. Paul should be operated exclusively through Minnesota.

This provision was lived up to by the St. Paul & Duluth company, but on being acquired by the Northern Pacific ing the passenger trains and all but two of the freight trains are now said to be operated by way of Superior and Wrenshall, instead of Thomson.

New Duluth and Smithville residents propose to bring this to the attention of the railroad and warehouse commission when the hearing is held, and if the road refuses to grant them the service that would take care of the traffic as well as it did before the closing down of the Minnesota steel plant last August, they propose to force the road to live up to its franchise provisions.

WARREN A. POND.

The growth and development of a community depends largely on the energy of its boosters. At the head of the West Duluth Commercial club the members believe that this year it has one of the best hustlers in Warren A. Pond.

"We want less knocking and more boosting" is the slogan that Mr. Pond is working on. He says he expects every business man in West Duluth to become a member of the club before the end of this year.

Mr. Pond has been located in West Duluth about fifteen years. His hobby has been good roads and he has worked with committees of the club in accomplishing the building of better highways to connect with the country communities.

LOOK INTO FRANCHISE.

Obligations of Traction Company in Paving Under Discussion.

Members of the West Duluth Commercial club will inquire into the nature of the franchise of the Duluth Street Railway company regarding street improvements and report at the next meeting of the club, according to action taken last evening. The question was brought up in the discussion of the paving of Oneota and Third streets.

Some of the members contended that the company's franchise covering West Duluth streets provides that the part of the street lying between the tracks should be paved a the expense of the company, while others contended that the franchise covers only part of the cost.

An invitation was extended to Commissioner Merritt to be present next Friday evening and explain the proposed taking over of all water meters by the city. Commissioner J. A. Farrell will be invited to attend the meeting on June 4 and inform the members what the department proposes to do for street improvements for the western end of the city his year.

BOTH ASK DIVORCE, ALLEGING CRUELTY

Pangburns Make Drastic Charges; Each Wants Child's Custody.

Asking for a limited divorce from her husband on the grounds of cruelty and drunkenness, Mrs. Josephine Elizabeth Pangburn, age 34, 112 North Twenty-eighth avenue west, today filed an action in district court against Francis Albert Pangburn, age 53, to whom she was married on March 6, 1911.

Pangburn, in a cross bill, seeks an absolute separation from her on the ground that she has an ugly temper and is possessed of a morose and quarrelsome disposition. He also alleges that "in her tantrums she often expressed the wish that the Lord would strike him dead." Pangburn further claims that on one occasion she attempted to stab him with a bread knife.

Mrs. Pangburn cites numerous instances of alleged cruelty. She claims that Pangburn filed an insanity petition against her, but that an examination satisfied the probate court that she was possessed of her full mental faculties.

Both are seeking the custody of their one child, Francis Alexander, a son, aged 2½.

MAY ASSESS FOR SEWERS

City Council Will Consider Resolution to Change Present Policy.

Claimed Property Should Pay Cost of Storm Sewers.

When the council meets Monday evening it will consider a resolution authorizing the assessment for storm sewers against benefited property, similar to the plan followed out in the construction of any other sewer, pavements or sidewalks. In addition, several other matters of importance will come up for consideration by the commissioners.

At the present time the city pays for all storm sewers constructed, and it is the claim of the city officials that the property owners should pay this cost. The resolution if passed Monday, will give the commissioner of public works and the city assessor the authority to make such an assessment.

At the meeting Monday evening the council will hear the second reading of the ordinance formally accepting the offer of Chester A. Congdon to pay the costs and awards for the Lake Shore boulevard from Lester Park to Two Harbors. This resolution was introduced last Monday by Mayor Prince.

Storm Sewer Fund.

Commissioner Farrel will introduce an ordinance appropriating $23,000 from the permanent improvement fund for labor and material to be used in the construction of storm sewers during 1915. Sanitary sewers will be ordered in Sixth alley, from Third to Fourth avenues west, and in Owatonna street, from Ewing to Kolstad avenues. Both improvements were petitioned for by the property owners.

The Duluth Lumber company will be awarded the contract to furnish the city with 250,000 feet of lumber and the White & Sheltrey company will be awarded the contract to haul pipe for the water and light department on their bid of $2,295.50.

Commissioner Farrell will introduce a resolution designating easements for slopes and retaining walls for the East First street pavement, the Sixteenth avenue pavement and the Kenilworth avenue and Sussex avenue pavements.

The 80 per cent advance assessment on the paving of Woodland avenue, from Fourth street to Kent road, will be confirmed.

Garbage Ordinance.

Commissioner Silberstein will introduce the ordinance giving the health department the power to remove garbage and clean yards or alleys, whenever owners refuse to do so, and to make assessments against the property benefited.

S. Goldberg will be granted a transfer of the C. L. Birch saloon license from 1540 West Superior street to 431 West Michigan street; Gustav Jackson and E. A. Olafson, a transfer of the Martin Nicholson license at 517½ West Michigan street, and Ed Olson, a transfer of Adolph Egdahl's license at 509 West Michigan street. Commissioner Silberstein was unable to say this morning whether George Karuzo would be granted a transfer of A. L. Brewer's license at 5211 Raleigh street. The matter is still being investigated, he said.

James Koen and Julius Scharven will be denied a new license at 439 Lake avenue south.

SILVER GRAY FOX.

VIEW OF THE FARM.

Just eight miles from Grand Marais, two brothers, George and Benjamin Robertson, have a forty-acre farm, on which they are raising silver gray foxes and since they began work four years ago they are reported to have earned $20,000. They began in the business with little or no capital and today they are operating one of the best fox farms in North America. Ben arrived in the city yesterday on the steamer America to purchase supplies for the summer. He will be here several days.

Although young men, George being 35 years of age and Benjamin, 32, they have both hunted and trapped animals for years. They came to Northern Minnesota in 1910 for the purpose of settling on some land that they bought about sixteen miles from Grand Marais.

While hunting one day one of the brothers caught a small fox. This was the beginning of the fox farm that has grown to such proportions. After obtaining the small fox, the brothers went out and succeeded in finding the den, where three more foxes were in hiding. They raised and bred these animals, continuing to branch out, until the following year they purchased a forty-acre tract of land about eight miles from Grand Marais. Here they located their fox farm.

The fox farm proper is about two blocks square and is surrounded by a high board fence. Inside are wire-fenced pens, with small courts running through, so that a person can go in and take an animal out without any difficulty.

Have Watch Tower.

The cabin, where the boys live and a tower, from which the animals are watched day and night, are both outside the farm proper.

Besides the two brothers, their mother, Mrs. Cora Robertson, and Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Leadbetter live on the farm. Mr. Leadbetter has an interest in the business.

Last fall two bears were sold to Virginia, while in 1913 two silver foxes brought $5,000, the largest single sale ever made by the boys. These foxes were sold to the Horn Zoological gardens of Kansas City and shortly after the purchaser resold them to a New York syndicate for $15,000.

Silver, black and cross foxes are color phases of the common red fox. A silver-colored or black fox may be born in a litter of red foxes. The darker the fox, the better silver fox it is. A cross is a stage of color half way between red and silver, or black.

State Forestry Report.

Following is an account of the Robertson farm, made by the state forestry bureau, in its annual report for 1914, just issued.

"With their combined capital, the brothers purchased forty acres on the northeast shore of Devil Track lake, a spot well suited for their purpose. Here they would not be molested and might work out their ideas with regard to the kind of treatment required by the different species, for they were experimenting with animals other than foxes. Much fencing material was brought and safe pens were constructed. Woven wire with 2-inch mesh is used for the inner fence. This fence is from 9 to 12 feet high above ground and extends 3 feet under the ground. It turns in 3 feet both at the top and under ground. The twelve mating fox pens are 38 by 50 feet each, with two alleys separating them. The outer fence is for the purpose of holding any animal that might escape from the inner enclosure, and to keep visitors of all kinds from frightening or exciting the animals. It was found desirable that the outer fence be an effective screen. The Robertsons made it of boards and corrugated iron. A "tower" with office overlooks the entire enclosure. In this, one of the boys is on guard night and day to find out the cause of any disturbance and to keep away intruders.

"In 1912, they had eight dark foxes and a lot of ordinary stock. They sold twenty-one live foxes—two dark silver ones for $5,000, and nineteen cross foxes for $2,500. So their receipts for that year, exclusive of pelts, amounted to $7,500. Eighteen dark foxes were left over for breeding. From this lot thirty-four cubs were raised the next spring, and of the thirty-four, eight were dark choice ones. Twenty more silver and cross foxes were bought from trappers or captured by the Robertsons themselves. Some fishers also were obtained, and pens made for them. These pens are 15 feet wide, 35 feet long and entirely covered over with woven wire. Ben found that he could bring these animals to a state of semi-domestication as readily as the foxes and he has succeeded in breeding the fisher and raising the young.

"There are now on the Devil Track farm fourteen pairs of silver foxes, twenty-four pairs of cross foxes, and some red foxes. There are also five pairs of fishers, forty-two skunks, and a few mink, lynx and black bear."

PROBES CAUSE OF KILLING

Deputy Coroner Holding Inquest on Death of Carpenter.

In an attempt to prove the identity of the automobile driver responsible for the death of Alex Carpenter, who was run over on Garfield avenue Monday night, Deputy Coroner James McAuliffe is holding an inquest at Crawford's undertaking rooms this afternoon.

About a score of persons are expected to testify to the circumstances connected with the death of Carpenter, who is believed to have been struck by a machine and to have been run over by a second bus as he was lying in the street.

Contradictory stories told by persons connected with the case have left some doubt as to whether two cars struck Carpenter, or whether a car driven by Larry McDonough, 28 West Seventh street, Superior, which is known to have run over the man's feet, was responsible for the fatal injuries.

The list of those who will testify includes, besides McDonough; Andrew Sjolund, night watchman, 360 Garfield avenue; Patrolman Magner, James Keefe, Superior, owner of the McDonough car; James Curran, with Carpenter a short time before the accident; James Viener, 413½ West Superior street, and Abe Aronsohn, 720 Tower avenue, Superior.

The last two mentioned men, with two women, were in a car which passed Carpenter as he was lying in the street, just before McDonough struck him.

Assistant County Attorney Mason M. Forbes will conduct the examination of the various witnesses. In addition to those named, keepers of the interstate bridge, and a Duluth citizen who reported the accident to Patrolman Magner, have been summoned.

NERVOUS MEN

Restored to Health and Vigor

Progressive Medical Doctors say: Every normally constituted and healthy man has a natural and abundant endowment of potential energy or reserve nerve power.

Units of nerve-energy are drawn from the blood and stored in the cellular substance of the brain and ganglia for use in the performance of involuntary functions and voluntary action.

In a condition of absolute and perfect health, these reservoirs of vital power of nerves are well stored, and potential energy is so abundant that the whole physical or mental being is filled and thrilled with the consciousness of power, health and energy.

Such men possess personal magnetism, and unconsciously inspire those who come into social or business relations with them. The "American disease" is Neurasthenia, "brain fag," debility. Call it by what name you please, for we do not treat the name, but we do successfully treat the condition, and restore the patient to that health which is essential to his social and commercial success if he is to fill a man's place in the world.

The Napoleons of finance, the captains of industry, the men of affairs are the ones most afflicted. Perfect health, however, is all-essential to the man of lower position, as well as to the one who aspires to the highest. Many a man fails on account of a physical handicap to achieve the ambitions for which his natural mental qualifications fit him. The connection between mind and body is so intimate, and their inter-dependence so marked, that physical perfection is essential to the greatest achievement.

The nerve diseases, nervous debility, decline, sleeplessness, melancholia, and diseases of graver nature which involve the brain and spinal cord and are of a nature that should be treated in time by experienced Specialists.

The associated pelvic diseases that are often responsible, are: Stricture, bladder, prostatic and kidney diseases; varicose veins, hydrocele, and diseases of the lower bowel.

We have made the cure of men our study. The effect of the treatment is to cure those diseases and to restore men to the full enjoyment of nature's best gifts to the normal physical and mental conditions that characterize health. Our offices are open from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m., at No. 1 West Superior street. All consultations are free.

Berglin found the seven cubs in the hollow of a log where the mother wolf had provided a home for them. A faint noise made by one of the animals attracted his attention to the spot.

NEWS ABOUT JITNEYS FROM OTHER CITIES

El Paso, Tex., May 22.—Owners or lessees of automobiles engaged in the nickel passenger service are required to give bond ranging from $5,000 to $15,000, according to the provision of the amended jitney ordinance passed by the city council. The new law provides that the bond shall be $5,000 for the operation of any number of vehicles less than six; $10,000 for the operation of more than five and less than eleven; and $15,000 for the operation of more than ten vehicles. Drivers must apply for a chauffeur's certificate and pass an examination.

Tucson, Ariz., May 22.—The jitney ordinance has become a law after the third reading before the city council. The amended ordinance which now becomes a law, requires every jitney to give a bond of $2,500, operate on a given line from 7 o'clock in the morning till 10 at night, and pay the city a license of $7.50 a quarter. However, the cars have the right to leave their fixed route to take passengers to certain enumerated places.

Nashville, Tenn., May 22.—A bill giving cities the right to regulate jitney buses has passed in the house of representatives. Representatives of the jitney interests sought to have the bill amended so that such carriers could not be taxed any higher than other common carriers, but they failed. They claim the bill as it passed gives each city in the state the power to put the jitney out of business if it so desired.

Rochester, N. Y., May 22.—Drivers of jitney buses must be provided with state chauffeurs' licenses, according to a promulgation from the city clerk's office. These licenses cost $5 each, and in addition each jitney bus costs the owner or driver $1 for a license as a public vehicle. About 200 jitneys are operating in Rochester at the present time, and many are added each day.

Des Moines is trying out the jitney. There are forty-three of these buses running at the present time, but it is declared they are not meeting with much favor. The city council is considering an ordinance which will fix the fares, name the routes and determine the terminal points, and require bu sowners to give bond to "pay for any damage caused by their carelessness or negligence."

Richmond, Va., May 22.—For every dollar taken in by the jitney buses the city of Richmond loses 10 cents, and therefore the council committee on finance will regulate the operation of the buses. Under its franchise the Virginia Railway & Power company pays to the city a certain percentage of its annual gross earnings.

In order to head off any possible jitney competition the Jacksonville Street Railway company has installed automobiles to operate from the terminus of the trolley line to Diamond Grove cemetery, accepting transfers from the street cars. Should the experiment prove successful, additional services will be installed to other points not reached by the street cars.

According to advice received by G. B. McDaniel, San Antonio distributor for the Briscoe Motor company, the Virginia Railway & Power company of Richmond have ordered 100 Briscoe cars, the first eighteen of which were shipped last week, and will be in the jitney service of Richmond.

Washington, D. C., May 22.—The commissioners of the District of Columbia, as ex-officio members of the public utilities board, have agreed to authorize the operation of jitney buses in Washington, under the following restrictions. Each bus must be licensed as a public hack, and pay a license tax of $6 annually.

In order to help the Buffalo council to decide on the terms of a jitney ordinance, Chief of Police Regan recently wired the police chiefs of twenty-one cities asking how many jitneys were in operation and how they were regulated.

ANIMAL DINNER IS LATEST FREAK

MRS. GEORGE AUSTIN MORRISON.

The latest freak of high society in New York is the animal dinner. Mrs. George Austin Morrison, whose home is on Central Park west, has introduced it. Mrs. Morrison's guests arrived for dinner the other night and without previous warning found themselves introduced to a large cage where dinner was served. Then to each guest was assigned the responsibility of making a noise like an animal. Oh, it was just too original. The animals were fed on tin plates and their diet was meat, not raw, however.

STYLES FOR MOTORISTS

For automobile use new rubberized coats are made on the accepted models for the cloth coat, with drop sleeves, buttoned girdle belts and inverted box pleats in the back to insure width enough for comfort in riding. They are in brown rubber with silk in different shades on the reverse side.

Military styles are noticed in all lines. The touring party now uses the wooden canteen in place of flasks and bottles. It is made of fine-grained oak with galvanized iron hoops and brass carrying handle. It is unbreakable and attractive.

The duffle bag is put to a new use when there are to be small children in the touring party. In it is packed a good sized ground cloth (for the children to play on at various out-of-doors halts) and their playthings.

The smartest outing suits are being shown in crepe cotton and the loosely woven silk materials that can be easily washed and do not require ironing. The stitched hats and dust coats to match are worn with them.

Close-fitting hemp straw turbans, their brims outlined with wreaths of fine small flowers, are widely worn, but it is whispered that Easter has put the stamp of approval on the old-time poke bonnet and the small-crowned, flapping-brimmed hat with streamers worn by the girls in 1860 with their full skirts and dainty-Spencer waists.

Trying to sell it without the help of a Herald want ad is not "really and truly" TRYING.

"BEYOND THE POINT OF ROCKS"

PARADE WILL SET RECORD

West End Men May Have Procession Twenty-Five Blocks Long.

Spotlight Provided for "May Queen;" Clean-up Squad a Feature.

The parade and industrial pageant planned by the merchants for the festival to be held next Friday will be the biggest ever seen in this end of the city if all of the floats promised, turn out. Every business man, able to muster a rig, will have one in the parade, according to a statement made this morning by one of the members of the committee.

"The parade sub-committee have certainly been hustling," said S. W. Hill this morning. "The members have now enough rigs lined up for the parade to make the line of march at least twenty-five blocks long. It will undoubtedly be the biggest parade ever attempted in the West end.

Firms in Parade.

Among the concerns that will be represented in the parade, some of which will have a half dozen wagons or automobiles in line, are:

Minnesota Tea company, Star theater, Olson Bros., groceries, National Candy company, John Wahl Candy company, Nuubson Baking company, Enger & Olson, Charles A. Gustafson, Zenith Broom factory, Midway Coal company, Dr. John McKay, Home Laundry company, Excelsior laundry, Johnson-Peterson company, Interstate Carpet Cleaning company, Haugsrud-Markkanen company, Northern Creamery company, Hagstrom & Lundquist, John J. Moe & Sons, Anderson Furniture company, Scandinavian bakery, Barrett & Zimmerman, Scott-Graff Lumber company, Zinsmaster-Smith Bread company, Elliott & Co., F. A. Patrick & Co., West End Advertiser, J. W. Preston.

The parade will form on Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth avenues. It will start on its march promptly at 7:30 o'clock. The line of march will be east on Superior street to the Point of Rocks. The turn will be made at the junction of Piedmont, Michigan street and Thirteenth avenue.

The parade will be reviewed by city officials from in front of the Rex hotel and on its return the float carrying the "May Queen" will halt in front of the reviewing stand, and after the rest of the procession goes by, the mayor will make a presentation speech to the "Queen." The lineup of the parade follows:

Squad of mounted police.
Third Regiment band.
Float carrying "May Queen" and her attendants.
West End Beautifying club, carrying rakes and other clean-up implements.
Industrial floats.
Capt. K. A. Franklin will be marshal. His aides will be Emil Gustafson, S. K. Westberg and C. O. Carlson.

Spotlight for "May Queen."

One of the features during the parade will be a strong electric flashlight that will be used as a "spot light" to play on the float carrying the "May Queen." This will be operated from the top of the tallest building in this end of the city.

All who visit the West end during the fete will be expected to be good at catching articles. Every class of merchandise, good things to eat and miscellaneous articles will be tossed from the rigs in the industrial lineup.

James W. Preston, the man who paved Superior street, will be in the parade. He has arranged to ride on a water wagon.

The sub-parade committee members are Leonard Peterson, chairman; Emil Olson and Herman Olson. The men who will begin next Wednesday morning counting the votes for the "May Queen" are Alfred Moe, Matt Koneczny and William F. Mouhaupt. The members of the general arrangements committee are Carl E. Lonegren, chairman; S. W. Hill, O. F. Wennerlund, Emil Gustafson and C. E. Lundquist.

HIGH PRAISE FOR WEST END DISTRICT

Leads in Progress and Has Great Future, Says Eastern Man.

The progressive spirit of the business men of the West end is the best I have seen anywhere in the country," said Howard Donald, a New York realty dealer, who is in the city looking over some property owned by his firm. "The West end has grown wonderfully since I was here nine years ago."

"That West Superior street in the West end is going to be a big business center is my prediction," he said. "Where handsome buildings like some of those now planned are going up, there is no holding back the community.

"There is one thing that surprises me. That is the number of large signboards that are alowed to exist. These boards should be torn down. It speaks too much of a small community. In many instances the thing advertised is suggestive and has no business on a main thoroughfare. These signs are often used to hide unkept lots, which the owner in most cases is too lazy to clean up."

Mr. Donald is owner of considerable residence property on Second and Third streets, and stated that he had been inquiring relative to the purchase of Superior street property.

PLAN FOR ADVISORY COMMITTEE SCORED

French Club Takes Unanimous Action Against Proposition.

Members of the French Naturalization club condemned the proposed so-called advisory committee, consisting of representatives from each of the various improvement clubs of Duluth, at its meeting at the French hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, last night. The sentiment was unanimous against any such organization on the contention that it would hamper the work of the commissioners.

Members of the club indorsed the paving of First street and adopted a resolution to be forwarded to the city commission, urging the improvement of the street at the earliest possible date. Many of the members condemned the action of the city commission in refusing to have the improvement made this year.

WEST END BUILDERS

LEONARD T. PETERSON.

One of the hustling boosters for the West end is Leonard T. Peterson, chairman of the committee for the big industrial parade to be held in this end of the city next Friday evening. Mr. Peterson has been busy during the last week lining up every available rig for the affair.

Mr. Peterson is one of the owners of the Minnesota Tea company. He announced yesterday that his concern will have at least ten rigs in the parade. A carload of peanuts will be thrown from his wagons to the crowd during the parade.

Mr. Peterson's firm is at present building a handsome new home on Superior street between Nineteenth and Twentieth avenues into which it expects to move next fall. The building is costing about $20,000.

Baptists Will Meet.

A union meeting of the young women of Baptist churches of Duluth will be held Monday evening at the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street. An address will be made by Miss Evelyn Camp of Minneapolis. Supper will be served at the church preceding the meeting.

West End Briefs.

Special song service has been planned for both services to be held tomorrow at the Zion Norwegian Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue and Third street. The choir will have charge of the service.

The Epworth League of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church will hold an apron sale at the church Thursday evening.

Confirmation services will be held tomorrow at the Trinity English Lutheran church, Twenty-seventh avenue and Third street. The ceremony will take place at 10 a. m. Communion will be held at 7:45 p. m.

Eric Engblom of Staples, Minn., is spending a few days visiting relatives in this end of the city.

Peter A. Carlson of Minneapolis, who has been visiting friends in this end of the city, left for his home yesterday.

DEBATE HAS CAUSED STIR

Carlton County People Discuss Talks Made at Cloquet.

Congressman Meeker Made Defense of Liquor License System.

Cloquet, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The debate held here Thursday night between Congressman Jacob E. Meeker of St. Louis, and City Attorney F. T. Persinger of Cloquet, has stirred up the license and no-license forces of Carlton county as has no other single event. The subject was, "Resolved: That the Licensing of Saloons in Carlton County is for the Best Interests of Its People." Congressman Meeker taking the affirmative and the city attorney the negative. The theater was packed to suffocation.

Mr. Meeker maintained that the issue had nothing whatever to do with the question of drinking, inasmuch as there was nothing proposed in the law upon which the citizens would vote to prohibit the purchase, keeping or drinking of liquor. He declared no law has ever been proposed or enacted wherein the seller of a commodity is made a criminal while the purchaser is permitted to go free. He urged the wisdom of regulation.

"From the business standpoint of your proposition," said Mr. Meeker, "it is just as practical in the matter of the local purchase of wet goods or in the local purchase of dry goods or hardware. Men do not quit drinking because a town adopts prohibition. They turn customers to mail order houses and send their money out of town.

"Secondly, there is the matter of revenue which is paid into your city treasury from retail liquor dealers' licenses. If your city has been getting $6,000 a year income from your retail dealers' licenses, when that has been cut off you must turn elsewhere for raising that tax. The emptying of buildings means the reduction of rents, so that the inevitable thing is decrease in rents and increase in taxes, and the turning of the liquor business over to mail order houses, blind-piggers and bootleggers.

"The weakness of your prohibition proposition lies in the fact that the jurisdiction of your government is bounded by your city or county limit. When you destroy the law which provides police regulation of the business you have nothing substantial in the way of control. The mail order man in Duluth is in no way whatsoever amenable to the laws of Carlton county. Children may send their money by mail to that man, and he can ship back goods to the children in Carlton county, and you cannot touch him, nor can you prosecute the children; while, if a local retail liquor dealer were to sell to minors, that man would lose his license, could be fined and imprisoned.

"It is high time that the people of this county are holding the Anti-Saloon league agitators and the prohibitionists to an accounting as to what has followed their agitation. This work started in 1892; gradually local option, county option and state-wide prohibition laws have been adopted throughout the nation. But a man who died on bootleg whisky in a dry county is just as dead as if he had died from the effects of champagne in a high-class club. What has really occurred since 1892? From then until 1913 these people have persuaded more than 50 per cent of the population of the United States to try their remedy. Now, I say to them, 'It is time for us to look over the books.' What are the facts?

"In 1899, just about midway between the time they began their work until now, the internal revenue reports show that we manufactured more than 97,000,000 gallons of whisky. Steadily these figures rose as the prohibitionists continued to succeed, until 1913, with 54 per cent of the population under prohibition law, we manufactured 185,000,000 gallons of whisky. In 1913 we manufactured 3,148,000 barrels—not gallons, but barrels—more beer than we did in 1912, and in 1914 we manufactured 867,000 more barrels of beer than we did in 1913. In 1913 we exported $4,000,000 worth of beer, whisky, wines and champagnes, but we imported $20,000,000 worth. Four out and twenty in, and the country going dry!

"We closed last year in the prohibition states of the South over 2,600 illicit distilleries. The prohibition state of Georgia showed a record of 802 in twelve months' time. That prohibition state showed more illicit distilleries than all the regulated government-paid distilleries of the United States showed throughout the whole nation. In 1892, when this agitation started, we were consuming seventeen and a fraction gallons per capita of all sorts of liquors each year. That was our average. In 1913 we stood at the 23-gallon mark.

"Now, here is the point: Your method has only changed the avenue through which the people are obtaining their liquors. Let us turn again to the department of internal revenue. From 1905 to 1913 we reduced the total number of retail liquor dealers 26,022, but we increased the number of wholesale liquor dealers 3,296; or, for every eight and a fraction of retail liquor dealers put out of business a wholesale man has gone into business.

"When you have a retail liquor dealer in your town, the man who wants a drink goes and buys it. Sometimes he buys too many, but drunkenness is so uncommon that we make a news item of the drunk and say nothing about the hundreds of thousands of temperate and sober men who are regular customers of the saloons. Now, you close down that retail place. You cannot get a stein of beer by parcel post, a cocktail by express, or a highball by mail. So the man puts his money in an envelope, sends away and buys a gallon of highballs, a case of cocktails, or a barrel of beer. And when he purchases in wholesale lots, he consumes the same way. This is just as true of liquor as it is of cigars, or candy, or sugar. Wholesale purchasers make wholesale users of any commodity.

"Alongside of the development of the mail order liquor business in this country has come the terrific increase in the output of so-called patent medicines, such as Celery Compound, Peruna, Wine of Cardui, Hostetter's Bitters and the like. These 'medicines' run from 10 to 44 per cent alcohol, while beer has about 4 per cent alcohol. Prohibition territory has been green pasture for all sorts of dopes, patent medicines and nostrums of all sorts, where it has been made more difficult to ship in the beers and milder wines.

"So far as the moral side of this thing is concerned, you cannot permit the deacon of the church to buy his beer and his whisky and his wine and use them, and live on unmolested in that place of responsibility, and say that the man who sold him those goods is a crook and a criminal. You cannot by legislative enactment make one side of a trade right and the other wrong.

"Your license system is the best system yet proposed for the handling of this problem. It gives you your only local grip upon the matter of the dispensing of liquor."

COUNTY OPTION

The voters heard a good deal about "county option" during the recent campaign. From several inquiries that have reached us it is evident that there are some who do not yet know what it is all about. As it will come up during the coming session of the legislature, maybe it will be worth while explaining it.

In the briefest terms, county option is a proposal to change the unit in voting for and against the saloon from the community unit to the county unit; that is, to have counties decide instead of communities. Yet that is not quite accurate, either, since the county option proposal is somewhat one-sided in that if a county should vote "dry" it is all dry; while if it should vote "wet" the community units still could vote dry if they chose.

Without analysis, county option seems reasonable enough to many. "Why not," they ask, "let the voters of the county decide whether or not they want the saloon?" But in point of fact it is not reasonable at all, and there are many reasons why they should not. Why should the voters of St. Louis county decide the local policies of Hibbing or of Duluth?

Local option is the traditional liquor policy of Minnesota. Under it all townships and villages, and since the last legislative session fourth class cities also, have the power to vote annually whether or not they shall license saloons. Under home rule charters all other cities have the right to decide this question; so that in point of fact, under the present system all Minnesota could go "dry" any time the voters of the community units composing it wish to make it dry.

And that is where the power should rest. The machinery for law-enforcement is largely local. The law-machinery will work to enforce sumptuary measures only where it is supported by public sentiment. Where that public sentiment is lacking, the law-machinery fails to work.

What county option means, then, is the attempt to apply to communities against their wishes the will of people who do not live in those communities.

An appreciation of the unfairness and impracticability of county option may be gained by a brief study of a supposition instance, exaggerated to make the point clear.

Imagine an average Minnesota county containing one city of, say eight thousand people, with the rest of its territory composed of villages and townships. Under local option—the present system in Minnesota and most of the state—every acre in that county can be made dry if a majority of the people living in the city and in each of the villages and townships wish to make it dry.

But suppose the Minnesota system were county option instead of local option. Suppose that every man living outside that one city were a total abstainer and a believer in prohibition. Suppose, on the other hand, that every man living in the city was a moderate drinker, and opposed to prohibition. County prohibition would be put to a vote and, the abstainers in the rural districts having more votes than the moderate drinkers in the city, county prohibition would carry. The county, legally, would go dry.

What has happened? The county residents, not content with prohibition in their own towns and villages, have applied prohibition to the city, against the will of every dweller in it. The county residents, invading home rule rights, have fixed upon the city a municipal policy for which the city has no liking. What would happen then.

First, the city residents would resent having outsiders say how their city should be run. Second, the community sentiment being against a narrow policy, its officers would reflect that sentiment. Third, the city officials having charge of the enforcement of law, reflecting as they did such a sentiment, would not be greatly concerned about the enforcement of this particular law, especially as to enforce it would affront the voters upon whom they depended for re-election. Net result of county option: Drouth in the country, where there would be drouth under local option; and hypocrisy, lawmockery, blind pigs and bad whisky in city.

The liquor problem must be handled, but it must be handled practically. The trouble with county option as it is now proposed is that it is neither fair nor practical.

County option makes a good deal of noise in Minnesota, and seems to have a good many followers. Yet there is no evidence yet that the state is determined upon getting it. Four years ago a Democrat, Mr. Gray, ran for governor on a county option platform, and was beaten. This year Mr. Lee, a Republican, ran for governor on a county option platform and he also was beaten.—Editorial in Duluth Herald, November 9, 1914.

Protect Minnesota's Prosperity

Conditions In This State Compared With Those In Other States

Facts and Figures Contained Herein Are Taken From the Thirteenth United States Census, 1910, and Therefore Are Official

Penitentiary Inmates

Despite the fact that Minnesota has a population 23% greater than Kansas, the model prohibition state, it has fewer state prisoners than Kansas.

Kansas
A Prohibition State

Prisoners in State Penitentiary January 1, 1910... 882

Minnesota
A License State

Prisoners in State Prison, January 1, 1910..... 736

Now Observe—

Tennessee
A Prohibition State

Prisoners in State Penitentiary January 1, 1910. 1,813

NOTE. — Minnesota, with a population 23% greater than Kansas, shows actually 47% less criminal population than the model prohibition state, figuring on an equal population ratio.

Commercial Failures

Minnesota has had fewer commercial failures than Kansas, the model prohibition state:

Kansas
A Prohibition State

Years 1911, 1912, 1913, 803 failures, ratio of..... 91%

Minnesota
A License State

Juvenile Delinquents in Reformatories

Minnesota, although its population is 23% greater than that of Kansas, the model prohibition state, has fewer juvenile delinquents:

Minnesota

Minors in reformatories January 1, 1910..... 392

NOTE. — Minnesota's population, according to the 1910 Federal census, was 23% greater than that of Kansas. Figuring on that basis Minnesota has 37% less juvenile delinquents than the model prohibition state, Kansas.

The statistics for Tennessee on juvenile delinquents for this period are incomplete.

Paupers

Kansas, the model prohibition state, has more paupers in its state institutions than Minnesota, a license state, although Minnesota has the greater population:

Kansas
A Prohibition State

Inmates in almshouses, January 1, 1910..... 735

Minnesota

Inmates in almshouses, January 1, 1910..... 687

Now Observe—

Tennessee

Inmates in almshouses, January 1, 1910..... 1,569

NOTE.—Minnesota, according to the 1910 Federal census, had slightly less population than Tennessee, and 23% greater population than Kansas. Does it need much figuring to find that the prohibition states have an enormously greater percentage of paupers than Minnesota, a license state?

Divorce

These official figures are worth close study:

What Prohibition Means

It abolishes a thing that many enjoy because a few persons abuse their right to the use of it.
It attempts to abolish the legitimate sale of liquor and opens the way for blind pigs and lawlessness.
It abolishes license revenue and forces the people to pay higher taxes to make good the deficit.
It preaches that righteousness and temperance can come by law.
It claims a monopoly on all honor, integrity, temperance and Christian virtue.
It uses a "Reform" flag, and through false claims and deceitful doctrines, wins a following by playing on the sympathies of the unthinking.
It creates unrest, and provides a field of labor for paid agitators who thrive on the turmoil they create.

What License Means

It provides a lawful means of obtaining something that people have a right to buy. It is the foe of intemperance.
It regulates the sale of liquor and puts the lawless blind pigs out of business.
It provides a revenue which helps to keep taxes down.
It permits the poor man to obtain something which prohibition permits only the more fortunate to enjoy.
It is an aid to progress because it provides something which man demands. A dry town never yet made a large city.
It helps business and provides a large part of the money necessary to run the towns and county.
It stands for equal rights and opposes being governed by the intolerant few.
It provides something that strangers in a community have been accustomed to find in their own town.

BALANCING APRIL BOOKS

Morose May Offsets Cheerful April, Says Duluth Forecaster.

Only Four Clear Days to Date—Fair Weather in Sight.

May weather is balancing the books for April, according to Weather Forecaster Richardson. April, he says, was the finest Duluth has had in forty-five years; while May has been abnormally gloomy and wet. The merry month has been not only gloomy and morose, but the worst of it has been the retarding of farm work in the Northwest. However, it's a poor rain that does not soak somebody good, which can be taken in two senses. One is that it did wonders for the crops already in the ground, according to report.

"April of this year," said Mr. Richardson this morning, "was most unusual—the finest April in forty-five years as the records at my office show. We are getting, this month, a large part of the wet and frosty weather we should have had last month. The reason? That's too deep for weather men. It just happens—that's all."

During the present month, not counting today, there have been only four clear days and only five that were only partly cloudy. The rest of the twenty-one days were frankly cloudy, and most of them furnished rain to some extent. As to rain, there has been about 1 inch more than the normal rainfall for May.

The temperature, too, was cantankerous, which means that it was much below the normal for May, there being more frost weather than in most years during the month, and the frosty period extending to a later date than usual.

"But we are not alone in that," said Mr. Richardson, in giving out the "dope." "All of the Northwestern states, and Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas have had more and later frost than usual; and so far as rain we have been treated lightly as compared to Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Tennessee and other states."

The rainfall of yesterday was very moderate, being only .34. Today is clearing and the prospects for tomorrow are that it will be fair.

Redding, Cal., May 22.—Lassen peak's seething caldron bubbled over yesterday and sent a column of mud out down the mountain side, partly inundating Hat creek valley in the eastern part of Shasta county. Several houses and considerable livestock were destroyed, but no lives were lost.

From shortly after midnight until 10 o'clock, when the flow abated, the mud river moved fifteen miles, sweeping away bridges and converting roads into morasses.

Warned by Fred Seaborn, a government forest ranger who galloped from the town of Hat Creek, through the valley, ranchers and their families, scantily clad, took refuge on hillsides and escaped the flood. All day the atmosphere was dense with smoke from the crater.

The liquid eruption followed a spectacular outburst on Wednesday night, when for the first time, Lassen Peak spouted molten lava.

NIEMIECKE GETS SAME AS PARTNER

Jury Finds Him Guilty of Burglary in Third Degree.

Andrew Niemiecke, jointly indicted with John Mack on a charge of burglary in the third degree, was convicted by a jury in Judge Ensign's division of the district court yesterday afternoon. The jury was out six hours, having retired to deliberate upon the case at 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mack and Niemiecke were jointly accused of having entered the room of Sam Dahl at the Grace hotel on the night of May 6 by means of a pass key which was found among other tools in the possession of the two men who occupied another room at the hotel on the same night. The intruders stole $5 from Dahl.

RIGGS BANK CASE UNDER ADVISEMENT

Justice McCoy Will Render Decision Later on Government Motion.

Washington, May 22.—At the conclusion of the five days argument, Justice McCoy of the district supreme court took under advisement the motion of the government to dismiss the suit brought by the Riggs National bank to enjoin Secretary McAdoo, Comptroller of Currency Williams and Treasurer Burke from alleged unlawful persecution of the bank.

Relief sought by the plaintiff pending litigation was denied, except as to the payment into the treasury of $5,000 interest on bonds due the bank, and withheld to cover penalties imposed by the comptroller for failure to furnish certain reports. A temporary restraining order against the payment of this money into the treasury was granted at the outset of the proceedings and the court later will pass upon the question of continuing it.

Justice McCoy indicated that he would occupy some time considering the case, but would endeavor to dispose of it before July 1. In denying the prayer for an injunction, pending litigation, he said that without considering what evidence might hereafter be presented there was nothing in the record now which showed the government officials had exercised arbitrary power in regard to the refusal to select the Riggs bank as a reserve agency.

Persistent Violations.

"It seems to me on the record as it stands, that the government officials would be remiss in their duty in selecting it as an agent for new applicant banks," said the justice. "The evidence here is of persistent violations of the law, and those violations did not begin when Mr. Williams came into office, and they have continued to this day."

As a judge in passing on banking questions, Justice McCoy added it might not be out of place for him to say that the policy of not having deposits in stock exchange banks as compared with commercial banks was a good one and that congress had adopted the same view as expressed in the Federal reserve act.

The court also considered on the record as now made up, the charge that Secretary McAdoo showed malice in an interview in his office with Riggs bank officers. The justice said it appeared to him the malice was "rather on the other side."

At the opening of the session, Samuel Untermeyer of government counsel, presented a bookkeeper's affidavit that there were 6,000 stock transfers shown on the book of Louis Johnson & Co., in the name of the Riggs bank.

Mr. Untermeyer, who made the concluding argument for the government after Former Senator Bailey had closed for the bank, declared it appeared that two officers of the bank were getting personal benefit from such transactions, for which the Riggs bank furnished the security.

SETTLERS SEEK DAMAGES.

Alleged Owners of Clearwater Dam Flooded Their Property.

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Three suits for damages, aggregating $8,933.50, will be tried at the term of district court which convenes in this city in June. The cases are brought by Andrew Hanson and John Ausom of Hickory township, Pennington county, against Simon Florsheim and Leonard S. Florsheim, sons of a wealthy shoe manufacturer. The complaints allege that the defendants own a dam across the Clearwater river in Clearwater county, and that during the months of April, May, June and July, 1914, they closed the gates and sluiceways of the dam, backing up the water until the lands adjacent to the river for some distance back were flooded to a depth of about eight feet. Hanson and Ausom have had the settlers assign their claims for damages to them, and they will prosecute the cases.

METCALFE REINSTATED

Health Inspector Unjustly Discharged, Says Civil Service Board.

Segal Also Files Appeal From Discharge Two Years Ago.

After an all-afternoon session yesterday, the civil service commission ordered the reinstatement of R. N. Metcalfe as health inspector and decided to hear an appeal filed by Morris J. Segal, who claims that he did not receive a fair deal two years ago and that he would like to have official action taken on his case by the body.

Mr. Segal filed a statement with the commission during the Metcalfe hearing yesterday, and the members of the commission propose to conduct an investigation at once and to order a hearing held some time next month. In the meantime both Mr. Segal and Mr. Metcalfe will work as health inspector. Commissioner Silberstein having declared last night that Mr. Metcalfe would be reappointed in compliance with the orders of the civil service commission.

When Dr. E. W. Fahey took charge of the health department a month ago, he discharged Mr. Metcalfe and placed Mr. Segal in the department. Mr. Metcalfe immediately filed an appeal to the commission, declaring that he had been discharged without cause and that he is still entitled to the position. A date was set for the hearing, but it was postponed three times, in order that sufficient evidence might be presented by Dr. Fahey.

At the hearing yesterday afternoon, Mr. Metcalfe explained his side of the case, while Dr. Fahey declared that the former had been incompetent. Commissioner Silberstein and Dr. Webster, former health director, were both present but took no part in the proceedings.

After the hearing the commission ordered Mr. Metcalfe's reinstatement and the following statement was given out last night by Ruben Johnson, secretary of the body: "The charges preferred against R. N. Metcalfe were not sustained by the commission, and he was ordered reinstated in the service."

With the filing of Mr. Segal's appeal, the commission will now have to hold another hearing in the very near future. Mr. Segal claims that he was taken out of the health department two years ago and given work in the assessor's office. He declares that he was unable to handle the work and when told to continue there for a short time by Dr. Webster, refused to do so and resigned. He asks the commission officially to reinstate him, in view of the fact that he was never given a square deal and an opportunity to hold his position as inspector in the health department.

W. A. Hicken, former commissioner of public safety, declared this morning that Mr. Segal was never discharged by Dr. Webster and that he had resigned of his own accord.

VERDICT FOR COLONEL

ruled, the jury was thanked by Justice Andrews for its services and it then filed out into the jury room. Col. Roosevelt broke off shaking hands with his counsel and several newspaper men whom he has known for several years and hurried to the jury room. There he thanked the jury and shook hands with each member, and said:

Will Work for Public.

"In my whole life I shall work in the interest of the public and none of you gentlemen shall ever have the chance to say that I have done otherwise."

The colonel was then photographed with the jury.

After the picture had been taken the colonel turned to the jury and continued:

"I am more moved by this verdict than it is possible for me to express. None of you, I assure you, will ever have cause to regret your action. I am especially gratified that such a verdict came from a jury composed of men of every political faith."

The foreman of the jury said that forty ballots in all were taken before the verdict was finally agreed upon. The first ballot taken more than forty hours before the jury came in today was nine to three in favor of the defendant. It remained at the figure for about five hours.

Again Thanks Jury.

The colonel left the building in a crowd through which were scattered several of the jurymen. Before he separated from the jury the colonel said to its members:

"Gentlemen, this is certainly a typical American verdict. I want to thank you again."

A crowd gathered at the doors of the court house and cheered Juror Burns. Col. Roosevelt declined to make any comment further than that which he made in the jury room. He said, however, that his attorney, John M. Bowers, had prepared a statement which met with his approval. Following is the statement:

"The verdict of a unanimous jury is that Thedodore Roosevelt had justified the entire article in suit.

"The victory that Mr. Roosevelt has won is a victory for good government. The issue put to the jury was whether machine government or government by the people should prevail and the latter has prevailed. The article in the suit was held by the court to be libelous in two aspects.

Charged Corruption.

"First: Because it charged a corrupt political alliance between William Barnes, the Republican leader of the state, and Charles F. Murphy, the Democrat leader of the state, in relation to the state government. This the judge held was the meaning and purport of the article taken as a whole).

"Second: Because the article charged that the plaintiff had worked through a corrupt alliance between crooked business and crooked politics. The jury were further instructed that they must render a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, unless they found that the defendant established to their satisfaction by a fair preponderance of evidence that both charges were true. This burden was successfully borne by Mr. Roosevelt.

"It is impossible to determine at this time the far-reaching extent of this verdict for good government.

Rightly Lodged in Jury.

"The verdict certainly assures us that that Anglo-Saxon system of determining questions between litigants is rightly lodged in the hands of a jury of twelve men.

"Moreover it determines that jurors holding political views opposed to those held by a party will not be swayed thereby in determining the questions submitted to them.

"My associates and I have fully appreciated the responsibility we assumed in advising the course to be taken in defending the action and it is a source of great satisfaction that the result achieved has justified our advice."

The foreman of the jury in a statement said:

"After the first ballot we stood 11 to 1 in favor of the defendant. Those figures were never changed, Mr. Burns refusing to change his vote until this morning.

"Except for Mr. Burns the jurors who voted for the plaintiff on the first ballot did so, they said, because they did not want it to appear that they gave insufficient consideration to the great mass of evidence that was presented during those five long weeks. We are all very tired, I assure you."

be taken to the state line and to be told not to return."

Walsh then read part of Rockefeller's letter to Bowers, saying he would back the mine officials in everything they did and asked if it was not written after deportations had occurred.

"Will you be kind enough to read all of my letter?" Rockefeller demanded.

"I can't do that at this time," said Walsh, "but any letter you desire to read you may submit after I have concluded my examination."

"Then I am unable to reply intelligently to questions based on fragments of letters."

Violation of Rights.

Walsh referred to the deportation of Mother Jones, which he characterized as a violation of constitutional rights.

"Did you remonstrate with your officers for condoning and sympathizing with this violation of constitutional rights?" demanded Chairman Walsh.

"I had no reason to believe that those officers condoned or sympathized with violations of the Constitution," was the reply.

Mr. Walsh asked if Mr. Rockefeller would see that if the officers were guilty of condoning such violations they were punished. Mr. Rockefeller said that in regulating the officers he would "take such steps as he himself considered necessary, proper and expedient."

Walsh again asked the witness if he did not think Sheriff Farr's deputies, paid by the Colorado Fuel & Iron company during the strike, "were a menace to the community's peace and to American government?"

"I cannot tell whether they were more of a menace than failure to have the deputies would have been," was Rockefeller's answer.

The chairman let it be known that the commission was considering recommendations of law on that point.

"Some members of the commission," he said, "are directing their efforts with much assiduity toward formulating recommendations for laws that will give the state and the nation full control of all agencies of force in the country."

ITALIANS READY TO STRIKE AT ENEMY

quirinal to pay tribute to King Victor Emmanuel as the personification of Italy. The scene which was enacted when his majesty and the members of his family appeared upon a balcony overlooking the square has few parallels in the history of Rome. The Roman hosts were carried away upon a flood tide of Latin enthusiasm when the monarch appeared.

Vast Multitude.

The multitude was so vast that all the people could not enter the square. From the crowd came a sound like the roaring of the sea.

The windows on a balcony of the quirinal palace were opened and a red damask covering was thrown over the parapet. This was a sign that the king was about to appear and the impatience of the crowd increased. There were cries of "Long live the king!" and "Long live the house of Savoy!"

Finally the king and the queen and the royal children came out upon the balcony. His majesty was in the uniform of a general. The crown prince, dressed as a sailor boy, waved his cap to the multitude. The excitement of the people arose almost to a delirium.

King Embraces Flag.

The king then did an unprecedented thing. He gave orders that the Italian flag be raised to the balcony. Then, amid the thundering cheers of the multitudes his majesty advanced to the national standard and folding it in his arms embraced it.

The royal family then retired within the palace. Later the king called a group of the aldermen inside and to them expressed his gratitude for the loyalty and patriotism of the Roman people.

After the demonstration before the Quirinal a great crowd, with an American flag carried at the head, went to the Del Drago palace, the residence of United States Ambassador Thomas Nelson Page. There were loud cheers for America and demands for revenge for the Lusitania victims.

The Official Gazette has published a decree empowering the military authorities to take control of all Italian railroads. This condition went into effect last night.

GREAT BATTLE STILL RAGING FIERCELY

der-in-chief of the British land forces at the Dardanelles, saying that the Australians have inflicted a loss of 7,000 men on the Turks. General Hamilton describes this as the Australians' revenge for the death of Brig. Gen. W. T. Bridges, commander of the Australian forces on Gallipoli peninsula, and states that only a few hundred men were lost in this attack.

Reports Confirmed.

Special dispatches from Athens say recent reports of successes for the allies have been confirmed. The Turks however, still hold the summits of Krithia and Kojadere.

No formal declaration of war by Italy against her former partners in the Triple Alliance has yet been reported but many incidents have occurred of a character indicating imminence of an actual state of war.

The organizers of the new British cabinet are taking a holiday over Whitsuntide, which probably means that the composition of the coalition government will not be known this week-end.

A Geneva telegram reports that Baron Burian von Rajecs, Austro-Hungarian premier, has resigned but Emperor Francis Joseph is said to have declined to accept his resignation.

French Statement.

Paris, May 22.—The French war office this afternoon issued a report on the progress of hostilities reading as follows:

"Our troops completed yesterday evening the cleaning up of the trenches known as 'The White Way,' situated to the south of the Lorette heights. A large number of Germans were killed in the branch lines of these trenches. Others surrendered. The exact numbers are not as yet known.

"During the night the enemy made several counter-attacks. He was repulsed and he suffered heavy losses. All the spur of 'The White Way' is in our hands.

"We have made further progress to the southeast of the Chapel of Lorette. We are at the present time within 100 yards of the northeast corner of Ablain."

German Statement.

Berlin, May 22, by wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—German army headquarters today gave out a report on the progress of hostilities reading as follows:

British and French attacks were repulsed yesterday to the southwest of Neuve Chapelle where colored English troops were taken prisoners, and on the heights of Lorette. In some places the fighting is still going on.

Southwest of Lille and in the Argonne the enemy made use of mines charged with poisonous gases.

To the east of Windau in Courland, Russia, there have been cavalry engagements.

At Shavli in Kovno province on the Dubysa river, Russian night attacks were repulsed. Two hundred Russians were taken prisoner.

In the southeastern theater of the war there has been no changes of importance.

CUYUNA ORE TO CANADA

Dominion Steamer Emperor Pays First Visit to This Harbor.

Loading at N. P. Dock for Point Edward, Ont., Furnace.

The Canadian steamer Emperor, one of the largest bulk freighters on the Great Lakes that flies the British flag, is in this harbor today, loading ore which will be taken to Point Edward, Ont., close to Sarnia. The Emperor, which is owned by the Inland Lakes company, Ltd., the Canadian shipping trust, and is the flagship of the fleet, has never been in this harbor before. Also this is the first shipment of iron ore from this port to a Canadian furnace.

The Emperor is 525 feet long, her beam is 56 feet and her net tonnage is 4,641. She was built in 1910.

The big steamer is loading at the Northern Pacific ore dock on the Superior side of the bay, and included in her cargo will be 4,000 tons of iron ore from the Wilcox mine at Woodrow, South Cuyuna range, which is the first ore shipped from that mine.

TIONESTA ARRIVES.

Carrying Package Freight; Passenger Season Opens in June.

The Anchor line steamer Tionesta arrived last night with a load of package freight from Buffalo, the first boat of the line that usually carries passengers to reach Duluth this season. Her passenger season will not open until June 9, however. The steamer Juniata, which was scheduled to start on her freight-carrying season on June 6, will not be sent out until the situation improves. Just at present there is a slacking up in package freight, particularly the west-bound stuff. East-bound business keeps up well, it is claimed.

Sentenced to County Jail for Running a Blind Pig.

Brainerd, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. T. Larrabee, proprietor of the Ideal hotel here, charged with keeping an unlicensed drinking place, was sentenced to sixty days in the county jail and his liquor, some two drayloads, valued at $2,000, ordered destroyed and bar fixtures, if any, seized and ordered sold. Larrabee secured a short stay and may appeal the case.

Larrabee, by way of defense, claimed the liquor had been sold to the Mississippi club, newly organized. This is the first of a series of prosecutions commenced since Brainerd went dry April 20.

EDUCATIONAL COST IN NORTH DAKOTA

Bismarck, N. D., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota paid $6,472,198.91 for the support of the common schools and higher education last year, according to the annual report of State Auditor Carl Jorgenson. Of this over $5,500,000 was paid for the maintenance of the common schools, less than a million being paid to the other institutions.

MUSICIAN FOUND DEAD.

Well-Known Thief River Falls Man Gets Sudden Summons.

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jacob Bjerkhoel, a resident of this city since 1899, was found in his home by a son, who wondered why his father had not yet appeared at his jewelry store. He had dressed for town and evidently felt the attack coming and seated himself near the door. His wife died about a year ago, and he lived alone in the old home. Mr. Bjorkhoel was a violinist of exceptional ability, and was the composer of classical music. At one time he organized and directed an orchestra of fifty pieces in Norway, and wrote a great deal of the music rendered by the organization. He is survived by six children.

THE DAY OF RECKONING.

The money cost of the war in Europe is running into figures that paralyze the imagination. The embattled nations are incurring a debt that generations to come must stagger under. So vast is this debt that already there is talk of repudiation; and the shadow of this brusk method of settling a debt is so tangible that gold is at a premium of thirteen per cent in Germany, eleven per cent in Italy and five per cent in France.

The London Economist has estimated that at the end of the first year of the war, July 31, the war debts of the principal nations will be as follows:

Great Britain	$4,790,000,000
Germany	9,480,000,000
France	6,690,000,000
Austria-Hungary	6,310,000,000
Belgium	2,432,000,000
Russia	6,000,000,000
Total	$35,702,000,000

What this means may be faintly realized by figuring what these debts will amount to per capita and per family:

	Per Capita.	Per Family.
Great Britain, (United Kingdom)	$106	$530
Germany	146	730
France	170	850
Austria-Hungary	127	635
Belgium	333	1,665
Russia	38	190

Outside of Russia, where the per capita burden is reduced by an enormous population, the average is $144 for every man, woman and child, or $720 for every family of five. And this at the end only of the first year of war, with the end nowhere in sight, and the debt mounting rapidly every day!

The debt of these six countries before the war—very largely old war debts, too—was about twenty-four billions. The total debt on the first day of August will be about SIXTY BILLIONS OF DOLLARS! This, excluding Russia, will be $238 for every man, woman and child in the five countries, or $1,090 for every family. The annual interest at only three per cent will be about $1,800,000,000, or much more than half the total stock of gold in the six countries, which in January, 1912, was $3,101,100,000.

It is to be remembered, too, that the war which is building up this gigantic structure of debt is at the same time destroying wealth and lessening the productive capacity of every nation involved.

When the war is over—perhaps before—there will be a day of reckoning. The devil is a willing piper, and he pipes merrily for whoever will dance. But he is an expensive piper, and he must be paid.

When the war is over Europe, with a large percentage of its able bodied manhood buried in the wholesale graveyards of many battlefields or hobbling on crutches, with its industries paralyzed or destroyed, with its treasuries emptied and its remaining population already staggering under an abnormally heavy tax burden, will face the grim problem of reckoning with a debt expressed in figures before which the imagination stands palsied and impotent.

A Buffalo, N. Y., assessor dropped dead the other day, and now the professional pessimists are making remarks to the effect that he must have found an honest man.

THE POLITICAL DISCOVERIES OF A WESTERN EDITOR.

The editor of the Portland Oregonian has been traveling in the East, and he has made some interesting discoveries which he confides to his constituency in interesting editorial correspondence.

One thing is that Col. Roosevelt seems to have thrown the Progressive party into the discard, and to be busily engaged in patching up the Republican ship for a voyage in the tempestuous waters of the 1916 campaign.

For instance, this Western editor reports what he considers to be a well authenticated story that the Colonel has written letters to Senators Smoot and Lodge, both Brahmins of the Old Guard, urging them to make the most vigorous opposition to Secretary Bryan's Colombia treaty and to do all they can to overthrow the Wilson administration, winding up with this: "Don't make it too hard for me in 1916."

Again, it is related that the Colonel met the late Nelson W. Aldrich at a dinner given by Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt a short time before Mr. Aldrich died, and that "Mr. Roosevelt approached the Rhode Island man in the most effusive and friendly manner, slapped him on the back and said loudly: 'You are the man of the hour. You and I have always been good friends. You are the right man to write the platform of the next national Republican convention.'"

What, O shade of the late lamented bull moose and wraith of "the new nationalism," do you know about that?

Worse, though, is yet to come. "It is said," continues this Western observer, "that he has definitely broken with both the Pinchots and others of his 'fool friends.' He is known to have resumed relations with such old friends as Senator Borah, Senator Lodge, William Loeb and many other Republicans. Ormsby McHarg, a political adventurer, is said to be trying to start a boom for Roosevelt as the Republican presidential nominee; but I have not found anywhere any real expectation that he will be a candidate or that, if he were, he could be nominated."

So the point isn't that the Colonel is seeking another "cup of coffee"—would it be the third, now, or the fourth?—for himself, but that he is ambitious of being the Warwick, the guide, philosopher and friend of a rejuvenated Republican party under the same Old Guard leadership that so disgusted the Colonel with the party that he marched off into the wilderness and made a new party.

But that the Colonel has forsaken this new party, that he has shaken off the "fool friends" whose loyalty to him and to what they took to be his ideal made the new party possible, seems to be accepted as a fact by this Western investigator. Whether or not this is grateful, certainly it is intensely practical, and the Colonel always has protested that he is a practical man.

Any time this contention is disputed, the Colonel need only refer to the testimony in the Barnes-Roosevelt trial relating to his relations with Platt, Barnes and other bosses.

ONLY THE FIRST STEP.

The Herald has expressed its satisfaction with the decision of the interstate commerce commission forbidding railroad control of lake package freight lines, and its judgment of the tremendous importance of this ruling to Duluth.

But getting this ruling is only a first step.

Carrying it into effect is only the next step.

There still remain further necessary steps, and first and chief of these is that arrangements be made for the additional boat service that will be needed when, the lake freights having dropped to their proper level, the lake route begins to get the share of the freight it has been deprived of by railroad favoritism to railroad interests.

Moreover, if new lake lines can be established, their competition will afford an assurance that under the new dispensation the old lines, under their new management, will come down to a proper level of rates and up to a proper level of service.

The railroads, owning the boat lines, kept lake freights high so as to preserve to the rail lines as much business as possible.

The railroads and lake lines divorced, this artificial support of high rates ought to be removed, and rates ought to drop.

There will be no doubt whatever about their dropping if, besides the old lake lines just removed from railroad ownership, there are new lake lines not likely to become subject to indirect railroad control.

Does the curriculum at West Point include a practical course in trench-digging?

THE WEATHER AND CHARACTER.

How you take the weather is a pretty fair index to your character, in a way.

Those who lack inner resources are prone to be dependent upon external conditions. Those who have no inner resources at all are swayed hither and yon by every gust of circumstance that blows. Those who have large inner resources are largely independent of externals, and enjoy a poise and a sublime superiority to circumstance that fortifies them against the little things that the smaller-minded worry into big things.

What greater folly can there be than to worry over unpleasant things that are beyond human control?

Does the weather balk your plans for pleasure? Oh, well, there's another day coming!

Do too much wet and cold or too much drouth and warmth "get on your nerves?" Assert your individuality and remember that the longest night has its dawn, and that the longer the wet spell lasts the nearer draws the fine weather that follows.

Those who let externals, many of which are trifles to the self-possessed, wear upon them and make them miserable are in a bad way.

Most happiness and contentment is manufactured from within, anyway; and those who have grown to be dependent for happiness upon external conditions have condemned themselves to a good deal of misery.

They get, finally, so almost anything annoys them and so almost nothing can please them.

They become a burden to themselves and a pall of gloom to their associates.

Be "bigger than weather."

"When the Lord parcels out the weather and sends rain, why rain's my choice!" Be that your motto and your philosophy.

Be bigger than external circumstances. Make your sunshine from within, and then you'll be superior to clouds and rain and cold.

By such a philosophy you can fortify your soul against a thousand trifles that will, if you let them, grind you into the earth.

Certain Wisconsin legislators are said to have voted exactly opposite on the roll call to the way they did in a standing vote. Evidently there is some sort of a joke on somebody.

THE TOO EARLY SPRINGTIME OF G. O. P. HOPES.

Chicago Tribune: A warm and springlike influence is to be noticed in Republican affairs. Ruddy streaks of hope are discerned in the political firmament, and little birds are singing in many an ear.

Is the winter of Republican discontent departing? Certainly Republican leaders seem confident that the days of Democratic rule are numbered.

There are many plausible reasons for this belief which need not be enumerated here. Yet none of the signs observable at this time is so certain as that political seasons are fickle, and that there is yet time for a reversal of the popular mood before November 1916.

Political gardeners, as well as back yard gardeners, should beware the wiles of a too early spring.

Many a Duluth gardener who availed himself of April's warmth to make his garden has cloaked his sorrow in the sackcloth of the early May frosts.

What the Tribune says about Republican hopefulness is nowhere near so true now as it was in midwinter. The soil the Old Guard hope roots in is the soil of hard times. It knows but one siren song—the song of the full dinner bucket. That song pierces but one ear—the ear of the disconsolate, bemoaning lost profits or lost jobs. Like the Bourbons, the Old Guard forgets nothing, learns nothing.

It is a patriotic hope indeed, is it not (it is not), which finds its inspiration only in the possibility of calamitous business conditions, and which shivers and shrivels when the sun of good business scatters the clouds of depression?

That hope has sunk with the spring rise of that same business barometer.

The Republican Old Guard has left, in place of all its old-time principles and policies, but one article of its stock in trade: the claim that there can be no good times under Democratic rule. Which is to say that there can be no prosperity for the many that doesn't pass through the cream-skimming hands of the few.

Despite the war, despite the world-wide cataclysm that has unsettled the world's trade, business is good and getting better—prosperity is a rising tide about to engulf the land.

It's a fearful mixture of metaphors, but the rising sun of American prosperity is the spring frost which blasted the too sanguine hopes of the Old Guard that clutches the ruins of the once magnificent Republican party.

The odds favor the theory that T. R. will consider it a victory rather than an escape.

GERMANS AS AMERICAN PIONEERS.

It was inevitable that partisanship in the war would breed ill feeling here and there, but it isn't at all pleasant to contemplate such effects of it as the claim, made in the Far Eastern Review by its editor George Bronson Rea, that "the German arrived in America after the hard work of colonization was completed, and though there were still boundless tracts to be opened for settlement, the German immigrants for the most part settled in the larger cities and towns as small shopkeepers."

Using truth enough to make his diatribe doubly mischievous, Mr. Rea proceeds to assign to "Anglo-Saxon enterprise and indomitable will" the whole credit for settling the wilds and creating the nation.

Now it is true enough that the backbone and foundation of the American colonies was Anglo-Saxon, because American settlement primarily was from Anglo-Saxon sources—Puritans in New England, Cavaliers in Maryland and Virginia, the two great centers of colonial expansion. Yet to assign to the Anglo-Saxon all the credit for the sturdy pioneering that laid broad and deep the foundations of this nation is to perpetrate rank injustice, and to deny the German colonials any share at all in this credit is to fall victim to crudely unreasoning prejudice.

If the Anglo-Saxons are entitled to the greatest share, it is simply because they were the most numerous—not because they were the hardiest and the most venturesome. The Dutch that settled New Amsterdam, the Swedes that settled in Delaware, the Germans that colonized Pennsylvania and above all the Scotch-Irish who were the sturdy backbone of the movement across the Alleghanies which really led to the development of the interior, all are entitled to full credit according to their numbers. There is utterly no showing in history that one is less deserving than another.

The Springfield Republican, taking up the case of the German pioneers, makes a showing that utterly annihilates Mr. Rea's childish and un-American attempt to discredit the German-Americans; though to be fair to him it should be added that he concedes that in later years America owes much to her German citizens. The Republican says:

> Those who write or think in this vein can hardly know the history of the palatines who settled the Mohawk valley, yet the massacres of Wyoming and Cherry Valley should be known to all who have read even the elementary text-books of American history. Neither in New York nor in Pennsylvania nor in the South did the German shirk the labors and the perils of the wilderness.
> It is not generally known how large a part they played in the colonizing of the West beyond. Into Ohio they streamed both from the Mohawk valley and from Pennsylvania; in the dark and bloody ground of Kentucky Germans vied with Daniel Boone as Indian fighters. Steiner and the German Pole Sandusky were in Kentucky before Boone. One of the famous explorers was "the long Dutchman." George Yeager (Jaeger) who was killed by the Indians in 1775. In the valley of Virginia German pioneers were more numerous than any other single element. Along the whole frontier line from Maine to Georgia they were distributed in the best positions for the plunge into the wilderness, and with their large families there were plenty of younger sons ready to seek lands of their own. In Kentucky an observer at the end of the eighteenth century estimated that "of twelve families of each nationality nine German, seven Scotch and four Irish prospered, whilst the others failed."

Surveying the field of colonial and post-revolutionary history broadly, these several elements contributed to its making very largely in proportion to their numbers. The United States of today would be something entirely different if any of them had been lacking. The Germans, though relatively small in numbers, did their full share in the work of pioneering—braved their share of the dangers, took their share of hardship and violent death, and nobly cemented their full share of the mighty foundation of the nation that is today.

If it were not for a species of war partisanship that is vastly to be regretted, there would be no soul today to deny it.

Even Roosevelt wasn't able to give Speck von Sternburg the publicity Count von Bernstorff has drawn down on himself.

POLAND.

Though pity for stricken Belgium has not declined in this country, its heart of pity still has capacity to ache for the sorrows of war-stricken Poland.

Except at the extreme north, almost every foot of the war area in the East, where a mighty struggle is in progress between the Teutonic allies and Russia, is in Poland.

Do you read of titanic battles along the Vistula or the San, with the battle line pushed backward and forward, now this way and now that, destroying whatever lies in its path? That battle line is in Poland.

Do you read of victories and reverses in Galicia, of an army sweeping to the gates of Cracow and then pushed back twenty miles? Galicia is Austrian Poland.

Do you read of a German army fighting its way to Lodz, to Warsaw? Every inch of its route is in Russian Poland. When the Russian forces push the invaders back toward the German border, every inch of their route is in Russian Poland.

Should victory rest with the Russian armies and the German fortresses of Posen and Thorn become beleaguered, it would simply mean that the destroying tide of battle had shifted from Russian Poland to German Poland.

Have you ever let your imagination run to a contemplation of what it means to have this grim red tide of battle sweeping back and forth over an inhabited area? If you do, you will not sleep well tonight. It is destruction, complete and final. It is woe and death and misery—want, disease, famine—stricken fields and ruined homes, wreck and ruin to city and village, to castle and hovel alike.

And the pity of it is that though men may debate over whether this country or that is most at fault for this civilization-destroying plague of war, nobody can say that Poland or the Poles share any trace of the dread responsibility.

Ignace Paderewski has issued an appeal to American mercy in behalf of his stricken countrymen. "Back and forth," he says, "the vast hosts of Russia and of the Teutonic allies have been surging over Poland ever since the war began; sweeping away every sign of civilization, destroying dwellings, devastating fields, gardens and forests, and exterminating human beings and animals alike."

That appeal should be heard and heeded.

Contributions in response to it may be sent to the Polish Victims' Relief Fund, care of the National City bank, New York.

But maybe after all Huerta only came here to learn to play bridge.

A "UNITED NATION."

During the outburst of patriotic support that followed President Wilson's note to Germany there were a good many references to this as a "united nation."

So fervid were these references that a stranger might have been forgiven for imagining that this had been a sundered nation and was newly united, or that there had been fears in some places that union might not exist.

It is not so. This was a united nation before, and what followed the president's note to Germany was simply a new and concrete demonstration of an ancient fact.

We disagree and dispute, we American people, sometimes bitterly and with heat.

But in the common American interests and in the cause of national honor and the world standing of the nation, we are one—indivisible, unhyphenated, unafraid.

AN EXPERIMENT IN SOBRIETY.

Sydney Smith, who lived in a day when drinking was as regular as eating, and when drunkenness was almost as common as sleeping, undertook an experiment in teetotalism, and he made an interesting report upon it.

Writing to a friend after a fair trial of his adventure on the water wagon, he said that he never felt half so well. "Indeed," he says, "I find that I have been ill all my life without knowing it. Now I can sleep like a plowboy. If I dream, it is not of lions and tigers, but of Easter dues and tithes. I can walk further without fatigue, and my understanding is so much improved that I can comprehend political economy. I am able to see better without wine and spectacles than I could when I used both. There is only one drawback: I am in such extravagant spirits that I must lose blood or look out for someone who will bore or depress me."

Shackle your legs and hobble about in your fetters for a year or more.

Then strike off your shackles, and you will feel an exhilarating sense of lightness and freedom.

Shackle your brain and body and soul with alcohol for years.

Then strike off the fetters, and you will feel a joyous mental elasticity and bodily activity—a sense of well-being and surging health, that will make you understand Sydney Smith's experience.

But—

Wear those leg-shackles too long, and your legs will become stiff and cramped, their elasticity gone forever.

The analogy holds with alcohol.

Did the Pullman company ever consider letting the porters collect all the income from the traveling public?

Women and Things

William Allen White in the Emporia Gazette.

The meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs in Emporia this week affords us an opportunity, gives us a pulpit, to say something that has agitated our bosom for some time. What shall follow is written by a man and naturally contains a man's point of view. But the man who wrote it has supported woman's suffrage in two campaigns in Kansas; has stood with what valor a mere man may command in politics for all the women's legislation which the women have demanded, in Kansas and out, for more than twenty years, facing the "beasts at Ephesus" who have roared dreamer and visionary at him for things which the beasts aforesaid later have accepted as a part of the sacred established order.

> Therefore when we declare—> and nail this thesis to the wall > —that there is considerably > more work to do for women in > the home than is being done in > all the circles of the community, > we should not be crucified as > an enemy of the sex.

The work that women have to do today in the home is not, of course, the old work that their mothers and grandmothers did. Much of that work has been socialized. The canner, the power loom, the common school, the light, heat and power plant and the water plant have taken much of the drudgery from woman's hands. But nevertheless, her job is in the home, and only as she can make the home better by her vote, and make the environment of the home better by her vote can she as a sex—allowing for certain exceptions—find her work in the world as a citizen of the world.

The child, the church and the kitchen—the kaiser trinity—still must be the lower gods of woman. And it is immensely unfortunate that women today should not see that no amount of shifting the responsibility on society is going to lift the blame from the women whose daughters turn out badly. The world is being flooded with a horde of little, ignorant, rattle-pated hussies—potentially and actually—who have graduated from homes that are a disgrace to civilization, largely because the mothers were lazy. Because civilization has lightened certain burdens women today are tempted more than in any previous civilization to shirk all burdens. Because food is largely prepared out of the home, and comes in cans and cartons, women today are prone to forget that after all the first raw preparation of food is not the final step in serving food. Cooking is as important an art today as ever in the economy of the home, even though the art has changed. Because the school teaches the child the three R's, certain mothers are forgetting that they have a God-given duty to teach their children the major virtues in the time that their grandmothers spent in teaching school topics. Lying and stealing and adultery rise out of the modern home, because women in that home are not using as they should use the time civilization has given them in the home, to teach children honesty and candor and purity.

Divorce is increasing because women are idle. And they are not idle because there is nothing to do in the home, but because they are neglecting the new things that should be done.

Vice and crime are largely the product of environment. So is poverty, and they interbreed. But vice and poverty interbreed because the woman as the head of the home doesn't know how to keep up her end of the beam. She is not as civilized as a home-maker as the man is in the civilization around her, and the home breaks down.

Her cooking is bad—of a sixteenth century badness. So money is wasted on groceries and meats. She knows no dressmaking, so money is wasted on clothes. She knows no arts of entertainment, so money and morals go into the movies and the cheap theaters. The homes of the poor are undercivilized, and it is largely the woman's fault that they are. And one of the big jobs of women of the middle and upper classes is to civilize the homes of poverty.

Teach women to sew, to make homes, to attract their inmates rather than to repel them. Potatoes, peeled thick, boiled in great buckets of water to slop, and standing in the water until the mess is soggy—how many a poor man's dollars goes to waste thus. Ready-made clothes, sleazy, shoddy and dearer than the tailor-mades of the rich, how many a poor man's dollar goes that way to waste. Sensational newspapers sticking dirty snouts in sex crimes and pitching up revolting details for their readers; vicious movies with the sex relations over-emphasized; girls running the street by day and spooning in the parks by night, because the mother is gadding and don't look after them, how many a poor man's daughter goes to hell that route!

These conditions are superficial; they are susceptible of change. And the change must come largely through the activities of the sheltered middle-class woman, who today has almost unlimited powers of influence, but who too often is neglecting those powers or misdirecting them. For instance:

In every Kansas town is a good high school, teaching some sort of domestic science. Does that domestic science department teach the children of the poor how to pick out a steak? How to broil it? How to fix a cheap piece of beef so that it will be palatable? How to peal potatoes and boil them? How to make good vegetable soup? How to make beef tea for the sick? What food is good for incipient summer complaint? What is good for the bilious to eat? What cheap vegetables to prepare in season and how to fix them to tempt the palate?

Or does the domestic science department teach French cooking?

This is but one of the ways in which the woman of the middle class may do her duty as a woman, as a home-maker, as a citizen, as a sister.

We are all tied together. The woman who says she has all she can do to look after her own daughters and sons must remember that every time a poor girl is sent to hell, that poor girl becomes part of a great socialized trade that is spreading disease not merely to the homes of the poor, but into the homes of the middle class and rich. For the penalties of prostitution are democratic. They touch us all.

The woman of today has two big home duties: First to see that her own home is civilized, that her own men and children are cared for expertly, and second to see that the same degree of civilization prevails in all the homes about her. That may be done—to an extent through the schools and the churches. There women have power. But unless they use their power wisely and industriously, hope for progress of the race will be long deferred.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

The Sword of Goliath.

When David started, as a fugitive on his adventurous career, he took as his weapon the sword of his fallen foe, Goliath. That which had been turned against him he now proposed to turn against his enemies. It was a formidable blade and the stripling must have winced at the sight of it in the grasp of the giant. It looked better to him now as he surveyed its handle rather than its point.

How often the things that have frightened us and tyrannized over us may be made to serve us! Faults of disposition or features of circumstance that are able if unsubdued to defeat both happiness and usefulness may be, by the grace of God, transformed into conquering advantage. Some of the most unlikely and difficult experiences may develop strength in us, that which is most unpromising may yield utmost beauty and benefit.

It is hopeful gospel surely to thousands who chafe under various oppositions and infirmities. On is handicapped by heredity, for instance. He is born with certain weaknesses that seem unfavorable to success. To change these over from the column of liabilities to that of assets is a large part of the life problem. To transform and glorify the impediment becomes our task.

One's disposition, whatever it may be, should be regarded as an instrument to serve God and not the devil. Do you fire up easily? A quick temper is a perilous possession; yet the world always needs men capable of a righteous wrath. First and last peppery dispositions have done lots of good as well as lots of harm.

Are you naturally avaricious and scheming? You are called to make that faculty an instrument of honor and not of dishonor. Remember that a natural spirit of enterprise may make a man a human benefactor as surely as it may make him, if misdirected, a villain. Are there somber and ugly facts in your environment? Be assured they may be made to serve some holy purpose.

The modern scientist goes to the coal pit for black lumps of ugly, vile-smelling mineral tar. Distillation of the unsavory mass in his retort releases all the brilliant-hued aniline dyes that brighten our rooms and our garments. Not otherwise may many a black situation be made to minister to life's good. Man may become a moral as well as a material alchemist. We may gain "beauty for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness."

Incessant toil seems a grievous burden to many. "For men must work and women must weep," sings Kingsley. It is true about the working at least, of both men and women. Work comes as an angel, though in disguise, and hearing gifts. Without it we should become a flabby, degenerate race. Work means both physical and moral muscle—and the latter is more important. Make, then, a new appraisal of your possessions and count in at least some of those hostile powers—toil, failure, sorrow, pain, temptation, that have hitherto seemed only weapons in the hand of a foe and designed to compass your defeat.

I am glad this question is settled for I have been given to understand that he was an ancestor of mine and I was naturally sensitive about his table manners.

ABOUT POT-LICKER

By SAVOYARD

Washington, May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lately there has been a rather wide discussion of the dish known as "pot-licker." Boston has been talking about it with verbose ignorance; New York is nearly as hopeless, and Chicago knows nothing about it. As pot-licker is an invention of Kentucky and Tennessee, it is surprising that Tom Wallace of Louisville calls it the broth of a pot of hog's jowl and turnip sallet; but then Tom is from the bluegrass county of Shelby, and pot-licker is a native of the Pennyrile, and there it is cooked and served in its grandeur, a dish fit for high Olympus when Jupiter has for guests Jason's mighty crew.

The base of genuine pot-licker is cabbage, or turnip, and properly prepared as only the old negro cook of that elder and better day could make it, it was better than blackeye pea soup and equal to jowl and greens. I will now tell you about real pot-licker, a luxury that has occasioned many an elegant and high-toned Kentuckian and Tennesseean to commit the sin of gluttony.

If we are to believe all we read in the "Expedition of Humphrey Clinker," and I accept every line of that immortal classic, they grew turnips in the soil of Scotland that are more like fruit than vegetable, so sweet they are. Just as fine a turnip is grown in Barren county, Ky., if the farmer knows his business, as many of them do. In the first quarter of the nineteenth century the early settlers of that region wore out their fertile fields by growing corn and tobacco. Lands were cheap, and vast areas were abandoned to broomsedge, thrown out for stray live stock to graze upon. After years of neglect patches of blackberry briars would grow here and there and these restored the fertility of the soil on which sprang up bluegrass—not the rank and vulgar growth of the "upper counties," like Shelby, Henry, Woodford and Fayette, but a more delicate and more aristocratic plant. If I may force a metaphor, more or less stolen, the bluegrass of Barren county is to the bluegrass of Bourbon county as is the arched instep of the Frank to the flat foot of the Goth.

Well, go out into an old field and clear it of a patch of briars. Plow it shallow, harrow it and thoroughly pulverize the soil. Then the first week in September, when that moon is new of which the poet sang not quite like this:

"The kiss that would make a maid's cheek flush
Wroth, as if kissing were a sin,
Amidst the Argus eyes and din
And tell-tale glare of noon,
Brings but a murmur and a blush,
Beneath the harvest moon."

—in the first week in September sow your turnips. If you want to raise turnips for sheep or cattle, sow them the 25th of July and have turnips though the weather be wet or dry. But for pot-licker sow your turnips early in September.

Then by the middle of October, when the frost has first kissed the maiden foliage of the forests and made it the glorious matron—wife of opulent autumn—then your turnips are ripe. Though small, they are sweet and grateful to the palate as apples of the most delicious flavor, but without acidity. Butcher a shote of some sixty pounds and dress it nicely. Take a chunk of the loin, half fat and half lean, and put it in an iron pot with sliced turnips, pure spring water, and a pod of red pepper, and allow the mess first to boil and then to simmer until the turnips, when mashed, are of the consistency of mush. Dip out the meat and vegetable, and the broth that is left is pot-licker—sure enough pot-licker.

But it is not yet a balanced ration for a Christian. It requires bread, and corn bread at that. Moreover, that corn bread must be "pone." Not one American in 10,000 ever tasted real corn bread. It is a barbarism that I would not suffer if present to mix eggs with corn meal for bread. There is no real corn meal in the world outside Kentucky and Tennessee. Corn grown in those states has more oil in it and will weigh more to the bushel than corn grown in any other state. Besides, more and better whisky can be distilled from it than from the plebeian corn of Illinois or Iowa.

Select picked corn. Take it to an old-fashioned water mill that will grind about twenty-five bushels a day if the miller begins at dawn and grinds without ceasing till dark. It must not be turned into a flour, but ground coarse, though not too coarse. Given such meal, pure, fresh spring water, a hickory wood fire, an iron skillet and lid and an old negro mammy who knows how to cook—she will mix the meal and water, fashion it into pones in her hands, drop the pones into the hot skillet, pat them with her hands, cover with the hot lid on which large live coals are heaped and in a few minutes each particular atom of the meal will get hot and explode like pop-corn. A glorious brown comes over the upper and lower crust and there is real corn dodger, the best bread that ever went down human gullet.

Now, serve your pot-licker with a pone of that bread—two or three pones—open your weskit and fall to gormandizing. Butter? Yes, if you wish it, but you don't need it. Some folks put stewed tomatoes in the pot-licker after it is served, but they have perverse palates.

I have been told by a man in whose veracity I place full trust that zest is added to the feast if one would have under one's belt as he sits down to table one or two stiff drinks of pure, two-year old apple brandy.

Many epicures prefer pot-licker made from cabbage. If properly prepared it is excellent in the fall of the year; but best cabbage pot-licker is a winter dish. The cabbage have been burled in the ground and after a hard freeze, on a rainy day, preferably, the cabbage is dug out of the earth and prepared for the pot. The leaves are as white as snow and as brittle as glass. About this time the salt meat is ready to hang in the smokehouse for curing. For cabbage select a piece of salt shoulder that is innocent of sugar—sugar-preserved meat will not do for pot-licker.

When your cabbage is boiled until it is precisely done, take it up. If left till over-done it becomes insipid; if taken up under-done it is tough. The negro mamma could be implicitly trusted herein. If fixed right that pot-licker, too, is grand—just as good as the turnip pot-licker I told you of in the foregoing. And it requires the same corn dodger to make the ration balance. Some tastes require the apple brandy to augment, not to stimulate, the zest of cabbage pot-licker.

IN THE LITERARY WORLD

A World Extinguished.

This is a grim and vivid story of the passing of civilization "in a sheet of flame and a breath of death." Jack London's fancy took a deeper flight than usual this time, but his literary skill kept pace with it.

The story is told by a naked, filthy old man in skins to his uncouth and savage grandchildren. They are part of a handful of human beings left on the earth three generations after the "scarlet plague" destroyed humanity and made civilization revert to the wild darness. The story is that as the world became more and more congested, new disease germs mysteriously appeared, until finally came the scarlet plague—a strange disease that attacked suddenly and finished its victims quickly, and that spread so rapidly that the world was destroyed before the scientists were able to find a remedy for it. In the confusion that ensued the London's inevitable Socialism enters—broke its bonds and added new terrors to fire and murder and rapine. It is an extraordinarily vivid and an extraordinarily grim tale, told with all of Jack London's thoroughgoing vigor of description.

Something Unique.

SPOON RIVER ANTHOLOGY. By Edgar Lee Masters. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.25 net.

"Critics can't agree," says one reviewer, "whether Edgar Lee Masters is a madman or a genius." The question doesn't seem so hard, for surely there's method in the madness that directed its victim in such consistent channels of observation, satire and appreciation as are to be traced through the Spoon River Anthology. Further, it is an axiom that there is as much of poetry in the humble life as in that of the man or woman of fame, if we but knew enough to find it, and certain it is that he who knows enough to find that quality in the humble life is entitled rather to the favorable title than to the unfavorable one.

Spoon River is an imaginary place in the Central West, presumably in Illinois. Its people are—or were—but ordinary folks, such as are to be found in any village. But in the hands of Edgar Lee Masters they become not only types, but omniscient students of the life they have left—for every page is devoted to the posthumous expression by the individual as to what his or her life meant or accomplished.

That statement in itself sounds like a description of a mad idea, and yet, read the book and you will appreciate the sanity of the conception. It is but a logical and more daring development of the plan employed by Browning in "The Ring and the Book," for while Browning's characters are, at least some of them, supposed to speak in life, these Spoon River people give us the advantage of the wider and more perfect views of life that come with entrance to the other existence.

Nor is the comparison with Browning inapt. Masters takes up some of the same themes of egoism that make the strength of parts of Browning's verse, and it is nothing to the American writer's discredit that he handles them in a manner less abstruse than did the English poet. And as there are lines in Browning that are full of beauty, so there are in the Anthology.

The form is odd. It is written in lines that give the appearance of blank verse, but the metrical effect is lacking—and the jack seems to give force to the words and the meaning, for after all these are but plain people who are telling their respective stories, and the language is such as plain people might reasonably be expected to use, and they were given the knowledge and insight to enable them to understand as these understand.

But description might be carried through several pages and still fail to give any conception of the Anthology. The purpose will be served infinitely better by a few excerpts, thus:

HOD PUTT.

Here I lie close to the grave
Of Old Bill Piersol.
Who grew rich trading with the Indians, and who Afterwards took the bankrupt law
And emerged from it richer than ever.
Myself grown tired of toil and poverty
And beholding how Old Bill and others grew in wealth,
Robbed a traveler one night near Proctor's Grove,
Killing him unwittingly while doing so,
For the which I was tried and hanged.
That was my way of going into bankruptcy.
Now we who took the bankrupt law in our respective ways
Sleep peacefully side by side.

NICHOLAS BINDLE.

Were you not ashamed, fellow citizens,
When my estate was probated and everyone knew
How small a fortune I left?—
You who hounded me in life,
To give, give, give to the churches, to the poor,
To the village!—me who had already given much.
And think you I did not know
That the pipe-organ, which I gave to the church,
Played its christening songs when Deacon Rhodes,
Who broke the bank and all but ruined me,
Worshipped for the first time after his acquittal?

ROGER HESTON.

Oh, many times did Ernest Hyde and I
Argue about the freedom of the will.
My favorite metaphor was Prickett's cow
Roped out to grass, and free, you know, as far
As the length of the rope.
One day while arguing so, watching the cow
Pull at the rope to get beyond the circle
Which she had eaten bare,
Out came the stake, and tossing up her head,
She ran for us.
"What's that, free-will or what?" said Ernest, running.
I fell just as she gored me to my death.

HORTENSE ROBBINS.

My name used to be in the papers daily
As having dined somewhere,
Or traveled somewhere,
Or rented a house in Paris,
Where I entertained the nobility.
I was forever eating or traveling,
Or taking the cure at Baden-Baden.
Now I am here to do honor
To Spoon River, here beside the family whence I sprang.
No one cares now where I dined,
Or lived, or whom I entertained,
Or how often I took the cure at Baden-Baden.

Then there are other pages in which occur such lines as these:

This is life's sorrow:
That one can be happy only where two are;
And that our hearts are drawn to stars
Which know us not.
O maternal Earth, which rocks the fallen leaf to sleep!
Immortality is not a gift,
Immortality is an achievement;
And only those who strive mightily
Shall possess it.
Therefore I climbed to the pinnacle.
I flung away my staff.
I touched the star with my outstretched hand.
I vanished utterly.
For the mountain delivers to Infinite Truth
Whosoever touches a star.

Every page of the Anthology is throbbing with material for an entire separate novel; but the multiplicity of matter defeats the object of the would-be user of that material, for to read any one page by itself is all but impossible. You MUST go on and read another—and another—and still others.

Bearing the Human Soul.

THE HOUSE OF THE DEAD. By Fyodor Dostoevsky (From the Russian by Constance Garnett.) New York: The Macmillan company. $1.50 net.

Where does the human soul—the real character of a man—show itself most plainly? Is it in the midst of a normal life, or in momentary time of peril, or in the long, dragging years of an unnatural and restrained existence under abnormal conditions? Evidently Dostoevsky thinks it is in the last named circumstances, and if you do not agree with him now the chances are that you will do so by the time you have finished reading "The House of the Dead."

The book has been translated into English before now, but this is declared by competent judges to be the first "adequate" translation; and it assuredly measures up to the requirements of adequacy.

Four years of prison service in Siberia are here described, not passionately, not bitterly, not with the apparent intention to be dramatic; and yet the power of simple narration is utilized to the utmost, and the portrayals are full of an attention to detail that gives them a photographic effect.

And do not make the mistake of thinking that because this account deals with foreign conditions under extreme circumstances and some three score years ago, the comments of the author are not as applicable today as they were then. Therein lies the strongest feature of the book—its portrayal of the human soul, which in fact is the same under all conditions, and reacts in the same direction, though with differing intensities, under identical influences.

There is nothing of maudlin sympathy with the criminal in Dostoevsky's book. He left this to modern reform agitators with more tears than judgment. But the following might have been taken from some work on penal reformation written and published within the last two or three years:

Prisons and penal servitude do not reform the criminal; they only punish him and protect society from further attacks on its security. In the criminal, prison and the severest hard labor only develop hatred, lust for forbidden pleasures, and a fearful levity. But I am firmly convinced that the belauded system of solitary confinement attains only false, deceptive, external results. It drains the man's vital sap, enervates his soul, cows and enfeebles it, and then holds up the morally withered mummy, half imbecile, as a model of penitence and reformation.

Idleness alone would have developed in the convict here criminal properties of which he had no idea before. Without labor, without lawful normal property, man cannot live; he becomes depraved, and is transformed into a beast.

But "The House of the Dead" is not all theorizing and opinion. It is full of incident. It is distinctly and primarily a narrative. But it never tells of horrors for the sake of the thrill, nor of strange acts for the sake of depicting the sensational. It is a recitation, full of human life and human interest. It might not catch the fancy of the reader seeking for a novel—or it might prove fascinating to such a reader. But if you are interested in man as man, you cannot fail to find great interest in "The House of the Dead."

Napoleon in a Novel.

THE EAGLE OF THE EMPIRE. By Cyrus Townsend Brady. New York: George H. Doran company. $1.35 net.

When you get tired of reading the war news, turn to Dr. Brady's new historical novel and read that. You will find yourself in such an atmosphere of romance and of history and war as not even the daily papers can conjure up in these days.

Napoleon is the big figure in this new story, and his presence and character dominate the whole action. And yet there is the love story, the tale of the hero and the girl who perform acts under the eye of the little emperor that make them worthy of the attention they get. The story takes its title from the standard of Napoleon.

You may be tired of history and war and all the rest, but if you once get well into Dr. Brady's novel you will get over that tired feeling, and keep at it until the end. Even the familiarity of the setting does not make the story pall, and this latest addition to the literature that centers about the Battle of Waterloo is as welcome as any that has been written in the hundred years since that battle was fought.

How to Succeed.

THE BUSINESS ADVENTURES OF BILLY THOMAS. By Elmer E. Ferris. New York: The Macmillan company. $1.25.

Billy Thomas never gets to be a millionaire nor anywhere near it—at least in the course of this story. But he does rise from a place not much higher than porter in a big wholesale establishment to be one of the firm, and in this story his system is laid bare without varnish or fine writing. It takes up his "adventures" from the time when he found that he lacked push and aggressiveness and carries him right through the whole series. His fight with the porter is a good start, and later we find him in other fights in which wits take the place of muscles.

Of literary merit there is none in this volume, but of good horse sense, put up in reasonably interesting form, there is a whole lot.

The Story of a Bird.

LITTLE BIRD BLUE. By William L. and Irene Finley. Boston: Houghton Mifflin company. 75 cents net.

The cat killed the mother bird, and when the children found the nest only one of the tiny, featherless occupants was left alive. They took that one into the kitchen and made a nest for it at the back of the range. There it was cared for, with a piece of cotton over it to keep it warm during the night, and with the children to look after the feeding of it, and it grew developed its natural bird instincts, under the observation of the children and their parents. The story grows into a first-hand study of bird habits and bird nature, with a very strong interest feature, and considerable excellence of narration. It is short and contains much worth-while instruction for the little folks—or for their elders, either.

The Scientific Sleuth.

THE WAR TERROR. By Arthur B. Reeve. New York: Hearst's International Library company. $1 net.

Unlike Sherlock Holmes and other famous but less up-to-date detectives, Craig Kennedy depends less on pure reason and more on the revelations of the laboratory. Scientific means are not only his delight, but the path of his success, for he never tackles any mystery that he does not succeed in unraveling. One after another, the most marvelous situations present themselves, but he always has the needed apparatus handy, and knows exactly how and when to use it, and where to put it to have it most effective. At that the stories are interesting, in spite of their inevitability. The book takes its name from the first story, in which Kennedy is pitted against an organization of men and women who are seeking to end war by the murder of those in high position. The plot is revealed in a series of rapidly developed crises that result from the fact that one of the women in the organization has fallen in love with a man whom she has been assigned to kill.

Fleming Stone Again.

THE WHITE ALLEY. By Carolyn Wells. Philadelphia: J. B. Lippincott company. $1.25 net.

If "The White Alley" were not so patently a story it would be vastly more likeable. It lacks the element of convincing mystery that gives character to the detective stories of Anna Katharine Green. It is so evident at every step that it has all been planned out; things don't just happen and then have to be explained.

Justin Arnold, two score years old and a bachelor, is the owner of a magnificent country place called White Birches. Also he is the betrothed of one Dorothy Duncan—pretty, vivacious, popular, coquettish and all the similar things you could wish, and eighteen years younger than Arnold. The scene is laid at White Birches, and though nothing but good is said of Arnold, you get such an impression of him that when he is found murdered in the basement at White Birches as the climax to a week-end house party, you are glad rather than sorry.

Now Arnold had inherited a mania for burglar alarms, and it was next to impossible to get in or out of the place when the alarms were on. So the various guests and servants are the only ones suspected of the crime until Fleming Stone unravels it all.

Carolyn Wells has done better many and many a time than she has with "The White Alley." She grows careless, even going so far in one chapter as to involve Dorothy in a conversation though the girl had just been carried from the room in a dead faint, and her return had not been noted, though it must have concentrated the attention of everybody present. The story reads too much like an excuse to reintroduce Fleming Stone.

"Coin Harvey" Returns.

THE REMEDY. By William H. Harvey. Chicago: The Mandus Publishing company.

Everybody who remembers the presidential campaign of 1896 remembers "Coin's Financial School," which concentrated attention on itself and its teachings from one end of the country to the other. Now comes Mr. Harvey with some more teachings, and this time, if he gets half the attention he did before, he is bound to make a stir in the world. He introduces his book thus:

This book is written to give a remedy for the emancipation of the human race from evil conditions now existing in the world: and to provide an organization to carry the remedy into effect.

What the author maintains is that the civilization of the present is in a bad way; that it is going the same gait as ancient civilizations, and that unless something is done about it, and done soon, we are going to see our civilization vanish as worthless. That the world is going to the demultion bow-wows he would prove by the statement that there is an "increase in crimes, suicides, insanity, tenantry and divorces" far out of proportion to the gains in population.

First of all, Mr. Harvey would convince the people of the fearfulness of their present condition. After that, he declares, his proposition "is a system of education that will create proper character in the individual and a high character of citizenship; that will get at and develop the root of what makes character, and in an ever increasing degree for the advancement of the human race; with an organization in charge that will see, continuously, to its application and development."

"Character may be taught as easily as reading, writing or any of the simple branches; with as much or more interest prompting its study," he says, and in this book he outlines a plan for such teaching, and prepares the reader for participation in the forming of the required organization.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

The Skinny, Nervous Woman

THE long-waisted woman and her floating kidney, some one has called her. The chronic invalid who is never really sick but always feeling below par. The long, lank, ill-nourished, anemic, married or unmarried old maid. A rag, a bone, a hank of straight, discouraging hair. The poor creature. The bane of the doctor's office.

What ails her, anyhow?

Dr. Weir Mitchell took a famous view of her case. He called it by a famous name and treated it by a famous method. She had no reserve force, she was neurasthenic, she required rest, forced feeding. She needed the rest cure.

Other eminent men have taken other views of her. Every one is entitled to a look. These other views have clashed harshly, but nevertheless have often led to results quite as happy as any Mitchell could show.

One view, sort of a profile, shows her a loose woman, physically speaking. She doesn't seem to have a very firm grasp upon her inner self. As already hinted, her kidney is likely to be floating around somewhere far from its ordinary moorings. Her liver is inclined to slide down to the limits of its ligaments. Her stomach feels right there where it belongs—to her—but an X-ray photograph often enough discloses its trick of staying away from home as long as the woman keeps upon her feet, and slipping back after dark, when she retires to her customary horizontal couch.

Well, what of it? Shall we say all these cruel things of a very estimable woman and leave her to ponder them at her leisure?

No, far be it from us—

Of course, there's the operation of stitching things back in place, but that is another story. Can she be helped without an operation? She can, and will. She must have support, however. We must support her in her endeavor to pick up flesh and be young once more like the rest of us.

The character of the support required depends upon the individual conditions present. But some form of abdominal bandage is needed. It must be applied before she gets upon her feet in the morning. It must be made to measure, and fitted with special regard to the organs most needing support.

Just a hint we are offering. Our intention is good; we would save depreciation of the sex.

Questions and Answers.

The Makings of a Hair-Ball: What causes a child of 3 years to eat yarn, or almost anything wooly from sweaters, mackinaws and the like? He has too many worms—I know we all have a few. Would yarn and wool cause worms or would the worms cause him to eat such queer things?

REPLY.

We do not all have worms, only a small and insignificant percentage of us. The worms may be the cause. Better have him treated properly by your doctor. If the habit is not broken, a hair-ball will form in the stomach or bowel, and perhaps years later cause serious trouble.

Coddling, Croup, Adenoids: My boy, 2½ years old, has had a cold all winter and spring, and occasionally a croupy spell. My physician thinks he has adenoids. Have always kept him in the house, as he is quite sensitive to cold air or cold water.

REPLY.

Here's the logical order. You've coddled the child; result naturally enough, nasal catarrh, adenoids, croup. Give him outdoor air or he will never be better.

Dr. Brady will answer all questions pertaining to Health. DRAMA VAUDEVILLE MOTION PICTURES

COMMENT ON PLAYS AND PLAYERS — WHAT THE PRESS AGENTS PROMISE

THE most disastrous theatrical season in recent years has virtually come to a close. All of the theaters of the Orpheum circuit are now dark for the summer, or running their usual summer attractions, and few dramatic companies are left on the road.

Arrangements may be made whereby the Orpheum will be used by any companies that can be booked for Duluth. To date only one attraction has been definitely secured, that one being Pavlowa and her company of dancers. Others may be booked from time to time for the Orpheum, while the Baldwin Players continue their run at the Lyceum.

Whatever the coming season holds, it can hardly be worse than the one that is passed. It is believed that it should be an active season. Duluthians, by their attendance at three recent standard attractions, have shown that they are hungry for high class amusement, but they refuse to give up their money for theatrical green goods any longer. The manager who can offer an attraction worth $1.50 or $2 will probably not have much difficulty selling it to the public next fall, but the man who tries to sell fifty cents' worth of musical comedy or drama for $1.50 and $2 will probably meet with poor success.

Theater managers are not permitted to exclude theatrical critics from their places of amusement, under a ruling handed down in the case brought by the New York Times, in behalf of its critic Alexander Woollcott, against the Shuberts.

Following the publication in the Times of an unfavorable criticism of the play "Taking Chances," the Shuberts attempted to exclude Mr. Woollcott from their theaters, refusing to accept purchased tickets. Mr. Woollcott brought an action under the civil rights statute and Justice Nathan Bijur granted a temporary restraining order against the Shuberts, under the protection of which Mr. Woollcott saw and reviewed the play "Trilby." In the following week the case came before Justice Hendrick for argument on the question of making the temporary order permanent. Justice Hendrick at that time reserved decision, pending which he suspended the operation of the restraining order.

In his decision Justice Hendrick sustained the view of the law set forth by Mr. Woollcott's attorney. He dwelt especially upon the amendment of the civil rights statute made by the legislature since decisions were entered in the Metcalfe case and other cases. The civil rights statute in this state, as it now stands, provides that:

"All persons within the jurisdiction of this state shall be entitled to the full and equal accommodations, advantages, and privileges of any place of public accommodation, resort, or amusement, subject only to the conditions and limitations established by law and applicable alike to all persons. No person, being the owner, lessee, proprietor, manager, superintendent, agent, or employe of any such place, shall, directly or indirectly, refuse, withhold from, or deny to any person any of the accommodations, advantages or privileges thereof."

The Lambs' All-Star Gambol, to be given at the Century theater, New York, Friday evening, June 5, and the afternoon and evening of the following day, will eclipse all former efforts of this organization, and will bring together the greatest array of notable artists ever assembled on any stage.

This year's Gambol will be in the nature of the Lambs' contribution to the Actors' Fund of America.

A musical act will present in a group the composers who write the tunes for the most successful musical plays. In this will appear Victor Herbert, Henry Hadley, Alfred Robyn, Gustav Kerker, Irving Berlin, O. Baldwin Sloane, John L. Golden, Bert Green, Ray Hubbell and Ray Goetz.

Another feature will be the appearance of well known cartoonists, including R. L. Goldberg, Hy Mayer, George McManus, Winsor McCay, T. E. Powers and C. A. Briggs, who will draw some of the subjects associated with their names. Among the singers on the program will be Eugene Cowles, George Hamlin, John Hendricks, George Leon Moore, Frank Croxton, Richie Ling, John Willard, Robert Hosea, Frank Belcher, Frank Hannah, George O'Connell, Walter Lawrence, Craig Campbell, Henry McClaskey, Harrison Brockbank, John Park, Joseph Ratliff and John McCloskey.

"SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE"

Following the dance contest tonight, and the closing of the special engagement of Miss Berta Schmied and her brother, Leo L. Schmied, the Baldwin Players will open Sunday afternoon for a week's engagement in "Seven Keys to Baldpate," the George M. Cohan play that was seen in Duluth less than a year ago at the usual $2 scale of prices.

Ordinarily "Seven Keys to Baldpate" would have been withheld from stock companies for at least another season, and possibly two or three, while it was sent on tour again. But owing to the unsettled theatrical conditions following the war, Mr. Baldwin was able to secure the rights to it for his Duluth company. It is a melodrama, but a melodrama with such an original touch, and with so much of the Cohan humor and sprightliness, that it was the sensation of the season in New York.

"Mam'zelle" which will close this evening, affords little opportunity for serious dramatic work, but "Seven Keys to Baldpate," while it is an hilarious comedy in addition to being a melodrama, contains many excellent parts.

The play is a dramatization of Earl Derr Bigger's novel of the same name, and George Cohan, certainly showed he had a keen eye for dramatic material when he picked out the story and dressed it up in stage clothes. The scene of the play is at a Baldpate inn, a summer hotel atop of a lofty mountain. It is in the dead of winter, and a terrific snowstorm is raging outside. The caretaker and his wife are in the office, lighting up the fires and preparing the place for occupancy. They have been told that a visitor is coming, and are puzzling over his mission when he arrives. William Hollowell Magee, who has made a fortune writing dime novels, is the aforesaid visitor. He has wagered $5,000 with his friend, the proprietor that he can write a complete story in twenty-four hours. He is shown to his room and the busy clerk of his typewriter is heard as he begins pounding out his manuscript. Safe in his pocket reposes the original and only key to Baldpate, and he has the assurance of the keeper that he will not be disturbed.

Now the action starts in earnest. The second "only and original" key makes its appearance in the possession of an "accelerator" of public opinion working in the interests of a traction magnate who is trying to secure a valuable concession from the city. Two hundred crisp $1,000 bills are counted upon as an argument of powerful persuasive force. In rapid succession the other five "only and original" keys appear. A woman newspaper reporter who has been "tipped off" to what Magee is trying to accomplish has key No. 3. Peter, the Hermit, a picturesque and extremely amusing character, has a key. Key No. 5, is in the possession of a charming adventuress who has been lured to the hotel by the prospect of getting possession of the huge bribe fund. There is then the crooked mayor and his "Man Friday," the bribing traction magnate and finally the owner of the inn. It wouldn't be fair to the producers or to future audiences to reveal the whole plot. The finish of the first act finds all the principal characters lined up in the office of the inn, towering before a shiny-barrelled pistol in the hands of Author Magee. That is the most amusing situation of an unusually amusing play. The adventuress, in indignation, accuses the mayor's crooked alde, the alde accuses the mayor, the mayor accuses the traction magnate, the traction magnate wrathfully denounces his "go between." Peter the Hermit advances to the center of the stage. "You're all a bunch of crooks," he shrieks, "I hope you are all sent to jail for life and that the prison burns down."

GRAND BILL UNIQUE.

Lady Alice's Pets Popular Animal Act; Charlie Chaplin Coming.

A feature of the present excellent bill now current at the popular New Grand is Lady Alice's Pets. It is a surprising act and a rather unique one in that it consists of an assortment of rats, cats and dogs all working together in harmony, with a feeling of brotherly love predominating. A clever routine is worked out in which the animals do some clever stunts with sureness and perfect faith in one another.

Hager and Goodwin, two clever young men with excellent voices and natural ability as entertainers, offer a diversion in singing and talking that is original.

Dunlay and Morrison combine comedy with song, resulting in a vaudeville concoction with a punch. They are an exceptionally clever duo, using new song numbers interspersed with some clever chatter and pantomimic comedy. Mr. Dunlay's characterization of Charlie Chaplin is a masterpiece.

Burns, Brown and Burns in comedy bar and gymnastic demonstrations offer many new feats in their particular line of endeavor.

The Hearst-Selig News of events contains many interesting scenes from all over the world.

"The Jest of Jealousy" in two reels of thrilling drama; "The Understudy," a drama of stage life, and "A Lucky Strike," a comedy, complete the bill.

The new bill to open Monday is a show that should attract all classes of theater-goers as there is plenty of variety and all else that goes to make a popular entertainment.

The Seven dancers, said to be direct from successful runs at the metropolitan theaters of the East, are Ethel and Arnold Grazer. Popular society steps, as well as some late original ones, will be offered.

Housely and Nicholas in a unique musical comedy offering, the Four Valdares in a cycling novelty and Jarvis and Harrison, versatile entertainers, are other vaudeville offerings.

Charlie Chaplin, in "His Trysting Place," two reels of rip-roaring comedy, will be the photoplay feature. "The Breath of Arabby" features Helen Gardner in an aesthetic drama in three reels. Two comedies and a Western play complete the program.

'THREE WEEKS' AT ZELDA

Elinor Glyn's Famous Love Romance Shown in Films.

"Elinor Glyn's famous novel, "Three Weeks," which created such a widespread furore when it first made its appearance several years ago, has been perpetuated in the "movies," in five acts and 280 scenes. It will be shown at the Zelda theater for four days, commencing Wednesday, May 26, and will end Saturday night. No children under 16 will be admitted.

"Three Weeks" is one of the most discussed books of recent years. In the moving picture version of this story, its beauty has been increased. No expense has been spared by the producers of this famous love story to make the film version a classic. Priceless bric-a-brac, tapestries and paintings are used. In the interior palace scenes, all the beauty of the book had been preserved in the picture and not the slightest detail has been overlooked to make this production perfect.

Paul, the wooer of a runaway queen, has taken his place among the heroes of fiction. Sonia, the royal mate of a dissolute monarch, young, alluring, adventurous, is now a modern symbol of love. The thrilling and tragic denouement of the romance of the luckless pair is shown in all its gripping power. The orgies of the dissolute king, the mad revels in his palace, the plots and counter-plots of the Cabals of the royal counsellors to dethrone the queen, are all graphically portrayed. Miss Madeline Travers, in the role of Sonia, and Mahlon Hamilton in the role of Paul, will be long remembered.

FARNUM AT REX.

"Highest Salaried" Male Actor Featured in Rex Beach Play.

"The Spoilers," Rex Beach's thrilling tale of the Northland, coming to Rex Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, has the record as the only picture that ever played in the world's finest motion picture theater for more than a week, the Strand, New York city. When one sees "The Spoilers," he will know the reason why. From start to finish —action, swift and strong, is the keynote; action that makes one gasp and then cheer. Human nature shows immediate interest in a struggle. A dog fight on a corner will draw a crowd in an instant. Two boys fighting in a school yard will be surrounded by onlooking playmates, and the fight of the villain against the hero and heroine will fill the "ten-twenty-thirties" every night. It is this secret that makes "The Spoilers" one of the biggest drawing features ever produced in pictures. It is a struggle from opening to close—not physically merely, but morally and spiritually. The scenes are staged in Alaska and at the time when men fought to hold what was theirs.

It is one of the most gripping stories of life woven into a web of romance, ever shown in Duluth. It will be at the Rex, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

WILLIAM FARNUM At the Rex Next Week.

NEW RIALTO HAS REPLACED BROADWAY

Hero Worship Also Revived Among "Movie Fans" of Los Angeles.

The sad inroads which the motion picturt art has made upon the old Rialto of Manhattan is not without its compensation. While there is a lack of prosperity among the players of the legitimate who congregate along the principal thoroughfare of the United States, and while many familiar faces are missing, there is another Rialto to whose prosperity the downfall of the old has contributed.

It is the Rialto of the photoplay player. Along its prosperous length one may see after studio hours the faces that were missing from the old Broadway, for their owners have "gone into the movies."

On this Broadway loiter in loitering hours the great and much acclaimed of the newer art. They are prosperous folk for the most part. They are dropped out of their own automobiles at their favorite resting spots; they stroll along grandly on foot; and some of them even use fashionable horse turnouts. But these latter, for the most part, are seekers after the atmosphere of some photoplay of ante-bellum days in which they are to appear.

In the streets of the new Rialto and, indeed, on the Rialto itself are the clubs and other social organizations of the photoplayers.

The new Rialto has another feature which the old Broadway has not. About the time of the Civil war the more youthful of the non-professional lovers of the theaters and players visited the haunts of actors, if possible, to see off the stage the beings of their dreams. Then most players believed in mystery and seclusion as aids to their art. It was rather difficult, to find a well known player during his hours away from the house of make believe. But when principal actors became well known sights along Broadway, the public dropped this quest of the actor.

Photoplay "fans" are newer and less jaded beings, however, and they do not see enough of their favorites in the flesh. For the most part the heroes and heroines live for them only as shadows on the screen. So as isn't done on the old Broadway just now, lovers of photoplays stroll curiously along the new Rialto, eyes trained in all directions.

"There's Dorothy Gish," one exclaims to another.

"And there's her sister, Lillian," responds the other.

"Oh, see Fay Tincher getting out of that auto," comes a second later.

Which sounds the real note of this adulation of screen folk. For most of the day seekers for photoplayers along Broadway are girls and women and, well to note, they are far more interested in the women players than in the men.

All of which constitutes another note of difference between the old Broadway and the new.

This production is staged by the Essanay comedy and is the work of Albert Payson Terhune one of the writers for the Short Stories magazine. Miss Stonehouse the leading woman in this film play, is a dancer of unusual ability and will give one of her special dances in Philadelphia in the near future for a charitable cause. The announcement that Charlie Chaplin will be on the Sunday program will be a pleasing one as Chaplin has become exceedingly popular with the Sunbeam patrons and his work in "The Tramp," the photoplay he appears in tomorrow, is one of his latest successes. In addition to both of these high-class offerings one of the Patsy Bolivar series of pictures will also be shown. Monday and Tuesday Ruth Roland, starring in the girl detective series will appear. In addition Pathe News, always interesting, is on the program. As a special attraction for next Saturday and Sunday a film dealing with one of the most momentous problems before the world today will be shown. The name of the play is the "Drug Terror," and it clearly portrays the loathsomeness of this terrible disease to everyone.

Despite the opposition of the board of athletic control, about 100 representative students at a massmeeting in chapel Wednesday afternoon voted unanimously in favor of the $5 blanket tax. This charge would be made to the student on his registration fee and would entitle him to admission to every athletic contest, to subscription to college publications, to admissions to dramatics, debating meets and glee club concerts. If the tax is favorably voted upon by the student body at an election held next Wednesday, it will be put into effect next fall, provided it is approved by the university senate and the board of regents.

PROGRAM FOR EDITORS' MEET

N. M. E. A. Will Hold Four-Day Convention Here in August.

Visitors Will See Sights at Head of Lakes and on Ranges.

Arrangements were made last evening for the annual outing of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association, to be held in Duluth and on the iron ranges, by a committee of the association, consisting of President Asa M. Wallace, editor of the Sauk Center Herald, and Secretary A. G. Rutledge of Minneapolis, who are in the city. They were accompanied by I. L. Peil, advertising manager of the Northern Pacific railway, which has been chosen as the official route of the excursion that will take place.

The outing will cover four days, Aug. 6, 7, 8 and 9, and an extensive program is being formed. One day will be spent in Duluth and the rest of the outing will radiate from this point. A steamer will be engaged on which the editors and their families will take a lake trip. The route for this has not yet been fully determined, but the trip may take in Isle Royale and other points of interest. Minor lake and bay trips will also be on the program. From Duluth a special train will be taken to both ranges, where local committees will entertain the visitors.

About 175 or 200 members and their families will be in the party, coming from forty-five counties, which are comprised in the Northern Minnesota Editorial association. But besides that, at the February meeting of the association, invitations were issued to all the other Minnesota editorial associations of the state and the response has been so large that the committee in charge has felt called upon to arrange for special train accommodations from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Duluth. It is expected that the attendance by members of the northern association will be greatly augmented from other parts of the state. Further and more detailed arrangements will be announced later.

BACKER OF PEARY EXPEDITION DIES

Gen. Hubbard Has Notable War, Legal and Financial Record.

New York, May 22.—Gen. Thomas H. Hubbard, Civil war veteran, lawyer, and a director in many railroads and financial institutions, is dead at his home, 16 West Fifty-eighth street. He had been ill only a week. Death was due to erysipelas. For many years he served as president of the Peary Arctic club, which provided the financial means for Robert E. Peary's polar expeditions.

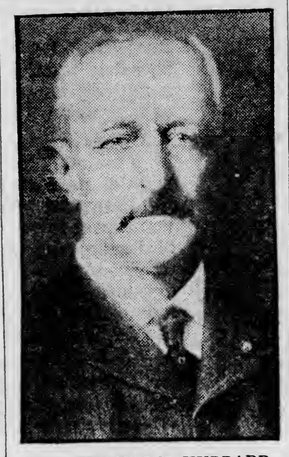
Thomas Hamlin Hubbard was born in Hallowell, Me., Dec. 20, 1838, the son of a distinguished surgeon, who served from 1849 to 1853 as governor of that state. He had been in business a short time when war broke out. He went to the front with the Twenty-fifth Maine volunteers, with the commission of first lieutenant and adjutant. He was commissioned brevet brigadier-general, July 13, 1865, and was soon afterward mustered out of the service.

Gen. Hubbard returned to New York and started again the practice of law. He was associated with various firms until 1894, when he practically retired from active practice, giving his time to numerous business interests.

Huntington's Associate.

He was associated for many years with the late Collis P. Huntington, and was an officer and director of many of the so-called Huntington properties. He was first vice president of the Southern Pacific for many years, and only this month was elected to the board in succession to Hugh Neill.

As graduates of the same college, Gen. Hubbard and Admiral Peary developed a strong friendship. Peary's discovery of the North Pole was made possible through the generous support which Gen. Hubbard provided. The admiral named one of the most northerly points in Greenland, Cape Thomas Hubbard, as a compliment to his friend and sponsor.



GEN. THOMAS H. HUBBARD.

Gen. Hubbard was a generous benefactor of Bowdoin. For years he was the most influential trustee of the institution.

STEEL OUTPUT IS STEADILY GAINING

U. S. Steel Corporation Is Now Working 75 Per Cent of Capacity.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 22.—The United States Steel corporation is now working 75 per cent of capacity, a gain of 40 per cent since last January, according to a statement by James A. Farrell, president of the corporation here yesterday. Fifty per cent of this output is for domestic use.

"One of the important features of recent business is increased buying by the railways," said Farrell. "This means increased activity in many lines of production and effort."

SEALED VERDICT.

Jury Makes Decision in Case of Hoar vs. Kabekona Iron Company.

After twelve hours' deliberation, a jury in Judge Dancer's division of the district court reached a verdict last evening shortly before midnight in the case of Samuel H. Hoar against the Kabekona Iron company.

Owing to the fact that the court was not in session at the time, the verdict was sealed. It will be delivered to the court when court convenes Monday and will be opened and read at that time.

The plaintiff is suing to recover $500 alleged to be due for his interest in certain royalties paid to the defendant company.

CHANCE TO SEE PUPILS' WORK

Handicraft Departments of City Schools Will Give Exhibit.

Elaborate Display in All Crafts Will Be Seen By Parents.

Fond fathers and mothers will be given an opportunity of seeing the work done during the year by students in the manual training, domestic science, printing and art departments of the various schools of Duluth June 8 and 9.

Edward F. Geiger, head of the manual training department, announced yesterday that the annual exhibit would be staged in the manual training building, Lake avenue and Fourth street, on those two days. The display will be open to visitors from 2:30 to 9:30 p. m.

Demonstrations of all work done will be given nightly by pupils in the various departments, and the feature of this branch of the exhibit will be the printing department showing. This department was organized last year.

In the machine shops the boys have made a fifteen-inch drill press for use in the printing shop. They also have made forty vises, with machine parts, tools, gear wheels, taps, drills and reamers.

Tables, chairs, cabinets, davenports, piano benches and several other pieces of furniture will be shown as the work of the manual training department proper, while the wood turners will contribute bats, Indian clubs, dumb bells, rolling pins, mallets and dressing table boxes.

An extensive display of drawing work will be exhibited, including samples of work in machine, drawing, architectural drafting, structural steel drafting, sheet metal drafting and mechanical drawing.

Girls will not be behind the boys in showing their work, many of them having made nearly an entire wardrobe, according to Supt. Geiger. Dresses, suits, and gowns will be displayed. Girls of the cooking classes will serve refreshments during the exhibition hours.

The art department pupils have arranged an excellent exhibit of reed lamps, pottery, jewelry, basketry, leather work, stenciling and free-hand sketches.

RESENT ATTACKS ON LORD KITCHENER

London Stock Exchange Passes Resolutions Supporting War Lord.

London, May 22.—The British people talked of nothing Thursday but who should be members of the new coalition cabinet. Yesterday, however, they were forgotten in the controversy over Lord Kitchener. The Times and the Daily Mail attacked the competency of the war minister yesterday morning and the impeachment of the Daily Mail was particularly fierce. An upheaval of popular resentment against these newspapers and their dominating spirit, Lord Northcliffe, quickly followed.

The stock exchange men held an excited meeting, formally burned copies of the Times and the Daily Mail and adopted resolutions supporting Lord Kitchener. Other meetings of protest are being planned and a large section of the press has come to its support.

The Pall Mall Gazette says the attacks made on Kitchener have rendered him more powerful and popular than ever.

The criticism of Lord Kitchener appears to have had its first inspiration in a message last week from the Times military expert at British military headquarters. The expert said that the British offensive has been crippled by a lack of high explosive shells and called for more shells.

When the proposed reorganization of the government was announced, several newspapers suggested in considerate terms that in attempting to raise and organize great volunteer armies and at the same time manage the equipment and supplies thereof, the war minister had taken upon his shoulders a heavier burden than any man could carry. They proposed that organization and supply should be made separate departments and opinion settled on David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer for the latter work.

Some newspapers discussed the possibility of Lord Kitchener being made commander-in-chief of the armies in the field. The Daily Mail, however, attacked Lord Kitchener's South African record as a fighting general and questioned his capacity to command an army in the European war. It also criticized adversely his methods of raising volunteers.

The Pall Mall, in its issue of today, defending Lord Kitchener, says:

"The name and personality of K. of K. (Kitchener of Khartum) are invaluable supports to the nation at home and abroad. He was invited to join the cabinet and gave up his splendid work in Egypt. He did not thrust himself upon the cabinet. The country will not suffer indignity and insult to be heaped upon him."

The new cabinet's make-up will not be announced until Monday or Tuesday. The only appointment thus far made is that of Arthur Anderson, a Laborite member of the house of commons, who will assume the portfolio of the local government board. This appointment meets with general approval.

MORTGAGE IS BURNED

Pilgrim Congregation Celebrates Payment of Its Indebtedness.

Judge Cant Pronounces "Death Sentence;" Musical Program Enjoyed.

Impressive ceremonies attended the wiping out of all evidence of indebtedness against the property of Pilgrim Congregational church, Lake avenue and Second street, last evening.

A $5,500 mortgage which has been hanging over the manse at 1131 East First street for several years, was burned. The congregation, out of debt, celebrated with appropriate exercises, climaxed with a "death" sentence by Judge Cant of the district court officiated at a part of the ceremony of destroying the mortgage. He pronounced "death" sentence when he ordered the mortgage "burned to the stake."

A match was touched to the piece of paper and it went up in smoke.

The property covered by the mortgage was purchased six years ago while Rev. Alexander Milne was pastor of the church. It was purchased for $9,000. Two large cash donations were made at that time by the late W. H. Cole and the late Ward Ames. A $5,500 mortgage was given.

The proceeds from the various activities of the church have swelled the fund set aside to pay off this indebtedness.

The evening started with a May dinner served at 6:30 o'clock by members of the Ladies' union. A program of speeches followed. Mrs. W. A. McGonagle, former president of the union, W. G. Hegardt, H. W. Nichols, Mrs. W. O. Falk, Oscar Mitchell and W. McMillan were among the speakers. Mrs. O. J. Larson, Mrs. W. S. Adams and Miss Elizabeth Maddox contributed to the musical program.

Although Rev. C. N. Thorp, pastor, presided over the meeting, the ceremonies incident to the burning of the mortgage were in charge of Judge Cant and the trustees. The trustees are: Oscar Mitchell, W. G. Hegardt, A. W. Frick, Alexander Anderson and W. N. Hart.

OVERLAND DAY TO BE JUNE 21

Employes Will Be Given Rare Treat at Toledo.

"Giants" and "Tigers" Will Play Game for 11,000 Workmen.

Overland day, June 21, when the New York Giants and the Detroit Tigers journey to Toledo to give 11,000 employes of the Willys-Overland company their annual baseball festival, will have considerably more than local interest for the sporting world.

At his personal expense John N. Willys, president of the Overland company, will bring the two big league teams together for the first time in baseball history. Managers McGraw and Jennings have both promised that their teams will take the field with their full playing strength and that the Overland fans will see the two famous teams at their best.

Although the Overland employes are the most important guests on this occasion, there will be present, also, Ban Johnson and John Tener, presidents of the American and National leagues, Vice President Daly of the New York Central lines, and a number of other men whose names are prominent in business and financial affairs. It is the intention of Mr. Willys to run a private train from New York to Toledo for the accommodation of his guests. In addition to receiving an afternoon of fun, the Overland employes will be paid regular wages for the afternoon.

This is the second year that Mr. Willys has arranged for two major league teams to play in Toledo during the regular league season in order to provide his employes with an afternoon's recreation. Last year the Philadelphia Athletics and Chicago Cubs furnished an exhibition which attracted widespread attention.

While the American association team was in Toledo, it was the custom of the Overland company to close up the big factory for an afternoon and send all employes to one of the games early in the season. On this occasion Mr. Willys purchased the entire allotment of seats in order to provide room for the army of automobile builders. Last year, when the Mud Hens were transferred to Cleveland, it was decided to give Toledo a glimpse of real big league ball. This year, negotiations of the same sort have been successfully carried out.

The big Overland factory will close at noon on the day of the game. A giant parade with all of the Overland fans in line will form at the factory shortly after, and headed by the Overland fifty-piece band, will march to the ball park in ample time to see the preliminary practice of the teams. Seven brass bands, as well as the Overland Glee club of seventy-five voices, will help enliven the occasion.

AUTOS REORGANIZE TRAFFIC SYSTEM

Chalmers Machines Supplant Street Cars During Strike.

When the city of Detroit woke up last Thursday morning to find out that the street car employes had gone on a strike at 6 o'clock in the morning, and that not a wheel was moving on any part of the city lines, there was a mad scramble to employ every means of transportation available.

The large automobile factories, which are all on the outskirts of the city, were particularly affected, inasmuch as some of their employes had to come as far as eight and ten miles.

The Chalmers Motor company, with its 4,000 employes, was particularly anxious to lose no time, because of the big rush of spring business. Accordingly, every available car in the plant was pressed into service, and by 9 o'clock over 95 per cent of the employes were in their accustomed places.

At 5 o'clock, when the problem of returning these people to their homes was to be faced, a complete system of transportation had been arranged. More than 100 touring cars were pressed into service; others were stripped of the bodies and wooden platforms built on the chassis, with seats accommodating from twelve to twenty people. The large trucks used in hauling material were made into carryalls. Definite routes and schedules were laid out all over the city, cars running north, east and west. Each car was marked with its destination, and dispatchers were stationed at all terminals and diverging points to direct the traffic and reroute any cars as the exigencies of the service might demand.

Chalmers employes were furnished with badges which entitled them to transportation, and enabled them to stop the cars the same way as they would signal a street car. Friday morning every employe was at his station when the starting bell rang.

SPEEDWAY WORK PUSHED.

Three Shifts Eight Hours Daily Employed at Chicago.

Chicago, May 23.—Work on Chicago's new motor speedway is now being pushed continuously throughout the entire twenty-four hours of the day. Three shifts of workmen, working eight hours each, are employed.

The 230-acre tract is level as a floor, so that no grading is necessary, except for the four subways which will give access to the infield—there will be no crossing of the track. The track is to be banked on the turns for speeds up to ninety-five miles an hour or better. The grandstand will seat between 45,000 and 50,000 spectators. Eighteen entries have been received for the June 19 meet of 500 miles for the purse of $54,000 offered by the speedway.

ELECTRIC SYSTEM OPERATES CHEAPLY

Haynes Agent Tells How Little Gasoline Is Used for Generator.

"It is surprising to learn how little it costs to operate the electrical system of an automobile," states M. W. Turner, local distributor of the Haynes light six.

"At speeds around fifteen miles per hour the extra amount of gasoline required to furnish the power consumed by the generator is so small as to be negligible. The additional cost at this speed is less than 1 per cent. The greatest difference comes at the higher speeds of the car and may reach as high as 7 per cent, depending of course upon the individual system used.

"The six volt system is in use on 85 per cent of the cars now being built. The maximum current output of the generator comes usually at speeds near twenty miles per hour and reaches from fifteen to sixteen amperes. These conditions would give a maximum output of ninety-six watts or practically one-eighth horse power.

"The average losses of power in a generator of the type commonly used is 60 per cent. Considering these losses, the power taken from the engine to drive the generator is 134 watts or a little less than one-sixth horse power.

"One-sixth horse power is a very small amount as compared to the total output of the motor. The cost to produce it is proportionately less.

"In taking a hundred-mile trip with a car giving about eighteen miles to the gallon of gasoline, the cost for six gallons of 13-cent gasoline would be 78 cents. The cost for operating the electrical system alone would be a little less than 3 cents, considering 3 per cent of the motor power being used in the generator."

Movement Favoring Zenith City Started By Chicago Man.

Duluthians are asked to join in a movement to make this city the terminus of the new Dixie road, towards which the people of the South have already raised about $3,000,000.

According to the plans of residents in the South, the Dixie road, which will be similar to the Lincoln highway, will extend across the country, from Miami, Fla., to some point in the North. It will go through Chicago.

In a letter to The Herald, Nelson Thomasson of Chicago, dealer in Duluth and Superior lands asks that the people of the Head of the Lakes start a movement to make these cities the terminal of the highway. The plan at present, he said, is to make Mackinaw, Mich., the terminus. His letter follows in part:

"I have just returned from a trip south of Chicago and I find that the country is all afire in regard to what is called the Dixie road. The idea is to run a road similar to the Lincoln highway from Miami, Fla., to Mackinaw, Mich. Of course it goes by and through Chicago. Three million dollars has already been raised for this road. Florida has come to the front in a marvelous manner and the road is an assured matter. The delegates meet in Chattanooga, Tenn., this week.

"Now, I have taken the liberty to write to some people whom I am personally acquainted with, and have asked them if they could throw the road from Chicago to Superior or Duluth, instead of to Mackinaw, Mich. Why should they go to Mackinaw instead of Superior and Duluth? Mackinaw ends nowhere, when we all know that Superior and Duluth are the end of fresh water navigation, and also where there is going to be the sites of two big cities. Mackinaw, Mich., is a jumping off place, when Superior and Duluth are in the midst of a vast empire.

"Now, don't you think it is well for you people at the Head of the Lakes to immediately indorse your desire for this Dixie highway? It will certainly bring the travelers of the world up to you, and what is to be done has got to be done immediately."

FARMERS IN FIRST RANK OF BUYERS

Sales Increase Rapidly in Rural Districts, Says Peacha.

"A few years ago the conservative farmer was opposed both to good roads and motor cars, and dealers in automobiles had to content themselves with only an occasional sale in rural communities," said J. T. Peacha, Jr., local agent for the Franklin and Kisselcars. "Now, however, with good crops and the enormous returns from increased prices, the farmer can afford to become one of the largest class of purchasers of the motor car.

"It has taken the agricultural community, however, some time to appreciate fully the advantages to be derived from motor cars, for until recently this mode of conveyance was believed to be intended solely for the pleasures of the wealthier classes who formerly were frequently met speeding upon the highways, much to the terror of both the farmer and his horses, a situation which did by no means add to the popularity of the machine among this class of citizens.

"Although this feeling of antagonism continued for years, nevertheless, as with all irresistible forces, it has broken down and now the rural community realizes that the motor car is a special asset to them. Originally the farmer did not think that he could afford a high-priced car, but during the last three or four years he has become in a far better financial condition, while the largest proportion of machines now on the market, whether new or second-hand, are of a moderate price, within the means of the average farmer.

"Consequently, a large sale of automobiles is reported by dealers, who explain that the farmer is buying motor cars for two reasons, both pleasure and business, frequently combining the two. Already those farmers who own cars are the best advertisements for the selling of other machines, for, as a rule, society works along the same lines both in country and city, and where one individual adopts a certain plan or agency, his neighbor is likely to soon follow suit.

"The motor car has thus made the agricultural life more attractive, for it has destroyed the isolation of the farm to the city. In short, it has become an implement of practical utility instead of luxury. It has also been a developing factor in the country town and much use has been made of automobiles in reaching union schools, carrying children of several neighborhoods, with the consequent enlargement of this type of educational institution."

SERVICE THE AIM OF CAR PURCHASERS

Chalmers Manager Would Produce Auto That Is "Trouble-Proof."

By H. H. Pinney, manager of works, Chalmers Motor company.

Ninety-nine out of a hundred people who buy automobiles today consider that they are making a service investment.

Driving is the service a car renders; the themes by which the machine delivers its quota. Good driving enables the owner to realize the full value of his investment. Careless driving and lack of care depreciate the investment out of proportion to the service rendered. By good driving alone is meant when you get the most out of your car.

Driving an automobile consists of more than merely operating the clutch, changing gears, applying the brakes and steering.

It does not necessarily follow that the owner of a car must take a special course in mechanics or serve an apprenticeship in an automobile factory. It is the effort of the Chalmers company to make its cars so nearly trouble-proof that possibly no technical knowledge is required.

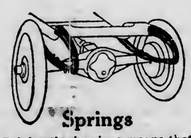
Rear Axle

Others are using what they briefly describe as "floating" types of axles. Which means that they are the earlier types of axles which were developed in the evolution of the FULL-floating Rear Axle. This Rear Axle that Studebaker uses is much more costly to manufacture. But SAFER. For it carries the weight of the car on the axle housing. It has TWO Timken Bearings in each hub to take up the side thrusts. And the shaft itself does ONE thing only—turns the wheels

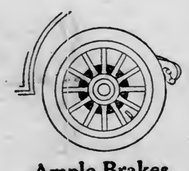
Radius Rods

You will not find radius rods on many cars excepting those of high price—or if you do find them, you will note they are insignificant in size. Some cars drive thro' the springs just because it happens to cost more to use radius rods and a torque arm as Studebaker does. But it also happens that radius rods take the driving thrust that the springs have to take in other cars. And so make the car EASIER-riding.



Springs

Driving thro' springs means that the springs have to be stiffer than usual, because the master leaf—that one thin band of steel that runs from tip to tip of the springs, must transmit all the "push" of the wheels. Also, one end of the spring must be firmly attached to the frame. Studebaker, in addition to having developed spring steels and design that make them wonderfully elastic and long-lived, is able, because it uses radius rods, to make the springs "springier" so to say, and also to use spring-shackles at BOTH ends, thus increasing the smooth-riding qualities of the car.



Ample Brakes

Minor in importance, you might say. But take the brakes just as a sample. SAFETY is a big consideration in any car. Your brakes are vital sometimes when you have to stop quickly. Studebaker not only uses a brake equalizer such as you find on one of the very highest priced cars—but uses brake drums that are much larger than most cars weighing half a ton more are using. Costs more—but it's Studebaker's way of making sure.

These are the reasons why it is needless to pay more than $985

And you'll see more—many more—when you come to look at the car itself. But these are enough to give you some idea of what you'll find. And when you find other cars that cost from $90 to $225 more than this Studebaker, omitting or deliberately trying to make advertising capital of designs that are admittedly not as good—you can draw your own conclusions as to whether it is wise to pay more than $985 for another car.

And you don't want to judge this FOUR on price either. Not for a minute. You find QUALITY in every detail of it. You find the most approved design. You find accuracy of manufacturing that strikes the average man as miraculous. But you expect to get that from a plant that is recognized as one of the largest in the business. And Studebaker is. And just so, you expect a relatively low price from such a manufacturing organization. For the simple reason that you know large scale manufacturing results in economies, low costs that other plants can never begin to touch.

And so it isn't price—but QUALITY that we want you to look for. And we are entirely willing—even eager to have your choice rest on just that matter of QUALITY. For we know that when you set this Studebaker beside other cars, you'll decide in your mind, as many thousands of careful men have already done—that it is needless to pay more than $985 for a FOUR—and unwise to pay less. The car is at your convenience at any time—and for any tests, hills, roads, anything—nical knowledge is required to get satisfaction.

One of the most common faults of driving is starting away too fast. Transmission gears invariably have a number of speeds forward. These various speeds are for the purpose of giving the car momentum with the least possible strain. A car can be started gradually in first speed; as the momentum is picked up the driver shifts, so that the motor does not bear unusual strain. If you make your motor pick up dead weight it will after a time develop noises; there will also be noises and grinds in the transmission gears or rear axle.

Owners, usually attribute such troubles to faults in the car, when, as a matter of fact, it is the driver's own carelessness that is to blame.

It is not unusual to hear that certain cars are hard on tires. Some cars are, through improper balance or through having too small tires. Yet how many people do you see on the street every day who stop their cars in, say, twenty feet, when there is no reason on earth why they should not use forty feet? Often in approaching a corner where there is crowded traffic a great many drivers maintain their speed to within a few yards of the crossing, then with a vigorous application of the brakes they come to a sudden stop. In such a case the pavements acts like a coarse file on the tires and wears away valuable rubber. Quick stopping is sometimes necessary, but very rarely so, when one is driving in city traffic.

KISSEL FOR 1915 MEETS ALL DEMANDS

No Better for High or Low Speed, Says Local Agent.

"Plenty of power without excessive operating cost, a chassis sufficiently strong and sturdy to insure 100,000 miles or more of service, comfortable riding quality and a stylish appearance —that describes briefly the ideal automobile," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., local agent.

"Such a car is this year's KisselKar. No other can do better at either high or low speed. No other has a better designed and balanced chassis. No other is easier to drive. No other looks better.

"We freely encourage prospects to try other cars and the more thoroughly they first post themselves on the KisselKar, the more secure we feel about getting their order, no matter how many others they put 'through the paces.'

"Besides many points of mechanical superiority in KisselKars, wise motorists are buying them because they are in numerous respects exclusive. They are 'one-factory' cars, while most of their price rivals are assembled from parts built in dozens of different factories, and have that 'stock look.'"

WAR GREAT AID TO AMERICAN DEALERS

Development in Europe Now at Standstill, Says English Manager.

"The war will give American automobile manufacturers a tremendous advantage over their foreign competitors," said Ernest E. Leverett, managing director of the Long Acre Auto Car company, Ltd., of London, England, one of the biggest men in the English motor world, who is at present visiting this country.

"The development of the motor car has practically come to a standstill in England and France because the war has stopped the manufacture of all cars except those especially built for war purposes. Thousands of the best mechanics and scores of expert automobile construction men are at the front fighting for England and France. Hundreds of them have already been slain and hundreds more will never come back. This means that the best brains that have been devoted to the English and French automobile industries will be lost for all time and that new men will have to be developed after the cessation of the present conflict. And the markets that formerly were invaded by the manufacturers consequently is lost to them for the time being.

"In America the automobile industry is flourishing today as it never did before. Your best workmen, your highest class engineers are 'on the job' as you say, every day. The American automobile is being made better all the time because new ideas of motor construction are being worked out and put into execution.

"There can only be one result of this condition of affairs. The American automobile is going to be the world's standard and they will have every market in the world at their mercy."

Mr. Leverett has just closed a contract as sales agent in the United Kingdom for the Chalmers cars which he selected only after a thorough investigation of their merits over all other cars.

Mr. Leverett had booked a passage on the Carpania and when her sailing was cancelled at the last moment, made a reservation on the Lusitania for her ill-fated trip, but was prevented at the last moment from going.

LINCOLN HIGHWAY IN MOTION PICTURES

Thousands of Motorists Will Be Seen in the Films.

The happy idea of perpetuating the Lincoln highway this exposition year in moving pictures is about to become a realization. It is fitting that moving pictures should be taken of it the year it is christened in the gasoline of thousands of motorists bound to the California fairs. The work began at New York May 15, there being three automobiles for the guides and the moving picture operators, selected by the Lincoln Highway association. One of the cars is sent by the Studebaker corporation to assist in the work and to keep the party in touch with the multitude of Studebaker service stations along the line from New York to San Francisco.

All points of historic or scenic interest will be filmed. In addition, many parties bound for California will find themselves in the way of the camera of the moving picture man. It is not at all unlikely that next winter thousands of those who make the trip this summer will see themselves waving at the audience of a moving picture theater as they skim along the great highway.

H. G. Osterman, consul-at-large for the Lincoln Highway association, will be director of the tour. With him will go R. E. Spencer of East Liverpool, Ohio, the official moving picture operator of the association. The Studebaker corporation will send R. C. Sackett, an efficiency expert from the general offices of the company at Detroit. Mr. Sackett will have with him a service man. The Studebaker tourists will assist the highway party in taking pictures and securing important road data of interest to motorists.

NEWS FROM INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY

Indianapolis, Ind., May 22.—King Speed and his satellites hold court at the Indianapolis motor speedway this week, the efforts of contestants in the next Indianapolis 500-mile race to court his favor culminating in the elimination trials for that contest, May 20, 21 and 22.

Thirty-three out of the forty-one cars nominated are to prove themselves eligible for the race under the law of the survival of the fittest, the other eight passing into oblivion. The bitterest kind of competition is expected to result, each contestant straining himself to the limit, inasmuch as a hundredth of a second, the fraction to which the electric timing instrument is adjusted, may throw him out.

Louis Chevrolet, America's greatest racing sensation, has arrived on the scene of the next Indianapolis 500-mile race with the queerest car the world has ever seen, a Cornelian.

Hardly larger than a baby carriage, it weighs only 1,000 pounds, and carries a motor of only 103 cubic inches piston displacement, smaller than the smallest Ford. The car has practically no unsprung weight, even the differential being mounted on the chassis, and the drive taken through a series of universal joints. The machine is also minus a frame, the weight simply being carried by the body, which is a single sheet-steel shell. Its speed is estimated at 100 miles an hour.

Betting odds on Ralph de Palma in the next Indianapolis 500-mile race have dropped to an almost prohibitive figure as the result of the Italian's first workout on the speedway.

Taking his new flier to the track immediately after his arrival, he set a pace that fairly made the railbirds dizzy. At the time, Earl Cooper, of the Stutz team, was going against a twenty-five mile time trial, which he negotiated in 16:38, an average of ninety-one miles an hour. Yet De Palma passed Cooper with ease, literally running away from him on the straightaways and shooting around the turns. He must have been traveling in the neighborhood of 100 miles an hour.

Officials for the next Indianapolis 500-mile race have been announced as follows: Dave Beecroft and F. A. Croselmire of New York, A. A. A. representatives; A. R. Partington of Detroit, referee; F. E. Edwards, director of contests Chicago motor speedway, chairman technical committee, and Tom Hay of Chicago, starter.

Caleb Bragg, the real millionaire of the automobile racing game, with $12,000,000 in cold, hard cash to his credit, has signed to pilot Frank Galvin's Peugeot in the next Indianapolis 500-mile race, Galvin being laid up as the result of injuries received when his car overturned in practice recently.

Harry Grant and Art Klein have been added to the list of stars now quartered at the Indianapolis speedway for the next Indianapolis 500-mile race. They are driving Sunbeam and Klein-art cars, respectively, both claiming they have a good chance to win.

With the news that they had sailed, hardly off the wire, J. Porporato and Percy Graham, drivers of English Sunbeams in the next Indianapolis 500-mile race, arrived here, and are now preparing for the contest.

The Indianapolis motor speedway's proposed $100,000 thousand-mile race may be held in the fall of 1916 or 1917, instead of in place of the regularly 500-mile event in the spring, as originally planned.

Bob Burman has something up his sleeve for the next Indianapolis 500-mile race. Though he has been around the speedway for a week, he has yet to turn out for practice. All he does is to clock the other contestants.

A speedway lap in 1:30 is the ambition of Ray Harroun, manager of the Maxwell team in the next Indianapolis 500-mile race—1:30 for the 2½ miles of track, figuring 100 miles an hour.

Barney Oldfield, cigar chewing champion, has arrived in Indianapolis for the next Indianapolis 500-mile race with the German Bugatti he is to drive in that contest.

KISSEL STOCK SHORT.

Few Dealers Now Have Enough Cars on Hand.

"In another month there will not be a KisselKar of the present series to be had in the United States," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., local agent.

"The factory output for May and June is entirely sold and only a few dealers have any KisselKars on hand. It is a great Kissel year and the product thoroughly merits its popularity. The 36-four and the 42-six stand out among the field of current cars—a very high compliment indeed, for a higher average value than this year's market affords has never before been reached."

EMPIRE BUILDER'S SON IN AUTO RACE

Walter Hill Will Run From Crookston to the Mill City.

Crookston, Minn., May 22.—An automobile race from Crookston to Minneapolis, a distance of 315 miles or more, by wagon road, will be run June 5. Walter J. Hill of Northcote, son of James J. Hill, will race A. F. Harland of Chicago.

The race will be to decide a bet, Hill putting up a check of $1,000 against $500 that he will be the winner.

Preliminaries have just been settled. The race will start from the Palace hotel and will be an endurance contest, both going through to Minneapolis without stopping except to replenish their gas tanks and make any repairs that might be necessary.

Hill will drive his own machine, while Harland will be at the steering wheel of a high-powered car, which is at the Indianapolis automobile races and will be shipped here.

It is understood that both contestants will have the right to travel over the road at least twice before the race so as to familiarize themselves with conditions.

BIG MOVEMENT OF KING MOTOR CARS

Detroit, Mich., May 22.—The second trainload of eight-cylinder motor cars from the King Motor Car company, Detroit, will go forward to the King Motor company Chicago distributing house this week. This is the second trainload allotment of eight-cylinder motor cars to be shipped by this Detroit factory to their Chicago distributers.

The King Motor Car company made the first trainload shipment of eight-cylinder motor cars in the history of the industry. It was also the first trainload of automobiles to be shipped by a factory into Chicago.

In addition to the two trainload shipments by the King people to Chicago, this company is pioneering the eight-cylinder American-made motor car into foreign markets and this business has been beyond all expectations.

H. E. Porter of Belfast, Ireland, King dealer in that section of the British Isles, who is at present in Detroit, speaks enthusiastically about the future of the eight in this section of the country. He made a special trip to see the factories in Detroit and left an order for a goodly number of eights.

BETTER METHODS IN AUTO WORLD

War Puts Retail Business on Concrete Selling Basis.

Detroit, Mich., May 22.—One of the benefits which the automobile industry in America has gained as a result of the European conflict, is putting of the retail industry in the United States on a concrete selling basis. It is claimed in Detroit, the center of the industry, that the last two years has witnessed a wonderful change in the method of conducting the retail automobile industry.

Dealers as early as the present time are now invading Detroit, personally, by letter and otherwise, laying plans for the coming season. The termination of the fiscal automobile year in the industry is June 30. The contracts for the coming year are dated July 1.

Dealers thoroughly recognize the inroads the eight-cylinder car has made on the market. The eight-cylinder manufacturers, of whom there will be many during the 1916 automobile season, are being besieged with requests for contracts. The King Motor Car company, who are in a class by themselves, and who have enjoyed a highly successful season with their eight, are one of the Detroit firms who today are getting numerous inquiries for territory for the coming season.

"BUY IT BECAUSE IT'S A BETTER CAR" THE FORD

are making good every day. Not only in performance on the road, but in that most important item, cost of upkeep, are they pleasing their owners. The actual saving to the owner of a Ford is shown by the figures which have been worked out from data collected in Duluth and which will prove, to the most conservative buyer, that it's only common sense to consider the value of a dollar in the purchase of an automobile the same as would apply in the purchase of any other article you would need. Consider not only the first cost, but the maintenance and upkeep cost after you have obtained a car—and a Ford is the final answer.

The burning question today is not: Can I afford to own an automobile? but, Can I afford to do without a Ford?

TEN EYCK NOMINATED AS GREATEST ROWING COACH IN THE COUNTRY

Young Jim Has Accomplished Wonders Since Coming to Duluth, and His Crews' Victories Stamp Him as a Wonderful Instructor—Bad Baseball Weather—Tommy Walsh Coming.

BY BRUCE.

RIGHT here we nominate James E. Ten Eyck as the greatest rowing coach in the country. The strides of the younger Ten Eyck have been little less than phenomenal; in a few short years he took a joke rowing club and swept it into the very front rank of the nation's contenders. All of this merely goes to show that you never can tell.

When the rowing fans around these parts heard that a Ten Eyck was coming to take charge of the rowing department of the Park Point club, it was immediately taken for granted that the Ten Eyck in question was none other than Ned, the greatest amateur sculler who ever sat in a shell, and the former coach of the University of Wisconsin

If we're frank—and it's all right now—we will say that there was a distinct tone of disappointment smeared around the club when it was learned that James, practically inexperienced in so far as actual coaching was concerned, and not Ned, was the man slated for the job.

Time has glossed that original disappointment over with the sunshine frosting of devout thankfulness. Great was Ned Ten Eyck as an oarsman—the greatest perhaps the world has lifted out of the amateur ranks; but as a coach we will bank along with Jimmy.

Jim Ten Eyck has the instincts of a great coach—and that is more than all the acquired learning that a man can have thrust into the middle of his skull.

We have talked with theorists and had faddists of the rowing game gravely and most seriously endeavor to expound the secrets of the greatest stroke or catch or slide in the world; with Ten Eyck it is all so charmingly simple—"There is just one way to row, and that the right way," says Jim. Seems to a lot of followers of the club as if Jimmy has his boys rowing in the "right way."

Never having seen Wray of Harvard, or Courtney of Cornell, or the two Nickels, Guy and Vivian, or Rice of Columbia, it is somewhat of a bold assertion to unreservedly claim premier honors for a chap who is almost a boy in appearance as yet. But the assertion clings tenaciously.

Rice, Nickels, Wray and others of the great rowing coaches of this country have coached crews in the National—and Jimmy Ten Eyck's boys have beaten them all.

There are few great rowing coaches in this country. Wray was called from Australia, Courtney has been the "Grand Old Man" of rowing for several decades, and the Nickels hail from the classical rowing precincts of Oxford.

The elder Ten Eyck is a contemporary of Courtney and ranks as one of the truly great coaches of the game. Yale went humbly to the rowing philosopher and asked him his terms. Old Jim named them. The Yale authorities accepted without murmur or hesitation. And then the "old man" was informed that some sort of a naval committee would assist him.

"There will be no committee in mine," was the sententious reply of the veteran of Syracuse. He threw up the negotiations and is at Syracuse—because Syracuse wanted him enough to come through with an ante.

One of these days one of the big colleges of the country will make a majestic bid for the services of young Jim Ten Eyck. Jim's reputation is already one of national proportions. Growing up in a shell, almost born with a pair of oars in his chubby hands, the lad who had gained almost world-wide fame for the stalwart crews that sport the gay blue and white colors of the Duluth Boat club, has shouldered his determined way into the Who's Who coaching blue book of America.

He's a great coach, is Jimmy Ten Eyck, for victories are eloquent of attestment—and here's hoping that his gallant crews come through and repeat at the National again this season.

CAPTAIN MAY BE INELIGIBLE

Gopher Track Leader in Doubt as to Scholastic Outcome.

Track Meet on at Madison; Gophers Not Over-Confident.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Immediate action by the eligibility committee served to reinstate Loy Molumby, captain of the track team, after he had been found ineligible the early part of the week. Prof. James Paige, faculty member of the eligibility committee, admitted Thursday that Capt. Molumby had not yet quite cleared himself, but declared that an arrangement had been made whereby the athlete's scholastic difficulties would be adjusted before the Wisconsin meet. Molumby has been entered by Minnesota in the conference meet in Urbana, but if his present scholastic difficulties should ripen into a condition, he will be unable to take part. He still has another chance.

Causes Dismay.

The announcement that the captain of the track team would not be eligible to take part the rest of the year was made early in the week by a university official, and caused widespread comment and dismay among the rooters, who looked upon Molumby as one of the few dependable point winners in the meet with Wisconsin. The men who made the trip to Madison Thursday night for today's dual meet with Wisconsin are: Watson, Rapacz, Martin, Thorson, Spravka, Williams, Montgomery, Wallace, Logerquist, Weis, W. Anderson, McKay, Rosenthal and Leonard Frank, coach. The Gophers' chances of winning the dual meet are not considered very good, as the Wisconsin team has been showing rare form lately, the defeat of Illinois being especially impressive. Minnesota has a good chance of winning a few scattered points in the distance and field events. Molumby should place in the broad jump, while McKay looks like a sure point winner in the pole vault. Rosenthal is counted upon for a second or third in the hammer throw. Watson and Rapacz are Frank's hopefuls in the runs and should give the Badger distance men stiff competition.

At an important meeting of the university athletic board of control on Wednesday, the proposed blanket tax was voted down. The university council has been sponsoring this innovation, which means a yearly assessment of $5 for each student as a part of the registration fee. This payment would entitle the student to admission to all athletic events, all dramatic performances and subscription to the Minnesota Daily and other college publications. The $2.50 or $10,000 total, was to be spent for the maintenance of athletics and the rest was to be divided among the other activities. The athletic board, while approving of the general aspect of the scheme, decided that the portion designed for them was too small. Under this basis admission of a student to any given event would amount only to a dime, while a great many more tickets would be sold, in all about 4,000. The increase of attendance would be felt most in football. This would tend to crowd out the overtown rooters who pay from $1 to $3 a seat. A material loss in revenue would thus result. As the outside attendance at football games really supports all the athletic activities at Minnesota, it seems unwise to lose all this income.

Noted Badger Athlete.

Rice Lake, Wis., this week entered a track team in the interscholastic meet to be held May 29 on Northrop field. Among the six entrants from the Rice Lake high school is Ray Kline, considered one of the best all-round athletes in the Wisconsin preparatory schools. Kline has won individual honors in many state track meets and was the all-round star of the University of Wisconsin in the annual invitation meet at Madison last year. He will take part in the dashes, low hurdles and the discus. The difficulty between the university athletic authorities and the Minneapolis high schools has not yet been definitely settled, but according to George Webster, the university alumnus, who is conferring with the high school principals, in the matter, it is probable that at least three of the local schools will have athletes entered in the meet. At a meeting held several weeks ago, the Minneapolis high schools, through their representatives decided that they would not enter the meet unless the university recalled the invitations which they had extended to Shattuck and Keewatin, on the ground that the latter schools should have been ranked as colleges and were ineligible for the meet.

Two Victories to Its Credit.

The Minnesota track team has two victories now to its credit as an encouragement for the meet with the yet invincible Wisconsin team next Saturday. The Gophers last Saturday won easily from Nebraska by the score of 91½ to 30½, taking first in thirteen events. The bad weather and the poor condition of the field prevented the breaking of the records or of the making of fast time in any of the events. The record of John Martin in the 100 yards in 10 1-5 seconds, is exceptionally fast, when the slowness of the track is considered. Ritter also performed remarkably well going the 220 in 23 1-5 seconds. Nebraska was handicapped by the absence of Capt. Zumwinkle, which accounts somewhat for their poor showing. Reavis of Nebraska, considered one of the best pole vaulter in the West, was defeated by Earl McKay, who took first for Minnesota, by making 11 feet.

Interfraternity baseball is fast approaching the final stages. The twenty fraternities entered in the tourney were divided at the outset into four divisions of five teams each. The championship of two divisions has been determined, but in the remaining two the outcome is still in doubt. Alpha Tau Omega and Phi Delta Theta are champions of the second and fourth divisions, each team having outstripped its opponents in each of the scheduled games. The honors in the first division are shared equally by the Theta Delts, Delta Chi, and the Phi Psis, and the championship will probably be determined early next week. In the third division, Phi Sigma Kappa heads the list, having won three games out of four, while Psi U and Acacia are close upon their heels with two games out of three to their credit. The finals will be played when the first and third division championships are determined and will consist of three games. The four winners will be paired off as two contests, and the two successful teams will fight the battle which is to settle the tournament and determine who will be the interfraternity champions for 1915.

DUAL MEET SCHEDULED

Central and Denfeld Students Will Stage Delayed Athletic Events.

Hilltop Team Will Be Sent to the State Meet.

Because of rain yesterday the scheduled track meet between the Central and Denfeld high schools was postponed until today providing the weather does not interfere again. The grounds were in no condition for good work, and the postponement was agreed upon by all. There is an unusual amount of interest concerning the event in both schools, and there will undoubtedly be a large crowd out to root for their respective teams. If the track is in good shape, it is possible that there will be some school records smashed, as both of the schools claim some exceptionally good men. Central appears to be the favorite in the meet because of the experience of the Red and White men, but the Denfeld athletes say that there will be some surprises in store for the hilltop boys.

During the last week the students of Central high school held a sale of tags for the purpose of raising money to send the team down to the state meet. The amount gained from this assures the team of going. It is expected that the local school could make a creditable showing in the classic track event of Minnesota high schools, although there will be none but the very best of the state athletes represented in the meet. Captain Hustford of the local squad would probably be able to place, if he did not get some firsts.

High School Tourney.

A letter was received yesterday by the sporting editor of the Gazette, the high school paper, from P. G. Blazer, of the committee of the University of Chicago interscholastic commission. He urged that the local school take notice of the world's greatest high school interscholastic tournament, and consider the sending of a representative to the meet, which will be held on June 12.

The one this year will be the fourteenth annual meet, and it is expected to be the largest one that they have yet held. The meet is already attracting considerable attention, and when the 700 athletes gather on Stagg Field, Chicago, to decide the Western champions, there will undoubtedly be some lively contests.

This year's records in state and sectional meets have disclosed some unusually good high school athletes. The best men in the century dash will be Castle of St. Joseph, Missouri, Central high, who won in ten flat in the Missouri valley meet ;and Collier of Marquette, Kansas, who did 10.1 in the Kansas Aggie State interscholastic. Graham of University high, Chicago, with a vault of 11.6 in the Lake Forest meet, and Bridgeford of Joy, Illinois, their event, Bradford of Aledo, Illinois, with 22:4 in the 220-yard dash, and broad jump records of over 22 feet in the Military track meet, looks like a sure point winner. Allen of Urbana, Illinois, looks good in the discus with his recent throw of over 123 feet in the state meet. These men and several other remarkable high school athletes will contest for the premier honors of the West on June 12. Preparations are being made for the housing and handling of over 700 visiting athletes. They will be entertained from the minute that they arrive in Chicago. Forty automobiles will be used to take them on a fifty-mile sight-seeing trip around the city. After the meet there will be a big banquet for all track and tennis contestants, and a special vaudeville production.

Saier, Chicago, with 27, is the leading run getter.

There are five undefeated pitchers in the National league—Pierce, Chicago, with four victories; James, Boston, and Coombs, Brooklyn, with three each, and Standridge, Chicago, and Meadows, St. Louis, with two each. Alexander, Philadelphia, is credited with seven wins and one defeat; Mamaux, Pittsburgh, with four and one; and Mayer, Philadelphia, with six and two.

COPPER COUNTRY IN NEW LEAGUE

Calumet and Houghton Will Have Teams in Six-Club Circuit.

Calumet, Mich., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—President F. R. Weeks, of the Wisconsin-Michigan league, is here today to help organize the Calumet and Houghton clubs for entrance to the circuit with Green Bay, Oshkosh, Marinette and Escanaba, a project which was revived this week.

A salary limit of $1,200 has been established. The league is a Class C organization and will start in two weeks.

BRAVES FORBIDDEN SOCIAL INDULGENCE

Boston, Mass., May 22.—Members of the world's champion Boston National baseball club have been forbidden by President Gaffney to appear at social events hereafter without special permission.

In a letter to the Rev. George P. O'Connor of Malden, made public today, Mr. Gaffney said he had issued orders to that effect, with a penalty of indefinite suspension for violation.

After their success in the last world series, the Braves became popular after-dinner speakers. The ban on social activities follows a slump of several days in their playing.

FIGHT IS FOR SECOND PLACE IN EASTERN MEET

Cambridge, Mass., May 22.—Last night's rain made a heavy track for the finals of the New England intercollegiate athletic meet at Technology field today and there were indications of further showers during the day.

As Dartmouth was conceded the championship, chief interest was in the contest for second place, which appeared to lie between Bowdoin, University of Maine, Bates and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

WEATHER MAN PERMITTING, BALL SEASON WILL OPEN

Duluth and Superior Are Scheduled to Pry Off Home Season Lid—Teams and Fans Will Parade From the Courthouse.

If the weather behaves, the home season opening of the Northern league will be celebrated today with a game between the White Sox and Superior Red Sox.

Details of the opening call for a parado, a brass band, a large number of automobiles and some of the prominent fans, as well as the members of the two teams, being carted along at the head of the procession.

Pitcher Jackson arrived here yesterday. Like the other recent addition to the knoll squad, Turner, this Jackson one is a large person, standing well over the six-foot mark.

Brown, Dinkle and Tauman had not arrived up till noon today. Pending the arrival of these players it is probable that there will be little change in the lineup of the Dooks. Collins will be switched to the outfield just as soon as an eccptable third baseman is found.

Yesterday Dad Ford purchased a new catching mitt. Thinking upon this act for some time leads one to make the keen deduction that Ford may be used behind the bat. That will mean that Sweeley, last season's second string catcher, will be the first catcher and Ford the second string man, as well as utility man.

Today's probable lineup:

Duluth—		Superior—
Hoffman	p	Williams
Sweeley	c	Berger
Croake	1b	Curtis
O'Brien	2b	McGeo
Collins	3b	Burgwald
Wolfe	ss	Girth
Williams	lf	Swalm

NORTHERN LEAGUE

UNGLAUB'S UHLANS EASILY DEFEAT PEGS

Winnipeg, Man., May 22.—The lowly Peggers took an anchor hold on the cellar position in the Northern league race yesterday, when Unglaub's Uhlans defeated the locals by the lopsided count of 6 to 1. Foster was found for but eight blows, but loose fielding on the part of the Peggers assisted the visitors in score making. Ralph Bell hurled great baseball for the Fargos. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Fargo	0 0 0 5 0 0 0 1 0	6	8	1
Winnipeg	0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0	1	5	3

Batteries—Bell and Murphy; Foster and Brammell.

FLICKERS CALCIMINED BY ST. BONIFACE CHEFS

St. Boniface, Man., May 22.—Stevenson was on the knoll for the Chefs today and held the invading Flickertails to three scattered hits, the locals winning by the score of 6 to 0. The fielding on both sides was clean. The score:

	R.	H.	E.

VIRGINIA WINS OPENING GAME AT FORT WILLIAM

Fort William, Ont., May 22. — Virginia won the opening game from the locals here yesterday by the score of 6 to 3. Needham twirled great baseball for the visitors, four hits being the extent of the bludgeon damage accomplished by the home hitters. The visitors bunched hits off Hawkins in two rounds. The score:

Fort William	0 0 0 0 0 3 0 0 —	3	4	3

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Cubs Defeat Braves.

Boston, Mass., May 22.—Chicago won the second game of the series from Boston yesterday. It was a pitchers' battle between Rudolph and Lavender. A muff by Connolly permitted Chicago to score two runs with two out in the fourth inning. Boston's scores were made with two out in the eighth, a base on balls, Connolly's two-base hit and a single accounting for the runs.

Score:	R.	H.	E.
Boston	0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 —	2	7	1

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Play Seventeen Innings.

Chicago, May 22.—Chicago and Boston played the longest game of the season yesterday, the former won out, 3 to 2, after seventeen innings. Incidentally this was Faber's, seventh straight victory. Mays weakened in the seventeenth inning, Weaver doubled and Quinlan was hit by a pitched ball. Schald beat out a hit and Daly batted for Faber with the bases filled. He singled to left and Weaver scored the winning run. The locals took an early lead in the second by bunching hits for two runs but when Russell weakened the visitors tied up the count. Faber replaced Russell and pitched a good game with excellent support. Mays also pitched masterly ball until the fatal last inning, after replacing Shore in the eighth. Speaker was ordered out of the game by Umpire O'Loughlin for arguing a decision at first base. Hoblitzel was spiked by Schalk when the latter was running to first base and had to retire. Score:

Athletics 11; Tigers 8.

Detroit, Mich., May 22.—Philadelphia won a slugging match from Detroit yesterday, 11 to 8. In the eighth inning with the score tied, Dauss passed Murphy and Oldring. Cavet displaced Dauss and pitched four balls to Strunk. Chang's sacrifice fly and La Jole's single made the winning runs. Dauss, who replaced Boland with none out in the seventh, passed six of the nine men who faced him before he was succeeded by Cavet. Score:

Kawfeds 8; Buffalo 3.

Kansas City, Mo., May 21.—Kruger's four runs, scored on three singles and a double out of four times up and opportune hitting on the part of his teammates, helped Kansas City to a victory over Buffalo, here yesterday. BADGERS EXPECT TO DEFEAT GOPHER TEAM

Madison, Wis., May 22.—With a recent defeat of the Illinois university track and field athletes to its credit, Coach Jones of the Wisconsin university squad expects a win over the Minnesota university aggregation in the dual meet at Camp Randall this afternoon.

The dashes, it is expected, will be close and exciting, while Watson of Minnesota is looked upon with favor in the two-mile run. The Wisconsin heavyweight athletes are favorites in the weight events.

RIBENACK IS CHOSEN

Duluth Man Appointed on State Boxing Commission.

Michael Molan Is Named as the Mill City Representative.

As announced in yesterday's sporting extra of the Herald, Henry Ribenack of Duluth has been appointed by Governor W. S. Hammond as the third member of the Minnesota state boxing commission. Frank B. Thompson of St. Paul and Michael L. Molan of Minneapolis are the other two members of the body that will have entire control and supervision of the legalized boxing game in the state.

Mr. Ribenack has lived in Duluth for the last thirty years and during that period has been an ardent and enthusiastic follower of and booster for all forms of athletic sports. A former athlete himself, a generous, whole-souled sort of individual, the man Governor Hammond chose as the representative of Duluth on the state commission is one who has shown a real fondness for all sports of the red blood nature.

As vice president of the Lenox Hotel company, Mr. Ribenack has been for a number of years one of the leading hotel men of Duluth. Coming here when Duluth was but an overgrown village, Henry Ribenack with his brothers has taken a prominent role in the upbuilding of Duluth and has always found the time and opportunity during his long residence here to be a consistent patron of athletic sports of all sorts. See.

Will Meet Soon.

With the appointment of the three members of the commission it is believed that a meeting will be called early in the coming week for the purpose of selecting a chairman and starting the work of organization.

It might be stated in this connection that there is no salary connected with the Minnesota commission in any way. Some persons have gained the idea that each of the commissioners is to receive a salary from the state. This belief is erroneous. Not only do the three commissioners render their services gratis, but the provisions of the boxing law do not even provide for a salary for the secretary of the commission. In this one particular the Minnesota law is somewhat different from the Wisconsin law.

Boxing in Duluth Soon.

It will be necessary for the three commissioners to meet, select a chairman, draw up rules to govern the sport in particulars not specifically covered by the new law, and to grant club licenses before any boxing bouts can be held in Duluth, St. Paul or Minneapolis.

If the members of the commission lose little time in getting together and settling down to work, it is probable that Minnesota will witness the first legalized boxing contests in the history of the state within the next thirty days.

There are said to be a number of clubs in the local field that will apply for licenses at the hands of the commissioners. Under the Adams amendment to the bill, but twelve contests can be held in each of the three cities during a year. This will serve to limit the efforts of all promoters and may also serve to limit the number of clubs permitted in the three cities covered by the bill.

OARSMEN TO HOLD RACES

Junior Eights, Bantams and Scullers Will Compete Here.

Jimmy Ten Eyck will start his two junior eights late this afternoon at the boat club in a mile-and-a-quarter contest. As all of the boys are on trial, and every candidate is eager to make the eight that is to represent the club in the Northwestern and National, the race is expected to be warmly contested.

Walter Hoover, Roy Kent, Gus Grant and Dave Horak will compete in the sculling events, while the Moore brothers will row against a double that will be made up of two of the club's best scullers. The bantam race will complete the rowing program of the day.

It is expected that the new shells and new oars will arrive early in the coming week. That will mean that Jimmy can put his men right down to the hard grind that will continue right up to the close of the racing season. With the Northwestern to be held here in July and the National and possibly the Pacific coast championships, there is a deal of work cut out for the oarsmen.

Following is the lineup of the two junior eights:

Webber	bow	Elstad
Burgess	2	Arneson
McGraw	3	Pallen
C. Moore	4	Blystone
Porter	5	Harney
Emmons	6	Paulsen
C. Olsen	7	Burnett
Nelson	stroke	McQuade
L. Moore	cox	R. Hall

DE PALMA CROWDS SPEEDWAY RECORD

Indianapolis, Ind., May 22.—Ralph De Palma, favorite in the 500-mile automobile race to be held at the speedway here May 29, qualified for the contest yesterday afternon when he made a circuit of the 2½-mile course in 1:31.7 or at an average speed of 98.2 miles an hour.

De Palma was the first man to start in the elimination trials, in which a speed of eighty miles an hour is required to qualify. His time last night was only two seconds under the record for the course made last year by Georges Boillot. Others who qualified were Barney Oldfield, Tom Orr and Eddie Rickenbacher.

HENRY RIBENACK.

MANY CREWS ENTERED.

Crack Eastern Oarsmen Will Start in the American Henley.

Following are the entries in the various events of the American Henley Rowing regatta, which will be held today on the Schuylkill river at Philadelphia:

Freshmen Eight-Oared Shells—University of Pennsylvania, Syracuse university.

Special Inter-Club Second Eight-Oared Shells—Union B. C. of Boston, Vesper B. C. of Philadelphia.

First Four-Oared Shells—University Barge club, Philadelphia (R. T. Nalle, bow W. Harford, Russell Thayer, Jr., Edward Hoffman, stroke); Vesper B. C., this city, crew probably made up as follows: Muller, bow; Lehm, Walter Smith, J. B. Kelly, stroke.

Special Four-Oared Shells (U. S. navy cup)—University of Pennsylvania; Ariel R. C., Baltimore; Undine B. C., this city.

First Eight-Oared Shells (Stewards' cup)—Union B. C. of Boston; Harvard university sophomores; University of Pennsylvania, third crew.

First Single Sculls Shells (Farragut cup)—J. B. Kelly, Vesper B. C.; J. B. Ayer, Jr. Union B. C., Boston.

Second Single Sculls Shells—H. H. Livingstone, Nonparell B. C., N. Y.; H. J. McCarty, Pennsylvania Barge club; Arthur Osman, Syracuse university.

First Double Sculls—Vesper B. C. (Walter L. Smith, bow; J. B. Kelly, stroke); New York A. C., University Barge club.

Senior Centipedes—Union B. C., Boston; New York A. C., University B. C.

Scholastic eight-oared shells—Central, West Philadelphia and Northeast High.

It will be seen that Dr. J. B. Ayer, Jr., of the Union Boat club of this city and J. B. Kelly of the Vesper Boat club of Philadelphia will fight it out in the first singles and a fine race is expected, as Kelly is going well and won the rating of being about the best sculler in this country last season, while Ayer was rated as the second best in the Henley regatta in England.

The race for junior collegiate eights, while shorn of some of last year's entrants, is strong enough to insure a good race. The crews embrace Harvard, Princeton, University of Pennsylvania and Syracuse. Last year Yale and the Navy started in this race.

THE GOOD JUDGE SEES AN OLD GROUCH.
COLONEL, SOMEBODY'S BEEN JOSHING THAT OLD CHAP. SEE HOW SORE HE LOOKS
YOU'RE RIGHT, JUDGE. HE STUFFS HIS MOUTH SO FULL OF "CHAWIN' AND SPITTIN'" NO ONE WANTS HIM AROUND. HE DOESN'T KNOW ABOUT THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW.

IT'S just possible that a lone man or two hasn't heard that a little of the Real Tobacco Chew gives more satisfaction than a big wad of the old kind. But they switch over quick when they learn about it—and then they tell their friends about the merits of the Real Tobacco Chew.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

"Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste."

FINNS APPEAL FOR RIGHTS

Petition President to Use Influence at Peace Conference.

Movement Started in Duluth in March Becomes Nation-Wide.

As a result of a movement started recently in Duluth more than 100,000 Finnish-Americans will petition President Wilson to act as chief mediator to adjust the issues involved in the present European conflict when a peace conference is called, at which an appeal will be made to the Russian government in behalf of the people of Finland for the re-establishment of their status as a nation.

This movement was started in Duluth at a general mass meeting of Finnish people on March 27 last. It has spread to all corners of the continent, where people born in Finland, or whose forebears were natives of that country, now reside, and St. Louis county Finns, who started the movement, believe that it bids fair to bring tangible results.

Ask Sympathy for Finland.

The people of the United States are asked to manifest their sympathy for the people of Finland in their struggle to regain their lost liberties by signing a memorial that is being circulated, which will be presented to President Wilson. Every city in the country will be canvassed in the attempt to get signatures, and Finnish-Americans hoped to make the question of Finland's political freedom—not necessarily its separation from Russia—one of the leading questions to come up at the final settlement of the present war.

Text of Petition.

"Upon the conquest of Finland by Russia in the year 1809, Czar Alexander I solemnly promised in his 'Act of Assurance' that the Russian government would forever secure the people of Finland in their civil, political and religious liberties. Every successor of Alexander I, including the present czar, Nicholas II, has ratified and reaffirmed that solemn assurance on his accession to the Russian throne. Under that union with Russia the grand duchy of Finland was a nation; not a mere province of Russia. The people of Finland enjoyed the blessings of self-government and consequently progressed in material well-being and advanced in civilization.

"Without justification and in violation of said 'Act of Assurance' the present czar, on Feb. 15, 1899, by an imperial ukase, abrogated the fundamental laws of Finland and established over her people an absolute and tyrannical despotism.

"To the peace conference which will convene to adjust the issues of the present European war, an appeal will be made in behalf of the people of Finland for the re-establishment of their status as a nation. It may be that the president of the United States will be chosen as the chief mediator at that conference, in which event the Finnish-Americans will petition him to use his good offices to the end that the people of Finland may regain their civil, political and religious liberties.

"Therefore, we, the undersigned, a committee appointed at a general mass meeting of the Finnish-Americans held at Duluth, Minn., on March 27, 1915, in the name of liberty, justice and humanity, appeal to the people of the United States to manifest their sympathy for the people of Finland in their struggle for the regaining of their lost liberties by signing this memorial, which at an opportune time will be presented to the president of the United States."

Many Novel and Amusing "Stunts" at the May Carnival in Y. W. C. A. Auditorium

VENDERS AT MAY CARNIVAL.
Julia Tilseth. Alma Olson. Edla Olson.
Esther Erickson. Vivian Libeck.

The lobby of the Y. W. C. A. had a real carnival air last night when the members of the extension committee gave a May carnival. Sandwich men and barkers were there, rosy-cheeked country girls in gingham dresses and sunbonnets sold popcorn; the "nigger babies" offered themselves to be knocked down, and in one corner of the lobby E. J. Blanchard and "Pittsie" Ryan conducted an auction.

A vaudeville show was given in the assembly hall under the direction of Mrs. T. L. Chapman and Mrs. E. L. Chapin. Miss Linette Haubner as Mrs. Sniggles introduced "The Sniggles Family," eight daughters of wonderful and various accomplishments, whose parts were taken by Miss Minnie Shafer, Miss Ellen Olson, Miss Delema Blais, Miss Delvina Blais, Miss Clara Pearling, Miss Mary Forsman, Miss Clara Kusnarich and Miss Olga Nelson. The oldest daughter was capable of giving such bewitching smiles that twenty-seven unsuccessful suitors had committed suicide and many others had all joy taken out of their lives. At the suggestion of her mother the charming Miss Sniggles gave a few of her most bewitching smiles for the benefit of the spectators.

Bad Case of Hay Fever.

There was the afflicted Jerushy, who had a case of hay fever that trips to the highest mountains had failed to cure. The hay fever was contracted, so her mother said, by sparking at the garden gate. As some pepper found its way into the hall the audience contracted the malady. Angelica Regine Utopia was the subject of a poem written by Oscar Wilde and in memory of him wore a sunflower. Angina Pectoris, who had been jilted by a nobleman, wore black and white and wept almost constantly. One of the daughters sang when she was asked to sing and when she wasn't, according to her mother, and as an example of her vocal accomplishment gave "Love Me and the World Is Mine.' Graciana Sublima was considered a graceful dancer and another daughter was an "elecuton." Mrs. Sniggles, who was anxious that each of her children should have her share of notice, said, "She will now recite a touching little thing on pigs that is equal to anything of Swine-burne's." The youngest daughter, Jemima, was a chronic gigger.

Miss Helen Futnam and Miss Delilah Bailey gave a fancy dance and a brownie dance was given by Miss Ethel Heller, Miss Josie Grohman, Miss Sylvia Walker and Miss Marie Guillmette.

"Turnover Album."

The "Turnover Album" was in charge of Rene T. Hugo, with Mrs. Walter Schwedes taking the part of the little girl who told the peculiarities of the members of the family as their pictures were shown. Most of the compliments were credited to "Pa," whose picture was the last to be shown.

There was the cousin who thought she had a voice but who on one occasion said she could not sing because her hands were chapped. "This is my little cousin, Johnnie," the child explained. "He's awful cute and he can ask the most questions. Once when the deacon was at their house for supper and had just got through asking the blessing Johnnie said: 'Say, pa, how far can a cat spit?' Turn over.

"This is a picture of my cousin, Algy. He played in the cornet in the church choir and pa said the choir never would amount to nothing till they dehorned Algy. Turn over.

"This is my uncle, Pete. He ain't very handsome, but he's an awful good man. Once a prize was offered to the one who could make the ugliest face and the man gave the prize to Uncle Pete. And Uncle Pete said: 'I ain't begun yet.' Turn over."

Some "Freaks."

An albino, the tallest man in the world, the bearded woman from the heart of Africa and the fat woman who weighed "close to 1,000 pounds" were the side shows in charge of Mrs. Rene Hugo. Russell Burns was the albino, Wallace Hankins was the giant, Lloyd Auxer was the bearded woman and Oliver Maggard was the fat woman.

Miss Mabel Culkin and Miss Jessie Thompson were fortune tellers.

Waffles were served in the domestic science room and ice cream and cake were served in the small dining room that was decorated as a Japanese garden.

The following gave an exhibition of fancy skating in the gymnasium: Miss Mamie Norske and her brother, Frank Norske, with the assistance of Louis Bacobacci, Miss Emma Williams and Miss Ethel Williams, Miss Jessie Broadbridge and Miss Clara Broadbridge.

An exhibition game of baseball was given in the gymnasium under the direction of Harvey Smith by Miss Iva Freeman, Miss Cella Salter, Miss Pauline Wisner, Miss Dorothy Freeman, Miss Emma Erickson, Miss Martha Longdon, Miss Mabel Peterson, Miss Mary Peterson, Miss Alice Starks, Miss Lydia Gagnon, Miss Laura Boilier Beaulle, Miss Annie Swanstrom, Miss Grace Hazen and Miss Jessie Wolover.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Protest Against Extravagance.

Of recent years there has been more or less of a protest in high places against the reckless extravagance in woman's dress, and a plea for a return to more simplicity. In this regard, Queen Mary of England has been a leader.

Would that there were more women of conspicuous place in the world who had convictions and the courage to voice them and then to stand back of them. We need women at the head of society and in the centers of activity to bring about some real reforms, and to set an example to others in less pretentious walks of life. It is one thing to talk against extravagance, and another thing to regulate one's own life accordingly, especially when the means and incentives to indulgence are at hand.

Innumerable women will roundly denounce the extravagance of women and ridicule the taste of the masses, and regret the tendency of women to run to extremes in style. The trouble with this sort of thing is that the fair priestess doesn't practice what she preaches—not even on the lecture platform. Her gown is a costly one generally, the latest creation of the fashion centers—so naturally her words do not carry much weight.

Happily, women are coming to their senses, and the styles are getting back to a sensible and artistic basis. There is always more art in simplicity than in extremities, especially in the matter of feminine apparel. It is not always the women who spend money freely who appear best dressed. Many women whose allowances for a wardrobe are decidedly limited make far better appearances than others with unlimited money to spend.

Good taste, simplicity and a sense of harmony of color will produce better results than a free use of money. There is no excuse for such a vulgar display of wealth in the matter of dress as one sometimes witnesses.

Nemadji Society.

The Nemadji Garden Flower society, a member of the federation of the Eighth district, is a new organization, being not quite two years old. Mrs. E. J. Hoffman is the president and Mrs. John Roves is the secretary.

The work of the club this year was divided about equally among that which relates particularly to the home, the home grounds and the community. Of the last twelve lessons one was on the fundamental principles of home economics, three on the canning of vegetables, two on the child, one on the planting of shrubs, one on bulbous plants for spring and fall planting, three on the growing of small fruits and one on community life.

Fifteen minutes of each lesson is given to current events. Each member gives from memory a quotation relating to the home. In addition to the general study work the club assisted the men of the community to put on a community exhibit at the Carlton county fair. This exhibit attracted so much attention that the fair management sent $30 to the Farmers' Dual Purpose club although no prize was asked for. The exhibit was sent from the fair to the Industrial exhibit at Duluth where again it was awarded $20.

This winter the club put on a play, "Miss Susan Fortune" which was a success.

In several instances the club has sent flowers to those in affliction.

Ranks Minneapolis Orchestra With Thomas and Boston

MARION GREEN, BARITONE SOLOIST.

DECLARING that "there are few orchestras in the world that can be ranked with the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra" and placing it in the same class with the Thomas orchestra of Chicago and the Boston Symphony, a writer in the Outlook discusses the visit of the Minneapolis organization to New York and other Eastern cities. He continues, that "Minneapolis has a reason to be proud of its orchestra," and "the Eastern cities have to look to their laurels." The Outlook writer says:

"Time was when such music as the modern orchestra gives could in the West be heard only as it was given by an orchestra from the East. Inestimable service was rendered to the country by what Theodore Thomas did in his travels with his orchestra. Now the Eastern cities have to look to their laurels.

"For example, there are few orchestras in the world that can be ranked with the Minneapolis orchestra. An orchestra such as this is like an individual—it has a soul and body. Its soul is its musical qualities; its body is its financial support. Emil Oberhoffer, the conductor of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, is the creator of its soul; while a group of public-spirited men and women of Minneapolis is the creator of its body. Minneapolis has a reason to be proud of its orchestra. It belongs in the same class with the Boston Symphony orchestra and the Thomas orchestra of Chicago."

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Students Prepare for Final Examinations; Seniors Getting Ready for Commencement; Rehearsals for Class Play; Sophomores Give Closed Party; Lambs Hold Meeting; Agriculturists Busy.

Outside of their studies the students of Central high school were somewhat inactive during the week just closed. More attention was, and will be paid, to the preparations for the final examinations during the last week of school. Including the examination week there are but four more weeks of school. It is the plan of Principal Young to have the reports given out once more before the close.

The examinations occupy the attention of the students during the final week, there being no regular periods of work, and the student is required to be in the building only during the time in which he has an examination. Those taking senior subjects are not required to be in school at all during the final week. The examinations in fourth year subjects will be given on Friday and Saturday, June 11 and 12, although seniors taking work of lower classes will be required to report for examinations during the final week as scheduled. The schedule of examinations has not as yet been completed by Principal Young. He is working on conflicts with the intention of having as few of them as possible. Those having conflicts will have to have their examinations specially arranged by Principal Young. The schedule will be announced next week.

There will be but two more issues of the Gazette printed this year. The first of these will appear next Tuesday, and the final one two weeks from that date. The last issue will be prepared by next year's editorial force. The paper has grown to be one of the most influential forces in the school, although it originally started as an agricultural sheet. It has covered the whole school thoroughly this year. One of the main reasons for the great success of the paper was the efficient work of the editor, Irving Grover, whose graduation all of the students regret.

In that the members of the Agricultural club elected Jacob Garon editor-in-chief for next year, the students feel that the paper will be just as efficiently cared for in its third year. It is the plan of Editor Garon to enlarge the paper considerably next season, and improve it even more than it has been this year. The club members chose Sam Gofen to manage the affairs of the sheet for the coming year, and his capability will undoubtedly keep the paper as close to the students as it has been this season. That position this year was held by Jacob Garon. The positions of associate editor and assistant manager, filled this year by Walter Maseau and Lawrence Moore, will be chosen by the editor at the beginning of the fall term next year. The paper has made considerable money during the year, and has also contributed to various activities. The auction committee for the Thanksgiving auction profited considerably as a result of the Gazette's generosity.

The seniors are making active preparations for their commencement and graduation exercises to be held on the last week of school. Each Wednesday during the chapel period the members of the fourth year class assemble in the auditorium to practice for their commencement songs. This has been under the leadership of Miss Dixon, head of Central's music department, and Miss Taylor, advisor of the senior class. The program of songs has not as yet been decided upon, and the fourth year students have been rehearsing several good selections. The seniors decided at their meeting Wednesday that they would not have all of the music as dignified as was originally intended, and as a result several of the members of the class were set to work on the "composing" of songs suitable to the occasion. The music will be to the air of some popular songs, while the words will be original. Ralph McCarthy, Irving Grover, and Chauncey Peterson have put some of the popular airs to suitable words, and these will be sung at the exercises. The solo parts will be sung by Miss Beatrice Miller and Edward Scrivens, while the whole class will join in the chorus.

Class Sets Precedent.

The decided feature of the meeting of the class Wednesday was the establishing of a precedent, which will undoubtedly have considerable influence on the exercises of future graduating classes. At the suggestion of Mr. Rasey, the members of the class decided to adopt an idea concerning class night exercises which is to be kept up each year by the seniors, with the juniors having considerable to do with it. It is the presentation of a large wooden spoon by the "homeliest boy spooner or fusser" in the senior class to the person of like description in the junior class; and the giving of a large wooden bowl by the best all-round girl "mixer" in the fourth-year class to the most popular girl in the list of third-year students. After several nominations had been made, the "polls" closed and the voting begun, William Harrison calmly stepped in the door. Amid roars of laughter the "polls" were immediately opened, and "Bill" was unanimously decided upon as the person best answering the difficult description. He will be required to present the "spoon" to the "goat" in the junior class. Several nominations were made for the title of the best girl "mixer" in the class, but Miss Hazel Burnside received the most votes and she was accordingly honored with the position. It will be her duty to present the huge wooden bowl to the girl in the junior class who best answers the same description.

The members of the cast that is rehearsing for the senior class night play have been working diligently for some time under the careful supervision of Coach Rasey, and it is expected that the performance will be just as successful as the senior class play, held about a month ago. Only seniors will get tickets for this, each one of them receiving five.

The members of the sophomore class gave their annual closed party and dance last evening in the lunch room and gymnasium of the Washington building. It was a highly successful affair, being modeled after the example set by Miss Taylor for the seniors, in that it was merely informal, with each person having a good time whether he could dance or not. President George Lawson was the toastmaster at the banquet. This was followed by informal dancing and games.

The program of talks and toasts was as follows: "The Boys," Margaret Burns; "The Girls," Max Goldberg; address, Robert Zuger, president of the senior class; reading, Roberta Ritchie; "The Faculty," Galen Pearson; address, Principal Young; address, Willard Thorp, president of the junior class; "Our Class," Catherine McGregor; address, Frank Walsh, president of the freshman class; address, V. B. Ging, class advisor.

A similar affair will be conducted by the members of the freshman class next Friday, May 28. Being the first closed party of the freshmen, they are unusually enthusiastic over it, and a large attendance is expected.

The members of Lambs' club held their regular weekly meeting following the close of school yesterday. The main subject of discussion was the question of the club party, which had been suggested for the evening following Decoration day, May 31. The club members decided to have the party, and about 100 persons signified their intention of attending. There will be a banquet followed by a program of informal dances and games. There will also be some selections by several members of the club, in comic dialogues and sketches. It is planned also, to have A. Romaine Callender, who recently pleased the club with an address, favor the members with his presence. This will be about the last important activity of the Lambs' club, and the members are planning to make it one which will be a fitting conclusion to a most successful season.

The agricultural enthusiasts of the school are planning on several important accomplishments before the close of school. The work in the greenhouse has turned out especially successful, and there will be much more done in that department before the close of the season. The "champion" cucumber reported was picked last week. It was 22 inches in length and weighed 2 pounds and 11 ounces. The muskmelons are also beginning to ripen favorably. A second crop of tomatoes is well under way and these are expected to begin ripening any time. The outdoor work of the boys has been kept back by bad weather, but they will start their plantings next week. The plot of ground adjoining the greenhouse will be used for this purpose.

There are several boys in the agricultural classes who have expressed their wish that the work may be continued throughout the summer vacation months. It is practically a certainty now that there will be a class formed. The following schedule has been arranged by Prof. Gibson, head of the department, as a basis for the summer work:

Greenhouse management; the growing of vegetables under glass.
Weeds; how they spread and how to eradicate them.
Insect pests and plant diseases; sprays and spraying.
Decorative planting and the lawn; trees, shrubs, annuals and perennials.
Small fruits.
The grain crops.
Essentials of agricultural botany.
Soil; texture and soil fertility.
Fertilizer and crop rotation.

Johnson, president of the college, not later than June 30. It is understood that a few of the Central students will enter the contest, Swedish and Norwegian have been taught at Central.

Several local students are planning to take advantage of the college board examinations being given in Duluth this year. These are much more strict than the state high school board examinations, and they are given for entrance to all of the best schools, colleges and universities. Many persons not students of Central are also planning to take the examination. They will be given during the week of June 14-19.

Jacob Garon, recently elected editor-in-chief of the 1916 Zenith, yesterday selected Clinton Brookes as business manager, and Charles Le Richeux as assistant manager. Editor Garon, with the aid of these men, is already making active plans for next year's annual.

Arrangements are already under way for the Memorial day exercises. As in all of the other schools of the city they will be given on Friday, and Monday will be a holiday. Definite arrangements for a Central program have not as yet been announced, but there will be several veterans and others on the list of Central speakers. These exercises, as in the other high schools of the city, will be held in the morning, while those of the grade schools will be held in the afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock.

TWO FAVORITE STOCK PLAYERS STAGE ROMANCE "FOR LIFE"

MRS. WALTER S. BALDWIN, JR.

WALTER S. BALDWIN, JR.

Miss Geraldine Bluhm, known on the stage as Geraldine Blair, and Walter Smith Baldwin, Jr., members of the Baldwin Players now appearing at the Lyceum theater, stepped out of their parts long enough yesterday afternoon to bring to a culmination a real romance and to sign up as "leads" for a little play all of their own, that will have a life run. Dr. A. W. Ryan of St. Paul's Episcopal church signed the contract.

Friends Kept "In Dark."

Friends of the two actors knew nothing of their plans, and the marriage late yesterday afternoon was kept a secret for several hours. However, during the performance of "Mamselle" last evening, the news leaked out.

"Young" Baldwin, as he is called to distinguish him from his father, who is the manager of the company, had planned to keep the marriage a secret and he is today trying to figure out who "spilled the news." A. Romaine Callender, a member of the company, and Leo and Miss Berta Schmied were present at the marriage ceremony and were the only persons, who were in on the secret. Mr. Baldwin is now accusing one of the trio, but he said this morning that he and "the new missus" will forgive and forget.

The bride is the daughter of Gustav A. Bluhm, a director of the Hibernian bank in Chicago. She has been a member of the Baldwin company for the last two months and has been a favorite with the theater patrons in ingenue roles.

Has Been Assistant Manager.

Mr. Baldwin, Jr., has been with the company ever since it opened here more than a year ago, during which time he has assisted his father in managing the company, while the latter was away and also appearing in a majority of the plays. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Baldwin, Sr., reside at 1532 East First street.

The marriage of the two players is the climax of a romance that began two years ago in New York, where Mr. Baldwin was then appearing in "Every Wife" and Miss Blair in "Miss Daisy."

A dispatch received last night from Mr. and Mrs. Bluhm, parents of the bride, states that they are completely surprised at the news of their daughter's marriage.

Mr. Baldwin said this morning that he and Mrs. Baldwin will remain with the company for the remainder of the summer season and that they will leave for a wedding trip to the Panama-Pacific exposition in the fall. They plan to make their home in Duluth, he said.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

PAVING FOR THIEF RIVER

Creosoted Blocks Favored By Mayor Backe and Council Committee.

Thirteen Blocks Will Be Paved in Pennington County Seat This Year.

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first of the series of 6 o'clock dinners for the business men, under the auspices of the Commercial club, was held in the clubrooms this week, the menu being prepared by the ladies of the Methodist church. About eighty-five business men participated. Following the dinner, several local business men were called upon for three-minute talks on the paving proposition, and not one responded who was not heartily in favor of the improvement. The next dinner will be given on Tuesday evening, June 2.

Mayor Lars Backe, President Herrick of the city council, Aldermen Frank Effinger and Severn Brandon and City Engineer George Walker, representing the city, and A. H. Fasel, representing the Commercial club, spent a greater part of the week in the Twin Cities investigating the different kinds of paving to ascertain which would be the most satisfactory for use here. Their opinion was unanimous in favor of creosoted blocks, and at a special meeting of the Commercial club to be held soon, that class of paving will be recommended in their report.

It is estimated that ninety days will be required to lay thirteen blocks of paving, which is the amount to be laid here this summer, according to plans. The council will take up the matter at its regular meeting next Tuesday, and, if possible, preliminary steps in the sale of the bonds and the hiring of a paving engineer will be taken.

The Commercial club has extended an invitation to the Northwestern Minnesota Teachers' association to hold its annual convention here in November. POLK'S CAMPAIGN VERY BITTER ONE County Option Fight Has Developed Lots of Mud-slinging.

Crookston, Minn., May 22.—(Special to the Herald.)—The hottest campaign in the history of Polk county will not close until Sunday evening, by which time every voter in the county in the "doubtful column" will have been pulled and hauled by the wets and the drys until he could easily imagine himself a human pendulum. In every city, village and hamlet during the past month, there have been broadsides of oratory delivered with a recklessness that indicated an unlimited supply of verbosity.

During the early stages of the campaign the addresses were comparatively mild but during the past week "liar," "lunatic," "boodlers," "boozers," "hypocrites," and a few unprintable epithets have been hurled with utter abandon from one end of the county to the other, from platform to pulpit from depot platforms to picnic grounds.

Both Sides Sanguine.

What the outcome will be no one can tell and both sides are claiming victory by a substantial margin. It is conceded that Crookston, East Grand Forks and northern and western Polk will give the wets a substantial majority. The real battle ground is in the dry territory in eastern Polk where a fierce battle for votes has been waged by township committees the past week. Normally, there is a sufficient dry majority in eastern Polk to overcome the wet majority in the two larger cities of the county and the northwestern townships.

Both the county optionists and their opponents have had ample funds for a vigorous campaign and every city, village and township hip has been thoroughly organized for the election which will be held on Monday. The county optionists will have the advantage in delivering a final broadside from the pulpits Sunday as probably 75 per cent of the churches are lined up with the drys.

LOCAL SHIPPERS IN ASSOCIATIONS

Plan for Benefit of Small Shippers Popular in North Dakota.

Fargo, N. D., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans to organize the local independent shipping associations being formed in many localities into a big state organization with representatives in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, are now under consideration.

These shipping organizations are being established at many points in the state and the indications are there will be twenty-five more by fall.

They are easily established in localities that are abandoning the old grain system and becoming interested in raising beef cattle and hogs. The associations are necessitated because of the fact many of the shippers do not have full carload lots when they are ready for market and they must combine with their neighbors in this movement.

Steele County One Success.

The most notable success has been the association in the southern part of Steele county which has handled the business most satisfactorily and the members are delighted with the success. At an annual meeting more than 500 people participated.

A few weeks ago one was established at Marion, La Moure county, and a few days ago another at Galchutt, Richland county.

There is a sentiment now favoring a broader scope for these organizations. Instead of confining their efforts exclusively to livestock it is proposed to handle poultry, milk, butter, eggs and other farm products including all grain to be shipped and in this way it is estimated that better prices can be secured.

The co-operative marketing system is just now attracting a great deal of attention in the state and properly organized it is claimed it could be made a great economic force in North Dakota and elliminate a great number of the present middlemen that cause such great advance in farm products between the time they leave the producer and reach the consumer.

WHEAT TONE IS BULLISH

Market Advances Moderately on Steady Inquiry From Eastern Millers.

Flaxseed Strong, With Demand From Crushers and Short Covering.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 22.—The wheat market showed strength at the opening today on buying promoted by further lurid reports of crop damage through flies in the Southwest. After scoring advances of 1c all-round during the early trading, prices rested and the close was easy on the appearance of some realizing brought about through uncertainty over the effect of Italy's entry into the European war, and fears of possible foreign complications between this country and Germany. Export demand was reported to have turned quiet for the time being.

May wheat opened unchanged at $1.57, advanced 1c, and closed ½c up at $1.57½ asked. July opened unchanged at $1.52¾, gained 1c, and declined to $1.52½ bid at the close. September opened ⅛c up at $1.22¾, and closed ¼c off at $1.21⅞. Trading in durum was featureless, but its market was strong on persistent inquiry. May opened unchanged at $1.51½ and closed 1c up. July opened at $1.53, and also closed 1c up. September closed ¾c off at $1.20½ nominally.

Cash demand for wheat continued strong, with millers anxious to pick up everything offering. Sales of No. 2 northern were reported at Duluth at the May price. Taking into account supplies owned by millers and grain still to be shipped out under May contract, stocks of wheat in the local elevators are reported to have been practically cleaned up. Operators are receiving good bids from Eastern millers, and also from the southern end of the state. A similar situation exists in oats and in practically all grains outside of flaxseed. Stocks of everything in the elevators now are down to 4,239,000 bu, a decrease of 832,000 bu in the week. Of that 2,581,000 bu is wheat, and 1,197,000 bu flaxseed. Wheat supplies decreased 737,000 bu in the six days.

The market in oats turned weak, closing ⅞c off at 51⅜@52⅜c for on the track. At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¼c up at 63½c asked, and July ¼c up at 63¾c bid. Rye closed here 2c up at $1.16@1.17, and barley unchanged at 65@75c.

Flaxseed Strong.

Flaxseed was strong on bidding largely attributed to speculative quarters. Offerings were light, holders showing a disposition to hang on in view of the decrease acreage under seed in the Northwest. Italy's coming into the war is regarded as a bullish factor by linseed oil men.

May flax closed 2¾c up at $1.96 bid; trading was confined to the more distant futures. July opened unchanged at $1.96¼, and closed 2¾c up at $1.99 asked. September opened unchanged at $1.99½, and closed 2¾c up at $2.02 asked. October closed 1⅝c up at $2.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1½c up at $1.79¼ bid; July 1⅝c up at $1.81½ asked, and October 1c up at $1.84½ bid.

A New York wire said: "I can't find, as far as exporters are concerned, that any great anxiety was shown in wheat cables received from abroad this morning. Of course, Liverpool is closed, and will be until Wednesday. Representatives here don't look for anything to come unless we continue to confirm damage, in which case exporters would be compelled to come after wheat."

B. W. Snow wired from St. Louis: "Through Washington, Randolph, Monroe and Sinclair counties, Illinois, with more than 450,000 acres, or one-sixth of Illinois wheat area, I find fly damage already apparent everywhere and much fly in stalk that does not show. Some good wheat was found, but there is also much that is a complete loss. Chinch bugs are also present in dangerous numbers, but the damage is from fly. Wheat has just headed and strikes are already breaking down. District traversed will hardly average more than 60 per cent of a crop. Late seeding is practically a total failure because of the dry spring as well as fly damage so that acreage increase this year is lost. Early oats have headed very short and are poor from early drouth. Corn is coming fast. Acreage has been increased with soil and moisture conditions never better."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Disturbing reports from America have had a tendency to increase the demand. There has been a pronounced waiting attitude in view of expected large American crop and apparent willingness to market same at buyers' views, but recent developments with the bullish Modern Miller statement has caused apprehension and the demand has suddenly broadened with the continent bidding more freely and strength in Argentine and firmer prices in India.

Winters sold late last night at 53s 6d for July-August shipment and later at 53s 9d an advance of 7½d. Argentine weather is favorable, being wet and warmer in parts. Predictions are for rain.

"United Kingdom weather is unfavorable, being warm and wet. General rains have fallen for the past two days.

"Liverpool cargo market wheat is very firm. Plates 6¼d higher. Manitobas firm and winters 6@7½d higher. Corn is firm, 3d higher.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Unfavorable Domestic Crop Reports Give Wheat Prices Upward Slant.

Chicago, May 22.—Unfavorable domestic crop reports and higher foreign quotations gave the wheat market today an upward slant. In particular, the bulls made much of statements that late seeding throughout Southern Illinois was virtually a total failure. Notice was also taken of advices that most of the reserve stock in Argentina had already been shipped or arranged for. The market here, after opening unchanged to 1¼c higher, scored material gains all around before beginning to react.

Subsequently the gains disappeared and losses ensued owing in the main to fresh steps toward an outbreak of hostilities between Italy and Austria. Assertions were current also that Kansas crop damage had been overdrawn. The close was unsettled, at 1⅛ to 1⅜c under last night.

Corn strengthened with wheat. Most of the trade though was between pit speculators. Opening prices which varied from ⅛c off to ¼c@½c advance, were followed by a moderate general upturn.

Reports of ideal crop conditions tended later to cause a sag. The close was nervous, ⅜c to ¾c under last night.

In oats the feature was active buying on the part of one of the largest elevator concerns. As a result, the market had some independent firmness.

Lower prices for hogs weakened provisions. The selling, however, was not urgent.

STRENGTH IN STOCKS

War Shares Lead in Advances During the Short Session.

Some Recessions From the Best Prices But Close Strong.

New York, May 22.—The stock market exhibited strength at the outset of today's short session, shares of the various companies now engaged in filling war contracts leading the rise with 2 to 3 point gains, which were subsequently increased, notably by Bethlehem Steel and Crucible Steel. United States Steel and the metal shares also were strong, but standard railways issues made less upward progress. The advance embraced numerous obscure industrial specialties. The greater part of the trading occurred in the first half hour, after which dealings fell away appreciably, with some recessions from best prices. The close was strong. Bonds were steady.

BUTTE MINERS' WAGES ARE FOUR DOLLARS A DAY IN MAY

Contract Based Upon the Price of Copper During Month.

North Butte's New Hoist Started on Regular Ore Hoisting.

Butte, Mont., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miners in the Butte district will be paid $4 per day for their work in May, the average price of copper for a majority days of the month having been above 17 cents. Under the contract with the old miners' union the mining companies continue to pay the sliding scale, based on the price of copper, although the union no longer exists. The arrangement between the miners and the mining companies is one of the most reasonable of co-operative and profit-sharing arrangements, and for a number of years has worked out with extreme satisfaction. Before the miners' union was diarupted by its own members there was some agitation for a repudiation of the agreement, but since the union has gone out of business not a word of it has been heard, and the miners themselves are well satisfied. Since the heavy monthly dues and assessments, which the Western Federation of Miners had levied on the miners, have been ignored by the local members the miners have lived better and have been more contented than at any time since the federation came into Butte.

Although the agreement regarding wages was made with the miners by the Anaconda company, all other companies in the district agreed to it, and although the scale was based on the price of copper, the Butte & Superior company, a zinc mining concern, also agreed to the scale and the arrangement made by the Anaconda company. The scale, based on the price of copper, runs from the minimum of $3.50 to $3.75 and $4 per day, and affects about 10,000 miners at present employed in the Butte mines.

North Butte.

The new hoist of the North Butte at the Granite Mountain shaft was finally started on regular ore hoisting a few days ago, after a month or more of tests in which the big electric engine was subjected to every form of test in order to demonstrate its efficiency and economy. Every stipulation was met and the guarantee of the manufacturers was more than fulfilled. The old Speculator shaft will be abandoned as an operating shaft, but will be kept in repair for an emergency shaft and for ventilation. The development work on the 3,000-foot level continues from the Granite Mountain shaft and the results are highly satisfactory. The high-grade ore body, which was three and a half feet wide in the crosscut, is gradually widening in the drift. The body of lower grade ore on the other wall of the vein is also gradually improving in quality. In a week or two the North Butte will again be on a normal producing basis, the output having been restricted to about 70 per cent until the Granite Mountain hoist could be used. The force of miners has been increased steadily and about 850 are now employed.

Work on Alice Suspended.

Due to the decision of Judge Bourquin of the Federal court in the suit of Geddes and other shareholders of the Alice company against the Anaconda company, an action to set aside the sale of the Alice to the Anaconda, work on the Alice property has been suspended pending a settlement of the trouble over the transfer. The court held that a resale should be made and that cash, instead of Anaconda stock, should be paid to the Alice shareholders. Before the decision had been made, the Anaconda company started work to reopen the Alice mine and take out its zinc ore, of which there is a very large tonnage. A portion of the shaft had been retimbered when the court decided that the Anaconda company had not properly acquired the property and work was stopped. It will require a very large expenditure of money to reopen the mine and it is not certain that the ore can be profitably treated by present methods. However, the Anaconda company has a large new flotation plant at the Washoe smelter and other means for testing the ore, and it was the intention of the company to subject the Alice ore and also the zinc ore of the Lexington mine to tests and determine the best method for treating them. In both the Lexingon and Alice there are enormous deposits of zinc ores, and there is also much zinc ore on some of the upper levels of the old copper mines of the Anaconda company, many mining men having always claimed that in time the zinc values of the Anaconda mines would rival the copper values.

East Butte.

Both mine and smelter of the East Butte Copper company are now in operation at normal capacity, the smelter having been started up during the past week. More ore is now being handled than before the shutdown last fall. During the suspension one of the furnaces was entirely rebuilt and the capacity nearly doubled. About 500 men are employed in the mine and smelter, and the East Butte is receiving considerable ore from several independent producers in the Butte district.

Changing to Compressed Air.

The Anaconda company will soon resume the work of replacing more steam hoists with compressed air hoists, preparations having been made to make the change at the Neversweat and Moonlight mines next. In addition to these two others yet to be changed are the St. Lawrence, Anaconda, Mountain Consolidated, Poulin-Buffalo, Silver Bow, East Colusa, Badger State and Belmont, and, of course, the Tropic and Nettie, properties that are just being developed. The mines which have been equipped and are being worked with air hoists are the Diamond, High Ore, Original, Steward, West Gray Rock, Berkeley, Tramway, Mountain View, Pennsylvania and West Colusa. The change from steam to compressed air started back in 1908. The high cost of coal and the relatively small cost of electric power secured through the development of the water powers of the state made it appear to the company that it would be far more economical to use compressed air, power for it to be furnished by the power companies owned by interests allied with the Anaconda company. The first air hoist to be operated fully justified the conclusions of the management, the lowering of the costs being one of the biggest items of economy achieved in operations by the Anaconda company in many years.

Pilot-Butte.

The Pilot-Butte mine in the Butte district is being worked in a small way by the Pilot-Butte company, operations being restriced on account of the controversy with the Anaconda company over the largest copper vein in the property, and, further, by the fact that the company has been unable to make any arrangements for the treatment of its zinc ores, of which there is a large tonnage in several veins in the property. Vice President Jahn of Milwaukee has appealed to the Butte chamber of commerce to assist the company in getting some smelting company to take its zinc ore, but the chamber evidently doesn't consider that one of its purposes. About fifty men are employed in mining copper ore, which is shipped to the Washoe smelter at Anaconda. "Of course, we are handicapped by the litigation which prevents us from employing more men," said Supt Paul Gow. "We are in hopes that the litigation will not be long drawn out, and that we can get to work on the entire property soon. However, we are going forward and making good headway. The ore we are taking out all runs first-class, and the copper percentage is high, but the ore is not so good as that in the vein in dispute. We are doing nothing at present with the zinc ores, as we have no arrangement with anyone to handle that class of ore."

Tuolumne.

The Tuolumne mine is still closed, and the company is without funds with which to reaume operations. An effort is to be made to raise money for development work, but neither men with money to invest nor persons interested in mining investments have any confidence in the management or the Tuolumne, whose peculiar methods have not been of the kind to inspire confidence.

Corbin Copper.

The Corbin Copper company, owner of some mining properties in the Corbin (Montana) district and the Gambrinus claim in the Butte district is trying to sell the latter property. The Gambrinus is favorably located and carries the extension of several of the Anaconda company veins, but it is undeveloped and it requires a great deal of money to open a copper property in the Butte district. The company made a failure of its efforts to develop a copper mine in the Corbin district and then obtained the Butte property, upon which it spent a lot of money in sinking the shaft. Then the company ran out of funds and resources and for a few years has been carrying a heavy debt. Some time ago, an option was given on the Butte property, but at a price at which it could not be turned. However, officers of the company have stated there are prospects of selling the Butte claim, and with the money make further developments on the Corbin claims, on which some good ore in small shoots was discovered recently. The company made a financial statement a few days ago showing that it has a capital stock of $3,750,000, of which $486,010 was paid in in cash, and $450,000 in property and stock in other companies. Its assets are valued at $834,277.66, and the liabilities amount to $218,520.54, of which $143 520.54 is unsecured.

ALL IN READINESS FOR OPERATING

Electric Power Turned on for the Barnes-King Mill.

Butte, Mont., May 22.—The "juice" is turned on. After waiting for many months for the electric power to operate the new mill of the Piegan-Gloster, near Marysville, the work has been completed.

Stockholders of the Barnes-King Development company have been waiting anxiously for a long time for this event. Ever since the Piegan-Gloster property was acquired by this company, the stockholders have been looking forward to the time when a modern mill would be equipped and in operation, so that instead of an expense the property would become a source of revenue.

For more than a year work on the mill has been going forward. The buildings had to be rebuilt and the proper machinery secured to handle the ores from the Piegan and Gloster properties.

It will probably take a week or two to get everything adjusted, but the management is confident that by June 1 the mill will be in operation and ready to give a test run for a month to show what can be accomplished.

The Barnes-King company has nearly $260,000 invested in the Piegan-Gloster property. The title and additions cost, according to the last annual report, $114,834. The cost of the improvements, including the mill, were, up to Dec. 31 last, $75,506, while development work at the property cost $49,866. This made a total of $240,206, in addition to what has been expended since.

President Goodale, in his last annual statement, said:

"When the Piegan-Gloster is placed on a producing basis it is expected that the company can begin paying dividends."

N. P. MAY BUILD TO THE KEATING MINE

Movement to Complete Radersburg-Three Forks Road Revived.

Townsend, Mont., May 22.—Rumors of a railroad to Radersburg were revived last week when Maj. Jesse B. Roote of Butte, who is a director of the Keating, and an official of the Northern Pacific who is connected with the engineering department of that road, arrived in Toston and announced that they were here for the purpose of looking over the ground with a view of building a road to the mines.

While Maj. Roote would not make a definite statement in regard to the matter, he said that a survey would be made within the next ten days and that he was quite confident that a road would be built.

While here the Northern Pacific engineer made a close examination of the bridge, and in case a road is built it is thought that a proposition will be submitted to the county to join the promoter and the road in putting in the bridge across the Missouri to be used as a wagon bridge and for the use of the railroad.

At Radersburg it is reported that the movement is on foot to complete the Three Forks-Radersburg road, which was started in 1912. Butte parties have been at Radersburg looking over the ground and getting late covering tonnage, etc.

Mr. Tennis, who was the chief promoter of the road in 1912, has written to the mining companies now operating near Radersburg and states that he will, within a short time, make a second attempt to build a road into the burg. He states that he has just completed eighty-six miles of road in Kansas and that the people who were back of that road will consider a proposition to build from Three Forks to Radersburg. It is also rumored that Jim Murray, a multi-millionaire of Butte, is interested in the project.

If the Keating keeps up the present output of two cars a day, and with several other mines ready to ship low-grade ores as soon as the matter of transportation is solved, there is no longer any doubt about the tonnage.

WILL STRIP MAHNOMEN

A. Guthrie & Co. Beginning Operations on Property Near Ironton.

Overburden at Cuyuna-Sultana May Be Removed This Year.

Brainerd, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Of most importance on the Cuyuna iron range is the commencement of stripping operations by A. Guthrie & Co. on the lands of the Mahnomen Mining company, which subleased its property from the Cuyuna Iron & Manganese Ore company. There is an estimated tonnage of 4,000,000 tons. W. A. Roberts, who will be the superintendent in charge, has arrived at Ironton and has commenced work on the camps to house the men, of which 150 will be employed. Mr. Roberts had just been at the camp of the company at Calumet, where 8,000,000 yards of stripping are to be removed for the Hill-Annex. The Mahnomen pit mine will be about a mile from Ironton. The dump will be established a short distance southwest of the mine. The Cuyuna-Sultana property lies close to the Mahnomen property.

Equipment is being unloaded. This consists of a steam shovel which traveled all the way from British Columbia, four locomotives for dump trains, etc. A million yards of overburden will be moved this season. Sixty-five feet is the average depth. Branching off from the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine, a spur has been run over to the Mahnomen property. The Northern Pacific will haul the tonnage from the Mahnomen pit.

Reports are heard that the Cuyuna-Sultana property may also have its overburden removed this season. It borders on the Mahnomen pit and one company can easily operate both propositions.

Thompson Mine May Ship Soon.

The Thompson pit mine of the Inland Steel company at Crosby has a shovel at work and is expected to soon start shipments. They are building a concentrator of moderate capacity. The Pennington pit is being cleared of water. The Armour No. 1 pit is being gotten in shape for shipments. The Hill Crest pit has a unit of its hydraulic system in operation and will remove a million yards of overburden this year. No ore will be shipped this season. The Rowe pit at Riverton has two hydraulic units and two steam shovels at work. A concentrator is being built and no shipping is expected until in August.

Changes of Interests.

A release has been filed of a mining lease, the grantor being Werner Hemstead to John Gerneman and the land located in the southwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 23, township 46, range 30. The Biwanago Mining company of Deerwood has quitclaimed to Cuyler Adams and William O. Edson the north half of the northwest quarter of section 18, township 45, range 29. George H. Young has sold to Odden T. Wick and to Ella Campbell each an undivided quarter in lot 6 of section 12, township 136, range 27. George R. McGee has sold to H. E. Kundert of Brainerd for $1,440 the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter and the east half of the northwest quarter of section 21, township 44, range 28. J. J. Robinson and others have sold to the Northern Improvement company of Duluth the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 34, township 138, range 26. James H. Miller of Brainerd has given an easement deed to the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie railway company covering a strip 100 feet wide across the east half of the southwest quarter of section 28, township 47, range 29. William E. Dean has sold the ores from the Piegan and Gloster properties to Henry S. Raymer an undivided quarter interest in the south half of the northeast quarter, the south half of the southeast quarter and lots 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 of section 17, township 47, range 29.

Drilling at Barrows.

At Barrows the Brainerd Mining company is continuing its drilling and is uncovering a large ore body. The Seafield Exploration company may do some drilling on the Erickson farm in section 2, township 45, range 28, three miles east of Deerwood. F. A. Edson is drilling in section 29, township 47, range 27.

The Soo line is now handling about sixty cars a day. This includes ore from the stockpile of the Armour No. 2, and ore being hoisted and loaded on cars at the shafts of the Armour No. 2 and the Kennedy. The Kennedy mine at Cuyuna will soon ship its stockpile.

The Northern Pacific is shipping ore from the Wilcox mine at Woodrow, where development work will soon increase the tonnage. The Croft mine at Crosby is tapped by the Northern Pacific and has three shifts at work getting ready for shipping. This mine produces some of the finest Bessemer ore on the range. The Cuyuna-Duluth and Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mines of the American Manganese Manufacturing company are in shape soon start shipping. Electric pumps have kept the mines free from water.

Brainerd Cuyuna.

The Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in Brainerd has its shaft down 161 feet and at 154 feet depth has drifted over fifty feet to the ore body. A pump station has been cut in and a 1,600 gallon electric pump is being installed. Recent visitors at the mine were Charles C. Jones, managing director, Henry Nelson, vice president, and Edmond Ingalls, secretary and treasurer of Duluth. F. A. Farrar, president of Brainerd, O. J. Vorous, director, of Bayfield, Wis. It is expected to start shipping of ore in July.

IS INCREASING ITS PRODUCTION

Wolverine & Arizona Now Shipping Two Carloads Daily to Smelter.

Wolverine & Arizona, which has its main office at Calumet, Mich., but which is located at Bisbee, Ariz., is shipping two carloads daily to the Calumet & Arizona smelter. Secretary Charles Chynoweth states that the ore is running 7 per cent and is yielding $550 a car. The shipments were begun March 22, and up to May 15 about 2,000 tons had been forwarded. The company is hustling to take advantage of the high price of the metal and is getting out as large a tonnage as possible and is gradually increasing the production. There was a balance in the treasury when the work was resumed and it is being constantly increased. The company had on hand May 20, $82,000 in cash and copper. This is the company that gave the copper world and its stockholders such a pleasant surprise last December when it declared its first dividend in a period of depression.

THE HERALD IS DULUTH'S GREAT WANT AD MEDIUM

PORCUPINE MOUNTAINS

Six Diamond Drills to Be Working on Property Soon.

Good Chances of Finding Profitable Lode at the Contact.

Houghton, Mich., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Porcupine Mountains explorations have demonstrated the continuance of the two sandstone and the intervening shale or slate beds with a remarkable degree of uniformity that is said not to be equalled by any other lode in the Copper country as far as opened, 4,500 feet. The diamond drill contractors, Cole & McDonald, are now cutting roads to the three sites for the camps for their men, one being located about a mile west of the Nonesuch boundary, another about three miles farther west and a third about three miles further in the same direction and one mile from the shaft, the camps are being built, and three of the drills will be in commission in about a week. When the six drills are in operation, one will be working each way from each camp. The shaft has been pumped out and the underground exploration has been started anew.

Contact.

Contact will very shortly begin its exploration of thelode discovered by No. 5 hole and which is considered to be the No. 8 lode of the Wyandot that on the seventh, eighth and ninth levels gave so much encouragement by its showings of copper. This lode coincides very closely with the strike of the Baltic and was disclosed at the depth of 1,600 feet in the No. 5 hole with very promising indications. The systematic development of this large property extending across the formations from the extreme eastern sandstone to the Ashbed series, almost the last of the groups, will probably be completed. It is understood that there is money enough in the treasury to do this. The chances of finding a profitable lode are very great as the strike of almost every lode in the district that has proved to be an earner, lies along this area.

Algomah.

Algomah, at the depth of 40 feet from the surface, is drifting so as to take out the black oxide of copper, tenerite. A second-hand compressor from a Massachusetts quarry with capacity for four drills has just been received. In a short time the workings will be unwatered and then sinking will be begun again. It has been suggested from the East that there may be a combination of this property with the South Lake, its neighbor. Algomah, situated on the eastern edge of the formation that has been the source of so many remarkable showings in the past twenty years, is worthy of the thorough examination that it will receive under the direction of President Edwards.

Houghton.

Houghton Copper will have its spur track ready to connect with the Isle Royale railway at Superior in a few days, but will forward its stockpile to the Winona mill instead of the Franklin as, on account of the high price of copper, it has been decided to resume operations at the former mine, and as both the Houghton and Winona are practically under the same management.

Trimountain.

Trimountain, whose yield for 1914 was 18.21 pounds a ton in comparison with 21.77 for 1913, 19.04 for 1912, and 17.59 for 1911, has been increasing it steadily this year, and will make a good showing for the twelve months. It is opening up the bottom as fast as possible with excellent results. Although the Trimountain is rather a low grade mine it bids fair in the not distant future to be a good earner even with the average price for the metal, 15 cents. At the present time estimating safely with an 11-cent cost, nineteen-pound-a-ton yield, and with a 19-cent price it is earning $6.32 a share, and with a 20-cent price $6.04.

Wyandot.

Wyandot completed the unwatering of the old workings on May 10 and will proceed now to install a steel bulkhead so as to run the bucket on a trolley in the winze. The system is very convenient and is used with great success here. Single-man drills will be substituted for the old two-man Ingersoll-Rand type, and a trial of the different drills will soon be made at the mine to find out which is the best adapted to its rock.

Franklin.

Franklin is rushing at its topmost speed the final preparations for beginning its profitable production on the Allouez conglomerate. On the Pewabic amygdaloid about twenty-five men are cleaning out the rock that was broken down prior to the strike and it is being shipped to the mill. On the Allouez conglomerate seven drills are working and thirteen more will be added just as soon as the six-inch air main which will furnish the air for the drills and ventilation is laid throughout the openings. The raise that will serve as a manway from the bottom, the thirty-seventh level, has been holed through to the thirty-second level, which up to the completion of the transfer system for the rock in a few days, has been the main haulage level.

New Arcadian.

New Arcadian is now awaiting the arrival of the necessary timber to begin again the sinking of the shaft 150 feet to the 1,050-foot level. The indications of good ground being opened below are very positive as the best and widest reach of ground yet found in the mine is located on the lowest level, the 900-foot, on the northern drift, with an extent of 150 feet and no end so far in sight. It is likely that the sumps or large catch basins for the water of the mine at the 600-foot and 900-foot levels will be completed the first of the week just when the timber will be on the ground. At present four drills are being used in cutting out the sumps, two in seeking No. 8 conglomerate to identify the lode, one in the northern drill at the 900-foot level and one in pushing up a chute for a sub-level length of 350 feet between the 750-foot and the 600-foot levels.

Lake.

On May 13 Lake began to unwater its workings by means of large tanks or "ballers" hung in the shaft in place of the skips. Supt. Walker has appointed as underground superintendent Capt. C. E. Weed, who has been two years at the Victoria as mining captain, who was formerly a member of Supt. Ocha Potter's efficiency force at the Calumet & Hecla. The bailing out of the water will be completed in a few days, when mining operations will be begun.

Osceola.

Osceola Consolidated's tonnage for March was nearly 114,000 tons, with twenty-seven working days, nearly 115,000 for April with twenty-six working days and for the current month will be nearly 116,000 with twenty-seven working days. In about three or four weeks North Kearsarge No. 3, which was closed down on account of a boiler explosion, will resume and in a short time will be outputting its former rate of tonnage about 1,000 tons daily or 26,000 monthly, and in a short time thereafter No. 3, at the Old Osceola, which has been idle since 1905, will be started up again for the purpose of taking out some ground never opened and mainly to stope out the footwall, which was apparently trap but where there was found paying copper underneath the barren strip. Of course, at the latter shaft, the tonnage will be small at first, but it will steadily increase. So that if the present price of the metal persists, and it really seems as though it were much more likely to increase than decrease the earnings, which are now from $22 to $24, will be made larger by the output of these two additional shafts.

Calumet & Hecla.

Calumet & Hecla is slowly but gradually raising its average daily tonnage and it is now at the rate of 10,300, an advance of about 300 tons in two weeks. These are very high figures and the record will soon be passed.

GOOD ZINC MINE IN COEUR D'ALENES

Silver Cable Has Shown Up Excellent Body of Ore.

Wallace, Idaho, May 22.—What was at first exploited as a lead-silver mine, with a strong copper showing in the ore, and later proved to be a good zinc property, the Silver Cable, now occupies the center of the stage in the Wallace mining exchange. More interest is shown in the Silver Cable than any other of the newer properties of the district.

The ore in the lower tunnel still continues in richness and at present is about twenty-five feet wide. A raise of 115 feet has been made and a crosscut of 12 feet made from that end and as yet the foot wall has not been found. The body of ore that has been found has surprised even the warmest advocates of the property. An assay has recently been taken, which shows 2.3 ounces of silver, 4.8 per cent of lead and .38 per cent zinc.

The road from the Silver Cable to Tafft is rapidly progressing. The Mineral county commissioners have taken over the work and have taken some 125 convicts from the Montana state penitentiary to do the work. Sandy McRae of Mullan had the contract to build the road, which the Cable company was putting in at its own expense, but gave it up when the Mineral county people took over the work. The road will be completed in about ten days, after which the Silver Cable will commence to ship ore.

ROAD TO CORNELIA IS INCORPORATED

Believed That the Construction Will Be Finished Next Fall.

Phoenix, Ariz., May 22.—Articles of incorporation for the Tucson, Cornelia & Gila Bend railroad have been filed at the state capital. The articles authorize a capital stock of $3,600,000. The directors that have been chosen are: C. A. Briggs, president of the Calumet & Arizona mining company; Dr. L. D. Ricketts, consulting engineer; John C. Greenway, general manager of the Calumet & Arizona mines; Gordon R. Campbell, Calumet & Arizona director; C. L. Knapp, Bisbee attorney; T. M. Schumacher, chairman of the board of directors of the Rock Island road; H. J. Simmons, general manager of the El Paso & Southwestern road, and Walter Douglas, general manager of the Phelps-Dodge interests.

One-half of the road survey from Gila Bend to Cornelia is already completed and the work is pushed ahead rapidly on the other half. The road will start either from Tucson or Gila Bend, and the directors will meet shortly to definitely decide on the route.

The directors will probably apply for permission to issue bonds on a basis of $20,000 a mile for the construction of the road. The capital stock of the company provides 36,000 shares with a par value of $100 each.

It is believed that the construction of the road will be completed next fall, when the mines at Cornelia will be about ready to start treating ore on a large scale. Redpath & McGregor, the well-known engineers, will probably take charge of the erection of the mill, which will have a large capacity.

MAKE GOOD MONEY AT BULLWHACKER

Butte, Mont., May 22.—The Bullwhacker, which started operations on May 3, has increased the output of the mine since the opening of the Pittsmont smelter, as about a car a day of ore is being sent there in addition to from two to three cars of ore a day that the Washoe smelter is handling from the Bullwhacker.

When the price of copper rose to such a phenomenal figure in a short time, the management of the Butte-Bullwhacker Mining company determined that the time was opportune to resume shipping ore to the smelters and not to wait upon the further experiments with the leaching process installed at the plant.

There was a good-sized tonnage of ore that had been left on hand when the leaching plant closed down and this was shipped first. It was all low-grade ore and averaged less than the general run of ore at the Bullwhacker.

Up to May 11 eighteen cars all told were sent to the Washoe smelter, or an average of more than two cars per day. The smelter returns on the first seven cars of ore sent amounted to $610.37 net. This included all smelting, hauling and freight charges and covered all costs except mining, which was very low.

The company, at the present price of copper, is able to make good money out of the property and can probably roll up quite a surplus against the time when the price may fall again. Such a surplus would also enable the company to perfect its leaching plant later on, and thus effect a big additional saving on the cost of making copper.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

SECOND STREET SALE IS FEATURE OF THE WEEK

Frontage of 100 Feet Reported to Have Brought $20,000.

Beautiful Hunter's Park Residence Sold; Waverly Park Deal.

Despite unfavorable conditions imposing a bar against inspections of properties by prospective investors, a substantial number of realty transactions was recorded during the present week .The appearance of some investment inquiry was reported, and it is expected that if the controversy with Germany over the Lusitania affair is cleared up satisfactorily, a number of deals that have been pending for some time will be closed.

A feature of the week was the signing of an agreement for the purchase of 100 feet frontage on the upper side of Second street, near Second avenue west. While the consideration involved in the transaction has not been announced, it is understood to have been approximately $20,000. The trustees of the Knights of Columbus, have, it is intimated, entered into a contract for the purchase of fifty feet of this frontage, to be held as the site for a handsome building which it is proposed to erect next year.

This property is described as lots 37 and 39, Duluth proper, First division, West Second street. It is known as the old Wentworth property, and the original house still stands upon it.

Other improvements in the way of substantial buildings are foreshadowed on Second street west and an announcement regarding an interesting proposition is expected shortly.

Hunters Park Sale.

An important transaction in residence property was reported in the purchase by John P. Hollihan from Mrs. Mary E. Coffin, of her home at the corner of Hardy street and Woodland avenue. This property is regarded as one of the handsomest and best located in Hunters park, the lot being a large one covering an area of 80x266 feet. The sale was negotiated through the office of Stryker, Manley & Buck.

N. J. Upham, president of the Duluth Real Estate exchange, announces that a special effort will be made during the next two weeks to close up the Waverly park deal, in which members of the exchange are interested.

It is reported that only 18 of the 147 lots offered in the plat remain unsold, and as these are considered to be equally as good buys as those disposed of, it is expected that buyers will soon be found for them. Numerous re-sales of lots bought originally for investment, at advances of from 10 to be 25 per cent of the total price have been effected. Five houses are already built or are under construction in the park and the building of at least fifteen others is proposed shortly. It is announced that prices of the unsold lots will be advanced $100 per lot on June 15.

A good inquiry for both residence properties and acreages was reported by the Whitney Wall company. A house on East Ninth street was sold at a consideration of $8,500, and sales of two lots were effected in the Homewood addition.

Stryker, Manley & Buck sold a ten-acre tract on the Hermantown road to F. O. Sundquist at $750, forty acres on the St. Louis river to George Nettleton at $600, and three lots in the West Park addition near the Bryant school.

The Harris Realty company sold a house and lot on Sixth street, between Second and Third avenues east for P. Malburg to Charles O. Palmer at $2,700.

Charles P. Craig & Co. commented upon a growing interest in market gardening tracts. Four 2½-acre parcels at Greysolon farms were disposed of yesterday.

The A. A. Fider company sold to H. Nesbitt two building lots at Eleventh avenue east and Sixth street at a consideration of $1,250.

The Hoopes-Kohagen company sold four North Homelands acre parcels and a lot in the Park Drive division.

A. W. Kuehnow, president of the Gary Land company, reported inquiry for building lots in Gary First and Central divisions from many outside points within the last few days, including Pittsburgh, Chicago and Kenosha, Wis. Fifteen buildings are now in course of erection at Gary, the list including a Finnish bathhouse; a two-story frame business block on Gary street, and a hotel and boarding house on Ninety-eighth avenue between Gary and House streets.

* * *

J. D. Howard & Co. sold four lots on Park Point, and a number of deals in house properties were advised to be under negotiation, in that office.

THIS LAST OPPORTUNITY IS GIVEN BECAUSE IT WAS PROMISED LAST FALL. DON'T MISS IT!

Last summer the Duluth Real Estate Exchange platted and offered for sale Waverly Park lots.

Notwithstanding the two Saturday sale days were rainy, and the war broke out Aug. 1st, demoralizing business, yet the lots were offered at such low prices and Waverly Park was so attractive that 129 lots out of 147 were sold, leaving but 18 lots unsold. These 18 lots are beautiful lots and better buys at prices asked than any sold. All lots were priced by a committee of the exchange according to advantages, location, etc., so that all would be equally good buys.

BECAUSE

Five houses built or under construction.

At least 15 other lots were bought for purpose of building handsome homes SHORTLY, and many others for homes LATER ON.

Additional handsome houses have been built on adjacent property.

Last year buyers had to anticipate the future. Now buyers for a future home, or for investment, are assured of a speedy, substantial advance in values.

ON JUNE 15th PRICES WILL BE ADVANCED $100 PER LOT (If Any Remain Unsold)

SEE THESE AT ONCE, DON'T WAIT—This is your opportunity. They will be picked up quickly 10% cash, 2% monthly. For sale by any member of the CONTRACT FOR $200,000 WAREHOUSE IS AWARDED

Work Aggregating $550,000 in Value to Go Under Contract Shortly.

That building operations in the city are upon an extended scale is attested in the issuing of forty-seven permits during the week for improvements estimated to cost $85,640. All but ten of the permits were taken out for house construction and betterments, showing that the home-building movement is steadily gaining ground. In that connection, loan agents say that never in their experience has the demand for money to be invested in the erection of moderate-priced houses been more active than at the present. Eastern trust and insurance companies are reported to be giving favorable consideration to Duluth mortgage loan applications, showing that this city is listed as a favorable point for the investment of funds.

A waiting stage has been reached in the way of large building propositions, but it is expected that it will be broken within the next ten days in the passing out of contracts for work that has been under consideration for some time. Important propositions in the city or at outside points upon which figures are being taken or are scheduled to go out for bids, are estimated to involve an aggregate of over $550,000.

The Gowan-Lenning-Brown company's wholesale grocery plant on Lake avenue south attracted wide interest among contractors. Competition upon the general contract was keen, a large number of bids being received, both locally and from outside points. The contract was awarded to W. J. Zitterell of Webster City, Iowa. Work will be started on about June 1, when it is expected that McLeod & Smith will have completed their piling foundation contract. The warehouse will be one of the largest and most complete of its kind in the Northwest. It will be ready for occupancy by next November.

Although the contract was awarded to an outside contractor, it is stated by F. G. German, architect, that local labor will be employed and that all building materials will be bought here as far as possible.

Other local work to go out for figures shortly includes a number of high-class homes, two apartment houses and some business building proposals. Figures are also to be taken within the next few days upon some expensive schools and public buildings to be erected in the district.

The largest permit of the week was taken out by the John Wahl Candy company for the erection of its new factory building on Michigan street, between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh avenues west to cost $30,000.

A permit has been issued to Charles Anderson for a frame house on Sixth street, between Fourth and Fifth avenues, to cost $6,000; to Appleby Bros. for a frame house on Sixth street between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth avenues east, to cost $6,500; to E. R. Lewis for a $6,000 frame house on Second street, between Twenty-first and Twenty-second avenues east and to the Duluth Home Building company for a $5,000 house on Lakeview drive, between Victoria and Ladds street.

Holstead & Sullivan, architects, are engaged upon plans for a two-story business block to replace the premises at Superior street and Third avenue east, destroyed by fire last winter. It will have a frontage of 80 feet extending back 100 feet to Michigan street and its cost is estimated at $30,000. John A. Stephenson and L. E. Lum are the owners of the property. The same architects have plans out for figures for a brick house for Robert Buchman, to be built at Sixth street and First avenue west at a cost of about $4,000 and for a frame house for B. Shapiro at 1112 East Sixth street, to cost $3,000.

Plans for the proposed G. H. Spencer home in Congdon park are expected to go out for figures shortly from the office of F. W. Perkins, architect.

Thomson & Williams have obtained the tile contract at the new M. L. Fay home. Plans for a garage there are being prepared by F. W. Perkins and will go out for figures within a few days.

George H. Lounsberry is pushing ahead with his general contract for the armory. The main floor is now being laid and it is expected that the brick work in the structure will be completed in about three weeks.

The Harriet Beecher Stowe school at New Duluth is nearing completion and Jacobson Bros. the general contractors, are coming in for congratulations upon the expedition with which they have carried the job through. Kelly & Williams were the architects.

E. C. Gilliuson, architect, is preparing plans for a brick flat building on Seventh street, near Seventh avenue east, for Walter Grams. It will contain four five-room flats and is estimated to cost $12,000.

Otto Johnson, general contractor for the W. C. Agnew home in Congdon park, is making good progress with it. The plumbing and heating contract has been awarded by the architect, F. W. Perkins, to the American Heating company and the electrical work to the Duluth Electric company.

Vernon J. Price & Co., architects, have prepared plans for a two-room frame school to be built in the upper part of St. Louis county.

The following permits were issued during the week at the office of the building inspector:

CUT IN RURAL SCHOOL FUND

Only Sixty-Seven Per Cent of Law Limit Is Available.

Amount Based on Acreage of State Land Unsold in County.

Rural school districts of St. Louis county will receive state aid in amounts aggregating $14,152.15 as their share of the special apportionment out of an annual appropriation of $50,000. County Auditor Odin Halden this morning received a warrant for this amount on the state treasurer in favor of George H. Vivian, treasurer of St. Louis county.

Chapter 341, general laws of 1911, appropriates $50,000 annually in aid of common schools of the state, to be distributed in proportion to the acreage of unsold school or other state lands within the respective school districts. The law provides that the amount to be paid each school district shall not exceed 5 cents for each acre of state land within the district, nor more than $250 for each school within any school district.

Funds Insufficient.

According to information received by County Auditor Halden from the state auditor's office, the $50,000 appropriated is not sufficient to pay the limit authorized by law, so that it was found necessary to make a reduction to 67 per cent. This makes an apportionment of 3.35 cents an acree. In no case more than $167.50 will be paid to each school in any district.

The amount remitted to St. Louis county is based on the acreage of unsold state land on April 1, 1915. Another sum will be sent to St. Louis county about April 1, 1916, based on acreage owned by the state in this county at that time.

The amount has been apportioned among the several districts as follows:

INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY

By DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON, Commissioner of Health for Pennsylvania.

When in our morning prayer we ask to be spared from sickness, let us pause to realize that health is often in our own hands to keep or fritter away.

We are often individually responsible for our personal health and in a degree for the health of those about us. In the vast majority of instances sickness is the result of indiscretion which is not unconscious, though we may not stop to calculate the results.

If we knowingly jeopardize our individual health and risk illness on the chance that we will escape "this once," we are putting ourselves in the same category with the criminal who risks his freedom each time he breaks the law. Ethically the one is no better than the other. The man who willfully transgresses nature's laws by excesses may have less self control than one who violates the penal code.

If each individual member of a community failed to exercise control in the matter of his bodily well-being it would be dangerously immoral. If we are to improve the general health of our nation it must be through stimulating individual citizens to appreciate their responsibilities.

Each man, woman and child should try and measure what individual health means. He should be brought to realize how easily it can slip away never to return. A single violation of a law of nature may mean death or, what is worse, a lingering illness.

We are vigilant in watching our money lest it slip away and leave us impoverished, and yet we are prodigal with our physical resources, forgetting that the poorest individual is he who has lost his health.

Small bank balances make cowards of many merchants. A bank balance that is devoted to advertising usually "grows up" quickly.

EDITOR MUST FACE A FEDERAL JURY

Vincenzo Cimino, editor of El Corriere Italo Americano, who had his hearing before United States Commissioner Thomas H. Pressnell yesterday on a charge of sending threatening matter through the mails, was bound over to the Federal grand jury, although his bond was reduced from $1,000 to $500. Religious prejudice was urged by the defense as the cause of the action against the editor, while the prosecution declared that the prisoner had tried to extort money by means of threats. This was denied by the editor's attorneys.

The case is one that will be followed with interest by many Italian-Americans at the Head of the Lakes, as Cimino's articles have stirred up considerable antagonism. Various Italians, including Consul Castigliaro, Capt. Fiskett and others, testified at the hearing that Cimino had asked them to contribute funds toward the support of the Courier, but they had refused to do so on the ground that the paper was not being conducted in a manner they thought proper.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

FINE WEATHER FOR EASTERN REGATTAS

Philadelphia, May 22.—Well balanced crews gave promise of fine sport in the annual regatta of the American Rowing association over the Henley course on the Schuylkill river here this afternoon. There was little wind and the course was smooth.

The feature event on the program was the junior collegiate eight-oared shell race between Harvard, Princeton, Pennsylvania and Syracuse. Another race of interest was that for college junior fours in which several Eastern colleges entered crews.

Ithaca, N. Y., May 22.—Ithaca today welcomed thousands of visitors for the annual Navy day events. Indications were that ideal weather would prevail for the Cornell-Yale tennis match this afternoon.

ON THE IRON RANGES

COHASSET PEOPLE GREET DEVELOPERS

Itasca County Meeting Held There Voted Large Success.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The meeting of the Itasca County Development association held at Cohasset Thursday afternoon and evening was one of the most enjoyable and best attended meetings of the association ever held. About 200 people from various parts of the county were in attendance. Cohasset people proved themselves most genial hosts.

The day was cool and disagreeable, but despite this, 100 took in all the doings of the day, and particularly the launch ride up the river, and back by automobile.

Points of interest in and about Cohasset were also visited until supper time. The supper was served jointly by the ladies' organizations of the three Cohasset church societies, the Catholic, Methodist and Christian churches.

Welcomed By Skocodopole.

At the evening session F. J. Skocodopole, secretary of the Cohasset Commercial club, extended a welcome to the visitors.

Frank Provinske of Bovey, president of the association, responded and commented most favorably on Cohasset's entertainment of the developers.

George B. Alton of Grand Rapids spoke on the "Advantages and Needs of Itasca County."

The Coleraine quartet, consisting of Messrs. Fahey, Sennings, Schoengarth and Wolski rendered a couple of numbers. E. H. Bither of Bovey was called upon to handle the subject which had formerly been assigned to Mr. Keenan of Bovey, on "Advertising Our County." He told of the work which had been done along that line in the past.

George Herried of Deer River said that S. D. Patrick, Sam Moran and himself had issued a map of Itasca county which they could have manufactured so as to sell for less than 5 cents per copy in quantities, and asked that the county be asked to circulate the map. A resolution was passed asking the county board to do so.

A committee consisting of E. C. Kiley, J. A. Vandyke, S. D. Patrick, Frank Provinske and G. E. Keenan was appointed to make a revision of the former booklet advertising Itasca county.

Supt. Otto I. Bergh of the state farm gave a very interesting talk on the dairy cow.

Representative A. M. Peterson spoke on the work of the legislature as it affected Itasca county.

The subject of the summer session of the N. M. D. A. at Coleraine was handled by Alex King of Coleraine, who extended an invitation to all.

Delegates to Coleraine.

Delegates to represent the County Development association at the Coleraine meeting were then elected as follows: Otto I. Bergh, Grand Rapids; John Hermiston, Coleraine; G. E. Keenan, Deer River; E. C. Kiley, Grand Rapids; Frank Provinske, Bovey.

A number of songs were rendered by the Coleraine quartet, consisting of Messrs. Fahey, Jennings, Wolski and Schoengarth during the evening's program, and each number was well received.

Cyrus M. King, county commissioner, made an eloquent plea for good roads, and requested that the meeting pass a resolution asking the county board to call an election to bond the county for $500,000 for the construction of roads in Itasca county, and indorsing such a bond issue.

INDEPENDENTS NOW AWAITING NEW RATE

Expect to Ship Heavily When New Ore Rates Are Effective.

Hibbing, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—Despite the fact that ore shipments from corporation mines on the range are decidedly above normal, independent properties have ceased operations until June when new rates affecting ore shipped from the Mesaba range will go into effect. The new rates are 5 cents a ton less than those now prevailing and will mean a saving of thousands of dollars for independent operators.

At Keewatin and Nashwauk the entire group of mines have closed down awaiting the new rates. The Crosby, Hawkins, Quinn, Harrison, John, Jr., La Rue and Pearson mines at Nashwauk, all operated by independent companies, are preparing for shipments, which it is expected will not be made until after June 1. At Keewatin the Mississippi, Bray and St. Paul are doing the same thing. The Bennet, however, is shipping extensively. Most of the ore from these properties will be sent over the Great Northern road.

Shenango Heavy Shipper.

Of the Oliver Mining company properties which has begun shipping ore on a larger scale this week is the Shenango mine at Chisholm. This property has two shovels working now and is putting out nearly 200 cars of ore daily. This ore is taken from the stock pile.

Ore dispatchers of the Missabe railroad declare that the new shipments and mine operations this spring compare favorably of those of two years ago, which was one of the best seasons on the range.

The Hull-Rust continues to be the largest shipper here, putting out 500 carloads daily. The Oliver company mines at Buhl and Chisholm are also operating extensively.

For the Great Northern railroad, the Mahoning produces the most ore. In the Clark, Myers there has been no material change during the last two weeks.

No official announcement has been made as to when the Scranton mine, a state property at Hibbing, will be stripped.

The Winston Dear Stripping company are moving the over burden from the Buffalo Susquehanna mine here. Because of complaints of those living in the neighborhood of the mine, operations during the night have been partly stopped.

Albany, N. Y., May 22.—New York state's first law regulating jitney buses became operative today when Governor Whitman signed the Thompson bill placing them under the jurisdiction of public service commission and municipal authority.

In a statement accompanying his approval today he did not comment on the bond question. He merely said the state had been committed to a policy of regulating common carriers and he placed "jitneys" in the common carrier classification.

INTERESTED IN THE MUD FROM LASSEN

Ranchers Wonder Whether It Will Make Good Soil.

San Francisco, Cal., May 22. — Whether mud ejected from Lassen peak, in Northern California, early yesterday, is of a quality that will make good soil, was the main interest today to ranchers whose holdings lay in the narrow fifteen-mile mud stream. The peak itself was quiet early in the day.

Volcanologists said today that great disturbances were unlikely. No very active volcano, it was declared, was more than 175 miles from the sea, and Lassen is much farther.

The outbreak, it was pointed out, followed each exceptionally heavy rain and may have followed a seepage of water into the heated interior of the mountain.

Part of the crater of Lassen peak has fallen in, according to mail advices reaching here today. This is the main or oldest crater and it was learned that yesterday's eruption came from it. Two craters, formed last summer, are steaming.

RECENT SALE OF 50,000 ACRES OF SWAMP LAND SHOWS MOVEMENT TO NORTHERN MINNESOTA

Big Inquiry From Farmers on the High Priced Lands of Iowa, Illinois, Missouri and Kansas; Reclaimed Land Is Popular With Settlers.

Settlers are flocking into Minnesota by the hundreds this spring and at that the movement is regarded as only getting nicely underway. Duluth operators specializing in farm lands agree in the view that substantial progress is being made in the agricultural development of this state. Inquiry from farmers occupying high-priced lands in Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and other states is reported gratifying, and has resulted in sales of large areas in territory directly tributary to Duluth.

This new order of things was distinctly emphasized in the recent sale of swamp lands in Beltrami county when 50,000 acres drained by the system of ditches and roads recently completed by the state, were offered at auction and promptly snapped up.

Sale a Success.

K. S. Cant of Cant & McLean, who attended the sale held at Bemidji, says that buyers were in attendance from Duluth, the Twin Cities, Chicago, Des Moines, Iowa, and St. Louis, Mo., and other points. So keen was the bidding that many were disappointed in obtaining land. There were in fact applicants for about four times the area of land offered at the sale. Mr. Cant succeeded in obtaining 2,500 acres for Duluth investors, but that was only one-quarter of the acreage he was after.

That condition was in distinct contrast to the first state sale held two years ago, when just five persons were in attendance. At the sale of a year ago, there was a better representation and all the land offered was sold.

As explained by Mr. Cant, it was necessary for each bidder to exercise his homestead rights for one-quarter section of land. The parcels were offered subject to the payment of $1.28 an acre payable to the United States government to be deposited to the Indian fund, as the tract was part of the ceded Red Lake Indian reservation, besides the proportionate assessment for the state ditching system, back interest, etc., the whole to be spread over a period of twenty years. In addition, applicants paid bonuses ranging from $1 to $4 an acre, and paid the interest accruing during the current year, making the total cost to the purchaser range from $4 to $6 an acre.

Find Rich Land.

The agricultural possibilities of these lands have attracted widespread attention. The soil is a black loam on a clay subsoil, and is so rich that it has been found capable of producing yields of a wide variety of crops. The investment opportunities offering in these lands, shown in instances reported of settlers who bought tracts east of Thief River Falls only four years ago at $3 and $4 an acre, having sold recently at $75 an acre.

The reclaimed land comprises an area of over 1,000,000 acres lying between Thief River Falls and International Falls, and is served by four railroads, the Soo line and Great Northern on the west; Canadian Northern on the north, and the Minnesota & International on the east. Its settlement was made possible by the carrying through of a drainage project by the state which has entailed the cutting of twenty-six ditches aggregating 1,500 miles in length at an approximate outlay to date of $3,500,000. It is predicted that as much more will be expended in extending the system within the next few years.

This tract which had been a vast uninhabited waste plateau, was found by state soil experts to be one of the richest agricultural districts in Minnesota. Immediately after that discovery the state began its appropriation of large sums of money to develop the territory and open it up to settlement. Since then its progess has been rapid. The waters from it had been hitherto drained in four directions, but such natural drainage as there was did not afford sufficient to take off the surplus waters. The state then carried through its system of ditches which have proven adequate to keep the ground in satisfactory condition for all agricultural purposes. Persons familiar with the territory predict that within a few years it will be as thickly populated and as highly populated as any other district in Minnesota.

Italian Pure-Breds Will Be Placed Within Reach of Minnesota Apiaries By State Farm.

Pure bred Italian queen bees from the best breeding queens that could be obtained in the West, have been placed within the reach of Minnesota bee keepers by the Minnesota College of Agriculture, according to an announcement which has been made by Francis Jager, head of the division of bee culture at the University farm, St. Paul.

Mr. Jager says that he will have 3,000 of such queens for distribution at 25 cents each and that he will begin to fill orders on June 1, dating requests in the order in which they are received.

Mr. Jager says the Italian bees are gentle and may be handled by anybody, that they survive the winters well, and are industrious workers; that they are very superior to the average run of bees in Minnesota, which are savage, often sting badly, and are generally hard to manage.

KILLING GOPHERS.

F. L. Washburn Tells How to Get Rid of Little Pests.

This is a good time of the year to poison the gopher, a menace to the farmer.

Some interesting suggestions of how to go about it are furnished by F. L. Washburn of the University farm, St. Paul.

"A piece of potato or apple about an inch square, into a cut in which is introduced a very little powdered strychnine, makes an excellent bait," says Mr. Washburn.

"If not already open, the branch gopher hole which comes to the surface, should be opened with a trowel, and the bait should be thrown down as far as it will go. Strychnine, of course, is a deadly poison and should be kept out of the reach of children.

"Striped gophers can be killed at this time of the year with poisoned wheat or poisoned corn, but this should be kept out of the way of chickens and other creatures o fthe farm."

TRAINING SCHOOLS FOR AGRICULTURAL TEACHERS

Training schools for teachers who wish to specialize in agricultural subjects will be held from June 14 to July 24 at the University farm, St. Paul; the School of Agriculture at Crookston and the School of Agriculture at Morris.

These schools are organized and maintained by the department of education of Minnesota. The courses are open to teachers of rural and other elementary schools of Minnesota, free of charge. The object is to offer instruction in methods of teaching; school organization and management, emphasis being placed on the professional side of the training of teachers; to offer review work and credit courses in the subjects required for common school certificates; to give special instruction in agriculture, manual training and home economics, and in drawing and music. Courses will be offered in subjects for first and second class certificates.

That the real mission of a county agricultural agent is to constantly keep in touch with the new settler and to help him get started right, instead of attempting to induce the old settler to change his methods—a task which is often hopeless—is the opinion of H. G. Larson, agricultural agent for St. Louis county, as expressed in his weekly agricultural letter.

Among other things, he says: "Recently I had occasion to visit a home farm in Clearwater county, 200 miles northwest of Duluth, where early seeding is practiced in every case that the soil condition will warrant. This spring a twenty-five-acre field was sowed to oats and wheat. Clover and timothy were put in about April 15. At the present time, both the grass and the grain are progressing nicely.

"The garden was plowed, disked and dragged. On account of weather conditions, no planting has been done as yet. Early planting for gardens, as a rule, will not do for this locality. The fine spring days of April were offset by the rains and frosts of May. The experienced gardener in this locality waits for settled weather before putting in anything except the hardier varieties.

"While on the trip I met an old settler of Clearwater county, of whom I inquired how long it took him to find out the best crops to grow and the best methods to pursue. He informed me that it took at least ten years. 'If anyone could have told us twenty years ago what we know today and we would have listened to the advice, we would have been thousands of dollars ahead.'

"Some people have a mistaken idea that county agricultural agents are put into the field to teach millionaires how to farm, or to teach the old-established farmer how to run his business. St. Louis county has thousands of acres of timbered virgin soil that needs new settlers. Every year sees quite a substantial influx of new men. Our rural population is ever increasing.

"It is the mission of the county agent to keep in touch with these new men, to try to help them get started right, and to help them minimize costly and unnecessary mistakes? If such work calls for criticism, the county agent welcomes it.

"Ask yourself this question: 'How many new settlers, started on the right track to progress and prosperity, would it take to justify the action of the county commissioners in their stand to promote better agricultural conditions for St. Louis county?'"

Baudette Class Meet.

Baudette, Minn., May 22.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school class meet was held on the school grounds yesterday afternoon. The business men donated prizes for the contests. Nearly every child took part in the contests. The spectators numbering about fifty helped to make it a success. Supt. Schwartz had charge of the program.

TWO FARMS HAVE NAMES

Only Two Settlers Have Taken Advantage of 1913 Law.

Name May Be Recorded With the Register of Deeds.

Although there has been a law upon the statute books since 1913 which permits a farmer in Minnesota to choose a distinctive name for his farm and record the same with the register of deeds in the county in which he resides, but two St. Louis county settlers have availed themselves of this privilege.

Within the last month, T. S. Soine, who resides near Iron Junction and Gustav K. Johnson of the town of Herman have chosen names for their farmsteads and have had them recorded in the office of the register of deeds.

Mr. Soine's farm is to be known hereafter as "Clover Leaf Farm." It is described as lots 4 and 5 of section 26, and the east half of the northeast quarter of section 25, 57-18.

Mr. Johnson has designated his place as "Leeward Farm." The land covered by this name according to records on file in the register of deeds office is described as the west half of the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter and the northeast quarter of the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 23, 50-15.

The custom of naming the farm is imported from England, where individual farms are given a specific and permanent name to be used in addressing the owner and in identifying the products which he markets. It is a custom which is steadily growing in favor in Minnesota as well as in other states.

AWAITING CALL TO ARMS

Thousands of Italian Subjects in Minnesota May Enter King's Army.

Several thousand Italians in Minnesota are awaiting news from Rome which may summon them back to their native land, reserves for the Italian army.

Although the work of mobilizing the reserves has not started in this country, according to prominent Duluth Italians, there are hundreds of men in Northern Minnesota who will return to Italy if war is declared.

"They are anxious to go," said one prominent Italian, "and if the break with Austria comes, as is probable, many of them will soon be enrolled under Italian colors."

Minnesota has a comparatively small Italian population, but of the aggregate, a considerable number make their homes in the northern part of the state. There are about 2,500 persons owing allegiance to the Italian government in the Twin Cities, it is estimated, and probably double this number of men in Northern Minnesota and Wisconsin will be expected to take up arms when Italy declares war.

WHY JAPAN KEPT DEMANDS SECRET

Fifth Group Represented "Hopes" Rather Than Demands.

Tokio, May 22.—Baron Kato, minister of foreign affairs, explained to the diet today why Japan endeavored to keep secret the fifth group of demands she presented to China last January.

Japan was not in duty bound to communicate these demands to the powers, Baron Kato said. He explained that Japan believed she was justified in demanding the concessions contained in the first four groups, but that the fifth group represented "hopes" rather than demands.

"We had to see what China would say about this fifth group," said the foreign minister, "and there was, therefore, no necessity for communicating it. Later, because of the appearance of erroneous accounts of this group, Japan decided to make the matter public."

To an interpellation as to why Japan was restoring Kiao Chow to China, the foreign minister explained that this had been decided on long before the negotiations were undertaken.

The restoration was based entirely on the destruction of German influence in the Far East and maintenance of the integrity of China, he said. So long as no other country held Kiao Chow, Japan was satisfied.

Steamship Begins Action for $7,819 for Damage to Steamer Champlain.

An action for $7,819.37 damages was begun in the United States district court today by the Northern Lakes Steamship company against the Clarkson Coal & Dock company for alleged damages to the steamer Champlain, belonging to the libellant company. The petition charges that the Champlain was badly damaged by the fall of an unloading rig upon the vessel while coal was being unloaded at the Clarkson docks, April 27, 1914. Negligence on the part of the dock company is charged.

DOG NAMED "HICKEN," IT'S A WATER SPANIEL

There is a dog in Duluth named "Hicken."

This morning Christ Engels of 319 East Ninth street obtained a license for his dog and when asked for the name of the canine, said it was Hicken. And the dog is a water spaniel.

And another dog, who may be proud of herself, is Sunbeam Wiggles, the only animal entered on the city treasurer's books with two names. The dog is owned by Archie McFadden of 109 Fifty-fourth avenue east.

BECOMES SERIOUS OFFENSE.

Sweeping Wheat at War Prices Is Almost a Felony.

SWEEPING wheat, a very common offense known as a misdemeanor, comes near to being a felony, for which a man may go to the penitentiary, with war prices prevailing in the grain market, judging from reports in a municipal court case against John Hosko, age 32, this morning.

"Wheat is selling at $1.57 a bushel," commented Judge F. H. Cutting, "and under these conditions it is a rather serious offense."

When Hosko received his sentence of ten days at the work farm, he thanked the judge and went back to jail, glad that wheat wasn't selling for $2 a bushel.

He was arrested near Elevator D yesterday by Watchman W. J. Swanson.

JITNEY JOCKEY FINED.

Pays $7 for Driving Past Open Gates of Street Car.

Driving past an open street car gate at Third avenue west and Superior street cost William Kosman, age 35, $7 in municipal court this morning.

When Kosman, a jitneur, was arrested by Traffic Policeman George Wood he could not understand what was wrong, and later in court was unable to answer the judge until an interpreter had been secured.

"Them officers always wave at me and tell me to hurry up," he explained, "and I always come when they tell me to. I don't look for the street cars when the officer waves his hand at me."

It was the first time in several weeks that a jitney driver had faced Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting for a violation of the traffic ordinance.

Tennessee Man Fined for Visiting Saloon Too Often.

"Down in Chattanooga,

—Popular song.

"Chattanooga's a dry town, isn't it?"

"Yes, your honor," answered William McKissack, who forgot his r's when he talked, and who said he was from the Tennessee city, in municipal court this morning.

"That is," he qualified, "the front doahs are 'dry,' but there are lots of reah doahs that are 'wet' most all the time." He was fined $7 for using the front door of Duluth saloons too frequently.

The next man to face the judge was Joe Blair, Cloquet.

"How about Cloquet," asked the judge, "are the rear doors 'dry' there?"

"Yes, your honor," was the answer, "all the doors in Cloquet are 'dry,' front, back and side." He was fined $7.

SELLS TOBACCO TO MINORS.

Edward Mayhew Arrested; First Charge of Kind During Year.

Selling tobacco to minors was the charge placed against Edward Mayhew, age 60, when he was arraigned before Judge F. H. Cutting in municipal court this morning. It was the first offense of this kind on record this year.

Mayhew, who is the proprietor of a store at 1706 West Superior street, is alleged to have sold cigarettes to Lester Dodge, a 16-year-old boy. He pleaded not guilty and will be given a hearing May 25.

Truant Officer T. J. Beatty, who made the complaint against Mayhew, also swore to a charge against Peter Radosevica, 524 West First street. Radosevich has failed to send his son, John, to school since Feb. 2, according to the officer.

WILL RUSSIANS FLOCK TO ELLIS ISLAND?

Widespread Unemployment in Russia After the War May Lead to Heavy Emigration.

By LEO PASVOLSKY,
Of Editorial Staff Russkoye Slovo, New York.

(Exclusive Service the Survey Press Bureau.

Suppose the European war were to be brought to an end next week or next month. What would be the state of affairs in Europe, especially as immigration to the United States would be affected? What course would the influx of human material into this country, forcibly interrupted by the war, take, should this interruption be removed?

As far as future emigration to America is concerned, Europe may be considered as three divisions. The first would include the neutral countries which, after the war, will find themselves in fairly normal condition, so that emigration from them will be practically the same as before the war.

Few From Western Europe.

The second division would include those belligerents who will seek to restrain emigration—England, France and Germany. They are not over-populated. Before the war they contributed few immigrants to us and after the war they may be expected to contribute nothing at all.

Of the third division—the rest of the belligerents—Austria-Hungary and Russia have large populations and are poorly organized industrially, which conditions were largely responsible for the heavy emigration from them before the war. Austria-Hungary is even now attempting to improve its industrial situation.

As far as Russia is concerned, her industrial life has never been well organized, and the war showed that such organization as existed is almost exclusively in the hands of the Germans. Actual war operations have affected some of the most highly efficient manufacturing centers of Russia, viz., Poland, and has disorganized the economic life of the whole southern part of the country. But the war also made evident the part Germany played in the industrial life of Russia. When trade with Germany ceased and when, as a result of the state of war that existed between the two countries, German subjects were compelled to leave Russia, it suddenly became apparent that practically all industries were in the hands of the Germans.

Unemployment From Prohibition.

Unemployment in Russia is acute. It has been calculated that the mere suspension of the distilling industry has left about 100,000 men out of work in Petrograd alone.

The introduction of temperance is undoubtedly a splendid thing, but it becomes necessary to divert the men employed in the suspended industry to other channels. It has never been the policy of the Russian government to encourage or aid the industrial development of the country.

There are no indications that this policy has been changed. At present the cotton goods industry is practically at a standstill, because the importation of raw materials has almost ceased. The removal of this obstacle lies in the hands of the government, as its chief cause is the lack of credits abroad and the lack of foreign specie in Russia, which renders the international import deals so unprofitable as to make them almost impossible. Several requests for foreign specie have come from the cotton goods manufacturers, but the government has refused practically every request.

In order even to resume the nation's industrial life, the Russian government would have to grant additional rights to those people who are capable of organizing the industries on a commercial basis, especially to the Jews. But the government has as yet given no indication of its intention to change its Jewish policy. Thus, it is more than likely that the Russian government itself will eliminate the Russian factors that might be working for the industrial development of Russia.

Germans and other Europeans will undoubtedly be too busy at home reorganizing their own industries to consider Russian problems. In this event, if even the Russian government should consent to having the Germans resume control of Russian industries, the Germans themselves will scarcely be either able or willing to do so.

All Aboard for America.

This, of course, opens an opportunity to American capital. Generally, however, Americans know so little about Russia that there will scarcely be an extensive movement of American capital to Russia. It is more likely that Americans will prefer to remain at home and have Russian labor come over. This would mean that after the war Russian emigration to America will assume an even more extensive character than before.

It is probable that the government will throw no obstacle in the way of emigration, as it threw no obstacle in its way after the Russo-Japanese war and during the years that followed. The Russian population is enormous in comparison with the utterly inefficient industrial organization of the country. This state of affairs must produce, after the war, a large unemployed surplus of population that will either have to starve or emigrate. The latter course is more likely than the first.

A peculiar feature of this war is the fact that there is presumably no desertion in the Russian army, while during the Russo-Japanese war, there was a great deal of desertion. This is partly because the war is "nearer home" now than it was ten years ago, and therefore patriotism is stronger, but mostly because Russia is so bottled up that there is no path open for escaping abroad. Ten years ago, the deserters crossed the German border and went to America through Hamburg, Bremen and the other great German ports. Today, this is obviously impossible.

However, if the allied fleet succeeds in forcing the Dardanelles, things will probably begin to assume a new aspect. Moreover, the opening of the Dardanelles will undoubtedly bring about direct commercial relations between American ports and Odessa. It would be very easy to divert to this service some of the English liners, as well as the boats of the Russian-American line.

The establishment of such a direct communication route through a very convenient, as far as railroad connections are concerned, Russian port, will make it possible for many persons to leave the country, if they so desire.

ONE BROTHER IN THE HOSPITAL; ONE IN JAIL

Frank Switzer Too Weak to Swear Out Warrant.

Although his brother, Frank, is confined in St. Mary's hospital, and was too weak yesterday to swear out a warrant against him, William Switzer, 420½ West Fourth street, was arraigned before Judge F. H. Cutting yesterday afternoon, charged with assault.

He will be held in $500 bond until May 24. It is probable that the hearing will be postponed until Frank recovers from knife wounds about the face and arms.

William, an old offender, and known to police as a "tough one," refused to be recognized when brought before the judge, and said he never had been arrested before, although police records showed that he had been jailed at least five times in recent years for fighting.

Albert, the third brother, threw kindling wood, stove lids, a water pail, and a broom at Officer Danielson when he tried to arrest William and was finally taken into custody himself. Albert was released later and placed on parole for thirty days.

This is William's record, as it was read to him by the court after he had stated in positive terms that it was his first offense:

"Nov. 16, 1906, disorderly; ten days in county jail."

"Feb. 1, 1909, assault; no disposition."

"Sept. 12, 1909, assault; three months in county jail."

"Nov. 26, 1910, drunk and disorderly; $10 bail forfeited."

"June 6, 1912, assault; sentenced July 11 to reformatory."

WOULD STIPULATE ON OBLIGATIONS

N. P. Road Wants City to Fix Limit of Demands.

At a special meeting of the city council held in Commissioner Silberstein's office this noon, City Attorney Greene presented a stipulation, in which the city agrees to release the Northern Pacific railroad from any future obligations after the Smithville subway is built.

This action is desired by the railroad so that the city will not be able to make any more demands for changes after the bridge is built.

Commissioner Farrell objected to taking immediate action on the matter this morning, because he is afraid that a forty-two-foot bridge will be too narrow in years to come, and as a result the matter was laid over until the regular meeting Monday evening. At that time the city attorney will present the stipulation a second time and action will be taken on a resolution authorizing him to enter into the agreement with the railroad.

It was announced this morning that work on the subway will begin Monday morning.

GOOD BULGES IN MINING STOCKS

Duluth office says that they found mineral conditions far beyond their expectations. The mine is producing at capacity, and steps are being taken to materially increase production soon, which will mean much to the company on the prevailing high price of copper metal.

Shattuck Copper company's checks for the last dividend were received by the stockholders on May 20. The total amount distributed was $176,000, which represents 50c a share. The mine is now earning, as near as can be estimated, fully $5.50 net per share. The company has no debts. Development work at the Shattuck mine continues, and with gratifying results.

Commenting upon the stock situation, Skillings' Mining and Market Letter of today says: "The prospective declaration of war by Italy appears to have been discounted, and the favorable action of the standard mining issues the past few days would tend to establish that the securities markets are also discounting Germany's reply to the American note relating to the Lusitania incident. While the situation is filled with possibilities which may drag the United States into the European war, it is manifest from the action of the stock market, and the expressions of many leading minds, that there will be no such result. There is much strength behind the stock markets, though it is but natural that there shall be some hesitancy pending the German reply to President Wilson's note. Substantial advances have occurred this week in the seasoned dividend stocks, and there is much firmness displayed in the entire list.

HOMESITES IN GLEN AVON.

We have some of the finest lots in Duluth located in Glen Avon and Hunter's Park, overlooking Waverly Park, Crescent View Park, and within two blocks of Congdon Park. Superb view of the lake and the Wisconsin shore in the distance. These lots are the most beautiful and sightly in Duluth. They are surrounded by splendid homes, close to church and school and street car. Many of these lots have gas, water and sewer. When you buy here you are not buying a new boom addition, where you are a pioneer, as it were, but the improvements are there and the type of houses surrounding you is assured. Think of this: Eleven of these lots have the finest paved street in the city of Duluth, which cost $240 for 60 feet. This is fully paid for and does not add a cent to the price of the lots for you. If you were thinking of building a home, you can make a 20 per cent larger loan on a house built here than on a house built in a new suburb. We can place the loans for you on houses built here.

These lots lie between Victoria street and Hardy street and between Wallace avenue and Vermilion road, one of the choicest locations in Duluth. The lots are 50 by 190 and 50 by 200 feet. Prices vary from $500 to $1,700 per lot on five years' time.

Call us up and make appointments to see these lots. Look them over and compare them with any other lots in the city, and then you will be convinced of our low prices and desirability of purchasing here. Investigate these.

AUSTRIAN WARSHIPS ATTACK COAST OF ITALY; AIRMEN OPEN HOSTILITIES ON VENICE ARSENAL

GERMANY HAS DECLARED WAR ON ITALY; ITALY ON AUSTRIA

AMBASSADOR VON BUELOW IS RECALLED

Rome Formally Severs All Connection With Austria-Hungary.

General Mobilization of Italian Army and Navy Completed.

Demonstrations Throughout All Italy Warmly Approve War.

London, May 24.—A dispatch from Paris to the Exchange Telegraph company says a telegram from Basel states that the Wolf agency announces Germany has declared war against Italy and recalled Prince Von Buelow, her ambassador at Rome.

War Ratified.

London, May 24.—After being virtually in a state of war for several days with her former partners in the Triple Alliance, Italy, beginning today, ratifies this condition by a declaration of hostilities directed at Austria-Hungary, with all the usual formalities. Furthermore, Germany is reported to have indicated her support of Austria-Hungary by a formal declaration of war against Italy.

The general mobilization of the Italian army and navy is said to have been completed and a state of war has been declared through the northern provinces of Italy.

RUSS DRIVE TURKS OUT OF VAN, ARMENIA

Occupy City in Asiatic Turkey, Bringing Relief to the Inhabitants.

Tiflis, Transcaucasia, Sunday, May 23, via Petrograd, May 24, and via London—A detachment of Russian soldiers has occupied the town of Van, in Asiatic Turkey, thus bringing relief to the Armenians who were being besieged there by the Turks. Upon the advent of the Russians the Turks retreated in the direction of Bitlis.

Van, in Turkish Armenia, and Urumiah in Persia, have been the scenes of persecution of and attacks upon Armenians by Turks and Kurds for several months. The situation became so serious that the powers of Europe protested to Turkey, saying that Turkish officials would be held personally responsible.

VICTORIOUS CONCLUSION

Capture of "White Way" By French Ends Important Offensive.

Possession of Heights Considered Most Important By Germans.

Paris, May 24.—"The capture by French troops of the German works at Blanche Vole (the White Way) the evening of May 21 marked the victorious conclusion of our offensive on the 'Massif de Lorette,'" was the opening sentence in the report of the French semi-official eye witness of conditions at the front, as given out in Paris today.

"Loretteborg is a word which for the last six months has appeared often in the correspondence of the German soldiers," the eye witness continues. "The imperial general staff attached very great importance to the possession of these heights. To conquer, defend and retake them, the German soldiers have received a formal order which was so

PRESIDENT HOPES THE AMERICAS WILL SHOW WORLD PATH TO PEACE

Delivers Address at Opening of Pan-American; Financial Conference.

Advocates More Ships, Either Private or Government for Growing Trade.

Prominent Men Present From North, South and Central Americas.

Washington, May 24.—President Wilson, speaking at the opening of the Pan-American financial conference here today, expressed the hope that the Americas might show the world the path to peace.

The president was loudly applauded by the delegates as he entered the hall of the Americas in the Pan-American union building, where the meetings are being held. On the platform were members of the cabinet, while the audience included many high officials in addition to the representatives of South and Central American countries.

The president declared the people of the Americas were not trying to make use of one another, but were trying to be of use to one another. He spoke of the "handsome rivalry" which, he said, was good for nations.

Advocates More Ships.

The lack of the physical means of communication between the Americas, he said, stood somewhat in the way of the development of commerce and friendship. In advocating more ships in Pan-American trade and the opening of new routes, the president said that if private capital cannot soon establish such means of communication the government must undertake to do so.

At the conclusion of the president's address he was applauded again. He remained in the hall while the representatives of the different nations responded to his welcome.

President Wilson spoke as follows:

"There can be no sort of union of

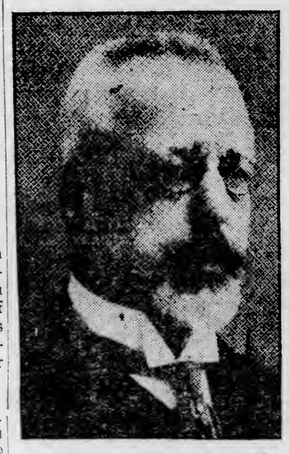
FAILURE TO PACIFY ITALY RESULTS IN RESIGNATION



BARON STEPHAN BURIAN.

Rome, May 23, via Paris, May 24.—Reports which have been received here that Baron Burian, the Austrian foreign minister, has resigned, are generally accepted as true and have caused wide comment. His reported fall is attributed to the failure of the Austro-Italian negotiations and the declaration of war by Italy.

GERMANS WITHDRAW CAPITAL FROM ITALY

Have Taken Nearly All Funds Even at a Sacrifice.

Geneva, Switzerland, May 24, via Paris.—German financial interests, in anticipation of the war with Italy, began as early as May 1 to withdraw capital from Italy. This was accomplished even in cases which entailed considerable sacrifices, so that sequestration of German property might be avoided.

It is estimated that German investments in Italian industries amounted to fully $300,000,000. Some estimates run as high as $2,000,000,000.

A large volume of shares of the Italian companies has been exchanged for American stocks and securities.

ITALY'S FORMAL DECLARATION OF WAR TO AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

Amsterdam, May 23, via London, May 24.—A dispatch from Vienna says the Italian ambassador to Austria, the duke of Avarna, this afternoon presented to Baron von Burian, the Austrian foreign minister, the following declaration of war:

"Vienna, May 23, 1915.—Conformably with the orders of his majesty, the king, his august sovereign, the undersigned ambassador of Italy has the honor to deliver to his excellency, the foreign minister of Austria-Hungary, the following communication:

"Declaration has been made, as from the 4th of this month, to the imperial and royal government of grave moves, for which Italy, confident in her good right, proclaimed annulled and henceforth without effect, her treaty of alliance with Austria-Hungary, which was violated by the imperial and royal government and resumed her liberty of action in this respect.

"The government of the king, firmly resolved to provide by all means at its disposal for safeguarding Italian rights and interests, cannot fail in its duty to take against every existing and future menace measures which events impose upon it for the fulfillment of national obligations.

"His majesty, the king, declares that he considers himself from tomorrow in a state of war with Austria-Hungary.

"The undersigned has the honor to make known at the same time to his excellency, the foreign minister, that passports will be placed this very day at the disposal of the imperial and royal ambassador at Rome, and he will be obliged to his excellency if he will kindly have his passports handed to him. (Signed)

"AVARNA."

Each regiment of the first line has its reserve unit. Total infantry about 1,320,000 men, all mobilized.

Five old battleships of small fighting value, three light scout cruisers, about fifty efficient torpedo-boat destroyers.

For joint service with both army and navy—Fourteen squadrons of seven aeroplanes each, and ten dirigibles.

CONDITION OF KING OF GREECE BETTER

Greek Legation at Washington Hears Cheering News From Home.

Washington, May 24.—King Constantine of Greece is improved, according to a dispatch received today at the legation here. The king's fever has abated, the message says.

Specialist Summoned.

London, May 24.—A message from Athens to Reuter's agency says that Prof. Kraus of Berlin, who has been summoned to the Greek capital for a consultation regarding the illness of King Constantine of Greece, will travel through Vienna, Budapest and Dedeaghatch, where the Greek torpedo boat destroyer Panther will await him. The Greek government has requested the authorities of the intervening countries to extend every facility in order to accelerate his journey.

The King's illness engrosses the attention of all circles in Athens, where it has evoked sympathy and apprehension.

Conference of Cabinet.

Paris, May 24.—A dispatch from Athens to the Havas agency says that, after a conference of the Greek cabinet ministers with the doctor treating King Constantine, it was decided to telegraph to Berlin for Prof. Friedrich Kraus, a specialist. The king's fever increased and an urgent operation was considered necessary.

The latest bulletin from the sick chamber indicating that the temperature of the king had risen caused the greatest anxiety in Athens. Prince George is at his father's bedside.

Other dispatches from Athens comment that the 25-year-old prince is very close to ex-Premier Venizelos, who retired from the premiership last March because King Constantine did not approve of his warlike policy, and that he is very friendly to the nations of the Triple Entente.

MONTENEGRIN PRINCESS ENTERS WAR AS A NURSE

PRINCESS NATALIE.

Paris, May 24.—Princess Natalie of Montenegro, sister-in-law of Queen Helena of Italy, has been enrolled as a nurse in the Italian army, says a dispatch from Rome to the Temps.

All Italians Called.

New York, May 24.—A call to all Italian citizens and American citizens of Italian birth to enroll here for service in the Italian army was published in the newspapers of that language here today.

OVER HE GOES.

FIRST BLOW IN NEW WAR IS DELIVERED

Reports From Rome Say Both Warships and Aeroplanes Forced to Withdraw Without Doing Any Damage.

Many Cities on Eastern Coast of Italy, Besides Venice, Attacked By Airships in Initial Raid By Austrians.

Paris, May 24.—An attack by Austrian warships on the eastern coast of Italy, along the Adriatic, is announced in an official communication from the Italian war office, transmitted to Paris by the correspondent of the Havas agency. It is said the Austrian warships were forced to withdraw after a short cannonade.

The statement follows:

"It was foreseen that on the declaration of war, offensive actions would occur against our Adriatic coast, with the purpose of seeking moral effect rather than attaining a military purpose. But we were able to prepare for these and render their duration short.

FIRED ON COAST.

"Small naval units of the enemy, especially destroyers and torpedo boats, fired their guns upon our Adriatic coast on May 24 between 4 and 6 o'clock in the morning. At the same time aeroplanes attempted to attack the arsenal at Venice.

"The enemy's ships, after a very short cannonade, were forced by our torpedo boats to withdraw. The enemy aeroplanes were fired upon by our anti-aircraft artillery and attacked by our aeroplanes and by a dirigible flying over the Adriatic.

ENEMY OBLIGED TO RETIRE.

"The aeroplanes attacked Porto Corsini, which replied immediately and obliged the enemy to retire quickly. At Ancona, where the attack was directed especially against the railway line with the intention of interrupting communication, slight damage was inflicted, which can be repaired easily.

"At Barletto, an attack was made by a scout steamer and destroyers, which were put to flight by one of our ships which was escorted by torpedo boats. Finally, at Gesi, the enemy aeroplanes attempted to throw bombs upon the hangars but without reaching the mark.

"All other news of operations last night has no foundation."

ATTACK BY AIRMEN.

Rome, May 24, via Paris.—Official announcement was made here today that Austrian aeroplanes have attacked the governmental arsenal at Venice. The aeroplanes were driven off.

Porto Corsini, Anacona, Barletta and Gesi also were attacked.

It is apparent from the foregoing dispatch that Austrian aeroplanes have swept virtually the entire eastern coast of Italy. From Venice at the head of the Adriatic they have made their way as far south as Barletta, a distance of 350 miles, committing acts of hostility during their progress. Barletta is 125 miles north of the strait of Otranto, the southern entrance to the Adriatic.

Granted that the aeroplanes started from Triest or Pola, they did not have more than ninety miles to travel to reach Venice. Driven away here they would appear to have turned south. Porto Corsini is the seaport of Ravenna, and about sixty-eight miles south of Venice. Ancona is another seaport on the Adriatic, 185 miles northeast of Rome and about 140 miles south of Venice in an airline.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Hostilities between Italy and Austria opened early this morning with an Austrian land and sea raid on the Adriatic coast of Italy. An official statement from Rome says Austrian destroyers and torpedo boats fired on several points along the coast, at the same time that an attack by aeroplanes were made. It is asserted the attackers were driven off after a brief cannonade.

Attacks were made at Venice, Porto Corsini, Barletta and Gesi, showing that the raid extended over the greater part of the eastern shore. The only damage inflicted so far as the Italian communication shows, was at Ancona, where an attempt of aviators to blow up the railroad caused small injury.

An official report from Berlin says the Russian battleship Panteleimon has been sunk in the Black sea with the loss of 1,400 men. The Turkish war office announces that an attack undertaken by the allies on the southern end of Gallipoli failed and that the attackers left 2,000 dead on the field.

The official communications today from Berlin and Paris state that engagements occurred yesterday at several points in Belgium and Northern France without changes of consequence.

A message coming from Germany by a round-about way states that the semi-official Wolff agency has announced that Germany has declared war on Italy.

Both Austria and Italy have large armies along the frontier, and it is assumed the campaign will open up in this mountainous region. Italy also is said to have assembled an army on the southeastern coast of the country, across the Adriatic from Albania.

Official announcement is made at Petrograd that the Austro-German forces, after sweeping across the western half of Galicia, have been checked. They are now said to have assumed the defensive, their efforts to compel a general retreat of the Russians from the San having failed.

Constantinople advices say the French and British have increased their land forces at the Dardanelles to 90,000 men. Originally 60,000 disembarked. The Turkish government announces the loss of an old gunboat, sunk by a submarine.

The military situation in France and Belgium is unchanged. Reports from Holland and France which lacked official confirmation say the Germans intend to fall back on their second line, for the purpose of shortening their front and releasing troops for service against Italy.

OFFICER IS VICTIM OF VICIOUS ASSAULT WHILE MAKING ARREST

Prisoner Throws Him Headlong to Pavement; Has Concussion of Brain and Is Partly Paralyzed.

After an examination last night Police Surgeon Harry Klein reported that Patrolman James Woods, assaulted Saturday night by Earl S. Spooner, aged 25, had sustained a slight concussion of the brain and was paralyzed along his left side.

After scouring the town for several hours after the assault, police found Spooner at his home, 317 Third avenue west, and placed him under arrest, charged with second-degree assault. He waived examination and was bound over to the September grand jury without bail.

John R. McKinnon, aged 21, Spooner's companion, who escaped with him following the assault, also was captured. He was charged with interfering with an officer and held under $500 bail for a hearing May 27. McKinnon has a police record.

Late Saturday night Woods answered a complaint from a saloon at 208 West Superior street and found Spooner fighting. He placed him under arrest and started to lead him to a nearby call box to summon the police emergency. After the call was sent in McKinnon remonstrated, grabbing the officer by the arm.

When Patrolman Woods turned to throw off McKinnon, Spooner struck him a vicious blow on the jaw, stunning him, and then picked him up and threw him head first to the pavement, according to a witness. Spooner and McKinnon then escaped, leaving the officer in a semi-conscious condition.

Officers Wanvick and P. Barber, arriving in the patrol a moment later, took care of the injured man and then made a search of nearby buildings, locating McKinnon in the saloon, where he had gone to finish a lunch he was eating when the fight started.

A general call was sent out for officers to watch for Spooner and shortly after 2 o'clock in the morning he was arrested by Sergeant Englert and Patrolman Oscar Olson when he tried to enter his home at 317 Third avenue west.

Spooner told Judge F. H. Cutting this morning that he wanted to plead guilty to the charge against him. This probably will not be allowed until the extent of Patrolman Woods' injuries is learned.

SERBIAN CONDITIONS GREATLY IMPROVED

Army Well Organized and Supplied With Arms and Ammunition.

Lausanne, Switzerland, May 24, via Paris.—Prof. R. A. Reiss of the University of Lausanne writes from Kragouetaz, Serbia, that conditions in that country are much better than a few months ago. The Serbian army has been reorganized during the long lull which followed the retreat of the Austrian army from Serbia. Great Britain and France have supplied the Serbians abundantly with ammunition and artillery.

The deadly foe during the winter has been typhus. The death rate has now been reduced from 60 to 15 per cent as a result of the work of physicians from abroad. Some of these are Americans and Englishmen, but the majority are French. One hundred French physicians are now with the Serbian army.

Crops have been planted by the Serbian women and an abundant harvest is expected.

NO WORD FROM RELATIVES.

B. Silberstein Has Two Nephews and Three Cousins in War.

Since the European war started last summer, Commissioner Silberstein has not received any word from his two nephews and three cousins, who left their homes at the time to fight with the Austrian army.

The two nephews, he said this morning, are officers, while the others are privates. He has attempted to get into communication with relatives in Austria-Hungary, but has so far failed.

TELLS ATROCITIES OF BELGIAN CIVILIANS

German Government Issues White Book Concerning Warfare There.

Berlin, May 24, via wireless to Sayville.—Included in the information given out today by the Overseas News agency is the following.

"The German government has published a white book concerning the warfare of the civilian population of Belgium, hostilities which included the shooting of troops, the throwing of boiling water, the maiming of the wounded and the assassination of officers in their quarters at night. The time of these occurrences and the names of witnesses are given. All classes of the population, including clergymen, women and children, participated in this aggression. The signal for the beginning often was given by church bells. All the German measures at Louvain and other Belgian towns were only for the purpose of suppressing these attacks.

"The white book declares that the Belgian official report on the so-called German atrocities is untrustworthy, because the government of Belgium was unable to examine the evidence."

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR TOURISTS

S. P. Passenger Agent Predicts Big Season for Duluth.

Large Attendance at Fair Expected Later in the Year.

Charles S. Fee, passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific Railway company, and one of the best known passenger traffic officials in the United States, is in Duluth today. Mr. Fee was for a long term of years general passenger agent of the Northern Pacific and is widely known among railway officials in this part of the country.

While declaring that the railroads of the Pacific coast and Puget Sound district are not doing what their officials believe they should in the way of passenger business, Mr. Fee is not inclined to feel pessimistic over the situation.

"This beastly war and the general financial depression that has been hanging over business has affected the railway business," said he. "We look for a very material increase and that very soon. The fair has not been getting quite the attendance some of its officials expected. For the first ninety days the paid admissions have totaled 2,600,000 I think that the largest attendance will come along after July.

"This city should have a great tourist year. Our agents in the East inform us that there is a great volume of passenger business booked, while some of the people out at Yellowstone park say that reservations for 9,000 persons are already booked. Duluth should get a great lake and rail business this season."

Many graduates of Minnesota university will remember Mr. Fee as the father of "Charley" Fee, great Minnesota football star and all-western tackle. During the days that he was located in St. Paul Mr. Fee was one of the real football enthusiasts.

Hobbling around on a cane, Mr. Fee explained that he has been traveling over the country for thirty years and just the other night, down at Columbus, Ohio, met with his first railroad accident. In stepping down from the Pullman, Mr. Fee turned his ankle, and now walks with hard expressions and occasional expletives.

LODGE WILL INITIATE AND GIVE BANQUET

B'nai B'rith Program for June 1 Has Been Arranged.

Arrangements for the initiation and banquet of Covenant lodge, No. 569, Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, to be held at the Commercial club on the evening of Tuesday, June 1, were completed this morning by the committee in charge.

Dr. Isaac L. Rypins of St. Paul will be the principal speaker of the evening and the guest of the lodge at the banquet, which will be served at 6:30 o'clock. Following the banquet, a class of twenty candidates will be initiated and the address of Dr. Rypins will follow. Bernard Silberstein, commissioner of safety, will preside during the evening as the representative of the district grand lodge.

Members of the B'nai B'rith order from Duluth, Superior, the range towns and the Twin Cities have been invited to attend the banquet and initiation and a large crowd is expected.

In addition to the principal address by Dr. Rypins, others who will speak during the evening are: Dr. Maurice Lefkovits, Dr. Samuel Gross, president of Covenant lodge, and Charles D. Oreckovsky.

The committee in charge of the program consists of Mr. Oreckovsky, A. B. Kapplin and Ben Blumenthal.

WILL BEGIN PAVING MINNESOTA AVENUE

Ninth Street and West Sixth Street Jobs Will Follow.

Tomorrow morning the S. R. Okes Construction company of Minneapolis will begin work on the Minnesota avenue pavement. About thirty men will be hired for the preliminary work, it was announced this morning.

Within the next two or three days Commissioner Farrell expects D. H. Clough to start on the Ninth street pavement and J. W. Preston on the West Sixth street pavement. Work on Woodland avenue was begun last week.

As soon as the four pavements are under way, the contractors will have a total of about 200 men at work.

RETURN VERDICT AFTER TWELVE HOURS

Five-Sixths Decision Is Arrived at in District Court.

Samuel Hoar was awarded judgment for $500 against the Kabekona Iron company by a jury which returned a sealed verdict in Judge Dancer's division of the district court this morning. The verdict was returned in accordance with the provisions of the five-sixths jury law which permits ten or eleven jurors to return a verdict after twelve hours' consideration. Ten jurors concurred in the award to Mr. Hoar. The plaintiff sued to recover $500 as his interest in certain royalties paid to the Kabekona Iron company by the Robertson-Hoar Mining company. The verdict was arrived at shortly before midnight Friday night.

CITY HALL TO HAVE TEAM.

Walter Borgen Will Organize Baseball Nine; To Challenge Courthouse.

Walter Borgen, city clerk, proposes to organize a city hall baseball team and issue a challenge to the courthouse nine, or any other nine that "wants to taste defeat."

"We're going to show all these fellows how to play ball after we get started," said City Clerk Borgen this morning.

The team will be composed only of men working in the city hall and will include no employes of the water and light department, the police or fire departments, he said.

BY RIGHT OF POSSESSION

Widow Would Establish Ownership to Tract of Nine Acres.

Highland Company Has Paid Taxes for More Than Twenty Years.

Although for more than twenty years the Highland company and others who preceded in title paid taxes and assessments on a tract of nine and one-half acres in the vicinity of Eighth avenue west and Thirteenth street, Widow Mary Cain and her six children are endeavoring to establish a claim to the tract on the theory of "squatters' rights" and adverse possession.

Mrs. Cain came into district court two years ago with a suit to quiet title to the land as against the claims of the Highland company. The jury found in her favor, but the verdict was not permitted to stand. Judge Ensign set the verdict aside on the grounds that the evidence adduced at that time was insufficient to sustain a verdict in favor of the widow. The court granted a new trial.

In Judge Fesler's division of the court today, a jury was selected to try the case over again. The claims raised are the same as before. She alleges that she and her children "squatted" on the property back in July, 1891, and were in possession up to the time the suit to quiet title was started. By the adverse possession law, she asserts, she is the real owner of the land, even though the title is vested in the Highland company and that others have paid taxes during all of the years she has occupied it.

Has Lived on Land.

Mrs. Cain testified that she lived on the land and used it for garden purposes for more than fifteen years. During that time, she claims, she received no notice to get off. The property involved in the lawsuit is valued at about $500 an acre, or about $4,750.

The suit to quiet title is brought against the Highland company, of which C. P. Craig is principal owner and Harry Gould, who was given a lease to the property about two years ago. H. B. Haroldson and Theodore Hollister are attorneys for Mrs. Cain, and H. R. Fryberger is representing the defendants.

WOULD HAVE COWS OUT OF COMMUNITY

Eastern Hill District Declared Too Thickly Populated for Dairies.

In a petition to the city council, property owners between Forty-third and Fifty-fourth avenues east and Jay and Oneida streets, ask that all cows be ordered removed from that district, which is now thickly settled and should no longer, they declare, be permitted to harbor dairies.

The petition states that there are about 100 cows in that section of the city and that the animals are a nuisance. The conditions are getting worse, the petitioners claim, and in view of the fact that the district is becoming a residence section and is fast being settled, the cows should be ordered away and the manure piles removed.

The following dairies are located in the district specified by the petition: Pikkairainen, 4231 Jay street; Joe Manjo, Forty-second and Peabody; and P. Dodle, Forty-third avenue and Tioga street.

The petition was filed with the city clerk this morning and will be read to the commissioners at their regular meeting this evening.

SCANDIN LOW BIDDER.

May Get Sprinkling Contract for District No. 8.

Sam Scandin is the low bidder on sprinkling District No. 8.

Bids were opened by Secretary Culver of the works division this morning and Mr. Scandin submitted the lowest proposal of $108.25 a month. He will probably be awarded the contract at the council meeting this evening. The other bids were: P. W. La Panta, $110.49; D. Scandin, $110.45; Richard Kehtel, $119.50, and Joseph Bruno, $115.25.

Recently the city council canceled the contract to sprinkle this district and Commissioner Farrell was authorized to advertise for new bids.

RELEASED ON BOND.

Constantine Nyman, Indicted on Serious Charge, Pleads Not Guilty.

Constantine Nyman, jointly indicted with Emma Saarikoski for adultery, was brought in district court before Judge Dancer on a bench warrant this morning. He entered a plea of not guilty and upon furnishing $300 bond, was released.

It is claimed that Nyman and the Saarikoski woman lived together as man and wife during August, 1914. Wanne Saarikoski of Toivola, this county, is the complaining witness.

Mrs. Saarikoski appeared before Judge Dancer last week and entered a plea of not guilty to the indictment. She was also released on bail.

ADMITS ASSAULT CHARGE

Max Lutzka, indicted by the May grand jury on charge of indecent assault preferred by Lucile Robinson, a 17-year-old girl, pleaded guilty when brought before Judge Ensign in district court this morning. Lutzka pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Dancer a few days ago, but today he changed his mind and decided that he would confess the crime. The offense is punishable by a state prison or reformatory sentence of from one to seven years. Lutzka will be sentenced later.

BAUDETTE HOME GUTTED BY FIRE

Baudette, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The residence of T. J. Clauson, village clerk of this place, was gutted by a fire early Sunday morning. The maid had started a fire in the kitchen stove and gone upstairs, when she discovered the fire in the bedroom. It is supposed that the pipe was not in the chimney and sparks caught on the wall paper. The furniture is a total loss and over $500 damage was done to the building. Mr. Clauson was uptown preparing to see some land in the country. Mrs. Clauson and the others upstairs climbed out on a ladder to a one story addition of the house.

NEW FOURTH OF JULY PROGRAM WITH SOME PATRIOTIC FEATURES

Singing of "Star Spangled Banner" on Courthouse Square By Whole City Is Suggested; School Children and Third Regiment Band to Lead; Duluthians Say "Fourth" Has Degenerated.

The Fourth of July may be celebrated differently in Duluth this year than ever before if the suggestions of several Duluthians are carried out. That the spirit of patriotism may be stimulated, it is proposed that the whole city gather on the courthouse square and sing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Only Picnics and Ball Games.

It is pointed out that the Fourth of July as an occasion for inspiring patriotism is fast dying out since firecrackers, sham-battles and other noisy demonstrations lost their popularity, and that about the only thing left for the present generation is the choice between a picnic and a baseball game. There is nothing of a patriotic nature in the modern celebration. That there must be a substitute for the old-time demonstration is beginning to be urged.

Following a recommendation of a committee in Philadelphia that "The Star Spangled Banner" be sung by everybody throughout the nation at noon, July 4, Supt. R. E. Denfeld has proposed that all the school children of the city meet at their respective buildings at that time and participate in the singing. From his suggestion has sprung another suggestion, which includes the whole city of Duluth. The proposal is that everybody in the city gather at the courthouse square and sing the popular patriotic air led by the Third Regiment band and the pupils of the public schools.

Schools to Consider Plan.

Supt. Denfeld said today that the proposed program for the pupils would be brought up at the next meeting of the principals at Central high school, June 2. He said he considered the idea of the pupils' taking part an excellent one.

It is also pointed out that with the co-operation of various singing societies of Duluth and the public excellent results could be obtained for a patriotic program with the whole city taking part.

DULUTH ENJOYS ITS FIRST REAL OUTING IN A MONTH

Sun's Rays Lure Thousands From Their Homes; Parks, Streams and Woods Are Scenes of Gay Crowds; Baseball Fans Enthusiastic; Straw "Lids" Popular for First Time This Spring.

Duluth enjoyed its first real Sunday outing in nearly a month, yesterday.

Following a period of continued rain and chilly weather, the ideal weather yesterday was all the more enjoyable, and thousands of people locked their doors and took a real outing. The streets, parks, woods and streams were the scene of pleasure seekers. The desire to get a sun-bath seemed to be uppermost in most people's minds during the day, and from early in the forenoon until evening the crowds took the outlying places, and in the evening the streets were thronged until a late hour.

The parks throughout the city were crowded during the afternoon, while thousands took walks in the woods. Towards 6 o'clock, men, women and children could be seen returning home, with bouquets of bluebells, yellow cowslips, or with fishing rods and baskets.

More than 4,000 men and women enjoyed the warm sun at the ball park yesterday afternoon, the day being ideal for baseball. The crowd was an enthusiastic one, and for the first time this year straw hats were visible at the park in large numbers. Men shed their coats and enjoyed the victory over Superior in real summer style.

The thermometer went to 64 degrees during the afternoon and dropped to 42 degrees towards evening. There was a cool breeze off the lake, and H. W. Richardson, weather forecaster, said this morning that back in the woods the thermometers are reported as having registered between 75 and 80 degrees.

Today's weather is continuing fair, but Mr. Richardson predicts cooler weather and local showers for tomorrow.

MANY LODGES REPRESENTED

More Than 100 Delegates at Convention of Vasa Order.

Sessions Open at Spalding; Mayor Praises Swedish Brotherhood.

More than 100 delegates are in attendance at the annual district convention of the Vasa Order of America, which opened a three-day session yesterday at the Spalding hotel. Representatives from thirty lodges in Minnesota, Manitoba, Can., North Dakota and Wisconsin were present.

Delegates Received.

The opening session was held at the Spalding yesterday afternoon when the credentials of the delegates were received. At 5 o'clock the visitors were taken for an automobile trip along the boulevard as guests of a local delegation from Gustaf Adolphus lodge, No. 255, of Duluth. After the boulevard drive, dinner was served at Eagles' hall.

At the Spalding last evening, the delegates were welcomed to the city by Mayor Prince. Among other things, he spoke of the spirit of brotherhood which evidenced itself among the Swedish people. He also called attention to the fact that while so many of the Old World countries are at war, Sweden has carefully maintained strict neutrality.

The response to the mayor's welcome was given by Harry A. Lund, the Minneapolis attorney, supreme vice president of the order. During the course of his talk he also referred to the fact that Sweden, for centuries, one of the most warlike countries of Europe, is now among the foremost in the ranks of peaceful countries.

Amusement Program.

Following Mr. Lund's address a program of recitations and music was given. Those who recited were: Hjalmer Nelson of Minneapolis, Otto Gafvert of Duluth, Hilding Alarick of Brookston and Alfred Weston of Minneapolis. The Zenith City Four gave several quartet selections and John Hokanson of this city played several violin selections. Karl Skoag of St. Paul spoke briefly. The session ended with the delegates singing "America."

Election and Initiation.

The annual business meeting of the district organization will be held today at the Spalding, at which it is expected officers will be elected for the ensuing year and reports read and discussed. Tonight a large class of about 100 candidates will be initiated into the order.

Tomorrow evening the visiting delegates will be guests of Sophia lodge of the West end. A dancing party will be given in Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street.

Order Perpetuates Liberty.

The Vasa order is named after King Gustafus Vasa of Sweden, who liberated that country from Danish rule in 1523. The organization has for its object the work of perpetuating the Vasa ideals of liberty and independence among people of Swedish nationality and Swedish descent.

The officers of District No. 7 are: Andrew Horngren, Duluth, district master; Alfred Frediund, St. Paul, vice district master; C. W. Soderstrom, Minneapolis, secretary; J. J. Darin, Minneapolis, vice secretary; P. W. Anderson, Minneapolis, treasurer; Augusta Wohlin, Duluth, chaplain; Sigrid Henderson, Superior, master of ceremonies; Anna Ordell, St. Paul, inner watch; J. F. Edling, Ashland, outer watch, and Karl E. Skoog of St. Paul, past district master.

The Duluth delegates who are attending the sessions are Norge No. 170—Jacob Grandlund, Otto Gafvert, Andrew Horngren, George Johnson, Gust Landin, Elof N. Nelson, Peter Olson. Sophia lodge No. 209—Mrs. Nellie Anderson, Mrs. Carolina Olson, Mrs. Anna Olson, Mrs. Anna Rudin, Mrs. Wohlin. Gosta lodge No. 243, West Duluth—Axel Mattson, Axel Strom. DRIVER GETS BAD SCARE

Virginia Autoist Fears Victim Dead—Hides His Car.

Reports to Police and Finds Newspaper Report Was Exaggerated.

Frightened by an exaggerted newspaper account in a morning publication of an accident in which Charles F. Nordstrom, Two Harbors contractor, was slightly injured Saturday night, Conrad Vogelpold of Virginia, who was connected with the affair, hid his machine in a garage yesterday and stayed out of sight.

He finally mustered up courage and went to police headquarters.

"My car's number is 38,168," he told Capt. A. G. Fiskett, "and I guess I'm the man you're looking for. I didn't run over Nordstrom any three times, though. I can swear that I didn't run over him at all."

Nordstrom, after being taken to St. Luke's hospital and examined by Police Surgeon Harry Klein, was pronounced slightly bruised. He was discharged this morning.

The original report of the accident, as testified to by Nick Poce, 607 West Superior street, was that car No. 38,168 had run over Nordstrom, backed over his body, and then the driver, evidently panic-stricken, had reversed his engine again and shot away, passing over the prostrate body of the victim a third time.

When Vogelpold saw the newspaper report Sunday morning, he hid his car and went to see Patrolman William C. Monahan, a former schoolmate.

"The man's scared to death," said Officer Monahan, to authorities at headquarters, "he thinks he's killed somebody." When Vogelpold finally reported at headquarters, he was released and allowed to go to Superior for the day. He returned this morning, but will not be held in connection with the accident.

Vogelpold is a Virginia contractor and is well acquainted with the man struck by his machine.

In giving his version of the affair, he said: "I didn't know who it was, and I didn't know I had hurt him at all. I remember that I came along Superior street at Sixth avenue west to within a few feet of where he was, and stopped squarely in front of him. Then, as it seemed that he was getting out of the way, I shifted gears. He stumbled and was knocked down. Looking back, I saw him get up, and I thought he was not seriously hurt, so I went on."

"HIT BY ONE OR MORE CARS"

Coroner's Jury Unable to Decide "How Many" Autos Struck Carpenter.

In an attempt to place the responsibility for the death of Alex Carpenter, struck by an automobile on Garfield avenue late April 19, Coroner C. F. McComb, aided by Assistant County Attorney M. F. Forbes, quizzed a dozen witnesses Saturday afternoon at an inquest held in Crawford's undertaking rooms.

The coroner's jury brought in a verdict that Carpenter "was struck by one or more cars," and that death was due to injuries so sustained.

Whether two automobiles struck the victim, or whether one car was responsible for his death, could not be determined, as the evidence was contradictory.

Victim Not Drunk.

It was shown, however, that Carpenter was not intoxicated at the time of the accident. Up to this time it was generally believed by the police that Carpenter lay down in the street after being ejected from a Duluth-Superior car.

Larry McDonough of Superior, driver of a car which ran across Carpenter's feet, presumably after the first car struck him, was present at the inquest and testified. James Keefe of Superior, owner of the car, also testified.

Others called were: Andrew Sjolund, night watchman at the Duluth Lumber company's Garfield avenue plant, who was near by at the time of the accident; James Vicner, 13½ West Superior street, driver of a car which passed Carpenter just before McDonough; Abe Aronson, Mrs. E. W. Smith and Mrs. W. F. Borst, all of Superior, who were with Vicner, and Patrolman Magner.

McDonough, the principal witness, testified that his machine passed over Carpenter's feet; that he was going at about fifteen miles an hour, and that, as they turned to the left of the body in passing, they could see Carpenter to the right of the car. His companions corroborated his story.

The jury's verdict was signed by Thomas Clark, Edward Lynch, Charles Kendall, Charles Schiller, J. A. Brady and D. MacPherson.

FINNS WANT LIBERTY.

Petitions to Be Circulated for Peace Conference After War.

Ishpeming, Mich., May 24.—K. V. Mantyla, secretary of the National Finnish Brothers' Temperance association, and Jacob P. Neimi and other prominent Finns of Ishpeming are preparing to circulate a petition to be presented to the peace conference which ultimately will be convened to adjust affairs in Europe. The petition will contain an appeal on behalf of the people of Finland for the re-establishment of their status as a nation. Similar memorials will be circulated in various parts of the United States.

The Finns in America are incensed at the oppressive tactics of the Russian rulers of Finland and they hope that when peace is declared the province will be separated from the Muscovite empire. It is said that within the last two months the government has taken from the Finnish people the right to conduct their affairs in the courts in their own language. It is also forcing the Finnish children to learn the Russian language. All schoolboards are under control of Russians, as are public affairs in general.

RELIGION IS NECESSARY

Dr. Hoffman Declares Creed of Christ Is Indispensible.

Basis of Whole Social Order of Human Race's Happiness.

"Religion is most necessary for the solution of our communal problems, for good homes, better laws, juster industrial methods, and saner commercial ideals, all root themselves in holier souls," said Rev. John W. Hoffman in a sermon on "The First Christian Creed" at the First M. E. church glion is the most necessary of all.

"Our social problem is at heart a soul problem. Science, art, economics and politics, each must make its own peculiar contribution to the solution of our communal problems, but religion is the most necessary of all.

Increase in Reverence.

"The last century and the opening years of the present one have witnessed a series of brilliant efforts to accord Jesus his proper value in life. Recently there has been a marked increase in reverence and in intellectual grasp in the treatment of His person and purpose. The aim today of those who write about Him is not analysis so much as to present a clear and well-defined object for a rational faith. We have passed the age of scientific dissection and have entered the era of positive aspiration for God. Wearied with negations thoughtful men are seeking the nourishing facts of spiritual ideals.

"There is but one way in which this modern yearning for religious guidance and religious inspiration can attain its richest realization—we must crown Jesus as Lord. Personal submission to the Christ is the path to moral perfection and spiritual satisfaction. The intellectual attitude is inadequate. Clear logic and right conduct are not always cause and effect. Man is something other than imagination, memory and reason. He is conscience, will, soul.

"The artistic attitude is likewise inadequate. Christ merits the compliments of the race. The beauty of His character, the charm of His singular goodness, and the joyousness of His commanding purpose elevate Him above the sarcasm of the cynic.

Jesus the Guide.

"This moral experience of Jesus must ever be the basis, the center, the source of the creed of the Christian. Only thus will the universal and eternal principles of the Christ become a permanent guide for one's life. In no other way will the creative values of the Galilean reach their noblest service in human affairs. Habits that are bad, homes that are sad, lives that are ruined will then be reformed, cleansed and renewed. The moral impulse imported by the Christ becomes available for the broadest humanitarianism.

"We have not outgrown Christ; we never can. Sin is as cruel, as ruthless, as savage today as in the first century. We need the segregation of God now as they did in those primitive days. Mechanical and material methods are not sufficient for the moral task of the race. Character is not inherited; it is made. Spiritual power and passion cannot be conveyed by will; it is a personal appropriation. We still need Jesus.

"If we would build a fairer social order, we must ever bow before Jesus as Lord and apply His splendid principles to law and industry, commerce and life. Jesus is Lord; build this great creed into our commercial life, fashion it into our industrial world, weave it into the very warp and woof of our souls, and the whole of man's experience will participate in the glory of God."

WISDOM FROM AN UNKNOWN

Dr. Thorp of Pilgrim Church Preaches From Ecclesiastes.

Quotations Puzzle Hearers as to Authorship; Some Guess Shakespeare.

When Rev. C. N. Thorp, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church, opened his sermon Sunday morning, he read seventeen Bible quotations to the congregation and asked the members to establish the authorship of each of them.

The excerpts were all taken from the Book of Ecclesiastes, but many of his auditors credited other books of the Bible with the quotations. Still others thought some of the passages were from the writings of Shakespeare.

The subject of the morning sermon was "A Little Journey Into the Book of Ecclesiastes."

Work of an Unknown.

"This book," said Dr. Thorp, among other things, "is dotted with familiar quotations. It is the work of an unknown sage who lived under Persian misrule about the fourth century before Christ. He gave distinction and vitality to his work by putting utterances into the mouth of Solomon, much as Browning sometimes spoke through Rabbi Ben Ezra or Fra Lippo Lippi.

"He seeks to point out to his fellow exiles the life that is worth while. It was a day of remarkable religious progress for the Hebrews and the desperate conditions under which they were compelled to live made them susceptible to the current Persian belief in a future life and judgment. Out of the exile in the providence of God came not alone a religious revival but a definite belief in immortality which shines here and there throughout this book.

Ahead of His Time.

"The writer dismisses wisdom and pleasure, good in themselves, yet not embodying the highest good. In asking whether business and wealth constitute the summum bonum, he remarks that the business man faces a realm of the unexpected. Forces that he cannot control rule here. One thinks of the war; what sudden reverses it has wrought in many a prosperous business career. It takes a high order of manhood to face the trials and besetments of business life in any age.

"Our writer finds a peril in competition and urges the need of co-operation in business life, lest the business man become self-centered. He also shows the need of thought that a man of affairs keep his religious life true and genuine, fostering his belief in divine goodness and walking with God in all right ways, thus avoiding fear of judgment to come.

"Ecclesiastes finally sums up the life that is worth while as shown in the four-square man; the man of real charity and love, the man of diligent attention to his duty under all conditions, the man of unclouded good cheer and optimism, the man of deep religious faith. This is quite an altitude for one who lived some 400 years before Christ. This book must have been a favorite with our Lord."

EVIL MUST BE RECOGNIZED

Turning From Things That Cause Pain No Virtue, Says Gebauer.

Greatest Happiness in Recognizing Distress and Overcoming It.

Self-indulgence is often taken as a religious virtue according to Dr. George R. Gebauer, pastor of the First Unitarian church, in his sermon yesterday morning. He said in part:

"There is a kind of self-indulgence, which in our effeminate times would like to parade as a religious virtue. We as a people have become fearful of pain, distress and sorrow. We have cultivated a softness of heart, which cannot bear the hard things of life. Consequently we shudder and turn from what may provoke pity, because it hurts us.

Not a Noble Thing.

"But is that softness of heart really a noble thing, does it bespeak a real love, a tenderness of soul, that is ready to endure for others? I fear it does not, and it certainly is of little service in the world. No! Mere softness and flabbiness of heart is far from being a virtue. Out of this attitude toward pain and distress has grown a philosophy of life, which is becoming more and more popular. The great question with only too many is, how may I be happy? The advice comes; beware of looking at what may make you unhappy, may disturb you. It is a very simple and effective advice, if the complacency of my little self is all that concerns me. Let into your mind enter nothing that may disturb the calmness of your soul, create in you specters of fear or horror or deep grief; read only what is sweet and well pasteurized, what is full of brightness and sunshine, and avoid all shadows and all bitter things. Now this may be good counsel to give a morbid soul, a dreamer of nightmares, but not to a normal man or woman. We, too, may welcome this attitude as a welcome reaction against the sordid outlook upon life presented by some of our best writers and dramatists. Yes, we need the attitude of the sweet-thought people in the world, but be not enthralled by their philosophy.

"A life which only sees the bright things, only the sweet things, is for all that not a real life and despite its complacency, it misses the most precious truth. A life of all sunshine is as undesirable because unreal, as a life of all darkness. And while it may be sad to meet the growling pessimist, it is no less sad to see a soul which does not know any tears, that does not know the sweetness of pain and sorrow for others. While not every man or woman may be suited to be a slum worker, I believe, that we ought to live in the facts of life and not in dreams. When misery and distress and disease meet us, we must not in self-pity turn away, but face it in the love for others. In doing this, we find our deepest satisfaction, for in the shadow of trouble there is the place for truest communion of soul and where we work in love and try to alleviate evil, there our soul grows, and is filled with grace from on high.

Must Reorganize Evil.

"And too, only where there is the recognition of evil, will evil be overcome. There is so much distress in the world because there are so many self-indulgent souls who refuse to see distress. What do you think would become of a community in which each and all turned away from the very thought of sickness, disease and distress, in which each declared that all was sweet and lovely in this world? I much fear that dear and sweet dream-community would soon disappear from the face of the earth, and the actuality of evil would soon settle their philosophy.

"Yes, we want the bright outlook into life, we do not want to cultivate an attitude of apprehension and fear, we do not want to give ourselves to morbid thoughts of life but at the same time we must not flinch, but courageously and in the spirit of love and faith meet the ills of existence."

NAILED HAND TO WIN OVER MAILED FIST

Christ Spirit Will Put War Spirit to Rout, Says Pastor.

Pastor Stemple White spoke last night at the Seventh Day Adventist church, Sixth street and Tenth avenue east on the subject, "The Nailed Hand vs. The Mailed Fist." Using Prov. 16:32 as his text, in connection with other scriptural and practical illustrations, he said in part:

Example of Peter.

"Greater is he that ruleth his spirit, than he that taketh a city. Alexander the Great, clothed and helmeted in steel, and who wept for another world to conquer, was never known to weep because of his own sins, and died in the prime of life, an abject slave to drink. Before his conversion, Peter with sword in hand, was bold to rush into carnage, clipping off at a stroke of a misdirected blow the ear of Malchus. Yet he had not the courage to confess to an inquiring maid, as to his intimate association with the lowly Nazarene. After conversion, he kept all his guns of super-human dreadnaught trained on the carnality in his own heart, and as Paul declared, crucifying self daily. Later on, in answer to prayers of an obedient church, this same Peter, who was to go to a martyr's death on the morrow, was rescued by an angel from heaven at midnight, and freed from the chains and inner prison guards of mailed fist power.

Influence of the Spirit.

"There is more power in the silent, gentle, yet mighty influence of the Holy Spirit on human hearts to accomplish lasting good, than in all the combined armies and navies of earth. The divine armor affords safer defense than coats and helmets of steel. In his distress and perplexity, Jacob wrestled all night in prayer at the Jabbok ford, and on the morrow, instead of having to fight his previously angry brother, Jacob and Esau fell upon each other's necks and kissed and went. Oil calms troubled waters, and soft words turneth away wrath. It is not what we 'take up' in this world that makes us rich, but what we 'give up.' When the tomb of Charlemagne was opened some two hundred years ago, the beholders saw the remarkably preserved body seated upon a marble throne, clothed in royal robes, and in his hands a symbol of power. On his knees was a copy of the Gospels and the finger of the dead monarch pointed to the words, 'What shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul.'

Kingdom Founded on Love.

"The Kingdom of God is founded on the power of infinite love, and will be a most triumphant success, while the Kingdom of Satan in this revolted world, is presumptiously reared on the selfish lust of the love of power, and will be a most signal and dismal failure. At the second personal advent of Jesus Christ, who will be accompanied by all the holy angels in power and great glory, all the mailed fists of earth's wicked nations, having boldly filled up their cup of willful transgression of the law of God, will meet their Waterloo on the fields of Armageddon, before the omnipotent power of the 'nailed hands' of the Messiah, the secret of whose eternal power of infinite love and exact justice, lay in the ever-enduring scars of the Calvary experience.

No Good From War.

"Over in European battlefields, the big military war-dogs are tearing at each other's throats, and although they are most unmercifully punishing each other, yet nothing has really been accomplished to the lasting benefit of a single soul. Moral and eternal good comes only through Jesus Christ. When Satan and all other advocates of mailed fist shall go down to utter and ignominious defeat, the triumphant Nazarene Shepherd will continue to lead the redeemed flock of earth beside still waters and in ever green pastures of the eternal world kingdom of the Prince of Peace. 'Up Eros! Down Mars.'"

This is Mr. White's last Sunday night sermon for several weeks, on account of the Anoka state conference.

ACTIVE WEEK FOR PASTOR.

Stemple White Will Address Academy and Attend Conference.

Pastor Stemple White left for Minneapolis this morning on his way to Maple Plaine, where he has been called to deliver the annual commencement address of the Seventh Day Adventist State academy at the Maplewood academy tonight. He was accompanied by John Moir of Duluth, who is a member of the Maplewood alumni. Pastor White will also be at Blackberry, Minn., on Wednesday, where he will officiate at a wedding. He expects to spend Wednesday night in Duluth, after which he will go to Anoka, Minn., to attend the fifty-third annual conference and camp meeting of the Minnesota conference of Seventh Day Adventists.

NUMBER KILLED 158.

Collision With Troop Train Establishes New Record in England.

London, May 24.—An announcement was made last night that 158 persons were killed or are missing as a result of the triple collision which occurred Saturday morning on the Caledonian railway of Carlisle. All except six of the killed were soldiers belonging to the Royal Scots regiment, 600 of whom were traveling in a troop train. At least 200 persons, mostly soldiers, were injured.

These figures establish a new record for railway accidents in the British isles, the number of dead and injured being far greater than in any previous disaster of the kind. The death roll probably will be added to, as many of the injured are not expected to recover.

Added to the horror of the three trains coming into collision, was a fire, which broke out in the wreckage and which rendered the rescue of those held in the tangled mass impossible. Tons of water were poured on the wreck, but before the fire was subdued, many of the injured were burned to death.

ITALY CONFISCATES ALL ENEMY SHIPS

London, May 24.—The Exchange agency Rome correspondent says of the Italian decree confiscating all Austro-German ships in Italian ports that these vessels now in Italian waters are of enormous value.

The correspondent adds that King Victor Emmanuel has signed a patriotic appeal to the people, extolling the glories of his ancestors and explaining the necessity of liberating their brethren who are "groaning under a yoke of Austrian slavery."

WELL-TO-DO GERMANS LIVING IN NORWAY

Christiania, May 24.—The explanation that the German authorities have urged rich and well-to-do German citizens to take up a residence temporarily in a neutral country, so as to make conditons less hard pressed for those who remain in Germany, has been advanced here in connection with the fact that a large number of Germans have come to Norway to live for the time being. There are also increased numbers of Germans going to the other Scandinavian countries.

NORWEGIAN NAVY IS ENRICHED BY MINES

Christiania, May 24.—The Norwegian navy has been enriched to the extent of about $120,000 by 600 German and English mines which have been picked up off the coast. Each mine is valued at $200. The Norwegian navy, however, is not to make use of them as mines. The explosive contents are being carefully removed and used for other naval purposes.

Tragedy in Michigan Town.

Richmond, Mich., May 24.—Just three months after Mr. and Mrs. Herman Erdman were married the bride and her 8-year-old daughter were found choked to death in their home yesterday. Erdman, who is accused of the crime, slashed his throat with a butcher knife. He has a chance of recovery. The couple had quarreled recently. Mrs. Erdman had been married three times.

RELIGION IS NECESSARY

Dr. Hoffman Declares Creed of Christ Is Indispensible.

Basis of Whole Social Order of Human Race's Happiness.

"Religion is most necessary for the solution of our communal problems, for good homes, better laws, juster industrial methods, and saner commercial ideals, all root themselves in holier souls," said Rev. John W. Hoffman in a sermon on "The First Christian Creed" at the First M. E. church gion is the most necessary of all.

"Our social problem is at heart a soul problem. Science, art, economics and politics, each must make its own peculiar contribution to the solution of our communal problems, but religion is the most necessary of all.

Increase in Reverence.

"The last century and the opening years of the present one have witnessed a series of brilliant efforts to accord Jesus his proper value in life. Recently there has been a marked increase in reverence and in intellectual grasp in the treatment of His person and purpose. The aim today of those who write about Him is not analysis so much as to present a clear and well-defined object for a rational faith. We have passed the age of scientific dissection and have entered the era of positive aspiration for God. Wearied with negations thoughtful men are seeking the nourishing facts of spiritual ideals.

"There is but one way in which this modern yearning for religious guidance and religious inspiration can attain its richest realization—we must crown Jesus as Lord. Personal submission to the Christ is the path to moral perfection and spiritual satisfaction. The intellectual attitude is inadequate. Clear logic and right conduct are not always cause and effect. Man is something other than imagination, memory and reason. He is conscience, will, soul.

"The earthsite attitude is likewise inadequate. Christ merits the compliments of the race. The beauty of His character, the charm of His singular goodness, and the joyousness of His commanding purpose elevate Him above the sarcasm of the cynic.

Jesus the Guide.

"This moral experience of Jesus must ever be the basis, the center, the source of the creed of the Christian. Only thus will the universal and eternal principles of the Christ become a permanent guide for one's life. In no other way will the creative values of the Galilean reach their noblest service in human affairs. Habits that are bad, homes that are sad, lives that are ruined will then be reformed, cleansed and renewed. The moral impulse imported by the Christ becomes available for the broadest humanitarianism.

"We have not outgrown Christ; we never can. Sin is as cruel, as ruthless, as savage today as in the first century. We need the segregation of God now as they did in those primitive days. Mechanical and material methods are not sufficient for the moral task of the race. Character is not inherited; it is made. Spiritual power and passion cannot be conveyed by will, it is a personal appropriation. We still need Jesus.

"If we would build a fairer social order, we must ever bow before Jesus as Lord and apply His splendid principles to law and industry, commerce and life. Jesus is Lord; build this great creed into our commercial life, fashion it into our industrial world, weave it into the very warp and woof of our souls, and the whole of man's experience will participate in the glory of God."

WISDOM FROM AN UNKNOWN

Dr. Thorp of Pilgrim Church Preaches From Ecclesiastes.

Quotations Puzzle Hearers as to Authorship; Some Guess Shakespeare.

When Rev. C. N. Thorp, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational church, opened his sermon Sunday morning, he read seventeen Bible quotations to the congregation and asked the members to establish the authorship of each of them.

The excerpts were all taken from the Book of Ecclesiastes, but many of his auditors credited other books of the Bible with the quotations. Still others thought some of the passages were from the writings of Shakespeare.

The subject of the morning sermon was "A Little Journey Into the Book of Ecclesiastes."

Work of an Unknown.

"This book," said Dr. Thorp, among other things, "is dotted with familiar quotations. It is the work of an unknown sage who lived under Persian misrule about the fourth century before Christ. He gave distinction and vitality to his work by putting utterances into the mouth of Solomon, much as Browning sometimes spoke through Rabbi Ben Ezra or Fra Lippo Lippi.

"He seeks to point out to his fellow exiles the life that is worth while. It was a day of remarkable religious progress for the Hebrews and the oppressive conditions under which they were compelled to live made them susceptible to the current Persian belief in a future life and judgment. Out of the exile in the providence of God came not alone a religious revival but a definite belief in immortality which shines here and there throughout this book.

Ahead of His Time.

"The writer dismisses wisdom and pleasure, good in themselves, yet not embodying the highest good. In asking why the business and wealth constitute the summum bonum, he remarks that the business man faces a realm of the unexpected. Forces that he cannot control rule here. One thinks of the war; what sudden reverses it has wrought in many a prosperous business career. It takes a high order of manhood to face the trials and heartbreaks of business life in any age.

"Our writer finds a peril in competition and urges the need of co-operation in business life, lest the business man become self-centered. He also shows the need of thought that a man of affairs keep his religious life true and genuine, fostering his belief in divine goodness and walking with God in all right ways, thus avoiding fear of judgment to come.

"Ecclesiastes finally sums up the life that is worth while as shown in the four-square man; the man of real charity and love, the man of diligent attention to his duty under all conditions, the man of unclouded good cheer and optimism, the man of deep religious faith. This is quite an altitude for one who lived some 400 years before Christ. This book must have been a favorite with our Lord."

EVIL MUST BE RECOGNIZED

Turning From Things That Cause Pain No Virtue, Says Gebauer.

Greatest Happiness in Recognizing Distress and Overcoming It.

Self-indulgence is often taken as a religious virtue according to Dr. George R. Gebauer, pastor of the First Unitarian church, in his sermon yesterday morning. He said in part:

"There is a kind of self-indulgence, which in our effeminate times would like to parade as a religious virtue. We as a people have become fearful of pain, distress and sorrow. We have cultivated a softness of heart, which cannot bear the hard things of life. Consequently we shudder and turn from what may provoke pity, because it hurts us.

Not a Noble Thing.

"But is that softness of heart really a noble thing, does it bespeak a real love, a tenderness of soul, that is ready to endure for others? I fear it does not, and it certainly is of little service in the world. No! Mere softness and flabbiness of heart is far from being a virtue. Out of this attitude toward pain and distress has grown a philosophy of life, which is becoming more and more popular. The great question with only too many is, how may I be happy? The advice comes: beware of looking at what may make you unhappy, may disturb you. It is a very simple and effective advice, if a complacency of my little self is all that concerns me. Let into your mind enter nothing that may disturb the calmness of your soul, create in you specters of fear or horror or deep grief; read only what is sweet and well pasteurized, what is full of brightness and sunshine, and avoid all shadows and all bitter things. Now this may be good counsel to give a morbid soul, a dreamer of nightmares, but not to a normal man or woman. We, too, may welcome this attitude as a welcome reaction against the sordid outlook upon life presented by some of our best writers and dramatists. Yes, we need the attitude of the sweet, though people in the world, but be not enthralled by their philosophy.

"A life which only sees the bright things, only the sweet things, is for all that not a real life and despite its complacency, it misses the most precious truth. A life of all sunshine is as undesirable because unreal, as a life of all darkness. And while it may be sad to meet the growling pessimist, it is no less sad to see a soul which does not know any tears, that does not know the sweetness of pain and sorrow for others. While not every man or woman may be suited to be a slum worker, I believe, that we ought to live in the facts of life and not in dreams. When misery and distress and disease meet us, we must not in self-pity turn away, but face it in the love for others. In doing this, we find our deepest satisfaction, for in the shadow of trouble there is the place for truest communion of soul and where we work in love and try to alleviate evil, there our soul grows, and is filled with grace from on high.

Must Reorganize Evil.

"And too, only where there is the recognition of evil, will evil be overcome. There is so much distress in the world because there are so many self-indulgent souls who refuse to see distress. What do you think would become of a community in which each and all turned away from the very thought of sickness, disease and distress, in which each declared that all was sweet and lovely in this world? I much fear that dear and sweet dream-community would soon disappear from the face of the earth, and the actuality of evil would soon settle their philosophy.

"Yes, we want the bright outlook into life, we do not want to cultivate an attitude of apprehension and fear, we do not want to give ourselves to morbid thoughts of life; but at the same time we must not flinch, but courageously and in the spirit of love and faith meet the ills of existence."

NAILED HAND TO WIN OVER MAILED FIST

Christ Spirit Will Put War Spirit to Rout, Says Pastor.

Pastor Stemple White spoke last night at the Seventh Day Adventist church, Sixth street and Tenth avenue east on the subject, "The Nailed Hand vs. The Mailed Fist." Using Prov. 16:32 as his text, in connection with other scriptural and practical illustrations, he said in part:

Example of Peter.

"Greater is he that ruleth his spirit, than he that taketh a city. Alexander the Great, clothed and helmeted in steel, and who wept for another world to conquer, was never known to weep because of his own sins, and died in the prime of life, an abject slave to drink. Before his conversion, Peter with sword in hand, was bold to rush into carnage, clipping off at a stroke of a misdirected blow the ear of Malchus. Yet he had not the courage to confess to an inquiring maid, as to his intimate association with the lowly Nazarene. After conversion, he kept all his guns of super-human dreadnaught trained on the carnality in his own heart, and as Paul declared, crucifying self daily. Later on, in answer to prayer of an obedient church, this same Peter, who was to go to a martyr's death on the morrow, was rescued by an angel from heaven at midnight, and freed from the chains and inner prison guards of mailed fist power.

Influence of the Spirit.

"There is more power in the silent, gentle, yet mighty influence of the Holy Spirit on human hearts to accomplish lasting good, than in all the combined armies and navies of earth. The divine armor affords safer defense than coats and helmets of steel. In his distress and perplexity, Jacob wrestled all night in prayer at the Jabbok ford, and on the morrow, instead of having to fight his previously angry brother, Jacob and Esau fell upon each other's necks and kissed and wept. Oil calms troubled waters, and soft words turneth away wrath. It is not what we 'take up' in this world that makes us rich, but what we 'give up.' When the tomb of Charlemagne was opened some two hundred years ago, the beholders saw the remarkably preserved body seated upon a marble throne, clothed in royal robes, and in his hands a symbol of power. On his knees was a copy of the Gospels and the finger of the dead monarch pointed to the words, 'What shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul.'

Kingdom Founded on Love.

"The Kingdom of God is founded on the power of infinite love, and will be a most triumphant success, while the Kingdom of Satan in this revolted world, is presumptiously reared on the selfish lust of the love of power, and will be a most signal and dismal failure. At the second personal advent of Jesus Christ, who will be accompanied by all the holy angels in power and great glory, all the mailed fists of earth's wicked nations, having boldly filled up their cup of wilful transgression of the law of God, will meet their Waterloo on the fields of Armageddon, before the omnipotent power of the 'nailed hands' of the Messiah, the secret of whose eternal power of infinite love and exact justice, lay in the ever-enduring scars of the Calvary experience.

No Good From War.

"Over in European battlefields, the big military war-dogs are tearing at each other's throats, and although they are most unmercifully punishing each other, yet nothing has really been accomplished to the lasting benefit of a single soul. Moral and eternal good comes only through Jesus Christ. When Satan and all other advocates of mailed fist shall go down to utter and ignominious defeat, the triumphant Nazarene Shepherd will continue to lead the redeemed flock of earth beside still waters and in ever green pastures of the eternal world kingdom of the Prince of Peace. 'Up Frost Down Mars.'"

This is Mr. White's last Sunday night sermon for several weeks, on account of the Anoka state conference.

ACTIVE WEEK FOR PASTOR.

Stemple White Will Address Academy and Attend Conference.

Pastor Stemple White left for Minneapolis this morning on his way to Maple Plaine, where he has been called to deliver the annual commencement address of the Seventh Day Adventist State academy at the Maplewood academy tonight. He was accompanied by John Moir of Duluth, who is a member of the Maplewood alumni. Pastor White will also be at Blackberry, Minn., on Wednesday, where he will officiate at a wedding. He expects to spend Wednesday night in Duluth, after which he will go to Anoka, Minn., to attend the fifty-third annual conference and camp meeting of the Minnesota conference of Seventh Day Adventists.

NUMBER KILLED 158.

Collision With Troop Train Establishes New Record in England.

London, May 24.—An announcement was made last night that 158 persons were killed or are missing as a result of the triple collision which occurred Saturday morning on the Caledonian railway of Carlisle. All except six of the killed were soldiers belonging to the Royal Scots regiment, 600 of whom were traveling in a troop train. At least 200 persons, mostly soldiers, were injured.

These figures establish a new record for railway accidents in the British Isles, the number of dead and injured being far greater than in any previous disaster of the kind. The death roll probably will be added to, as many of the injured are not expected to recover.

Added to the horror of the three trains coming into collision, was a fire, which broke out in the wreckage and which rendered the rescue of those held in the tangled mass impossible. Tons of water were poured on the wreck, but before the fire was subdued, many of the injured were burned to death.

ITALY CONFISCATES ALL ENEMY SHIPS

London, May 24.—The Exchange agency Rome correspondent says of the Italian decree confiscating all Austro-German ships in Italian ports that these vessels now in Italian waters are of enormous value.

The correspondent adds that King Victor Emmanuel has signed a patriotic appeal to the people, extolling the glories of his ancestors and explaining the necessity of liberating their brethren who are "groaning under a yoke of Austrian slavery."

WELL-TO-DO GERMANS LIVING IN NORWAY

Christiania, May 24.—The explanation that the German authorities have urged rich and well-to-do German citizens to take up a residence temporarily in a neutral country, so as to make conditons less hard pressed for those who remain in Germany, has been advanced here in connection with the fact that a large number of Germans have come to Norway to live for the time being. There are also increased numbers of Germans going to the other Scandinavian countries.

NORWEGIAN NAVY IS ENRICHED BY MINES

Christiania, May 24.—The Norwegian navy has been enriched to the extent of about $120,000 by 600 German and English mines which have been picked up off this coast. Each mine is valued at $200. The Norwegian navy, however, is not to make use of them as mines. The explosive contents are being carefully removed and used for other naval purposes.

Tragedy in Michigan Town.

Richmond, Mich., May 24.—Just three months after Mr. and Mrs. Herman Erdman were married the bride and her 8-year-old daughter were found choked to death in their home yesterday. Erdman, who is accused of the crime, slashed his throat with a butcher knife. He has a chance of recovery. The couple had quarreled recently. Mrs. Erdman had been married three times.

TURNS DOWN "BONES" FOR "KEYS" AT YALE

Son of President of Minnesota University Chooses Father's Society.

John Henry Vincent of Minneapolis, son of President Vincent of the state university, created a big surprise at the annual "tap day" at Yale last Friday, by turning down "Bones" for "Keys." Lawrence G. Tight of St. Paul was the only other student from Minnesota tapped during the day.

On "tap day" members of Skull and Bones, Keys, and Wolf's Head pick out the most popular juniors in the university for membership during their senior year. Selection to these socities is a highly esteemed honor among the student body.

Young Vincent was first tapped by a Bones man, but he turned them down for selection to Keys. His father is a Yale graduate and one of the popular Keys men. Dan Collier Elkin of Lancaster, Ky., manager of the Yale crew, also turned down Bones for Keys. Morris Hadley, son of President Hadley of Yale was tapped for Bones.

Skull and Bones—Herman V. Von Holt, Honolulu; Gilbert E. Poster III., Elmhurst, Ill.; Arthur E. Darling, Wichita, Kan.; Donald O. Stewart, Columbus, Ohio; Lawrence G. Tight, St. Paul, Minn.

Scroll and Keys—Henry J. Crocker, Jr., San Francisco; Foster M. Hamptton, Fordyce, Ark.; Otis L. Gurnsey, Des Moines, Ia.; John H. Vincent, Minneapolis Minn.; Dan C. Elkin, Lancaster, Ky.; David O. Hamiltton, Grosse Point, Mich.; Wayne Chatfield-Taylor, Chicago, Ill.

MANY PLAN TO ENTER COLLEGE

Nearly Fifty Per Cent of Central Grads Will Continue Studies.

Of the 220 students who will graduate from Central high school this year, 103 are planning to attend colleges and universities beginning next fall. Principal Leonard Young, who has just issued a report showing the inclinations of the students, stated that this is a large percentage to be entering college.

To be an engineer, electrical, mechanical or civil, is the ambition of the largest number of boys, sixteen expressing a desire to continue their work along those lines. Agriculture comes next in the list, with eleven prospective farmers in the class.

Less interest is shown in legal courses, only nine boys expressing a desire to become lawyers. Eleven have not decided upon their work after finishing school, as that many have specified for an academic course in college.

The preference of other students in the class, showing the number to enroll in the various courses, are: Dentistry, 2; technical, 3; architectural, 3; kindergarten work, 2; music, 4; business, 6; medicine, 2; Latin, 1; science, 1; library work, 1; German, 1.

Many of the girls have not decided on the courses they will take later, but there will be few housewives, according to Principal Young's statistics. Five girls specified that they wanted to take domestic science courses. Teaching is the most popular course among the girls, eleven of them voting for pedagogy.

U. S. BATTLESHIP LOSES A PROPELLER BLADE

Newport, R. I., May 24.—The battleship New Hampshire, one of the fleet of defenders in the war game, came into port under reduced speed yesterday, having had an accident, which will keep her out of the remainder of the maneuvers. Divers ascertained that she had lost one of the blades of her port propeller.

The submarine K-6 which was reported aground on No Man's Land, off Gay Head, apparently was floated without any asistance as she and the tender Fulton had disappeared at daybreak yesterday.

DULUTHIAN'S NEPHEW LOSES LEG AS RESULT OF BATTLE

BATTLE SCARRED YOUNG MEN CONVALESCING IN BERLIN.

Carl Gnifke of 414 East Sixth street has received a picture postal, of which the accompanying cut is a reproduction, from his nephew, Karl Kollmann, one of the soldiers shown in the above, who is convalescing in Berlin. Kollmann is the soldier to the left of the picture, leaning on a cane.

The young man lost his right leg as the result of a battle on Sept. 8, at which time he was wounded during fierce fighting. He lay, unattended on the ground until Sept. 11, at which time he was found by the French and taken to a hospital as a prisoner. His wound was not attended to until Sept. 14, and it was then found necessary to amputate the leg. Kollmann says, in a letter to his uncle, that had he been attended to sooner, the leg might have been saved. Recently Kollmann and his two comrades seen in the picture, together with others, were exchanged and are now in Berlin.

"BEYOND THE POINT OF ROCKS"

NEED REAL REFORMERS

Rev. Milton Fish Denounces Those Actuated By Selfish Motives.

Declares True Sons of God's Thunder Will Inspire Men.

"A Son of Thunder" was the subject of a sermon last night by Rev. Milton Fish, pastor of the Central Baptist church, in which he scored would-be reformers whose work is actuated by selfishness and personal grievances. Dr. Fish declared that there are too many reformers who care but little for the redemption of the world but are looking for self-aggrandizement.

The pastor spoke of John, the disciple, who, he said, was the first proud denouncer, who took this method at the start but was rebuked by Christ and afterwards became a true "son of thunder," and afterwards referred to himself as the unnamed disciple. Said Dr. Fish:

Some Too Placid.

"Some placid men are satisfied merely to receive moral protection and security; they care but little for the redemption of the world. Others are eager to cleanse the earth of wrong and are ready to lead or to follow in a moral crusade. Such crusades have multiplied during the last quarter of a century. Reform movements and societies flourish in the very months of the collapse of our boasted civilization. What is wrong? Why this bankruptcy of moral efficiency? In spite of moral pride and a show of great activity, useless and inane is the sense of justice in the unregenerate.

Moral Zeal for Naught.

"Today much moral zeal is spent for naught. Men are exhausting themselves in denunciations, recriminations, and strifes concerning good causes. Moral uplift societies are leavened by the personal grievances and selfishness of unconverted men. Such forget that this is an age of forgiveness and of grace. By force and thirst for vengeance they would bring in justice. They use the name of Christ to legitimatize their unsanctified efforts.

"Such would-be reformers must be born again. They are headed toward a Christless eternity. To receive Jesus and to accept of His rebuke of their prided wisdom and zealous works is humiliating indeed. They will then, although bowed down in shame, see that all work not wrought from love for Jesus Christ is out of harmony with God and distasteful to Him.

Need "Sons of Thunder."

"We need 'sons of thunder' rather than fierce vindictive workers in the energy of the flesh.

"A true 'son of God's thunder' will warn men of the coming day of judgment foreshadowed by this awful war. That day of judgment is in God's hands, not man's. A true 'son of thunder' will inspire men to fear God and to return from this irreverent age into the mystery of His presence. A true 'son of thunder' will declare that now is a day for human forebearance and for the exercise of divine mercy."

CHRISTIANS IN THE WAR.

Clergyman From Sweden Addresses Several Congregations.

"The Christians in the War" will be the subject of a free lecture to be given this evening at the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, by Rev. John Walberg of Sweden, who is visiting in the city. The visiting clergyman gave addresses yesterday at the three Swedish Baptist churches of Duluth, speaking at West Duluth in the forenoon, the Bethel church at 3 o'clock and at the First Swedish Baptist last evening.

In his address last night Mr. Walberg referrred to the condition of Sweden on account of the war. He said that the situation is severely strained and that the officials in authority are meeting with the greatest problem in the history of the country in keeping out of the war and maintaining neutrality.

Mr. Walberg is a guest of Rev. Swaney Nelson, 2212 West Third street. He will leave tomorrow for the Pacific coast, where he is scheduled to give several addresses in Swedish churches.

How American Women May Keep Faces Young

"The American smart woman ages early, far earlier than the English woman," says Christian Miller, F. C. I., the famous English health expert. She adds that our climate "so exhilarates that you over-exert yourselves and grow old before you know it. That same exhilarating air dries the skin. The skin that lacks moisture grows pale and withered looking and soon forms wrinkles.

"The American complexion" is best treated by applying pure mercolized wax, which causes the faded, lifeless cuticle to fake off in minute particles, a little each day, until the fresh, young skin beneath is wholly in evidence. Every druggist has this wax; one ounce is sufficient. Spread on at night like cold cream, washing it off next morning.

For wrinkles, dissolve an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel; bathe the face in this. Immediately every wrinkle is affected, even the deeper lines. Both treatments are remarkable facial rejuvenators. —Advertisement.

WEST END BUILDERS

CHARLES MORK.

If you want to get Charles Mork interested in some subject you want to start the conversation by telling a good fish story. Fishing is the recreation that Mr. Mork likes better than any other. He probably knows of more good "holes" where the trout are to be found than any other man in the West end.

Mr. Mork is one of the West end's consistent boosters. He has been in business in the district for nearly fifteen years and during that time has also served the West end in the city council under the old charter.

Mr. Mork has taken a lively interest in the upbuilding of the community and recently showed his faith in the West end by erecting a new home for his store at a cost of $10,000.

COMMEMORATE LATE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY

Britons Throughout World Celebrate Victoria's Birth Anniversary.

The ninety-sixth anniversary of the birth of Queen Victoria is being commemorated today throughout the world.

Britons in every land are today paying silent tribute to their most beloved queen, who was born in Kensington palace on May 24, 1819, and who died on the Isle of Wight on Jan. 22, 1901. Flags in England and Canada are today at half-mast, while special services are being conducted in the churches. Because of the European war, no formal observance of the day is scheduled either in England or Canada.

Queen Victoria was the only child of the Duke of Kent, the fourth son of King George III. Upon the death of King William IV on June 20, 1837, Victoria became queen of England, ruling over that nation continuously for sixty-four years. She married Prince Albert on Feb. 10, 1840, four sons and five daughters having been born to them. King George V, the present ruler of England, is a grandson of the former queen.

MARS CHUCKLES AT BENSON CHRISTENING

Free-for-All Fight Ensues; Officers Interfere and Arrest Party.

MARS, the god of war, presided at the christening of John Benson, Jr., Sunday noon, and when John, Jr., grows up, he may go to war, or at least be an officer in the army. His father, mother and five guests were arrested following a free-for-all fight, which was the main feature of John, Jr.'s, christening party, held at 700 Garfield avenue.

Sergeant Hunter and Officer Sundberg, attracted by sounds of revelry, visited the Benson home about noon and found a merry scrap in progress, with Mrs. Benson screaming and the baby looking on in approval.

When they tried to arrest John Benson, Sr., the obvious center of hostilities, Mrs. Benson made a flying tackle at the sergeant, and then scrambled to her feet and fled over a nearby fence. She was captured and brought to the station, together with Mike Blif, John Provinin, John Polutka, Jimmie Serda, John Berg, and her husband.

She later was released so that she could care for John, Jr.

In municipal court this morning John, Sr., forfeited $15 bail, while the rest were sentenced to pay a $5 fine or serve five days at the work farm.

MINNESOTA CHICKEN HAS "BLUE MONDAY"

With Record of 'Steen Offenses, He Goes to Work Farm.

Would it be a blue Monday if you had to face a municipal court judge and knew that he had your record on a typewritten sheet in something after this fashion:

Aug. 15, 1901, aiding prisoners to escape.
June 12, 1903, drunkenness.
July 15, 1904, assault.
Sept. 2, 1904, warrant to keep peace.
Nov. 29, 1904, second degree assault.
Jan. 23, 1909, drunkenness.
Aug. 30, 1910, drunkenness.
May 14, 1911, drunkenness.
May 24, 1911, assault.
June 15, 1912, vagrancy.
Oct. 15, 1912, non-support.
May 2, 1912, larceny suspect.
Nov. 29, 1913, disorderly conduct.
Dec. 20, 1913, drunk and disorderly.
Nov. 4, 1914, drunk and disorderly.
April 23, 1915, drunkenness.
Eugene C. Hanna, age 41, the "Minnesota chicken," did this this morning, and he thought it was "blue" Monday. He also knew that the judge knew that the gap between 1904 and 1909 was partially due to the fact that he spent some time as the state's guest at Stillwater.

He went to the work farm for another sixty days.

WEST DULUTH BUILDERS

Probably the busiest man in West Duluth this summer is County Commissioner Charles Kauppi. At the present time he is busy making arrangements to spend $57,000 on a total of fifty-one roads many of which are adjacent to the city and others which will connect populous country districts with roads leading to Duluth.

The largest single item of this expenditure is that planned for an outlet from the Meadowlands district to connect with the old Swan Lake road at Alborn, which will give the community a direct highway to Duluth. A road six miles long is being built at a cost of about $10,000. This will give from 250 to 300 settlers an opportunity of driving to Duluth over a county road.

A connection is also being made for the settlers near Brookston and Culver with the State Rural Route No. 4

CHARLES KAUPPI.

This roadway will benefit nearly 200 settlers who previously have had no outlet to get to the city.

"We intend to bend every effort to give St. Louis county at least one good highway between Duluth and the ranges," said Commissioner Kauppi this morning. "The work that is now being carried on on the Miller Trunk road will not be completed this year, but it will be finished in 1916. Then the county will have a road that it can well be proud of."

Among the roads near the city that will be improved this year under the direction of Commissioner Kauppi and the appropriations for each will be the following: State Road No. 2, known as the Old Thompson road, $5,000; the northern branch of the Old Thompson road, $1,200; Martz road, Proctor, $400; Martz road to the county sanitarium, $600; Midway and Short Line Park road, $1,300; St. Louis River road, $700; Proctor road to Adolph, $1,000; Hermantown road, $2,000; an additional $600 will be spent on this road for the purchase of rock and its crushing; Morris Thomas road, $800; Maple Grove road from city limits to Five Corners, $3,000; Hermantown extension from Five Corners to Pike Lake, $2,000; Sevelle road, $2,500; Grand Lake, $900; La Vague extension at Proctor, $700; Getchell road, $1,200; Industrial, $1,800; Cloquet River road, $800; Swan Lake near Alborn, $2,000; Fish Lake, $1,000; Ugstad road in Hermantown, $600; Solway, $700; Caribou, $400; Munger, $1,000; Schultz, $400, and La Vaque, $2,800. The latter item may be used instead on the Martin road to the state farm. It is expected that an agreement between the settlers in that district may be reached whereby this change may be effectd.

"We believe we are getting a dollar's worth of work for every dollar expended," said the commissioner. "The settlers are noting the difference and realizing that the roads now being built are being made with the idea of giving them an outlet to the markets. The lack of such an outlet has been a great handicap for them in the past."

Mr. Kauppi has been active in road building in the county for many years. He was elected commissioner two years ago in the Fifth district. For a period of eight years prior to 1908 he also served as the district's commissioner. He is considered one of the best authorities on good roads in the county.

Mr. Kauppi came to West Duluth more than a quarter of a century ago and started in the grocery business. He recently sold out his interest in this business and since then has been devoting his entire time to his duties as county commissioner.

WANTS AUTO OWNER TO PAY FOR HORSE

D. H. Lewis, cashier of the Ceneral State bank at Gary, is defendant in a lawsuit which was brought to trial this morning in Judge Dancer's division of the district court. The action is one in which Frank Carlson is suing to recover $420 for the loss of a horse.

On Oct. 6, 1914, it is claimed, Mr. Lewis was driving his automobile along Commonwealth avenue. When he approached a portion of the street in which there was a five foot trench he slowed down.

A team of horses belonging to Carlson and engaged in the work of hauling pipes to the trenches became frightened when the automobile suddenly started. When the machine brushed by them, one fell into the ditch. The animal died from its injuries a few weeks later.

Mr. Lewis is charged with negligence. He denies that he was negligent and charges the driver of the team with responsibility for the accident.

DECORATION DAY AT PAROCHIAL SCHOOL

Special Decoration services will be held by the St. James parochial school on Fifty-seventh avenue west Friday afternoon. The program will include addresses by veterans of the Civil and Spanish-American war. Rev. D. W. Lynch, pastor of the St. James Catholic church will also speak.

Preparations are also being made for the commencement exercises to be held at the school on June 14. Every room in the building will participate in these exercises. A feature of the program will be a play to be given by members of the graduating class.

MILK AND CHICKENS TAKEN BY SNEAK THIEVES

Petty thefts in West Duluth has been puzzling the police during the week-end. The officers are of the opinion that men out of work have raided the two places reported entered Saturday.

Mrs. Olson, 618 North Forty-second avenue west, reported that some one had entered her milk house and stolen three gallons of milk as well as two dozen fresh eggs. A policeman who investigated was unable to find any trace of the parties.

UNITED STATES IS FORMALLY NOTIFIED

Washington, May 24.—Count Di Celtere, the Italian ambassador, formally notified the state department today on behalf of his government of a state of war between Italy and Austria. President Wilson will issue another neutral proclamation later.

The ambassador expects to receive soon a full statement of the reasons for Italy's entrance into the war and preliminary instructions with reference to contraband. He expressed the confidence that there would be no difficulties between the United States and Italy over commercial questions.

Interest here in the possible development of the situation in the Balkans is increasing. There is confidence in Italian quarters that if Roumania, as has been the understanding for some time, follows Italy's lead, she need not fear an attack by Bulgaria. Details of the possible alignment of the Balkan states are lacking, because it is understood negotiations are constantly in progress at Bucharest, Sofia and Athens relative to the attitude of Roumania, Bulgaria and Greece, and the situation, consequently, is likely to change from day to day.

CONNECTIONS WITH SHERIFF

Coal Company Worked With County Official, Says Bowers.

Were in Saloon Business Together at One Time.

Washington, May 24.—The Federal Industrial Relations commission resumed today its investigation into conditions in the Colorado coal fields. L. M. Bowers, former vice president of the Colorado Fuel & Iron company, and now a member of the personal staff of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was the first witness to testify today.

The commission concluded its examination of Rockefeller Saturday. Other members of Mr. Rockefeller's personal staff are here waiting to take the witness stand.

Bowers testified he was not now connected with the Colorado Fuel & Iron company and had nothing to do with the conduct of that strike in any way, directly or indirectly. Although he was treasurer of the company and chairman of the executive board he knew nothing of expenditures for arms, ammunition or mine guards.

Quotes Letter.

Chairman Walsh quoted a letter from Bowers to Rockefeller announcing a determination to continue the fight against the strikers "until our bones are bleached white as chalk in these rocky mountains." Bowers said he considered the strike a contest for "individual industrial independence."

Walsh read another letter to Mr. Rockefeller praising the latter's testimony before the house committee investigating the Colorado situation.

"I believe the position you so ruggedly maintained will do more for the cause of the millions of laboring men than all the efforts of social reformers in as many years," he wrote. "It will set thousands of faltering employes to thinking. Now for an aggressive warfare to 1916 and beyond for the open shop."

"Taffy" to Governor.

Walsh spoke of a letter in which Bowers wrote of giving "taffy" to Governor Ammons.

"Did your mother ever spank you and then give you a piece of candy or a cookie?" returned the witness. The commission and spectators joined in laughter as Mr. Walsh answered: "She certainly did." "Well that is just what I meant."

"Then your political policy as a representative of the Rockefeller interests," said the chairman, "is that when a public official does not do what you want him to do, you spank him and when he does what you think right, you give him a piece of candy?"

"That is right."

The "whipping into line" of Governor Ammons, Bowers said, "consisted of bringing every possible influence to get him to bring out the militia to protect life and property."

Bowers agreed with Chairman Walsh that Sheriff Jeff Farr of Huerfano county was "the king of the county." He said he objected to Farr's political and business tactics but that the coal company had been for years connected with Farr and his organization.

Officers Did It.

"The Colorado Fuel & Iron company," he said, "were connected with this condition, were a part of it. The officers of the company did it. I don't deny it. They were working with Farr." Later Bowers said the company and Farr had a saloon connection.

"They were both in the saloon business, weren't they?" asked the chairman.

"Yes," said the witness.

Under cross-examination by Commissioner Weinstock, Bowers testified that after he joined the company he eliminated the connection with Farr. He explained that in the early days of the company an officer of the concern, now dead, organized a partnership between the company and Farr for the conduct of saloons in the mining camps, which were used as employment bureaus. "This pernicious and damnable system," said Bowers, "was in force when I became an officer of the company. I fought it. The system is as strong as Tammany. They control every man that is put up for office. They did at the last election."

Bowers said he had fought for state prohibition in Colorado as a means of eliminating the system.

ADDITIONAL SPORTS

FISH NOT BITING WELL JUST NOW

John Oakes and Nick Drew Recently Made Fine Trout Catch.

Anglers are earning all the trout they get this spring, and have to work for them.

Fishermen out yesterday and Saturday report that the fishing was nothing to brag of. The trout are biting fairly well on the Knife, Stewart and Gooseberry, according to the reports that have been brought back from there, but the other North shore streams are not yielding any good catches, the water being high.

John Oakes and Nick Drew recently returned from a fishing trip up the North shore. The men made a trip of about forty miles beyond Grand Marais and caught some of the finest specimens of speckled trout that have ever been brought to Duluth. Some of the fish were eighteen inches in length. Messrs. Oakes and Drew caught the limit allowed by the law, and also brought to the city the prize catch of the season to date.

The stream at Carlton was well patronized by Duluthians yesterday, but few of them had much success. The water is still rather high. The South shore streams were also visited by many Duluthians, but with only moderate success.

BOXING BOARD FOR CLEAN SPORT

Ribenack Expects Members Will Meet During Present Week.

Henry Ribenack, Duluth member of the Minnesota state boxing commission, today stated that he believed that the commissioners would meet during the present week. No official notices have been sent out as yet.

Just what rules will be made for the conduct of the sport, Mr. Ribenack declared he did not know. Commissioner Ribenack declared that he would stand for clean sport, but that he could give no definite outline of his plans before the meeting of the commissioners.

Both Brown and Walter represented the Syracuse freshmen in the field and track meet with a picked team from Buffalo, Syracuse winning 75 to 33. Walter won the broad jump with a mark of 22 feet, 8 inches.

Strongest Baby in U. S.

Can Lift 100 Pounds; Celebrates Birthday By Choking a Cat.

Yes, indeed, better babies campaigns and contests have lasted longer than the cubist fad every hoped to last and have taken up almost as many pages in magazines as the advertisements, and now the Gonvick, Minn., Banner claims that the strongest baby in the United States lives in Minnesota. It says:

"As an actual fact we presume that Gonvick is the home of the strongest baby in the United States. This unique infant, Johnnie Joseph Brunelle, descends from healthy parents and is of French and Chippewa Indian nationality. The youngster was born on the White Earth reservation near Detroit, Minn., Dec. 12, 1913.

"Mr. and Mrs. Charley William Brunelle, parents of the child, saw first indications of phenomenal strength in their son when he was but 12 weeks old, at which time he pulled himself to the top of his cradle by the sheer strength of his arms. At the age of 10 months he astonished the citizens of Detroit by lifting a 50-pound chair. Last week he was 17 months old and he celebrated the occasion by choking the life out of a cat. A 100-pound lift is the latest feat to be accomplished by the powerful little gent and his parents say he can do it with apparent ease.

"Measurements as furnished by medical men are as follows:

	Ave.	Johnnie's.
Weight	21.5	27
Height	29.5	32.8
Chest	18.3	20.2
Head	18.3	19.4

"SEVEN KEYS TO BALDPATE."

Baldwin Players in Excellent Production of Cohan Melodrama.

A play within a play, a story within a story, the audience seeing played the story written by the man in the story, with the real author's intention to "fool his public" nearly, if not quite, achieved; plots, counter-plots, double and triple-crosses, comedy aplenty, ghosts, gunfire, farce-melodrama—"Seven Keys to Baldpate," which the Baldwin Players presented yesterday at the Lyceum.

It is funny enough to be successful as a farce, and contains more than enough thrills to make a first-class melodrama. The audience alternates between thrills and laughter.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate" was seen in Duluth last October for the first time. Those Duluthians who did not see it then will have an opportunity this week to witness a production that compares most favorably with the road production, and at the stock company scale of prices.

The play rather leaves the impression that George M. Cohan started out to write a real, hair-raising melodrama, and laughed at himself for doing it, and then decided to let the audience laugh with him at it. But there is no escaping the melodrama. It is good enough to stand on its own legs as a thriller, without any apologies.

After a week's skylarking in "Mam'zelle," the members of the Baldwin company get down to work. "Seven Keys to Baldpate" is pitched at high tempo. The action is rapid, and it calls for concentrated effort to "get it over." The performance given by the Baldwin company is creditable in the extreme, and compares most favorably with their work in "Fine Feathers" and also with the production seen here last October.

After a week in such an inconsequential, hopeless part as he had last week in "Mam'zelle" is must be a relief for Harry L. Minturn, the leading man, to get such a role as he has this week, and he plays it with much vim and intelligence and a fine sense of comedy. Baldwin company patrons are beginning to realize they have a leading man of rare caliber in Mr. Minturn, and he shows to good advantage this week.

Miss Bronaugh must also welcome the change from "Mam'zelle to the adventuress in "Seven Keys to Baldpate." The part of the adventuress is one that almost any actress might covet. It offers great opportunities, and Miss Bronaugh seems to catch the spirit of the playwright. As the bold, bad, adventuress she is delightful.

William Mortimer, one of the prime favorites of the company, gets his big chance this week as Peter, the hermit, and he makes the most of it. The part is one of the best character hits in the modern English dramas, and Mr. Mortimer rises to the occasion as his admirers expected he would.

"The Newlyweds" of the company, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Baldwin, Jr., have important roles this week. Mrs. Baldwin, Miss Geraldine Blair, appears as the woman reporter, and handles it as she does all comedy character parts—excellently. Mr. Baldwin is cast as Lou Max, the mayor's right hand man, and finds the part very much to his liking.

Miss Margaret Lotus, has but a minor part this week, as the Charming Widow, Mrs. Rhodes. She has little to do but be a charming widow, and a very charming widow she makes.

A. Romaine Callender, as the millionaire's right hand man, contributes much to the smoothness of the performance, and Mark Elliston makes an excellent crooked mayor. George Fox, in whom the Baldwins have a rare comedian, gets much out of the part of the railroad president.

The other members who appear this week are: Chester McLeod as the caretaker of the inn, and Miss Maude McIvilee as his wife; Al Smith, as the chief of police; and William Donovan as the owner of Baldpate. While the parts of the play are small, they handle them most acceptably, and fit into the ensemble perfectly.

Theater Gossip.

For the first half of the week the New Grand presents a diversified bill of attractiveness and merit—a little bit of everything and not too much of anything.

Ethel and Arnold Grazer offer a classy bit of dancing of the society variety interspersed with some clever songs and bits of chatter.

Houseley and Nicholas, two colored musicians present a unique musical offering. The act is full of good, wholesome fun.

Jarvis and Harrison in their newest comedy skit, "A Man, a Girl and a Bench" are mirthmakers par excellence. A gloom destroying line of comedy and excellent song numbers make the offering enjoyable.

Heading the photoplay program is the inimitable Charlie Chaplin in "His Trysting Place" in two reels of unadulterated joy.

Another excellent feature in the photoplay line is "The Breath of Araby" featuring Helen Gardner in three reels of aesthetic drama.

Two comedies and a western drama complete the bill.

Never has there been a film masterpiece shown at the Rex that called out the enthusiastic applause given "The Spoilers" yesterday.

"THE SPOILERS" cheers and ap- IN PHOTOPLAY.

William Farnum appears as Glenister, Kathlyn Williams as Cherry Malotte, the Alaskan dancer, Thomas Sanchi as McNamara, and Bessie Eyton as Helen Chester.

"The Spoilers" is considered the greatest story ever written by Rex Beach, that master delineator of the stirring life of the Northland. So rapidly do events move in this mysterious land of the midnight sun and so gripping the story that one feels he is right in the streets of Nome, Alaska, living the life of the great Northland with Glenister and his beloved.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Let Bygones Be Bygones.

Why is it that human nature finds it so difficult to forget the disagreeable things that are experienced every now and then by the best of mortals? It does not seem as though memories of happy days and incidents in people's lives cling as tenaciously as do those which leave a hurt or a desire for retaliation in their train.

I seriously believe that the habit of forgetting along certain lines would improve conditions generally in society. I have on more than one occasion seen where the practice of forgetting acts and words that have given offense, either by intent or innocently enough, would have saved the day for a large party, all with a single exception disposed to be friendly and all with few exceptions almost strangers to one another.

Somehow this sort of thing coming from a man appears smaller and places him in a more ridiculous light. Though there is no denying that a woman who permits her private differences with another to spoil the enjoyment of two or more people is small indeed, we overlook it quicker in a woman than we do in a great man who is supposed to be the broader and more tolerant because his associations and life generally have a tendency toward the development of these characteristics.

I recall an exhibition of this disposition quite vividly. A man who had been absent from his home town for a number of years and had become quite prominent in a business sense in the meantime, was about to return to the scenes of his boyhood. A reception was arranged and on the committee was one who had had a falling out with the one to be honored when the two were very young men. The home man entered heartily into the arrangements and looked forward to the arrival of the man of the hour. He was willing to call off everything and give full credit to him who had been successful.

But the hero of the hour disdained the hand of this man stretched forth in admiration and welcome, and to make the refusal the more emphatic, folded his arms behind his back. No answering smile illuminated his face and no thanks for the greeting of the other crossed his lips. The man whose handshake had been refused and who was humiliated turned on his heel and calmly walked out of the house.

Of course those remaining tried to ignore the affair, but without success. The party broke up quickly and all went home feeling that success had not improved their old schoolmate in many respects. Here surely was a case to let by-gones be by-gones.

THE RED TIDE OF WAR.

Italy is the eleventh European state to enter the war. Presently, if indeed it is not so when these lines are published, its troops and the troops of the Teutonic allies will be in a death grapple in the difficult ground of the Alps, and its vessels of war will be engaged in the Adriatic.

A map of Europe with the war districts marked black and the peace districts in white would be a tragic spectacle.

In the north are Norway, Sweden and Denmark with 10,500,000 people.

In the west are Holland, with 5,000,000 people, and, safely beyond the Pyrenees, Spain and Portugal with 25,100,000 more; though Portugal is rocked with revolution. In the center, her Alpine fastnesses a tiny isle of peace in a vast ocean of war, is Switzerland with 3,300,000 people. In the east are Rumania, Bulgaria and Greece with 13,400,000 people, though all three are quivering on the verge of participation. Save for these relatively small spots, the map of Europe is a war map.

Eleven nations, including the mightiest of Europe, are at war. Millions upon millions of men are engaged. Millions have been slaughtered. The rivers of Europe run red with blood, and the end is not yet.

To those who do not care how the war ends so it ends soon, there is some slight comfort in the newest development. It increases vastly the gigantic problem that confronts Germany and Austria. It diminishes materially their hope of success. It adds a million men at once to their enemies, with more to follow. It materially decreases Austria's capacity to help Germany, its leader. It cuts off an important source of German and Austrian supplies.

The war must reach its deadliest before it can end. That darkest hour before the dawn must precede the beneficent coming of peace. The war has not reached its deadliest. The darkest hour has not yet come. The cup is bitter, but its dregs are bitterer still; and the dregs have yet to be drunk.

In all kindness be it said, don't forget that the taxes are due this week.

A CONSTITUTIONAL BOSS.

President Schurman of Cornell university, who is one of the vice presidents of the New York constitutional convention, declares that the party system has broken down through the "invisible government" of the bosses, and that an official boss should be substituted.

Says he: "Let the governor be the party leader; let the head of the organization be the business manager of the party, and let the boss go as an obsolete institution."

And Chairman Tanner of the New York Republican state committee on the same day said: "The governor should be made the real head of the party in the state, and that will be the object of several proposed changes in the Constitution."

This means that the governor, becoming the real head of his party in the state, would become the real head of the government of the state. When the state government is turned over by the people to a party to be run, it will be turned over to the newly elected governor as the official head of that party.

President Wilson, as the head of the Federal government, has made himself the leader of his party. He controls the executive branch of the government in behalf of the Democratic party; and he rules the Democratic party as the head of the nation. He needs no bosses, no inner circle of party control, no "invisible government" by a party ring. He is president of the United States, and leader of the party that has been given control of the nation by the people.

Moreover, though not many seem to have realized it, Governor Winfield Scott Hammond is doing precisely the same thing in Minnesota. He is governor of Minnesota, and he is the head and leader of the Democratic party, to which the people gave the control of the executive duties.

To make this system logical and effective, the Constitution and the laws should be so changed as to impose upon the governor the appointment of and responsibility for the whole list of executive officers. This is the Short Ballot. Moreover, it is what the efficiency bill aimed to do so far as it can be done without constitutional amendment.

Those prisoners at Racine, Wis., who robbed the jail may not have realized the bad example they were setting other prisoners throughout the country.

A STATE DYNAMITE FACTORY.

State Auditor Preus says he believes Minnesota should manufacture dynamite and sell it at cost to settlers in Northern Minnesota to be used in clearing cut-over lands.

It would be a splendid thing to do, and it would pay enormously. The cost of clearing in many cases is largely the cost of dynamite. Even with high dynamite—and dynamite is high when bought in the small quantities settlers can afford—it pays to clear cut-over land; and with cheap dynamite it would pay much better.

A dynamite factory could be installed at the state prison or the state reformatory, and the dynamite manufactured cheaply with prison labor. It would make cheap dynamite available for settlers throughout the cut-over sections of the state, and would give settlement and especially development a tremendous impetus.

The twine factory at the state prison has produced enormous benefits to farmers by giving them cheap binding twine, and it will continue to benefit them.

A dynamite factory would provide more direct benefit to the farmers affected by it than the twine factory ten times over.

If the state could even devise a means of buying dynamite in large quantities and selling it to settlers at cost, even if it did not go into the manufacture of it, the gain would be great.

From the viewpoint of physical development, the chief business before the state of Minnesota is the settlement of its idle acres. A large proportion of the richest of these idle acres are covered with stumps and brush, which must be removed before the settler can begin to till the soil. Any practical means of quickly clearing this land, whether it is state land or private land, will be working directly for the profit and glory of the state.

The task is too much for the average settler, who is a man of small means and must get his living out of his land from the time he goes upon it.

If the state, by the use of the reclamation revolving fund that will be available if the constitutional amendment providing for it is ratified by the people next year, will clear a part of each tract of its own land so that settlers can begin raising crops immediately, it will help the development of the state enormously.

If the state will also devise some means of furnishing settlers cheap dynamite for land-clearing purposes, it will provide valuable help in state development along another line.

It is to the interest of every citizen of Minnesota, whether he lives in city or country, north or south, to have every fruitful acre put on the tax rolls and set to producing wealth as speedily as possible.

You may not have realized the extent to which the scope of human vision is enlarged by the mere prefixing of the syllables "pert," "tele," and "micro."

"HEALTHY" WEATHER.

Dr. H. W. Hill of the Minnesota public health association has an article going the rounds of the state press in which he answers this question: "Why is cold weather healthier than warm?"

The answer is, of course, that it isn't healthier.

"Most of our infectious diseases," says Dr. Hill, "increase in winter, and deaths rise over ten per cent higher. Certain diseases increase, others diminish; but the total increase is greater than the total decrease. Does not cold weather stop the growth of germs? Yes, but of course only of those germs that are exposed to the cold. Germs in the soil, in the water that freezes up, in fact all of those outside our homes and our bodies are very much retarded in growth. But these are very largely harmless germs, whose growth even in summer does no injury.

"Now remember that our homes are kept almost as warm in winter as they are in summer, while the interiors of our bodies, where alone disease germs really flourish, have exactly the same temperature all the year around. Changes of temperature do not greatly affect the germs of disease in the body.

"The chief reason for increase of most infectious diseases in winter is the greater and more intimate association of people with each other at school, clubs, etc. Insect-borne diseases, fly-borne typhoid and fly-dysentery increase in summer; and of course actual heat stroke is most common then, but winter is the great time for death and disease."

So far as it goes, this is true, interesting and important. But it is hard to understand how a doctor could conduct a discussion thus far on this point without pointing out the real fundamental reason why winter is less "healthy" than summer.

The real reason is that clean, fresh air has a better chance to do its work of mercy in the summer than it is given in the winter—though that is man's fault, solely.

When winter comes man battens down his home and his working place against the cold, and at the same time battens it down against fresh air. In the warm air of the home, the office, the shop, the street car, the theater, the hall and even the church, germs thrive unmolested by the germ-killing powers of fresh air. So with the coming of winter begins a series of colds, pneumonia and a social exchange of germs.

This is one big reason why winter is less "healthy" than summer. Another reason is that the air in homes and working places is permitted to dry out. This dry air extracts moisture from wherever it can find it—from walls and woodwork, causing warps and cracks; from human bodies, causing skin ailments and lessening resistance to disease.

Any weather in the temperate zone is "healthy" if mankind would be sensible enough to adjust himself to it. Winter weather is less "healthy" simply because the cold drives mankind to shut out the fresh air and the natural humidity of fresh air, and because his habit of congregating in close, warm places facilitates a deadly interchange of disease germs.

How odd it would seem to say "Gen. Caruso."

America's Selfishness

Washington Post: The assertion made in belligerent countries that the United States has played the part of a money changer in this colossal war is hardly likely to be repeated by any of the warring nations after the struggle is over.

In the excitement of war the nations involved are blinded by hatred and prejudice. They see their own men killed by the hundreds of thousands on the field of battle. They find their fields laid waste and their homes destroyed. The calm enforcement of America's neutral rights seems to be out of place in the midst of such calamity.

Both Germany and Great Britain have adopted the same critical attitude toward the United States, seeming to feel that nothing less than the sacrifice of American lives would be an evidence of good faith.

Nothing but passion and prejudice—minds fixed upon a single idea—could explain the way the European nations, in denouncing the United States for selfishness, have overlooked the manner in which the people of this country have fed the starving and administered to the wounded of Europe.

Ships have been loaded with food and sent to Europe. Relief stations have been established in most of the large cities for this purpose. Money, food, medicine, clothing and shoes have been sent to the women and children who have been made desolate by the war. The best of the medical and nursing professions of the United States are risking their lives on European battlefields. Millions of dollars are being spent by Americans to alleviate the suffering and save the lives of English, German, French, Russian and Austrian soldiers.

If this is an evidence of America's selfishness, the word has taken on a new meaning.

The Passing of Magnates.

Life: There is an optimistic thought in the fact that we do not hear of magnates so much as formerly. The idea conveyed by the word magnate is one of size only—in this case, financial size. It has nothing to do with quality, but only with quantity. This was sufficient for us a few years back. If a man were a magnate, if he possessed the requisite financial bigness, nothing else mattered. If he had money, his virtues could be assumed. Or he didn't need virtues. Or if he should take a sudden notion to affect virtues, that was his business. He was quite able to go into the market, get whatever virtues he needed and pay the highest prices for them.

We seem to be getting more finicky. Mere bigness is no longer acceptable without a detailed statement. We want to know something of its derivation and its aim. Hence a man who has nothing to recommend him nowadays except the fact that he is a magnate is more apt to shun the spotlight than seek it.

"Not as I Will."

Blindfolded and alone I stand,
With unknown thresholds on each hand;
The darkness deepens as I grope,
Afraid to fear, afraid to hope;
Yet this one thing I learn to know
Each day more surely as I go,
That doors are opened, ways are made,
Burdens are lifted or are laid,
By some great law, unseen and still,
Unfathomed purpose to fulfill,
"Not as I will."

Blindfolded and alone I wait;
Loss seems too bitter, gain too late;
Too heavy burdens in the load
And too few helpers on the road;
And joy is weak and grief is strong,
And years and days so long, so long;
Yet this one thing I learn to know
Each day more surely as I go,
That I am glad the good and ill
By changeless law are ordered still,
"Not as I will."

"Not as I will;" the sound grows sweet
Each time my lips the words repeat,
"Not as I will;" the darkness feels
More safe than light when this thought steals
Like whispered voice to calm and bless
All unrest and loneliness.
"Not as I will," because the One
Who loves us first and best has gone
Before us on the road, and still
For us must all His love fulfill,
"Not as we will."

Walking—And the Woods

Editorial in the Omaha World-Herald.

It is gratifying indeed to note that the people of this city and state are taking a pronounced interest in birds, which means, of course, that they are responding to the call of the great big outdoors.

There was a time when a person admittedly devoted to nature—to the birds and flowers and trees and—and things, was covertly considered a crank. In this commercial age there could be nothing really worth while in the spectacle of a cowbird perched on a bull's back or of an edible mushroom as big as a dinner plate growing from the trunk of an elder tree thirty feet from the ground. Nor could a study of the roundelays of the Nebraska songsters be anything but a freakish and fleeting fad—like lads securing the numbers of railroad engines or collecting stamps.

But the study of birds is becoming a real and cosmopolitan study. It is bringing a great, new cheerfulness to hundreds, as may be proved by a jaunt through any of our wooded parks or outlying glades. There is an uplift, an inspiration, in the quest of bird identification that can be secured in no other field. And the fascination of it all is indisputable. Once a bird-hunter—always a bird-hunter.

Ah—the clean, fragrant air of the emerald copse in the spring, or the crisp, health-giving atmosphere of the frosted woods in winter—these are indeed a treat for the cudgeled lungs of the city chap who breathes naught but sifted smoke and commercialism six days in the week! If once he comes to know them, or to wish to know them, the birds, like sirens, will draw him willy-nilly to their island, and, when captured, he is lost.

This is the show-season for the feathered friends of the human race. The birds are coming in by the thousands, many to stay and many merely migrating. There are a couple of dozen different varieties of warblers likely to be identified in our parks now, and a dozen or more "brands" of interesting sparrows. For it must be understood that the English sparrow is the only undesirable citizen of his race, there being many sparrows most beautiful and most accomplished in song.

So take a walk today! Take the wife along, and the kiddies, too, if they have reached the walking age. Get yourself a pair of opera glasses, a memorandum book and a bird guide and see how nature has populated the trees about your city. Go to the end of almost any car line and start out into the woods—no matter where. You will be entertained—O, you will be entertained as you never were before!

Spend the whole day. Take a lunch along. Take a book along—if needs be—but stay outdoors, in the woods, among the birds and the rest of nature's wondrous works. Walk—and in walking you will add years to your life and moments of pleasure that you will never forget.

There are many things to be seen in a day's stroll—many things besides birds. Nature is clever in that respect, for her little tricks will bob up serenely when you least expect them. Just take a chance—and see for yourself.

When you reach your home this evening you will be tired—very tired. And you should be dirty, too, for a man can't get too close to nature on one of these hikes and he won't have any fun if he is worrying about scuffing a new pair of shoes or tearing his pants. But after you have added up your birds, have transplanted your wildwood vines and have put your mushrooms in the refrigerator for breakfast—your bath and bed will bring you the most comfortable happiness in all the world.

There is trouble enough on this sphere just now, but while woe and misery obtain in other lands, the Almighty God has preserved peace, sweetness and purity in His woods, where anyone can worship on this Sabbath day, and emerge therefrom far better and more holy for it.

The British Gold Fiction.

Philadelphia Record: We recognize an old familiar friend in this statement penned by a German professor in Der Tag of Berlin:

> The English press and the American press, bought up with English gold, have begun already to exploit the Lusitania incident against Germany to stir up America against us.

"English gold." How abundant it is in editorial pockets! How musical is the sound when guineas and sovereigns, supplied by the Cobden club or the bank of England, clink in the publisher's cash drawer! Since the present war began this golden stream has been unusually full, almost overflowing, in fact. So, indeed, it must be if it is to irrigate the American press. So vast is this in numbers, and so great is the cupidity of proprietors and editors, that it is a wonder that the British chancellor of the exchequer has anything left for the prosecution of the war.

This is not the first time that English gold has been used to corrupt American opinion. Everyone familiar with the long battle for tariff reform will recall how plentiful gold coin, fresh from the English mint, used to be in the offices of Democratic and independent newspapers that had been bought up for the wicked purpose of wrecking American industries in order that John Bull might prosper. More than once in those good old days such faithful guardians of home manufactures as the American Economist and certain Republican newspapers were able to trace the flow of gold direct to free-trade organizations in Great Britain. The evidence of editorial guilt was overwhelming — to hidebound protectionists.

And now the doubloons, sequins, angelots, eagles, double eagles, napoleons, pistoles, liras, half angels, milrels and all the other yellow boys, gathered from every clime into Great Britain's strong box, are on their joyous way here again. Thrice, welcome, little strangers. We deplore the occasion of your coming, but your visits are ever timely and highly prized.

The Lung Thinker.

Dayton News: A new expression has been invented—and like a great many other modern expressions, it conveys a meaning that nothing else could convey. "Lung thinker"—that's the newest. A fellow who thinks with his lungs, rather than with his head; the loud-mouthed, rattle-brained, irresponsible chap with a good voice—he's a "lung thinker." And the worst of it is we have a good many of them with us always.

Usually you can tell just about how much a man knows by the tone of his voice. Certainly when you hear a man talking upon the street cars, in a tone of voice that can be heard from one end of it to the other, you know that he is a "lung thinker." When a man tries to win an argument by voice rather than by reason he has nothing else but his voice to depend upon.

We predict that the term "lung thinker" has come to stay. It means so much it so aptly expresses the character of some people, it can be so easily applied without danger of making a mistake in applying it, that we predict we shall eventually incorporate it into the language and print it in the dictionaries.

The End of Progress

Editorial in the San Antonio Light.

Someone poring over the old files in the United States patent office at Washington, the other day, found a letter written in 1833 that illustrates the limitations of the human imagination.

It was from an employe of the patent office, offering his resignation to the head of the department. His reason was that as everything inventable had been invented, the patent office would soon be discontinued and there would be no further need for his services or the services of any of his fellow clerks. He therefore decided to leave before the blow fell.

Everything inventable had been invented! The writer of this letter journeyed in a stage coach or a canal boat. He had never seen a limited train or an ocean greyhound. He read at night by candle light, if he read at all in the evening; more likely he went to bed soon after dark and did all his reading by daylight. He had never seen a house lighted by illuminating gas. The arc and incandescent electric lights were not to be invented for nearly a half century.

If he had ever heard of electricity, he thought of it as the mysterious and dangerous fluid that strikes from the clouds during a thunder storm. That it could be harnessed to do man's will had never occurred to him.

He had never heard the clicking of a telegraph sounder. The telephone would have seemed as wonderful to him as a voyage to the moon. Motion pictures would have reminded him of black art and the idea that a machine could be invented whereby man would fly above the clouds like a bird, ascending and descending at will, would have seemed to him merely absurd.

The modern printing press, the linotype machine which seems almost to think, the X-ray by means of which surgeons may diagnose disease and injury and lay out their work with scientific certainty, these things were yet to be invented long after he was dead. He could not imagine the automobile, now so common that they cover the streets and roads of all the world.

He could not dream that cannon would be made to throw a projectile more than twenty miles, that repeating rifles, revolvers and machine guns would be invented, that steel monsters of the deep would speed invisible under the seas with the power to send a giant ocean liner to the bottom within a matter of moments.

He lacked the imagination to see all the thousands and tens of thousands of comparatively small inventions that have come into being since his day, some of them for good and some for evil, but all telling a story of progress of one sort or another. Probably in this he did not differ from most of his fellowmen in his day. It is very likely most of his friends agreed with him that the limit of invention had been reached.

He seems unfortunately deficient in imagination and in optimism, as we read of his letter of resignation in the musty files of the patent office. But let us not take too much unction to our souls. We are as ignorant of what the next eighty years may bring forth as he was of the future of American inventions.

The Englishman and His Son

London Letter in Newark News: "You have a most interesting task," wrote Charles D. White, the American diplomatist, "but one in which it will be hard to do the English justice and easy to misunderstand them. Go and see Barrie's curtain-raiser, 'The New Word,' and keep it in mind as a key to the Englishman's inside." I took Mr. White's advice and was glad.

The play is a fireside scene in any Englishman's home. (The footlights, by the way, supply the firelight glow, so that the family, seated around the fender, face the audience. It takes Barrie to think up these touches—or has it been done before?) Anyway, the son of the family is ready to go to war. The mother asks the father to quit being sarcastic to the boy, just for once. (Enter the boy.) She bids her son go to fight for his country, and she bravely keeps from tears while she has her last talk with him.

"Your elder brother died when he was 8," she says, "and I've always thought of him as 8 until now. But now I see him a man of 21 and he wears the king's uniform as you do. And I should wish him to go and do his duty, too."

Scribbled down in this cold hotel ink it reads like rank melodrama, but that is the fault of the ink. Barrie uses another kind.

Father and son are left alone; it may be their last evening together in this life. Each feels the meaning of the occasion; each makes concessions; each is, at heart, proud of the other, and under the surface of mutual indifference each has thought all along that the other was a little bit of all right. The father hems and haws and gets the truth out at last—he loves to hear his son tell a funny story in company. The boy sweeps aside all his acquired notions of manly harshness and blurts out the confession that he used to brag about his father at school.

The mother returns to see her soldier boy to his bed.

"Good night—father," says the boy.

"Night!" growls the man.

The boy lingers, whistles, fusses with the furniture.

"Good night," he says again; then, resolutely, he lays his hand on the old man's shoulder an instant. "Dear father," he says, with a grim effort. And the father, when alone, presses the baby portrait of the boy to his lips.

That is all. But, like the street glimpse of Kitchener of Khartum, it tells a lot.

"Wilson Is on the Bridge."

Col. Henry Watterson in the Louisville Courier-Journal: Mr. Wickersham and Mr. Root remind us of Daniel Webster and Henry Clay—not in their breaths, Lord, no! but in their old Whig way of nosing around after some popular measure "to down the Locofocos." Webster and Clay sought and sought, but sought in vain. Standpat Republicanism is as dead as old-line Whiggery. On the bases of Harrison, McKinley and Taft it can never be resurrected. It may be well enough for the old leaders to try the "refawm" tack. But the wind will not blow their way. Besides, Wilson is on the bridge!

"Too Proud to Fight."

Boston Globe: The quotation, "No gentleman would insult me; none other can," is credited to John Quincy Adams, who is said to have made the reply when he was told that a man had spoken to him so rudely that he ought to send a challenge to a duel, and it is said also to have been used by Senator W. H. Seward in a debate growing out of the assault upon Senator Sumner by Preston Brooks, in 1856 and 1857, but it is pointed out that the quotation,

> A moral, sensible, well-bred man
> Will not affront me, and no other can,

is to be found in William Cowper's "Conversation."

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

Never a day is lost, dear,
If at night you can truly say
You've done one kindly deed, dear,
Or soothed some rugged way.

Never a day is dark, dear,
Where the sunshine of home may fall,
And where the sweet home voices
May answer when you call.

Never a day is sad, dear,
If it brings, at set of sun,
A kiss from mother's lips, dear,
And a thought of work well done.

Songs in the Night.

"God, my Maker, Who giveth songs in the night."—Job xxxv, 10.

The sun and moon may darken
And the stars withdraw their light,
But to the weary sleepers hearken
To the anthems of the night;
And up and down the spaces
On ladders of the skies,
Appear celestial faces
As the notes of music rise.

The songs of heaven cheer us
When suffering with pain,
And bring consolation near us
In gentle, soothing strain.
And thus to all who love Him,
Who seek their beds in prayer,
His pavilion spreads above them
And all His blessings share.

Oh, the vision, so resplendent,
Is always what it seems,
With songs of night attendant,
Though floating down in dreams.
For in perfect peace He keepeth
The soul that stays on Him,
Awake or when it sleepeth,
His love in shadows dim.

Songs in the night He giveth
To you who spend the day,
And in His service liveth,
And walketh in His way.
So when the shadows darken,
And the sun is out of sight,
Oh, child of God, but hearken
To the songs He sends at night.

"Brainy" Mr. Root.

Kansas City Star: Somebody said once that Mr. Root was the "brainiest" man in the United States. There is a great fascination about that word "brainiest." It gets itself believed. Soon others remarked what a "brainy man" Mr. Root was. It got to be an accepted topic of conversation. At card games, horse races, meetings of the Young People's Christian Endeavor societies, Mothers' clubs, funerals, farmers' institutes—whenever other conversation lagged the people began talking about Elihu Root's brains.

Now, unless approximately 88 per cent of the American people are unintelligent; unless Mr. Roosevelt is unintelligent; unless Mr. Wilson is unintelligent, Mr. Root is wrong about pretty nearly everything requiring the intellectual process. He is especially wrong about those things that he makes his specialty. He is wrong about the courts; he is wrong about the law; he is wrong about national conventions; he is wrong about the functions of government; he is wrong about political machines and machine bosses.

Reminiscence

Willis Boyd Allen in Scribner's Magazine: The taste for reminiscence grows by indulgence, and may easily become boresome to one's friends, pernicious to oneself. At what age, I wonder, does a man begin to walk backward? The tendency, which, of course, varies with the temperament of the individual, is a subtle and deplorable habit.

After 50 most of us look over our shoulders a good deal, to say the least; and before long, turning slowly, like Mr. Pickwick on the ice at Dingley Dell, we are but too apt to set our faces almost wholly toward the past.

When I revisit the scenes of earlier travel and adventure I find myself inevitably reverting to those days in which I, too, was young and hopeful; and, what is worse, boring my youthful companions by calling their attention to incidents long forgotten, and to biographical anecdotes of friends who once, as these do now, made the forest ring with their laughter and merry voices, long since silent. "Twenty"—"thirty"—"forty years ago." I hear myself, over and over. It is, indeed, an insidious fault, apt to result in a habit of mind, and consequent reiteration of reminiscence, which might be termed "agoism." Many of my friends are afflicted with it, and find my own mood and conversation but too often glaring examples of the failing.

Heavens! if all of us who yield to Lot's wife's temptation were to be summarily visited with that unhappy lady's punishment, every highway would soon be but a pergola, for the white pillars upreared along its course!

THE RED TIDE OF WAR.

Italy is the eleventh European state to enter the war. Presently, if indeed it is not so when these lines are published, its troops and the troops of the Teutonic allies will be in a death grapple in the difficult ground of the Alps, and its vessels of war will be engaged in the Adriatic.

A map of Europe with the war districts marked black and the peace districts in white would be a tragic spectacle.

In the north are Norway, Sweden and Denmark with 10,500,000 people.

In the west are Holland, with 5,000,000 people, and, safely beyond the Pyrenees, Spain and Portugal with 25,100,000 more; though Portugal is rocked with revolution. In the center, her Alpine fastnesses a tiny isle of peace in a vast ocean of war, is Switzerland with 3,300,000 people. In the east are Rumania, Bulgaria and Greece with 13,400,000 people, though all three are quivering on the verge of participation. Save for these relatively small spots, the map of Europe is a war map.

Eleven nations, including the mightiest of Europe, are at war. Millions upon millions of men are engaged. Millions have been slaughtered. The rivers of Europe run red with blood, and the end is not yet.

To those who do not care how the war ends so it ends soon, there is some slight comfort in the newest development. It increases vastly the gigantic problem that confronts Germany and Austria. It diminishes materially their hope of success. It adds a million men at once to their enemies, with more to follow. It materially decreases Austria's capacity to help Germany, its leader. It cuts off an important source of German and Austrian supplies.

The war must reach its deadliest before it can end. That darkest hour before the dawn must precede the beneficent coming of peace. The war has not reached its deadliest. The darkest hour has not yet come. The cup is bitter, but its dregs are bitterer still; and the dregs have yet to be drunk.

In all kindness be it said, don't forget that the taxes are due this week.

A CONSTITUTIONAL BOSS.

President Schurman of Cornell university, who is one of the vice presidents of the New York constitutional convention, declares that the party system has broken down through the "invisible government" of the bosses, and that an official boss should be substituted.

Says he: "Let the governor be the party leader; let the head of the organization be the business manager of the party, and let the boss go as an obsolete institution."

And Chairman Tanner of the New York Republican state committee on the same day said: "The governor should be made the real head of the party in the state, and that will be the object of several proposed changes in the Constitution."

This means that the governor, becoming the real head of his party in the state, would become the real head of the government of the state. When the state government is turned over by the people to a party to be run, it will be turned over to the newly elected governor as the official head of that party.

President Wilson, as the head of the Federal government, has made himself the leader of his party. He controls the executive branch of the government in behalf of the Democratic party; and he rules the Democratic party as the head of the nation. He needs no bosses, no inner circle of party control, no "invisible government" by a party ring. He is president of the United States, and leader of the party that has been given control of the nation by the people.

Moreover, though not many seem to have realized it, Governor Winfield Scott Hammond is doing precisely the same thing in Minnesota. He is governor of Minnesota, and he is the head and leader of the Democratic party, to which the people gave the control of the executive duties.

To make this system logical and effective, the Constitution and the laws should be so changed as to impose upon the governor the appointment of and responsibility for the whole list of executive officers. This is the Short Ballot. Moreover, it is what the efficiency bill aimed to do so far as it can be done without constitutional amendment.

Those prisoners at Racine, Wis., who robbed the jail may not have realized the bad example they were setting other prisoners throughout the country.

A STATE DYNAMITE FACTORY.

State Auditor Preus says he believes Minnesota should manufacture dynamite and sell it at cost to settlers in Northern Minnesota to be used in clearing cut-over lands.

It would be a splendid thing to do, and it would pay enormously. The cost of clearing in many cases is largely the cost of dynamite. Even with high dynamite—and dynamite is high when bought in the small quantities settlers can afford—it pays to clear cut-over land; and with cheap dynamite it would pay much better.

A dynamite factory could be installed at the state prison or the state reformatory, and the dynamite manufactured cheaply with prison labor. It would make cheap dynamite available for settlers throughout the cut-over sections of the state, and would give settlement and especially development a tremendous impetus.

The twine factory at the state prison has produced enormous benefits to farmers by giving them cheap binding twine, and it will continue to benefit them.

A dynamite factory would provide more direct benefit to the farmers affected by it than the twine factory ten times over.

If the state could even devise a means of buying dynamite in large quantities and selling it to settlers at cost, even if it did not go into the manufacture of it, the gain would be great.

From the viewpoint of physical development, the chief business before the state of Minnesota is the settlement of its idle acres. A large proportion of the richest of these idle acres are covered with stumps and brush, which must be removed before the settler can begin to till the soil. Any practical means of quickly clearing this land, whether it is state land or private land, will be working directly for the profit and glory of the state.

The task is too much for the average settler, who is a man of small means and must get his living out of his land from the time he goes upon it.

If the state, by the use of the reclamation revolving fund that will be available if the constitutional amendment providing for it is ratified by the people next year, will clear a part of each tract of its own land so that settlers can begin raising crops immediately, it will help the development of the state enormously.

If the state will also devise some means of furnishing settlers cheap dynamite for land-clearing purposes, it will provide valuable help in state development along another line.

It is to the interest of every citizen of Minnesota, whether he lives in city or country, north or south, to have every fruitful acre put on the tax rolls and set to producing wealth as speedily as possible.

You may not have realized the extent to which the scope of human vision is enlarged by the mere prefixing of the syllables "peri," "tele," and "micro."

"HEALTHY" WEATHER.

Dr. H. W. Hill of the Minnesota public health association has an article going the rounds of the state press in which he answers this question: "Why is cold weather healthier than warm?"

The answer is, of course, that it isn't healthier.

"Most of our infectious diseases," says Dr. Hill, "increase in winter, and deaths rise over ten per cent higher. Certain diseases increase, others diminish; but the total increase is greater than the total decrease. Does not cold weather stop the growth of germs? Yes, but of course only of those germs that are exposed to the cold. Germs in the soil, in the water that freezes up, in fact all of those outside our homes and our bodies are very much retarded in growth. But these are very largely harmless germs, whose growth even in summer does no injury.

"Now remember that our homes are kept almost as warm in winter as they are in summer, while the interiors of our bodies, where alone disease germs really flourish, have exactly the same temperature all the year around. Changes of temperature do not greatly affect the germs of disease in the body.

"The chief reason for increase of most infectious diseases in winter is the greater and more intimate association of people with each other at school, clubs, etc. Insect-borne diseases, fly-borne typhoid and fly-dysentery increase in summer; and of course actual heat stroke is most common then, but winter is the great time for death and disease."

So far as it goes, this is true, interesting and important. But it is hard to understand how a doctor could conduct a discussion thus far on this point without pointing out the real fundamental reason why winter is less "healthy" than summer.

The real reason is that clean, fresh air has a better chance to do its work of mercy in the summer than it is given in the winter—though that is man's fault, solely.

When winter comes man battens down his home and his working place against the cold, and at the same time battens it down against fresh air. In the warm air of the home, the office, the shop, the street car, the theater, the hall and even the church, germs thrive unmolested by the germ-killing powers of fresh air. So with the coming of winter begins a series of colds, pneumonia and a social exchange of germs.

This is one big reason why winter is less "healthy" than summer. Another reason is that the air in homes and working places is permitted to dry out. This dry air extracts moisture from wherever it can find it—from walls and woodwork, causing warps and cracks; from human bodies, causing skin ailments and lessening resistance to disease.

Any weather in the temperate zone is "healthy" if mankind would be sensible enough to adjust himself to it. Winter weather is less "healthy" simply because the cold drives mankind to shut out the fresh air and the natural humidity of fresh air, and because his habit of congregating in close, warm places facilitates a deadly interchange of disease germs.

How odd it would seem to say "Gen. Caruso."

America's Selfishness

Washington Post: The assertion made in belligerent countries that the United States has played the part of a money changer in this colossal war is hardly likely to be repeated by any of the warring nations after the struggle is over.

In the excitement of war the nations involved are blinded by hatred and prejudice. They see their own men killed by the hundreds of thousands on the field of battle. They find their fields laid waste and their homes destroyed. The calm enforcement of America's neutral rights seems to be out of place in the midst of such calamity.

Both Germany and Great Britain have adopted the same critical attitude toward the United States, seeming to feel that nothing less than the sacrifice of American lives would be an evidence of good faith.

Nothing but passion and prejudice—minds fixed upon a single idea—could explain the way the European nations, in denouncing the United States for selfishness, have overlooked the manner in which the people of this country have fed the starving and administered to the wounded of Europe.

Ships have been loaded with food and sent to Europe. Relief stations have been established in most of the large cities for this purpose. Money, food, medicine, clothing and shoes have been sent to the women and children who have been made desolate by the war. The best of the medical and nursing professions of the United States are risking their lives on European battlefields. Millions of dollars are being spent by Americans to alleviate the suffering and save the lives of English, German, French, Russian and Austrian soldiers.

If this is an evidence of America's selfishness, the word has taken on a new meaning.

The Passing of Magnates.

Life: There is an optimistic thought in the fact that we do not hear of magnates so much as formerly. The idea conveyed by the word magnate is one of size only—in this case, financial size. It has nothing to do with quality, but only with quantity. This was sufficient for us a few years back. If a man were a magnate, if he possessed the requisite financial bigness, nothing else mattered. If he had money, his virtues could be assumed. Or he didn't need virtues. Or if he should take a sudden notion to affect virtues, that was his business. He was quite able to go into the market, get whatever virtues he needed and pay the highest prices for them.

We seem to be getting more finicky. Mere bigness is no longer acceptable without a detailed statement. We want to know something of its derivation and its aim. Hence a man who has nothing to recommend him nowadays except the fact that he is a magnate is more apt to shun the spotlight than seek it.

"Not as I Will."

Blindfolded and alone I stand,
With unknown thresholds on each hand;
The darkness deepens as I grope,
Afraid to fear, afraid to hope;
Yet this one thing I learn to know
Each day more surely as I go,
That doors are opened, ways are made,
Burdens are lifted or are laid,
By some great law, unseen and still,
Unfathomed purpose to fulfill,
"Not as I will."

Blindfolded and alone I wait;
Loss seems too bitter, gain too late;
Too heavy burdens in the load
And too few helpers on the road;
And joy is weak and grief is strong,
And years and days so long, so long;
Yet this one thing I learn to know
Each day more surely as I go,
That I am glad the good and ill
By changeless law are ordered still,
"Not as I will."

"Not as I will;" the sound grows sweet
Each time my lips the words repeat,
"Not as I will;" the darkness feels
More safe than light when this thought steals
Like whispered voice to calm and bless
All unrest and loneliness.
"Not as I will," because the One
Who loves us first and best has gone
Before us on the road, and still
For us must all His love fulfill,
"Not as we will."

Walking—And the Woods

Editorial in the Omaha World-Herald.

It is gratifying indeed to note that the people of this city and state are taking a pronounced interest in birds, which means, of course, that they are responding to the call of the great big outdoors.

There was a time when a person admittedly devoted to nature—to the birds and flowers and trees and—and things, was covertly considered a crank. In this commercial age there could be nothing really worth while in the spectacle of a cowbird perched on a bull's back or of an edible mushroom as big as a dinner plate growing from the trunk of an elder tree thirty feet from the ground. Nor could a study of the roundelays of the Nebraska songsters be anything but a freakish and fleeting fad—like lads securing the numbers of railroad engines or collecting stamps.

But the study of birds is becoming a real and cosmopolitan study. It is bringing a great, new cheerfulness to hundreds, as may be proved by a jaunt through any of our wooded parks or outlying glades. There is an uplift, an inspiration, in the quest of bird identification that can be secured in no other field. And the fascination of it all is indisputable. Once a bird-hunter—always a bird-hunter.

Ah—the clean, fragrant air of the emerald copse in the spring, or the crisp, health-giving atmosphere of the frosted woods in winter—these are indeed a treat for the cudgeled lungs of the city chap who breathes naught but sifted smoke and commercialism six days in the week! If once he comes to know them, or to wish to know them, the birds, like sirens, will draw him willy-nilly to their island, and, when captured, he is lost.

This is the show-season for the feathered friends of the human race. The birds are coming in by the thousands, many to stay and many merely migrating. There are a couple of dozen different varieties of warblers likely to be identified in our parks now, and a dozen or more "brands" of interesting sparrows. For it must be understood that the English sparrow is the only undesirable citizen of his race, there being many sparrows most beautiful and most accomplished in song.

So take a walk today! Take the wife along, and the kiddies, too, if they have reached the walking age. Get yourself a pair of opera glasses, a memorandum book and a bird guide and see how nature has populated the trees about your city. Go to the end of almost any car line and start out into the woods—no matter where. You will be entertained—O, you will be entertained as you never were before!

Spend the whole day. Take a lunch along. Take a book along—if needs be—but stay outdoors, in the woods, among the birds and the rest of nature's wondrous works. Walk—and in walking you will add years to your life and moments of pleasure that you will never forget.

There are many things to be seen in a day's stroll—many things besides birds. Nature is clever in that respect, for her little tricks will bob up serenely when you least expect them. Just take a chance—and see for yourself.

When you reach your home this evening you will be tired—very tired. And you should be dirty, too, for a man can't get too close to nature on one of these hikes and he won't have any fun if he is worrying about scuffing a new pair of shoes or tearing his pants. But after you have added up your birds, have transplanted your wildwood vines and have put your mushrooms in the refrigerator for breakfast—your bath and bed will bring you the most comfortable happiness in all the world.

There is trouble enough on this sphere just now, but while woe and misery obtain in other lands, the Almighty God has preserved peace, sweetness and purity in His woods, where anyone can worship on this Sabbath day, and emerge therefrom far better and more holy for it.

The British Gold Fiction.

Philadelphia Record: We recognize an old familiar friend in this statement penned by a German professor in Der Tag of Berlin:

The English, press and the American press, bought up with English gold, have begun already to exploit the Lusitania incident against Germany to stir up America against us.

"English gold!" How abundant it is in editorial pockets! How musical is the sound when guineas and sovereigns, supplied by the Cobden club or the bank of England, clink in the publisher's cash drawer! Since the present war began this golden stream has been unusually full, almost overflowing, in fact. So, indeed, it must be if it is to irrigate the American press. So vast is this in numbers, and so great is the cupidity of proprietors and editors, that it is a wonder that the British chancellor of the exchequer has anything left for the prosecution of the war.

This is not the first time that English gold has been used to corrupt American opinion. Everyone familiar with the long battle for tariff reform will recall how plentiful gold coin, fresh from the English mint, used to be in the offices of Democratic and independent newspapers that had been bought up for the wicked purpose of wrecking American industries in order that John Bull might prosper. More than once in those good old days such faithful guardians of home manufactures as the American Economist and certain Republican newspapers were able to trace the flow of gold direct to free-trade organizations in Great Britain. The evidence of editorial guilt was overwhelming — to hidebound protectionists.

And now the doubloons, sequins, angelots, eagles, double eagles, napoleons, pistoles, liras, half angels, milrels and all the other yellow boys, gathered from every clime into Great Britain's strong box, are on their joyous way here again. Thrice, welcome, little strangers. We deplore the occasion of your coming, but your visits are ever timely and highly prized.

The Lung Thinker.

Dayton News: A new expression has been invented—and like a great many other modern expressions, it conveys a meaning that nothing else could convey. "Lung thinker"—that's the newest. A fellow who thinks with his lungs, rather than with his head; the loud-mouthed, rattle-brained, irresponsible chap with a good voice—he's a "lung thinker." And the worst of it is we have a good many of them with us always.

Unusually you can tell just about how much a man knows by the tone of his voice. Certainly when you hear a man talking upon the street cars, in a tone of voice that can be heard from one end of it to the other, you know that he is a "lung thinker." When a man tries to win an argument by voice rather than by reason he has nothing else but his voice to depend upon.

We predict that the term "lung thinker" has come to stay. It means so much it so aptly expresses the character of some people, it can be so easily applied without danger of making a mistake in applying it, that we predict we shall eventually incorporate it into the language and print it in the dictionaries.

The End of Progress

Editorial in the San Antonio Light.

Someone poring over the old files in the United States patent office at Washington, the other day, found a letter written in 1833 that illustrates the limitations of the human imagination.

It was from an employe of the patent office, offering his resignation to the head of the department. His reason was that as everything inventable had been invented, the patent office would soon be discontinued and there would be no further need for his services or the services of any of his fellow clerks. He therefore decided to leave before the blow fell.

Everything inventable had been invented! The writer of this letter journeyed in a stage coach or a canal boat. He had never seen a limited train or an ocean greyhound. He read at night by candle light, if he read at all in the evening; more likely he went to bed soon after dark and did all his reading by daylight. He had never seen a house lighted by illuminating gas. The arc and incandescent electric lights were not to be invented for nearly a half century.

If he had ever heard of electricity, he thought of it as the mysterious and dangerous fluid that strikes from the clouds during a thunder storm. That it could be harnessed to do man's will had never occurred to him.

He had never heard the clicking of a telegraph sounder. The telephone would have seemed as wonderful to him as a voyage to the moon. Motion pictures would have reminded him of black art and the idea that a machine could be invented whereby man would fly above the clouds like a bird, ascending and descending at will, would have seemed to him merely absurd.

The modern printing press, the linotype machine which seems almost to think, the X-ray by means of which surgeons may diagnose disease and injury and lay out their work with scientific certainty, these things were yet to be invented long after he was dead. He could not imagine the automobile, now so common that they cover the streets and roads of all the world.

He could not dream that cannon would be made to throw a projectile more than twenty miles, that repeating rifles, revolvers and machine guns would be invented, that steel monsters of the deep would speed invisible under the seas with the power to send a giant ocean liner to the bottom within a matter of moments.

He lacked the imagination to see all the thousands and tens of thousands of comparatively small inventions that have come into being since his day, some of them for good and some for evil, but all telling a story of progress of one sort or another. Probably in this he did not differ from most of his fellowmen in his day. It is very likely most of his friends agreed with him that the limit of invention had been reached.

He seems unfortunately deficient in imagination and in optimism, as we read of his letter of resignation in the musty files of the patent office. But let us not take too much unction to our souls. We are as ignorant of what the next eighty years may bring forth as he was of the future of American inventions.

The Englishman and His Son

London Letter in Newark News: "You have a most interesting task," wrote Charles D. White, the American diplomatist, "but one in which it will be hard to do the English justice and easy to misunderstand them. Go and see Barrie's curtain-raiser, 'The New Word,' and keep it in mind as a key to the Englishman's inside." I took Mr. White's advice and was glad.

The play is a fireside scene in any Englishman's home. (The footlights, by the way, supply the firelight glow, so that the family, seated around the fender, face the audience. It takes Barrie to think up these touches—or has it been done before?) Anyway, the son of the family is ready to go to war. The mother asks the father to quit being sarcastic to the boy, just for once. (Enter the boy.) She bids her son go to fight for his country, and she bravely keeps from tears while she has her last talk with him.

"Your elder brother died when he was 8," she says, "and I've always thought of him as 8 until now. But now I see him a man of 21 and he wears the king's uniform as you do. And I should wish him to go and do his duty, too."

Scribbled down in this cold hotel ink it reads like rank melodrama, but that is the fault of the ink. Barrie uses another kind.

Father and son are left alone; it may be their last evening together in this life. Each feels the meaning of the occasion; each makes concessions; each is, at heart, proud of the other, and under the surface of mutual indifference each has thought all along that the other was a little bit of all right. The father hems and haws and gets the truth out at last—he loves to hear his son tell a funny story in company. The boy sweeps aside all his acquired notions of manly harshness and blurts out the confession that he used to brag about his father at school.

The mother returns to see her soldier boy to his bed.

"Good night—father," says the boy.

"Night!" growls the man.

The boy lingers, whistles, fusses with the furniture.

"Good night," he says again; then, resolutely, he lays his hand on the old man's shoulder an instant. "Dear father," he says, with a grim effort. And the father, when alone, presses the baby portrait of the boy to his lips.

That is all. But, like the street glimpse of Kitchener of Khartum, it tells a lot.

"Wilson Is on the Bridge."

Col. Henry Watterson in the Louisville Courier-Journal: Mr. Wickersham and Mr. Root remind us of Daniel Webster and Henry Clay—not in their breaths, Lord, no! but in their old Whig way of nosing around after some popular measure "to down the Locofocos." Webster and Clay sought and sought, but sought in vain. Standpat Republicanism is as dead as old-line Whiggery. On the bases of Harrison, McKinley and Taft it can never be resurrected. It may be well enough for the old leaders to try the "refawm" tack. But the wind will not blow their way. Besides, Wilson is on the bridge!

"Too Proud to Fight."

Boston Globe: The quotation, "No gentleman would insult me, none other can," is credited to John Quincy Adams, who is said to have made the reply when he was told that a man had spoken to him so rudely that he ought to send a challenge to a duel, and it is said also to have been used by Senator W. H. Seward in a debate growing out of the assault upon Senator Sumner by Preston Brooks, in 1856 and 1857, but it is pointed out that the quotation,

A moral, sensible, well-bred man
Will not affront me, and no other can,

is to be found in William Cowper's "Conversation."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Some Things the State Papers Are Saying.

And Who Cares?

Sauk Center Herald: Dr. Bergen, the Danish "Mark Twain," who, with his wife, is touring this country, declares that America leads the world in every line of human endeavor and then naively adds that "The men are terribly under the thumbs of their wives." That's the answer.

Meaning Just What?

Winona Leader: Dr. Cook has started on an expedition to scale the dizzy heights of Mount Everest—a point no human being has ever reached. In view of the suspicion that rests upon Dr. Cook's North Pole discovery it might be well for him to take competent witnesses on the trip. Teddy Roosevelt might be a good number to take along as an advertiser, but his testimony might lead to complications.

Ignoramuses!

Albert Lea Standard: The Underwood Democratic tariff law is causing hard times and unemployment in Spain and other countries besides the United States. In the other countries, however, the political economists and other ignoramuses attribute the cause to the great European war.

He Shouldn't.

Wabasha Herald: Who can lick Wilson is what a certain magazine wants to know. But why should Wilson be licked is what the people would like to know.

Probably a Cub Reporter Yarn.

Wabasha Herald: The Durand, Wis., Courier tells of a wedding in which the participants were a Mr. Fox and a Miss Wolf. No you don't. We refuse to contribute a comment.

Or Even By Jitney.

Ogilvie Sentinel: The United States now has a gun that will shoot, and shoot to kill, thirty-one miles. How much better to go that distance by railroad train.

'Nough Said.

Sauk Center Herald: In the recent fighting in Belgium the Canadian contingent covered itself with glory. What else did anybody expect? They are Americans.

That Tired One.

Little Falls Transcript: The Winona man who killed himself because he could not sleep should have loafed around a store that does not advertise. He would have absorbed a feeling that would produce slumber.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

Never a day is lost, dear,
If at night you can truly say
You've done one kindly deed, dear,
Or soothed some rugged way.

Never a day is dark, dear,
Where the sunshine of home may fall,
And where the sweet home voices
May answer when you call.

Never a day is sad, dear,
If it brings, at set of sun,
A kiss from mother's lips, dear,
And a thought of work well done.

Songs in the Night.

"God, my Maker, Who giveth songs in the night."—Job xxxv, 10.

The sun and moon may darken
And the stars withdraw their light,
But to the weary sleepers hearken
To the anthems of the night;
And up and down the spaces
On ladders of the skies,
Appear celestial faces
As the notes of music rise.

The songs of heaven cheer us
When suffering with pain,
And bring consolation near us
In gentle, soothing strain.
And thus to all who love Him,
Who seek their beds in prayer,
His pavilion spreads above them
And all His blessings share.

Oh, the vision, so resplendent,
Is always what it seems,
With songs of night attendant,
Though floating down in dreams.
For in perfect peace He keepeth
The soul that stays on Him,
Awake or when it sleepeth,
His love in shadows dim.

Songs in the night He giveth
To you who spend the day,
And in His service liveth,
And walketh in His way.
So when the shadows darken,
And the sun is out of sight,
Oh, child of God, but hearken
To the songs He sends at night.

"Brainy" Mr. Root.

Kansas City Star: Somebody said once that Mr. Root was the "prainiest" man in the United States. There is a great fascination about that word "brainiest." It gets itself believed. Soon others remarked what a "brainy man" Mr. Root was. It got to be an accepted topic of conversation. At card games, horse races, meetings of the Young People's Christian Endeavor societies, Mothers' clubs, funerals, farmers' institutes—whenever other conversation lagged the people began talking about Elihu Root's brains.

Now, unless approximately 88 per cent of the American people are unintelligent; unless Mr. Roosevelt is unintelligent; unless Mr. Wilson is unintelligent, Mr. Root is wrong about pretty nearly everything requiring the intellectual process. He is especially wrong about those things that he makes his specialty. He is wrong about the courts; he is wrong about the law; he is wrong about national conventions; he is wrong about the functions of government; he is wrong about political machines and machine bosses.

Human Nature Erupts.

Springfield Republican: Occasionally human nature comes out in a way to command attention and strike the universal note. The Cape Cod Independent gives an example in a trespass notice which it declares was painted on two barrel staves and nailed on a tree by a much-harassed Cape Cod farmer:

Notis Trespasers will be pursecuted to the ful extent of 2 mongrul dogs which aint never been overly soshuble to strangers and 1 dubble-barl shot gun which aint loaded with sofypillars, dam if I aint gittin tired of this helrasin on my property.

Twenty Years Ago

Reminiscence

Willis Boyd Allen in Scribner's Magazine: The taste for reminiscence grows by indulgence, and may easily become boresome to one's friends, pernicious to oneself. At what age, I wonder, does a man begin to walk backward? The tendency, which, of course, varies with the temperament of the individual, is a subtle and deplorable habit.

After 50 most of us look over our shoulders a good deal, to say the least; and before long, turning slowly, like Mr. Pickwick on the ice at Dingley Dell, we are but too apt to set our faces almost wholly toward the past.

When I revisit the scenes of earlier travel and adventure I find myself inevitably reverting to those days in which I, too, was young and hopeful; and, what is worse, boring my youthful companions by calling their attention to incidents long forgotten, and to biographical anecdotes of friends who once, as these do now, made the forest ring with their laughter and merry voices, long since silent. "Twenty"—"thirty"—"forty years ago," I hear myself, over and over. It is, indeed, an insidious fault, apt to result in a habit of mind, and consequent reiteration of reminiscence, which might be termed "egoism." Many of my friends are afflicted with it, and find my own mood and conversation but too often glaring examples of the failing.

Heavens! if all of us who yield to Lot's wife's temptation were to be summarily visited with that unhappy lady's punishment, every highway would soon be but a pergola, for the white pillars upreared along its course!

Anticipated Him.

THE OPEN COURT

ARGUMENT THAT WAS OVERLOOKED

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have read with genuine appreciation of its judicial spirit the editorial in your issue of May 4 entitled "The Initiative and Referendum." The calm and fair way in which you handle the somewhat hysterical writer in the Biwabik Times is deserving of all commendation.

I would like, however, to call your attention to one argument which we always use when the question of opposing sections of a given state is raised as an objection to the initiative and referendum. It is this, that experience has shown that where a sectional issue is at stake, the decision of the entire electorate is far more likely to be a just compromise than is the action of a legislative body in the legislature. The men representing definite local constituencies in the legislature almost invariably feel impelled to a more intensely partisan stand on a sectional issue than would the same men voting on that issue at the polls. With this idea in mind, it is entirely reasonable to believe that the people of Southern Minnesota would not be so likely to vote for a measure injurious to Northern Minnesota as would a preponderant southern delegation in the state legislature on a similar question.

Yours sincerely,

SECRETARY BRYAN AND THE PUBLIC

To the Editor of The Herald:

I note by a Washington telegram of May 20 that Secretary of State Bryan is quoted as saying: "Hereafter only such news as I consider proper to make public will be given out" regarding the German situation and the possibility or probability of war between the United States and Germany, "and any attempt to question me about matters that I deem confidential may result in the offender being refused admission to the department."

I would ask, as an American citizen, since when did public business become the private business of the secretary of state in this country? Is it under some of the new laws enacted since the induction of Mr. Wilson into office, or is it one of the natural consequences of entrusting the general government of the country to a Democratic administration?

I had always supposed the people of the United States—under a Democratic administration especially—were entitled to any and all news affecting their political well-being, but it would seem under the ruling of Mr. Bryan as enunciated in the above, that my supposition was erroneous, as I recognize the fact that a secretary of state who has a son-in-law in the British army, can make no error in fathoming what is best for the common herd to know or not to know regarding the war status of the country.

It would appear the only province of the common herd is to fight for the country when the time comes, without being acquainted with the facts or circumstances leading to the fray. And it may be that my deduction that an American citizen should be acquainted with any such facts is "off." If so, I wish you would put me clear on the point, that in future I may more fully know the duties, provinces and perquisites of an American official whose son-in-law is an officer in the British army, and know the full duty and quota of belief expected in such an unquestionably neutral official as Mr. Bryan on the part of American citizenry.

SOCIETY AND THE UNEMPLOYED.

To the Editor of The Herald:

The plea of the unemployed as expressed in their communication to the city commission of yesterday, should cause the defenders of the present system to blush with shame, when the men in overalls are compelled to ask that the God given injunction be enforced.

The plea of these men, like the wail of the lost one in the desert, should singe the distorted conscience of the industrial masters who are molding into form the inferno of discontent. What crime can be committed that is more brutal or more inhumane, than the crime that a few should own the tools which other men must use in order to earn their living?

Who shall be responsible for the acts of these men, if by hunger they are driven to commit acts against the persons and property of others? Shall they, or must society as a whole assume? Yes, because society has allowed the few to monopolize the land and machinery, closed the door of opportunity to the great majority, stifled incentive, mocked religion, and has said to the man in the overalls you may work and earn your bread when it pleases me.

There are many of the smooth tongued gentry who used to laugh at us Socialists. They used to call us anarchists, dreamers and irresponsibles, but what will they say to those men who are pleading for the right to work and earn their bread? What will they say to the pleadings of the wives and children that their husbands and fathers be given jobs so they may be able to earn enough to keep the wolf from the door?

Duluth will learn as it grows larger and becomes an industrial center that it will also become an industrial hell and conditions will grow worse as capitalism develops.

LETTING THE JUDGES TRY IT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Your editorials have been my chief point of interest for some time. Your editorial about taking a voluntary dose, "Letting the Judges Try It," has inspired me to say a word or two.

Relative to your first paragraph, I can say from sixteen years of a criminal career and actual experience in criminal realms and penal institutions, that you either speak with doubt, ignorance or fear of criticism. 'Tis no wonder that you cannot speak more emphatically or intellectually on this subject, as I or one that has suffered and existed—not lived—the hardships and monotonous routine of prison life with its innumerable privations and the silent waste of humanity, which in themselves will eventually be considered both brutal, inhuman and uncivilized.

I will try to write relative to each paragraph in detail, and am in a position to assert my authority on this subject through my personal experience and knowledge.

As you intimated, it apparently does tickle the fancy to see a judge or lawmaker serve a voluntary or compulsory period on a state farm or in a penal institution. I confidently predict that the twentieth century will close with many changes that are now being termed fancies and otherwise.

Existing conditions today in our prisons are so, through the inability or unwillingness of those governing them to cope with the situation properly. The bastile and other primeval forms of punishment are to be things of the past. Inhumanity to unfortunates under the cloak of justice to society will be looked upon as hideous, horrible and almost incredible, just as we look upon the records of early histories. The methods of punishment in vogue in the old Tower of London are known to many, and yet to think that some of these very practices are continued today! This is termed progression in the twentieth century.

Prison, in nine cases out of ten, never reforms a man, although records show remarkable results annually. You may be inhuman to a dog and make him like it, but you cannot expect it of a man, after his release from servitude, to look you "square in the eye" with that indescribable prison stain forever hovering about him, and expect him to redeem himself to you—so-called society.

Verily, if he does not willingly better his ways, nothing but providence can make him. He has suffered the tortures of a living hell just because he was confronted with the misfortune of being in want, and in desperation committed some deed that in the eyes of man and justice were deemed sufficient grounds for segregation. The public, or so-called society, we must confess, in a measure certainly "kick a dog when he's down," unconsciously or otherwise.

If men are criminals, they should be reformed, not punished, for if any punishment is supposedly given them, 'tis their families or the ones most dependent upon them that suffer, and not them. Many years back the inability of doctors to cure epilepsy allowed them to suffer and die; but today science tries to devise ways and means to prevent it, without sacrificing the life or lives of human beings that have fallen into such a misfortune. I again say that the inability to cope with a situation is a sure sign the easiest and quickest method will be employed, just so long as it can be made to "look good."

Your fifth paragraph is a "corker." 'Tis a most logical and plausible thing for a judge that holds the destinies and the future of many human beings—not like cattle that are inevitably punished for a wrong deed—to know and to fully understand the value and weight of the sentences that he metes out with a stroke of his pen. Those that have done wrong and were given a chance through the method of probation have shown remarkable results beneficial to the populace. This shows that one does not need to go to prison to mend his ways. The little trouble that probation entails in most cases is sufficient punishment for an offender, allowing for the exception to everything.

An editorial as that printed in the Star of Hope (the bi-monthly paper of Sing Sing prison) the latter part of 1913, and which was reprinted in the editorial columns of newspapers in different parts of the country, will define Thomas Mott Osborne's visit or voluntary incarceration at Auburn prison. The editorial is written under the heading, "Beneath the Surface."

This editorial, I know, will enable you to broaden your views on this subject. A copy may be obtained, probably, from the prison files at Stillwater, or by writing to the New York papers. The Brooklyn Eagle commented upon its merits.

You closed your article with a clever innuendo. Such writings as that are surely detrimental to civilization, for 'tis through your ignorance of actual prison routine or life that one could figure a great deal better if he fully knew what the thing tasted like himself, regardless of any plane of society.

Then again, voluntary imprisonment will not fully serve its purpose. In order to fully understand the emotions of one in such a predicament, they must feel the silent pangs of worriment and sorrow, and at the same time be possessed with the feeling that those dearest and near to him, dependent upon him for support, will be taken away from him to, in most cases, be forced to face the world in an effort to keep the family's bodies and souls together under a warm shelter. They may try to imagine such a feeling, but will only succeed nominally.

Thus we see that it really is "beneath the surface" of brother man, and 'tis then, and then only, when we can fully understand the above that we can place ourselves in a position to enlighten and promote civilization.

EX-CONVICT.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling of or concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

Subscriber Knife River—I would like to know how far from the center of county or state road to build a fence, and how wide the road is supposed to be. Some claim 66 feet and others 33 feet.—The fence should be built thirty-three feet from the center of the road. Chapter 236, General Laws of Minnesota for 1913, section 2, reads: "All roads established by town or county boards shall be at least four rods wide and may be six rods wide when all residents of lands adjoining shall petition for the same." A state road is a road already established by a county, and designated as state highway. Hence the rule is the same.

Subscriber, Ironwood—Would you be kind enough to answer a question for me in the Open Court with regard to roads on section lines? I am living on a section line on which line there are eleven houses, (all taxpayers.) We have petitioned the city administration for a road and sidewalk without success. Is there such a law in Michigan that will call for a road on the said section line? If not, what course would you advise us residents to adopt? Thanking you for space in your valuable paper.—Your question does not state whether you are within the city limits or not. The best course would be for the taxpayers who want the improvements to get together and employ an attorney to present their plea to the proper authorities.

Anonymous—Would you kindly answer the following: Who is chief justice of the United States, the two United States senators from this state, the congressman from the Eighth district, and the lieutenant governor, the chief justice of the supreme court of this state and the members of the state legislature from this district, including the state senator and the member or members of the state house of representatives.—Edward D. White, chief justice of United States supreme court; Knute Nelson and Moses E. Clapp, U. S. senators from Minnesota; Clarence B. Miller, congressman, Eighth district, Minn.; A. A. O. Mr. Gardener, Now Is the Time to —

Now is the time, Mr. Gardener, to get in the rest of your garden stuff.

Keep the ground stirred and cultivated around the growing plants. This will keep the soil moist and prevent it from baking after the sun dries up the surface moisture.

Beans and other garden truck that could not have been planted last week may now be put in.

Tomato plants may be set out this week if the present weather continues. It is best to protect the plants at night, however, by covering them with newspapers.

Don't plant melons, squash or other tender heat-loving plants until about June 1.

Before transplanting celery or tomato plants, soak them thoroughly for several hours. This will enable you to carry more dirt with the plant.

Only 5% PLUS for the Best "Non-Skid"

PRACTICALLY all Non-Skid Tires that make serious claims to non-skid efficiency cost you 10% to 30% more than Plain Tread Tires of same brand and material.

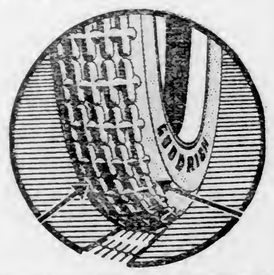
Goodrich Safety Tread Tires cost you only 5% more than our plain tread tires.

Here's how and Why!

FORTY-FIVE years of Rubber working (in what is now the World's largest Rubber Factory) has taught us a few Kinks and Short-cuts that are not common to the Trade.

One of these now comes to the help of your Pocket-book.

Through the simple process of Thinking Hard (and being Candid with ourselves) we have found a Short-Cut to make the best Safety Tread ever put on a Tire cost us only about 5% more than it costs to make the Plain-Tread of similar quality.



Goodrich Safety Tread Tires cost you only 5% more than our own or any other plain tread tires.

Note the following table of comparative prices on non-skid tires. Columns headed "A," "B," "C" and "D" represent four highly advertised tires:

Size	Goodrich Safety Tread	OTHER MAKES "A"	"B"	"C"	"D"
30 x 3	$9.45	$10.55	$10.95	$16.35	$18.10
30 x 3½	12.20	13.35	14.20	21.70	23.60
32 x 3½	14.00	15.40	16.30	22.85	25.30
34 x 4	20.35	22.30	23.80	31.15	33.55

By testing out these Goodrich Safety-Tread Tires on a large number of Taxicabs (where they could be competitively observed and carefully checked up at the end of each day's use) and by comparing their actual performance with that of our own, and other Plain-Treads, of much higher price, we have had this fact forced upon us—

Viz:

—That there is SURPRISINGLY more Mileage, in Goodrich Safety Tread Tires, than in our own, or any other, make of Plain-Tread Tires.

So MUCH more Mileage, for only 5% more Cost looked so good to us that we decided to give Car Owners the benefit.

Here's what we now offer you!

The best Non-Skid Safety Tread ever put on the market, and it costs you only 5% more than our best plain tread tire.

BETTER BERTH FOR FORMER DULUTHIAN

Kenneth Beaton of Seattle Will Write for Hearst Papers.

Many Duluthians who know Kenneth C. Beaton, member of the News Tribune staff here years ago, will be pleased to learn that he has given up his position with the Seattle Post-Intelligencer for a better one with the Hearst papers.

Mr. Beaton, who has been writing "Ye Towne Gossip" column and the quaint "Totem Pole" weekly for the Seattle P. I. for many years, is known as one of the best humorous writers of the country. He is familiarly called "K. C. B." and the former Duluthian, it is understood, has signed up a flattering contract with the Hearst syndicate. A few weeks ago "K. C. B." wrote of the late Rev. C. C. Salter, declaring in an answer to a reader that this minister, whom he had known in Duluth, had done more good in the world than Andrew Carnegie is doing with all his millions.

"'Kenny' Beaton has been a newspaper man all his life. He has been managing editor of big dailies and space writer on little ones. He has been in Seattle for a number of years and has perhaps as wide and favorable an acquaintance here as any, even the oldest resident. He is one of the most companionable men in the world, cheerful, a lively conversationalist, a genial wit and a hard worker. The Hearst papers have got a mighty good man in 'K. C. B.'"

MAYO PROPOSAL HAS BEEN REVISED

University Board to Control All Instruction By Foundation.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 24.—Dr. William J. Mayo of Rochester, representing the $1,500,000 foundation for medical research and education, on Saturday withdrew practically all the conditions which have accompanied the offer of affiliation with the graduate school at the university. In consultation in Minneapolis with the executive committee of the board of regents, Dr. Mayo put it up to the regents to draw their own agreement with the donors of the foundation.

Coming to Minneapolis with his attorney, Burt Eaton of Rochester, at the request of the regents, Dr. Mayo made it clear that no technicality should interfere with the acceptance of the Mayo offer, and that he and his brother, Dr. Charles H. Mayo, were willing to leave the conditions governing the gift with the board of regents.

As a result of the visit of Dr. Mayo to Minneapolis the Mayo project in its final form will provide:

That the university shall teach postgraduate medicine at Rochester with the complete corps of instructors appointed by the regents and with the rules of procedure outlined by the regents.

That the temporary period of affiliation shall be six years, or some other period, and at the end of that time the regents shall come into complete control of the $1,500,000 fund, with interest during the temporary period.

That during the temporary period the entire expense of the graduate teaching, including facilities and scientific material, should be borne by the Mayos without touching the $1,500,000 fund.

That there shall be no restrictions concerning the continuation of the work at Rochester except that a "part" of the foundation money shall be used in that city.

Control of Faculty.

Under the old plan it was proposed that the Mayo foundation should name the men who were to act as instructors at Rochester. Under the new plan, the regents will have complete control of the faculty and will name the instructors in the same way instructors in the department of medicine are now named.

Under the new proposal there will not even be a stipulation that Rochester must remain the headquarters of the affiliation. Part of the work must be conducted at Rochester, but it is up to the regents to decide what "part of the work" means.

Hospital Remains Separate.

An additional part of the new agreement will be a stipulation that the regents shall have nothing to do with the hospital at Rochester or any part of the work of the clinic. The regents name the men who shall instruct the graduate students, prescribe the course of study and have complete control of the work. The Mayo foundation provides the facilities, buildings and material and during the temporary period pays for the entire expense of the work. Should a permanent affiliation be entered into, the fund—which in six years should aggregate $2,000,000—goes into the complete possession of the regents and the interest will be used in conducting the work at Rochester or in other work the regents may prescribe.

POLES TO HAVE DONATION DAY

Duluth Committee Raising Money for Relief of War Sufferers.

The local Polish relief committee held a special meeting yesterday at the St. Peter and St. Paul Polish school in the West end, and decided to hold a "Polish Day" for the war sufferers in Poland, on July 24. Heretofore the citizens of Duluth of Polish birth or descent have worked among themselves, and have done well, considering the conditions and season of the year. They have collected more than 1,300, which has been sent to the central Polish relief committee at Chicago, which is the American representative of the general Polish relief committee in Switzerland, of which Henry K. Sienkiewicz is the president and Ignacz J. Paderewski is vice president. John F. Smulski, president of the Northwestern Loan & Savings bank of Chicago, is treasurer of the central Polish relief committee.

The local Polish relief committee is the local representative of the general relief committee, and is working in harmony and co-operation with all other committees organized for relief and aid of the Polish war sufferers, who are dying by the hundreds every day for want of food, shelter and clothing.

Rhinelander Murder.

Rhinelander, Wis., May 24.—Five suspects have been arrested in an effort to clear up the killing of an unknown man here Sunday. He was about 30 years of age and was found with his throat cut from ear to ear. His face and body were terribly gashed and his face shows the effects of a brutal beating. Nothing on the body served to identify the victim.

The Passing of Simple Bitters

ONE of the favorite prescriptions we inherit from our eighteenth century forefathers is the "bitter tonic" for the appetite and digestion. Convalescents, near-invalids, those with alleged stomach complaint, have swallowed numberless gallons of simple "stomachic bitters" without ill effect, if not without benefit. The average patient doubts he is getting a tonic if it isn't good and bitter. But the greatest abuse of the bitter tonic habit has been the prescribing of such remedies for persons who eat too much and exercise too little and have stomach complaint.

Gentian, cardamom, quassia, calumba and the famous elixer of iron, quinine and strychnine are the most popular of the bitters. There is a firmly grounded idea that these remedies increase the secretion of gastric juice, increase the appetite and improve assimilation of food. Some of them probably do increase peristaltic movement and so improve digestion in certain cases where food stasis or lack of motility in the gastro-intestinal canal causes trouble. But scientific investigation proves that the "bitters" do not appreciably improve the digestive activity of the stomach; they do not increase the secretion of gastric juice, as had been supposed.

Outside of the strychnine, and sometimes other objectionable ingredients, such "bitter tonics" at least do no particular harm, if one likes to "take something" for every little symptom. The only objection is that the habit of taking "tonics"—whatever that word may mean—for all sorts of functional and organic trouble is simply contributing to the national sin of "taking something" instead of "doing something." Drugs are a great blessing in times of acutal need and a great curse at other times.

After all, "stomach trouble" and indigestion can rarely, if ever, be noticeably benefited by medicines alone. The "bitters" are, we fancy, prominent members of the kind of physic one great poet would have thrown to the dogs, and another to the bottom of the sea.

Yes.

Cracking Knees—I am troubled with my knees cracking when I go down stairs. What can I do? Is it old age coming on? I am only 45.

REPLY.

Not old age. Perhaps the effect of past inflammation or injury of the knees. Do nothing.

Nurse's Tuition—Please inform me what tuition a nurse must pay while she is in training. ESTHER.

REPLY.

None. Usually the hospital allows her from $5 to $15 per month to cover her expenses.

Laxative for Mother—Please suggest a laxative which a nursing mother can take without upsetting the baby. Does fatigue affect the baby through the milk? I thank you for your articles about the keeping of children after school.

REPLY.

Pure petroleum oil ("Russian" oil, liquid vaseline, alboline, etc.) is one good one. The old standard is compound licorice powder, but the senna in it does affect the baby's bowels. Phenolphthalein in tablets or wafers containing one grain, flavored with cocoa, chocolate, sugar or wintergreen, is good. Fatigue of the mother is passed through the milk to the baby; fatigue is due to poisons from functional activity.

A Young Man With Chronic Rhinitis—I am 17 and I think there is something the matter with my throat—it feels dry and like something was in there. I spit slimy fluid, and sometimes my nose is plugged up. Will —— Kidney pills help me?

REPLY.

You probably have a chronic nasal catarrh, simple chronic rhinitis, for which you should have local treatment of the nose and throat by the doctor. The pills will not help you.

WHY ITALY ENTERS WAR

Declined Last Summer to Support Germanic Empires Under Triple Alliance.

Main Desire Is to Gain "Unredeemed Italy" in Austria.

Rome, May 24.—The entrance of Italy into the world war brings the number of states engaged up to eleven. Italy, allied with Germany and Austria-Hungary since 1882 in the Triple Alliance, was called upon last summer, shortly after the assassination of the Austrian crown prince at Sarajevo, Bosnia, to support the Germanic empires. She declined, and then began a series of diplomatic negotiations which soon resolved themselves into efforts on the part of Germany and Austria-Hungary to induce Italy to remain neutral.

Prince von Buelow, whose wife is an Italian woman, was sent to Rome with instructions to do all he could to save the situation. He labored indefatigably for months, but in vain. He offered Italy certain parts of Austrian territory as the price of her neutrality, but her answer was always, "It is not enough." It now appears that Austria did not really believe that Italy would enter the field against her.

War Party Arises.

In the meantime, there had arisen a war party, led by "irredentists," who made its voice heard in no uncertain terms. Dispatches from Rome for months have indicated that the sentiment for active participation in the war was stronger by far than that on the side of continued neutrality.

For months the diplomatic exchanges between Vienna and Rome had been constant, but the most persistent efforts of the diplomats to keep Italy out of the war were futile. The Triple Alliance was denounced by Italy on May 4, but even after this, diplomatic endeavors were continued, Austria offering Italy further concessions as late as May 10.

Italy's first move on land undoubtedly will be against the Austrian frontier. Large numbers of her troops are mobilized in this territory and the forces of Austria-Hungary are lined up on the other side of the boundary. The very mountainous character of the terrain where the opposing armies face each other, the southern part of the Austrian Alps, promises operations and fighting of a most difficult nature. For several weeks past both the Austro-Hungarians and the Calania armies have been engaged in fortifying and otherwise adopting protective measures, each on its side of the dividing line.

Italian Fleet in Adriatic.

So far as known the Italian fleet is mostly in the Adriatic under command of the duke of Abruzzi. Generally it is believed that the fleet will proceed against the naval strength of Austria in these waters.

On the Adriatic are the Austrian ports of Trieste and Pola and Fiume is in Hungary. The Dalmatian coast is also Austria's. The Dardanelles are less than 800 miles from Southern Italy and her participation in the operation against these Turkish positions should be expected.

One great purpose of Italy in entering the war is to gain possession of "unredeemed Italy," a sweep of Austrian territory to the north and east, near the head of the Adriatic sea. This region, which includes Trent and Trieste, is Italian in all but nationality. To attain it has long been her cherished ambition.

The territory in dispute may be defined roughly as the sections of Austria south of a line drawn in the Rhaetician Alps, where Italy, Austria and Switzerland meet, eastward to the Carnic Alps, and thence southward to the Italian Alps and again eastward to include Fiume. The first part of this territory forms a wedge penetrating Italy between Lombardy and Venetia and cutting Lake Garda, while the second portion includes the peninsula of Istria and runs northward to the Julian Alps, between Tagliamento and Saverivers. This territory is called "Italia Irredenta" (unredeemed Italy), because it once formed part of the Italian states of the Middle Ages, and because the majority of the people are of Italian stock. For the same reason, the Dalmatian island districts are considered part of this territory.

Includes 8,000 Square Miles.

Aside from the Dalmatian islands, the territory sought by Italy includes about 8,000 square miles, with more than 1,000,000 inhabitants.

When the great European war began, Italy's army was considerably below the normal peace footing estimated at 300,000 men. Almost half of these troops were in Tripoli. Three classes of men were called to the colors immediately and others were summoned from time to time until now the active or first line army numbers more than 1,000,000 men of all arms.

The age limit of active service in Italy is 52. Men between that age and 40 form the territorial army, consisting of eight classes, amounting to about 1,150,000 second line troops. There also are about 1,000,000 men trained, but exempt from military service, who in case of urgent necessity, could be called to arms. Volunteer corps, likewise could be formed so that Italy's total war strength, including resources of all kinds, is figured at about 4,000,000 men.

In eight months she has spent $400,000,000 in military preparations. Profiting by the lessons of the war to date, particular attention was paid to artillery, and her equipment in this arm, from machine guns to heavy guns, are reported to be superior to the now famous German and Austrian type, and in military circles there have been rumors that she has evolved a field piece of about three-inch caliber exceeding in range, accuracy, ease of handling and effectiveness of projectile, even the famous French "75."

Italy has a powerful fleet of modern warships. The duke of Abruzzi, cousin of King Victor Emanuel, who is the chief naval officer of Italy, recently assumed command of five dreadnaughts, the most powerful squadron ever assembled under the Italian flag. In addition, Italy has eight battleships of the pre-dreadnaught, nine armored cruisers, thirteen protected cruisers and the usual complement of destroyers and torpedo boats. She has twenty-five submarines.

Italy's population (1913) is given as 35,235,000. Military or naval service is compulsory, and universal.

expressed as to make it operative until the last man was killed.

Great Battle.

"In spite of the unusual difficulties of the ground and the desperate resistance of the enemy we triumphed. The battle of Lorette was a great battle and ended in complete victory. In this part of the front fighting has been going on uninterruptedly since October, 1914."

Continuing the eye witness recalls the leading incidents since last October, referring among other things to the French withdrawal March 3, 1915, after an heroic defense. Finally on March 15 the French began to get the upper hand in their offensive movements.

Thousands of Dead.

"Thousands of dead testify to the desperate nature of the contest," the eye witness goes on to say. "Facing the French was a formidable organization; lines of trenches reinforced by sacks of earth and cement and further protected by a double and triple system of barbed wire entanglements and other defenses, the whole protected by quick-firing guns. At various points heavy artillery, carefully concealed, had been placed.

"To overcome these obstacles we carefully prepared our attack, multiplying our trenches and placing our heavy artillery in the rear.

"The division charged with the attack on Lorette comprised three regiments of infantry and three battalions of chasseurs."

French Statement.

Paris, May 24.—The French war office this afternoon gave a report on the progress of hostilities, reading:

"At several points between Steenstrate and Ypres the enemy yesterday delivered attacks after having made preliminary use of asphyxiating gases. These attacks were repulsed.

"In the region to the north of Arras the fighting continued all night long. We took 120 prisoners at a point to the north of the village of Neuville St. Vaast. The enemy delivered several counter-attacks, but they were checked by our artillery. The artillery engagements are being continued with intensity.

"Further reports received describe strikingly the extent of the check administered to the Germans in this region during the evening of May 22 and the night of May 22-23. In spite of the numerous reinforcements brought forward with all speed and the vigor of the fresh attacks repeated two or three times the enemy failed in every one of his efforts and suffered considerable losses.

"Nothing has been reported from the remainder of the front."

German Statement.

Berlin, May 24, via London, 2:50 p.m.—The following statement was issued at the war office:

"Western theater of war—Several advances by night and day by the British between Neuve Chapelle and Givenchy and French attacks on the northern slope of the Lorette hills, at Ablain and north and south of Neuville were repulsed with heavy losses to the enemy, who lost 150 prisoners.

"Between the Meuse and the Moselle artillery battles continue. In the forest of Le Pretre the French suffered losses during a new and unsuccessful attack.

"In the eastern and southeastern theaters of war the situation is unchanged."

GERMANY HAS DECLARED WAR ON ITALY

martial law has been declared in the Trentino; the age limit for military service has been raised to 50 years and stringent measures have been taken to control the Italian population of the dual monarchy.

Demonstrations enthusiastically approving the war are reported from all parts of Italy, while on the other hand Austria has the warmest support of the people against the new enemy.

Petrograd Optimistic.

The latest official announcement given out at Petrograd is the most optimistic issued for a fortnight past. It not only indicates a pause in the Austro-German advance along the River San, but claims that the Russians have adopted counter-offensive operations with some measure of success.

Although not confirmed from any official source, reports are published here that Germany, faced with Italy as a new foe in the south, will have to shorten her western line and that, consequently, she is preparing to withdraw her men from the advanced line in Flanders. The reported evacuation of Bruges is said to be a part of this movement.

Italians Enthusiastic.

Rome, May 24, via London.—Enthusiastic demonstrations in favor of the war continue throughout Italy. In Florence, Venice, Genoa, Milan and the other large centers, crowds throng the streets cheering for the king and the army.

Most of the members of the chamber of deputies have volunteered for service in the army or navy.

680,000 Men on Frontier.

The Hague, May 24, via London.—From information reaching The Hague it is understood that the Germans and Austrians have concentrated approximately 680,000 men on the Italian frontier. They have occupied strategic positions in order to meet an attack or to attempt to strike the first heavy blow in an endeavor to dishearten the new combatants at the beginning of the campaign.

The Germans constitute the larger part of this force, which is made up of thirty-four divisions of approximately 20,000 men each.

Only ten of these divisions are Austrians.

German and Austrian diplomats here apparently are not perturbed by the entry into the war of a new antagonist. It is pointed out in other quarters, however, that Italy's decision may have the effect of curtailing Germany's supplies, large quantities of which hitherto have reached Germany by way of Italy and Switzerland.

Grand Forks Voting.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grand Forks is today holding a special election for the purpose of passing on the question of erecting a $250,000 high school building.

interest if there is a purpose of exploitation on the part of any person connected with a great conference of this sort. We are not, therefore, trying to make use of each other, but we are trying to be of use to one another.

Surprised at Delay.

"It is very surprising to me, it is even a source of mortification that a conference like this should have been so long delayed, that it should never have occurred before, that it should have required a crisis of the world to show the Americans how truly they were neighbors to one another. If there is any one happy circumstance, gentlemen, arising out of the present distressing circumstances of the world, it is that it has revealed us to one another; it has shown us what it means to be neighbors. And I cannot help harboring the hope, the very high hope, that by this commerce of minds with one another, as well as commerce in goods, we may show the world in part the path to peace.

"It would be a very great thing if the Americans could add to the distinction which they already wear, this of showing the way to peace, to permanent peace. The way to peace for us, at any rate, is manifest. It is the kind of rivalry which does not involve aggression.

Jealousy of Excellence.

"It is the knowledge that men can be of the greatest service to each other and nations of the greatest service to one another, when the jealousy between them is merely a jealousy of excellence, and when the basis of their intercourse is friendship. There is only one way in which we wish to take advantage of you, and that is by making better goods, by doing the things that we seek to do for each other better, if we can, than you do them, and so spurring you on, if we might, by so handsome a jealousy as that to excel us.

"I am so keenly aware that the basis of personal friendship is this competition in excellence, that I am perfectly certain that this is the only basis for the friendship of nations, this handsome rivalry, this rivalry in which there is no dislike; this rivalry in which there is nothing but the hope of a common elevation in great enterprises, which we can undertake in common.

Communication Lacking.

"There is one thing that stands in our way among others—for you are more conversant with the circumstances than I am; the thing I have chiefly in mind is the physical lack of means of communication, the lack of vehicles, the lack of ships, the lack of established routes of trade—the lack of those things which are absolutely necessary if we are to have true commercial and intimate commercial relations with one another; and I am perfectly clear in my judgment that if private capital cannot soon enter upon the adventure of establishing these physical means of communication, the governments must undertake to do so. We cannot indefinitely stand apart and need each other for the lack of what can easily be supplied, and if one instrumentality cannot supply it, then another must be found which will supply it. We cannot know each other unless we see each other; we cannot deal with each other unless we communicate with each other. So soon as we communicate and are upon a familiar footing of intercourse with one another, we shall understand one another, and the bonds between the Americas will be such bonds that no influence that the world may produce in the future will ever break them."

AUSTRIAN CHARGES ARE DENIED BY ITALY

Declares Statement Printed in Vienna Incorrect and Misleading.

Rome, May 23, via Paris, May 24.—The official statement published at Vienna charging that Italy did not adhere to the principles of the Triple Alliance treaty is declared by the Giornale d'Italia to be entirely incorrect and misleading. The Italian position, as summarized by the newspaper, follows:

"The situation of Italy became intolerable when Austrian and German aggression against Serbia caused the European conflagration without giving previous notification to Rome.

"Italy legitimately undertook to protect her own interests, according to rights granted her by the Triple Alliance treaty.

"Austria, despite German good offices, blindly and obstinately resisted Italy's just demands, rendering inevitable acute antagonism. Therefore Austria alone is responsible for the new war, although Germany is not entirely blameless, but Italy did everything humanly possible to prevent it.

"It is exceedingly strange that Austria now asserts article 7 of the Triple Alliance treaty referred to Turkey and not to the Balkans, although it contains the phrase 'status quo in the Balkan region.' The meaning of this phrase has been discussed since August, 1914, between the Rome and Vienna governments. The latter, with the complete agreement of Berlin, ended by adhering without condition to the Italian interpretation that it meant not only Turkey but also the states in the Balkan peninsula."

STUDENTS MAY TAKE PART IN CONTESTS

Will Be Allowed to Shoot in Rifle Competitions in Florida.

New York, May 24.—Teams of students from universities which give military instruction and from military schools and academies will be allowed to take part in the national shooting competitions to be held on the Florida range this year, according to an announcement by the national board for promotion of rifle practice today. This will be the first time that students have been permitted to take part in these competitions.

The matches of the National Rifle Association of America will be held on the Florida range from Oct. 8 to 14. The national competitions will follow, beginning with the National Individual match, after which the team match and the national pistol contest will be held.

Col. Richard M. Blatchford, U. S. A., commandant of the Army School of Musketry at Fort Sill, Okla., has been selected as executive officer for the contest.

TURKISH GUNBOAT SUNK BY SUBMARINE

Constantinople, May 23, by wireless to Berlin and London, May 24.—An official statement issued last night by the Turkish general staff said:

"The 25-year-old gunboat Pelenk-i-Deria was sunk this afternoon by a hostile submarine. Two members of the crew were killed, but all the others escaped without injury."

SAW ACTION OF SUBMARINE

Passenger on Lusitania Gives Vivid Description of Sinking of Ship.

Dr. Carl Foss of Harlem, Mont., Arrives in New York City.

New York, May 24.—A vivid description of the sinking of the Lusitania, torpedoed May 7 off the Irish coast, was given by Dr. Carl E. Foss of Harlem, Mont., a survivor who reached New York today on the steamer New York from Liverpool.

"From the deck of the Lusitania I saw a submarine about a mile away at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon," Dr. Foss said. "I borrowed a pair of glasses and through them saw the submarine plainly, although I could not make out its nationality or number. It was traveling at the same speed as the steamer—we were going very slowly—and left a white wake of foam.

"The Lusitania's officers must have seen the submarine at the same time, for the course of the steamer was changed. The submarine was submerged after staying on the surface about five minutes. Forty minutes later the torpedo struck.

No Panic.

"There was some little excitement on deck, but no panic. The steamer tipped to one side. I was about to jump overboard when I saw stewards taking lifebelts from a box on the deck. I went back and passed out the lifebelts to passengers as long as they lasted, taking one myself. Then I dropped off the rail into the water.

"Soon afterwards I saw a lifeboat break from the davits and fall into the sea almost under the propeller blades. The blades ripped through the little boat and battered it to bits. One of the men was cut to pieces before my eyes; the water was red where the boat went down.

"The boilers exploded and shot up a cloud that rained debris all around. I swam away as fast as I could and met a woman struggling for breath. She had a child in her arms. I found an oar and gave it to her to rest on.

Towed Women to Boat.

"A short distance away I came across another woman. I steadied her as much as I could and guided her to the oar. With the two women clinging to the oar, one of them with her baby in her arms, I towed them, using the oar as a towline, to a boat. When we got there we found it was full and waterlogged. It capsized a few minutes afterwards. What happened to those who were in it I can only imagine.

"Some time afterwards I saw another woman in the water. Her strength was nearly spent. I managed to save her by assisting her to a raft on which there were eight other survivors. We were picked up and taken into Queenstown by a tug."

RUSS BATTLESHIP SENT TO BOTTOM

Panteleimon Said to Have Been Sunk With Loss of 1,400 Men.

Berlin, May 24, by wireless to Sayville.—The Overseas News agency today gave out the following:

"According to a Bucharest dispatch, the Russian armored man-of-war Panteleimon has been sunk, with 1,400 men, in the Black sea."

The foregoing evidently refers to the Russian battleship Panteleimon. This warship, whose destruction is said to have caused the loss of 1,400 lives, is put down in naval reference books as having a complement of about 740 men. In times of war, however, this number might be increased considerably.

The Panteleimon was built in 1897. She was 378 feet long. Her displacement was 12,582 tons. She carried four 12-inch guns, sixteen 6-inch, four 3-inch, six 3-pounders and five torpedo tubes.

GOETHALS WITNESS IN BURKE TRIAL

Tells of Transactions of Deposed Manager of Commissary.

New York, May 24.—Maj.-Gen. George W. Goethals, chairman of the Panama canal commission, was one of the most important witnesses who had been summoned to testify today at the beginning of a series of trials growing out of the transactions of John Burke of Indianapolis, deposed manager of the commissary department of the Panama canal zone. The trials were set for hearing in Federal court before Judge Pollock.

The government, it was stated, had planned to separate Burke's case from those against the merchants with whom he is charged with conspiring to defraud the government.

This would postpone his trial until other cases had been disposed of.

The first case on the calendar was that of Jacob Salas, a tobacco merchant of this city, charged with conspiring with Burke to obtain a contract for furnishing tobacco used in the canal zone, in which Salas is alleged to have paid Burke $8,200.

Other merchants indicted with Burke are Isaac Brandon of New York, who is alleged to have paid Burke $2,500 for the contract to supply sugar; and Robert Wilcox, a commission merchant operating in Panama, accused of paying $400 for the privilege of supplying kerosene oil for use in the canal zone.

GERMANS ON DEFENSIVE

Operations in Galicia Consist Mainly of Counter-Attacks.

Russians Claim to Have Checked Advance on Upper San.

Petrograd, via London, May 24.—The Austro-German forces in Galicia now have assumed the defensive and their active operations consist chiefly of counter-attacks, according to an official statement issued last night from the headquarters of the Russian general staff. Slight progress is claimed on the left bank of the lower San and the claim is made that all assaults by the Austro-German troops in the southeastern theater of operations were repulsed.

Movement Checked.

In the view of Russian military observers the German offensive movement has been definitely checked on the upper San river. The Russian movement upon Nisko and the occupation of Ulanoff, Rudnik, Kraftza, Bourghy and Shushav to the westward of the upper San, seriously threatens not only the German position east of the river but the communications to the rear as well. Co-operating with this army, another strong Russian force to the eastward of Przemysl is pressing against the right wing of this German advanced position.

Batter Russian Front.

Southward of Przemysl on the other hand, the Germans are furiously battering the Russian front, and a very hotly contested action is being fought along a line of twenty miles between the Tismenitza and the Stry rivers. Other points of activity are to the east of the Drogabitch-Stry railroad and between Goussakow and Krukenika, forty miles to the northwest.

These regions report that continuous fighting has been in progress for the last four days but without marked advantage to either side.

FIRST BODIES FROM LUSITANIA ARRIVE

Nine Who Perished in Torpedoing of Ship Reach New York.

New York, May 24.—The bodies of nine persons who perished when the Luistania sank, first of the dead to be brought to New York, were landed here today from the American line steamer New York, which sailed from Liverpool on the night of May 15, eight days after the Lusitania was torpedoed. The dead aboard the New York were:

Charles Frohman, New York; Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Plamondon, Chicago; T. B. King, New York; C. T. Brodrick, Boston; I. F. Trumbull, Bridgeport, Conn.; A. R. Foley, Trenton, N. J., Miss H. Ellis, St. Thomas, Ont.; Miss McBright, address not given.

On the way across the ocean the bodies lay in wooden coffins encased in large plain outer boxes. The room in which they lay, a large compartment on the upper deck, was draped with black crepe and American flags.

The New York had a passenger list of 530, of whom 105 were in the steerage. Most of the passengers were Canadians.

PROPOSE TO REBUKE UNION SEMINARY

Conservatives at Presbyterian Conference to Continue Attack.

Rochester, N. Y., May 24.—Presentation and discussion of the report of the special committee on the Union Theological seminary will be the special order of business at 4 o'clock this afternoon before the general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States.

The report will be presented by Dr. Mark A. Matthews of Seattle, Wash., chairman of the committee, and his speech is expected to outline the attack to be made upon the institution.

It became known today that at a secret meeting of the conservatives it was decided to support the attack. It is proposed to rebuke the institution for its alleged lax doctrine and the proposition probably will be advanced to appoint a committee to investigate the action of the New York Presbytery in licensing students of alleged unsound faith who graduate from the seminary.

The report of the special committee makes no recommendation but contains a complete statement of facts with reference to the legal, ecclesiastical and doctrinal or theological status of Union.

CHIEF OF POLICE KILLS POLITICIAN

Charleston, W. V., May 24.—E. C. Lewis, a politician of Logan, W. Va., was shot and killed there last night by A. H. Sutphin, chief of police. Lewis quarreled with E. E. White, a member of the town council and drew his revolver, but when Sutphin approached he turned the weapon on him, shooting him in the leg. As he fell the officer fired, killing Lewis instantly.

Bordentown, N. J., May 24.—The boiler of a Delaware river sand dredging machine blew up today, killing five persons. The dead are Anthony Mattie of Trenton, N. J., captain of the dredge; John Varley, engineer, and the wife and two children of Harry Stout of Gloucester, N. J., cook on the dredge. The woman and children came here yesterday to visit Stout.

Redding, Cal., May 24.—Their farms buried by Lassen peak under a thick layer of volcanic mud which has solidified into an imperious hard pan, refugees from Hat Creek valley said today they had no intention, for present at least, of returning to their homes. The menace of the volcano, they said, made life too precarious in the valley.

Jamestown, N. D., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bishop William A. Quayle of St. Paul was the principal speaker at the dedication here Sunday of the new Methodist church. The dedicatory exercises were very largely attended. The new church is one of the finest erected by the denomination in the state and cost about $40,000.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

VOTERS ARE HAVING SAY

County Option Being Voted on in Carlton and Polk Counties.

Both Sides Are Making All Sorts of Claims as to the Outcome.

Carlton, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The pro-license and the anti-license advocates have had their say in favor of their respective contentions in the Carlton county local option campaign and today the voters are speaking.

Both sides made hard fights and both are sanguine of victory, some of the extreme anti-license element claiming a victory by a 2-to-1 vote. The other side is more conservative with its figures but disputes the drys claims. The total vote of the county is about 2,700 of which 325 is in the so-called wet territory, some places already having local option.

Optionists operated as the Carlton County Anti-License league; the antis as the Farmers & Businessmen's Protective association. Much money has been expended in the campaign.

The county now has thirteen saloons: Scanlon, 7; Carlton, 5; Cromwell, 1. The Carlton license is $1,000; Scanlon and Cromwell $600. The majority of licenses will run the limit of six months after election. Two will be dropped in Carlton and two in Scanlon. Cloquet, Moose Lake and Barnum voted dry last year. The county commissioners have never granted license in rural territory.

Hot Polk Campaign.

East Grand Forks, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The voters of Polk county today are deciding whether the saloons shall go or continue after one of the hottest county option fights recorded in Minnesota since the new law went into effect. Both sides have indulged in bitter invective and feeling is very high. As there are thirty-two saloons in this city local interest in the voting is very keen. There are twenty-one saloons in Crookston. The claims of both sides are far apart.

In today's election, close watch is being maintained at practically every polling place in the county. Both the wets and drys have watchers at the polls—the drys being particularly active here and in Crookston, fearing that floaters may be run in on them.

Claims by the wets that they will be able to obtain a majority of from 800 to 1,000 in the cities of East Grand Forks and Crookston, are disputed. The drys say that they will be able to give the wets a mighty close chase in Crookston, and they will surprise the wets by their strength in East Grand Forks.

Crookston may poll between 1,300 and 1,500 votes today, while East Grand Forks will poll approximately 600. The county will poll about 5,700 to 6,000, and the drys look for a majority in the county of 1,000. The wets say these figures are wild.

The filing of this action will dissolve the injunction that is now in effect against the railroads, by which they are prevented from charging the old tariff for lignite shipments.

"Tell Me the Secret"

"How do you make such delicious muffins? Mine are always so dry. And if I make the batter thin they fall. How do you do it?"

"I make them about as you do, only I use K C Baking Powder. Mine always turn out well, so it must be the baking powder."

It is the baking powder. To make muffins, cakes and pastry rich and moist, yet light and feathery, a modern double acting baking powder must be used—one that will give off leavening gas in the oven as well as in the mixing bowl.

KC BAKING POWDER

is really a blend of two baking powders, one of which starts to raise as soon as moisture is added. The other is inactive until heat is applied. This sustains the raise until your muffins, biscuits or cake is done.

K C Baking Powder costs less than the old fashioned quick acting kinds, yet you need use no more and it is superior to them in every way.

Stagnant Blood Given A Quick Impulse

Wonderful Activity Imparted by a Famous Remedy.

The appearance of pimples, boils, skin eruptions and all evidence of impure blood, calls for S. S. S., the famous blood purifier. Cathartics, purges, bowel movers and laxatives won't do.

No amount of bile will destroy certain germs which cause blood and skin eruptions. They are away down deep in the tissues, perhaps in the very marrow of the bones. And such a condition calls for the searching influence of S. S. S. It is indeed a remarkable remedy, since it is taken up by the blood stream and never loses its medicinal influence. On and on it goes, through and through the entire system and always with the same definite action to dislodge germs, destroy their activity and stimulate the liver, lungs, kidneys, bowels and skin to throw them out completely.

It stimulates stagnant blood, provides a rational exhilaration to the nerve centers and thereby the natural functions of the body are aroused to cast out intruders, no matter how strongly intrenched they may be. It refutes the ancient theory that to destroy within us the germs that eat into our vitals calls for drugs that destroy our very existence. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist and for special advice on severe blood disorders write at once to the Medical Adviser, The Swift Specific Co., 103 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not accept a substitute. Insist upon what you ask for.

HOFFMAN WINS HIS OWN GAME BY CLEAN SINGLE

Darby's Dooks Capture Second Contest From Red Sox By 2 to 0 Score.

Chief Williams Breaks Into Feature Stuff With Some Nifty Fielding.

Duluth won from Superior yesterday by the close and highly exciting score of 2 to 0. Frank Hoffman operated on the knoll for the home team and also dual capacitated in the role of hero swatter, his blow in the seventh round scoring the two runs for the Dooks.

With one down in the seventh round, Dad Ford singled and Darby O'Brien doubled to right. The ancient and honorable Mr. Ford pulled up at the third corner. Sweeley died on an infield offering and then Hoffman came through with a clean single, scoring two runs and winning his own game.

Williams occupied the hurling hill for the Swamp Angels and was found for eight swats, precisely the same number collected off the knolling efforts of Hoffman. But in no one round did the visitors succeed in bunching bingles off the offerings of Hoffman, while in the aforementioned seventh the bludgeon efforts of the locals put the game on ice.

Nice Fielding Efforts.

Some nice fielding behind Hoffman assisted him several times. Chief Williams contributed some of the feature stuff with two nice catches. In the eighth he leaned against the fence and speared one with his meat hand, and in the ninth he heaved niftily home and cut off a runner at the home precinct.

Brown, one of the new men recently secured by the Dook, made his initial appearance of the season, playing third base. The stranger in our midst swatted twice, but had no fielding opportunities during the game.

In the ninth Kurke walked. Berger went out. Burgwald slapped the right field fence and Kurke came home, only to be called back to third. McGee lofted longly to Williams and the chief made a great throw home, cutting off the score.

Saturday Festivities.

The season was properly and appropriately opened Saturday with a victory of the home team. The game went eleven rounds. Williams singled in the final round, pilfered second and was brought home by a rousing single over second by Dad Ford.

In the absence of Mayor Prince, Commissioner of Public Safety Silberstein made the opening address and hurled the first ball. Commissioner "Bert" Farrell was on the receiving end of the municipal battery. The ball let loose by Commissioner Silberstein had a lot of stuff on it, but was low and escaped the vigilance of Receiver Farrell.

Young "Muggsy" McGraw performed in right field for the Dooks in the game of Saturday. As a native son, a lad who has performed on the local lots since he was large enough to lug a bat to the plate, the fans manifested a lively interest in the work of the kid.

The first time up "Mugs" hit a clean single over second. On his second trip to the plate he neatly doubled to right. Out of four official trips to the plate the kid got two hits, completing his first game in professional company with a batting average of .500 and a perfect day in the field, accepting his three fielding chances cleanly.

Owing to the rain of last Friday there is a double bill on the program of today:

Game Is Spectacular.

Chicago, May 24.—The batting of Johnson Collins and the spectacular fielding of Weaver, caused the defeat of Boston by Chicago, 4 to 2, in the final game of the series yesterday. J. Collins made a double, scored a run, sent a run across the plate on a single and another run was scored on his sacrifice fly. Eddie Collins' base running also aided the locals. Weaver made one of the most remarkable plays seen on the local grounds in years in the fifth inning. Gainer tripled and Cady followed with a swift bounder toward Short. Weaver, running toward first, at top speed, jumped into the air and speared the ball and threw Gainer out at the plate. He also threw out Speaker at the plate in the sixth.

Madison, Wis., May 24.—Emil Fauerbach, one of the members of the Fauerbach Brewing company, died Saturday in a Cincinnati, Ohio, hospital following an operation. Mr. Fauerbach made his home in Madison all of his life. He was unmarried. Mr. Fauerbach was known all over the country as one of the leading ice yachtsman. He owned the famous Princess I, II and III and raced in the biggest regatta in the country. He was the prime mover in the Northwestern Ice Yachting regatta, which was held in Madison this winter. The surviving members of the family are his brothers, Louis, Philip, Henry and Charles.

CENTRALS WIN TRACK MEET

Contest Between Central and Denfeld Athletes Ends 74 to 21.

Latter Take Two Events; Hrutfiord Sets New Record in Dash.

In the first annual track meet between the Central and Denfeld high school teams, the athletes from the former school were victorious by a total score of 74 to 21, Saturday afternoon. The field events were held on the Central campus, while the track work was done on the Boulevard course. The feature of the meet was the surprising showing of the Denfeld athletes. Their showing was far better than had been generally expected, and the Central men were kept at their best to win. They were handicapped by inexperience, but they should turn out some strong teams in the future. Although the West end men were not conceded a chance at a single first before the meet, they carried off the discus throw and mile run.

Hrutfiord's Remarkable Feat.

Aside from the surprising showing of the Denfeld team, the feature of the meet was the smashing of the school record in the 220-yard dash, Capt. Hrutfiord of the Central squad negotiating the distance in the remarkable sime of 22 3-5 seconds. The former record was held by Matt Brown, who in 1913 made the distance in 23 1-5 seconds. This is considered as a remarkable feat, and ranks Hrutfiord as one of the greatest high school athletes in the country. When Bradford of Aledo, Ill., did the distance in 22 4-5 seconds he was given honorable mention in the Chicago Tribune. Hrutfiord's time, however, was better than this.

Hrutfiord was the largest point-getter of the meet. He carried off four firsts and two seconds, getting a total of 26 points. His time of 10 1-5 seconds in the 100-yard dash was especially good, this having been beaten only twice before in high school athletics, when Matt Brown in 1913 and A. Starkey in 1908 each made the distance in 10 seconds flat. Hrutfiord won the broad jump with a mark of 19 feet 11 inches, coming within four inches of the school record of 20 feet 3 inches, made in 1908 by F. Ryan. Hrutfiord also won the pole vault, clearing 8 feet 9 inches, at which mark he stopped, having no one jumping against him. He was a close second in the shot-put and the discus-throw.

May Attend National Meet.

Hrutfiord will be entered in the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the broad jump in the state interscholastic meet, to be held at Minneapolis May 29. Whether any other man will be sent or not has not been decided as yet. Although only the very best athletes in the state will be entered in this meet, Hrutfiord is expected to make a creditable showing. There is a possibility that Hrutfiord, if sufficient funds can be obtained, will be sent to the national high school meet, to be held in Chicago June 12. This is the world's greatest interscholastic tourney, and about 800 athletes are entered in it every year.

Following is a list of the records of Saturday's meet:

Shot-put — Hoopes, Central, first; Hrutfiord, Central, second; Donalds, Denfeld, third. Distance, 38 feet 7 inches.

Discus throw — Rosborough (Denfeld), first; Hrutfiord (Central), second; Kerr (Central), third. Distance, 83 feet 9 inches.

High jump—Anderson (Central), first; Lewis (Central), second; Allen (Denfeld), third. Height, 4 feet 11 inches. (Anderson stopped on this mark because all of the other men had dropped out).

Broad jump—Hrutfiord (Central), Lewis (Central), second; Lemieux (Denfeld), third. Distance, 19 feet 11 inches.

Pole vault—Hhrutfiord (Central), first; Jentoft (Central), second; Myles (Denfeld), third. Height, 8 feet 9 inches.

880-yard run (one-half mile)—McCabe (Central), first; Kerr (Central), Allen (Denfeld), third. Time, 2 minutes 17 3-5 seconds.

Mile run—Moore (Denfeld), first; Mayhew (Denfeld), second; Lewis (Central), third. Time, 5 minutes 1 second.

Relay race—Central, first (Hrutfiord, Anderson, Karon, Stevens). Time, 1 minute 42 3-5 seconds.

BOTH CHICAGO TEAMS DAZZLE IN PLUNGE FOR TOP OF LISTS

New York, May 24.—Chicago just now is the starred circle in the center of the baseball map. On Saturday its representatives in both the National and American leagues moved to the front. The Cubs turned the trick after their third straight victory from the Boston world's champions, and the White Sox, on a run of five straight victories, two of them over the Boston Red Sox, world's champions of 1912.

In the National league until Saturday, Philadelphia occupied the leadership from the first week of play and lost it by dropping three out of four games, while Chicago was winning four in five.

Chicago has gone to the front by consistent good work against its opponents. New York is the only club that has taken the measure of the Cubs in the total of games played so far. Bresnahan's men meeting them when the Giants were recovering from a long slump and fighting desperately. The Cubs are batting well, their pitchers are for the most part doing excellent work, and their playing deserved the victory. But they undoubtedly have a task ahead to retain the National league leadership, for seldom have all eight clubs been as well bunched as they are today.

Teams Well Bunched.

The percentage table shows that only slightly more than 200 points or approximately six games, separate Chicago, at the top, from New York at the bottom of the league standing. The Boston Braves have all but dropped out of the top quartet by erratic work, while Pittsburgh has been crawling upward, chiefly through efficiency at the bat and on the bases. St. Louis and Brooklyn also have shown recent improvement in form.

In the American league, the drive of the White Sox resulted at the close of the week in their vaulting from third place to first. The New Yorkers, who had led, dropped to the third notch. Clarence Rowland's team, always a good fielding combination and equipped with a strong pitching staff, has lately developed a notable hitting streak—61 safe drives in the six games of the week netting them 42 runs. Yesterday J. E. Wood of Boston checked their hitting appreciably, but nevertheless, the Chicago team won, which they needed to hold their position, as Detroit took Philadelphia's measure.

Yankees Do Well.

The Yankees had done well on the road, gaining the leadership, but in St. Louis were ousted from the top position. Detroit only broke even on the week, but yesterday outclassed the Athletics. Boston disappointed its followers by dropping three out of four games, and had another defeat yesterday.

Washington and Philadelphia lost two-thirds of their games, but with Walter Johnson outpitching Guy Merton yesterday, the Nationals easily defeated Cleveland.

Rain broke up the schedule of both leagues during the week, and the crop of double-headers is growing fast.

In Other Leagues.

Kansas City's winning streak was stopped at eight straight in the race for the association pennant last week, but the spurt put the Blues up on front. The development of Lathrop, the former Notre Dame and White Sox pitcher, as a winner, and Delhi's good work were features of the Kansas City advance.

Pittsburgh held its lead in the Federal league race during the week, although breaking even. The chief fight was between Newark and Chicago for second place, the result being a drawn battle until yesterday when the tie between the two was broken, as Chicago divided a double-header with Baltimore while Newark was losing to St. Louis, Chicago gaining the place.

College Men Victors in Association Regatta—Duluth Boy Victorious.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 24.—The University of Pennsylvania's eight-oared shell crew won two of the feature races of the annual regatta of the American Rowing association on the Schuylkill river here Saturday. A heavy rain fell during most of the time.

The Pennsylvanias beat the Union Boat club by one and a half lengths, while Union crossed the line three feet ahead of the Harvard university sophomore crew, the Crimson interclass champions in the first eight-oared shell race. An hour later the same Pennsylvania crew won from Harvard and Princeton in the junior collegiate eight's race, covering the distance, one mile 550 yards, in the same time in each race, 6:41 3-5.

John B. Kelly of the Vesper Boat club, Philadelphia, won from James B. Ayer of the Union Boat club, Boston, in the first single sculls, by a half dozen lengths. Kelly established a new record for the course, 7:52 2-5. He was favored by a strong current and wind.

WISCONSIN TRACK MEN DEFEAT GOPHERS

Camp Randall, Madison, Wis., May 24.—Wisconsin's well-balanced track team, a strong bidder for conference honors, easily outpointed Minnesota, winning on a slow field by a score of 103 to 23 points Saturday.

Arlie Mucks of Badger football fame set up a new conference record in the discus with a mark of 140 feet 8 inches, breaking the record made by Garrels of Michigan in 1905 by seven inches.

Mucks was a tower of strength in the field events. In an exhibition demonstration he set a new conference mark in the shotput with a throw of 48 feet 3½ inches, clipping one foot and two and one-half inches from the previous record.

The Badgers took thirteen firsts, 10 seconds, and four thirds. Minnesota captured one first, three seconds, and eight thirds, and tied in the pole vault.

BEATS CORNELL FOR FIRST TIME

Harvard Crew Wins From Courtney's Men By Half Length.

Ithaca, N. Y., May 24.—Harvard won the varsity rowing race from Cornell Saturday for the first time in the history of Cayuga lake regattas. The Crimson crew was victorious by a half length.

Cornell's fast freshman eight, which defeated Yale and Princeton, won its race with Harvard's first year crew.

In the big race Cornell's varsity crew demonstrated that it is not up to the usual standard of Ithaca eights. Harvard caught the water first and maintained a lead throughout the two mile race, although at no time during the race was there open water between the boats.

Courtney's freshmen won their event by showing the power that the Red and White varsity lacked. The time of the winners was: Harvard varsity, 10:41 2-5; Cornell freshmen, 10:52.

SCHEDULE TO BE CHANGED

Northern League Will Have Continuous Baseball at Winnipeg.

It was announced here today that the schedule of the Northern league would be changed. John Burmeister, president of the league, was here Saturday, and previous to his departure, it was stated that there would be a shift in the playing card in order to prevent conflicting dates in St. Boniface and Winnipeg.

Magnates of the league are discouraged over the poor attendance in the little French town, and believe that if the playing schedule of the league is shifted so as to provide for games at St. Boniface when there are no games in Winnipeg, that the attendance will be increased.

Announcement was also forthcoming that St. Boniface would remain in the league, for the time being at least. Brandon was tried for just one game, and, according to the statement issued here today, found decidedly wanting in many respects.

Mike Cantillon of the Minneapolis team of the American association will be asked to draft the new schedule of the league. Mike is supposed to be an expert in arranging playing dates. The new schedule will call for continuous baseball at Winnipeg, for that is what non-conflicting dates at St. Boniface and Winnipeg will mean.

It was also announced today that immediate steps would be taken to strengthen the wretched team that is at the present time representing Winnipeg in the Northern league race.

WITH THE AMATEURS

The F. A. Patrick team of the Duluth Amateur Baseball league Saturday defeated the Canadian Northern team by the score of 6 to 3. Kozak was on the knoll for the Patricks and allowed but two hits. Desanto was on the receiving end of the battery and did some creditable work. Rossiter and Brown were the battery for the railroad men.

The Moose lodge team 1478 yesterday defeated the New Duluth baseball team by the count of 5 to 1. The game was featured by clever pitching on the part of Nobby Clark for the Moose and Neff for the New Duluths. Errors behind Neff lessened his chances. The Moose team will play at Grand Rapids next Saturday.

In a fast but one-sided game the Jutens defeated the Samaritan baseball team, by the score of 12 to 1. The hurling of Joe Graomes for the winning team was the feature of the game.

Yesterday the Columbus won their third straight game of the season, defeating the P. A. A. team by the score of 5 to 4. Spindler pitched nice ball for the winners, but Berg for the P. A. A.'s allowed but four hits, errors behind him losing the game.

GRADE BASEBALL TEAMS NEARING SEMI-FINALS

First Games in Series to Determine Division Winners Are Expected Next Week; Many Contests Carded for Present Week.

In the Saturday games of the Grade School league the Monroes defeated the Lowells by the score of 14 to 4 and the Jacksons won from the Emersons by the count of 15 to 7. While both of the contests were won by rather uneven scores, there was some good baseball playing, the work of both of the winning teams being especially praiseworthy.

Starting today the real crucial games of the season will appear on the schedule. In the Western division of the league the Bryants, Lincolns, Adams and Irvings are right in the running. The Bryants and Lincolns are scheduled to meet on the Nineteenth avenue west and boulevard grounds, while the Adams, the great rivals of the Lincolns, will fight it out with the Irvings on the Fifty-second avenue west grounds. The Jacksons and Lowells will play a double bill on the Duluth Heights grounds.

Eastern Division Contests.

With the Washington team making a great fight for the flag in the Eastern division, the contest of that school team with the Endion school team today will be watched with a great deal of interest. The game will be played on the grounds at Twelfth avenue east and London road.

The Jeffersons and Franklins are to meet at Fifteenth avenue east and Fifth street, and the Salters and Washburns will play at Hunter's park.

It looks now as if the first games in the semi-finals, or the contests to determine the winners in the two divisions of the league, will be started during the coming week. The plan, as previously announced, is to have the two teams finishing first and second in each division of the league play off a series of games for the championship of their division. The two winners will then meet in the final games of the season for the grade school championship of the city. All three of the final games will be staged at Athletic park. It looks now as if the grade school city championship series will be played around June 7. This will give the officials of the league time to get the teams in the best of shape and will also afford ample time for the running off of the games to determine the winners in the two divisions.

Interest in the school league is increasing as the season progresses. The approach of the semi-final games is putting the kids up on their toes, so to speak. The idea of staging the championship games in the park where the White Sox perform, and with a huge crowd present, is also acting as a spur to the various teams.

During the present week a large number of games will be run off and the stage sort of cleared for the semi-finals of the school league baseball race.

DULUTH EDISONS DEFEAT TRADERS

Schaeffer was switched from second base to pitch, and he struck out sixteen men, while Farziach whiffed nine. Ray Fenton played second base for the electrics. Heavy hitting by Arnie Olson and Martin Hilber, each getting a home run, also featured the game.

OARSMEN IN FAST RACES

Hoover Wins Sculling Contest and Senior Eight Defeats Juniors.

Jimmy Ten Eyck's oarsmen staged by far the best regatta of the season last Saturday. There was a fast race between the senior eight and the two junior eights, the seniors winning out by a length. The bantam fours also put up a close and pretty contest, Swanson's four defeating the crew stroked by Bendixen only after a contest that was a real race all the way up the mile and a quarter stretch. The time of the winning crew was 7:34.

Walter Hoover, starting at scratch, defeated Dave Horak, Roy Kent and Gus Grant in the single scull contest. The rowing of the junior and senior Northwestern champion was one of the decided features of the afternoon.

Quickly getting into his stroke Hoover caught Kent and Grant and then overtook Dave Horak and passed the senior eight stroke. From that point Walter hit up a lively pace and finished with daylight between his boat and Horak in second place. The time of the race was 8:10.

The two junior eights were given a start of ten strokes on the senior eight. The race between all three of the boats was a beauty and brought out shouts from the spectators on the club stands.

Along about the half-mile mark Horak's senior crew caught McQuade's crew and then started in high-stroked pursuit of the junior eight stroked by Nelson. After a quarter of a mile from home the senior crew caught the Nelson aggregation. Resting up for a few strokes, Horak hit up the stroke and came home a winner by a length, with Nelson's crew in second place and McQuade's boys bringing up the rear.

EVELETH HIGH WINS.

Defeat Virginia Team in Fast and Interesting Contest.

Eveleth, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The high school baseball team opened its season at home by defeating the Virginia high school Saturday by a score of 5 to 3 in a fast and interesting game. The large crowd of Eveleth and Virginia people who attended the game were kept on their feet most of the time by the spectacular playing of both teams. The Eveleth high school band furnished music before the game.

Both of the teams played good ball. Virginia players made more hits than the Eveleth boys, but the Eveleth team fielded much better than the Virginia team. The fielding of the Virginians was very poor at times.

Eveleth made its runs in the third and fifth innings by bunching hits off Nystrom and Cusson. Nystrom was replaced by Cusson in the fifth inning, after the Eveleth team had pushed two runners over the plate.

Virginia's runs were all made in the seventh inning, when Levant became a little shaky and allowed three hits. Slow fielding by the Eveleth boys aided Virginia in obtaining their three runs.

Although Levant allowed more hits than the Virginia pitchers did, he pitched the steadier game, and, except in the seventh inning, kept his hits well scattered. He allowed only one base on balls and struck out nine of Virginia's sluggers. Nystrom started on the mound for Virginia, but proved easy for the Eveleth boys and was taken out after one man was out in the fifth. He allowed two walks and struck out six batsmen. Cusson was no harder for the Eveleth boys to hit than Nystrom, but was given better support and held the Eveleth players in check.

RIVAL BALL TEAMS SECURE EVEN BREAK

Hibbing Captures Saturday's Game and Chisholm Takes Sunday's.

Hibbing, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing and Chisholm broke even in the last two games of the series, the Colts winning Saturday's game by a score of 4 to 2 and the Braves coming back strong yesterday, taking the contest by 6 to 5. Both games were played at Chisholm.

Saturday's game was the better of the two, being replete with spectacular fielding and heavy hitting. C. Booth and Reiger of the Hibbing nine put the ball over the fence for homers when one man was on base. All these runs were earned.

Sunday's Game.

In a wild, weird exhibition in which bad and good baseball intermingled, Chisholm took the final game Sunday. The clash, however, kept the spectators at a high pitch of excitement throughout the entire eleven innings.

Hibbing appeared to have the game up in the ninth inning when Clifford for Chisholm with a home run started a batting rally which ended with the score tied. Wildness on the part of Wilson and Reiger in the tenth gave three men passes which, preceded by a hit, forced in the winning tally. Hibbing used four pitchers.

To the spectators it appeared that Withers, who was pitching good ball up to this stage, used poor judgment with retiring without consulting Manager Brady, as it was necessary to put in Dwight Booth without a warm-up. The first ball he threw was clouted for three bags. Reiger then got in the box and held them to no runs until the eleventh inning when the first man got a hit. The next walked. Wilson then walked two men, forcing in the winning count.

BEAT SUPERIOR BOASTERS.

Boastful Wisconsin City Team Is Trounced Twice at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Grand Rapids baseball team put it all over the Superior Tower team in two games Saturday and Sunday, winning by scores of 5 to 3 and 13 to 1 respectively. The result of the two games is gratifying to Grand Rapids, as the team from Superior was boastful on the train while coming up Saturday, making remarks at every little way station as to what they would do to the "rubes," much to the disgust of Grand Rapids people aboard the train.

Both games were slow and uninteresting, the games being too easy for the locals. An amusing incident at the first game took off some of the monotony. L. W. Huntley, deputy clerk of court, who is an ardent "fan" was on the side lines, and the game not being exciting enough, he decided to sit down. Getting a board which was lying nearby, he put it across a wheel barrow which the workmen had used on the grounds earlier in the day, and, with his father-in-law, Mr. Sutton on the other end of the board, he sat down to enjoy the game. Suddenly an exciting moment came, and Huntley jumped up with his customary "Well, well, well," and Mr. Sutton, overbalancing his improvised seat, sprawled on the grass to the great edification of the crowd.

The races will be held on the best regulation one-half mile track. This association pays out more money each year for purses, for premiums and amusements than any county fair in the Northwest.

TAX COMMISSION TO MEET AT ELY

Complaints of Taxpayers Will Be Heard on Tuesday.

Ely, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Minnesota tax commission will hold a session here next Tuesday to listen to the complaints of those who are of the opinion that certain property in the city is undervalued.

Last year the city council and a special committee put forth considerable effort to have the commission equalize the assessments and place a just valuation on several mining properties in this city. Their efforts did not succeed but it is understood that the commission will be here for the purpose of being convinced that their system of mine valuation is not just exactly in conformity with the system used in assessing other classes of property.

It is the desire of the commission to meet all the business men and taxpayers and hear their views on the matter. The session will be held at the city hall.

SECTION 30 SELLS ORE.

Vermilion Range Property Expected to Go on Dividend Basis.

Ely, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Section 30 Mining company has sold 75,000 tons of Bessemer grade and 50,000 tons of non-Bessemer grade. The company expects to sell and ship from 250,000 to 300,000 tons this season. It is expected that Section 30 Mining company will go on a dividend basis this year. The sales that have been made were on a basis of 1914 prices, but Section 30 produces an excellent grade of ore and will command any premium that may be paid on Lake Superior ores this season, or any other season. Section 30 is an independent concern, disposing of its product in the open market.

BIG DULUTHS WIN.

Capture Close Game From Gophers of Two Harbors.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the first game of the season the local Gopher team was defeated here yesterday afternoon by the Big Duluth team of Duluth, 6 to 5.

The game was interesting and very close. Both teams played good ball, the field work was clean and fast and some very clever stick work was performed on both sides.

Johnson, center fielder for the locals, brought the crowd to their feet in the ninth when he knocked the ball over the rightfield fence, but unfortunately for the locals there were no men on bases.

The crowd was the largest that has attended a ball game here for a number of years. Jitney buses left the downtown district regularly for the ball game. This was a new feature and it has proven a wonder to swell the gate receipts at the ball park.

Roberts, who was on the mound for the locals, pitched a good steady game, and proved especially steady in pinches.

ODD FELLOWS HAVE OUTING ON SUNDAY

Tower and Mesaba Range Members Spend Day on Lake Vermilion.

Tower, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tower lodge, No. 104, I. O. O. F., had a very interesting meeting Saturday evening when seven new members were initiated. The degree team from Virginia put on three degrees. There was a large attendance of out-of-town members, there being fourteen from Virginia and twelve from Aurora. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening, and yesterday the entire local membership, together with the visiting members, enjoyed the day on the lake, the greater part of it being spent at the Outing club cottage at Joyland. Many of the visitors left in autos for the return trip, while the others left on the late train for the range.

Large Masonic Meeting.

The local Masonic lodge had a large attendance of out-of-town members at a meeting held Saturday evening, there being fifty members from Ely and Winton and several from Mesaba range towns. The third degree was conferred on four from Ely and Winton. These members had their applications here at the local lodge before the organization of the Ely lodge, recently perfected, and while they have taken this degree here, it is probable that they will transfer to the Ely lodge in the near future. The local organization has lost many members in the transferring to the Ely lodge. At the close of the initiatory work, the members partook of a sumptuous repast previously prepared by the members of the Eastern Star lodge. The Elyites left about 1:30 by auto for home.

COLERAINE WINS.

High School Team Defeats Aggregation From Hibbing.

Coleraine, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the local Athletic park last Saturday the Coleraine and Hibbing high school baseball teams played one of the most interesting school games ever played on that field. The home team won over the visitors by a close score of 4 to 3. All scores were made during the first two innings. The Hibbing high school has claimed the championship of the range. However, the Coleraine team has defeated them twice this season, once at Hibbing and once on the home field.

Other births were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. J. Krugel, Saturday, a son; to Mr. and Mrs. Gates, Wednesday, a son; to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Knickerbocker, a son. Twins are also reported born to Mr. and Mrs. R. Dion, the latter being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Cable of Swan River.

LUMBERJACK, AGE 83, TO COUNTY WORK FARM.

Virginia, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Too old to work, too proud to go to New York and live with a brother, said to be well-to-do, Nelson Reed, age 83, a pioneer lumberjack, was sentenced today by Judge Carey to fifteen days at the county work farm for vagrancy. The case was sad, as the old man had always worked when able.

POPULAR VIRGINIA BOY IS SUMMONED

Virginia, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—William Williams, aged 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Williams, 114 Locust street, who has been ill for some time, died yesterday of heart failure, expiring in his mother's arms. The boy was a great favorite and his death came as a shock. The funeral will be held Wednesday at 3 p. m. from the M. E. church, with interment here. The boy's popularity is shown by the many beautiful floral offerings received at the Williams home today.

ENJOY LAKE VERMILION.

Many Pleasure Parties Spend Sunday on the Water.

Tower, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—There were many pleasure parties on the lake yesterday. The most popular place seemed to be the Narrows, where about thirty rowboats and other small craft were anchored while their occupants enjoyed the good fishing. Many large catches were made, and many out-of-town visitors went home fully satisfied.

Walter S. Baldwin and C. A. Marshall arrived Saturday from Duluth for a sojourn at Pabin's pretty summer resort at Frazier bay.

Misses Mabel Thorpe and Mabel Hawkinson of Virginia spent the week-end here at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Thorpe.

Miss Ester Strand, who is teaching school at Gilbert, spent Saturday and Sunday at her home here.

Miss Mayme Mahady, who has taught the past term at Mosier, Or., is expected home this week, her school duties having been finished last Friday.

William Voss and family of Virginia, accompanied by Miss Mayme Powers of Virginia, and Elijah Hill, wife and sons, of Biwabik, came up in their automobiles Sunday and spent the day at the J. D. Murphy home. A trip to Emerald Isle and other points on Lake Vermilion in the launch Goodwill was enjoyed during the afternoon.

Carl Shapiro and J. H. Egan and families of Virginia were here in the former's car yesterday.

W. A. Ross and family, former Towerites, now of Virginia, were here in their car yesterday.

FORTI CASE DROPPED.

Complaining Witness Fails to Show Up at Virginia Hearing.

Virginia, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Carey in municipal court today dismissed the charge preferred against Dave Forti, a local saloon keeper, by Sarah Truman, of selling liquor on Sunday, as Jack Falo, to whom the woman gave 25 cents to buy a bottle of beer on Sunday before last, and who was the most important witness, failed to show up.

John Aulisnki today secured a warrant for the arrest of four men he claims beat him at the celebration of the christening of George Autos' child on Elm street last night. He says he was drinking beer with the others, when all turned on him and unmercifully beat him. The four accused will have a hearing this afternoon.

Mary Lehane was arrested today charged with peering into the future at so much per, without the necessary clairvoyant's license.

SMALL EVELETH FIRE; CATCHES FROM INCUBATOR

Eveleth, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fire department was called upon to extinguish a small blaze in the basement of Louis Decker's residence on Jones street Sunday afternoon. Mr. Decker had set an incubator in the basement on Saturday and had lighted it so as to regulate the heat and let it heat up before he placed the eggs in it. The incubator over-heated and caught afire, and set fire to a large box filled with straw. Fortunately the walls of the basement were made of stone, so the only damage done was to the incubator.

Virginia Beats Aurora.

Aurora, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local baseball team was defeated here yesterday by the Virginians in a fast game which was well attended. The game was featured by heavy hitting on the part of both teams. Aurora took the lead early in the game, but was overcome in the later innings by the Virginians.

AURORA SCHOOL AFFAIR IS SUCCESS

Aurora, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senior-junior banquet and party given at the Hearding building last week was one of the most pleasant social events ever held in the village. The banquet early in the evening was attended by the members of the senior and junior classes, the high school faculty and the members of the board of education. The affair was under the direction of Miss Swanson, instructor in domestic science, and reflected much credit upon her ability. The party following was open to the public and was attended by nearly 100 couples, and the evening was spent in dancing. The gymnasium was most tastily decorated for the occasion by Miss Ethel Cummings in the class colors, blue and gold.

Virginia Has Money.

Virginia, Minn., May 24.—The financial statement for the city of Virginia submitted by City Clerk A. E. Bickford to the city council shows that on May 1 the city had gross assets amounting to $511,923.06 and indebtedness of $249,685.46, leaving a net balance in favor of the city of $269,239.60.

Eveleth Church Supper.

Eveleth, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Ladies' Aid of the Swedish Lutheran church will give a supper at the city auditorium next Wednesday evening beginning at 5 o'clock.

EASILY BEATS BEMIDJI.

International Falls Has Easy Time With Visiting Nine.

International Falls, Minn., May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bemidji's baseball team was beaten by the local team here yesterday afternoon, 15 to 3. It was a batting spree for the locals and a mess of errors and bonehead plays on the part of the visitors. The first three innings saw four runs each time run up by the home team and one home run to each inning. Tufford, Bennett and Weaver all putting the pill in the pulpwood beyond the park wall. Bowman, the kid pitcher from the Illinois-Wisconsin league, performed like a veteran. Only an occasional touch of wildness marred his work. A total of five hits was made off him and he struck out thirteen men.

Paul, the Bemidji southpaw, was knocked all over the lot, but in the absence of a pitcher, was allowed to remain in and duck the drives. This was the second victory for the locals, they having beaten Fort Frances two weeks ago.

Baudette will be the next to appear here, two games having been arranged for next Sunday and Monday.

The local team went to Fort Frances, Ont., to play the bunch there this afternoon at the big Victoria day celebration, and Gordon, the fast first baseman, will be on the slab.

Keep the Children Bright and Happy

Happy youngsters must be healthy. The digestive organs of children get out of order as readily as do those of their elders, and the result is equally distressing. When the bowels are clogged with an accumulation of refuse from the stomach the child naturally becomes cross and fretful from the discomfort, and is often punished for temper when medical attention is really what is needed.

The next time your child is cross and unhappy, without apparent reason, try giving it a mild laxative. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a mild, pleasant tasting combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, and is especially recommended for children because of its freedom from all opiate or narcotic drugs and its gentle action. It is sold in drug stores everywhere. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

RAIN

The weather man behaved beautifully yesterday and so far today has been real amiable, but has assumed a threatening air, for he says that there will be partly cloudy weather and showers tomorrow. Much can be forgiven, however, for the perfect brand of weather that was furnished for Sunday. It could not very well be improved upon for those who desired to ride or walk and the atmosphere, backed up by the sunshine, was stimulating.

A year ago today was dreary. The sun rose this morning at 4:21 and will set this evening at 7:47, giving fifteen hours and twenty-six minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The temperature was generally moderate over Northern and Central districts during the last twenty-four hours except that it was rather chilly last night over Ontario and near Lake Superior. Temperatures of 90 degs. occurred Sunday in many of the Southern states. Showers fell during Sunday or last night over Western Canada, Middle Atlantic states, the Central valleys and Far West. Heavy rains fell at Toledo, Ohio, and Cairo, Ill.

General Forecasts.

Chicago, May 24.—Forecasts for the twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Minnesota and Wisconsin—Fair tonight and probably Tuesday.

Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota—Cloudy tonight and Tuesday; not much change in temperature.

Upper and Lower Michigan—Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday; warmer tonight.

WEAK STOMACHS CAUSE GAS

Stomach gas whicl is a cause of great discomfort to many people is caused by the food being retained so long that it ferments if it is a vegetable food or putrefies if it is animal food. The usual treatment is to forbid the use of the food that is causing the trouble. This stops the discomfort caused by gas but few people like to be put on a limited diet. They generally try another doctor.

Food is retained until it causes gas because the digestion is weak. That is a simple statement of a complicated condition. Digestive weakness may involve a deficient secretion of digestive fluids, lack of force in the nerves that control digestion, many things, but back of them all is thin blood. "Without rich, red blood good digestion is impossible" is an established fact in medicine. You can enrich your blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and begin at once to restore your disordered digestion until you can eat what you want, within reason, and enjoy it. These pills have a direct action on the nerves also and so are an ideal digestive tonic.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," that will help you solve your stomach problems will be sent you free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simply remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

HAS WAR CAUSED AN INCREASE IN NUMBER OF "KNIGHTS OF ROAD?"

Duluth Gets Frequent Visits From Youths Who Are "Walking Across the Country" or "Beating It Around the World."

Has the European war caused an increase in the number of "Soldiers of Fortune" or "Knights of the Road" in America?

Judged by the number of young men who are "starting out to walk around the country," or to "beat their way around the world," it has caused a spirit of restlessness and desire for adventure in the United States.

During the last week Duluth had a visit from "Flittsie" Ryan, who has been walking around the world.

Saturday afternoon two youths who said they were from St. Paul, strolled into The Herald office, and announced that they were "walking across the country." They were travel-stained and dirty, and each carried all of his possessions in a canvas sack slung over his shoulder. They stated that they had walked from St. Paul to Duluth, and were going to walk to Seattle.

"How are you going to pay expenses?" they were asked.

"We expect to earn our way as we go," they replied, and explained that they were printers by trade. They admitted that they had traveled this far on money with which they started, and had not as yet been successful in getting work, but they hopefully maintained that they would "make it."

Earlier in the year Duluth had a visit from a man who was driving from Alberta to Chicago by dogsled, and two other Knights of the Road were here late in March on a long distance walk.

The example of Weston is evidently being followed by scores of imitators, but the novelty of even an around-the-world hiker is rapidly wearing off and it is not likely that many will pay for his pictures or pay admission to a theater to hear him tell of his travels during the coming summer. Some of the long distance walkers will probably have to telegraph home for expenses before the summer is over, unless they happen to have a trade at which they can earn a living while traveling.

Newspapers in other cities tell of many of these Knights of the Road, and it is believed that the war has had something to do with the spirit of restlessness that has caused so many to start out on such expeditions. The desire to see the Panama expositions may also have something to do with it.

BAD DAY FOR THE JITNEYS

Sixteen Autoists Arrested Sunday; Twelve Are Fined.

Dozen Jitneurs Are Among Those Held; Four Deny Guilt.

Eleven autoists, grinning sheepishly, pleaded guilty in municipal court this morning to running their machines without tail lights, and paid a $5 fine. Four others said they were not guilty of a similar offense, and still another paid a $12 fine for speeding. Twelve of the fifteen were jitneurs.

"It was a bad day for the jitneys," said Judge F. H. Cutting.

Chief of Police McKercher issued an order shortly after 8 o'clock last night to bring in autoists who were running their machines without lighting the rear lights and by 11 o'clock the fifteen were in the toils.

Patrolmen Harry Toewe, Danielson and Le Beau were the members of the clean-up squad which brought the men to grief, Motorcycle Officer L. A. Root assisting.

Those who paid fines were: Fred Van Vliet, 2118 East Second street; John E. Turnquist, 1927 East Sixth street; Ernest W. Rickard, 3723 West Superior street; William Rosman, 122 Twenty-fourth avenue west; Carl Peterson, 116 Twenty-third avenue west; Martin S. Bender, 2416 West First street; Ebert Ebertson, 32 West Third street; Alvid Larson, 5018 Tioga street; J. M. Ford, 1531 East Third street; Frank Thury, 212 East Fourth street; and Emil Lignell, 2129 West First street.

Those who said they were not guilty and who will be given trials this afternoon are: Edmond J. Ouellette, 102 East Fourth street; Herbert E. Forrest, 1716 New street; Evald Anderson, 2728 West Second street; and Walter Larson, 1601 West Superior street.

Herman Ellison, arrested Saturday near Sixteenth avenue west and Superior street by Motorcycle Officer Root, was charged with driving at a rate of thirty miles an hour. He paid a $12 fine.

EARLIER END TO GREAT WAR

Grain Traders Believe That Will Be Result of Italy's Action.

As to an early ending of the European war, the entrance of Italy on the side of the allies is taken as a good omen by the grain markets. The stock markets also reflect a similar sentiment.

Today wheat and coarse grains, the demand for which is augmented by war conditions, suffered quite a severe decline, while flax, the demand for which is retarded because of the war, made a gain of several cents. Stocks also advanced on the strength of Italy's entrance into the conflict.

The movement of flax and of industrial and copper stocks is most significant. Flax is a drug in the market at present because of the lack of demand for manufacturing purposes. It has been admitted right along that should the war end, flax is bound to be a very active seed for the reason that it is expected that with war over, there is bound to be an enormous demand on manufacturing plants to turn out supplies for the rebuilding of the wrecked nations across the Atlantic. For the same reason, stocks went up in price.

Probably nobody believes the entrance of Italy will end the war, but the fact that the business interests of America look upon it as perhaps the beginning of the end is shown by the action of the market.

DULUTHIANS TO ELEVATOR MEETING

Large Local Delegation to Minneapolis Likely in June.

It is expected that there will be quite a delegation of grain men from Duluth at a convention of farmers' elevator managers to be held in Minneapolis on June 10, 11 and 12. This will be the fourth convention of the National Association of Managers of Farmers' Elevator companies and it is expected that fully 1,000 of such managers will be in attendance. Governor Hammond of Minnesota and Governor Hanna of North Dakota will be among those who will speak at the convention.

The grain standardization department of the department of agriculture, Washington, will send one of its experts to give a progress report of the proposed government grades for wheat and oats and a review of the government grades for corn which were established the first of last July.

Two other speakers from the department of agriculture under the office of markets and rural organization will also address the convention upon the government system of farmer elevator accounting and also on rural organizations.

RECEIVES NO INFORMATION

Italian Consul in Duluth Not Notified of Country's Entrance Into War.

Attilio Castigliano, royal Italian consul for this district, has received no word concerning the outbreak of war between his country and the Teutonic alliance, and so far as official matters are concerned, knows nothing about the state of affairs.

Mr. Castigliano says that on consular affairs in this territory, he is communicated with directly, but on matters of international importance such as the outbreak of war, the only word he would receive would come through the Italian embassy at Washington, and he has, as yet, received nothing.

The consul said today that there is no way of his knowing how many Italian reservists are in this part of the country, and that he has received no notice to appeal to them.

CAN DO NOTHING FOR UNEMPLOYED

City Cannot Help Men Who Have Petitioned Council.

No formal action will be taken by the city council on the petition presented by 621 unemployed men to Mayor Prince last Wednesday morning. The petition will be read at the council meeting this evening.

"There is nothing that the council can officially do," the mayor said. "It is absolutely helpless in the matter. If employers will ask for men, we will gladly help these unemployed to obtain work. Otherwise, the council can do nothing."

The petition was presented to Mayor Prince last Wednesday by William Risto of 437 Lake avenue south, who acted as spokesman for the 621 signers. The petition to be formally read to the councilmen this evening follows:

"To the City Council of Duluth:

"How can we, the unemployed, earn our daily bread without doing a criminal act, when there is no chance to get work? We know very well that we are out of work and suffering because employers, who own all the means of life, do not give us a chance to work, but keep us in misery and hunger.

"We, the unemployed, demand you to answer our question in the Duluth Herald and News Tribune.

"Some time ago the Duluth newspapers reported that there are only a few men out of work in the city of Duluth, and that they are unwilling to work at all. Now we want to prove that there is a great army of unemployed men in this city. We have already over 600 men on our list, and they are absolutely out of work and without food or shelter."

ESTATE ADMINISTRATION.

Two Petitions Filed in Probate to Settle Affairs.

Two petitions for letters of administration were filed this morning with the clerk of the probate court.

Mrs. Mary Pequin and Mrs. Anna J. Anderson are seeking to have M. J. Filiatrault of West Duluth appointed as administrator of the estate of their mother, Mrs. Rose Brown, who died May 10 last, aged 71. She left a $300 estate.

Sam Samuelson, also known as Sam Samson, who died April 4 last, aged 44, left an estate of $600, according to the petition of his sister, Mrs. Christine Isakson of Pelican Rapids, who is seeking to have Frank H. Crassweller of this city appointed administrator.

Former Resident of Duluth Passes Away in Buffalo, N. Y.

Capt. James T. Weaver, a resident of Duluth for many years, died last night at Buffalo, N. Y., of heart failure. He leaves a widow and two sons, Arthur and James S. Weaver, both of Buffalo.

Capt. Weaver resided in Duluth for about twenty-four years. He moved several years ago to Manitowoc, Wis., and later to Buffalo. No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral.

WILL REPEAL HOUSING CODE

New Measure Will Be Introduced at Meeting of Council.

Suggestions of General Committee Will Be Added to Old Measures.

Duluth's housing code passed on Jan. 27, 1913, will be repealed at the council meeting this evening and the one agreed upon at the public hearing last Tuesday evening will be introduced by Mayor Prince. The new ordinance will require two successive readings before it will come up for passage.

The new ordinance was prepared by a general committee, consisting of representatives from the Commercial club, the Builders' exchange, the Real Estate exchange and the Duluth Association of Building Owners and Managers. After a conference of city officials over a week ago, it was decided to hold a public hearing last Tuesday, when the new code was passed upon. City Attorney Greene is now making a final draft of the bill and it will be ready for the council this evening, he said today.

Mayor Prince announced that the ordinance will include some of the more important features of the old code and the suggestions made by the general committee and E. A. Silberstein, president of the Associated Charities. The ordinance will be printed in pamphlet form after its passage, he said.

The new ordinance will allow one room to contain 140 square feet, instead of 150 square feet, and the other rooms 90 square feet, in place of 100 feet, as provided in the present code. In addition, the minimum area of bathroom windows will be reduced from 6 to 4 feet and courts facing bathrooms 10 feet to 6 feet.

Septic tanks will be required for all tenements not having sewers. Better health and fire protection in wooden tenements is also required.

The authority in enforcing this ordinance will be placed in the hands of the building inspector.

CALL TO ITALIANS IS NOT OFFICIAL

Embassy at Washington Has Nothing to Do With Published Notice.

Washington, May 24.—At the Italian embassy today all official status was disclaimed for such a call to American citizens of Italian birth, as was published today in New York. Embassy officials declared the Italian government could not and would not call on naturalized Americans to return to their native land and take up arms. Such citizens, however, are free to go of their own choice, unarmed and individually, and in such a way as not to violate the neutrality statutes.

BOY FINDS BODY OF SUICIDE SWINGING FROM RAFTERS

After carefully arraying himself in his best clothes, with a neat black tie and carefully polished shoes, Nels Ahlberg, aged about 55, hanged himself from the rafters of an abandoned shed above the boulevard near the Kenwood road.

His body was found swinging, this noon, by a boy who was strolling by the shack and who happened to look in at the open door. The shed is one used as an engine room at a rock crushing plant near there, which is not in use.

The boy, badly frightened, called Coroner C. F. McComb, who made an examination. The man was identified by means of a number of letters in the pockets of his coat, addressed to him at 2202 Water street, Duluth.

When found, the body was rigid and evidently had been hanging there for some time. Coroner McComb stated that he believed the act had been committed before night fall, or early this morning, as the position of the body indicated that the suicide was committed in daylight.

An investigation of the case, in an attempt to locate friends or relatives of the man, disclosed the fact that a son, Frank, lived at Moline, Ill. The body was taken to Crawford's undertaking rooms and the son notified.

Duluth friends or acquaintances had not been found at an early hour this afternoon, so that no motive for Ahlberg's act has been learned. The letters gave no clew as to a possible reason for the deed.

OBJECTIONS WITHDRAWN

Council Will Take Final Action on Smithville Subway.

Examination this morning of the plans and specifications for the Smithville subway revealed the fact that they call for a 52-foot roadway and, as a result, objections to the stipulation between the city and the Northern Pacific railroad, releasing the road from all future obligations, have been withdrawn and the matter will come up for final action at the council meeting this evening.

At a special meeting of the city council last Saturday noon, it was discovered that the stipulation presented by Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, attorneys for the railroad, called for a 42-foot roadway and Commissioner Farrel of the works division immediately objected, declaring that the bridge should be wider to care for the future growth of New Duluth and Gary. As a result no action was taken and the matter was laid over until tonight.

This morning it was discovered that a 62-foot roadway is provided for, and the stipulation will be authorized by the council this evening. A resolution will be passed authorizing City Attorney Greene to formally sign the stipulation.

In presenting the stipulation the road wants to be released from all future obligations to the city, although it agrees to perpetually maintain and keep the subway in repair. This action is being taken, so that the city will not make any demands on the road for changes in the bridge after it is completed.

Work on the subway will begin tomorrow.

SUPERIOR

MORE SCHOOLS THAN VETERANS

Superior No Longer Has Enough G. A. R. Heroes to "Go Round."

Some of the school children of Superior will be disappointed on Friday afternoon when Decoration day exercises will be held in all of the schools. The disappointment will be over not seeing the gray-haired veterans as in former years.

The ranks of the Alonzo Palmer post, Grand Army of the Republic, have thinned rapidly during the last year. Only a few remaining comrades will be able to turn out to visit the schools. These will attend as many of the institutions as possible, but it is believed that some of the schools may have to be left out.

In order that speakers may be present at all of the schools provision has been made to have veterans of the Spanish war visit all of the schools. With the Spanish war veterans will be members of the Sons of Veterans.

CLAIMS SLAPPING WIFE JUSTIFIABLE

Charles Foster Says She Came Home Intoxicated.

Admitting that he slapped his wife's face but claiming that he was justified in doing so, Charles Foster, aged 38, Saturday filed an answer to the divorce suit brought against him by Cora Foster, age 32, his wife, and the mother of his five children. They were married thirteen years ago in Michigan.

Mrs. Foster, in her complaint, cites several instances of alleged cruelty. Among other things, she alleges, that he struck her, Foster admits having slapped her face on one occasion. This was when she came home late and in an intoxicated condition, he says. He admits having struck her when she perched her feet upon the table and started to light a cigarette.

Mrs. Foster alleges that her husband's conduct has been so unbearable that she was obliged to leave him on April 18, last. He is a conductor in the employ of the Northern Pacific Railway company.

At the special term session Saturday afternoon, Foster was ordered to pay his wife $40 attorney's fees and $20 monthly temporary allmony.

BUSY SESSION FOR COUNCIL

Several Questions of Importance Are Due to Come Up.

City May Buy Water Meters and Assess for Storm Sewers.

Several important matters will come up before the city council at its regular weekly meeting this evening.

These include consideration of the plan to have the city supply consumers with water meters, the reading of a resolution providing for the assessing of storm sewers against benefited property, the repealing of the present housing code and the introduction of a new ordinance, the reading of an ordinance providing for compulsory garbage removal and clean-up work, and the passage of twenty-two resolutions vacating as many streets and alleys near the proposed Highland street subway in West Duluth.

Manager D. A. Reed of the water and light department said this morning that an ordinance will be introduced appropriating $6,000 for the purchase of water meters, and that at the same time the council will be asked to formally consider the plan to furnish these to the consumers. At present users of water must furnish their own meters, which are supplied by the water department. It is planned to charge a rental of 15 cents a month for four years, at the end of which time the meter will have been paid for. This change was suggested by Mr. Reed in an address to the commission last Tuesday evening, when he gave an account of the convention of the American Water Works association held at Cincinnati recently.

Storm Sewers.

Commissioner Farrell will introduce the resolution authorizing the assessor to assess for storm sewers, as is done for any other sewer, sidewalk or pavement, against the property benefited. At present storm sewers are paid for out of the general fund. The city attorney has ruled that storm sewers come under the head of sewers and that as a result must be paid for by property owners.

Commissioner Silberstein will introduce the ordinance providing for compulsory clean-up work in the city. Whenever an owner refuses to remove garbage or clean his yard, the ordinance states, the health department may do the work and assess the costs against the property benefited. The new housing ordinance will be introduced by Mayor Prince, who will also present the twenty-two resolutions vacating as many streets and alleys in the vicinity of the Highland street subway now being erected by the D., M. & N. road. These vacations are being made by the city in return for the three subways to be built by the railroad underneath its tracks.

Ruben Johnson, secretary of the civil service commission, will present a formal report on the action taken by that body last Friday, when it ordered the reinstatement of R. N. Metcalfe, discharged health inspector.

The communication by Judge Smallwood announcing the appointments of Edward A. Thompson as chief clerk of court and Edward A. Furni as first deputy clerk, will be read by City Clerk Borgen. The new officers will assume their duties on June 1.

The ordinance formally accepting the offer of Chester A. Congdon to pay the costs and awards for the Lake Shore boulevard from Lester Park to Two Harbors will be given its second reading.

For Labor and Materials.

Commissioner Farrell will introduce an ordinance appropriating $10,000 for labor and material for storm sewers and $13,000 for sanitary sewers to be constructed this summer. Sanitary sewers will be ordered in Sixth alley, from Third to Fourth avenues east, and in Owatonna street, from Ewing to Kolstad avenues.

The 80 per cent advance assessment for the paving of Woodland avenue, from Fourth street to Kent road, will be confirmed. The council will also designate easements for slopes and retaining walls for the East First, Sixteenth avenue east, Kenilworth avenue and Sussex avenue pavements.

Several saloon licenses will be granted, including a transfer of the R. L. Birch license from 1540 West Superior street to Sol Goldberg, 431 West Michigan street; Martin Nicholson at 5174 West Michigan street to Gustav Jackson and E. A. Olson, same address; Adolph Egdahl at 509 West Michigan street to Ed Olson, same address. The application of George Karuso for a transfer of the A. L. Brewer license at 5211 Raleigh street is still being investigated, Commissioner Silberstein said today. It comes up for final action tonight.

The application of James Koen and Jullus Scharven for a new license at 439 Lake avenue south will be denied, as the policy of the council is not to grant additional saloon licenses.

DIAMONDS IN DISPUTED DEBT

August Johnson Wants Them Back—Amount in Question.

Three diamonds, aggregating $780 in value, are the basis of a lawsuit which was brought on for trial in district court today by Alfred Bjork against the widow of August Johnson. Bjork is seeking to recover the possession of the diamonds.

Johnson, former proprietor of the saloon at the Rex hotel, Sixth avenue west and Superior street, and Bjork were friends from boyhood. Bjork needed some money in September, 1910, and borrowed $300 from Johnson, giving the diamonds as security. Later Johnson obtained another $100, he claims.

Johnson died on Nov. 15, 1914. About six weeks prior to his death, Bjork claims, he went to Johnson and paid him $160 on his debt. After his death, Bjork alleges, he offered to pay the widow the remainder of the money, but she refused to turn back the security.

Mrs. Johnson, in her answer, admits that the estate of her husband, of which she is administratrix, is in possession of the diamonds, but alleges that the balance due from Bjork is $645. She is willing to turn over the diamonds if he pays her this sum, she says.

Episcopal Convention.

The twentieth annuel convention of the Protestant Episcopal church in the diocese of Duluth will convene at Trinity cathedral, Wednesday, June 2, at 10 a. m., with a celebration of holy communion by the bishop, and a sermon by one of the clergy. Clerical and lay delegates from all the parishes and missions of the diocese will be in attendance. Routine business, including election of deputies to the provincial council of the province of the Northwest, will be transacted. A preliminary service will be held on the previous evening. The woman's auxiliary will hold sessions and services during the convention.

JITNEURS CHASE AN ALLEGED HORSE THIEF

Three men, riding in jitneys, chased Albert Johnson, aged 17, an alleged horse thief, from Fifty-eighth avenue west to the Point of Rocks Saturday night and captured him after a battle in which two of the pursuers were badly battered.

In police court this morning Johnson was charged with taking a horse without the owner's consent, and after pleading guilty, was sentenced to thirty days at the work farm.

"I just wanted to take a ride," he told the judge.

John Dass, aged 21, employed by Ed Roach, West Duluth liveryman, left the horse, hitched to a buggy, in front of a dwelling at 28 North Fifty-eighth avenue west, and upon missing the steed, started downtown in search of the outfit.

The jitney in which Dass, with Harry Rice, was riding, overtook Johnson and the stolen horse near the Point of Rocks and after a thrilling race, Dass grabbed the horse's reins and a battle royal ensued. Johnson finally was subdued and taken to headquarters.

WHEAT DOWN ON WAR NEWS

Market Sells Off on Italy's Entry Into European Conflict.

Flax Strong, With Good Buying By Crushers—Supplies Limited.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 24.—The market was firm around the close in view of the crop decrease shown in the American visible supply.

May wheat closed 2½c off, July 2¼c off and September 1c off. May durum closed ½c up, July 1c up and September ½c off.

Oats closed ⅛c off at 51¼c for on the track, rye unchanged at $1.16@1.17 and barley 1c up at from 66c to 76c.

Puts on Minneapolis July wheat closed at $1.44¾ and calls at $1.48¼.

Italy's entry into the war was a bearish factor today, and then as further influence, good reports of crop conditions in the Northwest came to hand. Quotations declined 2½@2¾c during the first three hours' trading, and business became quiet with limited inquiry from any quarter. Advices of traders were to the effect the millers are buying for immediate requirements only, though from a supply standpoint the inference would be that they should be on the anxious seat. At Duluth, for example, wheat supplies are down to 2,483,000 bu, a decrease of 835,000 bu last week, while at Minneapolis stocks are only 4,338,000 against 14,132,000 bu a year ago. Operators however contend that nothing is known definitely as to the supplies held by millers in their private elevators, and then again it is pointed out that grain dribbling in from day to day from country points is mounting up into a fair aggregate, and is a factor to be reckoned with. Private reports have been received by elevator men here to the effect that with favorable weather, cutting of wheat will begin in Texas this week, so that the marketing of new wheat from down that way may be expected by the middle of next month. Northern millers are said to be counting upon early deliveries of winter wheat to eke out their supplies of old grain. That will go to relieve the tremendous congestion in spring wheat, and in the meantime it is tending to prevent the market from soaring. Growers in the Southwest are said to be showing a disposition to take advantage of the present high prices of grain, and they are saving themselves in contracting for the delivery of a portion of their new wheat, at its present price basis.

May wheat opened unchanged at $1.57½, and declined to $1.55 at the noon-hour. July opened ¼c off at $1.52¼, and it broke 2½c more. September opened ¼c off at $1.21¾, and weakened 1c more.

Durum was firm on the appearance of some inquiry. May opened ½c off at $1.53, and gained 1c. July gained ⅝c at $1.54½, but September eased off ⅛c to $1.20.

Flaxseed Strong.

Crushers came into the market more freely for flaxseed supplies today, and with limited offerings quotations were advanced sharply. Operations were confined to small lots, with holders more bullish in their views owing to Italy's interposition on the side of the allies. It is argued that with the European war ended, an extremely bullish position would be created in the flax market owing to the heavy buying of linseed oil that might then be expected.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.96, and closed 2¾c up at $1.98¾ bid; July opened ½c up at $1.99½, and closed 2½c up at $2.01½ bid; September opened unchanged at $2.02, and closed 2½c up at $2.04½ bid; October opened ¼c up at $2.00¼, and closed 3c up at $2.03 bid.

It being Victoria day, there was no market at Winnipeg or London.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed 1⅛c up at $1.35⅞.

B. W. Snow wired from Kansas City: "Drove two days in selected Missouri counties bordering the Missouri river. Crossing the state, a fly is beginning to show in eastern counties, but most of the wheat still looks good. From Jefferson City west, both sides of the river, comprising the big wheat counties of the state, damage is very severe, in Howard, Saline, Chariton, La Fayette and Carroll counties, involving about 400,000 acres, it appears that fully one-third acreage is entirely destroyed, with less than half crop on the balance. Checking state reports by counties I have seen, looks as if 30,000,000 bushels is outside possibility for Missouri. Ordinarily fly damage is not markedly apparent until just before harvest. This year fields are destroyed a month before they are ripe, showing the abnormal severity of this attack. Further damage will continue to show up as harvest approaches, and much wheat that now looks good from the car windows, or even roadside view, will break down and not mature grain. Rain or any other weather cannot check the damage because the larvae have already done their work on the stalk. Corn prospects were never better."

Weekly grain shipments from North America were: Wheat, 7,450,000 bu; corn, 1,501,000 bu; oats, 2,890,000 bu. Of this quantity of wheat, 2,994,000 bu went out as flour. The Pacific coast shipped nothing and Canada shipped 2,032,000 bu wheat and 673,000 bu oats. Italy's declaration of war is viewed bearishly from the standpoint of importing countries.

Clearances reported: Wheat, 810,000 bu; flour, 25,000 bbl.; together they equal 1,023,000 bu; corn, 116,000 bu; oats, 1,616,000 bu.

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following closing letter from Chicago: "Wheat market dull and averaged lower. Political situation abroad was the dominating influence and more than offset the crop reports. Most of crop experts from the Southwest. Rains have again fallen there and other reports claim conditions have improved. Country is offering new wheat more freely now. If prices hold around the dollar mark the first run after harvest will undoubtedly swamp the markets. Southwestern markets were weak throughout the day. It will be more a case of storage room and ocean tonnage than anything else. Export demand was slow. Statistics were mixed, but the movement throughout the West and Northwest is increasing."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Effect of Italy's Declaration of War Largely Discounted in Advance.

Chicago, May 24.—Although Italy's declaration of war tended to favor the bear side of the wheat market today the effect seemed to have been largely discounted in advance. Selling did not assume unusual proportions. On the other hand, bullish crop reports from Missouri formed something of an offset. After opening ⅛c to ⅞c lower, the market rallied quite sharply, but soon underwent another sag.

In later transactions the May delivery became congested but the deferred months remained weak. The close was nervous at the same prices as Saturday night to ¾c lower.

Fine weather eased the corn market. Breaks in the price of wheat counted also in bringing about a decline. Opening prices, which varied from ¼@½c to ⅝c lower, were followed by a moderate further setback.

Smallness of country offerings led afterward to a rally. The close was firm, ⅛@¼c to ⅝c above Saturday night.

Oats felt the influence of excellent field conditions. Offerings, though, were not steady.

Provisions held steady despite lower quotations for hogs. There seemed to be no pressure from holders.

WEIGHT BEARS FLAX MARKET

Too Much Seed Accumulates, With No Prospect of Outlet.

Bulge Occurs on Shortage of Seeding—Believed Shortlived.

Until Saturday, the flax market has shown only sagging qualities all week, the weakness prompted by total lack of demand for the seed now in storage. Saturday more definite reports on the shortage of acreage sown in flax in the United States caused holders of the seed to develop a tendency to hang on, and, accordingly the price went up to about what it was last Monday. However, it is not believed that much—if any—more strength will develop, for the reason that the seed is not moving, nobody seems to want it, and the probability is that it will lie idle in the elevators for some time—nobody has any idea how long. For the ordinary dealers and speculators the load is too heavy a one to carry, and the market is so sensitive that the least attempt to realize profits will result in a slump.

Not a bushel of the seed is moving and the accumulation at all Northwestern points is constantly growing. At Duluth alone, 1,200,000 bushels are in the elevators, stagnant; Minneapolis has only about 100,000 bushels, but that is not moving and there are no prospects of it being cleared out or any part of it being taken; Fort William has 1,600,000 bushels, and there again, the seed is accumulating with out an outlet; and Winnipeg has many bushels more.

Crushers regard the situation, despite the shortage, as bearish at this time, but admit that should anything happen that would create a demand for the seed, it would turn bullish with a vengeance.

EARLY GAINS WIPED OUT

Stocks Start Higher But Decline Under the War Developments.

Specialties Active at Substantial Advances Near the Close.

New York, May 24.—Italy's formal entrance into the European conflict was met by another immediate rise in war shares at the opening of today's market. Crucible Steel, last week's sensational feature, opened with an exchange of 5,000 shares at 34@34¾, a new high price and a gain of 2¾ over last Saturday. Bethlehem Steel, Westinghouse and other issues coming within the scope of war contracts rose 1@3 points. United States Steel was in good demand, advancing a point, and metal shares gained material fractions or more. Investment railways joined the rise in more moderate degree, but reflected confident absorption.

More mature consideration of the latest complications in the foreign situation seemed to invite realizing sales after an early advance today and the market suffered a severe reversal before the end of the first hour. Bethlehem Steel made a maximum decline of 9 points, Westinghouse 5½ and Crucible Steel 3. Many issues not only lost their initial gains, but sold considerably under last week's final quotations. Trading became more active after an interval of dullness, but dealings were largely at the expense of values. Bankers and conservative commission houses were imposing restraints on speculation in the specialties. Bonds were irregular.

Prices made secondary declines in the early afternoon to the accompaniment of rumors suggesting further delay in Germany's note to Washington. Trading became stagnant later at the lower level.

The war and its latest developments engrossed speculative attention today, trading being largely limited to specialties.

Crucible Steel recovered some of its early prominence in the late tradings, and obscured specialties, notably Colorado Fuel, became suddenly active at substantial advances. The closing was firm.

WILL SUSPEND FOR SUMMER

Masonic Bodies Getting Ready for the Vacation Period.

Four Lodges Will Confer Degrees During Present Week.

Masonic lodges of the city are making preparations for the summer vacation period and are planning to suspend meetings when the real warm weather comes. Most of the bodies have meetings scheduled for June, but few, if any, will meet during July and August.

Ionic lodge, No. 186, A. F. & A. M. will confer the first degree tonight on a class of candidates. The work will be exemplified by a volunteer set of officers from the membership of the lodge. The regular officers will take no part. The affair will be followed by a smoker and lunch.

Keystone chapter, No. 20, Royal Arch Masons, will exemplify the past master and most excellent degrees on a class of six candidates at the temple on Wednesday evening. The Shrine patrol will also hold a drill practice at the temple on Wednesday.

Euclid lodge, No. 198, A. F. & A. M. will confer the second degree on a class of candidates at the West Duluth Masonic hall on Wednesday evening.

On Friday evening Zenith chapter, No. 25, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a business meeting and initiation ceremony.

WARM CONTEST FOR SCHMIED TROPHY

Marjorie Willard and Mitchell Norske Take First Honors.

Miss Marjorie Willard of 4050 Minnesota avenue and Mitchell Norske won the Berta Schmied trophy at the dance contest held on the Lyceum stage following the regular performance of the Baldwin Players last Saturday evening. The theater was crowded and the audience gave the dancers a most generous reception.

The winning couple will remain in possession of the cup for one year, at the end of which time they will have to dance again in its defense. The cup was donated by Miss Schmied and is to go to the best dancing couple at a contest to be held once a year.

At the contest Saturday evening the dancers executed steps in the hesitation and one-step dances. Those who participated were: Miss Willard and Mr. Norske, Frank Saleen and Miss Rose Dumphrey, Wallace Carpenter and Miss Adele Johnstone, Arthur Fillatrault and Miss Gladys Anderson, Edward White and Miss Margaret Lyndon, Samuel O'Gorman and Miss Winnifred Merterud, Clifford Roos and Miss Alice Berry, J. J. Lee and Miss Hortense Carr, and Townsend Hoopes and Miss Rose Morterud.

Frank Tenney, Stanley Colburn, Richard Close, Fred MacMillan and Leo Schmied were the judges.

JUDGE L. L. BAXTER IS BORNE TO GRAVE

District Judge of Minnesota for Many Years Buried at Chaska.

Fergus Falls, Minn., May 24.—The funeral of Judge Luther L. Baxter, for twenty-five years judge of the district court of the Seventh district, who died at his home here Saturday, was held here this afternoon under Masonic auspices and the body was taken to Chaska, Minn., for burial. Many members of the bar from other points as well as district judges attended the funeral.

Luther L. Baxter was born in New England 83 years ago. He came West to Minnesota when he was about 28 years of age and located in the Minnesota valley. He raised Company A of the Fourth Minnesota Volunteer Infantry and was mustered in as captain on Oct. 4, 1861. He was promoted major on April 20, 1862. Later he was commissioned lieutenant colonel of the First Minnesota Heavy Artillery. On account of ill health he resigned Oct. 10, 1862, and was mustered out April 20, 1865.

Once State Senator.

He was a lawyer by profession and served in the Minnesota senate from Scott county at the sessions of 1865, 1866 and 1867, and was senator from Carver county at the sessions for the three years of 1872, 1873 and 1874. Col. Baxter was a Democrat and active in politics. He came to the Seventh Judicial district, settling here about thirty years ago. He was a Democratic candidate for congress in this district, but was defeated, as the district was very largely Republican. Some twenty-six years ago he was appointed by Governor Hubbard judge of the Seventh Judicial district, which position he held until two years ago.

Judge Baxter was of a genial and kindly disposition and made many friends. As a judicial officer, he gave universal satisfaction, as he was fearless and correct in his rulings.

At the annual meeting and dinner of the Head of the Lakes Alumni association of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity held at the Spalding hotel Saturday evening, R. F. McDougall and Lawrence Davis were re-elected president and secretary-treasurer for another year.

During the evening addresses were made by George Morgan, Victor Anneke, Jesse Beecher and Wilbur Joyce.

Those present at the meeting were: Jesse Beecher, Lawrence Davis, Frank Falk, R. F. McDougall, Phillip Ray, W. F. Eberhardt, Wilbur Joyce, H. O. Lee, E. D. Field, G. W. Morgan, Victor Anneke, Tom Miller, J. J. C. Davis and E. S. Snively, all of Duluth, and D. R. Campbell of Cloquet.

VATICAN WILL REMAIN ABSOLUTELY NEUTRAL

Paris, May 24.—A dispatch to the Temps from Rome says:

"It has been stated that Pope Benedict has prepared a document justifying the Vatican for its version to remain absolutely neutral, but leaving Italian Catholics free to act in the war according to their own desires, without engaging the responsibility of the Holy See.

"It is stated that the pope will protest formally against the expulsion of the Austrian ambassador and the German ministers accredited to the Vatican, declaring that it is contrary to the guarantees."

CHINA'S "JOHN D." WILL VISIT DULUTH WITH COMMISSION FROM THE ORIENT

CHINA'S "JOHN D." IN NATIVE COSTUME AND AMERICAN CLOTHES.

The John D. Rockefeller of China will be in Duluth next month. Yes, the Hon. Chang Chen Hsun is going to be with the commercial commissioners of China—he is worth the mere sum of $60,000,000.

All of the romance of industrialism is woven around this dominant figure of China. Starting as a poor boy, the Hon. Chang Chen Hsun today owns railroads, steamboats, mines, vineyards and vast concessions of land. His holdings are scattered over China and extend to Asia and include the islands of the Indian and Pacific oceans.

The Hon. Chang Chen Hsun is president of the commercial commissioners of China, who are visiting the United States for the purpose of getting first hand information of its resources and learning the secret of American progress. Chang Chen Hsun has labored to give China a republican form of government. This is the first time the Hon. Hsun has been in America.

It is stated that most of the members of the Chinese commercial commission are, like the Hon. Hsun, men of great wealth and influence in their native land. But of all the members of this interesting body of men, that will probably compose one of the most impressive delegations that have ever visited Duluth, the Hon. Chang Chen Hsun, its president, is probably the most picturesque and possibly stands for the greatest individual spirit of progress in the new China.

BUILDING BOATS FOR OCEAN TRADE

Three Steamers Building at Detroit for Clyde Steamship Company.

New York, May 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. H. Raymond, vice president of the Clyde Steamship company, has announced here that that company is having constructed by the Great Lakes Engineering Works of Detroit three steamers for the coastwise trade.

The three vessels are to be single-screw steamships of 2,000 tons gross register and will cost about $175,000 each. The yare to be delivered to the Clyde people some time during the coming fall.

The suggestion that the steamers might be contemplated for the Great Lakes trade, owing to the interstate commerce commission's order directing the railroads to dispose of their Great Lakes steamers, and the roads' threat to place them in the trans-Atlantic service, elicited the positive information that the new Clyde vessels are not for the Great Lakes, but between what points they will ply along the Atlantic coast could not be learned.

EAGLE HARBOR DOCK SOLD.

The Keweenaw Central Railroad Has Purchased Property.

Eagle Harbor, Mich., May 24.—The Keweenaw Central Railroad company has purchased from Edwin M. Raley the dock and warehouse property here, formerly owned by William P. Raley. The land involved extends from the Kingston property to the lighthouse and along the shore line of the harbor to the Bawden property, including the Raley docks, warehouses and old homestead. The transfer also includes the old docks and warehouse of Uren and Bawden.

It is probable that the dock and warehouse will be placed in repair.

APPEAL FOR FRANK'S LIFE

City Council Will Consider Resolution in Behalf of Prisoner.

Fred J. Voss, commissioner of finance, will introduce a resolution at the regular council meeting this evening, appealing to Governor John M. Slaton of Georgia in behalf of Leo M. Frank, Atlanta factory superintendent, who is sentenced to hang on June 22 for the death of Mary Phagan, the 15-year-old factory girl, more than two years ago.

If the resolution is adopted a copy will be signed by Mayor Prince and the members of the commission and forwarded to Governor Slaton at once. Only executive clemency can save the prisoner from death, and in the resolution the commutation of the death penalty to life imprisonment or a pardon is asked by the city council.

Other Bodies Act.

Similar action as that planned by Mr. Voss has been taken by the city council of San Francisco and the state legislatures of Wisconsin and West Virginia. In addition more than 125,000 persons from all over the United States have written to Governor Slaton and the board of pardon commissioners in behalf of the condemned prisoner, according to reports from Atlanta.

The resolution to be introduced this evening follows:

"Whereas, The facts of the Leo M. Frank case came before only one court, the lower court, the upper courts having confined themselves strictly to questions of law, and,

"Whereas, The presiding judge of said lower court, who heard all the evidence in the case and had the best opportunity to study the witnesses for both sides, expressed himself of record that he was not satisfied as to Leo M. Frank's guilt, and,

Life Sentence or Liberty.

"Whereas, We believe, with the trial judge, that the evidence in the case does not prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Leo M. Frank is guilty of the murder of Mary Fagan, and,

"Whereas, Said Leo M. Frank is sentenced to die on the 22nd day of June, 1915, for said murder,

"Be it resolved, therefore, That this commission, in council, respectfully ask the governor of the state of Georgia to use his influence to pardon said Leo M. Frank or to commute his sentence from death to life imprisonment.

"Resolved further, That a copy of this resolution, signed by the mayor and all commissioners of the city of Duluth, be forwarded to Hon. John M. Slaton, governor of the state of Georgia."

WOULD SAVE STATE SEVERAL MILLIONS

State Treasurer Smith Has Plan to Benefit the Taxpayers.

St. Paul, Minn., May 24.—Appropriations made by the last legislature for the conduct of the state government and its various departments were in excess of $18,000,000. The total amount appropriated was about $1,000,000 less than that allowed by the previous legislature.

State Treasurer Smith is of the opinion that this bi-annual distribution of moneys for the payment of expenses of the various state departments could be cut several million dollars and to that end he has worked out a scheme. The plan is the payment of all department expenses from the department earnings. This, he points out, would obviate the bi-annual appropriation for those departments having earnings or which are self-supporting.

Such now is the case with the state prison which has the use of all its earnings in the furtherance of the various industries located there; likewise the state railroad and warehouse commission which has inspection fees annually running into the thousands of dollars. No annual appropriations are made for either. The receipts at the state prison from the binding twine and machinery plants for the past year have been nearly $2,000,000 and at the close of business the surplus to the credit of the industries named will be close to $600,000. This surplus is turned back into the business and aids materially in reducing the price of next year's output.

While the earnings of some departments are so manifestly in excess of what they would really need for the proper conduct of the business assigned them Mr. Smith says a limit could be placed on their expenditures. In any event the bi-annual appropriation would be avoided and the departments given an incentive to better work and a reduction in cost of the department to the tax payers of the state and to its particular patrons.

ITALIAN TROOPS BEGIN INVASION OF AUSTRIA

ADVANCE OF GERMAN TROOPS IN EAST APPARENTLY CHECKED

ADVANCE IS MADE ON THE WEST FRONT

British Lines Penetrated By Use of Asphyxiating Gases.

Flying Wedge Driven Into Russian Center Gives Way.

Savage Counter-Attacks Being Made By Forces of the Czar.

London, May 25.—On the eastern frontier of the war signs of a check to what at one time seemed an overwhelming Austro-German offensive movement are becoming more and more apparent. Even the flying wedge which was driven into the Russian center along the river San has been compelled to give some ground by the energetic counter-attacks of the Russians.

In the west General French reports that the Germans by the use of asphyxiating gases, succeeded in penetrating the British lines at two points, but he claims that some of the trenches lost as a result of these tactics were regained in the subsequent fighting. The contest is still raging.

Domestic politics continues to absorb attention in England. The membership of the new cabinet has not yet been announced. This delay, according to the Manchester Guardian, a ministerialist organ, is due to the insistence by the Unionists on eight places in the cabinet as representing their numerical strength in the house of commons.

A clean sweep is looked for in the admiralty, where it is expected that Baron Fisher as well as Winston Spencer Churchill will go.

French Statement.

Paris, May 25, 2:40 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave a report on the progress of hostilities which reads:

"It was a night of considerable activity between the sea and Arras. In Belgium, following a violent bombardment, a German attacking column endeavored to gain a footing on the highway between Langemarck and Ypres. It was definitely checked.

"The Germans delivered two attacks yesterday to the north of Ablain. In each case they were repulsed. To the north of Neuville they delivered four attacks, each of which was checked by the fire of our artillery.

"In these various aggressive endeavors, all of which resulted in complete failure, the enemy suffered heavy losses.

"Nothing has been reported from the remainder of the front."

HEAR NOTHING FROM BERLIN

American Officials Still in Dark as to Reply From Germany.

President Does Not Know Cause of Delay in Answering.

Washington, May 25.—President Wilson told callers today he did not know the causes for the delay of the German reply to the American note on the Lusitania, but he presumed the German government was, for the moment, absorbed in the new circumstances arising out of Italy's entrance into the war.

While Ambassador Gerard has sent several messages bearing on what the German reply may be, no direct intimation had been received concerning its contents, and the American government is really uninformed.

The German embassy here, however, has made suggestions to the German foreign office for the reply, and, in German quarters, it is said the note will be of a character to satisfy American public opinion.

Chronic Case.

While declining to throw any light on the shipping situation as between Great Britain and the United States, the president referred to it as a chronic case. It was learned that he believed any formal note at this time to Great Britain might be construed as a weakening of the American government's position in its delicate relations with Germany, but as soon as the Berlin reply is received some action may be expected. Pressure is constantly being brought to bear informally, however, on the British foreign office and admiralty to ameliorate conditions with respect to American cargoes and ships and if not relieved shortly, general representations of a broad character would not be surprising.

PROCLAMATION OF NEUTRALITY

Issued By State Department Covering Entry of Italy Into War.

Strict Impartiality Imposed Upon Americans During the Contest.

Washington, May 25.—A neutrality proclamation by the United States covering the entry of Italy in the European war was published today by the state department under date of May 24.

The proclamation cautions American cities that "the laws and treaties of the United States, without interfering with the free expression of opinion and sympathy, or with the commercial manufacture or sale of arms or munitions of war, nevertheless impose upon all persons who may be within their territory and jurisdiction the duty of impartial neutrality during the existence of the contest."

Laws Recited.

As was the case in the other neutrality proclamations issued during the present war, the laws of the United States forbidding recruiting for the belligerents in this country or the fitting out of war vessels, are recited and also the laws governing belligerent warships entering American ports. The protection of the United States, it is declared, will be denied to such American citizens as "may misconduct themselves in the premises."

MANY WOUNDED ARE AT CONSTANTINOPLE

Thousands From the Dardanelles Brought Into Turkish Capital.

Athens, May 25, via London.—Advices reaching here from Constantinople by mail describe the arrival in the Turkish capital of thousands of wounded from the Dardanelles, where the First Turkish army corps, composed of the best fighting element in the country, has been engaged.

In Constantinople there is a shortage of petroleum, wood and coal. Bread also is lacking and at the bakeries people must take their turn.

When American Ambassador Morgenthau protested to the Turkish authorities against the sending of fifty British and French subjects to be placed on the fortifications of the Dardanelles, a measure designed to stop the bombardment of the allies, Enver Bey replied he must do something, as the arrival of Turkish wounded from the straits was creating a deep impression. The ambassador's energetic efforts, coupled with the British threats to hold Enver Bey personally responsible, resulted in the return of these men to Constantinople within a week. They were accompanied to Gallipoli by Hoffman Philip, secretary of the American embassy.

The collier Vulcan, which has been coaling the American cruiser Tennessee, is expected shortly at Dedeagatch from Beirut, bringing the unit of the American Red Cross society, which is proceeding to Constantinople.

FAIR WEATHER WILL FOLLOW SHOWERS

Washington, May 25.—The weather bureau today in its forecast for the week beginning May 26 made the following predictions:

Great Lakes region—Thunder showers Wednesday, followed by generally fair. Somewhat warmer Wednesday, except in Lake Superior region but moderate temperature will rule.

Plains states and Upper Mississippi valley—Generally fair; seasonable temperatures.

AMBASSADORS LEAVE THE ITALIAN CAPITAL

Representatives of Germany and Austria With Staffs Quit Rome.

Rome, May 24, via Paris, May 25.—Baron von Macchio, Austrian ambassador to Italy, and Prince von Schoenburg-Hartenstein, ambassador to the Vatican, with their staffs, left for Vienna aboard a special train at 8 o'clock last night. They were accompanied to the railroad station by Count Vinaza, Spanish ambassador to the Vatican. There was a large crowd at the station but no demonstration.

Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador, with Princess von Buelow, the German ministry to the Vatican and their staffs, left for Berlin at 9:30 o'clock. They were followed fifteen minutes later by the Bavarian ministers to the Quirinal and the Vatican and their staffs.

BRITISH WARSHIP PICKS UP GERMAN AVIATORS.

London, May 25.—A telegram from Harwich says a British destroyer arrived there this morning bringing a German sub-lieutenant and mechanican from a Taube aeroplane which was found floating in the North sea. The aeroplane had been forced by engine trouble to descend. After the Germans had been rescued the aeroplane was sunk.

DUTCH GOVERNMENT PROTESTS TO GERMANY.

The Hague, Netherlands, May 25, via London.—The government of The Netherlands has sent a note to Germany protesting against the sinking May 7 of the Cunard line steamer Lusitania by a German submarine.

The contents of this note are substantially the same as that in the American communication on the same subject.

The lives of several Dutch subjects were lost when the Lusitania was torpedoed.

WIRELESS IS HANDICAPPED

German Means of Communication With United States Direct Hampered.

Static Conditions Cause—No Relief Expected Before July.

New York, May 25.—Wireless communication between the United States and Germany has been severely handicapped, and probably will continue so until about July 1, by the static conditions prevailing in the North Atlantic at this time of the year.

The wireless station at Sayville, L. I., the receiving station of the Atlantic Communication company, the German wireless concern, has within the past week or two been frequently isolated from the sending plant at Nauen, Germany, it was learned today. The same situation exists at Tuckerton, N. J., the sending station for messages to Germany. Such messages as are received at Sayville are for the most part fragmentary or often impossible to decipher.

The electrical activities of the aurora borealis, accompanied by electrical storms over the wireless routes, are the cause of the difficulty, it is explained, and may be expected to continue several weeks. This means that until normal conditions again prevail, uncensored communication between Germany and the outside world will be limited.

The news agencies meantime have been obliged to depend upon London

U. S. SUBMARINE F-4 IS NEARING SURFACE

Wrecked Craft Will Soon Be Brought to Top of Water.

Honolulu, May 24.—The submarine F-4, raised 21 feet yesterday, was brought within 87 feet of the surface. Divers were temporarily halted by the lifting operations and they went down yesterday afternoon for an examination of the channel's entrance. Navy officials are confident that the F-4 will be brought to the top of the water this week.

Rockefeller Official Takes Exception to His Way of Questioning.

Walsh Proceeds in Interrogations in Spite of Protests.

Washington, May 25.—W. L. Mackenzie King, director of industrial relations department of the Rockefeller foundation, resumed his testimony today before the Federal Industrial relations commission which is inquiring into conditions in the Colorado coal fields. The witness took the stand late yesterday and was questioned at length as to his services to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and to the foundation. He interrupted his testimony to roundly denounce the methods of Chairman Walsh in conducting the commission's Colorado strike inquiry.

"I have seen witness after witness on the stand here treated in a manner that was anything but fair," he said. "In the name of labor, I protest against the way this hearing has been conducted.

"You do not like the way investigations are conducted in this country?" asked Chairman Walsh. "I do not like the way this hearing has been conducted," replied the witness.

TOWNS NEAR THE BORDER ARE TAKEN

Soldiers Make Steady Advance, Encountering But Feeble Resistance.

Italian Warship Enters Buso, Destroying Station and Landings.

Number of Prisoners Are Captured and Taken to Venice.

Rome, May 25, via Paris.—Official announcement was made by the war office today that Italian forces had penetrated Austria, occupying Caporetto, the heights between the Judnio and Isonzo, and the towns of Cormons, Cervignagno and Terzo.

The towns of Caporetto, Cormons, Cervignano and Terzo are in Austrian territory, two or three miles from the Italian border line. They stretch along the frontier on a line running north from the head of the gulf of Triest. The Austrian town of Corz is five miles to the east of Cormons, and Triest itself is twenty-five miles from the border line. Railroads running east and west pass through both Cormons and Terzo.

The statement says these operations took place yesterday in the Austrian crown land of Carniolo and in the Friuli district. It reads:

"On the Carniolo front Austrian artillery opened fire against our positions without results. During the day of May 24 our artillery fired on positions occupied by artillery of the enemy.

"On the Friuli front our troops advanced everywhere and encountered only feeble resistance. We have occupied Caporetto, the heights between the Indrin and Isonzo rivers, Cormons, Cervignano and Terzo. The enemy

TURKISH SUBMARINE SANK RUSS WARSHIP

Constantinople Officially Announces Victory for Its Submersible.

Amsterdam, May 25, via London.—A telegram from Constantinople says it is announced officially there that a Turkish submarine sank a Russian warship in the Black sea.

The Dispatch adds that Turkey succeeded for some time in concealing the fact that this submarine was in operation and that the complete results of its activities are unknown.

A wireless dispatch from Berlin yesterday reported that a Russian warship, probably the battleship Panteleimon, had been sunk in the Black sea with the loss of 1,400 men. The dispatch gave no intimation that the vessel had been sunk by a submarine.

FOREIGN MINISTER CALLED A TRAITOR

Some Excitement While Jap Parliament Discusses China.

Tokio, May 25.—While Foreign Minister Kato was explaining the Chinese situation to the house of representatives today a member of the opposition arose in his seat and called the foreign minister a traitor. He was made to apologize by the president of the house.

There is considerable uneasiness in Tokio because of the receipt of private reports that the anti-Japanese agitation is spreading through South China. There are fears of rioting in Hankow.

There has been much rejoicing in Tokio over the advent of Italy into the European war on the side of the allies, and the conviction that this will hasten victory is being expressed.

There is excellent reason for the statement that the allies have definitely abandoned the project entertained by them at one time, to induce Japan to send a regular army to Europe.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Italy has invaded Austria. Official announcement was made by the war office at Rome today that Italian forces had penetrated Austrian territory along a line running about forty miles from the gulf of Triest, capturing four towns within two or three miles of the frontier.

An Italian destroyer raided the Austrian port of Buso, near the frontier, destroyed the landings, railroad station and barracks. Two Austrians were killed, the first casualties officially reported in the new campaign.

It is regarded in London as probable that the Austro-German army will make the first important move by striking at the Italian center in the direction of Verona.

Heavy fighting is in progress once more on the western end of the Franco-Belgian front. British, German and French forces are making attacks at various points between Arras and the coast. There is as yet no sign, however, of a general assault by the allies such as has been predicted.

Dispatches from Athens reiterate the report that the Turkish attack on Gallipoli peninsula, made with the pick of the Ottoman army was a failure. It is stated that wounded Turkish soldiers by the thousands are arriving in Constantinople.

One of the Austrian warships which took part in yesterday's attack on the east coast of Italy is believed in Rome to have been injured. The ministry of marine announced that a steamer had sighted an Austrian warship with a heavy list and that it probably was the vessel which attacked Barletta and was driven off.

Eight attacks were made by the Germans yesterday between Arras in northern France and the Belgian coast. The French official statement asserts all these attacks were repulsed, the Germans losing heavily.

The Dutch government has sent to Germany a protest against the sinking of the Lusitania which resulted in the death of several Dutch subjects.

ONE WOMAN AT COUNCIL MEET

Old Housing Code Repealed and New One Introduced.

Ordinance Gives Health Department Greater Power in Clean-up Work.

One lone woman attended the regular meeting of the council last evening.

This is the first time since night meetings were established that a representative of the gentler sex has attended a meeting and many at the city hall are now of the opinion that within a short time a large feminine audience will not be unusual.

During the meeting the council repealed the housing code passed Jan. 27, 1913, and heard the first reading of a new housing ordinance introduced by Mayor Prince. The measure was prepared by a general committee of citizens and city officials and embodies a large part of the old code and new features that were deemed necessary. Since the code went into effect two years ago, many faults have been found and the ordinance introduced yesterday is believed to be more comprehensive and suitable for a city, with the topography and climatic conditions of Duluth. The ordinance is one of the longest ever introduced, there being more than twenty-five pages.

New Ordinances Introduced.

Commissioner Silberstein introduced the ordinance compelling an owner to remove garbage and clean his yards, or authorizing the health department to clean up in case he refuses to do so, and to assess the property for the costs of the work. Mayor Prince introduced a new ordinance regulating the removal of wires and poles by those in the house-moving business. A similar ordinance introduced a month ago was tabled and the measure presented last night has several changes, which were desired by the business men of the city. Before removing wires or poles a house-mover must first obtain a permit from the commissioner of public affairs and also pay the damages to the owner.

The resolution introduced by Commissioner Voss asking Gov. John M. Slaton of Georgia for clemency in behalf of Leo M. Frank, sentenced to hang on June 22, was adopted unanimously.

The ordinance formally accepting the offer of Chester A. Congdon to pay the costs and awards for the Lake Shore boulevard was given its second reading.

Money For Improvements.

Commissioner Farrell introduced an ordinance appropriating $10,000 for storm sewers and $13,000 for sanitary sewers to be constructed this year. An ordinance appropriating $400 for the inspection of cast iron specials at the foundry was introduced by Commissioner Merritt. The latter also introduced an ordinance appropriating $4,900 for the purchase of gas and water gates, boxes and hydrants.

The contract for hauling pipe was awarded to White & Sheitrey on their bid of $2,294.50.

The council adopted the resolution introduced by Mayor Prince, hiring Francis W. Sullivan as a special attorney for the city in its East Fourth street paving case against the Duluth Street Railway company. The case will come before the district court next month. Mr. Sullivan will receive $2,500 for his services at this trial and in an appeal, which is expected to follow.

Bids on furnishing the city with 250,000 feet of lumber were rejected and Commissioner Farrell was authorized to advertise for new proposals. The council also approved the sidewalk improvement program of Commissioner Farrell.

Incandescent lights were ordered installed at Fifty-fourth avenue east and Oakley street, St. Marie street between Wallace and Woodland avenues, Woodland avenue and Eighth street, Woodland avenue and Jackson street, Nineteenth avenue east and Twelfth street, and in the alley between Third and Fourth avenues east and Fourth and Fifth streets.

Routine Matters.

Gas and water mains were ordered in Wabasha road from Maxwell avenue to a point 985 feet west; in Fifth street, from Thirteenth avenue east to a point 180 feet east; in Sixtieth avenue west, between Bristol and Greene streets, and in Ninth street, between Seventh and Eighth avenues east.

The 80 per cent advance assessment on the paving of Woodland avenue, from Fourth street to Kent road, was confirmed.

Sixth alley, between Third and Fourth avenues west, was ordered graded and a sanitary sewer was ordered in Owatonna street, between Ewing and Kolstad avenues.

WOULD GIVE WORK TO THE UNEMPLOYED

Petition Signed By 621 Men Read to Council; Plan Suggested.

Although the council took no action on the petition signed by 621 unemployed men, asking for work, a communication by L. A. Larsen was read, in which he states that a plan is now being formulated so that 100 men will be able to obtain employment within a short time.

Mr. Larsen declares that a large number of these signers will be able to obtain road work.

After the reading of the petition the commissioners declared that the council could take no action whatever. The petition was ordered filed away with the records of the meeting.

RESCUE WORK INCREASING

World-Wide Effort Being Made to Aid the Unemployed.

The efforts of the religious world are turning more and more to helping those who are unable to cope alone with the battles of life and rescue mission work is gaining in popularity among all classes of Christians. This was the sentiment expressed at the International Union of Gospel Missions at Norfolk, Va., according to Rev. Henry E. Ramseyer, superintendent of the Bethel, who has just returned from attending the convention.

"There are no more men needing help now than there were a few years ago, except in large cities," said Mr. Ramseyer today, "but the activity of rescue workers is bringing cases to light, which in former times were not noticed by the public. The rescue work is being greatly increased all over the country, and a conscientious effort is being made to put unemployed and needy men on their feet and help the delinquents to overcome their temptations and weaknesses."

He said reports at the convention showed that conditions of the unemployed were the same in all parts of the country and that Duluth was in as good or a better position than any of the cities represented. This speaks well for Duluth when it is known that nearly 200 delegates were present, representing cities in all parts of the country.

"New and better methods in handling the rescue work among men and women are being worked out all the time," he said, "and it will not be long before missions with hotels like the Bethel, will be established in every city of the larger class in the country. Most large cities now have such institutions, and reports showed that they were all doing a work that would have lasting and beneficial results."

WATER METERS WILL BE FREE

Owners of Meters Will Receive Credit for Them From City.

Merritt Introduces Ordinance Carrying Out Suggestions of Reed.

From now on patrons of the water and light department will be supplied with meters.

At the council meeting last evening the commissioners adopted a resolution introduced by Commissioner Merritt, authorizing him to furnish these meters free of charge and to allow water users, who have paid for their meters, credit on their accounts, less 10 per cent annually for depreciation. In addition, the water and light department was given authority to purchase 800 water meters and to advertise for bids for them. The council heard the first reading of an ordinance appropriating $6,000 to pay for these meters.

Cost to Be $45,000.

Manager D. A. Reed of the water and light department in a communication to the council explained that the cost of furnishing meters will be about $45,000 and that the new system will result in an annual increased operating expense of $8,000. There are 8,046 meters now in use, which are owned by the consumers.

The action of the council last evening followed a recommendation made by Mr. Reed last week during an address before the commissioners on the convention of the American Water Works association, held in Cincinnati early this month. He declared that the convention went on record favoring free water meters. Mr. Reed's letter to the council, read last evening, follows in part:

Reed's Recommendations.

"I wish to direct your attention at the present time to the advisability of furnishing meters to our water consumers free of charge.

"It is understood that the principal reason for compelling customers heretofore to pay for meters was the lack of department funds, and that this expense should be borne by the department as soon as its finances were in such condition as to permit taking over the expense of installing meters.

"A great difficulty is found in applying the meter system to all our trade, principally on account of the expense incurred by the customer. It is generally conceded that the metering of all connections is exceedingly advisable not only as a correct and equitable basis of charges to the trade, but also for the prevention of waste and leakage, which is a large item of expense to the department and which also prevents efficiency in service.

Two Objections.

"Naturally the customer will object to installation of a meter for two reasons. One is the item of expense, and the second is that it might increase the amount of his water bills. Incidental to this, if the meter should need repairs from lack of proper protection by the owner, it becomes necessary for the department to repair the meter and bill the owner for repairs to his own meter, and, as a matter of fact, without authority or order from the owner.

"This usually places the department in an embarrassing position with reference to the repair and maintenance of property which it does not own.

"In regard to the furnishing of meters to customers, this matter was discussed to some extent in the annual report of the department submitted last January, and it is recommended that it be adopted at the present time.

"On Jan. 1 there were 8,546 meters installed, of which only about 140 were owned by the department. It is estimated that the ultimate expense to the department of furnishing free meters at the end of the year, after proper credits have been given customers, will be about $45,000. Annual increase in operating expense from furnishing meters probably will be $8,000."

NO EIGHTH GRADE GRADUATION PROGRAM

Old Custom Goes Out With New Junior High School System.

Eighth grade graduation exercises, with recitations, songs, and an address by some member of the board of education, while the fond parents looked on from the front rows of the auditorium, are a thing of the past.

This year Duluth school children who finish the eighth grade will not have the honor of going through this long ordeal, looked forward to by the girls and dreaded by the boys. They will not even get a diploma.

Supt. R. E. Denfeld has decided and eighth grade exercises are no more.

"With the change to the junior high school system," declared Mr. Denfeld, "there will be no occasion for the eighth grade graduation. Later on, when the new system is working better and fully installed, we intend to give diplomas to pupils when they finish the ninth grade and enter the junior high, but this semester no 'sheepskins' will be forthcoming for anyone but graduates of the high schools."

And so several hundred girls are mourning because they will not have an opportunity to wear their new dresses, and as many boys are glad, because they will not have to dress up and walk across "that long stage" to where the school board member stands with outstretched hand, offering him his first sheepskin.

BRITISH SOLDIER WITH RESPIRATOR

Some time before the Germans began to use asphyxiating gas the soldiers in the trenches felt the effect of gases from the ordinary bombs and appeals were made to the British public to supply respirators to the men. This appeal has been doubled since the new German weapon was introduced. Now Kitchener says the English too are going to use gases and the soldiers will need respirators to protect themselves from their own weapon.

ALL-DAY CELEBRATION OF INDEPENDENCE DAY URGED

Commissioner Voss Thinks Fourth of July Is Becoming Too Tame; Public Singing of "Star Spangled Banner" as One Feature; America Has Cause to Rejoice.

A grand Fourth of July celebration, with a continuous program from morning to night, including the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" on the courthouse square by all the school children of the city and a fireworks display in the evening, was suggested this morning by Fred J. Voss, commissioner of finance.

"The people of Duluth," said Mr. Voss, "should get together and give the children a real live celebration. We don't allow any more fireworks, and the Fourths during the last few years have been too tame. By starting a city-wide movement for subscriptions, business men could obtain the funds needed to make this coming Fourth of July a memorable one.

"This year our Fourth of July should be more glorious than ever. With nearly all Europe embroiled in war, America has cause to rejoice on her independence day. Let's all get together for a celebration the little ones will never forget."

Mr. Voss favors the plan started in Philadelphia that "The Star Spangled Banner" be sung by all the people at noon on July 4 and he would have the school children of the city gather on the courthouse square to lead in the singing. The people could gather around and join in the song, he explained.

In addition, the commissioner would have a program of sports, both field and water, in the afternoon and a display of fireworks at some central point in the evening.

The Herald tonight announces the above list of the ten prize winners in the short story contest that it conducted in connection with the farce comedy "Seven Keys to Baldpate" that is being played at the Lyceum this week by the Baldwin Players, and the details of which were related in the Friday evening issue of The Herald. The contest was successful far beyond the expectations of the editor and the stories that were submitted show that Duluth has a large number of successful story writers. In writing the play the contestants were subjected to a rather hard task as the play has a number of complex situations, and one not witnessing it played before, would not at once grasp the plot as it was presented in The Herald. However the stories that were sent in were all cleverly written and The Herald is well pleased with the successful culmination of this contest.

GEHREY MAY QUIT OFFICE

Plans for Change in Soo Staff Not Announced Yet.

When F. R. Smalley, at the present time city passenger and ticket agent of the Soo in Minneapolis, becomes district passenger agent for the Soo, with headquarters in Duluth, on the first of June, J. P. Gehrey, it is said, will leave the local office.

No definite announcement of the plans of the Soo in this district has come from local authorities. Mr. Gehrey stated that he had been informed of no change.

It was expected that Harry Lewis, assistant general passenger agent of the Soo, would be in the city yesterday and that a definite announcement would be made by him. Mr. Lewis is expected the present week, and until his arrival Mr. Gehrey stated that he would rather not discuss the rumor that he is to make way for Mr. Smalley.

MURPHY IS APPOINTED

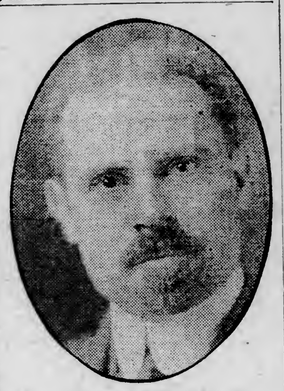
Duluthian Made Executive of Minnesota Public Health Association.

Former Assistant City Health Inspector Will Succeed Dr. H. W. Hill.

Dr. I. J. Murphy, former assistant health director of this city, was yesterday afternoon selected as executive secretary of the Minnesota Public Health association while Dr. H. W. Hill is away on a leave of absence.

Although the appointment is a temporary one, it is possible that Dr. Murphy will become the permanent secretary, as Dr. Hill is going to London, Ont., his former home, where it is believed he will remain. He was director of public health in the Canadian city before coming to Minnesota, having obtained a leave of absence to accept the office in this state. Dr. Hill was connected with the Minnesota state board of health for seven years before going to London.

The meeting of the association was held at St. Paul yesterday and the many friends of Dr. Murphy will be pleased to learn of his election. In addition, other officers were elected, the presidency having been referred to a nominating committee. E. W. Randall of St. Paul was president during the last year. A. O. Eberhart, former governor, and President Vincent of the state university are the honorary vice presidents.



DR. I. J. MURPHY.

Dr. Murphy will be the direct head of the association and will direct the sale of Red Cross seals each year. This organization was at one time known as the Minnesota Association for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis. Dr. A. T. Laird, Dr. E. L. Tuohy, L. B. Arnold and Mrs. F. L. Barrows are the Duluth members of the directorate.

Dr. Murphy was assistant health director and police surgeon for the last seven years. When the Silberstein regime took charge recently he dropped out and announced that he was planning to take a course in public health at a New York university. He will assume his new duties at once, it was announced yesterday.

TO MAKE NO CHANGE IN MEXICAN POLICY

President So Announces After Hearing Report of Duval West.

Washington, May 25.—President Wilson does not contemplate any change of Mexican policy as a result of the report by Duval West, his special commissioner, who recently returned from an investigation. The president told callers today that Mr. West had not suggested an embargo on exports of war munitions from the United States into Mexico.

Mr. West is understood to have reported pessimistically as to the ability of the various factions, pointing out that none seemed to have the element requisite to dominate the country and bring peace.

As he impressed the Mexican leaders with the necessity for safeguarding the lives of foreigners and their interests, and the Washington government within the last months has been able to secure protection for foreign interests, the disposition of high officials now is to allow the military situation as between the factions to develop further before putting into effect any change of policy.

AMENDMENTS TO INCOME TAX LAW

Wisconsin Senate Acts Favorably on Those Presented.

Madison, Wis., May 25.—Amendments to the income tax law were favorably acted upon by the senate today. One taxes all insurance received and the gifts received during the year. The senate engrossed the Bichler bill as amended permitting cities and villages of the fourth class to vote on the purchase of water works once a year.

Ther was no opposition in the house today to the Harrington bill repealing the election pamphlet law. The bill was engrossed.

The assembly killed three bills by Assemblyman Harrington relieving the school, town and village treasurers of liability as soon as they have deposited the money for security in the bank.

The Crosby direct marketing bill was laid over until Friday.

Concurrence was given to the bill dividing the street railway taxes on the basis of 70 per cent to towns, 20 per cent to counties through which the lines operate and 10 per cent to the state for making the collection.

The senate concurred in a number of minor assembly bills and both houses adjourned until tomorrow.

Requirements for Naval Reserve Men Adopted to Suit Recruits.

Recruiting Officer Peter Coyle of the local recruiting station, postoffice building, has received additional instructions relative to the requirements for men of this district joining the naval reserves.

The latest regulations permit members to select the time they desire to go into active service each year, and the service with the active navy will be voluntary on their part. This will enable ex-navy men now employed as firemen, policemen, railroad men, etc., to go to sea on active service duty for two weeks or a month once a year at such times as their employers usually grant them leave or vacations. The annual review of the fleet in the Hudson river in New York will give these men an excellent opportunity to be with the fleet and enjoy the visits at New York where the sailors are usually entertained by the citizens for ten days.

About 200 men in this city and the vicinity are eligible. Petty Officer Coyle of the local office expects numerous applications for enlistment.

ALL-DAY CELEBRATION OF INDEPENDENCE DAY URGED

A grand Fourth of July celebration, with a continuous program from morning to night, including the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" on the courthouse square by all the school children of the city and a fireworks display in the evening, was suggested this morning by Fred J. In addition, the commissioner would have a program of sports, both field and water, in the afternoon and a display of fireworks at some central point in the evening.

SERVICE MADE EASIER.

Requirements for Naval Reserve Men Adopted to Suit Recruits.

Recruiting Officer Peter Coyle of the local recruiting station, postoffice building, has received additional instructions relative to the requirements for men of this district joining the naval reserves.

The latest regulations permit members to select the time they desire to go into active service each year, and the service with the active navy will be voluntary on their part. This will enable ex-navy men now employed as firemen, policemen, railroad men, etc., to go to sea on active service duty for two weeks or a month once a year at such times as their employers usually grant them leave or vacations. The annual review of the fleet in the Hudson river in New York will give these men an excellent opportunity to be with the fleet and enjoy the visits at New York where the sailors are usually entertained by the citizens for ten days.

About 200 men in this city and the vicinity are eligible. Petty Officer Coyle of the local office expects numerous applications for enlistment.

HEAVY STORM ONE YEAR AGO

Anniversary of Electrical Hurricane Causing Heavy Local Damage.

Buildings Unroofed, Coal Docks Demolished and Men Injured.

A year ago today one of the heaviest storms that has visited the Head of the Lakes in recent years caused about $500,000 damage and injured several men quite severely. The storm was local, for the most part, although it reached back of the hill and created havoc to farms and truck gardens nearby. Superior got the worst of it, but Duluth suffered considerably also.

The storm began at 5 o'clock in the afternoon with a heavy wind and violent electrical demonstrations. The temperature fell from 85 to 67 deg. in a few minutes and while the wind was not cyclonic, frequent gusts reached a velocity of from 50 to 60 miles an hour. Five men were injured in the blowing down of coal dock rigs, almost all telephone wires were knocked out of service, buildings were unroofed, and some were overturned. Fires started by the bolts of lightning were numerous both in Duluth and Superior. Hail, as large as an inch in diameter, fell at Arnold and did heavy damage. The rainfall was close to an inch during the duration of the storm.

At New Duluth several buildings were overturned, a general store run by Martell Bros. on Commonwealth avenue was destroyed. Elevator X on Banks avenue in Superior was unroofed, the roof being carried about a block away, and pieces of steel from the roof were carried to the Lehigh Valley shed, piercing the roof of the latter, and a portion of the roof of the Great Northern flour sheds was blown off.

The steamer Frank C. Ball, moored at the Northwestern Fuel company's dock in Superior, was torn loose and drifted to Minnesota point, where she grounded with but slight damage. Several box cars were blown off tracks in Superior and some of them were blown into the bay.

The most serious damage was done at the Northwestern Fuel company's Dock No. 1, where the largest unloading rig in the world was blown down and damaged to the extent of $200,000. In falling it hit the steamer H. H. Rogers and smashed the rear cabins. Almost every coal dock in Superior was damaged to a considerable extent. Locally, the storm was the worst in years.

MEA'S "PULL" FAILS; REMAINS IN JAIL

Arrested for Insulting Women, Tries Chief and Judge for Release.

"I've been here twenty-two years, and you won't keep me in here. What's McKercher's number?" demanded George Mea, aged 27, shortly after midnight, when it looked as though he would be compelled to stay in jail until court opened this morning.

When Chief McKercher answered the phone and told Mea that he would "see him in the morning," Mea called Judge W. H. Smallwood from his bed at 1:30 a. m. His attempts to secure freedom failed, however, and as he didn't have $15 bail, he was locked up until morning.

Mea, with a friend, is alleged to have insulted two young women, and to have followed them after they left in anger. The girls appealed to John A. Fitzgerald, aged 24, and Orlie A. Worden, aged 36, asking them to protect them from their tormentors, and a fight followed.

Patrolman Boland collared Mr. Worden and then captured Mea. He took three of the men to headquarters, while the girls looked on. Mea's companion escaping. Later Mr. Fitzgerald and Mr. Worden were released, when Lieut. E. H. Barber learned the facts of the case.

When Mea was arraigned before Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting he was sentenced to pay a fine of $12 or serve ten days at the work farm.

for regular transmission of their daily German war office statement.

Had to Depend on Wireless.

With the cutting of the German-owned Atlantic cable at the beginning of the war, Germany had to fall back upon her wireless plants to transmit news and official or diplomatic messages through a channel not controlled by her enemies. For this the Sayville station became the distributing center, the wireless messages being thence transmitted by neutral cable or telegraph to all parts of the world. In this way Germany has kept in touch with her diplomatic representatives in neutral countries, and the German war official statements have been distributed uncensored.

The intensity of the static disturbances now occurring frequently increase the wireless distance between Sayville and Nauen to the equivalent of 2,000 miles, it is said, a handicap which the Nauen station, powerful as it is, cannot overcome. Messages which are made intelligible are the joint work of four receiving operators, listening simultaneously, each getting what he can and placing the fragments together.

COCOANUT OIL FINE FOR WASHING HAIR

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.

withdrew, destroying bridges and burning houses.

Port of Buso Attacked.

The following official statement was issued last night by the Italian general staff:

"An Italian destroyer entered the port of Buso near the Austrian frontier and destroyed the landing stages, the railroad station and barracks as well as all motorboats in the harbor. The destroyer was not damaged and none of the crew was wounded. Two of the enemy were killed and we took forty-seven prisoners including an officer and fifteen non-commissioned officers, who were brought to Venice.

"According to supplementary information received, the two enemy aeroplanes which appeared over Venice this morning dropped eleven bombs without causing serious damage. The fire from our defenses put them to flight. The damage to the railroad caused by the attacks of warships and aeroplanes in the early hours of the morning was unimportant and already has been repaired.

"The Austrian cannonade sank a German steamer in the harbor at Ancona."

Warship Damaged.

Rome, May 25, via Paris.—The Italian minister of marine has given out an announcement which reads:

"A steamer arriving at Barletta reports that while passing near the promontory of Gargano at midnight last night she sighted an Austrian warship with a heavy list. She was escorted by four torpedo boats.

"This probably is the warship which was driven off from Barletta after having fired several shots."

Swiss to Act.

Berne, Switzerland, May 25, via Paris.—The Swiss government has announced that it will represent the interests at Rome of the German empire and of Bavaria, and that the interests of Austria-Hungary will be represented by Spain.

CHAIRMAN WALSH'S METHODS DENOUNCED

conduct of the hearings?"

Does Not Like Ways.

"I do not like the way you, Mr. Chairman, have conducted the examination of witnesses."

"Then you exonerate the rest of the commission?"

"Oh yes."

"Is your objection to the examination," asked the chairman, "based upon your observation of the examination of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and is it caused in part by the statement you heard a witness make here that he was guilty of high treason and should be punished?"

Mr. King said he spoke only of the general examination of all witnesses. He was questioned at length about his services to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and to the foundation. He declined to say what salary he received.

Clash Again.

Chairman Walsh and King clashed again today when King's answer became involved and lengthy and the chairman sought to limit him. Mr. Walsh sought to make a record of what Mr. King had done for American labor. Both the witness and Commissioner Weinstock wanted to know the object of that line of questioning, but the chairman emphatically refused to explain.

"I am not on the stand," he said, "and I must decline to be questioned."

Walsh questioned King as to his investigations in Colorado, but the witness insisted that his investigations were confidential and he could not make public any of his information. He insisted he had seen representatives of both sides of the Colorado struggle in his effort to be absolutely fair.

Must Have Facts.

The chairman insisted that the "people must have the facts."

"What do you mean by the people?" asked the witness.

"I mean the American people," said the chairman, "whose public opinion would be the greatest factor in improving conditions in Colorado."

"The will and conscience of young John D. Rockefeller is more powerful in Colorado than any other force that can be brought to bear at this time," said King.

"You think that the will and conscience of Mr. John D. Rockefeller is more powerful than the wills and consciences of all the American people to bring about a change of conditions in Colorado?"

"That is not just what I said," replied King. "I mean to say that if I wanted to improve conditions in Colorado, the man I would go after would be John D. Rockefeller, Jr. He could do more in one year along that line than efforts to focus public opinion on the situation could do in several years."

Responsibility for the Colorado strike, King said, he could definitely fix. He suggested that he should like to give his recommendations privately to Chairman Walsh.

BOY SCOUTS PROMISE TO STAND BY PRESIDENT.

Washington, May 25.—Several hundred pledges signed by Boy Scouts of Norwood, Pa., in which the boys promised to "stand by the president," in the present international situation, were taken to the White House today by several of the Boy Scouts in uniform. The president expressed his warm appreciation.

UNITARIAN CHURCH FOR THE PRESENT

No Change Will Be Made, Decision of Association.

Boston, May 25.—The name of the Unitarian denomination will not be changed for the present. This was decided at the annual meeting of the American Unitarian association today by the adoption of a report of a special commission headed by President Emeritus Charles W. Eliot of Harvard university that it would be inexpedient to attempt to abolish or supplant the denominational name.

The report of the treasurer, Heny M. Williams, showed that the assets of the association has increased from $600,000 in 1900 to $2,500,000 in 1915.

The outbreak of the war necessitated the postponement of a world tour "in the interest of the sympathy of religions and world brotherhood" planned by the department of foreign relations as the central feature of its work last year, according to the report of the secretary, Rev. Charles W. Wendle of Boston, prepared for presentation today. The report pointed out, however, that the specific missionary activities of the church were in countries slightly affected by the war.

Careful training in principles and methods of social service was urged in the report of Rev. Elmer S. Forbes of Boston, as secretary of the department of social and public services.

"At present," the report said, "the social service work of many churches is trivial and futile because no one knows how to do it."

HAD ECZEMA FOR TWENTY YEARS

First on Limbs. Then Spread All Over. Could not Sleep on Account of Itching. Small Pimples Later Appeared. Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Healed.

Manchester, Kansas.—"I had eczema for twenty years, first on my legs, then it spread all over me. It appeared as a rash. I could not sleep or rest on account of the itching. Scratching or rubbing made the itching and burning worse. Small pimples later appeared, and blackheads formed.

"I had used ——— Ointment, and a solution to bathe with, tried all the home remedies and many preparations but without relief. Then I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment according to directions. In one month I was greatly relieved of the misery. I used three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and the Cuticura Soap and I am now healed." (Signed) Harry Garten, October 30, 1914.

BRINGS DISPATCHES TO RUSS AMBASSADOR

American Brings Big Mail Sack From Petrograd to Washington.

New York, May 25.—Scott R. Hayes, son of Former President Rutherford B. Hayes, who arrived here from Copenhagen on the steamship United States today, had with him a sealed canvas pouch bearing the stamp of the Russian government, and addressed to the Russian ambassador at Washington.

It had been reported that Mr. Hayes was the bearer of confidential government dispatches from Petrograd to Washington, but Mr. Hayes asserted today that this was erroneous. He said he did not know what the bag contained.

Mr. Hayes said he had learned after an extended business trip through Russia that its merchants and manufacturers are favorably inclined toward extending their trade relations to the United States instead of Germany after the war.

The loyalty and efficiency of the Russian troops were lauded by Mr. Hayes. He blamed insufficient railway facilities for Russian failures.

WAR TEACHES BIG LESSON

Need for Greater Reliance and Own Resources Apparent.

Paul Warburg of Federal Reserve Board Talks to Delegates.

Washington, May 25.—Need for greater reliance on their own resources is one lesson which the European war has brought home to the nations not involved, in the opinion of Paul M. Warburg, member of the Federal reserve board, who spoke today at the Pan-American financial conference.

Mr. Warburg pointed out that when the war began England, then acting as banker for the world, felt forced to ask for some of the vast sums due her and that this request was reflected in varying degrees in countries that were in her debt. He spoke of the acute situation which resulted in the United States and elsewhere on this hemisphere and added:

"The lesson which all American nations will have to learn from last year's experience is that it is unwise for the world to place its financial dependence upon any single nation; and, that those who can afford to do so, as for instance the United States, should from this time on adopt a policy of greater reliance upon their own resources. Those countries which cannot rely exclusively upon their own resources should adopt a policy of dividing their risks of financial dependence as evenly and widely as they possibly can.

Not to Take Europe's Place.

"There is no difference of conservative opinion that the United States does not aspire now to take the place of Europe's leading financial powers. Our own field of operation is still too vast to enable us, or to render it even desirable for us to became the world's banker at this stage of our own development. But the safety of all countries—and we include England among their number—demands that if again the latter should find herself forced to call upon her debtors for instant payment, there should be at least one country strong and independent enough to shoulder a substantial portion of the burden.

"Though in normal times closely connected with Europe, the American continents ought to be so organized as to form a distinct unit in times of emergency—a union whose transportation and credit systems will remain unbroken even though all Europe should go to war."

Steamship Lines.

One of the most important matters up for committee consideration was that looking to the establishment of steamship lines independent of Europe to ply between the principal ports of the two Americas. Recommendations for such lines were made by cabinet members at the opening sessions yesterday. Secretary McAdoo had announced his intention of appointing a committee to take up the question.

The committee on uniformity of laws also held its first meeting today. It is composed of representatives from each of the invited nations and of the United States.

Addresses by Governor Charles S. Hamlin and Paul Warburg, of the Federal reserve board, followed by brief remarks by delegates and invited guests occupied the attention of the conference at the forenoon session. Later Secretary Bryan gave a luncheon in honor of a number of delegates.

Commercial Court.

At the opening of the day's session Secretary McAdoo announced that the committee on uniformity of laws would consider the creation of an international commercial court to settle particularly matters arising out of trade disputes. He announced also that the committee, which would take up the question of improved transportation facilities to South America would be made up of the entire delegations from Argentina, Chile, Brazil, Uruguay, Peru, Dr. Vincente Gonzalez of the Ecuador delegation, and the following representatives of the United States: E. N. Hurley of the Federal trade commission; R. G. Rhett, of the executive committee of the United States chamber of commerce; Paul Fuller, Franklin Q. Brown and J. G. White, New York; George W. Norris, Philadelphia and Harry A. Wheeler, Chicago.

POLK COUNTY DRY BY ABOUT 1,000

All But Six Small Precincts Are Heard From.

Crookston, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—With six small precincts missing out of seventy-nine, the total vote in Polk county on the county option question shows that 7,461 votes were cast, of which 4,211 were dry and 3,250 wet, giving the drys a majority of 973.

The missing precincts will bring the grand total up to 1,100.

Large Cities Go Wet.

Crookston gave the wets a majority of 376, while the wets at East Grand Forks carried that city by 430.

One of the big surprises was the vote at Northland township, which gave the wets a majority of 75. One year ago that was the banner dry township of the county. The wets made an exceedingly strong fight there on Sunday.

WANTS STUDIO ON CITY PROPERTY

H. McKenzie, a local photographer, presented a plan to the city council at its meeting last night, agreeing to build a handsome studio at the foot of Seventh avenue east, if the city would give him a lease on the small strip of land now owned by the municipality.

In a communication to the commissioners, Mr. McKenzie states that he would erect a handsome structure and that in addition he would build a sunken garden in front of the building to be used as a public park. There would also be access to the roof of the building. Mr. McKenzie plans to spend $5,000 on the structure.

The communication was referred to Mayor Prince and will be officially acted upon at a future meeting.

The city now owns a sixty-five-foot strip from the south line of Superior street at Seventh avenue east, to the D. & I. R. tracks.

BIG TRADE BALANCE FOR UNITED STATES

Will Total Billion Dollars By July 1, Reports Secretary Redfield.

Washington, May 25.—With Secretary Redfield's estimate that the trade balance in favor of the United States will total a billion dollars on July 1 before them, President Wilson and the cabinet today discussed the relations of the statistics to the international situation.

The contention made in Great Britain that the growing American trade shows that the United States is not suffering from the order-in-council against which diplomatic protest is pending will be fully investigated by the department of commerce.

The administration view of the situation is that greatly increased exports to neutral countries shown by official figures are not due to re-exportations to Germany and Austria, but to the fact that European neutrals unable to get commodities from European neighbors are forced to buy from the United States.

SEVERE SHORTAGE OF CARS IMMINENT

Reduction in Renewals and Repairs Leaves Freight Situation Bad.

Managements of some of the leading railroad systems are reported to be alarmed over the prospects of a serious car shortage next fall.

It is contended that purchases of equipment by the railroads during the last four years have fallen far below the average, and that the roads, at the same time, have carried their policy of retrenchment in shop forces to the limit, with the result that the proportion of out-of-order cars on some roads is dangerously large. In that connection F. C. Schultz, chief joint interchange inspector at Chicago, is reported to have said recently that the freight car equipment is in the worst condition that it has been in years. As 10,000,000 cars per year are handled at Chicago, conditions there are regarded as indicative of the situation at other parts of the country.

As shown in the recent placing of an order for 16,145 cars by the Pennsylvania road and smaller orders by other systems, the railroads are now coming into the market more freely and a scramble for equipment is expected in the near future.

The Stewart Two-Fuel Range is a combination of two distinct ranges in one—each exactly as good, as easily operated, and as economical of fuel as a separate range burning either coal or gas. Both coal and gas units can be used at the same time, giving double capacity.

Note These Big Advantages: In the Combination Stewart you get both a coal range and a gas range for but a few dollars more than the price of a single-fuel range. It takes up no more space in your kitchen than a one-fuel range. It gives you a quick fire in case of emergency and a warm fire whenever you want it. It is the one two-fuel range that hasn't a single drawback, but gives you absolutely satisfactory service at all seasons and under all conditions.

WILL DO IT FOR DULUTH

Zenith Council, U. C. T., Is After 1917 State Convention for This City.

Local Man Will Graduate to Head Office That Year.

Duluth salesmen, members of the Zenith council No. 40, United Commercial Travelers, will attempt to bring the state convention to Duluth in 1917. More than 100 strong, the local knights of the grip will go to the annual gathering at Winona, which will be held June 10-11-12, according to an announcement by George M. Peterson, grand conductor of the state officers.

Headed by the Third Regiment band, the travelers will leave Duluth on a special train over the Northern Pacific on June 10. Six delegates of the local council will leave here June 9. The baseball team that won the championship of the organization last year, headed by Secretary C. W. Sutton, will be included in the list of those who will invade Winona.

Peterson to Graduate.

Duluth's bid for the convention will be based upon the fact that in 1917 Grand Conductor Peterson will have been "graduated" to the office of senior councillor, now held by William Murphy of Stillwater.

Mr. Peterson also announced that Duluth and Superior travelers have started plans for a joint picnic to be held in July. Arrangements are in the hands of committees for both councils.

ON TRAIL OF FIRETRAPS

New State Fire Marshal Pays Brief Visit to Duluth.

Fifty Condemned in St. Paul—Would Lower Insurance Rates.

Tearing down old firetraps and making the owners like it, is what Robert W. Hargadine, Minnesota's new state fire marshal, is doing.

Mr. Hargadine was in Duluth yesterday, showing a suspicious interest in a few choice old firetraps that caught his eye, but no immediate action is probable in Duluth, as the new fire marshal has his hands full for the time being in the Twin Cities, and he also believes that as a whole, Duluth is in remarkably good condition as regards fire risks. He expects to return here later and give the city a thorough inspection.

Mr. Hargadine's office has recently condemned fifty buildings in St. Paul.

Compensation for Losses.

"When the property owners see we mean business, they have no kick coming," said he. "For example a man might feel angry if we ordered one of his buildings torn down, but the next day we might order an old shack adjoining another of his buildings removed, and the benefit he would get there would make up for the loss he sustained on his own firetrap, and he was satisfied. Such a condition arose in several instances in St. Paul, where protests were threatened and when we got through there wasn't a peep.

"Minnesota now has a law giving the state power to adjust insurance rates. I am trying to reduce the fire loss of the state so that the state will be justified in ordering the insurance rates lowered.

Two Departments.

"The work of the state fire marshal's officials divided into two parts, fire prevention and the tracing down of incendiary fires. I do not know which is the more important, and I have been trying to handle the two lines of work so they won't conflict. The department began the year with a $10,000 deficit as an inheritance from the last administration, and I have had to cut down the force to five inspectors instead of nine. But I have five very efficient men in M. J. Murray of Duluth, Ernest Simpson of Minneapolis, Robert J. Martin of Minneapolis, Edward Heimbach of St. Paul and M. Jordan of Stillwater. We believe the best politics is to deliver the goods and we are trying to do it. They are kept busy on the road. For example one of them recently went to Crookston to investigate a fire that was thought to have been incendiary. He found that there was nothing to the complaint, and that it was just a little factional trouble, but while he was there he issued forty clean-up orders in connection with the fire prevention work, and then stopped at several small towns on his way back to St. Paul, issuing clean-up orders.

Many Interesting Cases.

"Already in the three months I have been in office we have had some interesting cases. One was the arrest of a firebug in St. Paul, who confessed to setting ten fires just for the joy of seeing things burn. He did not profit a cent from the fires. It was a case of monomania.

"But the exact opposite of this case, and one where great shrewdness was shown, was a case we are working on now in Redwood Falls. Two men bought a run-down hotel in a little town too small to support it. They got it for $2,500, and then sold it on a contract for a deed to a 'dummy' for $10,000. On the strength of this contract for a sale for $10,000 they insured it for $7,500, and then it burned. We got a confession out of their straw man."

NINE AMERICANS ARE KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Johnstown, Pa., May 25.—An explosion in Mine No. 1 of the Valley Smokeless Coal company, near here yesterday, caused nine deaths. Eight miners were killed by the explosion and Homer Phillips, chief of the first aid department of the Cambria Steel company, died in a hospital as a result of being overcome by gas while heading a rescue party. Phillips had penetrated the works for the second time, when he was overcome.

The miners killed, all of whom were Americans, were Edward Evans and his sons, David and James Evans; Jacob Wolf, John Hoffman, Charles Stephein, Valentine Chesical and C. F. Hays.

CORRUPT PRACTICE LAWS ARE IGNORED

Charge Against Election Workers in Two Cities on Monday.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is contended that women of this city and saloon keepers of East Grand Forks violated the corrupt practices cast of North Dakota and Minnesota yesterday in the elections held in the two cities.

Here women were industriously engaged in conducting an automobile campaign for the bringing in of voters to the polls for the school election directly contrary to the North Dakota law.

In East Grand Forks the "wet" forces are said to have been just as busily engaged in their effort to round up voters for their cause, using automobiles to bring voters to the polls.

So far as known, no particular objection was raised to the activities in either city.

THAT TIRED FEELING

Relieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla, Which Renovates the Blood.

That tired feeling that comes to you in the spring, year after year, is a sign that your blood lacks vitality, just as pimples, boils and other eruptions are signs that it is impure; and it is also a sign that your system is in a low or run-down condition inviting disease. It is a warning, which it is wise to heed.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This old standard tried and true blood medicine relieves that tired feeling. It cleanses the blood, gives new life, new courage, strength and cheerfulness. It makes the rich red blood that will make you feel, look, eat and sleep better.

Be sure to get Hood's, because it is the best. There is no other combination of roots, barks and herbs like it—no real substitute for it—no "just-as-good" medicine.

STATE NOT TO GIVE MONEY

County Board Rescinds Authorization of Bond Issue for Road Work.

Bonds Go to Chicago Firm; Block of $150,000 Is Bid in.

Rescinding its action of last September in authorizing the issuance of $150,000 worth of bonds to the state, the St. Louis county board at a special session yesterday afternoon canceled all proceedings taken to secure money from the state for financing the construction of the so-called Duluth-St. Vincent highway and sold a re-issue of the bonds to a Chicago bonding house.

Representatives of Stanwood, Taylor & Co. of Chicago purchased the bonds at par and accrued interest. The entire block of $150,000 was bid in. The bonds draw 4½ per cent interest and are considered to be a first-class investment.

Work Now in Progress.

Although efforts to finance the construction of the Duluth-St. Vincent road met with little success before the sale of the bond issue yesterday, the construction work has been in progress and the St. Louis county portion of the highway is now practically completed. E. A. Dahl & Co. are the contractors. It is expected that the road will be open for traffic about Aug. 15.

Last September county officials made application to the state investment board for a loan of $150,000 to be used in financing the construction of the state highway in question. St. Louis county, at that time, agreed to issue bonds in the sum of $150,000, payable to the state as security, but owing to a question which had been raised as to the validity of the bond issue, the state investment board declined to advance the money.

Nothing was done during the winter months. When the county board this spring made another attempt to sell the bonds, it was served with an injunction suit which was carried to the supreme court. The high tribunal sustained the decision of Judge Fesler of the district court, who held that the Elwell law, which delegated to county boards the authority to issue bonds to defray the cost of such road construction without a special election was constitutional.

Repeal of Law Without Effect.

The same week that the supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the so-called Elwell law, the Minnesota legislature repealed it. The Duluth-St. Vincent road is a rural highway, which is being constructed under the terms of this law, but since its construction was started before the law was repealed, its status will not be affected by the repeal of the law. The Elwell law provided that the cost of the road should be borne in the following proportion; the state, one-half; the county, one-fourth, and the benefited property owners, one-fourth.

The construction work on the Duluth-St. Vincent highway started on May 1, 1914. The highway is thirty-two miles long. It starts from the intersection of the Miller Trunk and Culver roads and runs due west for twenty-four miles to the village of Floodwood, and thence nine miles northwest to the county line. The highway will open up a new farming territory tributary to Duluth.

FIRST EMERGENCY MEASURE IN YEAR

Council Uses Prerogative to Pay Ferry, Substitute for Aerial Bridge.

For the first time within a year the city council last night passed an emergency ordinance ordering the payment of $150 to the owners of the steamer Chase S. Osborne for ferry service May 17-19, during which time the aerial bridge was getting annual repairs and overhauling.

The city charter provides that an emergency ordinance may be passed to handle a situation that requires immediate action, such as a strike, a riot, or accident to the aerial bridge. W. F. Thompson, owner of the steamer Osborne, presented his claim for $150 and as the work has already been completed, the council decided to pass an emergency measure, authorizing the payment of the money.

Ordinarily an ordinance must require three readings, before an appropriation over $100 is allowed, but in view of the fact that the steamer was necessary to carry passengers across the canal, during the temporary disablement of the bridge, the council attached an emergency preamble to the ordinance introduced by Commissioner Merritt.

In addition, Commissioner Merritt introduced an ordinance appropriating $1,200 for the painting of the bridge. The ordinance will require two more readings before it comes up for passage.

Nome, Alaska, May 25.—The steamer Corwin, which had been held fast in the ice off Nome nearly three days, succeeded in breaking the grip of the ice pack at noon yesterday and after four hours and a half of fighting the ice floes, reached a safe anchorage in the Nome roadstead late yesterday, marking the first arrival from Seattle this year.

Steamship Torpedoed.

Newcastle, England, May. 25.—The Norwegian steamer Minerva was sunk by a German submarine Saturday night. The crew of the steamer was landed here last evening by the steamer Iris. The captain of the Iris reports that after he had rescued the crew of the Minerva, the submarine sent a torpedo at the Iris, narrowly missing her. The Minerva was bound from South Shields for Norway.

MAY APPEAL TO COURTS

Railroads Expected to Fight Lake and Rail Divorce.

Chicago Traffic Director Sanguine as to Effect of Order.

The railroads that own lake package freight lines are believed to be making ready to appeal the order of the interstate commerce commission for a divorce of the lake lines from the railroads to the Federal courts. That they are disposed to die hard was expected, and if the appeal is made it will not surprise Duluth traffic men in the least, for if the decision of the interstate commerce commission, made week before last, is allowed to stand, it will mean that the trunk lines will have to face real competition by lake boats next year. The divorce is ordered to take effect by Dec. 1.

The first step in renewing the fight will be a request by the trunk lines to the interstate commerce commission for a rehearing. If the rehearing is refused, the probability is that the case will be then appealed to the courts on questions of law.

The roads claim that the Panama act, under which the decision was rendered, is applied to the Great Lakes lines erroneously, the act being intended primarily to prevent railroads from controlling traffic through the Panama canal and nowhere else. However, traffic men believe that should the matter be presented to the courts, there will be enough of a showing possible to convince the courts that the application of the law to the Great Lakes is justifiable and needed, and removes a condition that should not be tolerated.

As to the effect of the decision, the traffic director of the Chicago association of commerce says:

"Upon the showing made in this case, and under the law, the commission could not have done otherwise than it did, in my opinion, and I believe that everyone here feels that way. There are plenty of people able and willing to operate the boats, and you may be sure that the boats will run. There are enough shippers located directly on the Chicago waterfront, with their own dock facilities to provide, if encouraged to ship by water, ample tonnage westbound for a good boat line. There never was any question about plenty of eastbound tonnage.

"I don't know what will happen when the divorce occurs, and haven't heard any shippers express any concern. Water rates are too high, having been continuously advanced westbound since 1900 in the interest of the all-rail lines. The eastbound rates have not advanced.

"Evidence in this case conclusively supports this association, and refutes the contention that the boat lines have been unprofitable. We officially objected to the 1907 advance in lake rates, but the commission allowed it to take effect. The commission has not, however, allowed the recent 5 per cent eastern rail advance to apply to lake-and-rail traffic."

It's Easy to Peel Off All Your Freckles

The contrast between the freckles and the clear skin usually is so great that no bleach can be more than partially successful in obliterating the disfigurements. Ordinary mercolized wax is far better; it literally peels off the freckles. Get an ounce of it at the nearest drug store and tonight spread on enough to completely cover your face; remove in the morning with warm water. Repeat daily until every freckle has disappeared.

Rough, blotchy, pimpled skin, also common at this season, may be entirely gotten rid of by this same method, without discomfort or inconvenience. The effort is decidedly worth while, the new complexion obtained being so clear, smooth and youthful.

If bothered with wrinkles, bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel. This is the most effective and quickest-acting wrinkle treatment known.—Advertisement.

REED EXPLAINS DETAILS OF FREE WATER METER PLANS

At the request of The Herald D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department, this morning prepared a statement explaining the plan of furnishing water meters free of charge. At the council meeting last evening the commissioners adopted a resolution favoring such a program and the details are now being worked out by Mr. Reed.

The statement by Mr. Reed follows:

"The details in connection with the installation of free meters and the taking over by the department of old meters have not been fully worked out.

"Considerable revision of our present rules and regulations governing these matters will be necessary in order to fit the conditions. The number of meters allowed for each building for instance will probably be confined to one free meter, with one service only to each building. Owners desiring separate meters for each tenant will probably have to furnish the additional meters required as heretofore, the department reading and billing from the one meter. This rule will not be retroactive, but will apply only to future installations.

Minimum Charges.

"Minimum charges will also be necessary graduated to the different sizes of service. Large meters are quite expensive and the expense of furnishing these by the department would necessitate a higher minimum charge. The present minimum of 50 cents per month for small meters will not be changed.

"The plan for compensating customers who have paid for their meters, also is not fully worked out in detail, but the one most favorably considered at the present time is the entering of a proper credit on the customers' account of the present cost of the meter, new, depreciated by a 10 per cent annual charge.

"Blanks will be furnished customers on which they will report size, number and make of meter, date when purchased and transferring title to the department. This will be checked, the proper allowance determined and the amount entered to the credit of the customer. No cash will be paid out to any customers for their meters and no credits will be entered on customers' accounts, except where a meter is in service.

"It will be several weeks probably before all the details of the transfer of old meters to the department will commence as it will be necessary to determine all details and print the necessary blanks in advanc to avoid mistakes and to prevent a bunching of the large amount of extra clerical work.

"The setting of meters free of cost for new services, however, will start at once."

PUT THE LID ON FREE PEANUTS

Patrolman "Bob" Followed Trail of Shells Along Superior Street.

Peanuts in bags, boxes and baskets—three barrels of them—were distributer along West Superior street between Second and Third avenues yesterday afternoon, until Patrolman Robert Smollett thought it was circus day and investigated.

Opposite the Grand theater the trail grew warm, and "Bob" saw a line of men filing out of a cigar store, munching peanuts and scattering the shells in every direction.

He entered the store, located at 210 West Superior street, and found several men diving into a barrel which was labeled "Free peanuts. Help yourself."

"No free lunches allowed in Duluth," he said to Harry Moore, proprietor of the place, and the hungry men were forced to desist.

"It's my birthday," said Moore, but the explanation didn't work.

FIREHALL FOR WEST DULUTH

Would Borrow Money on 1916 Budget; Voss Back of Move.

Because of the insanitary conditions at the West Duluth firehall, Commissioner Silberstein is considering a plan whereby the city will be able to borrow money on the 1916 budget for the erection of the new building this coming summer.

The head of the safety division has the support of Commissioner Voss, director of finance, and after an inspection trip this morning, they both declared that a new building should be erected at once. This year's funds will not permit the erection of a new firehall and Mr. Silberstein proposes to make a loan of about $20,000 on the 1916 budget, which will be prepared to include an appropriation for the new building.

"It would be a disgrace if these men have to live in that building during the coming winter," said Commissioner Silberstein this morning, "and if it is at all possible, the new structure will be built this summer. I hope we will be able to get the money in some way so that work can begin at once."

Recently the city purchased the northwest corner at Cody street and Central avenue, and it is the commissioner's plan to erect the new building on this site. The new structure will be two stories high and will accommodate the firehall, the police station and the municipal court. It is estimated that the cost of the building will be $20,000.

The present firehall and police station were sold last winter to the Canadian Northern road for $3,100, while the city paid $2,000 for the opposite corner.

PLANS BEING MADE TO EXTEND SEWERS

Negotiations On to Connect Bayview Heights and Proctor.

Negotiations are now in progress between the city and the officials of the village of Proctor whereby residents of Duluth living on Bay View Heights may soon have sewer connections with the sewer system of Proctor. It is thought probable that within a few days satisfactory arrangements may be made so that the work may be begun.

It is proposed to build a main trunk sewer that will take care of the residents of Vinland street for a distance of about 700 feet east of Boundary avenue. The Proctor sewer system reaches Boundary avenue, but leaves a total of 117 houses east of that point and located within the city limits of Duluth without a system.

Petitions for the sewer are to be arranged for at once. It is understood in communications between the village authorities and the city commissioners that if the city of Duluth is willing to assume its proportionate share of the cost of building the septic tank and outlet that the connection with the sewer will be allowed.

The building of the sewer in Vinland street will ultimately result in a further petition for the paving of Vinland street from the power house at Bay View Heights to Boundary avenue. Residents of Proctor say that this paving will be continued into the business district of the village and give a complete thoroughfare paved from the heights to the village.

Traffic has been practically suspended over this road since last winter. It has been only on a few occasions during dry weather that wagons or automobiles have been able to make the trip.

P. G. PHILLIPS.

When there is any one in the city ready to start something that will affect the common people, there is always some one ready to review that move to see just what effect it will have. In West Duluth the people have such a man in P. G. Phillips.

Mr. Phillips has been prominent before the public for some years past. He served in the city council for two years, was a candidate for commissioner two years ago and last fall just missed being elected senator from the Fifty-ninth district.

Socialistic principles are strong with Mr. Phillips. At times these bring him into severe clashes with his fellow citizens but whether his arguments win his point for him or not he generally emerges from the conflict smiling. Mr. Phillips takes a lively interest in the work of the West Duluth Commercial club and is a booster for the community. He is manager for a co-operative store in West Duluth.

Royal League Picnic.

Arrangements for a picnic to be held in July will be made this evening at the meeting of the Royal League lodges of West Duluth. It is likely that a joint picnic between the West Duluth and Pocahontas lodges will be held and that an invitation will be extended to the Zenith and Ruth councils from uptown to participate.

Following the business session members of the two lodges this evening will be entertained informally at cards. The members in charge of the social feature are Elliott J. Aman, Henry L. Pedi and Axel Wick.

CAR HIT WAGON; WAGON HIT WOMAN

Victim Sues Owners of Both Vehicles for $500 Damages.

When an east-bound street car bumped into a delivery wagon at the intersection of First avenue west and Superior street one afternoon last January, the impact of the collision caused the cart to slue on the icy pavement and knock down Mrs. Anna C. Lambert, who was crossing the street at that point.

In district court before Judge Cant and a jury this morning, Mrs. Lambert is seeking to recover $500 from the Culbertson Brothers company, owners of the rig, and the Duluth Street Railway company. The plaintiff is a widow.

On the afternoon of Jan. 15 last, Mrs. Lambert and a friend endeavored to cross from the northeast corner of First avenue west and Superior street to the southwest corner. A street car was approaching from the east and a delivery wagon was crossing its path.

At about the center of the intersection, Mrs. Lambert saw that the car was coming faster than she had figured and turned towards the southeast corner. The delivery wagon did not clear in time and the rear end was bumped in such a manner that it swung around and struck the woman.

Mrs. Lambert alleges that her injuries were painful and holds both the traction company and the wholesalers liable in damages to her.

The Culbertson Brothers company is not directly interested in the outcome of the case, owing to the fact that it is protected by the Employers' Liability Insurance company against all claims of this sort.

Andrew Nelson appears as attorney for the plaintiff, Thomas S. Wood as counsel for the traction company and I. K. Lewis as counsel for the insurance company.

VASSAR GRADUATE IS SUCCESSFUL DRAMATIST

JEAN WEBSTER.

Women dramatists are taking a conspicuous place in the theatrical world. The latest female writer to achieve distinction in the drama is Jean Webster. She was born at Fredonia in 1876, and was christened Alice Jean. For litterary purposes she dropped the Alice when she became a story-writer. She has written several books and many short stories for magazines. Her book "Daddy Long Legs" was published in 1912, and in the following year she set about dramatizing it without assistance. That she possessed the dramatic instinct is proved by the instant success of the play which has been running the entire winter in New York. Miss Webster is a graduate of Vassar.

Dr. F. H. Connor of Duluth has received several letters from his brother, A. D. Connor, who is in the Canadian Army Service Corps, now doing supply work in Flanders. In his letters lieut. Connor says that the Canadians are bearing the brunt of the fighting in certain localities, mentioning one battle where the French soldiers broke and ran, leaving the Canadian contingent to hold the line until the arrival of reinforcements.

The lieutenant had a horse shot under him in one of the engagements. The letters give little detail of any battle, but one of them expresses the belief that the Germans will not break through the allied line.

DEATH PREFERRED TO LONELINESS

Suicide of Nels Ahlberg Believed Prompted By Despondency.

Lonesomeness and despondency are believed to have been the cause of the suicide of Nels Ahlberg, aged 55, whose body was found hanging from the rafters of a deserted machine shed near the Kenwood road above the Boulevard yesterday.

Investigation of the case showed that Ahlberg had carefully planned the deed, and had evidently sought out the shed as a place where he would not be interrupted.

Little was known about him at 2200 Water street, the address given on envelopes addressed to him and found in the pockets of his coat. He had no relatives in Duluth or, in fact, in the state, so far as is known, and was accustomed to living alone a great deal of the time.

Sunday afternoon he dressed himself in his best suit of clothes, carefully brushed his hair, polished his shoes, and otherwise prepared for the end. A new clothesline, evidently purchased for the purpose, was used in hanging himself.

When the body was discovered by a bcy Ahlberg had been dead several hours.

From letters in the coat pocket, it was learned that a son, Frank, evidently the only relative, lived in Moline, Ill. After communicating with him yesterday, authorities decided to hold funeral services here. The remains probably will be buried by the county, as the son is not able to stand the expense.

REED EXPLAINS DETAILS OF FREE WATER METER PLANS

At the request of The Herald D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department, this morning prepared a statement explaining the plan of furnishing water meters free of charge. At the council meeting last evening the commissioners adopted a resolution favoring such a program and the details are now being worked out by Mr. Reed.

The statement by Mr. Reed follows:

"The details in connection with the installation of free meters and the taking over by the department of old meters have not been fully worked out.

"Considerable revision of our present rules and regulations governing these matters will be necessary in order to fit the conditions. The number of meters allowed for each building for instance will probably be confined to one free meter, with one service only to each building. Owners desiring separate meters for each tenant will probably have to furnish the additional meters required as heretofore, the department reading and billing from the one meter. This rule will not be retroactive, but will apply only to future installations.

Minimum Charges.

"Minimum charges will also be necessary graduated to the different sizes of service. Large meters are quite expensive and the expense of furnishing these by the department would necessitate a higher minimum charge. The present minimum of 50 cents per month for small meters will not be changed.

"The plan for compensating customers who have paid for their meters, also is not fully worked out in detail, but the one most favorably considered at the present time is the entering of a proper credit on the customers' account of the present cost of the meter, new, depreciated by a 10 per cent annual charge.

"Blanks will be furnished customers on which they will report size, number and make of meter, date when purchased and transferring title to the department. This will be checked, the proper allowance determined and the amount entered to the credit of the customer. No cash will be paid out to any customers for their meters and no credits will be entered on customers' accounts, except where a meter is in service.

"It will be several weeks probably before all the details of the transfer of old meters to the department will commence as it will be necessary to determine all details and print the necessary blanks in advance to avoid mistakes and to prevent a bunching of the large amount of extra clerical work.

"The setting of meters free of cost for new services, however, will start at once."

FIREHALL FOR WEST DULUTH

Would Borrow Money on 1916 Budget; Voss Back of Move.

Because of the insanitary conditions at the West Duluth firehall, Commissioner Silberstein is considering a plan whereby the city will be able to borrow money on the 1916 budget for the erection of the new building this coming summer.

The head of the safety division has the support of Commissioner Voss, director of finance, and after an inspection trip this morning, they both declared that a new building should be erected at once. This year's funds will not permit the erection of a new firehall and Mr. Silberstein proposes to make a loan of about $20,000 on the 1916 budget, which will be prepared to include an appropriation for the new building.

"It would be a disgrace if these men have to live in that building during the coming winter," said Commissioner Silberstein this morning, "and if it is at all possible, the new structure will be built this summer. I hope we will be able to get the money in some way so that work can begin at once."

Recently the city purchased the northwest corner at Cody street and Central avenue, and it is the commissioner's plan to erect the new building on this site. The new structure will be two stories high and will accommodate the firehall, the police station and the municipal court. It is estimated that the cost of the building will be $20,000.

The present firehall and police station were sold last winter to the Canadian Northern road for $8,100, while the city paid $2,000 for the opposite corner.

PLANS BEING MADE TO EXTEND SEWERS

Negotiations On to Connect Bayview Heights and Proctor.

Negotiations are now in progress between the city and the officials of the village of Proctor whereby residents of Duluth living on Bay View Heights may soon have sewer connections with the sewer system of Proctor. It is thought probable that within a few days satisfactory arrangements may be made so that the work may be begun.

It is proposed to build a main trunk sewer that will take care of the residents of Vinland street for a distance of about 700 feet east of Boundary avenue. The Proctor sewer system reaches Boundary avenue, but leaves a total of 117 houses east of that point and located within the city limits of Duluth without a system.

Petitions for the sewer are to be arranged for at once. It is understood in communications between the village authorities and the city commissioners that if the city of Duluth is willing to assume its proportionate share of the cost of building the septic tank and outlet that the connection with the sewer will be allowed.

The building of the sewer in Vinland street will ultimately result in a further petition for the paving of Vinland street from the power house at Bay View Heights to Boundary avenue. Residents of Proctor say that this paving will be continued into the business district of the village and give a complete thoroughfare paved from the heights to the village.

Traffic has been practically suspended over this road since last winter. It has been only on a few occasions during dry weather that wagons or automobiles have been able to make the trip.

Skovgaard was assisted on the program by Miss Alice McClung, pianist, and Miss Marie Ellenbrook, soprano.

P. G. PHILLIPS.

When there is any one in the city ready to start something that will affect the common people, there is always some one ready to review that move to see just what effect it will have. In West Duluth the people have such a man in P. G. Phillips.

Mr. Phillips has been prominent before the public for some years past. He served in the city council for two years, was a candidate for commissioner two years ago and last fall just missed being elected senator from the Fifty-ninth district.

Socialistic principles are strong with Mr. Phillips. At times these bring him into severe clashes with his fellow citizens but whether his arguments win his point for him or not he generally emerges from the conflict smiling. Mr. Phillips takes a lively interest in the work of the West Duluth Commercial club and is a booster for the community. He is manager for a co-operative store in West Duluth.

Mrs. Sprague's will, which is one of the strangest documents in the court's records, is written in the form of a letter to her husband, Daniel Webster Sprague, formerly accountant at the University of Minnesota, and names him as executor. It was signed eleven years ago. It disposes with minute care of heirlooms, silver plate, silks, satins, feather beds, art objects, books and statuary, naming forty-one persons as beneficiaries. Among the articles mentioned for distribution are two marble statuettes, said to have been carved by an Italian convict and brought to America more than 150 years ago. The statuettes have been in Mrs. Sprague's family for three generations. The executor places the value of the estate at $6,500.

Green Talcum Effect Won By Use of Green Sunshade

University of Washington, May 24.—Carrying a green parasol has the same effect on the complexion as using green powder. This blow to what was becoming an increasingly popular fad in sunshades was struck recently in the class in physics conducted by Professor Frederick A. Osborn, and abashed women students in the classroom were used to demonstrate the heart-chilling truth.

A blonde "co-ed" with no particular colorings, natural or artificial, was first exhibited to her classmates with appalling results. The light that streamed through the parasol which she held over her head gave her delicate cheek a sickly yellow-green hue, reminding one of the victims of acute seasickness. Brunettes and light-haired girls with pink cheeks suffered least in the emerald light, but the various types with high coloring in the face came under the ban. True to the laws of complimentary colors, green accentuated the brightness of its opposite and the red cheeks appeared several degrees brighter, while the rest of the face changed to a ghastly shade of yellow.

Only four girls in the class would consent to appear before the class to demonstrate the dangers of green sunshades, so the statistics are incomplete.

"The girls refuse to be subjects for experiments of this kind after the disastrous effect on the first few is seen," said Professor Osborn. "The same startling changes are noticeable when variously tinted face powders are used. The complexion and the kind of light rays in the room should be carefully considered by those who seek beauty."

Programs for the Three Orchestra Concerts Announced

The programs for the three concerts by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra were received today.

The three symphonies chosen by Mr. Oberhoffer are the fifth Beethoven, the Cesar Franck, and the fourth Tschaikowsky. The choice of the latter is something of a surprise, as the local committee voted for the sixth Tschaikowsky, but Carlo Fischer, in a letter accompanying the programs, states that the orchestra has had much better success this year with the fourth, and says the committee will approve its selection after hearing it.

The best soloists the orchestra has under contract are on the Duluth programs, and the programs themselves are apparently constructed with a view to pleasing all tastes as far as possible.

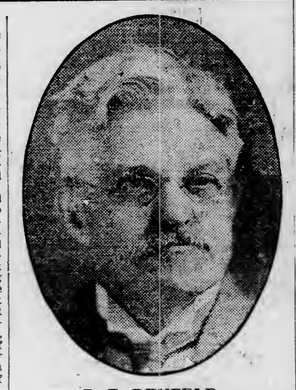
Co-operation the Need of Schools

Supt. Denfeld at Chisholm Women's Club Meeting Urges Parents and Teachers to Work in Harmony

----School and Home Now Working Separately---- Charges Parents With Neglect of Their Children.



R. E. DENFELD.

The greatest need of the schools today is the union of effort between the parents and the teachers. With harmonious action of these two forces, many of the present-day problems confronting the schools would be eliminated. This was the keynote of an address made today by Supt. R. E. Denfeld of Duluth on "Co-operation of the School and the Home" at the meeting of the Eighth district federated women's clubs at Chisholm. Supt. Denfeld said:

"In a book entitled 'Pedagogues and Parents' the relation of the home to the school is discussed in a very interesting and convincing manner. Assertion is made that wisdom parental and wisdom pedagogical are complemental, that home and school work independently of each other, impelling the child, as may chance, in the same direction or in opposite directions; that the rule of the parent in the long past has been one of trustfulness and deference, bordering almost on reverence, toward learning and all institutions of learning. The occasional parent only has recognized the ideals of the school or has fallen his own ideals of any sort toward which he strives consistently, money getting, of course, being omitted. With all of us, or with most of us, the well-being of our children is the chief interest we have in the nature of things to others. Parents on the whole are satisfied with the general scheme of education for their children. They say: 'We pay taxes for the schools, and we expect the schools to take care of the education of our children.' It almost seems as if they turn them over to the schools as they turn them over to a doctor when they are sick. The home and the school should be two halves of the harmonious educational whole. In that interesting series of papers entitled 'How I Was Educated' the idea constantly reoccurs as expressed by President Dwight when telling the story of his own education. 'If there is any suggestion that is offered, it is, I think, that of the importance of the family life giving the right impulse to intellectual growth.' Running through all is the idea best expressed in the words, 'Have the right father and mother.'

Parents Begin to Awaken.

"It is true we find that the broad-minded parents are beginning to awaken to a feeling of responsibility and are taking a more personal interest in their children. There has been no general interference, even when discontented with the workings of the school, although parents have not manifested quite the right attitude toward it. Those who are dissatisfied remove their children from the schools and place them in schools best suited to their ideas. They criticize or complain, according to their temperament, and fret under the helplessness to modify existing conditions. In this we recognize the spirit of unrest prevalent in all social conditions today. Still, we are patient for the most part, but questioning and wondering whether their children are receiving that individual uplift and send-off which they have a right to expect. They mutter at the pressure in the high school, home work, long hours of confinement, book work without enough of doing and handling of things, and the too little attention given to the individual. Complaint is not the proper attitude because the public school is their institution and its instructors are their paid assistants who are working hard and well but getting no sympathy or co-operation, or even oversight. Those intrusted with the care of children in the matter of education should be in the closest touch with the parents in order that each may assist the other. The teachers may be theorists but are the parents, even the best educated, in position to discuss with the well-trained instructor, principles and methods. Have they prepared themselves for their part in the work? Have they risen to their full stature in an appreciation of educational theory and practice? Are they conscious of the fact that they ought to be acquainted with the actual condition that exist in the educational world? Are they in touch with the laws and principles underlying the formation of character of the practical and manifest principles upon which character has been built—upon character as shines forth in successful men and women? Do they know what is going on in the educational world today? Have they considered the principles of psychology as applied to child training, and are they always honest in answering the question of the young child seeking for information, though the questions be numerous and cover a wide range of subjects? Are parents conscious of the evil effect of lying to or deceiving children, or frightening them, or even attempting to gain obedience of very young children by intimating the presence of objects which really do not exist?

Laying Broad Foundation.

"There are innumerable ways in which parents can lay a broad foundation upon which teachers can build without fear that the superstructure of character will fall. Teachers then ask that parents be reasonable and honest with their children, getting in close sympathy with them and so pave the way for hearty co-operation. They welcome visitors but how difficult it is to bring the parent to the school unless some exhibition is given out of the ordinary line of work which calls special attention to the prominent part that the child is to take.

"This close sympathy has been sought for in the parents' meetings. Still more should be made of these gatherings. Parents themselves ought to be alive to the advantages coming from them. They should demand that the school be made a center for community activity where instruction and information could be gained as to the ideals and aims of school work, as well as information pertaining to the physical well-being of children; in fact, the school should be the center in which any live topic that tends to educate or broaden the community might be discussed.

"It is very necessary that we all, whether in the home or in the school, recognize the importance of having the boy or girl acquire power and righteousness more than knowledge; that our government be not one of fear or punishment, but one that establishes motives that serve permanently through life. We must be on the watch to discover early individual bent and to encourage whenever it is possible to do so, and to this end it may be necessary in time to so change the curriculum to make it possible to furnish what each individual wants. The co-operation of the parent and the pedagogue in this regard would be a tremendous influence in disarming unsympathetic criticism of the school.

Moral Influence From Home.

"When we hold teachers responsible for the virtues and the moral strength of the children, we overlook the power of imitation and the impressibility of the child before he came under the teacher's influence. The high moral influence must emanate from the home. Then later the school will feel alive with it at every turn.

"The general demands of modern education require a wider knowledge of existing needs than the pursuit of studies. It must seek the training of the child to an appreciation of that which actually exists in life. We all have lived too much in the past or we may be even now living with the past. Modern conditions call parents to fit themselves to take their part in aiding the work of education by reading, by becoming familiar with its history and acquainting themselves with up-to-date practice in the schoolroom.

"The first injunction is to read—read everything bearing upon the mental, moral and physical development of the child both in the home and in the school. Then get into touch with those engaged in the work and lend a hand; visit the schoolroom; meet the teachers at parents' meetings; insist that the school shall be open, not for the education of the children alone, but for the benefit of the whole public; that the school itself shall not be shut up for one-quarter of the year, but opened so that educational efforts may be continuous with only such changes and rests as the physical condition of the child and teacher demand. In this respect parents have been extremely delinquent. They have not realized the need or grasped the value of making community centers of their public schools. I firmly believe that if a movement were put on foot by the men and women of this state, demanding that the schools be opened for the instruction of the community in such things as tend to widen and broaden the educational horizon, the request would not only be granted but would be supported generously and that the effect upon the schools and community would be marked. Whenever opportunity can be utilized for strengthening body and mind it should be insisted upon, and this great educational plant should be opened; but it never will be and never can be, until the parents insist upon it.

Co-operation Needed.

"I think it was President Elliot who, when asked what he had sought in his educational career, said that he had aimed to secure co-operation. Co-operation is what we, in all lines, especially in education, need today. Touching this matter parents are very different. Criticizing the teachers in the presence of the child or questioning her practice would cease with the new purpose. Too often the teacher knows little about the difficulties under which the child labors at home. Co-operation would impel to do everything possible to make known the difficulties and eliminate the hindrances.

"In closing, let me emphasize the demand for co-operation. I know the social demands are great and that much time is needed to discharge the duties imposed upon individuals in providing the necessaries of life and maintaining reasonable home conditions; but if a few strong men and women in the community would interest themselves in the welfare of their children as far as the physical, moral, mental and social health is concerned and would cooperate with the teachers of the public schools I am sure that delinquency, so far as parental practice is concerned, would be reduced."

Peggy Peabody's Observations

As to Marrying a Widower.

Would you marry a widower with five children? Off-hand, one would be inclined to say "no." Most people know something about how miserable five children could make the life of a stepmother if they planned to do so. It would not be the widower who would be objected to, for most of them are desirable companions.

If you should marry a widower with a family, the chances are that your path will not be rose-strewn, and that you will many times, despite what love you may have for the man, wish yourself well out of the difficulties that will arise over and through the children. You will have brighter prospects of happiness if you marry a widower when his children are little more than babies. This is the safest period as far as peace of mind and comfort are concerned.

If you take children in time, which is not over 10 years of age, it is safe to say that your chances are even as to whether they will grow up to love you and treat you with the consideration and respect that your care and treatment of them deserve. There is a possibility that all the thought lavished upon them may count for naught after they attain that disagreeable know-it-all age which runs from 14 to 25 years.

Another favorable time to marry a widower is after his children are past the 25-year-old limit. Then they are usually settled in homes of their own or intent upon some occupation that demands most of their attention. Sometimes children of this age arrive at the conclusion that they are not exactly the companions that his maturer years might select, that it is a privilege he has and that if he wants to marry he is not in duty bound to consult their wishes.

However, there is a time which covers several years, when it would be wise to decline to marry a widower on account of his children. They do not mean, I know, to be as cruel, troublesome, defiant and unruly as they often are. Deliver me from stepchildren when they are from 14 to 21 years of age. For then they make your life a torture and perhaps destroy whatever love exists between you and their parent. It seems to be part and parcel of this period of their growing. They are trials to their own mothers and usually a continuous torment to any woman who undertakes to be their mother.

There are undoubtedly stepchildren who have never caused their mother a single woe, but most of them have. I believe that there are good and bad stepmothers and good or bad, anyone who wants to marry a widower with five small children will have few rivals.

THE MAYO FOUNDATION.

Though the complete details of the new offer of the Mayo Foundation are not yet public, enough is known of them to put beyond question the fact that the gift is great, that the probable benefit to the state is enormous and that there are no "strings" attached.

Certainly the Mayos, by this generous and public-spirited move, have made it clear that their only purpose is to serve the public good—so clear as to put to shame those who have been looking this gift horse in the mouth.

The idea that in attempting to provide the state university with the best graduate school of medicine and surgery in the world the Mayo clinic was seeking benefit for itself always was the height of absurdity. The Mayo clinic is known and famous the world around. It is famous where the University of Minnesota was never heard of and may never be heard of. That there is profitable "advertising" in this for the business of the Mayo clinic is ridiculous, and those who made the charge should be ashamed of it.

As the offer stands, it is understood that virtually all restrictions upon it are withdrawn, and that the board of regents of the state university may itself determine the conditions of the gift. For the university, it is all clear gain. For the state, it supplements the university medical school with a priceless adjunct that will make it more useful and more famous than it ever could have become without this gift.

The Mayos are doing a big and splendid act. The benefit to the state and the university will be incalculable.

Crookston and East Grand Forks will now proceed to give us a little exhibition of how county option works when the towns are "wet."

AN AMAZING DEBATE.

It appears from the Tennessee papers that an interesting debate is in progress there over what kind of punishment is best to use on prisoners.

They have been whipping them for many years, but lately the practice of the state prison changed, and now they handcuff them to rings in the prison walls or ceiling.

A legislative committee has been looking into the matter, and reports that it is its belief that the handcuff-and-ring method is more nerve-racking than the use of the strap. It does not make any recommendation, however.

A state in which such a discussion as this is possible lacks quite a bit of the stage of civilization every state in the Union is supposed to have reached.

Maybe Washington forgot to mark that note to Germany "R. S. V. P."

THE LARGE FIGURES OF THE MOVING PICTURE INDUSTRY.

The census bureau has been giving its attention to the moving picture industry, the newest of our pleasure enterprises.

It finds that during the first eleven months of last year sixty-eight thousand miles of motion picture film was manufactured in this country.

The cost of this interesting manufacturing enterprise is estimated at thirty-seven million dollars.

Only a few years old, the business of manufacturing moving pictures is the fifth largest industry in the United States.

There are nearly eighteen thousand motion picture houses in the country. A trade paper figures that the daily attendance is something like ten millions. Moreover, it isn't falling off, but gaining.

Manifestly, moving pictures have come to stay. In all probability the possibilities of their use have not been half exhausted. Tentative experiments in educational and propagandist work here and there have illustrated some possibilities of the motion picture that are yet to be developed.

Some people have worried about the motion picture institution. They have seen a capacity for harm in it. Of course there is a capacity for harm in it. So is there a capacity for harm in the stage and in books. That angle is subject to control by law and public opinion, the strongest law of all.

Motion pictures afford cheap and good and often educational amusement to millions. They are weakest, probably, on the dramatic side, though they are being rapidly strengthened there. Though they make possible scenic effects beyond the reach of the stage, their utter lack of the presence and voices of the actors must always leave them inferior to the legitimate theater.

But so long as one may take a trip to the utterniost wilds of the earth for a nickel or a dime by way of the motion picture, may see Italy and France and Japan and Borneo and even travel under the sea at the total expense of a ten-cent piece and without a particle of risk or annoyance, the motion picture is going to remain a pretty solid and enduring feature of the amusement field.

At least Italy is free from all danger of being criticized as "too precipitate."

IT TAKES TWO TO MAKE A FIGHT.

The now current phrase, "too proud to fight," brings up an incident of one of the earlier Hague conventions. A Chinese delegate propounded this query to the assembled dignitaries: "Suppose a nation which received an ultimatum refused to fight. What would be the procedure?"

After a few moments of dead silence the chairman called the next question. The Chinaman's query has remained unanswered to this day.—B. L. T. in Chicago Tribune.

That is a great pity, because it is a question that still is extraordinarily interesting.

What WOULD happen in the situation described by the Chinaman?

Of course if a plug ugly threatened to punch your nose and you refused to fight, it is easy to say what would happen. He would do it, and do it thoroughly.

But the big nations of the world are not plug uglies, however much they are acting like it right now.

What would any of them do if, their challenge to fight ignored, it was up to them to take the next step? What COULD they do?

Suppose, for instance, that France and Italy had a quarrel about something. Suppose Italy should send France an ultimatum that was equivalent to a declaration of war. Suppose France should simply sit back and fold its hands and await events. What would Italy do? What COULD it do?

It could invade France, of course. With no opposing armies, that would be easy—too easy. What would it do when it got there? March to Paris? Easy. When it got there it could enter and make itself at home.

If it killed anybody it would be wanton murder. If it destroyed any property it would be arrant brigandry. If it set up a claim to the ownership of France, and the French simply ignored the claim, what could it do about it?

If the French could adopt and adhere to that course of action, not a drop of blood could be shed, not a dollar's worth of property could be destroyed, without laying the invaders open to a charge of wanton pillage and murder. If the French could carry out their policy to the end, they could make the invaders the laughing stock of the world, and they could end war in a gale of laughter.

We can now look for some action on the part of the forty-two centimeter voices.

A DEMAND FOR BACK-STAMPING.

One of the changes in the postal service made toward the end of Republican rule was the abolition of the old practice of stamping the date and hour of receipt on the backs of letters.

This was done on the ground that back-stamping caused delay and was a needless expense.

Former Congressman Murdock in his Wichita Eagle expresses a demand for the restoration of this practice. He says: "The postoffice department should put back the back-stamp of the time of receipt of a letter. The department sneaked out of the custom with the plea that back-stamping caused delay. That is balderdash. The trouble was that back-stamping let the public keep tab on the efficiency of the postal service, and led to a flood of complaint and protest, which was irritating certainly, but beneficial to the public and the service. The receiver of a delayed letter without a back-stamp cannot tell whether the delay occurred in the office of deposit, on the train, in the local office or in delivery. He is in the dark. But the receiver of a delayed letter can check up the local service at a glance if the letter is stamped in the office at the hour of receipt. The country is demanding a return to the former practice, and if it howls loud enough and long enough, it will get it."

Very well, let's howl, then. The Wichita Eagle having emitted its scream, we hereby join our howl in the chorus.

Backstamping is necessary if the public is to have any check at all on the efficiency of local postoffice service. It is just as necessary as front-stamping. It should by all means be restored.

Fixing Legislative Responsibility

Editorial in the Sioux City Tribune.

Who is responsible for our laws—especially our state laws? Walker D. Hines asks the question in the Atlantic Monthly—and answers it. His answer is that nobody is responsible for our state legislation. There is the governor, the senate, the house and the committees. Between the four they manage to shift the responsibility for laws enacted and bills which fail to pass from one to another until the people give up in confusion and despair.

"It passed the house, but was defeated in the senate."

"It passed the senate, but was defeated in the house."

"It was held up in such-and-such a committee which couldn't agree on a report."

"It lost its place on the calendar and in the rush of the final days it was postponed to give time for the appropriation bills."

These and similar brief telegraphic items in the daily reports of any state legislature tell the story of an irresponsible body which plays "make believe" at representing the people. It is a rare legislature that does not find its two houses out of harmony with each other before the session has been fairly opened. There is something so universal about this, something so apparently inevitable and yet so illogical that it well justifies the suspicion that it is a condition which is deliberately brought about by the political bosses and agreed to by the bellwethers in each house for the very purpose of shifting the blame for the sins of omission and commission which the legislature as a whole may be guilty of.

If the legislature is divided between the two old parties then the trick of dodging responsibility becomes easy. The usual sham battle, full of sound and fury, but signifying nothing, is staged with nobody hurt except the public's interests and nobody the gainer but the bosses of both parties and special interests which are back of all bi-partisan machine politics. If both houses are of the same faith some issue of cleavage—the liquor question, some labor or corporation issue, the question as to what is economy and what is not, and even the question itself as to whether few or many laws should be enacted.

Once at loggerheads (for the edification of the public) the game is then played according to the rules of invisible government. There is marked forbearance and toleration when special legislation is concerned; there is hopeless disagreement and bitterness when public measures are concerned.

The Pre-Occupied Pipe

Minneapolis Journal: It may shock the members of the drama league and others who profess a desire to uplift the drama in America, to say that they have done their best to make the stage unpopular with a majority of plain people. It is a homely fact that all art can be reduced away from the public or made so exclusively excellent that people like you and your plain neighbor are uneasy in its presence. The enthusiasts of music fall into the same error when they essay to popularize that art by the promotion of grand opera or the projection of massive melodic recitals which confuse, without interesting, the listener.

Even as we have never found any literature better than the one-syllable and simple writings in the Bible, so we have found no drama so good as that which utters and visualizes the short and poignant epics of everyday people. And there is a response to this kind of drama which no amount of theatrical pageantry or exaggerated romance can elicit. For there is no tragedy, no pleasantry, nor any crux of human passion, that does not find a lodgment in the tenement as well as in the palace, or that does not stir the heart of the peasant as of the patrician.

Theatricalism is not drama, even as braggadocio is not heroism. And no amount of posturing by the self-constituted intellectuals can uplift the stage that remains oblivious of the epical life of the common people. Nor can the theater itself as an institution, become or remain a cherished factor in any national life until it represents that life. The frivolity of artificial society, the exotic romances of pampered sensualists, the strident protests of reformers, opportunists and eccentrics, will never make for the rehabilitation or the establishment of the American theater.

The maudlin sentimentality of the rural melodrama and the rotten pruriency of the society play "with a punch" are both as alien to the real people of this country as is the rank literary snobbery and the cheap chambermaid romanticism of the last century.

Mammon as War God.

"To safeguard peace we must prepare for war"—
I know the maxim; it was forged in hell.
This wealth of ships and guns inflames the vulgar
And makes the very war it guards against.
The god of war is now a man of business,
With vested interests.
So much sunk capital, such countless callings,
The army, navy, medicine, the church—
To bless and bury—music, engineering,
Red-tape departments, ammunition, coaling stations,
Fortifications, cannon-foundries, shipyards,
Arsenals, ranges, drill halls, floating docks,
War loan promoters, military tailors,
Camp followers, canteens, war correspondents,
Horse breeders, armorers, torpedo builders,
Pipeclay and medal vendors, big drum makers,
Gold lace embroiderers, opticians, buglers,
Tent makers, banner weavers, powder mixers,
Crutches and cork limb manufacturers,
Balloonists, mappists, heliographers,
Inventors, flying men and diving demons,
Beelzebub and all his hosts, who, whether
In water, earth or air, among them pocket
When trade is brisk a million pounds a week.

Bosses and Bosses.

Leavenworth, Kan., Times: The reformer is terribly indignant when the boss talks about the people not being fit to govern themselves, but it is noticed that when a reform party thinks it has any show of getting into power a few of the leaders meet together and pick out the ticket. The last Bull Moose state ticket was named by half a dozen Bull Moose bosses some months before the primaries.

Mutual Help.

Kansas City Journal: "Say, old man," quoth the farmer, "I wish you'd train my son to be a lawyer in your office. There's nothing in farming."

"I'll do it," assented the lawyer, "provided you'll take in my son on your farm. There's nothing in the law."

Impulse vs. Serenity?

By Savoyard.

Washington, May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the present crisis that may culminate in war between our country and the most powerful military nation on earth two former presidents of the United States have given utterance to opinion on the situation. William H. Taft advises as follows:

"A demand for war that cannot survive the passion of the first days of public indignation and will not endure the test of delay and deliberation by all the people is not to be listened to. In the heat of even just indignation is not the best time to act."

And Col. Roosevelt speaks after this militant fashion:

"Without twenty-four hours' delay this country could and should take effective action by declaring that in view of German's murderous offenses against the rights of neutrals all commerce with Germany should be forbidden. * * * The proper time for deliberation was prior to sending the message that our government would hold Germany to strict accountability."

Mr. Taft spoke with no eye to 1916; Col. Roosevelt hoped to seize on the passions of the moment to promote his personal ambition to again become the idol of the people.

* * *

This was written before Mr. Wilson sent his momentous note to Germany; but it is known of all men that Woodrow Wilson never acts from impulse. On the other hand, the Hotspur that he is, Col. Roosevelt is ever spouting,

"By heaven, methinks it were an easy leap
To pluck bright honor from the pale-faced moon."

He is militant, all militant, or nothing. Yet he is the boisterous flame of the stubble, while Wilson, calm, sedate, is the steady heat of the mine on fire. Roosevelt stands for impulse, Wilson stands for deliberation. The one seeks admiration; the other commands confidence. If Roosevelt had been president he would have forced war on Germany last autumn; if war comes it will be forced on Wilson this summer. Roosevelt has a passion for war; Wilson loves peace and will only resort to war when all expedients to preserve peace with honor have failed.

Had Roosevelt been elected president in 1912 he would have overrun, conquered and annexed Mexico before the advent of that fatal August day, 1914, when Germany declared war against Russia. Then he would have been commander-in-chief of an army of half a million splendid soldiers, and by last October the chances are, he would have headed in person a splendid army in Flanders or France, hurling his veterans upon the German trenches, for he says himself that he would have challenged Germany for Belgium and that would have made war inevitable.

Roosevelt has the mistaken notion that it is futile for a nation to be powerful unless it fights, and he holds that no nation can be brave unless it has proved its valor on stricken field. He has no patience, without which no man can be great, however dazzling be his career. It is never the part of a great nation to be precipitate. Had a man of Roosevelt's nature and parts been president in 1861 the South would have gained her independence. The Union, for a time, at least, would have been destroyed.

But Lincoln was a man of marvelous patience. Like Woodrow Wilson he was regardless of clamor. For example, until Fort Sumter was fired on —which made the war—he was pacific and followed precisely the policy of his predecessor, Mr. Buchanan, whom the G. O. P. curses for an imbecile if not a traitor. Nay, all of Lincoln's cabinet, save Montgomery Blair, the postmaster general, advised the president to order the evacuation of Sumter, and there never was a moment that a majority of Buchanan's cabinet thought of such a thing. Lincoln, like Buchanan, determined that the South should fire the first gun. And it was that that divided the South, united the North, and made the ultimate victory of the North a certainty. Had such a man as Roosevelt been president he would have invaded the South immediately. That would have solidified the section, divided the North and made the ultimate victory of the South a certainty.

And so if the war with Germany comes, Woodrow Wilson intends to see to it that Germany shall be the aggressor from the beginning. That is the only safe course. It will be a war purely defensive, though if it come it is not at all improbable that a large expeditionary military force will be landed in France, for it is going to take years to crush Germany as our South was crushed in 1865, or as France was crushed in 1870.

The sinking of the Lusitania has caused a wave of popular indignation to sweep over our country such as that which followed the blowing up of the Maine. Some say we must go back to the fall of Sumter to find a parallel. It is not unlikely that demagogues will seek to reap political advantage from it. It is the mercy of heaven that congress is not in session, for nothing could have restrained those two houses whose every member wants to be solid with his people.

Let us trust Wilson. He and he alone can save us from war in this pinch, if we are saved.

Maine's Thirty Millions

Minneapolis Tribune: Talk of the entertainment of summer tourists and projects for increasing their numbers in Minnesota is rife again, and for the encouragement of those who are trying to promote the interests of the state in this particular, let us quote the report of the Boston correspondent of the Philadelphia Public Ledger to the effect that Maine estimates the value of her summer tourist business at $20,000,000 annually. With Europe closed to vacationists, Maine expects to do a much larger business in this line than ever before.

Maine has been a favorite resort for the summer tourist for many years, and has an established business with him. It would be a long time under the most favorable circumstances before Minnesota could expect to take in $30,000,000 a year from summer travelers, but that the summer tourist is worth cultivating, Maine's experience fully demonstrates.

Minnesota, moreover, has a further interest in the possibilities of the summer tourist business in that while the summer tourist has presented to him little inducement to become a permanent resident or an investor in Maine, a large summer travel to Minnesota would very naturally result in an increased permanent population and in large investment in our lands and mines and industries.

Social Justice Halted By Liquor Strife

Rev. John A. Ryan in the Survey Magazine.

The record of the session of the Minnesota legislature which ended its labors April 22, is almost barren in the matter of social legislation. By appropriating $30,000 for the purchase of a suitable site, it took the first step toward the establishment of a woman's reformatory. It enacted a stringent law governing the sale of narcotics, passed a bill prohibiting the issuing of liquor licenses to "road houses" and other places outside cities and villages, empowered counties to vote as a unit upon the question of permitting saloons within their bordere, and made legislative provision for statewide teachers' pensions.

The only labor laws of any consequence that it added to the statutes are one requiring semi-monthly payment of wages by public utility corporations, one applying the provisions of the Federal liability law to railway employes engaged in intrastate commerce at the time of injury, and amendments to the workmen's compensation act providing for an increase in the maximum and minimum payments for injuries, in the specific amounts to be paid for specific injuries, and in the length of time during which compensation must be given for disability.

Among the proposals for social legislation that failed of enactment, the most important were that providing for a commission to codify the laws relating to children and to suggest badly needed new statutes on that subject, a bill to make statewide in its application the nine-hour law for women, which at present governs only the four largest cities, a bill for the regulation of street trades, and another providing for one day rest in seven. Another thing that must be charged to the debit side was the failure to appropriate sufficient money to carry on the anti-tuberculosis work in the county sanatoria.

This bad record cannot be explained on the assumption that the 1915 legislature was "reactionary." Man for man, it had quite as large a proportion of progressive members as its immediate predecessor; and the latter had to its credit a larger amount of social and labor legislation than any other in the history of the state.

The progressive character of the legislature that has just adjourned is perhaps best shown by its vote on the resolution to resubmit the initiative and referendum amendments to the Constitution, and by its attitude toward the attempts to nullify the minimum wage law. The majorities in favor of the former proposal were somewhat larger in both the house and the senate than they were two years ago. The two attempts that were made in the house to nullify the minimum wage law by depriving the commission of the necessary appropriation, were defeated by majorities of about 90 to 15. No effort was made to repeal the law, but a bill was introduced to suspend its operation for two years. The bill never got out of the house committee on labor. No hostile action of any sort with reference to this law was taken in the senate.

Two facts are mainly responsible for the dearth of social legislation. In the first place, the speakership, and consequently the organization, of the house was decided on the issue of county option, and the candidate of the anti-optionists was elected by a bare majority. Because of the practically even division of the membership on this question, neither the organization nor its opponents could be certain of a majority for any important proposal. Nor did any individual leader appear that could command the adhesion of a working majority for two consecutive days. Because of the bitterness developed during the speakership contest, it became impossible for the progressives who had been on the winning side of the issue to unite wholeheartedly with the progressives who had opposed the successful candidate. And the fact that, though successful in the matter of the speakership, the anti-optionists were beaten in the vote on county option itself, did not tend to harmonize the two factions, nor to reunite the progressives in the two camps.

In a word, the liquor issue was a red herring drawn with disastrous effect across the path of social and every other kind of progressive legislation. Now that county option has triumphed, may we not hope that the liquor question can be kept out of politics for a few years? With all due respect to the extremists, it is not yet the most fundamentally important issue of social welfare that confronts the voters and legislators of this state.

The second explanation of the small amount of social legislation put on the statute books of Minnesota in 1915 is more general in its nature. It is to be found in the social and political atmosphere that has prevailed for the last year and a half throughout the country. There has occurred, not perhaps a reaction but a halt, or at least a slowing down in the movement for social and industrial reform. The progressives have become less venturesome and the "near-progressives" more timid. While our house of representatives defeated by overwhelming majorities the attempts to devitalize the minimum wage law, it would not have originated such a novel piece of legislation. While the people of Minnesota and their representatives have become definitely progressive, their courage has undergone a temporary chill.

There is every reason to hope that two years hence the legislature of this state will more than atone for the sins of its immediate predecessor in the field of social legislation.

Making Hay in Sunshine.

Judge: With the last drop of gasoline gone, Umson found his machine stalled by the roadside, fully six miles from Struthers, at 3 o'clock in the morning. He was overjoyed when he saw, approaching through the darkness, the glimmer of a lighted lantern. A low rumble soon gave evidence that the light was attached to a vehicle of some kind, and soon a wagon, drawn by two stout hourses, hove into sight.

"There's a five spot in it for you if you tow me into town," hailed Umson.

The driver readily consented.

For an hour or more they rode in the approaching dawn.

Just before they reached the village, Umson called to the man on the wagon seat:

"Pretty early to be on the road, isn't it?"

"Yes," the driver returned; "but I have to be out early to get all over my route."

While he was handing out the $5, Umson inquired:

"What is your business?"

And he nearly dropped in his tracks when the man replied:

"I peddle gasoline in the village."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Some Things the State Papers Are Saying.

Swat the Dandelion.

New Ulm Review: While we are discussing projects for beautifying the city let us not forget that perennial, though unbidden, guest which is the surest indication of spring and of eternal optimism, the dandelion. "Swat the dandelion" and keep on swatting it. Get each dandelion out with the roots and inject a small amount of a solution of sodium chloride in water. Some say that it helps to curse the ground in which it grew as its hold on life is as long as the woes of the prophets and the patriarchs. Swat the dandelion.

Brainerd Dispatch: Granville Pease, who has spent a winter in California and knows, say that state isn't all sunshine and pleasures. When it's cold there, and the chilly season freezes you to the marrow, you are cold clear through, and need a fire to get warm by when there is an absence of the homelike glow of the coal grate.

It Sounds Better.

Cambridge North Star: The state agricultural society has appropriated $12,000 for automobile racing and $348.50 for prizes for corn exhibits. Why the $348?

As to Pay of Judges.

Bemidji Pioneer: That the district judges of Minnesota are underpaid, not overpaid, as was the ridiculous assertion of a legislator during the last session, is strikingly evidenced in the report that Governor Hammond offered a judgeship to four of the leading attorneys of Winona, and all refused because they could not afford to drop their practice for the salary paid. A similar honor was refused during Eberhart's administration by a St. Cloud lawyer for the same reason.

Kidding the Kid.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John O. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

Behold, how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity!—Ps. cxxxiii, 1.

A great commentator on the Psalms says that it is not unity with one another that is meant, but unity with the great Head which makes unity with one another.—A. J. Gordon.

Even among Christians, how often there are divisions and bitterness among those who work together! The fruit of the Spirit, which is love, is often absent in Christ's own people. Jesus Christ can give us the victory over sin and can keep from actual transgression. I do not say that the root of sin will be eradicated and that you will not have any natural tendency to sin; but when the Holy Spirit comes not only in His power for service as a gift, but when He comes in divine grace to fill the heart, there is victory over sin; power not to fulfil the lusts of the flesh; ability to live peaceably among our brethren.—Andrew Murray.

Three things are essential to the communion of the saints. First, their union to the Lord Jesus Christ by His Holy Spirit on His part and faith on their part; second, the simultaneous workings of love and hope and joy and peace and life and fullness of assurance of salvation in the souls of all believers; and third, the consciousness of the simultaneousness of these workings.—Nathaniel West.

"Many as the waves, but one as the sea," is the motto of the true church of Christ. But equally true is it of the works of God and the Word of God.—F. N. Peloubet.

Good Stage Jokes.

Walter Prichard Eaton in the American Magazine: There is a form of stage humor which has always been popular in America, and perhaps is an expression of a national trait. It consists of the joke which is made by the actor on the stage half as a part of the play, half out of the play as a sort of side remark to the audience, as it were burlesquing the play. It is a favorite form of humor with certain vaudeville comedians who usually abuse it. It was a favorite form with the old Weber & Fields company, who could use it to perfection. Once the late Peter Dailey, in a Weber & Fields play, came out on the stage from the wings, pursued by the applause supposedly of a group of diners to whom he had been making a speech. He jerked his thumb toward the invisible applauders, smiled at the audience, and remarked: "Jolly dogs, those stage hands."

Again, De Wolf Hopper started to make a curtain speech after the first performance of "Fiddle-dee-dee," and hesitated for a word.

"What's the matter?" asked Warfield. "You did it all right this afternoon."

An audience which had howled with laughter all the evening broke out anew at this personal sally. Stage jokes of this kind, which refuse to take the play seriously and which include the whole audience in the fun, certainly make for a kind of family intimacy in the playhouse; and if the players are comic and skillful, if the public is keen-witted, and if the play itself has merits, a brand of entertainment results which is peculiarly palatable to us Americans. Of course, the trouble is that so few players can do this sort of jesting, can become thus intimate with an audience, without becoming obnoxious. Therefore, since the little, smoke-filled, much-beloved Weberfield music hall closed its doors we have had no company in New York, nor in America anywhere, to take the place of that institution which for so many years was the delight of us all.

An Impartial News Service.

St. Joseph News-Press: In a flourishing Kansas town is a daily newspaper which makes it a rule not to publish a line of news about the European war. The community is peopled largely by German-Americans, and the editor of the newspaper is of English birth. He fears that if he prints war news, no matter how careful he may be to observe strict neutrality, the time will come when he will be accused of partiality; so he plays safe by making no reference to the war, in either news or editorial columns.

It is difficult for persons who have lived long abroad to realize that it is possible for a news agency to keep its commodity free of contamination and adulteration. Walter Williams, dean of the Missouri University School of Journalism, in a recent bulletin tells how the continental news agencies are controlled. These agencies, he says, "are maintained or fostered by the various governments, subsidized directly or indirectly, or the news supplied by them comes from or inspired sources." In Russia the director of the news agency is a government officer. The Wolff agency in Germany, the Havas agency in France, the Stefanie agency in Italy and the Correspondenz Wilhelm in Austria are controlled in various ways. This condition exists in time of peace, and has nothing to do with war censorship.

In America, of course, such a condition as this would be intolerable. The Associated Press could not possibly be so controlled because it is a co-operative organization, managed by the newspapers it serves, and these newspapers represent all shades of political and social opinion. The editor of the Kansas newspaper presumably understands this, but he is not certain that his readers do, and so "plays safe" by denying them information on the most absorbing topic of the day. The price he pays for being considered fair and impartial is unnecessarily high.

THE NEW POLICY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

From a morning newspaper report rend a few days ago, I notice that Safety Commissioner Silberstein and Police Chief McKercher have adopted a new policy or system of "warning proprietors of disorderly houses" before making a raid or attempting to close them, that while the administration "intends to be firm it wants to give a fair deal."

Is it possible that the administration expects to rid the city of lawlessness by such methods? Is it possible that they intend to make deals with crime and criminals?

If the administration was a juvenile court, dealing with children ignorant of the law, the above system would be commendable, but are proprietors of disorderly houses to be classed with children ignorant of the law?

Suppose we had a gang of counterfeiters in our city and that the government officials knew about them, but instead of making a raid and arresting them, they would go to the proprietors and say: "See here, we know about your lawless business, that you have been making and passing counterfeit money, but we want to be fair with you and give you warning, that unless you quit and live up to our policy we will be forced to make a raid and arrest you." If this had been the policy of the government, do you believe counterfeiting could be prevented?

Or, suppose we had a gang of pickpockets and burglars in the city and our administration knew of them, but instead of making a raid and arresting the gang they would go to them and say: "We know what you have been doing, but we want to deal justly with you and give you fair warning that unless you agree to live up to our policy you will run the risk of being arrested." If this is going to be the policy, how in God's name are you going to keep criminals out of the city?

The report says that they called on proprietors of disorderly houses, consequently they knew about them, but have made no arrests, neither did they go there to make arrests, no, but, it seems, to make deals with them. What right have they to make deals with criminals? Haven't they taken their oath of office to support the Constitution and the laws of the land, and aren't they supposed to arrest criminals wherever found, or are proprietors and white-slavers of disorderly houses to have special warning and protection? I ask to know? Yours truly, EQUAL JUSTICE.

BIBLES IN JAIL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish to make a request to Christian people of Duluth, to whom it may concern. I have been interested for several years at the county jail every Sunday morning from 10 to 11, holding gospel service, preaching to the prisoners. While I believe this work is of great need, yet I think it might be greatly improved by the good people of this city if they would put a couple of Bibles in each cell for the prisoners to read if they wished to do so. There are a few Christian papers distributed at times among them, but the real thing itself, the Bible, is not there. I asked Jailor Allen as to permitting it. He kindly said there were no objections whatever. Now I pray that some good Christian people will get together and consider this great need of the Bible in the jail, and also the most important different languages, say two or three, of which Jailor Allen can tell best. A small box or rack might be needed to put them into to preserve them. I would often tell them to read those Bibles if they had them in their cells, and thereby give God a chance to talk to them through His Word, the Bible. May God bless those who may take an interest in this good work.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems: "Butcher's Boy" and "School Days" from B. B. of Duluth.

Requests have been received for the following: "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" and "In a Lonely Graveyard" from B. B. of Duluth.

School Days.

Still sits the schoolhouse by the road,
A ragged beggar sunning;
Around it still the sumach grow,
And blackberry vines are running.

Within the master's desk is seen,
Deep-scarred by raps official,
The warping floors, the battered seats,
And jack-knives' carved initial.

The charcoal frescoes on its wall,
Its door's worn sill betraying,
The feet that creeping slow to school,
Went storming out to playing.

Long years ago a winter's sun
Shone over it at setting,
Lit up its western window pane
And low eaves' icy fretting.

It touched the tangled golden curl,
And brown eyes full of grieving,
Of one who still her steps delayed,
When all the school were leaving.

For near her stood the little boy,
Her childish favor singled;
His cap pulled low upon a face,
Where pride and shame were mingled.

Pushing with restless feet the snow
To right and left, he lingered,
As restlessly her tiny hand
The blue-checked apron fingered.

"I'm sorry that I spelt the word,
I hate to go above you;
Because," the brown eyes lower fell,
"Because, you see I love you."

Still memory to a gray-haired man,
That sweet child-face is showing;
Dear girl! the grasses on her grave
Have forty years been growing.

He lives to learn in life's hard school,
How few who pass above him,
Lament their triumph and his loss;
Like her—because they love him.

Real Worth vs. Low Cost

If you asked your butcher for a porterhouse steak and he handed you a cut of the flank and said, "This doesn't cost as much and is just as good," you wouldn't believe him, would you?

Yet the butcher's statement is just as truthful as an assertion that inferior baking powders made of alum or phosphate of lime are as good as Royal, which is made from cream of tartar.

Alum is a mineral acid salt, declared by many medical authorities unsafe to use in food.

Royal Baking Powder is as pure and wholesome as the grapes in the vineyard, from which cream of tartar is derived.

The only reason for using such substitutes as alum and lime phosphates is because their cost is less to the manufacturer.

What the Child Is Learning

The High School English Course.

If a teacher is asked to name the most important course in high school work, the answer will be "English" perhaps nine times out of ten.

The student is required to take English, although nearly every other study is optional to a certain extent.

In the freshman year of high school the boy and girl, by this time at the point where they like to be known as "grown-ups," do oral and written composition work extensively. With this is included a study of Greek and Roman mythology, as preparatory to English and American courses.

They read six books at home, or outside of the classroom, after the teacher approves their choice, and sometimes write reviews of the stories read. The year's work also includes a review of grammar, syntax, punctuation and figures of speech learned in the grammar grades.

The sophomore year's work is an elaboration of the first year studies. One composition, or theme, a week is required, with the form varying from a book review to an argument. Narration and description as outlined in rhetoric texts are brought up for the first time. Common errors in grammar and paragraph structure are shown the students.

Book reading again forms an important part, this time seven novels being required. Hawthorne, Poe, Burroughs and Eliot's "Silas Marner" are characteristic authors or books.

In the junior year exposition, argument, prosody and persification are incorporated in the oral and written work, with one theme a week again required. The junior year themes are expository and argumentative to a large extent, designed to lead up to debating work later in the course. Eight books are read and reviewed, a characteristic list including "Carlyle's Essay on Burns," "Burke's Speech on Conciliation," Shakespeare's "As You Like It" and various stories of John Milton's.

The senior year is merely an elaboration of what has been taken up in the previous three years, the student being required to write one long theme a week. It is the object of this course to center the student's "final constructive efforts towards a long essay or oration at the end of the year."

Chuacer, Shakespeare, Ruskin and Tennyson are prominent in the list of authors whose works are read in the senior year.

The communication is signed by George Parker, H. W. Nichols and M. J. Fillatrault, members of the commission, and Ruben Johnson, secretary.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

What Noah Thought About It

DR. NOAH WEBSTER never pretended to be an expert sanitarian, nor did he pose as a man of few words. The one outstanding characteristic which seemed to single him out from others of that illustrious surname was his utter indifference to the emotions and prejudices which swayed so many men of his time. His most successful book gives ample evidence of this trait. You may read chapter after chapter of it and not a line of piffle will you find, not a thrill or furbelow in the whole work. Yet Noah was an author of parts. His teachings were, and still are, considered authoritative in many lines of human endeavor.

Take, for our particular instance, Noah's version of the vexed subject of ventilation. Did he pronounce it a dangerous experiment, a venture to be taken with many precautions against drafts, dampness, night air? Did he warn his readers to beware of taking cold from fresh air? No. Noah set down the bare, unromantic facts and left it for others to add whatever embellishments their timid natures might demand. He asserted that ventilation is the process of removing vitiated (that is, bad, polluted, health-destroying) air from a room and admitting fresh air. Then, in another chapter, he remarked that a draft is a current of air.

On the face of it, in order to admit fresh air to a room it is necessary to admit a current of air. In other words, ventilation implies a draft of fresh air entering the room.

Some teachers there were in Noah's time and since who advised people to secure good ventilation but avoid drafts—but these teachers were not so accurate and unemotional in their understanding of the matter as Noah was. He knew that such advice was mere thoughtless piffle, and there was no room in his book for nonsense. Noah realized, as few of his contemporaries and, we fear, too few of his modern readers have realized, that the fear of a draft is nothing else than the fear of fresh air, and that so long as anybody has the slightest fear of a current of fresh air the possibility of securing good ventilation is simply out of the question.

That's what Noah thought about it. To be sure, his views are scarcely acceptable to the manufacturers of various expensive, complicated and inadequate patent ventilators, though we dare say Noah's conception of ventilation harmonizes perfectly with the very latest scientific knowledge upon this point. Dr. Webster was no sanitarian, but he harbored in his cerebrum a large store of good, hard common sense. We heartily recommend the doctor's great book to all our readers. As a work of reference we find it indispensable in our daily work.

NO MONEY FOR STORM SEWERS

Cost Will Be Assessed Against Property Owners in Future.

City Council Adopts New Plan of Paying for Work.

Because the city is unable to pay for storm sewers out of its 13-mill tax levy, the council at its regular meeting last evening adopted a resolution authorizing the assessment for all storm sewers against the property benefited. The resolution goes into effect at once. Commissioner Voss, head of the finance division, introduced the resolution and explained that it was impossible to pay for storm sewers out of the permanent improvement fund and that as a result property owners would have to be assessed. Commissioner Silberstein seconded the resolution and it was adopted by a four-to-one vote, Mayor Prince voting against the measure.

Opinion of Council.

The resolution follows: "That the council is of the opinion that under sections 60 and 61 of the city charter the cost for storm sewers to the extent of the benefits may be assessed on the property, as storm sewers are a species of sewers."

Commissioner Voss explained that the present charter allows a maximum tax levy of 13 mills and that the city has found it impossible to include storm sewers in making appropriations. After each department is given its share, he said, and an appropriation made for street intersections, there is nothing left for storm sewers. It is a question that has been hanging fire for several years, he added, and should be settled once and for all.

"Under the old charter," said Mr. Voss, "property owners paid for storm sewers, but when the present charter was adopted, this matter was left out. As a result it has been a problem for the last two years. Former Commissioner Murchison favored assessing the cost of this work against benefitted property, but could not decide where to start. Since the old charter was amended five years ago to provide for a fund for street intersections and storm sewers few such sewers have been built owing to lack of funds. I do not see any way out of the present acute situation but to assess the cost. Last winter storm sewer work was done at a cost of $12,000. We must get some solution, and I offer the resolution to bring the question to a head."

Indorsed By Attorneys.

Mr. Voss was asked if the charter will allow such action and he explained that Harvey Clapp, former city attorney, and H. F. Greene, present attorney, have both ruled as to the legality of the council's power in taking such a move.

"If there is any other way out of it, I will gladly favor such a plan," said Mr. Voss, "but this is the only way the city will be able to pay for storm sewers."

Commissioner Farrell explained that paving work to cost more than $150,000 is being held up, because the city has no money with which to pay for the storm sewers. Mayor Prince objected to the measure, declaring that the cost should be borne by general taxation, since the entire city receives the benefits of a storm sewer.

At this point Commissioner Silberstein seconded the resolution and it was put to a vote, Mayor Prince being the only member of the council voting against it.

As a result of the council's action all storm sewers built from now on will be assessed against the property benefitted.

RAILWAYS AND CITY AGREE

Council Approves Terms of Missabe and N. P. Roads.

Latter to Build Smithville Subway; Former to Put in Three Subways.

Two agreements with Duluth railroads were formally authorized by the city council last evening.

Unanimous approval was given the resolution introduced by Mayor Prince, one authorizing the city attorney to enter into the stipulation with the Northern Pacific road releasing it from any further obligation to the city after it completes the Smithville subway, and the other accepting the offer of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road to build three subways underneath its tracks at West Duluth, for the vacation of twenty-two streets and alleys.

Fifty-two Foot Roadway.

In a communication to the council, City Attorney Greene declared, as reported in The Herald last evening, that an examination of the plans and specifications for the Smithville subway showed that the roadway would be forty-two feet wide, but that an additional twelve feet is allowed for sidewalks. Commissioner Farrell then removed his objections to the stipulation, which releases the road from any further obligation, excepting the maintenance of the subway. Mr. Farrell at a meeting last Saturday declared that a 42-foot roadway would be too narrow for the future growth of New Duluth and Gary, as it would not allow for sidewalks. After Mr. Greene's communication had been read, the council adopted the resolution authorizing to enter into an agreement with Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, attorneys for the Northern Pacific.

By adopting the resolution authorizing the agreement with the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road, the city vacated twenty-two streets and alleys in West Duluth, in return for which the road will build subways at Highland street, Sixty-third and Sixty-seventh avenues west. The road is given until April 1, 1918, to build all three subways.

Highland Subway Work Begun.

The action of the council last evening on the Highland street subway matter ended a question that has been before the residents of West Duluth for several years. Work on the subway has already begun and during this summer the city will pave Highland street from Fifty-seventh to Sixty-third avenues west.

Work on the Smithville subway was begun this morning.

"BEYOND THE POINT OF ROCKS"

PARADE WILL DRAW CROWD

West End Men Complete Arrangements for May Festival.

"May Queen" Contest Will Close; Each Contestant Confident.

"All we want is good weather, and we shall have a record-breaking crowd in the West end Friday.

That is the opinion of members of the committee in charge of the festival to be held Friday evening in the West end under the auspices of the business men. A meeting of the committee will be held this afternoon, at which the final details of the program will be gone over.

Tonight the contest for the "May queen" will come to a close. The ballot boxes will be gathered tomorrow morning from the seven drug stores of the West end, and the work of counting the ballots will start immediately. It is expected that the counting of the ballots will be completed before Thursday evening.

Each of the seven contestants who have come out openly in the contest has been working hard for votes, and each expresses herself confident of winning. The young women are Miss Linda Olson, Miss Inga Brende, Miss Ruth Peterson, Miss Anna Olson, Miss Goodny Olson, Miss Alice "Topsy" Mattson and Miss Edith Olson.

Assurances that the parade will be the biggest ever seen in the West end are made by the committee. There are now pledged enough attractions for the parade to make the line of march fully two miles long. The line will form at Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth avenues west and march to the Point of Rocks, and from there return.

WELL KNOWN PASTOR WILL LEAVE CITY

Rev. Einar Wulfsberg Resigns Charge; Will Go to Elbow Lake.

Rev. Einar Wulfsberg, organizer of the St. Paul's English Lutheran church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, and pastor for the congregation since that time, will sever his connection with the church, and has accepted a call to take charge of the church at Elbow Lake, Minn. Rev. Mr. Wulfsberg will move his family to Elbow Lake this week.

The pastor came to Duluth in August, 1904. He then started the organization work and was successful in forming a good nucleus for a congregation. The following year the congregation built its church building. It now has a membership of more than 200 communicants.

REV. EINAR WULFSBERG.

Rev. Mr. Wulfsberg tendered his resignation to the local congregation some time ago, and for the last month has been supplying the church at Elbow Lake every other Sunday and preaching here on the alternate Sunday. He will continue conducting services here on alternate Sundays until some time in July.

Rev. Mr. Wulfsberg is now the oldest pastor in the point of service of any in the western end of the city. He has been residing at 2532 West Second street.

Gov. W. S. Hammond will be asked to come to Duluth on that day to be the principal speaker.

Plans are rapidly assuming shape according to Bror G. Johnson, publicity agent for the league. The parade will be held early in the day and will wind up at Lincoln park. Here the program of speeches, music, sports and other features will be held.

The invitations to the people of the ranges will be sent out at once. These will be in the form of written letters to the various Swedish lodges of the range cities. The lodges will be asked to participate in a body in the parade.

The feature of the evening's celebration will be a dance at the Lincoln park pavilion. The pavilion and park will be brightly decorated with a special electrical display for the occasion.

WEST END BUILDERS

SANFORD W. HILL.

Who is the father of the Duluth Commercial club? Twenty years ago this year the organization, which is now the biggest power in civic affairs in Duluth, was organized in the West end. One of the principal organizers of that body and one of its first presidents was Sanford W. Hill, one of the West end's strongest boosters.

Early in the year 1895 a small band of West end business men invited a few men from up-town to attend a meeting at the Press building, 1915 West Superior street. That small band was called together by S. W. Hill and formed the nucleus for the Duluth Commercial club. For a period of nearly five years this club held its meetings at Sloan's hall, and by that time its activities had broadened to such an extent that it was deemed wise to move to a more central headquarters. It was during the early years of the organization in the West end that the Interstate bridge was built and all plans for this bridge were first presented for approval to the small band of Duluth boosters at the West end.

Mr. Hill is one of the pioneer business men of the district. When the Duluth Commercial club moved uptown he organized another commercial body now known as the West End Commercial club. When it was found that business men did not turn out well to atten dthese meetings at night, he investigated the noon-luncheon proposition for merchants, and found that these were bringing out the business men in other parts of the city and started a similar movement here, which has proved more than successful.

Mr. Hill is one of the members of the committee in charge of the celebration planned by the merchants for Friday evening.

MILITARISM CAUSE OF WAR

Conflict for Benefit of Monarchs, Not People, Says Swedish Editor.

Armament, militarism and imperialism are the direct causes of the present war in Europe, according to Rev. John Walberg of Gesle, Sweden, preacher and associate editor of one of Sweden's large newspapers, who is touring the United States this year. He spoke last night at the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, on "The Attitude of Christians in the War in Europe."

The speaker said that this war was not one of the people. The people had no grievances. The farmers of Germany and the farmers of France are and always been on the best of terms and a similar condition can be said of the business men of the two countries, he said.

"It is a war of the monarchs," he said. "Some anarchist throws a bomb and kills a member of an imperial family, and the entire continent is thrown into the bloodiest war in the history of the world. Instead of putting to death the man who caused the bombs to be thrown, farmers are called from the fields and prosperous business men from their stores and are thrown at each others' throats to avenge the royal murder. Lands of plenty are laid waste and debts that will be a burden to the people for generations to come are heaped upon them."

The speaker said that Sweden was under a terrific strain to keep its neutrality. With Germany to the south and Russia to the east, the matter of keeping the country out of the fight was a tremendous task.

Rev. Mr. Walberg left this morning for the Pacific coast, where he will visit a number of cities and also visit the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco. He expects to return to Sweden next fall.

Family Finances

Women direct the spending of nearly all the family income. Important it is, therefore, that the housewife utilize the best methods of disbursing that income—the "pay-by-check" method.

Women who make all their payments by check KNOW DEFINITELY where and for what the money goes, keeping a brake on expenditures by spending thoughtfully.

Hundreds of Duluth housewives have found a checking account in this Bank a means of economizing the family finances. You are invited to test this method.

"BEYOND THE POINT OF ROCKS"

PARADE WILL DRAW CROWD

West End Men Complete Arrangements for May Festival.

"May Queen" Contest Will Close; Each Contestant Confident.

"All we want is good weather, and we shall have a record-breaking crowd in the West end Friday.

That is the opinion of members of the committee in charge of the festival to be held Friday evening in the West end under the auspices of the business men. A meeting of the committee will be held this afternoon, at which the final details of the program will be gone over.

Tonight the contest for the "May queen" will come to a close. The ballot boxes will be gathered tomorrow morning from the seven drug stores of the West end, and the work of counting the ballots will start immediately. It is expected that the counting of the ballots will be completed before Thursday evening.

Each of the seven contestants who have come out openly in the contest has been working hard for votes, and each expresses herself confident of winning. The young women are Miss Linda Olson, Miss Inga Brende, Miss Ruth Peterson, Miss Anna Olson, Miss Goodny Olson, Miss Alice "Topsy" Mattson and Miss Edith Olson.

Assurances that the parade will be the biggest ever seen in the West end are made by the committee. There are now pledged enough attractions for the parade to make the line of march fully two miles long. The line will form at Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth avenues west and march to the Point of Rocks, and from there return.

WEST END BUILDERS

SANFORD W. HILL.

Who is the father of the Duluth Commercial club? Twenty years ago this year the organization, which is now the biggest power in civic affairs in Duluth, was organized in the West end. One of the principal organizers of that body and one of its first presidents was Sanford W. Hill, one of the West end's strongest boosters.

Early in the year 1895 a small band of West end business men invited a few men from up-town to attend a meeting at the Press building, 1915 West Superior street. That small band was called together by S. W. Hill and formed the nucleus for the Duluth Commercial club. For a period of nearly five years this club held its meetings at Sloan's hall, and by that time its activities had broadened to such an extent that it was deemed wise to move to a more central headquarters. It was during the early years of the organization in the West end that the Interstate bridge was built and all plans for this bridge were first presented for approval to the small band of Duluth boosters at the West end.

Mr. Hill is one of the pioneer business men of the district. When the Duluth Commercial club moved uptown he organized another commercial body now known as the West End Commercial club. When it was found that business men did not turn out well to atten dthese meetings at night, he investigated the noon-luncheon proposition for merchants, and found that these were bringing out the business men in other parts of the city and started a similar movement here, which has proved more than successful.

Mr. Hill is one of the members of the committee in charge of the celebration planned by the merchants for Friday evening.

WELL KNOWN PASTOR WILL LEAVE CITY

Rev. Einar Wulfsberg Resigns Charge; Will Go to Elbow Lake.

Rev. Einar Wulfsberg, organizer of the St. Paul's English Lutheran church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, and pastor for the congregation since that time, will sever his connection with the church, and has accepted a call to take charge of the church at Elbow Lake, Minn. Rev. Mr. Wulfsberg will move his family to Elbow Lake this week.

The pastor came to Duluth in August, 1904. He then started the organization work and was successful in forming a good nucleus for a congregation. The following year the congregation built its church building. It now has a membership of more than 200 communicants.

REV. EINAR WULFSBERG.

Rev. Mr. Wulfsberg tendered his resignation to the local congregation some time ago, and for the last month has been supplying the church at Elbow Lake every other Sunday and preaching here on the alternate Sunday. He will continue conducting services here on alternate Sundays until some time in July.

Rev. Mr. Wulfsberg is now the oldest pastor in the point of service of any in the western end of the city. He has been residing at 2532 West Second street.

ALL RESIDENTS OF COUNTY INVITED

Duluth Midsummer Celebration Promises to Be Notable Event.

Invitations will be extended to all residents of St. Louis county to attend the annual mid-summer celebration to be held on June 24 at Lincoln park under the auspices of the Swedish American National league. Gov. W. S. Hammond will be asked to come to Duluth on that day to be the principal speaker.

Plans are rapidly assuming shape according to Bror G. Johnson, publicity agent for the league. The parade will be held early in the day and will wind up at Lincoln park. Here the program of speeches, music, sports and other features will be held.

The invitations to the people of the ranges will be sent out at once. These will be in the form of written letters to the various Swedish lodges of the range cities. The lodges will be asked to participate in a body in the parade.

The feature of the evening's celebration will be a dance at the Lincoln park pavilion. The pavilion and park will be brightly decorated with a special electrical display for the occasion.

Luther League Banquet.

The Luther League of the Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, will entertain at its annual banquet this evening in the church. Covers will be laid for 250 guests. The program will include a number of short addresses, musical and literary numbers.

MILITARISM CAUSE OF WAR

Conflict for Benefit of Monarchs, Not People, Says Swedish Editor.

Armament, militarism and imperialism are the direct causes of the present war in Europe, according to Rev. John Walberg of Gesle, Sweden, preacher and associate editor of one of Sweden's large newspapers, who is touring the United States this year. He spoke last night at the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, on "The Attitude of Christians in the War in Europe."

The speaker said that this war was not one of the people. The people had no grievances. The farmers of Germany and the farmers of France are and always been on the best of terms and a similar condition can be said of the business men of the two countries, he said.

"It is a war of the monarchs," he said. "Some anarchist throws a bomb and kills a member of an imperial family, and the entire continent is thrown into the bloodiest war in the history of the world. Instead of putting to death the man who caused the bombs to be thrown, farmers are called from the fields and prosperous business men from their stores and are thrown at each others' throats to avenge the royal murder. Lands of plenty are laid waste and debts that will be a burden to the people for generations to come are heaped upon them."

The speaker said that Sweden was under a terrific strain to keep its neutrality. With Germany to the south and Russia to the east, the matter of keeping the country out of the fight was a tremendous task.

Rev. Mr. Walberg left this morning for the Pacific coast, where he will visit a number of cities and also visit the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco. He expects to return to Sweden next fall.

West End Briefs.

The Rebekah Guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church will be entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Andrew Eck, 1821 West Third street.

The finance committee of the First Swedish Baptist church will meet this evening at the home of Louis Bergquist, 2020 London road.

Rev. H. J. Walner of Virginia will speak Thursday evening at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-third avenue west and Second street on "Four Years in a Reformatory." The lecture will be given under the auspices of the Men's Club of the St. Peter's Episcopal church.

Greysolon camp No. 627, Royal Neighbors will hold its meeting Friday evening at the Woodman hall.

Miss Evelyn Camp of Minneapolis spoke last evening at a meeting of the young women of the church's work of the Baptist Women's Missionary society.

The officers and members of the Sunday school of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will meet in the church this evening for rehearsal for the Children's day exercises. Children's day will be observed on June 13.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

LINE BEFORE LAND OFFICE

Cass Lake Surprised When Land Seekers Take Places Before Doors.

Lands in Cass Lake District to Be Opened, But Date Not Announced.

Cass Lake, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Quite a surprise resulted here Monday when Frank Suitor and Bernie Rafferity leisurely strolled up in front of the United States land office and, without any word or comment, took positions in front of the building door. Not much notice was taken for several minutes when they displayed numbers on their caps, Rafferity No. 1 and Suitor No. 2. Within half an hour the news had spread and before two hours had elapsed there were twenty in line.

Some months ago the opening of several thousand acres of valuable land in the Cass Lake and Duluth U. S. land office district was announced and that the opening would probably take place in May, but, thus far nothing more has been heard.

Opening Date Not Fixed.

While it is a certainty that the opening will occur shortly, the date has not been announced and the local U. S. land office officials are in ignorance of anything pertaining to the opening.

The lands to be opened are scattered mostly in the Cass Lake land district and comprise some of the most valuable land remaining for homestead entry.

The opening of this land has been closely watched and it was wondered several times why a line had not congregated before. It is expected that within a day or two there will be several hundred in line.

Mr. Grimoldby was born at Lincolnshire, England, in 1840 and came to Canada when 9 years old.

On Dec. 15, 1864, he married Mary Burton of Walton, Ont. GOPHER SENATOR UPHOLDS PRESIDENT

Administration Should Not Be Embarrassed, Says Senator Clapp.

St. Paul, Minn., May 25.—Hearty agreement with President Wilson's course toward the belligerent nations is expressed by Senator Moses E. Clapp, who is now at his home here.

"Some nations are so strong and powerful," said Senator Clapp, "that they can afford to be gracious in dealing with international problems, which, in others, might be construed as cowardice.

"The same view was expressed by President Wilson in his Philadelphia address, and I am most heartily in accord with it," the senator continued. "It is inconceivable that this country should become involved in the European war.

"I am one of those who believe the administration should not be embarrassed with adverse criticism at this time, and that every support possible should be given the president and his cabinet in dealing with the situation. They possess facts regarding diplomatic relations that the public cannot have complete knowledge of; therefore their opinions should be more highly valued."

WHITE SOX WIN A GAME AND TIE UP ANOTHER ONE

Initial Contest Copped By 8-to-6 Count; Second Score 5 to 5.

Spectators Sit in Cold and Shiver While Athletes Perform.

Duluth won one game and tied another yesterday. The initial contest was copped 8 to 6, while the second was called at the end of the sixth inning with the score knotted at five. Cold weather that made Umpire Carney shiver, was responsible for the calling of the second game.

In the opener Eddie Jackson opposed Chicken of Superior in the knolling department. Both pitchers were swatted freely; but the Dooks clostered five of their blows in one round and gathered six runs, thus gaining a lead that the Swampers found it impossible to overcome.

It was a slow game, devoid of features, and the spectators sat in the excruciating cold and wondered if Chicken would get the blue slip after the game.

Superior counted in the initial round of Burgwald's walk, a pass to Curtis and a single by Glass to left field. In the second round our side batted clear around. Tauman started the round with a single. The six runs were accumulated as a result of this single, singles by O'Brien and Sweeley, a double by Wolfe, a pass to Collins, a wild pitch and a double by Chief Williams.

In the next round O'Brien singled, went to second when Swalm let the ball get away and counted on Sweeley's double. Brown's single counted Sweeley. That ended the scoring for the locals.

Girth was safe in the fourth on Brown's error, was sacrificed by Kurke and scored on a double to right by Chicken. In the eighth Curtis singled, advanced to third on Swalm's hit past first and registered on a long fly to center by Fred Glass.

In the hostile ninth Burgwald singled with one gone and McGee was safe on Wolfe's error. Curtis walked and Swalm singled, counting Burgwald and Curtis. Glass fouled to Sweeley, but O'Brien failed to get Bassey's offering and the third run of the round came over. Girth whiffed and the game was over.

Posten started the second game but gave way to Boley in the second round. Brannon worked for the visitors. In the first Duluth registered two on singles by Brown and Croake, a wild heave by Berger and a wild pitch by Brannon.

The visitors came back in the second and tied up the count on singles by Glass and Bassey, a walk to Girth and a single by Berger. Boley went in with three on and one gone and pulled a sharp double play, Boley to Sweeley to Croake, which extricated the little flinger from a bad hole.

In our second, Tauman strolled, O'Brien went down on an infield offering, and then Sweeley singled, counting Tauman who had moved up on O'Brien's out. Boley singled, Brown was hit, and both Sweeley and Boley counted on Wolfe's swat down the first base line.

That ended the scoring for the Dooks. In the fourth Bassey and Girth singled, both counting on Berger's hit. In the fifth a walk to Curtis, a passed ball and Swalm's single tied up the count, the game being called in the next round.

Superior is here today for the final game of the present series. Following today's game the Dooks will cross the bay for a series of five games. Fort William comes here after the completion of the intercity series at Hislop park.

FEW CARS QUALIFY FOR AUTO CLASSIC

Only Twenty-Five Cars in Indianapolis Memorial Day Event.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 25.—When the elimination trials ended yesterday, twenty-five cars were declared eligible for the fifth annual 500-mile race, which is to be run next Saturday at the Indianapolis motor speedway. This is the smallest field that ever has qualified for the event, and it is believed that two or three more cars will be unable to start, so the lits of competitors may be reduced still more.

Forty cars entered for the race and thirty-three would have been permitted to start, had they qualified. An average speed of eighty miles an hour was required in order to qualify for the contest. A number of the drivers failed to get this speed out of their machines and many of the entrants arrived too late to get their cars into shape for the contest. Among these were Pullen, Ruckstell and Nikrent, drivers of American-made machines, who withdrew today.

Most of the stars of the racing world who entered will start the contest. Burman, Oldfield, De Palma, Cooper, Wilcox, Resta and Anderson are among those who have qualified for the contest.

Urbana, Ill., May 25.—Northwestern defeated Illinois in two out of three tennis matches yesterday. The singles were taken by the Purple players, while the state team won the doubles.

NORTHERN LEAGUE MAY DROP TWO OF THE CLUBS

Magnate Blume Says It Looks as If St. Boniface and One Other Club Will Be Pried Loose From the Burmeister Organization—Poor Attendance at St. Boniface Responsible for Contemplated Shift.

No less an authority than H. A. Blume has admitted that the present Northern league circuit may be reduced to a league made up of six clubs.

"We have to do something at St. Boniface," said Magnate Blume before the start of the game yesterday. "We have been playing to crowds of less than 100 persons at some of the games up there. Some of the magnates have been talking of a seven-team circuit. I can't figure how we can play with seven clubs. One team will have to be idle part of the time. If St. Boniface is dropped from the league, it looks as if some other club will also have to lose its franchise."

It is also stated that immediate steps will have to be taken to strengthen the joke baseball club that is representing Winnipeg. It is said that players are on the way to take the place of some of the performers who just the other day succeeded in accumulating sixteen errors in two games.

There is a rumored deal on between Superior and Winnipeg. If the contemplated trade goes through, the Peggers may secure an outfielder from the club across the bay. A club such as is representing the Peg, the baseball hub of the Northern league, will never do. A decided and aggressive effort must be made to make the turnstile whirl up there, and it is said that the majority of magnates of the league have agreed that the fans of the Peg will not wax enthusiastic over the ball playing of the aggregation that is playing there at the present time.

Listen to the "Can."

On May 26—tomorrow, see calendar—all of the teams of the Northern league are obliged to reduce their players or in some other manner get within the salary limit of $1,400 per month, exclusive of the manager.

If this rule is strictly adhered to this season—and much comment and emphasis was placed upon a reiterated statement to this effect—it will mean that today and tomorrow there will be some baseball players in the Northern league looking for jobs.

It was stated at the local baseball office today that there would be some releases here—and it is believed that all of the slips will be passed out to bold athletes who are pitchers or profess to be pitchers.

Outside of the knoll department it looks as if the present makeup of the White Sox would remain unshifted for some time at least.

Brown appears a regular ball player at third, and the same may be said of Tauman in right field. Chief Williams has been the hitting hero in the home series to date. Jimmy Collins is too well known to speak of in long sentences.

Ford is to be carried as a utilty roler. But there are Bryant, Jackson, Cadreau, Posten, Boley, Hoffman and Turner—all knoll habitaters. It looks as if one or two or perhaps three of these lads would be asked to habitat elsewhere.

If big Mister Burmeister sticks to his straight-lipped decision, reached, promulgated and enunciated before the start of the present schedule, that there will be a sticking to the low salary limit despite all desire to the contrary, then most of the clubs of the league will have to get down to a playing basis of eleven or twelve men.

MISS HOLLINS AND CHAMPION LEAD GOLFERS

Scarborough, N. Y., May 25.—Play in the women's metropolitan golf championship tournament was resumed at the Sleepy Hollow Country club today under more favorable weather conditions, although the putting greens were a trifle slow after yesterday's rain storm.

The draw for today's 18-hole match play round brought both Miss Lillian Hyde, the champion, and Miss Marion Hollins, a former champion, into the upper half, so that in case they win today they will meet tomorrow. Following was the order of play:

MIRACLE MAN SICK.

Crippled Johnny Evers May Take Up Management of World's Champions.

Boston, Mass., May 25.—The Boston Nationals probably will be without the guidance of Manager George T. Stallings for some days. He was confined to his room yesterday with a complaint believed to be due to mastoiditis.

Capt. John Evers, who has been at his home in Troy, New York, recovering from a broken ankle bone, is expected here to take up the managership today. He can get about on crutches.

Manager Stallings said last night that his physician had informed him that his trouble probably was due to a cold and had advised a brief rest, but that he might go out today.

BY BRUCE.

B-u-u-z-z-z! Excuse us, that's a poor imitation of a telephone bell. Maybe the bell is out of order and gives a churly sound.

Young Mr. Duby is called to the phone. A female voice, eager and anxious, on the other end.

"Oh can you tell me, do the Lakesides play today? My boy is on the team and I do so want to see him play."

That is but one case. As head of the Duluth School Grade league, it is part of the multifarious duties of Lawrence Duby to tell anxious and eager fathers and mothers where their sons are to play.

Sure the schedule is published—has been several times—but some of the fathers and mothers who are taking a strenuous and new kind of interest in baseball have been out of touch with the game for some time and know not just how to keep track of the game.

But—they do know that their kids are out there playing for some kind of a pennant—and they do know that they want to see their kids play. Hence the eagerness and anxiety exhibited via the telephone.

Enthusiasm the Keynote.

From its inception enthusiasm has been the keynote, the very life and soul of the little Grade School league. Inclement weather has failed miserably to dampen the spirits or cool the ardor of the kids. The embryo players have been out there every day battling away for the silken oriflame and the chance to break into the big series that is to be staged at Athletic park. They are our men of tomorrow, these kids. We all love them. All of us are interested in their problems, their joys, their sorrows. Crowds of interested spectators have surged around the fields where the kids have played—and there has been cheering and yelling and laughing. And to cap all climaxes, yesterday two of the kid teams played a 2-to-1 game. Now what do you think of that?

If you have a kid out there playing, and the kid came trudging home, dirty as a chimney sweep but glowing with a sort of shininess, and told you and the missus, between shifts of a wash cloth, that his team licked the everlasting stuffin' out of the other team—why, if you had any sporting blood in your veins you would get away from the office some afternoon, even if you had to bury grandmother, and get out and watch your offspring play.

Violating Business Decorum.

Some business men wear business wrinkles and a business frown. They go to the theater and to their own homes with the "I'm busy just now" expression spread all over their map. Some of these tpuch me if you dare kind of commercial up-builders have been out to the kid games. Honestly and actually. A kid will get beneath the skin of most any man. Several frowns have been seen to relax, the hard wrinkles soften up a bit, and a broad and expansive smile break out.

If staid and ultra business men break out in wild and weird yells—remember, George, that their kids maybe had performed some of the stunts that Ty Cobb performs in a more finished and nonchalant way every day down Detroit way.

This week a lot of games will have to be crowded into the schedule. The big series that is to determine the championship of the Eastern and Western divisions of the school league will be played in the near future—and after that the city championship is on.

After the present week don't be alarmed, fond father and doting mother, if your kid doesn't sleep well—he is only dreaming of hitting 'em where they ain't; of larruping the old pill to the tall and grassy precincts of the lot.

Pretty Race Is On.

In both divisions of the league there is a pretty race on. The Adams are back in the lead in the Western division and the Jeffersons have displaced the Washingtons in the Eastern.

The Adams and Irvings had a battle royal yesterday, the Adams winning out by the close and regular big league score of 2 to 1. The Lincolns defeated the Bryans by the also regular score of 7 to 2, the Jacksons downed the Lowells, 10 to 3 in one game and repeated the feat by the score of 17 to 2 in the second.

In the Eastern division the Jeffersons went into the league leadership by defeating the Washingtons, 14 to 12, and the Salters won from the Washburns by the count of 25 to 7.

Following is the schedule for the present week:

Home Economics

One of the large public service corporations furnishing light and heat has started a laboratory for the testing of labor saving devices for the home.

As each new appliance appears it is "tried out."

While the corporation's zeal is due to a desire to sell gas and current, its attitude shows what an important factor labor saving devices have become.

The home not provided with them is not up-to-date — the housewife is not getting all there is out of life.

From time to time many appliances for home comfort are described in the advertising columns of The Herald.

ASKED TO RESIGN.

Manager of Louisville Team Refuses to Throw Up Job.

Louisville, Ky., May 25.—President O. H. Wathen of the Louisville American association club, has announced that he has requested the resignation of John F. Hayden, manager of the team since 1912. Fred Midkiff, third baseman of the club, will be appointed successor to Hayden, Owner Wathen said. Midkiff at present is disabled with a broken ankle.

"Failure to get results with the material supplied" is the reason President Wathen gives for releasing Hayden. The letter to Hayden was delivered yesterday after Louisville had won the game. Midkiff came to the Louisville club last season from the Baltimore Internationals.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 25.—Manager Hayden of the Louisville club, which defeated Minneapolis here yesterday, said last night that he had sent a telegram to President Wathen, refusing to resign and asserting he "had left nothing undone" to make the Louisville team a winner.

WATSON WORKS WITH BILLINGS

Boxers Give an Exhibition of Training Work at Auditorium.

Red Watson worked out at the Auditorium last evening. The little red-headed lightweight punched the bag, skipped the work and shadow-boxed, winding up the exhibition with a sparring exhibition with Kid Billings. The boys went three rounds, and the lad from Billings Park was able to make things interesting for Jack Kearns' lad.

Young Fortier and Kid Konnes also sparred. Joe Mandot is due to arrive tomorrow, and the little Frenchman is scheduled to work out at the Auditorium tomorrow evening.

Watson will complete his training for the Mandot go on the other side of the bay. Mandot will put the finish touches on his training in Chicago.

ORPHEUMS WANT A GAME WITH POLICE.

The Orpheum baseball team Sunday defeated the Sterlings by the score of 17 to 5. The feature of the game was the hitting of the Orpheum players. Led by Charley Willis, the veteran catcher, who hit out a home run and a screaming triple, the Orpheum men hit the pellet to all corners of the lot.

Members of the winning team are after a game with the Duluth policemen's team and offer to play the coppers for a side bet.

Billiard Scores.

Wilson was a winner last evening in the pocket billiard championship tourney now in progress at the Grand, defeating Nolan, 100 to 94.

Wilson made runs of 12 and 15 and his opponent ran one string to 17.

At the Palace, Clayton Byers won an all-comers game from Pete Piette, winning by the score of 150 to 102.

LICENSES ARE DENIED TWO

Council Not Satisfied With One Applicant—Other Would Be Additional.

Many Liquor Permits Renewed and Some Transfers Granted.

George Karugo was last evening denied a transfer of the A. L. Brewer saloon license at 5701 Raleigh street, and James Koen and Julius Scharven were denied a license to operate a saloon at 439 Lake avenue south.

Commissioner Silberstein explained that the reports on Mr. Karugo were not satisfactory and, coupled with the objections of property owners in the vicinity of the saloon, he felt that the application should be denied. The objection to the application of Mr. Keon and Mr. Scharven, explained Mr. Silberstein, is that the council will not permit the opening of new saloons.

Saloon license renewals were granted to J. S. Matthews, 1 East Superior street; J. T. Lannigan, 415 West Superior street; Axel Algotson, 1606 West Superior street; Charles Peterson, 609 West Superior street, and M. Monsen, 617 West Superior street. Transfers were granted the following: Gust Melin, from 1538 West Superior street to 120 Garfield avenue; Gus Egdahl, 517½ West Michigan street to Gust Jackson and B. A. Olafson, same address; P. J. Mulligan, 217 West Superior street, to Nels Erickson and C. O. Johnson, 520 West Superior street; M. W. Olszewski, 636 West Superior street, to Mike Luzich, same address; R. L. Birch, 1540 West Superior street, to Mike Luzich, 431 West Michigan street, and Joseph Trudel, 940 Garfield avenue, to Fred Johnson, same address.

M. Viener, 413½ West Superior street was granted a pawn broker's license and pool and billiard licenses were granted Joseph Bourestrom, 2401 West Superior street, and J. H. Pollard, 1401 Ninety-ninth avenue west.

CONTINUANCE GRANTED IN THE MENACE TRIAL

Kansas City, Mo., May 25.—Upon application of the defense the trial of the publishers of the Menace, a weekly paper published at Aurora, Mo., was continued by Judge Van Valkenburgh until the January, 1916, term of the Federal court at Joplin, Mo.

The trial previously had been set for the term of court to begin June 14, 1915.

The defendants through their attorneys filed a motion that they could not prepare for trial before June as one of the defendants and the wife of another were ill. Following the testimony of attending physicians, the continuance was granted.

The individual defendants in the case are: Wilbur F. Phelps, Bruce M. Phelps, Theodore C. Walker and Marvin Brown. They are charged with misuse of the mails.

Action on amending the convention's by-laws was deferred after several hours' discussion on the matter. After the business session, the women visitors were given a dinner at Eagles' hall. Last evening, at the Spalding, a class of nearly 100 candidates was initiated into the order. This was followed by a program which included several vocal numbers by the Zenith City Four and addresses in Swedish.

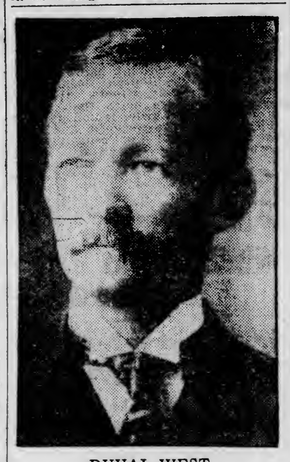
At Eagles' hall, Gustavus Adolphus lodge, No. 255, was presented with a blue silk banner by the convention for making the best showing in gaining membership. The time and place of holding the next convention will be decided upon by the executive committee some time this summer.

REPRESENTATIVE OF PRESIDENT REPORTS

Executive Gets First Hand Evidence as to Affairs in Mexico.

Washington, May 25.—President Wilson received first hand information concerning the Mexican situation last night from Duval West, his special representative, who recently returned from a visit to sections controlled by the different factions.

Mr. West's report was not made public, but it is understood it will result in no change of the policy of the administration toward Mexico. His report to the president was devoted to information gathered about conditions generally and about the attitude of the different leaders.



DUVAL WEST.

It was understood the administration will continue its policy of "hands off" while the Mexicans are fighting for supremacy in their country, in the meantime doing everything in its power to protect foreigners and their property and bringing about relief in sections where there is a shortage of food. Claims of victory from both the Carranza and Villa armies, came to the state department but there was nothing to indicate that either side had won a decided advantage.

DOC HOLMES USES APPENDIX AS BAIT

Operation Trick, Says Bill, as Doctor Boasts of Catch.

Smith, La., May. 25.—Bill Case is mad. He says that it is all right for Doc Holmes to be a fisherman, but he'll be doggoned if Doc didn't carry it too far with him, and that he is entitled to the three-pound-seven-ounce trout Doc caught yesterday.

Bill and Dock went fishing the first two days of the season and brought in nice catches. The trouble was that worms were scarce. A couple of days later Bill was taken sick. His wife called up Doc on the phone and caught him just as he was starting fishing. He was out in the garden digging up all the early vegetables hunting worms. Doc hustled over to Bill's house. He diagnosed the case as appendicitis, got out his instruments, performed the operation, got Bill back to bed and hurried off to go fishing. He came back that afternoon and stopped in to see Bill, who was doing well.

He brought in the big trout to show his patient, who nearly had a relapse. Now Bill declares Doc just operated on him to get his appendix for bait and that he caught that big trout on it.

Thos. Jefferson Encourages Brewing

FOE OF HAMILTON IN ALL SAVE TEMPERANCE

Thos. Jefferson, 3rd President, and greatest democrat of the United States, was opposed to Alexander Hamilton in everything except the temperance question. There the two were united, and both, on the floor of congress, advocated the encouragement of the brewing industry as an aid to agriculture and to promote temperance.

In the words of Jefferson: "No nation is drunken where wine is cheap." That is: Those nations which recognize the good in wine, and the good in the still lighter, and more healthful beverage beer; and who understand the need of their peoples for the enjoyment of those beverages and so encourage their production,—those nations lead their peoples to paths of honor and prosperity.

A SEEMING CONTRADICTION—NATURAL DRAUGHT BEER IN BOTTLES

Fitger Natural Beer, a brilliant draught beer of the best quality in bottles, is due to Fitger's Kieselguhr filter, the only one of its kind in America. This new process "keeps" beer by eliminating the yeast cells which cause beer troubles. This elimination by filtration preserves in the beer its full natural character, taste and aroma.

Pasteurizing, that is steaming the beer after it is in the bottle, in order to stop further fermentation, kills the ever present yeast cells, but it does not eliminate them. Kieselguhr filtration eliminates them, and it separates them from the beer without spoiling the delicious natural taste and flavor of the beer.

Which process do you prefer? Think it over.

THE GOOD JUDGE ATTENDS THE OLD SOLDIERS' REUNION

JUDGE, EVERY OLD SOLDIER IS JUST AS FULL OF PATRIOTISM TODAY AS EVER, BUT THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW GIVES US SO MUCH SATISFACTION THAT WE WANT YOU TO BE OUR GUEST OF HONOR.
WASHINGTON AND LINCOLN WERE GREAT PRESIDENTS
EVERY MAN NEEDS FRIENDS AND CAN MAKE THEM BY PASSING NEWS OF SATISFACTION

WAR or peace, men are the same about their tobacco. When they find the Real Tobacco Chew they want to sing out "By golly I've struck it." Just leave it to a good soldier to share his find with a comrade.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

"Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste."

BY BRUCE.

[illegible] Excuse us, that's a poor imitation of a telephone bell. Maybe the bell is out of order and gives a [illegible] sound.

Young Mr. Duby is called to the phone. A female voice, eager and anxious, on the other end.

"Oh can you tell me, do the Lakesides play today? My boy is on the team and I do so want to see him play."

That is but one case. As head of the Duluth School Grade League, it is part of the multifarious duties of Lawrence Duby to tell anxious and eager fathers and mothers where their sons are to play.

Sure the schedule is published—has been several times—but some of the fathers and mothers who are taking a strenuous and new kind of interest in baseball have been out of touch with the game for some time and know not just how to keep track of the game.

But—they do know that their kids are out there playing for some kind of a pennant—and they do know that they want to see their kids play. Hence the eagerness and anxiety exhibited via the telephone.

Enthusiasm the Keynote.

From its inception enthusiasm has been the keynote, the very life and soul of the little Grade School league. Inclement weather has failed miserably to dampen the spirits or cool the ardor of the kids. The embryo players have been out there every day batting away for the silken oriflame and the chance to break into the big series that is to be staged at Athletic park.

Then are our men of tomorrow, these kids. We all love them. All of us are interested in their problems, their joys, their sorrows. Crowds of interested spectators have surged around the fields where the kids have played—and there has been cheering and yelling and laughing. And to cap all climaxes, yesterday two of the kid teams played a 2-to-1 game. Now what do you think of that?

If you have a kid out there playing, and the kid came trudging home, dirty as a chimney sweep but glowing with a sort of silliness, and told you and the missus, between shifts of a wash cloth that his team licked the everlasting stuffin' out of the other team—why, if you had any sporting blood in your veins you would get away from the office some afternoon, even if you had to bury grandmother, and get out and watch your offspring play.

Violating Business Decorum.

Some business men wear business wrinkles and a business frown. They go to the theater and to their own homes with the "I'm busy just now" expression spread all over their map. Some of these touch me if you dare kind of commercial up-builders have been out to the kid games. Honestly and actually. A kid will get beneath the skin of most any man. Several frowns have been seen to relax, the hard wrinkles soften up a bit, and a broad and expansive smile break out.

If staid and ultra business men break out in wild and weird yells—remember, George, that their kids maybe had performed some of the stunts that Ty Cobb performs in a more finished and nonchalant way every day down Detroit way.

This week a lot of games will have to be crowded into the schedule. The big series that is to determine the championship of the Eastern and Western divisions of the school league will be played in the near future—and after that the city championship is on.

After the present week don't be alarmed, fond father and doting mother, if your kid doesn't sleep well—he is only dreaming of hitting 'em where they ain't; of larruping the old pill to the tall and grassy precincts of the lot.

Pretty Race In On.

In both divisions of the league there is a pretty race on. The Adams are back in the lead in the Western division and the Jeffersons have displaced the Washingtons in the Eastern.

The Adams and Irvings had a battle royal yesterday, the Adams winning out by the close and regular big league score of 2 to 1. The Lincolns defeated the Bryans by the also regular score of 7 to 2, the Jacksons downed the Lowells, 10 to 3 in one game and repeated the feat by the score of 17 to 2 in the second.

In the Eastern division the Jeffersons went into the league leadership by defeating the Washingtons, 14 to 12, and the Salters won from the Washburns by the count of 25 to 7.

Following is the schedule for the present week:

Home Economics

One of the large public service corporations furnishing light and heat has started a laboratory for the testing of labor saving devices for the home.

As each new appliance appears it is tested out.

While the corporation's zeal is for a reason to sell gas and current, its example shows what an important factor labor saving devices have become.

The home not provided with these is not up-to-date — the housewife is not getting all there is out of life.

From time to time many appliances for home comfort are described in the advertising columns of The Herald.

ASKED TO RESIGN.

Manager of Louisville Team Refuses to Throw Up Job.

Louisville, Ky., May 25.—President O. H. Wathen of the Louisville American association club, has announced that he has requested the resignation of John F. Hayden, manager of the team since 1912. Jack Midkiff, third baseman of the club, will be appointed successor to Hayden, Owner Wathen said. Midkiff at present is disabled with a broken ankle.

"Failure to get results with the material supplied" is the reason President Wathen gives for releasing Hayden. The letter to Hayden was delivered yesterday after Louisville had won the game. Midkiff came to the Louisville club last season from the Baltimore Internationals.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 25.—Manager Hayden of the Louisville club, which defeated Minneapolis here yesterday, said last night that he had sent a telegram to President Wathen, refusing to resign and asserting he "had left nothing undone" to make the Louisville team a winner.

WATSON WORKS WITH BILLINGS

Boxers Give an Exhibition of Training Work at Auditorium.

Red Watson worked out at the Auditorium last evening. The little red-headed lightweight punched the bag, skipped the work and shadow-boxed, winding up the exhibition with a sparring exhibition with Kid Billings. The boys went three rounds, and the lad from Billings Park was able to make things interesting for Jack Kearns' lad.

Young Fortier and Kid Konnes also sparred. Joe Mandot is due to arrive tomorrow, and the little Frenchman is scheduled to work out at the Auditorium tomorrow evening.

Watson will complete his training for the Mandot go on the other side of the bay. Mandot will put the finish touches on his training in Chicago.

ORPHEUMS WANT A GAME WITH POLICE.

The Orpheum baseball team Sunday defeated the Sterlings by the score of 17 to 5. The feature of the game was the hitting of the Orpheum players, led by Charley Willis, the veteran catcher, who hit out a home run and screaming triple, the Orpheum men hit the pellet to all corners of the lot.

Members of the winning team are after a game with the Duluth policemen's team and offer to play the coppers for a side bet.

Billiard Scores.

Wilson was a winner last evening in the pocket billiard championship tourney now in progress at the Grand, defeating Nolan, 109 to 94.

Wilson made runs of 12 and 15 and his opponent ran one string to 17.

At the Palace, Clayton Byers won an all-comers game from Pete Piette, winning by the score of 150 to 102.

LICENSES ARE DENIED TWO

Council Not Satisfied With One Applicant—Other Would Be Additional.

Many Liquor Permits Renewed and Some Transfers Granted.

George Karugo was last evening denied a transfer of the A. L. Brewer saloon license at 5701 Raleigh street, and James Koen and Julius Scharven were denied a license to operate a saloon at 429 Lake avenue south.

Commissioner Silberstein explained that the reports on Mr. Karugo were not satisfactory and, coupled with the objections of property owners in the vicinity of the saloon, he felt that the application should be denied. The objection to the application of Mr. Koen and Mr. Senarven, explained Mr. Silberstein, is that the council will not permit the opening of new saloons.

Saloon license renewals were granted to J. S. Matthews, 1 East Superior street; J. T. Lannigan, 315 West Superior street; Axel Algotson, 1005 West Superior street; Charles Peterson, 609 West Superior street, and M. Monsen, 617 West Superior street. REPRESENTATIVE OF PRESIDENT REPORTS

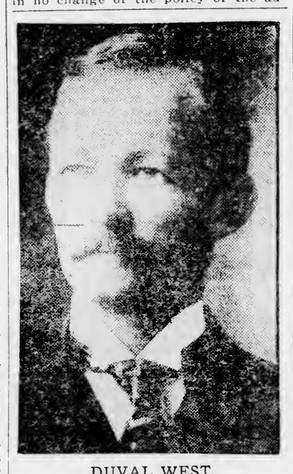
Executive Gets First Hand Evidence as to Affairs in Mexico.

Washington, May 25.—President Wilson received first hand information concerning the Mexican situation last night from Duval West, his special representative, who recently returned from a visit to sections controlled by the different factions.

Mr. West's report was not made public, but it is understood it will result in no change of the policy of the administration toward Mexico. His report to the president was devoted to information gathered about conditions generally and about the attitude of the different leaders.



DUVAL WEST.

It was understood the administration will continue its policy of "hands off" while the Mexicans are fighting for supremacy in their country, in the meantime doing everything in its power to protect foreigners and their property and bringing about relief in sections where there is a shortage of food. Claims of victory from both the Carranza and Villa armies, came to the state department but there was nothing to indicate that either side had won a decided advantage.

DOC HOLMES USES APPENDIX AS BAIT

Operation Trick, Says Bill, as Doctor Boasts of Catch.

Smith, La., May. 25.—Bill Case is mad. He says that it is all right for Doc Holmes to be a fisherman, but he'll be doggoned if Doc didn't carry it too far with him, and that he is entitled to the three-pound-seven-ounce trout Doc caught yesterday.

Bill and Doc went fishing the first two days of the season and brought in nice catches. The trouble was that worms were scarce. A couple of days later Bill was taken sick. His wife called up Doc on the phone and caught him just as he was starting fishing. He was out in the garden digging up all the early vegetables hunting worms. Doc hustled over to Bill's house. He diagnosed the case as appendicitis, got out his instruments, performed the operation, got Bill back to bed and hurried off to go fishing. He came back that afternoon and stopped in to see Bill, who was doing well.

He brought in the big trout to show his patient, who nearly had a relapse. Now Bill declares Doc just operated on him to get his appendix for bait and that he caught that big trout on it.

THE GOOD JUDGE ATTENDS THE OLD SOLDIERS' REUNION
JUDGE, EVERY OLD SOLDIER IS JUST AS FULL OF PATRIOTISM TODAY AS EVER, BUT THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW GIVES US SO MUCH SATISFACTION THAT WE WANT YOU TO BE OUR GUEST OF HONOR.
WASHINGTON AND LINCOLN WERE GREAT PRESIDENTS
EVERY MAN NEEDS FRIENDS AND CAN MAKE THEM BY PASSING NEWS OF SATISFACTION

WAR or peace, men are the same about their tobacco. When they find the Real Tobacco Chew they want to sing out "By golly I've struck it." Just leave it to a good soldier to share his find with a comrade.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

"Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste."

Thos. Jefferson Encourages Brewing

FOE OF HAMILTON IN ALL SAVE TEMPERANCE

Thos. Jefferson, 3rd President, and greatest democrat of the United States, was opposed to Alexander Hamilton in everything except the temperance question. There the two were united, and both, on the floor of congress, advocated the encouragement of the brewing industry as an aid to agriculture and to promote temperance.

In the words of Jefferson: "No nation is drunken where wine is cheap." That is: Those nations which recognize the good in wine, and the good in the still lighter, and more healthful beverage beer; and who understand the need of their peoples for the enjoyment of those beverages and so encourage their production,—those nations lead their peoples to paths of honor and prosperity.

A SEEMING CONTRADICTION— NATURAL DRAUGHT BEER IN BOTTLES

Fitger Natural Beer, a brilliant draught beer of the best quality in bottles, is due to Fitger's Kieselguhr filter, the only one of its kind in America. This new process "keeps" beer by eliminating the yeast cells which cause beer troubles. This elimination by filtration preserves in the beer its full natural character, taste and aroma.

Pasteurizing, that is steaming the beer after it is in the bottle, in order to stop further fermentation, kills the ever present yeast cells, but it does not eliminate them. Kieselguhr filtration eliminates them, and it separates them from the beer without spoiling the delicious natural taste and flavor of the beer.

Which process do you prefer? Think it over.

ABOUT 300 MEN IN EMPLOY OF EVELETH

Range City Furnishing Considerable Employment These Days.

Eveleth, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—There have been more men on the city pay roll during the present month than any previous month in Eveleth's history. About 300 different men have been given work by the city during the month. This does not mean that 300 men have been employed each day but that there have been 300 different names placed on the time books in the different departments. The total number employed any one day has never equaled that number. About 150 men have been employed by the street commissioner. The park department has required the services of a number each month and the regular employes of other departments brings the number to a higher figure than has ever been reached before.

Many Others Employed.

The city is providing work, through contracts, to a large number of men who are not on the city payroll. The Lawrence-McCann company, August Paciotti and Wm. Burke have been employing men on city work. Another contract, held by the Eveleth Construction company, will be started in a short time.

SUPERINTENDENT MAY BE APPOINTED

Hibbing Water and Light Board Expected to Fill Job.

Hibbing, Minn., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—The water and light board is expected to act tonight on the appointment of a superintendent of the power plant. It is generally believed that an expert will be appointed and Recorder D. D. Haley at the last meeting was instructed to communicate with V. A. Harding, an associate engineer of Kansas City.

Mr. Harding made a survey and appraisal of the power plant here which will mean a saving of thousands of dollars for the operation of the plant. He made several recommendations which will lower the cost of generating electricity more than 2 cents per kilowatt hour. Mr. Harding was here last week but as the board did not meet returned to Kansas City. He has submitted his proposition to the board.

Mayor Power has recommended the appointment of a thoroughly experienced man to superintend the plant. He declared that although such a man will require a larger salary he could put the plant on such efficient basis that the saving would be considerable.

HIBBING IS GETTING THOROUGH CLEANING

War on Filth and Removal of Eyesores Is Being Waged.

Hibbing, Minn., May 25.—Special to The Herald.)—Leveling of lawns, planting of grass seeds, tearing down of old, high, unsightly fences and generally improving front yards now occupy the attention of Hibbing residents who are engaged in one of the most vigorous clean-up and paint-up campaigns in its history.

Rubbish, tin cans and other refuse taken from the front yards have been placed in back yards where tomorrow they will be removed from premises by the village.

Several old fences were torn down today and the general result is a decided improvement.

Supt. Wolf, of the parks, announces it is decidedly gratifying to notice the way Hibbing people are making the way Hibbing people are making the village more beautiful. "Municipal pride we have an abundance of," he says, "I am therefore not at all surprised at the great individual civic pride shown by everyone."

Tomorrow, Boyard day, will see a thorough cleaning of rear premises.

Cleanliness Balks Disease.

"If all filth is removed from the back yards and gardening and horticulture properly encouraged," Health Officer Dr. Morseman said today, "there is little question but that there will be less mosquitoes and typhoid cases in Hibbing this summer. There also will be less rats. The village is carrying on an effective campaign to get rid of the rodents and this campaign will be materially helped if all screen their garbage so that while waiting the collector it will not furnish food for rates, flies or mosquitoes."

Encouragement has been given members of the committee in charge from several sources. Nearly a whole block of buildings on Second avenue are now undergoing a thorough painting while on Center, Washington, Cedar, Superior and Garfield streets, the paint brush effects are more than visible. Secretary L. E. Lawler is unusually enthusiastic at the response and interest shown by Hibbing residents and is certain that the village will be one of the most beautiful, cleanest and healthiest places on the range before the end of the week. "This at least," he said, "is our aim. We hope to not only improve the village physically by the campaign but hygienically as well," he said.

COLD

The sun is having a hard time of it today. Its struggles to pierce the clouds are commendable, but if the weather man's prediction comes true they will be futile, for showers for tonight and tomorrow are scheduled. But the sun is doing the best it can. Also this is no time for planting, for cool weather is still due. Better let it go until after Memorial day.

A year ago today there was a heavy storm, both in the way of electricity and wind, and a great deal of damage was done. The sun rose today at 4:21 and will set this evening at 7:48, giving fifteen hours and twenty-seven minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The barometric depression of moderate intensity which is centered over Nebraska and Kansas, has caused somewhat warmer and showery weather in village and the southern and the er throughout Middle states and the Northwest. Another depression overlying Alberta has caused showers in the Far West. Temperature of 90 deg. occurred Monday over Gulf states and Arizona."

DO YOU FEEL DEPRESSED?

The form of influenza commonly called "the grip" is no respector of persons. Rich and poor alike suffer from it.

The duration of the acute stage of the grip is short, a few days at most. Without complications it is never fatal. What makes the grip so dreaded is the miserable condition in which it leaves its victims after the cold and fever have run their course. Some medical writers refer to this "after-effect" of the grip as a form of neurasthenia.

Depression of spirits, headache, thin blood, deranged digestion, over-sensitive nerves—these are the usual after-effects of the grip, and they will continue even for months and years until the blood is built up and made rich and red.

After an attack of the grip all the vital powers of the body are at a low ebb. Building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the surest way to restore the weakened body. They have a special action on the nerves and every sufferer from the lingering effects of the grip should give them a trial. Your own druggist sells them.

Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free book, "Building Up the Blood." If you have stomach trouble ask for a diet book also.

JAPAN AND CHINA SIGN TWO TREATIES

Cover Negotiations Concerning Shantung Peninsula and Manchuria.

Washington, May 25.—Tokio dispatches to the Japanese embassy say that at 3 o'clock p. m., May 25, two treaties covering the negotiations concerning the Shantung peninsula and Manchuria and Mongolia were signed and exchanged between Japan and China with a note concerning other questions. No intimation of the contents of the note was contained in the dispatches.

In high official circles today it was explained that the American note to China and Japan stating the presumption that the new treaty between those nations would not conflict with American rights was merely a legal step, placing this government on record.

The explanation was made after receipt of dispatches from Tokio saying Japanese papers did not understand the necessity for the note.

Embassy officials believe, however, that the note deals with some features of the concessions in the first four groups which might better be treated as a matter of diplomatic understanding than be included in a treaty. Whether the note dealt with any features of Group 5, which caused the United States some concern, and which Japan finally waived, embassy officials did not know and would not venture an opinion.

SUPERIOR AUDITORIUM SITE GENERALLY DISCUSSED

The selection of a site for the proposed municipal auditorium occupied the attention of three civic organizations last night. Any one of five sites was considered desirable by members of the Rotary club; any site in the vicinity of Belknap and Tower avenue is agreeable to the South Superior club, and the East End Chamber of Commerce went on record as favoring the postponement of building the auditorium until next year.

A conference between representatives of civic organizations and the city commission is being held this afternoon at which a desirable site will likely be decided on.

Place for Outings.

City park property situated on Wisconsin Point, will be turned into a wooded grove suitable for picnics and other outings, if the recommendations of the East End Chamber of Commerce are carried out. At its meeting last night the proposition was discussed and steps taken to bring the matter before the city commission. Promoters of the plan will ask that trees be planted on the property in order to allow the building up of a handsome grove.

Sidewalk Contracts Let.

Contracts for laying approximately 71,000 square feet of sidewalk in the Third and Fifth wards of Superior let yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the city commissioners. The contracts were awarded to Berg & Ranstein, whose bid was 10 cents per square foot. Only one bid of the several offered was for more than 11 cents per square foot.

May Lose License.

Valentine Maniak, a saloon keeper on Connor's Point, may lose his license as a result of being convicted of selling liquor on Sunday. He was fined $100 in municipal court yesterday on this charge. Maniak and his wife were arrested on a charge of operating a disorderly house, but this charge was later changed to that of selling liquor on Sunday. Chief of Police McKinnon said this morning that he would recommend that the license be revoked.

Will Have Larger Quarters.

A new warehouse for the Twohy-Eimon Mercantile company will be erected in Superior next year, according to announcement made this morning by Benjamin Eimon, treasurer of the company. The building will be erected on Banks avenue near Winter street and will be considerably larger than the present quarters of the company near the foot of Ogden avenue. The plans for the building have not yet been drawn.

ITALIANS EXPECT RAIDS ON COAST

Defense for Cities Needed, Says Rome Newspaper.

Rome, May 25, via Paris.—Referring to the naval and aerial activities of Austria-Hungary along Italy's Adriatic coast line, immediately following the declaration of war, the Giornale d'Italia has this to say:

"The Austrian raid along the Adriatic coast of Italy with attacks upon undefended towns and villages is proof of Italy's need for the defense of her own shores, to have possession of ports in the Istria islands and on the Dalmatican coast.

"The Italian people must accustom themselves to the idea," the Giornale d'Italia goes on, "that the Adriatic coast often will be visited by the enemy. We should bear in mind what has happened in England. Although possessed of the finest fleet in the world, England has been raided and her coast line is 300 miles from Germany. The naval force of Italy is equal to that of Austria-Hungary, while the distance between the two coast lines is only seventy miles. Furthermore, the Italian coast strategically is inferior. Consequently raids will be unavoidable even if the Italian fleet was three times as strong as that of Austria-Hungary.

"We were awaiting the Austrian fleet in front of Taranto and Venice, hoping they would come near. Instead, they attacked unfortified towns and fired into houses along our coast."

A crowd of citizens of Rome gathered today in front of the Villa D'Este, property of the late Archduke Francis Ferdinand, who was assassinated in Bosnia, and demonstrated against Austria-Hungary until the Italian flag was hoisted over the house.

This villa is known to all tourists. It was built in the sixteenth century at Tivoli for Cardinal Ippolito d'Este and commands a most beautiful view.

LEAVES WASHINGTON SOCIETY FOR LIFE ON THE STAGE

MRS. SHERBURNE HOPKINS.

Mrs. Sherburne Hopkins has left society for the stage. Mrs. Hopkins is the wife of Sherburne Hopkins, Jr., of Washington and the daughter-in-law of that Sherburne Hopkins who has figured more or less in the news of Mexican revolutions engineered at Washington. Mrs. Hopkins (who desires to be known as Peggy hereafter) says society wearies her and being a young man's darling has palled on her. So she has come to New York to be a part of the Fashion show which will be put on at the Palace theater. It appears that Mr. Hopkins is in Honduras and does not know of this move of his wife.

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE

may eventually give to women rights to which they are entitled, but good health, which is the birthright of every American woman, must be hers before she can fully enjoy the privileges which woman's suffrage will bring. Women who suffer from those dreadful pains, backache, headaches, irritability, nervousness and depression, symptoms of organic trouble, should rely on Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, to restore them to a normal healthy condition as it has thousands of other American women.

West of the fire department had broken the nose of George Krgll, another fireman, in a dispute growing out of a game of billiards at headquarters recently, Commissioner Silberstein declared that the man responsible was in "grave danger of dismissal." Fire Chief Joseph Randall said he did not regard the incident as important. The billiard room was provided by W. A. ITALIAN AMBASSADOR REFUSED FAREWELL

Bollati Leaves Berlin Without Customary Call on Chancellor.

London, May 25.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says that Riccardo Bollati, Italian ambassador to Germany, left Berlin with his staff this morning. He was driven to the railway station through less frequented streets.

It is said in the message that the German chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, declined to receive Signor Bollati for the customary farewell call and that Foreign Minister von Jagow advised the ambassador not to attempt to conclude his mission in the usual manner. The German foreign office was represented at the railway station by a junior official.

PRINCE OF REUSS AND HEIR

PRINCE HENRY XXVII. HENRY XLV.

This is the prince of Reuss with his heir. They are taking an active part in the war on the side of Germany. All the princes of Reuss are named Heinrich or Henry and each is distinguished by a number. These numbers begin with 1 at the beginning of a century and run up to the sum of Heinrichs born in that century. The reigning prince of the younger house of Reuss is Heinrich XXVII. He has had two sons. One was christened Heinrich XLIII and the other Heinrich XLV. The elder died in 1912 and his brother became the heir. The young man is serving as lieutenant with the Seventh Thuringian infantry. He has been decorated with the iron cross of the second class. His father wears the iron cross of the first class and the iron cross of the second class also.

TWO BOYS SEIZED WITH WANDERLUST

Superior Lads Run Away From Home Three Times in Two Days.

Spring fever, or the wanderlust, has a firm grip upon Norman Nason and Lawrence Haines, two 12-year-old Superior boys, who have run away three times in two days.

Sunday the boys were picked up by Lieut Holmstrom of the West end station, and a little while later Peter Swedberg, 1621 Thirteenth street, Superior, called at headquarters to take them home.

"I lost a nickel," said Norman as soon as they left the station, "and I want to go and look for it. I know just about where it is."

His captor said he could hunt for the nickel, but to "hurry up."

"Let me help him," said Lawrence.

Swedberg again was lenient and when the boys were around the corner they both "hiked" for home.

Yesterday afternoon Swedberg called Sergeant Webber on the telephone:

"Those kids are gone again," he said, "will you help me find them?"

Finds Owner of Stolen Rug.

A good example of police detail work was disclosed today when Lieut. N. U. G. Terry made the commonplace report that he had succeeded in identifying the owner of an automobile or steamer rug.

The rug in question was stolen three years ago and ever since that time police, knowing of the theft, have been looking for the owner. The article, valued at about $15, was recovered a few days after being stolen, but in the meantime the owner had left Duluth.

He is expected to return soon, and will receive the property. Duluth police during the last few months have made an unusual record in the percentage of recovery of lost or stolen articles.

LIKED HIS AUNT'S RING.

Superior Bell Hop Held By the Duluth Police.

His aunt's diamond ring was very much admired by Ernest Watkins, a 17-year-old Superior bellboy, who finally appropriated the jewelry and came to Duluth, where he pawned it.

His quest for adventure did not last long, however, for he was picked up by Officer Krawcyk and after answering a few questions rather poorly, was held for Superior police.

Detective McDonald of the Wisconsin force took Watkins back across the bay this morning after recovering the ring.

EXPECT METAL TO CONTINUE STRONG

Leading Copper Properties Now Being Operated at Capacity.

Operators of copper mines are of the opinion that the commercial situation in the metal is likely to be strong for some time to come. That the mining interests are selling all the copper they are turning out is taken for granted from the fact that the leading properties are now being operated at capacity, whereas from the outbreak of the war up till last February outputs had been held down to a 50 per cent basis.

Demand for copper to be used in the manufacture of war munitions and domestic consumption in various channels is also said to be speeding up. Exports on the other hand are only running at about 70 per cent of what they were a year ago, but producers are sanguine that they will show increases from now on.

Touching upon the copper mining outlook, the Odd Lot Review of New York says:

"The United States produces the principal part of all the copper produced in the world. Many countries have entered into competition to supply the zinc demand, but natural resources assure the United States a dominating position in copper. Even the principal sources of supply in South America are under the control of the same interests which dominate the situation in the United States. It is fairly evident that for some years to come, there is going to be a demand for the metal which will be close to combined productive capacity. Under the circumstances, all that seems to be needed to insure a continuance of the present phenomenal earning capacity of the best mines is co-operation among the leading interests of this country. We think that this co-operation can be looked forward to with a fair degree of assurance. There is plenty of demand for every one's supply.

"We are bullish on the coppers, but we think it is well for the average investor to remember that the copper interests comprise some of the shrewdest speculators in this country. The man who tries to speculate in the coppers on a narrow margin is pretty apt to be plucked. The man who buys the best coppers discriminatingly, for the long pull, we think, will make money.

"Although copper, like zinc, has enjoyed a sensational rise through ammunition production, there is this distinction. After the war, because of the needs in reconstruction work on the continent, it is likely that the demand for copper will continue for a long period."

GERMANY ASKS FURTHER DELAY

Wants Another Week in Which to Reply to American Note.

London, May 25.—The following dispatch was received today by the Exchange Telegraph company from Amsterdam:

"The German government has asked America for a further delay of a week in its reply to the note concerning the sinking of the Lusitania. In all probability the note will be delivered at Washington on Saturday.

"It is stated in Berlin that the note will be couched in very friendly terms. On account of the recent Italian complications the feeling in Berlin regarding the United States is much more calm. Everything possible will be done to avert trouble. German submarines are to be instructed in accordance with this policy, although the note will explain that on principle Germany cannot openly stop submarine warfare."

AMERICAS FOR THE AMERICANS

Slogan Sounded By Delegate to Pan-American Financial Congress.

Washington, May 25.—The Americas for Americans with a wall of inviolability that no European nation shall dare to violate was the slogan sounded today at the Pan-American financial conference by Dr. Santigo Perez Triana, delegate from Colombia.

In a speech that stirred the conference as it has been moved only by the address of President Wilson, the Colombian delegate pictured the prime minister of an unnamed European nation, faced with the problems of overpopulation and restricted territory at home, working for the conquest of the untouched fields of the western hemisphere.

Stronger Every Day.

"We in America," he said, "should be prepared to make our inviolability stronger every day. We have seen what that inviolability means by this war. There may be distrust even in loving families. There may be dark corners in the past history of this continent, but let us see that in the future our harmony is diaphanous, transparent and clear. There may have been failures in the past, but let us forget them. Let the dead past bury its dead. Let the nations here represented in solemn and formal fashion make it manifest that none of them covet the territory of any other, and that the homes and territory shall be sacred.

Honesty Should Guide.

"Honesty and not convenience should guide the policy of the nations and that is the flag of right that we should hold aloft as the flag of this continent. Then we can tell the other nations of the world that they may come to our fertile valleys, but as peaceful multitudes and not as conquerors."

A. Barton Hepburn of the Chase National bank of New York, who followed Dr. Triana, declared that he was glad to hear a representative of the other America advance the idea that the Monroe doctrine means America for Americans applied to both.

"That means 'Hands off,'" said Mr. Hepburn, "to the rest of the world. It means the getting together of peace with a common sympathy and common purpose."

GREAT BRITAIN IS ASKED TO EXPLAIN

United States Would Know Meaning of Notice to Vessels.

Washington, May 25.—The United States has inquired of Great Britain, through Ambassador Page, to learn the meaning of the British admiralty notice which specified that neutral vessels must obtain permission to take the northabout route around the British isles for Scandinavian countries.

Officials here are unable to understand why neutral vessels should be prohibited from any of the navigation routes lying outside territorial waters. The German and Austrian embassies here are very much interested in the outcome of the inquiry, because they believe it affects the rights of neutral vessels on the high seas, more than does the German war zone proclamation.

In Austro-German circles here the new notice is interpreted as a prohibition of a large part of the high seas to neutral commerce, by the laying of new British mine fields.

NO DAMAGES FOR FALSE ARREST

One hour and fifteen minutes was required by a jury in Judge Cant's division of the district court yesterday afternoon to determine that William Schultz and John Dutkowski were entitled to no damages from Henry T. Agnew and his brother Patrick T. Agnew.

Dutkowski and Schultz each sued for $1,500 damages. They claimed that the Agnews had them arrested last February for an alleged assault made upon the person of Henry Agnew. Five men were arrested at the time.

The jury found that the Agnews had probably cause for procuring the arrest of the two plaintiffs and refused to hold them liable in damages, although Schultz and Dutkowski were acquitted after a trial in municipal court.

The fight, which resulted in the arrests, took place in a sawmill camp near Alborn. The Agnew brothers were proprietors of the mill.

EXPECT UPTURN IN STOCK MARKETS

Brokers Point Out That Prices Held Despite President's Note.

Stock brokers are generally hopeful regarding the future course of the markets, taking the view that indications and conditions point to a fine upturn eventually from present levels.

That quotations should have held steady during the last week in view of the possibility of an unfavorable reply from Germany to President Wilson's note is regarded as showing its technically strong position.

Referring to the general situation, Hayden, Stone & Co. of Boston enumerate the following fundamentals which they regard as bullish:

"First—We find the promise of large crops; the usual reports of damage are current, it is true, but these will probably be found, as usual, to be exaggerated, and it is to be remembered that an exceptionally large acreage has been planted. Secondly—the country promises to end the fiscal year with a trade balance in its favor that no one would have dreamed of when the fiscal year began. Though it is by now rather a trite remark, it is also well to remember that this balance will be nearer a net sum than ever before; there will not be the usual deductions for travelers' expenses, interest on obligations, etc. In connection with the latter, we come to the third factor, the liquidation of our foreign debts. We are more nearly our own creditors today than ever before. We have taken in at a discount securities paid for by goods sold at a premium. The next thing to be considered is the financial situation; the thoroughly liquidated condition of the country and the tremendous liquid wealth we have previously commented upon. In this instance this is still further fortified by the Federal reserve system. There is a collateral feature in this connection not to be overlooked. We are still passing through an era of economy, both personal and corporate. Unnecessary expenditures have been eliminated; efficiency has been greatly promoted; operations are on a rock-bottom basis.

"There is further the tremendous demand for materials of all kinds used in military operations. So far this demand has come from abroad. If this country becomes involved, a large portion of these goods will be diverted to domestic consumption, but the total demand will be greater than ever. It is not to be denied that war is a terrible waste and there is no use shirking the fact that the involvement of this country would, in the long run, be tremendously to its economic loss, but the demand that would at once spring up would probably lend, temporarily, at least, to a period of inflation."

JUST WHIMS.

"I give it up!" exclaimed Merricks.

"So do I," answered Terhune. "What is it?"

"This thing about taste. Last week I took a notion that Dingan's coffee was not good any more, so my wife bought a can of Grinder's, which seemed to me much better. One morning I noticed that the coffee was extra good and discovered that my wife had got hold of some of Dingan's again by mistake."

"My wife," said Terhune, "declared that the peaches on our peach tree were no good not fit to eat and devoid of all flavor. So she made the vegetable man a present of them. I told her not to give them to our vegetable peddler, but to somebody else's peddler, but she went ahead and gave them to our own man. You know how it is."

"Sure!" said Merricks.

"Well, we bought some peaches from our market wagon and my wife said they were fine. Pretty soon we found that we were buying the very same peaches we had given to the peddler. They were worthless when we could get them for nothing but luscious when we bought them from the vegetable wagon."

"People never like anything that comes too easy," said Merricks. "The other night the Jobbers were growling because of my trombone playing and hanged if they didn't pay $5 a seat to hear a man play a fiddle at the opera house when they were getting my trombone music for nothing and then kicking about it!

"Human beings are full of notions about everything. No man living can tell whether a hot cake is pale white or golden brown with his eyes blindfolded. Yet a man will invariably select the brown cakes and leave the pale ones behind.

"And no man can tell by the taste of butter whether it is yellow or white, yet we all pay more for yellow butter and the coloring is absolutely tasteless."

"Yes," answered Merricks, reverting again to his grievance, "people think that violin music is beautiful because the man who plays it has long hair, and they think my trombone playing is not worth staying at home to listen to because I am baldheaded. I have never yet known the Jobber family to stay at home and hear me play. On holidays I play nearly all day, and as soon as I start in the morning I see them all hustling out of the house with lunch baskets, prepared to spend the day in the woods. They wouldn't do that if I had a long name and long hair and wasn't so fat and unromantic in my general appearance."

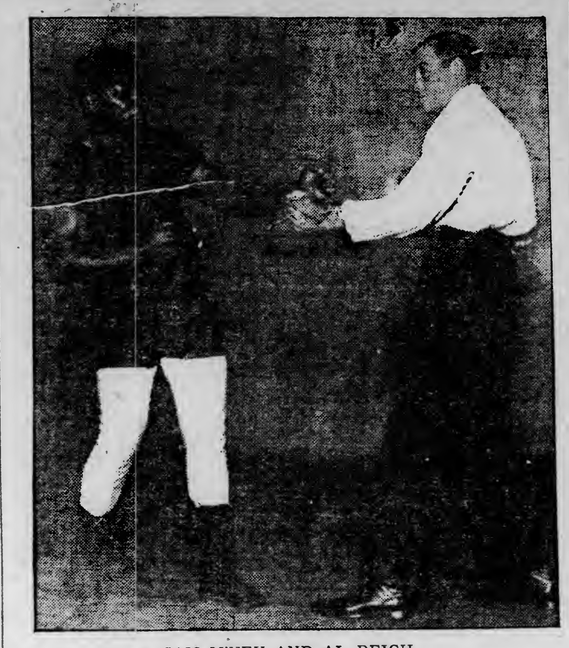
STAR HEAVYWEIGHT BOXERS



SAM M'VEY AND AL REICH.

MANAGER EARNS ALL HE RECEIVES FROM A BOXER

Tom Jones Made Jess Willard and Ad Wolgast and Joe Levy Brought Joe Rivers to the Front —Billy Mc Carney Made Luther Mc Carthy Famous.

Jess Willard is under a 10-year contract with Tom Jones to give his manager 50 per cent of his earnings during that period, according to Bill Pickens, who was manager of the late Lincoln Beachey. Pickens claims to have seen the contract in the East.

"And it is irenclad," said Pickens yesterday. "Willard hasn't a chance to get away from Jones. I know. And why not?

"Willard is a champion today by accident, if he reached the top by his own efforts. One-tenth of 1 per cent of Willard's success is due to his own cleverness, according to my way of thinking. Others tried and failed. Willard, too, would have failed, but Tom Jones, his manager, carried him through."

Up and Down.

With Wolgast, Jones went to the top. He wore diamonds, had money in the bank and was considered well fixed. Then he went down. The last time he was in Los Angeles his diamonds were missing. He told Pickens that he was $20,000 in the hole and expected to go another $10,000 in before he got any returns.

He took Willard, carried him along, fed him, trained him, paid his ring expenses and with his experience, reputation and following, made the white champion. When it was first announced that Willard and Johnson were matched, it was considered a bloomer; but there were a few big men in the sporting game who believed in Jones and knew that he was capable of putting the match through.

Celebrity Unappreciative.

"The most unappreciative louse in the world," said Pickens, "is the celebrity. The champion at the top in any sport turns on his manager when he has succeeded and wants to throw the manager down and go out on his own hook.

"No champion ever stays at the top unless he is managed by a brainy man. Yet there is a howl always raised against the manager. He is called a drag on the sport. He is spoken of as a leech. Yet he earns all he makes, and a lot more.

"While the champion is either spending his money on women, wine and song or sinking it away, the manager is spending his to further the interests of the celebrity. The manager goes out among men who will do his celebrity some good and it costs money to travel in such company.

"When the celebrity breaks with a manager he has his name and is at the top; but the manager has kept in the background and he has nothing. Having lost his champion, he has to start over again and make another celebrity, boosting him to the top by slow moves."

Pickens's Record.

For twenty years Pickens has been a professional manager. He was a bicycle rider in 1895. He realized that his brain would work faster than his feet and took hold of Tom Cooper. Since then he has managed from forty to fifty stars. His three champions, Cooper, the bicycle champion; Louis Strang, the automobile racer, and Lincoln Beachy, the great aviator, are all dead. He is now back where he started.

Beachey flew for eight years before he jumped to the front. He got along but was not a star and did not make money like he did under Pickens. Last year alone Beachey made $100,000, according to Pickens.

The worst thing for the manager to contend with is the wife of the celebrity usually. She cannot see why the champion should cut with a manager. She believes that the champion has done it all himself and can't see why he cannot get out and manage his own affairs.

The Idea.

It's like any commercial line. Willard is compared to the production engineer. He produces the goods. The manager sells the goods, creates the market and collects the proceeds. It's really a fifty-fifty proposition.

There are a great many automobile racers who have not reaped the full value of their prowess, because they were strong in the back or arms and weak in the head, according to Pickens. There are men in other lines who are also not where they should be because they have not the business ability to manage their own affairs successfully.

There are other men who have been made by clever management. The manager arranges his matches so that his protege will work up in public opinion. He keeps him away from the hard contests until he succeeds and then puts him over in a championship match.

Joe Rivers owes his success to Joe Levy. Luther McCarty was carried to the top by Billy McCarney.

Accidents.

The hardest thing for the manager is the chance of accident. Like McCarthy, champions pass out and leave the manager stranded when he has banked his stake on them. McCarney fed McCarthy, spent money on him for a long time before any coin began to roll in. He carried him on the pay roll until the top was reached, everything was rosy and then McCarthy was killed. McCarney had nothing. Pickens, too, spent much money preparing for the spring and summer campaign with Beachey, and when things were at the best, the great aviator was killed.

In the motion picture profession, the director is like the manager in any form of professional sport. The director makes a star by starring him or her in his plays. The director thinks for his stars: they get the glory, reputation and money, while the director, who is the maker of the action, remains in the background.

Without the manager, no champion can hope to remain at the head of the list any more than a great manufacturing concern can pay dividends with the shop foreman selling goods on the road.

HAYDEN FIRED FROM COLONEL MANAGEMENT

Louisville, Ky., May 25.—John F. Hayden, manager of the Louisville American association club since 1912, has been summarily dismissed. O. H. Wathen, president of the club, today sent a telegram, approved by the directors, to Hayden at Minneapolis informing him of this action. The step was taken following Hayden's refusal to resign as had been requested of him yesterday.

Claude Derrick, Louisville shortstop, was notified to take charge of the team for the present. He will continue in control until the return to the game of Manager Ezra Midkiff, appointed yesterday. Midkiff at present is disabled with a broken ankle.

GOT THE HABIT.

Chicago News: "These trout fishermen make me weary!" said the golfer to his companion. "Always talking about their castings and their flies! Trout fishing is like boozing. It takes away a man's brains.

"Now, supposing a trout fisherman comes to a place where the tall pines shade the ground comfortably and cooly and a limpid stream purrs over the rocks, is he satisfied to stretch himself out and enjoy the beauties of nature? Not he!

"The very trout fisherman who goes around with very little on but a belt when he is in the city, mopping his brow and talking vacation, is the one who dresses himself like a Turkish bath when he goes on his holidays. When he gets out in the wilds it makes no difference how dense the shade may be, he doesn't care for it. He doesn't even look at it. He doesn't look at anything.

"Coming out with us on the stage were two men who were particular about the place at which they would stay. They said they would size up Canned Goods camp, and if it looked too awful they wouldn't stay there.

"Sure enough, when the stage drew up we saw the most bedraggled camp imaginable! And what did those two men do? Did they ask any questions about the grub, the beds and the mosquitos? No! They asked if the fishing were good, and on being told of some of the catches that had been made they promptly fell off the wagon, bag and baggage. It made no difference to them how horrible the accommodations were.

"Ordinary people take some precautions against the heat. A trout fisherman takes no pleasure in comfort at all. He wears boots up to his knees, flannel shirt, a big coat full of pockets loaded down with contraptions. He also carries a great big basket hung around his neck on a strap. All of which is calculated to keep his temperature up to 106. The very fellow who wants to get away from the hot city! If I were an employer I would never allow any of my employes to go trout fishing."

"Did you ever do any trout fishing yourself?" the doctor asked the golfer. "If you don't want to be converted don't ever do it! It's like taking your first drink. You don't know how it may change your after life.

"I once knew a man, excellent man, well respected, nice family, fond of rocks and botany. One spring day when he was out rocking and botanizing he came to a stream where two men were fishing. Hardened fishermen they were, old habitues, slaves to the habit. They persuaded the excellent man just to hold the pole for a minute while they looked over their fly hook.

"The man took the pole. All of a sudden there went a thrill through his body, right to his heart. He had never experienced anything like it before. He landed a good sized trout. He was happy! He never did any more geologizing and botanizing from that time forth. He was a slave to the fishing habit, and went around the country loaded like a pack mule, sweating and laboring. I knew the man well. In fact, I am that man."

MARKET IS SLIGHTLY UP

Wheat Gains Moderately With Buying on Recent Break; Trading Light.

Flaxseed Sells Down Sharply With Small Support From Crushers.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 25.—The market was dull up to the close, but it held firm. May wheat closed ⅞c up; July 1¾c up and September ⅝c up. May durum closed unchanged; July unchanged and September, 1¾c up.

Oats closed 1½c up at 52⅛c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.16@1.17 and barley unchanged at from 66c to 76c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅝c up at 63½c bid, and July ⅝c up at 64¼c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis July wheat closed at $1.46⅝ and calls at $1.50.

While trading in wheat was dull today, due to absence of export inquiry, the market was strong in sympathy with the other American boards. Some of the local operators are now practically out of the market in the way of doing any merchandising, as stocks in the houses are being rapidly cleaned up, one elevator company at least reporting that it has nothing more to sell. It is conceded that in so far as Duluth is concerned, the market has become a domestic affair, supplies available for export being at a minimum. That is expected to lead to a sharp quickening in the demand from millers within a few days and a consequent firming up in the whole market situation. Supplies of all kinds of wheat in elevators at the Head of the Lakes are now down to 2,387,000 bu., of which at least 600,000 bu. is estimated to be the property of local millers. This with some odds outstanding contracts yet to be taken care of leaves, it is figured out, only about 1,500,000 bu. of free wheat in the houses. With grain now being rushed to the terminal elevators to cover May delivery contracts, receipts are expected to be on a more liberal scale during the next few days. Arrivals here today were 62 cars against 57 last year, and at Minneapolis 204 cars came to hand compared with 122 a year ago. No fireworks are looked for at any of the markets between now and the end of the month, as it is believed that May contracts have been fairly well provided for. Some congestion in May was shown in Minneapolis last week, when its quotation was run up to $1.60. Since then its market has eased off and operations in that future are now on a normal basis.

May wheat opened unchanged at $1.55, and gained ⅞c up to the noon hour. July opened ¼c up at $1.50½ and bulged to the extent of 1⅝c on comparatively light trading. September opened ⅜c up at $1.21 and gained 1c more.

Business in durum was featureless. May opened unchanged at $1.53 and held there. July opened unchanged at $1.55, eased off 1c and recovered to the same extent.

Break in Flaxseed.

Flaxseed sold off sharply today on light inquiry for from any quarter. There was some offerings of the seed at the opening and sales were only made at concessions. The volume of business put through was limited. Both London and Buenos Aires markets were closed today. Better prospects for a seeding over the Northwest was a bearish factor.

May flax opened ¼c up at $1.99, and closed 2¼c off at $1.96½. July opened unchanged at $2.01½, and closed 3c off at $1.98⅝. September opened unchanged at $2.04½, and closed 2¾c off at $2.01⅜, asked. October closed 2¾c off at $2.00¾ nominal.

At Winnipeg May flax closed ½c off at $1.79 asked, July ½c off at $1.81 asked and October ½c off at $1.84 asked.

Broomhall cabled: "India is disappointing, but arrangements have been made to move this grain by other channels and with America contributing liberally and a good percentage to the United Kingdom also from Canada, it appears certain that on Aug. 1 we will hold the present visible and invisible stocks with a possible increease."

Russian weather and crop advices are generally favorable. The government has requisitioned all grain stocks at the port of Azoff.

Lecount wired from Topeka, Kan.: "From Kansas City here wheat is mostly headed and much of the crop is in fine condition. Saw many fields that will easily make twenty bu with favorable weather till harvest. Fields where fly was bad are certainly showing improvement, though yield will be light. Raining again here today."

Russell's news. New York, says: "Grain charters were reported yesterday of two vessels, one from Newport News, 70,000 quarters for the west coast of Italy and another of 18,000 quarters from Montreal to Bristol. A fairly good business in miscellaneous cargoes was reported with oats well supported. A London cable states that decisions in the prize court are being rushed and that four vessels have been disposed of since May 19.

• • •

Bartlett, Frazier & Co. wired from Chicago: "Our advices indicate that the next official report from Kansas is apt to show a falling off in prospects in that state very much greater than has yet been indicated by anybody and probably greater than the trade at large expects. Pretty accurate confirmation is at hand of severe losses in Indiana and the southern part of Illinois, while ex. Mr. Snow's estimate of Missouri crop is 80,000,000 bushels. It seems quite possible to us, therefore, that the next government report can be of a very bullish character."

• • •

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following closing letter from Chicago: "Market was slightly oversold and it took but little buying of a good class to start values upward. Shorts covered freely and also sellers of indemnities. Selling pressure rather limited throughout the day. Reports that Kansas showed greater loss in condition than trade anticipated with forecast for bullish June crop report was the main strengthening influence. Crop reports from Northwest were all favorable. Cash premiums here are all lost and bids to arrive were reduced 1c. Some export demand came at seaboard, but very little doing here. Dry and warm weather would be beneficial over entire belt."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Prediction of Bullish Crop Report Gives Upward Swing to Wheat Price.

Chicago, May 25.—Predictions that the next government crop report would be of a very bullish character gave an upward swing today to the price of wheat. The forecasts were based largely on statements that the falling off in Kansas prospects had been much more serious than the trade has believed was the case. Houses with Southwestern connections took a prominent share in the buying. Opening prices, which were unchanged to ½c higher, were followed by a material advance all around and then a moderate reaction.

Later the market developed additional strength influenced somewhat by wet weather which tended to diminish country offerings. The close was unsettled at 1½ to 1⅝c net advance.

Transactions in corn seemed to be almost entirely between pit traders. Values tended upward with wheat. After opening ¼@⅜c off to ½c advance, the market made a general upturn, but not to a radical extent.

Complaints of excessive wet weather in Iowa and Nebraska counted later against the bears. The close was steady at a gain of ⅜@½ to ¾c net.

Oats hardened because of the strength of other grain. Offerings were small.

Provisions responded to the firmness of the hog market. Business, though, lacked volume.

IRREGULARITY IN MINING STOCKS

Opening Strong, But Liquidation Appears in Some Issues.

Trading in mining stocks showed some irregularity today. After opening strong, the market eased off on liquidation in a few issues. Good support then appeared at the low spots and prices rallied to above their opening basis in some cases.

Butte & Superior was active. After opening 50c up at $40, it sold off to $38.50, and closed 75c up at $39.25. American Zinc closed unchanged at $46.63; Calumet & Arizona $1.50 up at $67; Granby unchanged at $81; Copper Range a shade off at $51.87; Greene-Cananea $1.25 up at $29.75; Mohawk 75c up at $72.75; North Butte 25c up at $31.87 and Shattuck 50c off at $26.50.

At New York Amalgamated Copper closed 75c off at $65.37 and Anaconda 50c off at $31.38.

In the Boston curb list, as reported to Paine, Webber & Co., Alex Scott sold at $8.00@8.25, Davis-Daly at 99c@1.06, New Baltic at $3.25@3.75; Oneco at $1.87, Wall at $5.50; Interstate-Callahan at $18.50, United Verde Extension at $4.18@4; Calaveras at $1.94, Jumbo Extension at $1.63@1.38; New Cornelia at $9, Stewart at $1.70 and First National Copper at $2.18.

• • •

At St. Louis lead closed firm at 4.22½@4.25c and spelter firm at 17@18c.

At St. Louis spot copper sold at £76, up 15s; futures sold at £77, up 15s, and electrolytic at £87, unchanged.

• • •

United States copper exports for week ended May 15 were 11,501,000 pounds; imports, 8,866,000 pounds, and old material, 4,704,000 pounds.

• • •

With contracts for spelter for August delivery reported at 17 cents a pound at Boston yesterday, an unprecedented market is shown to exist in that commodity. American Zinc and a couple of other companies are reported to be enormous on that account, leading to sharp enhancement in their stock quotations.

Prices in the spelter market are said to be largely nominal, the scarcity of supplies making for a wide range of figures.

Spelter is as necessary for war materials as copper, being one of the components of brass. Recent exports compared with last year's figures are regarded as the best commentary on the remarkable change in the spelter situation. In March there were exported 16,238,953 pounds of pigs, bars, plates and sheets, against 292,094 pounds in March, 1914. For the nine months ended March, 1915, 204,794,989 pounds were shipped abroad, against 3,123,269 pounds in the corresponding period of the preceding year. These figures, of course, take no account of the sales to domestic brass makers, galvanizers, and other consumers of the metal.

DOMINION WILL OPERATE NATIONAL

Grand Trunk Pacific Refuses to Take Over New Government Railroad.

Canada has extended its system of government railroads by the operation of the National Transcontinental, running from New Brunswick to Winnipeg, a distance of 1,804 miles. The system extends over the northern portions of the provinces of Ontario and Quebec, from 200 to 300 miles north of any of the existing roads, and it throws hundreds of miles of virgin country open to settlement.

The line was originally built with the expectation that it would be leased and operated by the Grand Trunk Pacific, but on account of the enormous expenditure incurred by the government in building it, directors of the privately-owned system have decided that they cannot afford to carry out the terms of the agreement and they refused to take over its operation.

Construction of the National Transcontinental railroad was undertaken by a government commission in 1904, the official estimate of its cost being $61,415,000. The road was to be leased to the Grand Trunk Pacific, which, after 1922, was to pay a rent equal to 3 per cent of its cost. Up to September, 1911, the line had cost $109,000,000 and the latest estimate of the expenditure made upon it was $173,000,000, or nearly three times the original one.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Market Shows Declining Tendency Throughout the Entire Session.

Rock Island Drops to New Low Record Near Close.

New York, May 25.—Trading in stocks at today's opening was dull, in striking contrast to the previous day's initial dealings. Such interest as was manifested centered almost wholly around the war specialties, the more important of which recorded declines ranging from fractions to over a point. This was partly offset by moderate advances in other shares of the same group and in coppers. Republic Steel common and preferred were prominent for their strength, gaining 2¼ and 3¼ points respectively. United States Steel showed some irregularity, and standard stocks were almost neglected.

Prices receded gradually in all parts of the room during the dull first half-hour period today. The average level of quotations was under yesterday's lowest figures, investment shares as well as specialities reflecting mild pressure. Short interest was a factor, selling from that quarter being again based upon rumors concerning the tenor of Germany's forthcoming reply to Washington's note. As a matter of fact the market was left largely to the caprices of the trading element, public interest being utterly lacking. Some improvement was noted at noon. Bonds were steady.

The midday rally was soon lost, prices in some instances falling to early low levels. Reading was heaviest of high-grade shares and Republic steel issues lost all their gain and more on failure of the directors to act on the preferred dividend.

Dullness, accompanied by a declining tendency, were the only characteristics of today's market. A decline in Rock Island to a new low record provoked further recessions in the late dealings. The closing was heavy.

SIX JITNEY MEN FINED

Police Have Rounded Up Twenty-Two Autoists Since Saturday.

Walter Larson Only One of This Number Who Escaped Conviction.

Six more jitney drivers paid fines in police court this morning for violation of traffic rules. Since Saturday twenty-two autoists, twenty of them jitneurs, have been brought into court by police.

Five of the six arrested had failed to provide rear lights for their cars, while the sixth, Martin Rude, drove by an open street car gate at Third avenue west and Superior street.

Those who paid fines are: E. Alexander, 1211 East First street; Otto Wendlandt, 1101 East Third street; William Gliddon, 310 West Fourth street, and Martin Rude, 2128 West Fourth street.

Herman Ellison, arrested Saturday by Motorcycle Officer L. A. Root, who paid a $12 fine for speeding Monday, was "in again" today, this time drawing a $5 fine for not having his rear light in working order.

Four drivers arrested Saturday, who pleaded not guilty of the charge against them, were given hearings yesterday afternoon. Two of them, Edmond J. Ouellette, 105 East Fourth street, and Herbert E. Forrest, 1716 New street, were found guilty and paid the usual fine. Evald Anderson, 2728 West Second street, changed his plea to guilty and paid his fine, while J. M. Ford, 1531 East Third street, did not appear.

Of the twenty-two autoists who have been in court Monday and today, Walter Larson, 1601 West Superior street, was the only one to escape conviction. He showed that his light was burning, but that it was dim, and was released with a warning to get busy and fix the wick.

Officer Magner arrested five who were in court today, while the sixth, Martin Rude, proved the prey of Officer George Wood.

"By this time automobile drivers should begin to see that we are earnest about these violations," said Chief of Police R. D. McKercher. "Officers have been instructed to keep on the lookout for them, and we will have a court room full of them every day for a while, if it is necessary."

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "Seven Keys to Baldpate."
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and Motion Pictures.
REX—Photoplay, "The Spollers."
ZELDA—Photoplay.

One of the most amusing situations in modern comedies is contained in "Seven Keys to Baldpate," by George M. Cohan play which is being presented by the Baldwin Players to such good effect this week.

THE CROOKS' CONVENTION.

It might be called the "crooks' convention." At the end of the first act the thieves, blackmailers and crooked business men and politicians who are a part of the story, are rounded up by the hero and lined up along the stage, while he covers them with a revolver. They are told that they must wait for two or three hours while the heroine reaches her hotel with "the money." Gradually they begin to blame each other for their downfall, and recriminations lead to quarreling. Peters, the hermit, sums up the situation with his exasperated "I hope you all go to prison and the prison burns down."

The play is filled with amusing situations and lines, and the Baldwin Players are giving it an excellent presentation. Mr. Minturn, the leading man, has an especially good role this week, and he has evidently given it careful study, for he appears to better advantage than at any time during his Duluth engagement. "Seven Keys to Baldpate" might be called a comedy melodrama, with two big surprises for the audience.

VARIETY IN NEW GRAND SHOW.

The new show which opened a three-day engagement at the Grand yesterday, offered a variety of entertainment both in vaudeville and pictures, and the usual large audiences enjoyed the program. A number of society dances and a few original steps were offered by Ethel and Arnold Grazer, who opened the bill. Songs and clever chatter were interspersed in the act.

A good musical act with some good comedy was that of Houseley and Nicholas, two colored players.

Jarvis and Harrison offered a breezy bit of entertainment in their skit, "A Man, a Girl and a Bench." A good cycling act is presented by the four Valderes, three shapely girls and a man.

"The Breath of Araby" is one of the best photo-plays seen at the Grand in a long time. It has a cleverly worked out love plot and features Miss Helen Gardner in the star role. Charlie Chaplin is seen in one of his best comedies, and drew forth vociferous applause. Several other good films round out the bill.

MOVIE ACTOR TRAINS HARD.

Since seeing William Farnum in "The Spollers" at the Rex, and hearing of his nice fat salary, Mr. Furniss has been besieged with ambitious young wrestlers, wanting to know if the thinks they would be a chance for them in the movies. Aspirants who yearn for eminence in motion pictures do not realize what it means in hard, cold reality to be a great photoplay actor.

Aside from being compelled to have a physician with him at all times, not allowed to drive his own car or sail his own boat, by order of the insurance company who "covered" him for $100,000, his yearly salary, Farnum conditioned himself for twenty weeks, just as rigorously as if he had been going after the heavyweight championship, instead of just playing a part in "The Spoller." In freezing weather he arose at 5:30 a. m. at his country place, Sag Harbor, L. I., and under the stern eye of a trainer, jogged ten miles over frozen roads, while the trainer rode at ease in an automobile. Then came a swift dip in the icy waters of the harbor from the dock on his own estate, followed by a brisk rub down and breakfast. After a brief rest, Mr. Farnum spent most of the morning in his gymnasium, sparring and dallying with the medicine ball. In the afternoon another jog of ten miles over rough roads, then a very light dinner, and bed.

"The Spollers" will be seen at the Rex for the last time tonight.

"THREE WEEKS" AT THE ZELDA.

"Three Weeks" in photoplay will be seen at the Zelda theater for four days, beginning Wednesday. The producer, P. N. Vekroff, a Bulgarian, is very familiar with the scenes owing to his having been for several years in the diplomatic service of Bulgaria, and therefore was able to carry it out with much effect. Great difficulty was experienced in taking this picture, owing to the curiosity of the peasants. In directing this picture, one of the scenes showing Paul and the queen on the famous tiger rug was stopped three different times by the mob, who were wondering why a man should make love to a woman in public. They did not understand what the motion picture was, and when the cue was given for the queen's appearance, the peasants, thinking that she was the real queen, all threw themselves to the ground and remained there for at least five minutes until informed to the contrary.

TRY TO RAISE STEAMER PRICE

Bids Asked By Underwriters to Recover Sunken Freighter.

Underwriters have not given up hope of getting the steamer Charles S. Price, sunk Nov. 9, 1913, in the unusual storm that claimed so many lake boats. She lies upside down at the foot of Lake Huron, where she floated for several weeks following the accident. The underwriters have asked for bids for raising the ship.

Bids also have been asked for raising the steamer Viking, which sank Thursday night at Toledo where she put in when it was discovered she was filling. The Viking will not be a hard job for the wreckers as she is in only twenty-five feet of water and probably can be pumped out and taken to a dock where she can be unloaded. If she has much of a hole in her it may take some time to patch her as she has a cargo of hard coal aboard.

The wreck of the sand sucker Junior, which was wrecked on the breakwater at Cleveland a week ago, has been taken to a pier there where pumps were set going to empty the boat.

MASTER WAS WELL KNOWN IN DULUTH

Capt. Weaver Sailed in Tomlinson Fleet for Years.

Capt. James T. Weaver, an announcement of whose death at Buffalo, N. Y., was given in The Herald last evening, was well known at the Head of the Lakes and all along the Great Lakes. He was an old-time lake captain in point of service and was also of the modern clan, for it is only a few years ago that he quit the lakes to enter the tug business at Buffalo.

Capt. Weaver's last command as a lake skipper was the Ball Brothers of the Tomlinson fleet. For years he had been either master or mate in the Duluth line and was considered by G. A. Tomlinson as a master of high attainments in his profession. During the past winter, with tug business prospects poor for this year at Buffalo, Capt. Weaver applied to Mr. Tomlinson for a ship. At the time of his death he was first on the waiting list and, it is said, had the lake business this year been anything like the average year, Capt. Weaver would likely have had command of a Tomlinson boat, or at least, been an officer of one of them when death overtook him.

The news of his death was received in Duluth with deep regret among the vessel men here who knew him, and there were many.

BOATS HELD BELOW FOR LACK OF CARGOES

Coal Moving Slowly—No Marked Change Expected Soon.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is not expected that there will be any rush of lake freight during the present week and independent carriers will find very few cargoes in any line. There is a large fleet at this end of the lake and some of the boats will meet with delay as coal is not moving fast enough to take care of all the tonnage. Several of the wild carriers which are working down the lakes will lay up in this port and Cleveland until business picks up. Coal will move faster after this week, but there will be no marked change until the middle of June when some of the shippers expect to get started.

The grain trade is light and very little chartering was done last week. Tonnage is offered at 7½c from the Head of the Lakes to Buffalo and some figuring is done on that basis. A number of big steamers have taken grain at this figure. No tannage has been chartered ahead for the Lake Superior trade. Three cargoes have been taken at South Chicago for August shipment to Port Colborne and Buffalo at 1⅛ cents.

SEIZES COAL FOR FREIGHT.

Owners of Steamer Grammer Suing for Freight to Superior.

Toledo, Ohio, May 25.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hugh Bartley, deputy United States marshal, has seized a large consignment of coal here as the result of the filing of a libel suit against the White Oak and the C. L. Ayers Coal company by the Seiter Transit company of Cleveland, owning the steamer C. J. Grammer.

The libel petition states that the Grammer hauled 7,000 tons of coal from Toledo to Superior, Wis., in December, 1912, for the defendants, the freight thereon being $4,276.85. The Seiter company claims only $1,832.40 of this was paid, balance due $2,443.45. The libel suit is to collect this.

CONDITIONS AT FORT WILLIAM IMPROVE

Coal shipments to the West from Fort William are picking up a little, according to the weekly letter of F. & W. Jones, vessel brokers of Fort William, and grain shipments eastward are also showing some improvements. The brokers, in their weekly letter, concerning conditions up to last Saturday, say:

"Three cargoes of coal have been unloaded this week, two bituminous and one anthracite. Two were carried in Canadian steamers and the other in American. The outlook for arrivals has brightened up a little, three boats being en route. Car shipments to the West improved a little during the week but are by no means up to normal. The last week of May will probably show only a slight improvement over previous weeks.

"One cargo of ore was shipped this week, about 3,100 tons, to Buffalo. There is now on the dock between 10,000 and 12,000 tons. One steamer is reported as chartered to load, but nothing definite can be ascertained.

"The number of grain cargoes leaving port this week are two in excess of last week, but as the boats were nearly all of the smaller type the total shipments show a decrease of over 320,000 bushels. All this grain was carried in Canadian vessels to Canadian ports. Car receipts all show a considerable decrease and stocks in store are correspondingly lower, being less than half of stocks at this time last year. There is very little grain in the West to come forward and shipments from these ports will be very light until the arrival of the new crop. Reports of crop conditions from the West are very favorable, seeding is well advanced and the indications are that the crop will be a 'bumper' one and harvested earlier than usual. Prospects at the present time are that the new crop will commence to come forward early in August.

"Stocks in store at date, receipts and shipments during the week are:

CHIEFS OF POLICE IN ANNUAL MEET

Four Days' Session of Guardians of the Law at Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 25.—Active contests were in progress for next year's convention, and several men were mentioned as candidates for president when the annual convention of the International Association of Chiefs of Police was opened for a four days' session here today.

The cities in the fight for the honor of entertaining the delegates to the convention next year were Atlanta, New Orleans and Tulsa, Okla., and among those talked about for president were Michael Regan, chief of police of Buffalo, John T. Janssen, chief of police of Milwaukee and William Copelan, chief of police of Cincinnati.

The International Sheriffs association and the International Association of Railway Special Agents met in joint session with the chiefs of police, to listen to the address of welcome by Mayor Frederick Spiegel and the response by Major Richard Sylvester, president of the International Association of Chiefs of Police. After the opening session the sheriffs and special agents' association began their individual meetings.

In a preliminary meeting the board of governors of the International bureau of identification elected the following officers: President, Joseph Quigley, chief of police of Rochester, N. Y.; vice president, Michael Regan, chief of police of Buffalo; general superintendent and treasurer, E. Van Bushkirk of Washington.

FURIOUS ATTACKS OF UNUSUAL VIOLENCE MADE BY GERMANS ON FRENCH TROOPS NEAR LORETTE

FIRE FROM ARTILLERY IS CONTINUOUS

French Soldiers Holding Their Own Under Desperate Assaults.

Check Administered Teutons Causes Determined Effort to Advance.

French Airmen Throw Heavy Bombs on Aviation Camps.

Paris, May 26, 2:35 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out a report on the progress of hostilities reading:

"The checks inflicted upon the enemy yesterday in the region of Angres and at a point to the north of the height of Lorette determined the Germans to come back with an attack of extreme violence. There was furious fighting last evening and during the night. We were successful in retaining all our gains. Our troops gave evidence of magnificent courage and showed splendid tenacity of purpose.

Furious Counter-Attacks.

"The Germans in the beginning delivered a counter-attack against the work captured by us to the northwest of Angres. Furious attempts to take this position were made by them time and time again.

"At the end of the day we occupied almost entirely the position near Buval, where we gained a footing in the afternoon. Here we are maintaining ourselves under a violent fire. At the same time we have gained ground on the heights to the northeast of Lorette and we have captured a trench of the enemy in the environs of Souchez.

"An artillery engagement of considerable severity developed yesterday in

The commission will prepare a report to congress at a meeting in Chicago about June 1.

ENEMY'S FLEET WINS CONTEST

Admiral Beatty's Fleet Outmaneuvers That of Fletcher.

Umpire Decides Invaders in War Game Could Strike Capital.

Washington, May 26.—Victory for Rear Admiral Beatty's attacking "red" fleet, which outmaneuvered the Atlantic fleet under Admiral Fletcher and won a position to establish a base in Chesapeake bay late yesterday, closed the great war game which has been in progress off the coast since last Tuesday.

In a telegram to the war department, Rear Admiral Knight, the umpire, announced that he had terminated the game at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon on deciding that the imaginary enemy armada had obtained its object. No details were given and Secretary Daniels and his aides at the department know little more than the general public about what the ships have been doing the last week, or under what conditions the "enemy" managed to

LEADER OF NEW YORK'S SOCIAL SET PASSES AWAY SUDDENLY

Garrison, N. Y., May 26.—Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, wife of the well-known financier, and leader of New York's social set, is dead at Glen Cliff, her summer home here. She died last night of cerebral hemorrhage after an illness which had lasted only a few hours. She was about 60 years old.

Dutch Liner Ryndam and Freighter Come Together Off Nantucket.

Both Ships Badly Damaged But Neither Goes to Bottom.

Battleships South Carolina, Texas and Louisiana Answer "S. O. S." Calls.

New York, May 26.—The Dutch liner Ryndam which sailed from this port yesterday for Rotterdam with seventy-seven passengers and a million-dollar cargo, was badly damaged in a collision fifteen miles southwest of the Nantucket shoals lightship, at 4 o'clock this morning, with the tramp freighter, Joseph J. Cuneo, which sailed from Boston last night for Baracoa, Cuba. The Cuneo also was badly injured, her bows being smashed in.

The Ryndam, wireless reports indicate, was struck aft with such force that Hold No 5 filled almost immediately, water flowed freely into the engine room and began to creep up in Hold No. 6.

"S. O. S." signals were flashed from the Ryndam's wireless and her passengers were transferred hastily to the Cuneo. One hundred and sixty of the Ryndam's crew of 200 likewise were put aboard the freighter, leaving only forty men aboard the liner to navigate it.

Battleships to Rescue.

United States battleships in the vicinity answered the wireless calls. At 7 o'clock, three hours after the collision, the battleship South Carolina was standing alongside the Cuneo. The Ryndam's passengers and those of her crew who had been transferred to the Cuneo were taken off by the South Carolina. The battleship was directed by wireless from the Newport navy yard to convoy the stricken liner to this port.

With the South Carolina alongside, the battleship Texas ten miles astern, the battleship Louisiana in the near vicinity and the Cuneo slowly following, the Ryndam was steaming at slow speed for this port, 124 miles east of the Ambrose channel lightship at 10 o'clock. At that hour her captain sent a wireless message to the Holland-American line, her owners, saying that the Ryndam's engines were much strained but still holding out.

Water Gaining.

Previous messages from Capt. Van Der Heuvel asserted that the water was gaining in No. 6 hold and that the ship would have to be abandoned if the water gained much more.

So far as the line knew, there were

TEUTONS ON OFFENSIVE

Onslaught Against Russian Line Does Not Indicate Exhaustion.

Russ Not Believed to Be Well Equipped for Defense.

London, May 26.—In the field of military operations, the great onslaught of Gen. von Mackensen against the Russian line to the north of Przemysl and around Jaroslau indicates that the powers of the Austro-German offensive are not exhausted and verifies the belief, general in London, that the Russians are not well equipped for the defense of this position. Przemysl has not been sufficiently repaired to rank again as a great fortress. It is rather a heavily fortified camp which needs considerable artillery for its reduction.

In the Dardanelles the allies are officially reported to be slowly advancing against the stubborn opposition of the Turks who have been granted an armistice to bury 3,000 of their dead in front of their trenches.

On Western Front.

Along the western line of battle, the Germans hold a trench east of Ypres which they captured Monday morning from the British and held against counter attacks during the day. Yesterday the French offensive north of Arras developed new vigor, with the result that a number of German positions were captured. This French advance, like the German move against the British, is not of wide extent, but it included some formidable works.

Italian Situation.

The official Italian announcement

NO LIGHTS IN VENICE; PEOPLE ARE PLEASED

Military Orders, as Protection From Aeroplanes, Are Approved.

Venice, May 26, via Paris.—The military authorities have given orders that no lights be displayed in Venice between sunset and sunrise that can be seen from above the city. This is a measure of protection against attack by aeroplane.

The aspect of Venice at night has been changed by this order. The people of Venice are normally much abroad at night, but now they are staying up even later than usual. They enjoy the aspect of the city without light and are all eagerly looking into the air for the sight of an Austrian aeroplane. Nobody seems to fear a visit from these machines.

ITALIANS FORCE OFFENSIVE IN AUSTRIA, TAKING MORE TOWNS

ITALO-AUSTRIAN FRONTIER, WHERE BATTLES RAGE

OCCUPY ALL THE DEFILES ON FRONTIER

Austrians Reported in Retreat, Destroying Bridges Behind Them.

Some Fighting Results But Not of Great Magnitude.

Number of Prisoners Are Taken in Advance in Valleys.

Rome, May 25, via Paris, May 26.—Offensive operations resulting in the occupation of Austrian territory all along the frontier from Lombardy to the Adriatic are claimed in an official statement issued tonight by the war office. Italy's troops have seized various towns in the Trentino and forced their way through mountain defiles. On the lower Isonzo attacks were continued to gain the line of the river. The Austrians are reported to have retired, destroying bridges behind them. Italian aviators bombarded Monfalcone, near the Gulf of Triest.

The communication follows:

"Everywhere on the 24th our troops took the offensive, occupying Forcella, Montezzo, Tonale and Ponte Caffaro in Val Giudicaria, the territory north of Ferrara and Monte Baldo.

"They also occupied Monte Reorno and Monte Foppa on the slopes north of Lessini; Monte Pasubia and Monte Baffelan at the extremity of the Agno and Leogang valleys and the defiles of Val Brenta. We took a number of prisoners.

Occupy Frontier Defiles.

"In Cadore we occupied all the frontier defiles.

"The enemy's medium caliber artillery opened fire on the bay of Misitrina but without results.

"On the Carnia frontier on the night of the 24th we took by a bayonet attack, the defile of Val d'Inferno and the extremity of Val Dagno.

"On the Friouli frontier on the 25th in the middle of the Isonzo region we successfully continued our offensive operations near Caforetto. We have disposed troops on the conquered heights between the Judrio and the Isonzo. Medium caliber artillery of the Austrians at Santa Marie and Santa Lucia to the southwest of Tolmino opened fire on the heights between the Judrio and Isonzo but without result.

"On the lower Isonzo we also continued our offensive to attain the line of the river. Everywhere the enemy retired, destroying bridges and cutting communications.

"Our aviators bombarded the electric power house and railroad station at Monfalcone."

BATTLE IN ADRIATIC REPORTED BY VIENNA

One Italian Destroyer Said to Have Surrendered in Sinking Condition.

Vienna, May 25, via Amsterdam to London, May 26.—The following official communication was issued last night:

"The cruiser Helgoland and three torpedo boat destroyers encountered two Italian torpedo boat destroyers near Barletta, one of which escaped, but the other of which was struck by a shell and compelled to surrender in a sinking condition.

"Our destroyers rescued thirty-five men of the crew of the Italian boat, including its commander, but the work of rescue was hindered by the approach of two Italian battleships, which fired from a range of 9,000 meters (about 13,000 yards). In the ensuing skirmish our destroyer Csepel was slightly damaged, but the Helgoland and the other destroyers returned the enemy's fire with apparent success and then retired out of range."

AMERICAN STEAMSHIP EITHER TORPEDOED OR STRIKES MINE

PACKERS INSIST MEAT CARGOES BE RELEASED

Attorneys Continue Conference With British Ambassador at Washington.

Washington, May 26.—Representatives of the packers today continued their conferences with British embassy officials in an effort to get the British government to settle claims for detained cargoes of meat products consigned to neutral countries and to release ships detained since the British order in council was issued.

It was said that Ambassador Spring-Rice had indicated that his government would arrange to have tried promptly the cases of four detained ships laden with meat which, according to Alfred B. Urion, general counsel for the packers, had been pending in the prize court since December. These cases had been set for June 7.

The packers had requested the state department to take up their case officially with the British government, but withdrew their request pending further conferences with the British embassy.

ITALY WAS UNFAIRLY TREATED BY AUSTRIA

So Prince Von Buelow Is Reported to Have Said in Interview.

Rome, May 25, via Paris, May 26.—Prince von Buelow, the German ambassador who has now returned to Berlin, is reported by the Giornale d'Italia to have declared in an interview that he came to Italy in the hope of bringing about an Austro-Italian rappochement on a concrete basis; that Austria undoubtedly always had treated Italy unfairly and that Germany attached supreme importance to the preservation of friendly relations with Italy, which meant the maintenance of Italian neutrality. Italian public opinion must understand, however, the prince said, that an attack upon Austria meant an attack upon Germany.

Condition of King Unchanged.

Washington, May 26.—Dispatches to the Greek legation today report the general condition of King Constantine unchanged.

NEBRASKAN HIT IN BOW

Steamer on Way From Liverpool to Delaware Breakwater in Ballast.

Foreholds Full of Water But Ship Starts Back to Port.

Crew Takes to Boats But Soon Return to the Steamer.

New York, May 26.—The American Hawaiian Steamship company, owners of the Nebraskan, received a wireless message from the Nebraskan captain, relayed by cable, in which the captain said the vessel had been struck by either a mine or a torpedo and that he had turned back and was proceeding to Liverpool.

The text of the message, which was dated yesterday and signed by Capt. John S. Green, was as follows:

"Struck either by mine or torpedo, forty-eight miles west of Fastnet and steaming to Liverpool. Water in lower hold. No one injured."

Not Much Damage.

London, May 26.—The American steamer Nebraskan, Capt. Green, from Liverpool May 24 for Delaware Breakwater, was torpedoed yesterday by a submarine at a point forty miles southwest of Fastnet, off the south coast of Ireland.

The sea was calm at the time. The crew at once took to the boats and stood by the steamer.

It was soon ascertained that the Nebraskan was not seriously damaged.

THE RED BAPTISM.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The American steamer Nebraskan was torpedoed or sunk by a mine yesterday off the South coast of Ireland. The crew took to the boats but returned on ascertaining that the damage inflicted was not serious. No lives were lost. The Nebraskan carried no passengers.

An official communication from Rome indicates that the Italian invasion of Austria has been extended over almost the whole of the Austro-Italian frontier. According to this statement, the Italians have seized a number of towns near the border, and have forced their way through mountain defiles, occupying strategic positions. Apparently there has been little heavy fighting thus far. It is stated the Austrains retired everywhere, destroying bridges as they fell back.

The new attack of Gen. von Mackensen against the Russian line north of Przemysl, in Galicia, is reported from Vienna and Berlin to have been attended by conspicuous success. The war office at Petrograd, however, states that attacks on the Russian line along the San river were scattered and concedes no new victories to the Austro-German armies.

"In the west the British have been compelled to give ground in Belgium to the Germans, who are once more pressing forward strongly along the part of the front which has seen the heaviest sustained fighting of the war. The allies apparently have offset this German victory, however, by a French advance further south, in Northern France near Arras.

A series of attacks from both sides of the line north of Arras last night brought on fighting of unusual violence. The official communication from Paris today asserts the German attacks made with especial severity near Lorette were all repulsed. The Berlin statement admits the loss of a small position near Givenchy, but asserts that elsewhere the allies were driven back with heavy losses.

The German war office also announces that Gen. Mackensen's attack in Galicia, north of Przemysl, continues to make progress. Unofficial dispatches from Petrograd say it is believed there that the Germans have been definitely checked in Galicia and Southern Russian Poland.

GIANT CARRIES BAD "SHINER"

Wants Man Who Gave It to Him Arrested for Assault.

Wearing a beautiful "shiner" above one eye, and badly battered about the head, Alex Anderson, aged 33, who is 6 feet 2, and built like James J. Jeffries used to be, appeared at police headquarters this morning and swore out a warrant for the arrest of John J. Turner, aged 28.

Turner, who is a steam shovel engineer, and who lives at 105 West Palm street, is said to have been rough with Anderson. The engineer is a slight man, about half the size of his alleged victim.

Anderson says that Turner knocked him down and kicked him in the face following a quarrel in a saloon at 531 West Michigan street. Turner pleaded not guilty and will be given a hearing this afternoon.

Almost Inconceivable.

FITTED OUT PIRATE BAND

Superior Lad Steals His Mother's Savings to Equip His "Men."

Two of "Gang" Desert; Part of Money Is Recovered.

As a climax to three runaway trips to Duluth, Lawrence Haines, age 12, of Superior, yesterday stole $350 from his mother's trunk, outfitted a "gang" of boy pirates, and started out to terrorize the surrounding country.

Three rifles and two revolvers were purchased by Lawrence for himself and his four "accomplices in crime" with the money, which represented several years' saving on the part of his widowed mother.

At the last minute, however, two of the "gang" deserted and Lawrence, with Norman Nason, also age 12, fled to Duluth to escape a capture. They had been picked up twice before within three days by Duluth police and returned to their homes. Lawrence lives at 1621 Thirteenth street.

In outfitting his "men," Lawrence distributed his $350 freely and when finally found by police but $200 remained. He threw away a pocketbook containing $50, fearing that police would find it in his pocket and accuse him of theft.

Mrs. Haines was prostrated when she learned of her son's deed, and is under a physician's care. The two surviving members of the "gang" were taken in charge by Probation Officer Charles Bird.

Duluth police were on the lookout for the boys yesterday, but they were caught before they reached the Minnesota side of the river.

WORK ON HAINES ROAD PROGRESSING

Work on improving the Haines road, a connecting link between the Hermantown and Fraser roads on the city limits line, is now in full swing, according to Walter A. Swanstrom, county commissioner for the Third district, under whose supervision the work is being done.

The highway starts from a point on the Hermantown road at the city limits line and runs in a northerly direction for two and one-fourth miles, where it connects with the Fraser road. The Haines road furnishes a short cut to the Miller trunk road from the central portion of the city.

The improvement work consists of grading, gravelling and the construction of a wooden bridge across Miller's creek. The total cost of the improvement will be in the neighborhood of $5,500.

Other roads being improved in the Third district this season are the Hutchinson road, the Proctor road, the Thomson road, the Hermantown road and the Morris Thomas road. The county board has apportioned $14,000 to the Third district for road improvement work.

TOO PHILANTHROPIC; SENT TO WORK FARM

Cigar Dealer Arrested After Supplying "Kids" With Peanuts.

Because he insisted on buying peanuts in wholesale quantities and distributing them to the patrons of his cigar store at 210 West Superior street, Harry A. Moore, aged 43, was arrested last night by Chief R. D. McKercher and Detective J. L. Bradley. He was charged with drunkenness, and held without bail.

In police court this morning Moore insisted that he was not drunk at the time, and that he "thought he had a right to give away peanuts if he was willing to pay for them." Judge F. H. Cutting sentenced him to fifteen days at the work farm without the option of a fine.

"The newsies and other kids near my place always look hungry," said the philanthropically inclined Moore, "and so I got this barrel of peanuts and put a sign, 'Help Yourself' on it. You should have seen them go after that barrel."

On Monday, according to police, Moore distributed three barrels in a similar fashion, and as a result the street in front of his store was littered with peanut shells. He was warned by Officer Smollett that a repetition of the offense would not be tolerated, according to officers.

FAVOR CIVIC FOURTH PLAN

City Commissioners Discuss Outlined Celebration of Day.

Mayor Prince Asks Suggestions From Citizens—All Day Observance.

An all-day civic celebration of the Fourth of July now seems probable.

At a special meeting of the city council this morning, held for the purpose of authorizing the payment for the new West end library site, the commissioners discussed the Fourth of July celebration proposed in The Herald and in all probability definite action will be taken soon.

Mayor Prince said this morning that he is in favor of a civic celebration and has asked that the general public make suggestions for the all-day program. He announced also that he will take the matter up with prominent citizens and that he may shortly appoint a committee to make the arrangements. It has been suggested that all the civic bodies join in the movement to celebrate Independence day in a fitting manner.

Tentative Plan.

According to a tentative outline, the Fourth of July celebration will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning with a flag-raising program in one of the parks. There will be a band concert, with addresses by prominent citizens and the giving away of flags to the children. At noon all will join in singing the national anthem.

In the afternoon it is planned to hold an open-air field and track meet, with prizes for the winners.

The celebration will come to a close in the evening with a display of fireworks. These will include a number of set pieces and will continue from 8 until about 10:30 o'clock in the evening.

Mayor Prince and Commissioners Voss and Silberstein, who were present at the special meet, all expressed themselves in favor of this plan.

WANTED CITY TO BLOW BACK SAND

Park Point Woman Complains Because Fresh Paint Is Ruined.

Ned Culver, secretary to Commissioner Farrell, is quite versatile, but he was completely stumped this morning.

Bright and early a woman from Park Point called up and said that the sand was blowing all over the fresh paint on her house and she wanted to know, "if you couldn't send a man out to keep the sand off until it gets dry."

Secretary Culver emitted one gasp and toppled over.

The obliging stenographer answered the telephone and said that the department was really unable to do anything and that she was very, very sorry.

Almost Inconceivable.

MISS INGA BRENDE CHOSEN "QUEEN OF MAY" BY LEAD OF 14,000 VOTES

MISS INGA A. BRENDE.

Miss Inga A. Brende is the winner of the contest held in the West end for "Queen of the May," and will as such be the principal figure in the parade to be held by the business men of the district Friday evening. Miss Brende received 40,116 votes, a clear lead of nearly 14,000 over her nearest competitor.

The committee announced the winners this noon, after having had the assistance of nearly a dozen of the business men of the street in counting the votes. The voting indicated that the trading in the West end during the past two weeks of the contest had been exceptionally good with all of the merchants.

Following were the votes cast for the leading candidates: Miss Alice "Topsy" Mattson, 26,595 ;Miss nna Olson, 25,324; Miss Linda Olson, 20,952; Miss Edith Olson, 18,204; Miss Ruth Peterson, 7,799; Miss Goodney Neilson, 5,111; Miss Hannah B. Olsson, 4,256; Miss Katherine Heiam, 4,127. The names of the last two were not known as contestants until the ballot boxes were opened. There were in addition to these the names of twenty-six other young West end women who received less than 4,000 votes.

The committee will now decorate the float on which Miss Brende, as "Queen" of the celebration, will ride. The float will have a position in the parade just back of the leading band.

DOGS REGISTERED UNDER ODD NAMES

Debs is the name of a bull terrier dog in the West end, while a water spaniel is called Sailor and a white Eskimo dog answers to the name of Cotton.

These odd names have been registered by Duluthians, who have taken out dog licenses for this year, according to City Treasurer McLean.

L. H. Rudin of 609 Garfield avenue is the owner of Debs, while Sailor belongs to Thelma Kleyn, 316 Ninth avenue east, and Cotton to John Talonen, 335 South First avenue east.

Almost Inconceivable.

MERRITT VETOES GAS STOVE PACT

In the morning paper of today Mr. Merritt states that he will continue to sell gas stoves at cost, despite overtures from dealers to boost the price. Now, to be real fair to everyone, he should not have made such a broad, misleading statement to the general public, but should have qualified it with the dealers' names, if there was any truth in it at all. We doubt it.

We, as dealers in gas stoves, know that he has never, and never shall, hear any overtures from us to boost the price. For the further information of the public, we will state that when the Gas Company sells a gas stove they expect to sell the gas to use in it, and if you should by chance happen to save a few dollars in the first cost in getting one of their stoves, you will make up the difference many times over in your gas bills and your taxes.. They get you sooner or later.

Our Best's Double Action Gas Range

is not a tin box made to consume gas and spin your meter. It is a stove built for years of service, and uses less gas for the same amount of work than any other stove on the market today. It has been proven. It is sold by us, not at factory cost, but at as low a price as is possible to allow us a legitimate profit and a chance to pay our taxes, water, gas and light bills.

All Styles, All Sizes. Easy Payments if you wish.

BEWARE!—Do not confuse our Best's Double Action with the direct action. Our stove uses the heat twice—the first and only real improvement in gas range construction in 12 years. Let us show you.

HERE BEFORE STAGE COACH

Ole A. Berg, Who Came to Duluth in 1869, Dies.

Ole A. Berg, who walked from St. Paul to Duluth in 1869, before the stages were running, and established a home here when Superior street was a cowpath and Duluth boasted of but half a dozen houses, died at his home, 317 Twenty-second avenue west, shortly before 8 o'clock this morning. He was 74 years of age.

Interested in stories of the new city that was to grow up at the head of Lake Superior, Mr. Berg left La Crosse, Wis., early in 1869 and went to St. Paul, coming here from the Twin Cities with a pack sack on his back.

His first residence was near the present ship canal at the foot of Lake avenue, where Duluth's few buildings were clustered. There were no streets laid out until several years later.

Mr. Berg worked as a mason in the early days, helping in the construction of many of the city's first buildings. He later entered the grocery business, and for the last few years has been custodian at the courthouse. He was county commissioner for eight years in the '90s, and was a member of the Old Settlers' association.

He leaves a wife, six daughters and two sons. The daughters are: Mrs. W. C. Newark, Mrs. Stella Widner, Mrs. S. A. Rhodes, Miss Laura Berg, Miss Olyne Berg and Miss Nina Berg of Charlotte, Mich. The sons are Sidney and Marvin, both of whom live in Duluth.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

BJORK WINS AND LOSES HIS SUIT

Cannot Recover for Diamonds Given as Security But Indebtedness Fixed.

Although Alfred Bjork has no "legal" cause of action against the widow of August Johnson, former Superior street saloonkeeper, who is holding three diamonds as security for a debt which Bjork contracted with her husband during his lifetime, he has "equitable" rights in the matter which the courts will recognize.

And because this is true, Bjork will not be foreclosed from his rights because Judge Ensign directed a jury to return a verdict against him in district court this morning. He sued to recover $780, the value of the diamonds, less $250 which he admits that he owed Johnson at the time of his death.

Although the jury returned a directed verdict for the defendant, it also returned a special finding to the effect that Bjork had borrowed $400 in the fall of 1910, giving the diamonds as security. In the fall of 1914, six weeks before Johnson died, the jury found, he paid back $150. Mrs. Johnson claimed her husband had $645 coming from Bjork, but the jury disregarded this claim.

Under the present status of the case, Bjork has an equitable right to recover the diamonds by paying $250 and interest, although he has no legal cause of action to recover the value of the diamonds.

WEEKLY DRILL ON LAKE BOATS

Rules for Safety of Passengers Will Be Stricter This Season.

Clow - Nicholson Steamer Will Make Trial Trip Next Sunday.

Life boat drills on Great Lake excursion steamships will be held each week under the direction of the Federal inspectors at all lake ports according to information received by the inspectors at the Duluth office. In addition to weekly inspections there will be reinspections three times during the season and the regular annual inspection. Drills will be frequently ordered while the vessels are in midlake, it is said.

Officials say that there need be no fear that the boats will be overcrowded this year as they will not be allowed to accept as many passengers as formerly. After the Federal seamen's bill goes into effect next November the number of passengers will be still further reduced.

The excursion season is expected to begin in full force about the middle of June from the Duluth port. The Clow-Nicholson company expects to send a boat to Fond du Lac next Sunday for a trial trip if the weather is warm and otherwise favorable. It has not been decided yet as to which boat will make the trip.

LIFE RAFTS PREFERRED

Lake Men Say They Are Better Than Boats in Disaster.

Lake men are becoming more and more favorable to an increase in life-raft equipment for lake boats rather than multiplying the number of life-boats to forestall disaster, and within the last few days much discussion has been going the rounds as a result of the reported difficulty in launching the life boats of the Lusitania when that steamer went to the bottom off the coast of Ireland.

Lake men declare that there is always the same difficulty, especially in case of a storm—or when any kind of a sea is running. Advocacy of life rafts that will float free when the vessel sinks is growing on the Great Lakes, and they have the added value of not taking up the room required for life boats.

In a recent interview, A. W. Goodrich, president of the Goodrich Transit company, who was a delegate to the London "safety first" conference and who also appeared among the Lake Michigan representatives before the congressional committee on merchant marine and fisheries when it held public hearings on the seamen's bill, said:

"Life boats must be launched in a smooth sea from a ship on an even keel in order to serve as effective rescuers.

"We made the contention in London and succeeded in Washington in showing that life rafts, which rest unsecured on a deck, can float free of wreckage if a ship goes under.

"Passengers may remain on deck until the last moment, and then, by grasping the life raft, large numbers can float clear until picked up. The raft cannot be crushed or capsized.

"As a double precaution the lake lines were authorized to use both life rafts and life boats as well as life preservers."

W. K. Greenebaum, general manager of the Indiana Transportation company, said:

"I believe a more liberal supply of life rafts would have saved more persons from the Lusitania, in view of the cabled reports that she listed heavily after being torpedoed."

NEW ORE RATE IN FORCE TUESDAY

New inquiry for ore has come up this week. Some large tonnage is under negotiation, but so far nothing of consequence has been closed. The negotiations may not be closed for several days, but the fact that serious negotiations are under way is encouraging, as buying of large tonnages indicates a good deal at this time.

It is know that very few furnaces need ore for immediate use and anything that is contracted for now will not be needed for several weeks. In a few cases ore shipments were postponed last fall. Orders to ship this postponed ore have been placed for a good part of the delayed shipment. Next Tuesday the 5-cent reduction in freight from mines to Duluth-Superior and Two Harbors goes into effect and it is expected this will increase inquiries for ore.

There is a tendency to hold back on placing ore contracts, but the shippers of ore have met with optimistic expressions among the furnace interests. This has helped to make the outlook for a better business in the near future seem brighter at least. No one is willing to venture a guess as to what the summer buying movement will amount to or how soon it will come.

This week will probably be as dull in ore shipping as last week was. Until next Tuesday there will be no reason for increasing shipments, but something better should come then. Until ore sales have been made the improvement will not be marked and ships that have contracts alone will benefit.

MORE COAL WILL MOVE AFTER JUNE 1

Cleveland, Ohio, May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Coal shippers are expected to move more more coal after June 1. The larger traffic will come from fields that have been shipping, and will be helped by shipments from Eastern Ohio. The No. 8 field is pretty generally in position to produce coal. It will be two weeks before shipments from No. 8 field will amount to much, but a start will be made this week. Some of the companies interested in No. 8 coal have dock interests and will ship to stock the docks, even if they have no coal sold for immediate delivery. A number of ships will have to wait a while for coal this week, so many are at this end of the route.

The grain trade is unchanged. Some attempts are being made to charter boats, but the activity is largely on the part of vessel owners and brokers, and does not originate to any extent with the shippers.

BIG ORE CONTRACT.

Cleveland Rumor Also Involves Story About Vessel Building.

Cleveland, Ohio, May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is rumored that a Cleveland shipowner has taken a good-sized block of ore under a long-term contract. It was rumored some time ago the same owner had the ore for 1915, but it has since been reported that the contract calls for a larger tonnage than was at first reported and for delivery for several years.

It also was reported boats might be built for this ore, but there is a question about the latter feature.

CITY WILL BUILD AUDITORIUM SOON

At a conference yesterday afternoon between the city commissioners and representatives of various civic organizations, Mayor J. S. Konkel announced that the wish of the people expressed at the polls recently will be carried out and that a municipal auditorium will be erected this year. This statement was made in answer to the objection of the East End Chamber of Commerce which wished to have the project postponed until next year.

A proposal to purchase the Grand Opera house and remodel it for an auditorium was presented. It was claimed that the building could be purchased for $45,000 and that an additional $10,000 would place it in proper shape for the purpose desired. This plan would save the city, it was claimed, about $20,000.

No action was taken as to the site at the conference. The Trades and Labor assembly was represented at the meeting and its representative stated that any site within a block of Belknap street between Tower and Cumming avenue would be satisfactory to organized labor.

Lets Sidewalk Contracts.

The city commission of Superior let two more contracts for laying concrete sidewalks yesterday afternoon. C. Skamer was awarded a job of laying 30,500 feet in the ninth ward at 10.7 cents per foot, and Magnus Peterson was awerded the laying of 13,200 feet at 12.5 cents per foot.

Naughton Trial Begins.

The second trial of Joseph Naughton, who is alleged to have illegally marked ballots in the election last fall, started this morning in the superior court. The tntire day is expected to be taken up in the selection of a jury. The same attorneys that appeared in the case in January are conducting the trial now.

PROGRAM FOR MEMORIAL DAY WILL CONTINUE FOR THREE DAYS

Parade, Exercises at Auditorium and Central High School, and Services for Sailor Dead Are Features; Rev. U. S. Villars Will Give Chief Address; Public Schools Will Give Programs; Exercises for Three Days.

COL. F. E. RESCHE, Marshal of the Day.

Complete arrangements for the Memorial day parade, the exercises at the Auditorium and the Central high school auditorium, the banquet at Memorial hall, and the services in honor of the sailor dead on board the U. S. S. Gopher at 3 o'clock next Monday, were made this morning by officers of the Citizens' Staff, which is in charge of the program.

School Programs Friday.

Memorial day exercises at the schools will be held Friday, while special services will be held at the First Methodist church Sunday morning and a flag-raising program rendered at the Northern Pacific roundhouse in the afternoon, and the parade and exercises Monday, closing a three days' program in commemoration of the soldier dead. The Citizens' Staff has been assisted by the officers of Gorman and Culver posts, G. A. R.

The Central and Denfeld high schools and the parochial schools will hold the Memorial day exercises Friday morning, while the grade schools will give their programs in the afternoon. Exercises at the normal school will begin at 11 o'clock. The services at the First Methodist church Sunday morning will begin at 10 o'clock and will be attended by all the military organizations in the city. The flag-raising program will begin at 4 o'clock in the afternoon with an address by Mayor Prince. The Gorman post drum corps will play and addresses will be delivered by Henry Cleveland and J. E. Goodman, master mechanic at the roundhouse. Mrs. T. J. Hyde will sing "The Star Spangled Banner."

Parade on Monday.

The Memorial day parade Monday morning will start at 10 o'clock, following a special review of the Civil war veterans in front of the courthouse at 9:30 o'clock, when motion pictures will be taken of the old soldiers. John Frazier, 87 years old, the oldest veteran in Duluth, will be the honorary grand marshal of the day, and his staff will consist of N. L. Upham, 82; William Carnathan, 80; J. H. Baker, 80; and John Dimond, 80. Col. F. E. Resche of the Minnesota National Guard will be the acting grand marshal.

Memorial Exercises.

Following the parade there will be Memorial day exercises at the Auditorium for the general public and at the Central high school for the children participating in the parade. T. F. Upham, president of the Citizens' staff, will introduce Mayor Prince at the Auditorium as the presiding officer, and W. W. Huntley, vice president, will officiate at the Central high school meeting.

Rev. U. S. Villars of the Lester Park Methodist church will deliver the Memorial day address at the Auditorium meeting. In addition the Gorman post drum corps will play and musical numbers will be rendered by prominent vocalists. Following the program the annual roll call will be given for Culver and Gorman posts, G. A. R., Sons of Veterans and the McEwen and Diggles camps, Spanish War veterans.

Those at the Auditorium meeting will then adjourn to Memorial hall in the courthouse, where the women's auxiliary of the G. A. R. and the auxiliary organizations of the other posts and camps will serve luncheon.

Decoration of Graves.

The ceremony of decorating the graves at the Forest Hill cemetery will take place at 2:30 o'clock. This will be in charge of Asa Dailey of the Gorman post. The services in honor of the sailor dead on the Gopher will follow at 3 o'clock, weather permitting. Those taking part will be embarked at the foot of Fifth avenue west and taken aboard the Gopher for the exercises.

There will be five divisions in the parade, led by a cordon of police. The state military and naval forces, headed by the Third Regiment band, will form at Third avenue west and First street, behind the police. The line of march will begin at this point.

The second division will consist of the Citizens' staff, government employes and mail carriers, Mayor Prince and the members of the city commission and speakers and singers in carriages.

Fraternal Orders.

All the fraternal orders taking part in the parade will form the third division, while the fourth division will consist of the school children. The latter division will be divided in four sections, including children from the east of the Point of Rocks, those west of the Rocks, the parochial schools and the high schools. The two best appearing schools east and west of the Point of Rocks will be awarded a silk flag.

In the fifth division will be all the Civil war veterans in carriages, the drum corps and the Spanish War veterans.

ONE OF MORGAN'S "BOYS" WILL BE IN MEMORIAL DAY PARADE

When G. A. R. veterans pass in review next Monday, Capt. A. N. Harper of the Ninth Tennessee under Gen. John Morgan, may be conspicuous as "one of the boys in gray."

"You Northerners are all right," said Capt. Harper yesterday, after being invited to attend the Memorial day parade by Capt. T. H. Pressnell of J. B. Culver post.

From the time he received his "baptism of fire" at Bull Run on July 21, 1861, until 1864, when he was wounded in an engagement with Federal troops and paroled, Capt. Harper saw much active service in the Confederate army.

Responding to the call for arms when 17 years old, Private Harper was enlisted in the Second Tennessee. At Shiloh he was transferred to the Ninth Tennessee infantry under Gen. Morgan and promoted for valorous discharge of duty.

He fought at Manassas, Chickamauga, and Missionary Ridge and was wounded five times during the four years' struggle. He was shot through the neck in an engagement at Mount Sterling, Ky., June 9, 1864, was taken prisoner, and later paroled.

Capt. Harper's most prized possession is a dark metal cross, the Southern cross of honor, presented him by the Daughters of the Confederacy. At the present time Capt. Harper, with his niece, Miss Rena Harper of Chicago, are stopping at 127 East First street. His home is at Gallatin, Tenn., and he has visited in Duluth annually, while en route to Canada and other northern points.

HARDY SETTLERS ARE STATE'S BEST ASSET

Governor Hanna of North Dakota Urges Inducing Best to Come.

Fargo, N. D., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota's greatest source of wealth and greatest possibilities along development lines lies in her people rather than in her rich and fertile lands, according to Governor Hanna, who paid especial attention to this phase in an address here this week. The governor pointed out the importance of securing new settlers of type and character rather than mere numbers, and pleaded for conditions that would make better men and women of the boys and girls of the state, more immigrants of the type that would locate in the rural sections rather than in the villages and the towns and pointed out the great asset to the state of a satisfied, practical farmer and his wealth producing ability under the favorable conditions that exist in North Dakota.

Tenant Class Movement.

The governor is just now especially interested in a recent movement to attract the attention of the tenant class of farmers of the central western states who are unable to purchase lands in their localities because of the high price and are looking toward this section. Their actual and practical knowledge of western farming methods, their knowledge of how to proceed with grain farming with little assistance and their ability to do much of the work personally and be independent of transient labor was pointed out and the executive expressed himself as confident the movement should be one of the most beneficial ever started in the state if it was vigorously pushed.

The governor denounced the land sharks that have operated in the state in the past, regarding them as a big menace to the development of the state and a serious handicap to the efforts of the legitimate realty men. One dissatisfied or swindled settler, he said, did the state more harm than could be overcome by a dozen men working earnestly and honestly in behalf of the development of the state.

FORT FRANCES CELEBRATES.

International Falls Ball Team Winner in the Ball Game.

International Falls, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Victorian celebration at Fort Frances Monday was a successful affair. The local ball team defeated the Fort Frances nine, 20 to 2.

An interesting feature was the fire run in the evening between the local and the Fort Frances brigades. One of the men of the local team, Nozzleman Adolph Krohn, was severely injured, and this resulted in a loss for the team from here. The run was made over 870 feet, and 150 feet of hose was run out, hooked to the hydrant, the nozzle attached and the stream turned on, time being counted from the beginning of the run until water flowed.

The Fort Frances team of seven men accomplished the feat in 35 4-5 seconds. The team fro mthis side then made the run, but in alighting from the rapidly moving wagon, Mr. Krohn, with the nozzle in his hand, slipped and was thrown violently to the ground and the tendons torn loose from around one knee. He will be confined to his bed for at least a month. Thirty-two seconds was the time taken to make the run, but Mr. Krohn, due to his painful injury, did not attach the nozzle properly, and it flew off when the water was turned on.

A grand ball in the town hall finished the celebration.

DULUTH U. C. T. CROWS AND LEADS

Remarkable Record of Zenith Council; Sattler Et Al. Will Storm Winona.

Zenith council, No. 40, U. C. T., of Duluth, which is going to make a strong bid for the state convention of the United Commercial Travelers for year after next and has already started its campaign, is one of the fastest growing councils in the district, which includes Minnesota and North Dakota. The Duluth council organized twelve years ago with only forty-seven members. It has shown a gain every year of its existence and now numbers 405 members. Zenith council has always been a leader in the U. C. T. of the district because, it is said, even when its membership was small, it was made up of "a bunch of live wires," men who did things and did not wait for somebody else to do them.

News that Zenith council is going after the convention of 1917, it is acknowledged, just about means that the convention of that year will come to Duluth. Should that come about, and George M. Peterson of Duluth get the usual promotions up the line of officers, he will preside at the Duluth convention. He is now grand conductor and it is expected that in 1916 he will be elected grand junior counsellor and in 1917 grand senior counsellor, which would make him presiding officer in his home town. Grand senior counsellor is the highest office in the jurisdiction.

When the delegates and members of Zenith council leave on June 10 for Winona, where this year's convention will be held, the Third Regiment band, which will accompany the crowd, will be headed by J. D. Sattler, who has been chief booster for the convention in this part of the state, and will be chief noisemaker of the Duluth delegation.

The committee that Zenith council has appointed to make plans with a similar committee from the Superior council for a joint picnic consists of George M. Peterson, A. G. Anderson, E. N. Hoagenson, Ed. F. Chalk and Thomas Reinkus.

LODGE WILL GREET SUPREME OFFICERS

Modern Brotherhood Plans Reception for Next Saturday Night.

Duluth members of the Modern Brotherhood of America will extend fraternal greetings to three of the supreme officers of the order at a reception to be held at the Odd Fellows' temple Saturday night. The three officers will arrive in Duluth from Virginia, where Friday night they will assist in initating a large class of candidates. The program here on Saturday evening will consist of an address of welcome by Mayor Prince, and short talks by the three guests. The remainder of the evening will be spent in dancing.

The range towns, Two Harbors and Superior will be represented at the meeting. The committee in charge of the affair consists of the following members: Mrs. J. W. Webber, Mrs. James J. Beatty, Joseph Becks and M. T. Carlson of West Duluth lodge No. 860, and Marion Julian, Dr. William H. Konkler, John E. Roos, C. B. Hansen, Mrs. C. J. Malsh, Mrs. Alice Murphy and Leo J. King of Duluth Central lodge No. 450.

DULUTHIANS HELP CARE FOR WOUNDED

Wilson G. Crosby Presents Munich Hospital With New Invention.

Wilson G. Crosby of this city, who is taking an active part in Munich, Germany, in the care of the wounded soldiers, has just presented the American Red Cross hospital with a mechanical invention for limbering stiffened joints.

In "American Notes in Munich," a quarterly publication just received here, there is an account of Mr. Crosby's gift to the hospital. The account in the April number follows:

"A recent acquisition of the American Red Cross hospital is the latest mechanical invention for limbering up stiffened joints and scarred tissues, the generous gift of Wilson G. Crosby of Duluth, who thereby puts us on record as the first hospital in Munich to possess this latest scientific production. Contrary to the former methods, where machinery was set in motion and the stiff member involuntarily exercised, this most modern contrivance forces the man to exert his own will in the use of the mechanism, which tones up the weakened muscles."

Mr. and Mrs. Crosby have made their home at Munich for the last year, but will return to Duluth soon. "American Notes in Munich" is the official organ of the American colony in the German metropolis.

RAY SCHOOL GIRL IS PRIZE WINNER

Carries Off Honors as Best Bread Maker in That School.

International Falls, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—E. W. Vancura, instructor in agriculture at the local high school, returned yesterday from Ray where he visited farmers and also took in the bread making contest at the Ray school. Miss Marie Watt was declared winner by Miss Florence Messner of this city, who acted as judge of the contest, and Miss Mildred Benjamin was given second honors. This decision entitles Miss Watt to compete with the winners of the contest at the Ericsburg school which was held this afternoon, and the students from this city and Ranier. The ultimate winner will be sent to the state fair next fall to compete in the contest there.

Mr. Vancura took a supply of seed corn with him, including North Dakota white flint, Vermont six row flint, Gehu flint, Northwestern Dent and Minnesota No. 23, which was distributed among farmers in the vicinity and they immediately went to work planting it. A small supply of the various kinds of corn is still on hand here and is being given out free of charge to those who wish to raise it.

Potato Demonstration.

A quantity of formaldehyde has also been sent out to the rural schools and demonstrations of this form of treatment of potatoes will be given in all the schools. Directions for the work has been sent to the teachers and all the students will have a chance to do the work. This formaldehyde treatment for scab is very popular in this country, especially since the country has proven itself to be well adapted to the raising of potatoes and it has been shown that they can be grown on the same ground year after year. Scab sets in very often where this is done and therefore the treatment is valuable to potato raisers.

About fifteen acres of Carmen No. 3 potatoes have been planted in various vacant lots and blocks about the city by C. B. Kinney, manager of the townsite company. They are being put in along scientific lines and a record yield is looked for.

Six discs were being worked in a row when the fourth team became frightened and ran into the team ahead, which in turn ran into the one in front. Both drivers were thrown off and Gerouski, who was driving the leading team, was thrown off and two discs passed over him, cutting open his stomach and otherwise terribly injuring him. Little hope for his recovery is entertained.

NORTH DAKOTA CHILD ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

The bullet went through her abdomen. She was hurried to town, but died on the road. An older brother had been using the rifle to shoot gophers.

Duluth Women Active at Chisholm Convention

Mrs. Fegraeus Leads Round Table Work at Meeting; Mrs. Grannis Gives Response Address; Mrs. Stocker Appeals for Preservation of Indian Lore and Illustrates Talk; Work of Club Women Given High Praise; Much Good Accomplished for Welfare of Home, School and Needy.

Duluth women played an important part in this morning's session at the convention of the federated clubs of the Eighth congressional district that closed this afternoon at Chisholm. Mrs. Harold Fegraeus, president of the Linnaea club, led the round table on "Women's Clubs in Community Service," and Mrs. D. H. Williams and Dr. Sara McClaren, both of Duluth, took active parts in the discussion of the subject.

Afternoon's Session.

At the opening session yesterday afternoon the response to the address of welcome was made by Mrs. H. J. Grannis, president of the Saturday club of Duluth, the oldest club in the federation. Mrs. Peter Olesen of Cloquet, president of the Eighth district, complimented the Sautrday club on having present a member who helped organize the club twenty-five years ago. In response Mrs. R. P. Boyington of Nemadji, who has been associated actively with Duluth club work, told incidents of early club days and of the meeting held in Minneapolis twenty-five years ago when the state federation was organized.

Duluth was represented again on the program last night when Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker, in costume, gave a talk on Indian folk lore and music and illustrated her points by singing and playing several Indian melodies. Mrs. Stocker, who made an appeal for the preservation of Indian folk lore and music closed her address with these words:

Appeal for Folk Lore.

"Now I come to my appeal for the Indian children, including in the class of children all uneducated Indians. The very first thing we try to do when we attempt to educate the red man is to take from him all his illusions. He is told to forget his old traditions.

"We find the Indian surrounded by an aura of fantastic beliefs, some of them exceedingly beautiful. These we call pagan superstitions. 'Away with them' all we say. We denounce to the Indian his religious dances, although he often insists that he is worshipping God when he raises his arms to the sun and the moon and the stars, and when he beats his tomtom and sings for hours together about Manabush and the creation of the world. We try to force upon the Indian our beliefs and our civilization. This method belongs to the dark ages, figuratively speaking.

"We should approach the Indian with sympathy and reverence, making him feel that his legends, told at the fireside generation after generation, are interesting and valuable. We can tell him that we, too, have many beautiful songs and stories which we will give him in exchange for his own. To the Indian schools we should send only teachers who are sympathetic in temperament and understand modern methods of character-building through the right course of training in school. We should have as Indian agents, men who are kindly disposed and big-hearted like the Hon. Cato Sells at Washington."

In her address on "Women's Clubs in Community Service," Mrs. Fegraeus, who told how women have broadened their work until it goes beyond their own homes, drew examples from the work that has been done by Duluth clubs. She said:

Work of Women.

"For centuries we have been told that 'Woman's sphere is the home.' We have been imbued with the idea that within its walls was her only field of action. We marvel at the miraculous changes of modern life for as President Wilson says, 'Nothing is done as it was even twenty years ago,' and where is it more noticeable than in our very homes?

"With inventions have come new ideas and ideals. The woman of today has a no less exalted, but rather a broader idea of motherhood and home.

Work of Twentieth Century.

"It has been said that the nineteenth century made the world into a great neighborhood, but that it is the work of the twentieth to make it into a great family. Woman feels that she must assist in the housekeeping and homemaking of this larger family and so often pronounces ease and pleasure to obey the voice of social duty.

"She has even known that 'In unity there is strength,' and that what is impossible for one is easily accomplished by a few, so she has organized her various clubs, which are proving a helpful and uplifting influence in her enlarged opportunities and higher ideals.

"Here in our Eighth district convention we represent twenty-four clubs with a membership of over a thousand. Our reports tell of our individual work and aspirations which are as varied as our personnel and environment, but there is not one but inspires the keenest incentive to a living interest in community and world affairs and planning for uplift and betterment. The very names of some speak for themselves: Mothers' clubs, garden flower society, drama league, Study club, Civic league, Progress club, Community club and others that are doing literary, artistic, social, civic and philanthropic work as well.

Conservation Important.

"'Conservation is the word of the hour' and is the keynote to all community club work. For years we have tried to conserve the life of the child in work, through child labor and compulsory education laws; in play, through play grounds, parks, baths, swimming pools and using schoolhouses as social centers; in the home, by studying housing conditions, sanitation, food and cleanliness; in the school, by introducing medical inspection and visiting nurses, by conducting open air schools as well as schools for defectives and delinquents.

"In the conservation of the home we have tried to get better equipment, simpler furnishings, pure and nourishing food. We have worked to establish markets and tried to bring producers into closer touch with consumers; we have worked for laws regulating weights and measures, for inspection of stores, markets and dairies.

"In conservation of health we have worked to procure pure water, and milk, to promote infant welfare, to relieve tuberculosis sufferers, to enforce quarantine laws, to assist health inspections, to carry to a successful issue their municipal house cleaning, to compel physicians to record births and deaths and in some states to require health certificate before marriage.

Work in Many Lines.

"Although most clubs are not working directly to secure the ballot, they are preparing themselves to assume the new responsibilities when they come; for by exercising the right of citizenship women will no doubt be able to work the greatest possible good to the greatest possible number.

"In my own city nearly all of these lines of work have been taken up by its numerous clubs.

"I will dwell for just a moment on the work of the Linnaea club. Its name does not give you a clew to its work, which is for the eradication of tuberculosis, especially among those of Swedish nationality. The original idea was to obtain funds from the sale of Linnaea postcards bearing the emblem of the club, that beautiful little forest flower, the Linnaea orealia, which the great Swedish botanist wished to bear his name. We considered this modest little blossom as very appropriate and typical of our timid introduction into clubdom, and adopted its name.

"We held our sixth annual meeting the first of May. In our six years of work we have raised about $3,600. We have spent about $2,600 in relief work and in the furnishing of three rooms at Nopeming sanatorium.

"We pay for the support of patients in the sanatoria and provide them with necessities. We give relief to families in homes where the white plague has entered."

Theater Gossip.

George M. Cohan has broken more rules of play writing than any living dramatist and despite this, or perhaps because of it, has been perhaps the most successful, financially, of any of the modern writers for the stage.

BREAKS ALL RULES OF PLAY WRITING

In "Seven Keys to Baldpate," which the Baldwin Players are offering this week at the Lyceum, he has broken one cardinal principle of the dramatist's art. It has long been the rule that the audience should not be fooled. It was argued that the audience would resent not knowing all that was going on, but Mr. Cohan figured otherwise, and when he wrote "Seven Keys to Baldpate" he gave the audience not only the surprise at the finish, but two. Even those who go to the theater knowing there is to be a surprise at the finish, often become so engrossed in the melodramatic thriller that Mr. Cohan has written, that they forget that he wrote it in a somewhat satirical mood, and that it is not a real melodrama. The play is in a class by itself. It is neither farce, comedy or melodrama, but it verges on all three of them. Mr. Baldwin has given it a production that is almost a replica of the original, and the members of the company are doing the best work of their spring engagement in it. It will continue until Saturday night.

"Help Wanted" at the Rex today and tomorrow, as a stage play, was Oliver Morosco's last

"HELP WANTED" AT THE REX. season's sensation and had record-breaking runs in New York and Chicago. Lois Meredith appears in the same role as she had in the Broadway stage production of "Help Wanted" and is even more lovable than as the telephone girl of last week's production at the Rex. "Help Wanted" tells the story of the temptations and humiliations that lie in wait for anybody's sister. Of the hundreds of little girls in the week's want ads—Gertie Mayer was probably the dearest and probably the greenest of all. It was odd that she finally secured a position as private stenographer to the millionaire owner of Scott & Son, leading New York importers, and that the wealthy importer should raise her salary on sight. But to innocent, penniless Gertie Meyer the new position was a Godsend. She had yet to know the elderly millionaire was a "high roller." She had yet to learn he employed two stenographers: One who did the work, and one whose sole essential was that she should be about 17 and pretty. Lois Meredith and Owen Moore as the youthful sweethearts head a cast of famous names, each one an artist.

"THREE WEEKS" AT THE ZELDA. a large attendance. This production will be presented for four days, ending Saturday night. The management of the Zelda paid a higher price for this feature production than anything brought to the Zelda so far, and this marks the opening of the high-class features taken from famous novels. Children under 16 years will not be admitted to the Zelda during the showing of this production. It comes to Duluth direct from the Metropolitan theater at Minneapolis, where it ran to record-breaking crowds. Many were unable to gain admission there and it will play a return engagement.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Don't Beg From the Rich.

The requests made of many wealthy persons for assistance of one kind and another would be amusing if their nature in too many instances did not arouse in one a general disgust of the people who bring themselves to ask such favors of a stranger.

The fact that is more truly amazing than the circumstance of the rich being besieged by begging letters of all descriptions, is the attitude of all these begging and usually able-bodied people toward themselves and toward life. They are aggrieved to think that the wealthy cannot spare a little to advance to them or satisfy some worthy or unworthy ambition. They practically say to themselves, "I want and ought to have these things but haven't the money to buy them, but I know who has. They ought to buy it for me. I'll ask them."

The longer you live the more you see of this disgusting sycophancy. It is not alone the possessors of millions who are bothered by the fawning members of civilization, although, of course, the more one has, the more of this sort of thing they are obliged to put up with. However, people in all walks of life are subjected to just this sort of thing, and all classes are offenders in this particular.

A woman whom I have known and respected and as having the ability to provide for herself has unaccountably arrived at just such a crisis in her life. Great was my surprise to hear from her own lips her views of her position and how she makes ends meet. She has many friends in comfortable circumstances. She proposes that they shall contribute to her support in a roundabout way. She can eat good dinners at their houses, attend places of amusement as their guest and wear their cast-off clothing, made over to be sure, in lieu of new ones.

It never seemed to occur to this woman that her plan of action was anything for which she should feel shame. She thought they ought to invite her to dine, and to the theaters, and to drive, because they had the wherewith to do so. Whether they were inclined made no difference to her. She would force them to do it. In most instances they would be glad to do anything for her, but if they knew her attitude in the matter, perhaps they would not entertain her in quite the same spirit.

Everyone hates to feel that another seeks their company for their own benefit purely, and that an able-bodied person is contriving to live at their expense, no matter how well-to-do one may be.

APPEARS IN COURT UNDER DIFFICULTIES

J. Bohnsack, Unable to Talk English and Nearly Deaf, Seeks Damages.

Joachim Bohnsack, Grand Lake settler, is at somewhat of a disadvantage when it comes to lawsuits.

Bohnsack is not only unable to speak or understand the English language, but he is also somewhat deaf.

When he appeared in Judge Dancer's division of the district court this morning as a witness in his own behalf in a damage suit against the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company, he was armed with a long speaking tube and a German interpreter. Questions put to the interpreter had to be translated and shouted into the speaking tube.

Bohnsack claims that when the railway company built a culvert over a stream which crossed its right-of-way in section 27, 51-17, the corporation failed to make it large enough to take care of the stream during the season of heavy rains. The culvert was put in during the summer of 1913.

During the seasons of 1913 and 1914, he alleges, water backed up from the culvert and overflowed his farm, causing damage in the sum of $800. Under the trespass statute, he seeks to reccover treble that amount as punitive damages.

The stream bridged by the culvert is the natural outlet of Grand lake. The company denies any liability. John Jenswold, Jr., appears in the case as attorney for the plaintiff, and Howard T. Abbott of Abbott, MacPherran, Lewis & Gilbert is representing the railway company.

MAYOR HAS JITNEY DRIVER ARRESTED

Two Other Jitneurs Drive Cars Without Rear-End Lights.

His honor, the mayor, turned plain clothes man yesterday afternoon long enough to swear out a warrant for Oscar Johnson, age 22, a jitneur, who drove by the open gates of a Lakeside car as the city's chief executive was about to board the car.

Johnson, who lives at 513 North First avenue west, pleaded guilty and paid a $5 fine in municipal court this morning.

Two other jitney jockeys were added to the list of twenty-four who have paid fines for running their car at night without rear lights. They were Raymond Paulu, Proctor, and Hjalmar Laine, 5202 Ivanhoe street.

Paulu and Laine were arrested in the West end last night and brought into court this morning by Sergt. Hunter, while Johnson presented himself at headquarters. Before Johnson's arrest, the police arrested Helmer Johnson, former owner of the car driven by Oscar Johnson, under whose name the license was listed.

QUICK ACTION BY ST. PAUL MAN

Accused of Running Unlicensed Saloon on Third Day in City.

Evidently overlooking a warning from Commissioner Silberstein that the change in the public safety division had not "opened the town," Charles Brody, age 40, is alleged to have opened a saloon at 116 West Michigan street without getting a license.

Brody has been in Duluth but three days, arriving here from St. Paul on Monday, according to police. He was arrested on order of Chief R. D. McKercher last night and charged with conducting an unlicensed drinking place.

In municipal court this morning he pleaded not guilty and was released on $100 bail to appear at a hearing this afternoon.

Almost Inconceivable.

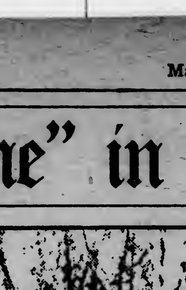
SOFT COLLARS FOR MEN MAY BE "THE THING" IN DULUTH

Lord Byron Effect in Neckwear Puts Stiff Collars to Rout; Worn Only By Martyrs So Far; Promise to Be Popular During Hot Weather.



THE NEW SOFT COLLAR EFFECT.

Men—some of them—are going to wear large flowing soft collars this year.

At last the world will be able to see the beautiful contour of man's neck and full-rounded shoulders.

After centuries, or rather decades, to be more conservative, of hard, stifling collars, the male half of the world is about to be emancipated. At last man will be free.

Of course, the large, flowing soft collars will be a novelty for a while, just as the present linen collars were when first worn by a few men, who had to be martyrs of fashion and suffer the jests of the street by being called "dudes." As long as you seemed uncomfortable and appeared ready to choke your last stifling breath, you were in fashion.

But from now on it will be different. Soft collars, attached to the shirt, will be the style. Those who have their private opinions of the white collars, collar buttons and collars that are resisting, will welcome the new style.

The leaders of fashion are wearing these soft collars. At present, in some cities, something can be seen coming down the street, wearing a soft collar and tripping gaily along, swinging a cane. If he is devilish, he may be smoking a cigarette. "It" looks at the wrist watch and fox trots around the corner out of sight.

The soft collar has its advantages. You don't have to change it in the morning. No longer will you hear the jokes about collar buttons and celluloid collars.

And just think how "grand" it's going to be for dancing. That's where the soft collars will make a big hit.

POLICE RAID TWO RESORTS

Eight Women and Two Men Taken; First Under New Regime.

Two raids on rooming houses, the first under the Silberstein regime, landed eight women and two men in the police dragnet between 12 and 12:35 o'clock last night.

The first raid was at the rooms over a store at 319 West Superior street, while the second was at 110 West Second street.

At midnight Police Captain Fiskett, with Lieut. Schulte, Detective Irvine and Sergt. David Butchart, visited the rooms on Second street and arrested Irene Manske, aged 31, proprietress; Ruth Rench, aged 22, domestic, and Dorothy Francis, aged 21, actress.

Half an hour later the same squad visited the Superior street place and arrested five women and two men. Florence Stone, aged 25, the proprietress, was charged with keeping an unlicensed drinking place; while Dora Ray, aged 26; Mabel Howard, aged 29; Kate Williams, aged 27; Nellie Bradley, aged 22; Walter R. Locketes, aged 30, a traveling salesman, and Frank Lavin, aged 29, also a salesman, were charged with disorderly conduct.

When the cases were called in municipal court this morning none of the defendants appeared. The Stone woman forfeited $100 bail, the Ray woman $25 bail, and the rest $10. The Manske woman, charged with keeping an unlicensed drinking place, together with Ruth Rench and Dorothy Francis, who were charged with vagrancy, will be given a hearing this afternoon.

Police declared that the Manske woman probably will forfeit $100 bail, while the other two will forfeit $10 bail.

These raids will be followed by others, according to Commissioner Silberstein, unless law violators change tactics.

"The police have been instructed to keep a close watch for disorderly houses," declared Chief McKercher, "and needless to say, we are going to do it."

ENEMY'S FLEET WINS CONTEST

gain entrance through the Virginia capes and establish himself within striking distance of Washington.

Mr. Daniels said he had called upon the commanding officers for full reports, and when they were received he would make public as much as possible the story of the operations.

Much Speculation.

Much speculation was indulged in by naval officers here as to how the successful plan of attack had been worked out. Such meager reports as were available indicated that the defenders —known as the "blues"—were operating off the New England coast. Consequently the suggestion most frequently heard was that the attacking ships had eluded Admiral Fletcher and passed into Chesapeake bay while the defenders cruised fruitlessly about, waiting for a dash against Boston or New York.

The war game began when the Atlantic fleet passed out of New York harbor after being reviewed by President Wilson. Practically every vessel on the active list has been engaged, Admiral Fletcher having under his command for defense of the seaboard the main body of the fleet, including the battleships, while Rear Admiral Beatty with cruisers, destroyers and auxiliaries, operating under the fictitious valuations of "battle cruisers" and "battleships," etc., undertook the attack.

Three submarines and one battleship met with accidents and had to put into port for repairs during the game.

OCEAN STEAMSHIPS IN COLLISION

only six Americans among the passengers. The other passengers, it was said, were Europeans returning home.

The Ryndam, a vessel of 7,976 tons register, net, was built in Belfast in 1901. Her length is 550 feet, her beam 66 feet. The Cuneo is a steamer of about 800 tons capacity. She carried a crew of 20 men and no passengers. Her length is 210 feet.

Dispatches sent during the forenoon by the South Carolina said the Ryndam was making thirteen knots on her way to this port. This speed, if maintained, would bring her to New York late tonight or early tomorrow.

Transferred to Battleship.

Boston, Mass., May 26.—A wireless message to the naval radio station here stated that the passengers and part of the crew of the steamer Ryndam, transferred to the steamer Joseph J. Cuneo after the collision of the two vessels early today, later were put aboard the battleship South Carolina. The Joseph J. Cuneo sailed from Boston last night for Baracoa, Cuba.

The collision occurred shortly after 4 a. m., in latitude 40.12 north, longitude 69.42 west. No details were given as to the circumstances of the accident or the nature of the damage sustained by either vessel, except that the Ryndam was making considerable water.

Calls for assistance were answered by several steamers and by the South Carolina and other United States battleships. The transfer of passengers and part of the crew occupied about an hour and was accomplished without mishap. The Ryndam then headed for New York at a speed of seven knots an hour, with the Cuneo close behind.

The South Carolina came up with the two vessels soon after 7 o'clock. At the request of Capt. Anmodt, of the Cuneo, the persons taken from the Ryndam were transferred to the battleship. The messages received did not state at what port the South Carolina would land them, but it was thought that she might convoy the Ryndam to New York.

Other messages from the warships stated that the steamers collided during a thick fog. The Cuneo's bows were smashed in badly.

At 9 a. m. the Ryndam, convoyed by the Cuneo and the battleships South Carolina, Texas and Louisiana was steaming towards New York at a speed of thirteen knots an hour. The water was said to be rising rapidly in her hold.

AMERICAN STEAMSHIP EITHER TORPEDOED OR STRIKES MINE

She had been struck forward and her foreholds were full of water.

The crew returned on board and got the vessel under way. No lives were lost among the crew. The Nebraskan did not carry any passengers.

The foregoing information was received today by the British admiralty in London and it was at once communicated to the American embassy.

Immediately she was struck, the Nebraskan began calling for help by wireless. Brownhead received the wireless communication at 9 a. m. yesterday from Crookhaven.

Officials Surprised.

The torpedoing of the Nebraskan was a surprise to American officials here. Apparently it occurred before 9 o'clock last night. All foreign vessels leaving Liverpool recently have had their names and nationalities painted in large letters on their sides and have flown large flags. Yesterday evening was clear and the period between 8 and 9 o'clock is the twilight hour in the British islands at this season.

A message to Lloyd's says that an armed trawler went to the assistance of the Nebraskan and stood by her all night.

The German submarine campaign is continuing actively. Dispatches from Norway say the people of that country have been aroused by the sinking last week of the Norwegian steamer Minerva and the attempt to torpedo the Iris, which went to her assistance. The steamer Cromer, loaded with passengers, had a narrow escape from being torpedoed while bound for Rotterdam yesterday.

A submarine fired a torpedo without warning. It missed the ship by only fifteen yards.

Consul Reports.

Washington, May 26.—Consul General Skinner at London cabled today:

"The British admiralty reports the American steamer Nebraskan torpedoed."

He gave the same location as mentioned in the London dispatches and added that he had received no direct report.

The text of Mr. Skinner's cablegram follows:

"The admiralty reports American steamer Nebraskan, Liverpool for Delaware Breakwater, torpedoed forty miles south by west Fastnet. Crew and boats standing by. Weather fine. No direct reports."

To Await Details.

Coming close on the Lusitania disaster, the news that another American ship had been endangered aroused more than ordinary attention, but all officials were disposed to hear details before making comment.

Some officials could not understand why a ship bound for the United States in ballast, and, therefore, carrying no contraband, should have been endangered by a torpedo and they considered it among the possibilities that the Nebraskan had struck a drifting mine.

Secretary Bryan said the state department's information was too meager to permit the forming of an opinion. He said a full report with details of the attack was expected soon.

The official and news dispatches on the Nebraskan were communicated to President Wilson, but no comment was forthcoming from the White House. It was indicated that a full investigation would be made as promptly as possible.

In Ballast for Orders.

Philadelphia, May 26.—The Nebraskan, it was said here, is bound for Delaware Breakwater in ballast for orders. This means that upon arrival there the agents of the ship would direct its master to proceed to any port where a cargo might be procured, possibly to the Pacific coast via the Panama canal.

The Nebraskan sailed from New York May 7 and arrived at Liverpool on May 19. Previous to the war the ship had been active in trade between Northern ports and Galveston, but since the outbreak of the war had made one voyage to London and one to Bremen.

TEUTONS ON OFFENSIVE

reviewing the first thirty-six hours of war claims the capture of several Austrian towns just across the border and the occupancy of all frontier passes in Cadore, together with a continuation of the successful advance on the Carniola and the Friuli frontiers.

Vienna counters with the official claim that the Austrian naval raid inflicted considerable damage on the Italian coast and on Italian war craft.

The illness of King Constantine of Greece is the feature of the diplomatic situation in the Near East. The death of this ruler, it is argued here, would end Greece's chief reason for maintaining neutrality.

Situation Well in Hand.

Petrograd, May 26, via London.—Although German activity continues in Central Galicia on both sides of the San river between Jaroslau and Przemysl, the Russians assert they now have the situation well in hand. They state that the German drive from Cracow through Galicia and also the parallel movement on the left side of the Vistula, which reached the Kielce and Radom districts, have lost their impetus and that the Russians are now ready to take the initiative.

Less optimistic observers believe the checking of the German move is due to the necessity of bringing up fresh supplies of ammunition, after which their aggressive will resume its former intensity.

Between Przemysl and the Dniester marshes the Russians already began a successful advance, capturing a number of small villages on the left bank of the Dniester. On the right side of the river the struggle of the opposing forces still swings forward and backward without definite gain for either side.

On the Dolina-Kolomea front there has been a violent and prolonged artillery duel without change in the positions of either side.

The Russians estimate that more than 7,000 prisoners have been taken between the Vistula and the Dniester in the last three days.

FURIOUS ATTACKS OF UNUSUAL VIOLENCE MADE BY GERMANS ON FRENCH TROOPS

the region of Soissons; there was another such encounter near Reims.

"From the rest of the front no reports have been received."

Aviators Active.

"During the day of May 25 our aviators showed great activity along the entire front and were successful in several endeavors to bombard the enemy. They threw down in all 203 projectiles. Of these 82 were large bombs of a weight of ten kilos (about 22 pounds each). Fourteen shells weighing 100 kilos (220 pounds) and 55 weighing 43 kilos (95 pounds each) together with other missiles were thrown down by our men. The efficacy of this fire was proved at several points, particularly at the German aviation park located at Hervilly, to the southeast of Roisel where a hangar and a machine were set on fire; at the German reserve aviation camp at Grand Priel, to the northwest of St. Quentin, where a hangar was shattered, and at the St. Quentin railroad station, where the gasoline supup tanks were destroyed.

"During the courose of the preceding night four shells were thrown from the air on the railroad station at Douai. The outbreak of a fire in the vicinity of the freight depots was observed."

German Statement.

Berlin, May 26, via London, 3:37 p. m.—The German general army headquarters staff today gave out the following statement:

"In the western theater:

"A night advance by the enemy against our newly acquired position near the forest of Hellewaard easily was repulsed. The number of machine guns taken from the English was increased to ten.

"Northeast of Givenchy colored British troops succeeded last night in capturing a projecting part of our outermost trenches.

"Further south, between Llevin and the Lorette hills, an extensive French attack, commenced in the afternoon, failed completely.

"In the region to the north and to the south of the high road between Souchez and Bethune the enemy had first succeeded in penetrating our trenches, but our counter-attacks again put us in full possession of our positions. One hundred Frenchmen remained in our hands.

"In the region south of Souchez several repeated strong attacks directed by white and colored French troops against our lines completely broke down before our entanglements. Our opponents suffered heavy loss everywhere. During the battles in Lorette hills a Silesian infantry regiment especially distinguished itself.

"An advance of the enemy in the eastern part of the forest of Le Pretre was easily repulsed. A hostile flying machine was brought down at a point south of Lens by our aviators.

"In the eastern theater weak night attacks were repulsed.

"In the southeastern theater:

"The attack being made by the army under General von Mackensen is making good progress. Southeast of Radymno, the village of Swiato was taken after fierce fighting. East of Radymno a crossing over the San river was captured after Austrian troops had taken a bridge to the west of the San by storm.

"Further to the south our troops after a battle reached the district east of Laszki and they also continued to the line of Korzeniica-Zapalow. The booty in prisoners and war materials increases."

KILL COCKROACHES!

Easy Matter to Exterminate These Filthy Pests.

Even a feeble imagination can think of the germs the cockroach must bring as it crawls around the kitchen and pantry, contaminating and spoiling food. Now is the time to kill off the cockroaches and free your home from the repulsive insects. A dozen cockroaches killed now is better than killing hundreds later.

A two-ounce box of Stearns Electric Paste, which you can get for twenty-five cents from any druggist, will rid your home of cockroaches or water bugs. It is much better than powders, as it can not blow away and get into the food. Easy to use and an absolute exterminator. Directions in fifteen languages in every package.

International Joint High Commission Members Entertained.

St. Paul, Minn., May 26.—Members of the international joint boundary commission, now meeting here, were luncheon guests of James A. PUNISHES BLIND PIGGERS.

Judge Flannigan Imposes Sentences at Marquette, Mich.

Marquette, Mich., May 26.—Judge Flannigan in circuit court here sentenced two of four violators of the liquor laws to jail. Fred Held of Ishpeming pleading guilty to violating the pure food laws was fined $100.

Dan McDonald of Negaunee, who pleaded guilty to the charge of conducting a saloon without a license, was sent to jail for twenty-five days, as was Frank Guidel of Forsyth township, whose disregard of the liquor laws was brought to light following a brawl in his place of business.

James H. Billings of Ishpeming, charged with having his saloon open on Sunday, was given a fine of $200 and paid costs of $65.

Fred Martel of Negaunee, who pleaded guilty to operating a blind pig at the Halfway, in Richmond township, was fined $200 and costs of $15, or twenty-five days in jail. Judge Flannigan was disposed to give Martel a straight jail sentence, but on the recommendation of the prosecutor imposed the fine instead. Mr. Martel assisted the prosecutor in the McDonald case.

GRAND FORKS Y. M. C. A. IS GIVEN BIG SUMS

Grand Forks, N. D., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—James J. Hill of St. Paul has given $5,000 toward a $40,000 fund for the construction of a new Y. M. C. A. building here.

R. B. Griffith of Grand Forks gave a like amount to the fund.

It is also announced that $19,000 had already been subscribed to the fund.

Eveleth Tennis Courts.

Eveleth, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work has been started on four new tennis courts directly east of the new manual training school. Last year there were only two tennis courts in town that were in playing condition, the Fee Owner's court and the high school court. There were so many people that wanted to play last year that the courts were overcrowded almost all the time, and many times people had to wait for hours before their turn came to play. Undoubtedly there will be even more people wishing to play this summer, so the school board decided to construct four new courts.

CANADIANS ARE LOYAL

Port Arthur Visitor Says Dominion Is Ready for Any Sacrifice.

Business Picking Up Despite War Depression; Heavy Crop Helps.

"With the enthusiasm aroused through the record of her troops in the Langemarck battle, Canada could easily raise an additional force of 100,000 men now," said Capt. George H. Thomson of Port Arthur, who was a visitor in the city yesterday.

Canadians are backing up the mother country in the great war in deadly earnest and stand ready to make great sacrifices in men and money to aid Great Britain, he averred. Another Port Arthur battalion, which will embody companies from Fort Frances and Rainy River, has been drilling for some time and will go forward to France shortly. It is well over strength, having been enlisted up to 1,400 men despite a unit of 250 men having been recently taken from it.

Business Improving.

Business at the Canadian Head of the Lakes is picking up, according to Capt. Thomson. The shipbuilding company at Port Arthur was successful in landing a large contract for shells, and, in addition, an order for several hundred traction engines for shipment over the west has been booked by it. The plant is thus operating at capacity with a large force under employment.

All interests at the Canadian lake ports are counting upon an active fall in view of the promise of a heavy yield of wheat and other grains. The acreage in the three western provinces has been substantially increased and growing conditions are described as having been never better than at the present.

Completing Roads.

The Canadian Northern and Grand Trunk Pacific railroad's main lines are nearing completion at the British Columbia end and are now in position to give a service from Port Arthur to points in Eastern Ontario and Quebec, Capt. Thomson said. The Canadian Northern has, in fact, announced that a through freight service will be inaugurated on July 1. That company's line between Port Arthur and Sudbury runs a considerable distance north of the Canadian Pacific, and will open to settlement large areas of rich farming lands.

POLICE RAID TWO RESORTS

Eight Women and Two Men Taken; First Under New Regime.

Two raids on rooming houses, the first under the Silberstein regime, landed eight women and two men in the police dragnet between 12 and 12:35 o'clock last night.

The first raid was at the rooms over a store at 319 West Superior street, while the second was at 110 West Second street.

At midnight Police Captain Fiskett, with Lieut. Schultz, Detective Irvine and Sergt. David Butchart, visited the rooms on Second street and arrested Irene Manske, aged 31, proprietress; Ruth Rench, aged 22, domestic, and Dorothy Francis, aged 21, actress.

Half an hour later the same squad visited the Superior street place and arrested five women and two men. Florence Stone, aged 25, the proprietress, was charged with keeping an unlicensed drinking place; while Dora Ray, aged 26; Mabel Howard, aged 29; Kate Williams, aged 27; Nellie Bradley, aged 22; Walter R. Lockeies, aged 30, a traveling salesman, and Frank Lavin, aged 29, also a salesman, were charged with disorderly conduct.

When the cases were called in municipal court this morning none of the defendants appeared. The Stone woman forfeited $100 bail, the Ray woman $25 bail, and the rest $10. The Manske woman, charged with keeping an unlicensed drinking place, together with Ruth Rench and Dorothy Francis, who were charged with vagrancy, will be given a hearing this afternoon.

Police declared that the Manske woman probably will forfeit $100 bail, while the other two will forfeit $10 bail.

These raids will be followed by others, according to Commissioner Silberstein, unless law violators change tactics.

"The police have been instructed to keep a close watch for disorderly houses," declared Chief McKercher, "and needless to say, we are going to do it."

ENEMY'S FLEET WINS CONTEST

gain entrance through the Virginia capes and establish himself within striking distance of Washington.

Mr Daniels said he had called upon the commanding officers for full reports, and when they were received he would make public as much as possible the story of the operations.

Much Speculation.

Much speculation was indulged in by naval officers here as to how the successful plan of attack had been worked out. Such meager reports as were available indicated that the defenders —known as the "blues"—were operating off the New England coast. Consequently the suggestion most frequently heard was that the attacking ships had eluded Admiral Fletcher and passed into Chesapeake bay while the defenders cruised fruitlessly about, waiting for a dash against Boston or New York.

The war game began when the Atlantic fleet passed out of New York harbor after being reviewed by President Wilson. Practically every vessel on the active list has been engaged. Admiral Fletcher having under his command for defense of the seaboard the main body of the fleet, including the battleships, while Rear Admiral Beatty with cruisers, destroyers and auxiliaries, operating under the fiction of "battle cruisers" and "battleships," etc., undertook the attack.

Three submarines and one battleship met with accidents and had to put into port for repairs during the game.

only six Americans among the passengers. The other passengers, it was said, were Europeans returning home.

The Ryndam, a vessel of 7,375 tons register, net, was built in Belfast in 1901. Her length is 550 feet, her beam 65 feet. The Cuneo is a steamer of about 800 tons capacity. She carried a crew of 20 men and no passengers. Her length is 219 feet.

Dispatches sent during the forenoon by the South Carolina said the Ryndam was making thirteen knots on her way to this port. His speed, if maintained, would bring her to New York late tonight or early tomorrow.

Transferred to Battleship.

Boston, Mass., May 26.—A wireless message to the naval radio station here stated that the passengers and part of the crew of the steamer Ryndam, transferred to the steamer Joseph J. Cuneo after the collision of the two vessels early today, later were put aboard the battleship South Carolina. The Joseph J. Cuneo sailed from Boston last night for Baracoa, Cuba.

The collision occurred shortly after 1 a. m. in latitude 40.12 north, longitude 69.42 west. No details were given as to the circumstances of the accident or the nature of the damage sustained by either vessel, except that the Ryndam was making considerable water.

Calls for assistance were answered by several steamers and by the South Carolina and other United States battleships. The transfer of passengers and part of the crew occupied about an hour and was accomplished without mishap. The Ryndam then headed for New York at a speed of seven knots an hour, with the Cuneo close behind.

The South Carolina came up with the two vessels soon after 9 o'clock. At the request of Capt. Aamodt, of the Cuneo, the persons taken from the Ryndam were transferred to the battleship. The messages received did not state at what port the South Carolina would land them, but it was thought that she might convoy the Ryndam to New York.

Other messages from the warships stated that the steamers collided during a thick fog. The Cuneo's bows were smashed in badly.

At 9 a. m. the Ryndam, convoyed by the Cuneo and the battleships South Carolina, Texas and Louisiana was steaming towards New York at a speed of thirteen knots an hour. The water was said to be rising rapidly in her hold.

AMERICAN STEAMSHIP EITHER TORPEDOED OR STRIKES MINE

She had been struck forward and her forcholds were full of water.

The crew returned on board and got the vessel under way. No lives were lost among the crew. The Nebraskan did not carry any passengers.

The foregoing information was received today by the British admiralty in London and it was at once communicated to the American embassy.

Immediately she was struck, the Nebraskan began calling for help by wireless. Browhead received the wireless communication at 9 a. m. yesterday from Crookhaven.

Officials Surprised.

The torpedoing of the Nebraskan was a surprise to American officials here. Apparently it occurred before 9 o'clock last night. All foreign vessels leaving Liverpool recently have had their names and nationalities painted in large letters on their sides and have flown large flags. Yesterday evening was clear and the period between 8 and 9 o'clock is the twilight hour in the British islands at this season.

A message to Lloyd's says that an armed trawler went to the assistance of the Nebraskan and stood by her all night.

The German submarine campaign is continuing actively. Dispatches from Norway say the people of that country have been aroused by the sinking last week of the Norwegian steamer Minerva and the attempt to torpedo the Iris, which went to her assistance. The steamer Cromer, loaded with passengers, had a narrow escape from being torpedoed while bound for Rotterdam yesterday.

A submarine fired a torpedo without warning. It missed the ship by only fifteen yards.

Consul Reports.

Washington, May 26.—Consul General Skinner at London cabled today:

"The British admiralty reports the American steamer Nebraskan torpedoed."

He gave the same location as mentioned in the London dispatches and added that he had received no direct report.

The text of Mr. Skinner's cablegram follows:

"The admiralty reports American steamer Nebraskan, Liverpool for Delaware Breakwater, torpedoed forty miles south by west Fastnet. Crew and boats standing by. Weather fine. No direct reports."

To Await Details.

Coming close on the Lusitania disaster, the news that another American ship had been endangered aroused more than ordinary attention, but all officials were disposed to hear details before making comment.

Some officials could not understand why a ship bound for the United States in ballast, and, therefore, carrying no contraband, should have been endangered by a torpedo and they considered it among the possibilities that the Nebraskan had struck a drifting mine.

Secretary Bryan said the state department's information was too meager to permit the forming of an opinion. He said a full report with details of the attack was expected soon.

The official and news dispatches on the Nebraskan were communicated to President Wilson, but no comment was forthcoming from the White House. It was indicated that a full investigation would be made as promptly as possible.

In Ballast for Orders.

Philadelphia, May 26.—The Nebraskan, it was said here, is bound for Delaware Breakwater in ballast for orders. This means that upon arrival there the agents of the ship would direct its master to proceed to any port where a cargo might be procured, possibly to the Pacific coast via the Panama canal.

The Nebraskan sailed from New York May 7 and arrived at Liverpool on May 19. Previous to the war the ship had been active in trade between Northern ports and Galveston, but since the outbreak of the war had made one voyage to London and one to Bremen.

reviewing the first thirty-six hours of war claims the capture of several Austrian towns just across the border and the occupancy of all frontier passes in Cadore, together with a continuation of the successful advance on the Carniola and the Friuli frontiers.

Vienna counters with the official claim that the Austrian naval raid inflicted considerable damage on the Italian coast and on Italian war craft.

The illness of King Constantine of Greece is the feature of the diplomatic situation in the Near East. The death of this ruler, it is argued here, would end Greece's chief reason for maintaining neutrality.

Situation Well in Hand.

Petrograd, May 26, via London.—Although German activity continues in Central Galicia on both sides of the San river between Jaroslau and Przemysl, the Russians assert they now have the situation well in hand. They state that the German drive from Cracow through Galicia and also the parallel movement on the left side of the Vistula, which reached the Kielce and Radom districts, have lost their impetus and that the Russians are now ready to take the initiative.

Less optimistic observers believe the checking of the German move is due to the necessity of bringing up fresh supplies of ammunition, after which their aggressive will resume its former intensity.

Between Przemysl and the Dniester marshes the Russians already began a successful advance, capturing a number of small villages on the left bank of the Dniester. On the right side of the river the struggle of the opposing forces still swings forward and backward without definite gain for either side.

On the Dolina-Kolomea front there has been a violent and prolonged artillery duel without change in the positions of either side.

The Russians estimate that more than 7,000 prisoners have been taken between the Vistula and the Dniester in the last three days.

the region of Soissons; there was another such encounter near Reims.

"From the rest of the front no reports have been received."

Aviators Active.

"During the day of May 25 our aviators showed great activity along the entire front and were successful in several endeavors to bombard the enemy. They threw down in all 203 projectiles. Of these 82 were large bombs of a weight of ten kilos (about 22 pounds each). Fourteen shells weighing 100 kilos (220 pounds) and 55 weighing 43 kilos (95 pounds each) together with other missiles were thrown down by our men. The efficacy of this fire was proved at several points, particularly at the German aviation park located at Hervilly, to the southeast of Roisel where a hangar and a machine were set on fire; at the German reserve aviation camp at Grand Priel, to the northwest of St. Quentin, where a hangar was shattered, and at the St. Quentin railroad station, where the gasoline supply tanks were destroyed.

"During the course of the preceding night four shells were thrown from the air on the railroad station at Douai. The outbreak of a fire in the vicinity of the freight depots was observed."

German Statement.

Berlin, May 26, via London, 3:37 p. m.—The German general army headquarters staff today gave out the following statement:

"In the western theater:

"A night advance by the enemy against our newly acquired position near the forest of Hellewaard easily was repulsed. The number of machine guns taken from the English was increased to ten.

"Northeastern of Givenchy colored British troops succeeded last night in capturing a projecting part of our outermost trenches.

"Further south, between Lievin and the Lorette hills, an extensive French attack, commenced in the afternoon, failed completely.

"In the region to the north and to the south of the high road between Souchez and Bethune the enemy had first succeeded in penetrating our trenches, but our counter-attacks again put us in full possession of our positions. One hundred Frenchmen remained in our hands.

"In the region south of Souchez several repeated strong attacks directed by white and colored French troops against our lines completely broke down before our entanglements. Our opponents suffered heavy loss everywhere. During the battles in Lorette hills a Silesian infantry regiment especially distinguished itself.

"An advance of the enemy in the eastern part of the forest of Le Pretre was easily repulsed. A hostile flying machine was brought down at a point south of Lens by our aviators.

"In the eastern theater weak night attacks were repulsed.

"In the southeastern theater:

"The attack being made by the army under General von Mackensen is making good progress. Southeast of Radymno, the village of Swiato was taken after fierce fighting. East of Radymno a crossing over the San river was captured after Austrian troops had taken a bridge to the west of the San by storm.

"Further to the south our troops after a battle reached the district east of Laszki and they also continued to the line of Korczenica-Zapalow. The booty in prisoners and war materials increases."

PUNISHES BLIND PIGGERS.

Judge Flannigan Imposes Sentences at Marquette, Mich.

Marquette, Mich., May 26.—Judge Flannigan in circuit court here sentenced two of four violators of the liquor laws to jail. Fred Held of Ishpeming pleading guilty to violating the pure food laws was fined $100.

James H. Billings of Ishpeming, charged with having his saloon open on Sunday, was given a fine of $200 and paid costs of $65.

Fred Martel of Negaunee, who pleaded guilty to operating a blind pig at the Halfway, in Richmond township, was fined $200 and costs of $15, or twenty-five days in jail. Judge Flannigan was disposed to give Martel a straight jail sentence, but on the recommendation of the prosecutor imposed the fine instead. Mr. Martel assisted the prosecutor in the McDonald case.

Eveleth Tennis Courts.

Eveleth, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Work has been started on four new tennis courts directly east of the new manual training school. Last year there were only two tennis courts in town that were in playing condition, the Fee Owner's court and the high school court. There were so many people that wanted to play last year that the courts were overcrowded almost all the time, and many times people had to wait for hours before their turn came to play. Undoubtedly there will be even more people wishing to play this summer, so the school board decided to construct four new courts.

ANY FOURTH OF JULY IN DULUTH THIS YEAR?

Commissioner Voss says there ought to be a Fourth of July celebration in Duluth this year.

Commissioner Voss is right.

Fourth of July ought to mean something. It does mean something, and probably nearly everybody feels that meaning more or less. But when a holiday falls into neglect, as the Fourth has in Duluth, there is danger that much of its signiiicance will be lost.

The old Fourth of July, with its noise and nuisances, has been denatured in Duluth, as elsewhere, and very properly. The trouble is that nothing has been put in its place. The old Fourth was bad enough, but it was a Fourth of July, and maybe it would be better to have it back than to have no Fourth at all.

Mr. Voss's suggestions of details are interesting. He says there might be community singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" in the courthouse square, suitable exercises, and fireworks at night. There should be a program no less elaborate than this.

There is time enough to get it up, providing a start is made right away. That start should be made.

The Fourth of July should be given a meaning in Duluth. Duluth's children must not be permitted to grow up believing the natoinal birthday to be something so lightly thought of it that its observance isn't up to that of April Fool day.

If it is only a program in courthouse square, with everybody singing "The Star Spangled Banner," and fireworks in the evening, Duluth should celebrate the Fourth this year with all its might.

This proposal to reopen the discussion regarding the discovery of the North Pole may be only a ruse to try to drag Denmark into war.

THE CALL TO THE ITALIAN COLORS.

Italy is at war, and though its enemies Germany and Austria were pretty hotly engaged before, it will be a real war that will call for all the valor and self-sacrifice—and men—that Italy can furnish.

There are two million Italian men in this country, it is estimated, of which number forty per cent, or eight hundred thousand, will respond to the call of the colors.

That's bringing the war home to America once more. This manifestation of it is likely to make itself more noticeable now than it has before. Immigrants from other nations at war have responded to the call, many of them. But probably in no case has the proportion been so large as it will be with the Italians.

They are newer immigrants, for one thing. Thirty years ago eighty per cent of our immigration was from Germany, the British Isles and the Scandinavian countries. In the last generation that element has shrunk to something like thirty per cent, and the Southern Europe element has swelled to seventy or eighty per cent.

We never did get many immigrants from France. Newcomers from the British Isles have been fewer than they used to be. Germans haven't been emigrating much in recent years. We have had many from Austria-Hungary, but a large proportion of these have been subject races that felt no particular loyalty to the master race. There have been many from Russia, but most of these escaped from oppression and were not likely to go back to fight for their oppressors.

So while all these nations drew back men from this country to fill their armies, probably in no case was the proportion of eligibles so great as it is in the case of the Italians.

It isn't going to be pleasant to think of these cheery fellows whose dark faces have become so familiar going back to be shot at—back to "Sunny Italy," now clouded over with war. That's one phase of it.

There is another phase that has real economic importance—its bearing on the labor supply. Just when the supply of labor and the supply of jobs were getting at last on a parity, and when the promise of an eager demand for labor was great, the loss of six or eight hundred thousand workers is pretty certain to be felt. It may be that it will be seriously felt.

If the supply of men continued larger than the supply of jobs, it would not be serious; it might even prove a relief. But the supply of jobs is not likely to remain smaller than the supply of men, and the loss of such a large body of workers may soon result in an actual cramping of industry.

It took a Chicago paper to suggest the invention of a "safety" lawn mower. One of the nature of a jitney would be more useful.

A CONSPIRACY.

With several new mills for the production of cotton specialties in process of organization, and considerable new construction at old plants, it looks as if the cotton manufacturers of New England contemplated expansion at no distant date.—Fiber and Fabric.

There certainly is a conspiracy among trade papers and other agencies that collect and disseminate industrial news, aimed at the calamity howler, the manufacturer of gloom for Republican party purposes, and the adherent of the doctrine that there can be no prosperity except under Republican Old Guard, high-tariff, special privilege auspices.

This item is but one of many. The tide of such news is at its flood. Despite the Democrat in the White House, despite the Democratic majority in congress, despite the Democratic tariff, despite the war—indeed, in some measure at least because of these very things—industry shows unmistakable signs of a tremendous revival.

All of which reminds us again of what the shrewd and experienced manager of a great Duluth industry said a few months ago: "Any man who sells this country short for more than a year is a fool."

As the man from Mars looks at the casualty lists of the war, he must wonder why people got so excited over the Titanic disaster.

WHO OWNS COLORADO?

Chairman Walsh of the industrial relations committee yesterday nagged one very startling statement out of W. L. Mackenzie King, who is director of the industrial relations department of the Rockefeller Foundation:

"The will and conscience of John D. Rockefeller is more powerful in Colorado than any other force that can be brought to bear at this time," said King.

"You think that the will and conscience of Mr. John D. Rockefeller is more powerful than the wills and consciences of all the American people to bring about a change of conditions in Colorado?" inquired Chairman Walsh.

"I mean to say that if I wanted to improve conditions in Colorado, the man I would go after would be John D. Rockefeller, Jr. He could do more in one year along that line than efforts to focus public opinion on the situation could do in several years."

That sounds dangerously like complete confirmation of the worst that has been charged against the state of Colorado.

It sounds discouragingly like an opinion that the influence of John D. Rockefeller in Colorado is weightier than the influence of the public conscience, and that what Rockefeller wishes is a more powerful leverage than the self-respect of the people of Colorado. Which is precisely what has been charged against that state.

God help a commonwealth where the will and conscience of ANY man is mightier than the will and conscience of the people!

That New York court decision that says theatrical managers cannot bar newspaper representatives ought to help some in establishing the real qualities of plays in that city.

THE CAUSE OF WAR.

"Militarism and imperialism are the direct causes of the war in Europe," said Rev. John Walberg of Gefle, Sweden, in a Duluth address Monday night.

He is right. The notion that the people of the warring nations got up this war because of any grudge which the people of Germany had against the people of France, Russia, Belgium or England, or which the people of England had against the people of Austria or Germany, is the supremest height of absurdity.

Militarism and imperialism almost always are the causes of war. The people that lets its rulers arm them to the teeth and that permits the creation of a military caste is sooner or later going to fight and suffer and die.

If the war blast blows every autocracy and every aristocracy off the face of the earth, it will be worth while, because then there will be no more war.

Chances are England never realized before how many men she had fully competent to take Kitchener's place.

Disgusted the Scotchman.

Kansas City Star: They were about the roughest, rawest lot of recruits the sergeant ever had to tackle.

He worked hard at them for three hours, and at last thought they were getting into some sort of shape, so he decided to test them.

"Right turn!" he barked. Then before they had ceased to move came another order: "Left turn!"

One yokel slowly left the ranks and made off toward the barrack room.

"Here, you!" yelled the sergeant angrily, "where are you off to?"

"Ah've had enough," replied the recruit, in disgusted tone. "Tha doesn't know tha own mind for two minutes runnin'!"

If We All Had Twice As Much Money

Editorial in the Boston Globe.

If all of us woke today to find that we had just twice as much money as we had last evening we should probably be more or less pleased.

The housewife would have just so much more to spend; the spendthrift so much more to squander; the banker so much more to invest; the poverty-stricken man might bemoan his fate at having so little at a time when suddenly every dollar became two dollars; the thrifty would go to the bank, and the miser would count his pile over five or six times.

Everybody would wonder how it happened, but few would realize that no one was benefited by the change.

When the little dreams of how the extra dollars might be spent or invested had been shattered by the world-wide doubling of prices, then at last we would more generally understand that the value of a dollar is not fixed by law, but that it varies constantly.

It would make no more difference whether it were the world's supply of dollars or of diamonds that might be doubled, the result would be the same as far as the value of the doubled gem or precious metal. The value of gold, or of diamonds, does not lie in the usage to which these articles can be put, but to their scarcity.

A well-known French scientist has estimated that there are 14 1-5 tons of cut diamonds in the world today. He values them at $4,700,000,000 according to present prices. As the diamond fields of India and Brazil have practically been exhausted, the production of diamonds is now confined to South Africa.

It can easily be seen that if a wandering scientist should stumble upon fifty tons of diamonds in some hitherto unexplored corner of the globe, immediately the price of diamonds would drop considerably.

The same is true of gold. There is in the world today, according to the latest figures, $13,775,000,000 worth of gold which has been produced since Columbus discovered America.

Gold is worthless except as a means of exchange. It will not keep anyone warm; it is not good for food; it is a poor building material; it has a slight use as a cure for acute alcoholism; its only value is its scarcity.

Being scarce, gold is a convenient method of symbolizing high values. A little goes a long way. If we had to use wampum or leather, or chunks of pig iron, all of which have been used at some time for money, it would be most inconvenient. Even gold has its disadvantages; and, while the yellow coins are often used abroad, they are not generally found in the pocketbooks of the American people. We symbolize gold by a certificate popularly known as paper money.

Gold, nevertheless, is now the standard measure in nearly all countries of the world. Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, China and Paraguay are the only nations now using a silver standard.

Since gold is the standard for the valuation of the dollar it can easily be seen the value of the dollar depends on the value of gold. It takes 25.8 grains of gold to make a dollar.

Like the diamonds, if the amount of gold in the world should be suddenly doubled, then the value of the metal would fall; and, gold being the standard by which money is measured, the value of the dollar would drop.

When the value of the dollar falls we naturally notice that our dollar will not purchase as much as it did formerly. We say that prices are high, which means that it takes more dollars to secure the same amount of value. We say that shoes, clothes, flour and meat cost more, which means that it takes more money to buy the same amount of goods than it did ten years ago.

We do not stop to realize that $2,500,000,000 worth of gold has been produced in the last ten years, making gold less rare and therefore less valuable than it was a decade ago. Industrially the world consumes about $175,000,000 worth of gold in a year and produces more than $450,000,000 worth. If we consumed in ornamentation and in curing dipsomaniaca as much gold as we produced, then the value of the dollar would not decline.

A college professor has just proposed, as a remedy for the high cost of living, that the dollar be standardized as a unit, not of coin weight, but of value. Value of what?

Any man who can make the dollar stand still in value would confer a great favor on humanity.

Hard Lines in Famous Penn Yan.

Providence Journal: An interesting experiment has just been undertaken in Penn Yan, N. Y., which may be a comparatively obscure community, but is none the less to be respected for its domestic initiative and independence. A score of Penn Yan families have adopted the schedule of two meals a day, and the entire community is said to be watching the experiment with feminine interest and masculine anxiety. Naturally, if the plan proves successful, three meals a day will no longer be known in Penn Yan, and father and the boys will have to adjust their hunger to the curtailment of sustenance.

The scheme is not based on a new notion of economy, nor on a general belief that people eat too much, but merely on the disinclination of the experimenting housewives to do what they considered unnecessary work. Of course, they needed some better reason than the mere disinclination to work, so they obtained expert medical opinion to the effect that sufficient nutrition is furnished by breakfast and late afternoon dinner. So the usual noon meal is to be omitted, for the ordinary husband lacks the will power and the character to dispute what the doctor says.

In the average large city this would not mean so much, for the place of work is usually some distance from the home and the men folk habitually eat their luncheon at a restaurant or take it with them, but Penn Yan is a small place and presumably most of the Penn Yanites have been going home at noon for a hot meal. The question for them is a practical rather than an academic one. The revolutionary experiment does not concern health and dietary routine so much as the tempers and temperaments of Penn Yan husbands. Until the conflict between masculine habit and will and feminine determination to reduce the cooking and dishwashing by 33 per cent is settled Penn Yan is likely to be as interesting sociologically as it is philologically.

Ministers of the Gospel.

Colossians 1, 25 and 27: I am made a minister, according to the dispensation of God which is given to me for you, to fulfill the word of God; even the mystery which hath been hid from ages and from generations, but now is made manifest to his saints; to whom God would make known what is the riches of the glory of this mystery among the Gentiles; which is Christ in you, the hope of glory.

An Old Motto Revised.

New York Independent: The Twentieth century version of Cromwell's motto is "Trust in God and keep your army dry."

War Aids Women Doctors

From the London Times.

From the London Times: Although women have been admitted to the medical profession for more than a generation, they have been mainly regarded by the public, so far at least as private practice is concerned, as the physicians exclusively of women and children. During the last twelvemonth, however, a change of attitude has been clearly discernible—a change which the war has now abruptly completed.

The woman doctor is no longer looked at with suspicion if she controls a hospital or directs a dispensary. At the front there are five hospitals supplied and maintained entirely by women, and at home, in the Midlands, may be found other striking examples of the ability of the woman doctor, not only to act as such, but to carry on the management of public hospitals.

Recent industrial legislation has taken its part in enlarging the field of medical practice for women. There are 5,000,000 women nationally insured, and a great number of these taking advantage of the free choice of doctors which the act allows select a woman practitioner. In industrial areas there is also an increasing inclination among women to be tended by members of their own sex.

Medical missionary work in India has created a field of its own for the woman doctor, and in the colonies a regular service of women doctors has been organized by the colonial office. In the public health service, too, opportunities for medical women have been greatly multiplied in recent years. The consequent impetus to the study of medicine by women has been particularly marked during the last war, and now the war has brought about a special state of affairs wherein the great increase of women medical students will be of great benefit to the nation.

Every day numbers of letters are received at the London School of Medicine for Women asking for women practitioners and dispensers to fill the places left vacant by men, and plenty of women are ready equipped to answer the call. They are going largely to staff the hospitals and other institutions where the assistance of a qualified doctor or staff of doctors is essential.

Surgery does not offer so wide a field to women as medicine, and has been taken up by few. It is an art for which women might be supposed particularly well adapted by nature, but are handicapped by the fact that the number of hospitals where women are appointed to the visiting staff is very small. Further, surgery demands years of waiting before a reputation is won and a remunerative practice built up, while medicine comparatively quickly repays the practitioner for the long course of preparation.

America After the War

Henry W. Massingham, editor London Nation, in the Atlantic Monthly: Coalition of powers against other powers or groups of powers we have had. They produced the curse of the armed peace, followed by the greater curse of the war of nations. Is it not time to resort to the opposite conception of a union of all for the good of all? That conception in its turn invites the restoration of the reign of law, resting on a minimum of force, as against the establishment of force, based on a minimum of law.

It is at this point that I believe a general recourse will be had to the good offices of your government and country. The lines of European civilization are and must long be sundered by mutual hate and suspicion. No magic balm is available for their reunion. We may not always retain our present allies or confront our existing enemies. But so long as the doctrine of the balance governs European politics, and the peace is based merely on ingenius readjustments of it, the old passions, reduced but not expelled in the hour of exhaustion, must return.

New moral forces must arise, a new wave of faith, hope, mutual toleration, probably a new passionate intervention of the peoples, whose lives have been so fatally remortgaged to want and ill rewarded toil.

Then the call to the newer Western world, equipped with a great system the two keys of which are federalism and free state government, may come almost automatically from all parties to the war.

But if America responds, she too will be called on to lay her offering on the altar. She will not expect to come into our state world as its arbiter. The summons will be to a comradeship of responsibility and effort. We believe that the event which gradually drew us out of our later policy of isolation will in its sequence exercise the same attraction on you; for the modern world is one, and no part of it can be lost or saved for itself alone.

To America.

I.

What names and thoughts shall stead thee in this hour
When issues, like an armed man, draw near;
Names allied not to fury or to fear,
Thoughts higher than the simple thought of power?
What wisdom lesson thee to pluck the flower
Of our land's honor from this nettle here—
Making the right in majesty appear,
Banning the clouds that ominously lower?

Ere yet the questions come, the answers wait:
Turn thought where'er she may, or feeling grope,
Two figures clearly, hollily arise;
They knew the hard decision big with fate,
They saw behind it all the changeless hope—
Lincoln the patient, Washington, the wise!

II.

Not as the war-mad nations, drunk and wild
With the bitter wine of their own fury, seek
The path to go, the word true men must speak
For injured right and justice sore defiled!
Sober with strength, by passion unbeguiled—
The future big, the tyrannous instant weak—
In threats not stern, for justice not too meek,
Confront the question—Freedom's best loved child!

So shalt thou find thy noblest gesture, find
The imperial word based on imperial right,
And the world's conscience shall attest the fact;
Nay, thou shalt be the trumpet of mankind,
And thou shalt see, however dark the night,
The path shine clear, from righteous word to Act!

A Legacy of 1815

Editorial in Kansas City Star.

The crisis in Italy is a legacy of an event of a century ago. The congress of Vienna in 1815, dominated by Austria, left the Italian peninsula in a state of unstable equilibrium which still exists.

From St. Helena Napoleon wrote: "Italy, isolated between her natural limits, is destined to form a great and powerful nation. Italy is one nation; unity of language, customs and literature must, within a period more or less distant, unite her inhabitants under one sole government. And Rome will, without the slightest doubt, be chosen by the Italians as their capital."

Yet the eminent gentlemen who controlled the congress of Vienna saw nothing of this. They did not even attempt a loose confederation. Italy was divided into ten states, each one too small to have any influence, and all of them under the domination of Austria. That monarchy was given outright the richest part of the Valley of the Po. Austrian princes and princesses were installed over the little kingdoms of Northern Italy and the King of Naples was induced to make an alliance with Vienna that made his kingdom a subsidiary province.

For nearly a half century this condition continued, with Italy only a name, and with Italians virtually ruled by Austria.

Then the rising tide of nationality inspired by Mazzini and Garibaldi and guided by Cavour beat back the Austrian lines. In a two months' campaign, with France as ally, Sardinia defeated Austria at Magenta and Solferino, and the nucleus of the modern kingdom of Italy was formed. Central Italy shortly joined Sardinia, and the uprising in the south, under the leadership of Garibaldi completed the unification of the peninsula with the exception of the papal territory of Rome, which was added during the Franco-Prussian war.

Austria, however, still retained its old Italian holdings of provinces adjoining the new kingdom, and for the last forty years there has been a movement in Italy for "redeeming" the Italian lands still under Austrian domination. This movement is what is known on the continent as "irredentism," the movement for regaining "Italia irredenta," "Italy unredeemed."

The war party of 1915 has built on the foundation of irredentism which was laid by the diplomatists who thought they were settling everything so snugly at Vienna after the downfall of Napoleon.

Is Billy Snnday Sincere?

John Reed in the Metropolitan: We gathered up Mr. Ackley and went into a front room, where, robed in white pajamas, in the midst of an enormous bed, Billy Sunday lay reading a book by the light of an electric lamp over his shoulder.

"Here's a couple of fellows from a New York magazine," said Ackley. "They wanted to shake hands with you."

Billy lifted his head with the swift movement of an animal and looked at us with eyes in which cordiality, appraisal, doubt and fear of ridicule chased themselves like wind on water. The upper part of his face was extraordinarily alive and expressive; his mouth was strong, mobile, enthusiastic—trembling into a kind of embarrassed grin. He looked at us as if he thought that perhaps we had come to persecute him. He looked at Carliff, and then at Ackley, for an explanation. The gray thin hair on top of his head was almost invisible, making his face seem incredibly boyish—for Billy Sunday is 52. Since the sermon a gray stubble of beard had sprouted on his cheeks and chin, and there were sagging pouches of flesh and tired lines at the corners of his mouth.

"I'm glad to see you, boys," he said, smiling a little doubtfully. "What can I do for you?"

"We sat next to you in the tabernacle today, Mr. Sunday," we told him, "and we would come in and shake hands with you. We wanted to see what kind of a guy you really were."

With a delighted smile he dropped the book and thrust out both hands.

"Well, now," he said heartily, "I like that. I'm real glad you came. Sit right down."

His eyes and face were full of easy, childlike enthusiasm. He discovered that I had just come back from Europe.

"Say," he said, in wide-eyed admiration, "there's too many bullets flying around over there for me. A fellow's got to have a good deal of courage to go over there now, hasn't he?"

We asked him what he thought of the war, and his eyes filled suddenly with tears.

"I think it's the most horrible, awful thing in the whole world," he said, earnestly. He was proceeding, but there was a swift rustle of skirts behind us, and the nervous voice of Ma Sunday snapped:

"You villains! Didn't I tell you you couldn't see Billy? What have they been doing, Billy—pumping you?"

She went over to him, pulled up the covers, lifted his head, and turned over the pillow for him.

"Not a pump," laughed Billy; "they're just good-natured human beings come to shake hands with me."

Is Billy Sunday sincere? I think he is. I have seen him absolutely dominate two audiences of twenty thousand people in one day and I do not believe he could put the fire and passion and enthusiasm into his words and actions if he were not sincere. He is generous, even reckless, with his money—he seems to have no idea of its value. Everyone who talks with him loves him. As to the social, economic and political relations of the world about him, I think he is just ignorant, that's all.

Come to Stay.

New York American: He was paying a visit to his friend, but that worthy being upstairs for some reason or other, he had no option but to wait downstairs.

Presently a little boy of 5 entered the room. "Good afternoon, Mr. Black," he exclaimed shyly.

Mr. B. returned the salutation, but neither spoke again for quite five minutes. Then the boy suddenly burst out:

"You don't know what we've got upstairs."

"No, I don't, Jackie. What is it?"

"It's a dear little new baby sister."

"How nice!" exclaimed Mr. Black. "And is she going to stay with you?" he added, by way of keeping up the conversation.

"I 'spect so," came the thoughtful answer. "She's got her things off, anyway."

Liberal Indeed.

Buffalo Express: "Did you give your son a liberal education, Mr. Tite?"

"Well, I don't know as you'd call it liberal exactly, but there wasn't a month passed while he was in college that I didn't send him two or three dollars."

Politics Interests Press of the State

Some Mid-Season Comment by Minnesota Editors.

"Fire When You Are Ready."

Montevideo Leader: We understand that Representative Gunner B. Bjornson, editor of the Minneota Mascot, could be prevailed upon to accept a nomination for the office of secretary of state, now held by Julius Schmahl. Mr. Bjornson has a host of friends in this neck o' the woods who would be pleased to see him in that or some other good state office and we know of no one who we believe would fill the place with greater honor or ability.

What's This "Hypocratic"?

Ada Herald: A boom is getting under headway for James A. Tawney as a candidate to succeed Senator Clapp. Tawney was one of the biggest men in congress. He is of the standpat type, but is not of a hypocratic nature. The feeling is growing that Clapp has tried to ride both horses, and that if the right man comes out, he is slated for the lame duck class.

Hope Deferred.

Belleplaine Herald: The Faribault Pilot is authority for the statement that A. J. Rockne of Goodhue county will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor next year. In that case he has probably given up as hopeless his long-standing ambition to succeed Mr. Davis as congressman from this district.

Not Impossible, Anyway.

Elk River Star News: Congressman Lingbergh says he is not a candidate for governor or any other office this year, but next year will have to make its own record. It is more likely Lindbergh's eyes will be cast upon the office of United States senator, rather than the governorship, when 1916 rolls around.

It Might.

Madison Independent Press: The St. Peter Free Press has become a special pleader for Senator Clapp. That paper thinks his bolting the Taft ticket ought not to bar him. Of course not, but if nominated he has set a precedent which might be turned against him most effectively by the Taft element.

Just Their Way.

Staples Herald: Certain papers are eternally dishing up the lame or dead ducks as their choice for this or that office in the future and at the same time are grumbling because the Republican party is disrupted in this state.

First Find the Spot.

Red Wing Eagle: "Help!" shouts an excited exchange. "Help!" improved business conditions are menacing the Republican party's "full dinner pail" issue for 1916. All good Republican business men will try to keep business as bad as possible until a year from next November. If any Republican business man admits that business is better, shoot him on the spot.

No, Not Very.

St. Peter Free Press: It has been given out, presumably as a feeler, that in all probability ex-President Roosevelt will be chosen as the Republican standard bearer in the next presidential campaign. Of course that is merely a speculative guess and since one guess is as good as another we venture the guess that in all probability Mr. Roosevelt will not be in the field at all, for the reason that our national affairs are not likely to be in shape to permit a successful presidential campaign upon purely local issues. It is possible that conditions may change, but at present Mr. Roosevelt's chances for the presidency are not very encouraging.

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

Have you gained the victory over the foes within you? There is jealousy. Would you overcome that? If you are jealous of anyone, do him some good turn. There is a fable of an eagle which was jealous of another that could outfly him. He saw a sportsman one day, and said to him, "I wish you would bring down that eagle." The sportsman replied that he would if he only had some feathers to put into his arrow. So the eagle pulled one out of his wing. The arrow was shot, but didn't quite reach the rival eagle; it was flying too high. The envious eagle kept pulling out more feathers until he lost so many that he couldn't fly, and then the sportsman turned around and killed him. My friend, if you are jealous, the only man you can hurt is yourself.—D. L. Moody.

You are not responsible if disreputable persons ring at your door; but for the persons whom you systematically take into your home life you are permanently responsible. Just so for the thought that you dwell on, that you turn as a sweet morsel under the tongue, that colors and shapes the whole fabric of your life—for that thought you are responsible.—Merrill E. Gates.

How many men and women of ability there are in the church of whom we expect great things but who always disappoint us! What is the matter? Sin! Oh, if you would have a mighty work of God in your own soul, ask God to search your heart, and if God shows you some sin, give it up. No matter if it is like tearing out your heart-strings, out with it! It hinders a mighty work of God in your soul.—R. A. Torrey.

Down in the Mountains.

The Woman Homesteader in Atlantic: We were up and about next morning in the first faint gray light. While the men fed grain to the horses and saddled them, we prepared a hasty breakfast. We were off before it was more than light enough for us to see the trail.

Dawn in the mountains—how I wish I could describe it to you! If I could only make you feel the keen, bracing air, the exhilarating climb; if I could only paint its beauties, what a picture you should have! Here the colors are very different from those of the desert. I suppose the forest makes it so. The shadows are mellow, like the colors in an old picture,—greenish amber light and a blue-gray sky. Far ahead of us we could see the red rim rock of a mountain above the timber line. The first rays of the sun turned the jagged peaks into golden points of a crown. In Oklahoma, at that hour of the day, the woods would be alive with songbirds, even at this season; but here there are no song-birds, and only the snapping of twigs, as our horses climbed the frosty trail, broke the silence.

The Defect of Baseball.

Life: When we look at the inwards of the question, we cannot blame the Albany legislature for prohibiting baseball on Sunday. The trouble with baseball is that it is a little too open and above-board for the average legislator. Legislators do their best work, such as laying and pulling wires, in secret. What they do in public is solely for public misinformation. When they have anything important to say they go into executive session. It is not reasonable, therefore, that they would be in complete sympathy with a sport that everybody can see is healthful and harmless.

If the youth of the country want to be successful and ultimately reach the high estate of our majestical legislative solons, they must eschew the open air and learn to spend their Sundays in quiet indoor plotting and other activities of which illicitness and secrecy are prime components.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. But discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer (though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THE JITNEY BUSINESS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have been looking upon the jitney business with a great deal of favor ever since they opened up in the city, expecting that the people living up the avenues away from the street car line would thereby be accommodated, but I must confess that I have been very much disappointed.

I have several times offered to pay them for a full load, nay more than for a full load, in order to go up town a few blocks, but even though I have been the only passenger, they have refused to do so. What benefit will there be to people living on Third, Fourth or Fifth streets when, even after offering more than five times the regular fare, they refuse to accommodate them? If they are only going to run parallel with the street car lines in the down town district, it is my opinion they will be of no benefit whatever to the people at large but rather a public nuisance.

In order that they may be of some benefit, I would suggest that the jitney organization establish an office in the down town district with telephone connections, that they adopt and publish a fixed schedule of fares for going certain distance up town or to certain points in the city, then make arrangements so people by calling the central office may have a car on short notice at any such point. Also that people can board a car down town and be taken to any such point in the city upon paying the rate fixed.

If some system like the above could be established the jitney business would meet a certain want and be of great benefit to the people. But as I said before, if they are only going to run parallel with the street car, for a short distance on Superior street, they will, in my opinion, be of no benefit but rather a public nuisance, and if that is going to be the policy, the sooner they quit the business the better. Yours truly.

Duluth, May 25. JUSTICE TO ALL.

DISTRIBUTING JOBS TO THE UNEMPLOYED

To the Editor of The Herald:

Have we, poor working women of Duluth, no rights at all? This is a thing which I have noticed for a long time. I am a poor widow with no one to depend on but myself and compelled to go out working by the day or starve. There are many others who are no better off than I am. Now at the Minnesota state free employment bureau the women and girls who come to Duluth from other cities and other states are given the first chance at work, but we who have to live here are sent home with nothing. Is that fair? What is this particular employment bureau for if it is not to help the working people of this state and city? I understood that this was the purpose it was established for. Late last winter there were women who came from Superior, Wis., to the employment office looking for work. They got what work there was and we of Duluth had to go home without any. What business had they to give those women first preference? It was Wisconsin's place to look after them. But many times we old-timers go home empty-handed. Is there justice in this?

I am speaking for the women who are good workers and have references as such. I have very good references myself, or I wouldn't presume to write this. Yours very truly.

A DAYS' WORKER OF DULUTH.

Duluth, May 25.

The Herald made inquiries as to the truth of the above complaints. During the last winter there has been a big surplus of workers and several applicants for every job that came in. Every effort has seemingly been made to give preference to those in greatest need of work and to those residing in Duluth, providing the applicant was capable of performing the duties required. Those in charge of the bureau have had anything but an easy task, and with scores of disappointed ones every day it was inevitable that some should vent their displeasure on the officers.—The Editor.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

Victim, Seney, Mich.—In your answer to "Victim" on Saturday last I will say I have not been informed whether or not there was a receiver appointed. I was informed by postoffice inspector that the president of the Music Publishing company was arrested in November, 1914, indicted in February, 1915, and that date of trial had not been set. What I want to know is this: Should I address my claim to the trial judge and of what court—circuit or district? Or if I should address the prosecutor, give official designation. The postoffice department will not collect the claim.—This is evidently a criminal prosecution and under such circumstances it is not likely that the victims will ever collect anything. The business of the prosecutor and judge in this proceeding is to punish the man if he is guilty. You have not yet given any details of the case and The Herald has no way of knowing the name of the firm, the nature of the action against it, or even in what court it is brought, or by whom it is prosecuted. If you know the name of the prosecutor, write him.

Subscriber—Please answer these in your Open Court, viz:

1. What is the sixteenth amendment to Constitution of United States?
2. Of William Taft's and W. Wilson's administration give (a) vice president. (b) some important events during each administration.
3. From a barrel of kerosene one-fifth leaked out and fifteen gallons were drawn, it then was half full, how many gallons were in the barrel?
4. Willie and James picked 210 quarts together. Willie picked one-third more than James, how many quarts did each pick?—The sixteenth amendment: "Congress shall have power to levy and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several states and without regard to any census or enumeration."

Taft's administration: James Sherman of New York was vice president. During Taft's administration the tariff was revised upward. Parcel post law enacted and postal savings banks established.

Wilson's administration: Thomas R. Marshall, Indiana, vice president. Events: Tariff lowered, currency bill, regulation of trusts, income tax, passage of sixteenth amendment, etc. Has kept America out of war when most of the world is in it.

Your last two questions are simple problems that may be worked by either algebraic equations or arithmetic. This column will not answer such questions, as they have no public interest.

A. O.—"A" says that the drug in tea is called caffeine, the same as that in coffee. I say that it is called tannin. Which is correct? Also, was Cleopatra, the Egyptian princess, beautiful or merely fascinatingly attractive, without beauty.—Caffeine is found in both coffee and tea. Tannin also is in both tea and coffee, but it is not the same as caffeine. Historians describe Cleopatra as beautiful. She was of swarthy complexion, but of pure Macedonian descent and no darker than a Greek.

R. G. Harling, Tacoma—In case a foreign country should have to draft men for the war could it force its subjects from the United States to go to war if they are not citizens?—No, but if a citizen of some foreign country who was subject to call for military service refuses to return to serve when ordered to do so, his property in his native country could be seized, and he would be subject to arrest and punishment if he ever returned voluntarily.

THE AMATEUR HOMECROFTER

Beginning With a Thesaurus.

The proper way to begin a series of articles on any subject is with a thesaurus of terms used. Consequently an explanation should be made of the distinction between the various kinds of cultivators of the soil—a cubist word picture as it were. Here goes:

Homecrofter: Suggests home in the distant suburbs. Acre and liberty stuff. Children; lots of them. A few chickens. Bungalow. Careful, hard working wife who does own sewing, and own house work. Man on salary of not to exceed $25 a week. Preferably office man who is "chained to a desk" all day. No livestock except chickens. Gets all free bulletins from government and studies them. Keeps careful accounts of expenditures on homecroft, using double ledger system, whatever that is. Trousers a little baggy. Elbows a little shiny. Hair a little thin. Has good reason for all of them.

Trucker—Professional where Homecrofter is an amateur. Has more land than Homecrofter, and goes in for a little livestock. Plows where Homecrofter spades. Specializes on onions, or strawberries. A horse or two, and perhaps a couple of cows. Picks up some blooded calves at bargain. Visits city markets, and sells garden truck to grocers and commission men. Studies results of state farm experiments. Knows something about efficiency methods, soil building, rotation of crops and other mysterious subjects, either from experience or books.

"Dub" Gardener—A being of complete, utter optimism. Pries a hole in solid clay and pokes seeds into it, fondly expecting them to grow. Buys expensive plants and puts them out to freeze. Can't raise anything successfully but radishes, and these are generally long, stringy, and tougher than a minister's son. Starts with great enthusiasm in the spring and spades up a space twenty feet square. Loses interest after planting. Bugs. Snails. Cut worms. Weeds. Exasperation. Space contracted next spring. Nothing in gardening. Covers backyard with concrete to save trouble of cutting lawn and digging dandelions.

City Farmer—Automobile, never less than six cylinders. Chauffeur. Place in country. Forty acres at least with trout stream or lake. Summer "cottage" costing from $5,000 up, with hot and cold water. Silo. Blooded stock. Red barn. Man to run place. Hired help. Trouble keeping a maid all summer. Heated disputes as to merits of Guernseys and Red Polls. Believes he could make farm pay if he ever gets improvements made. Spends week ends inspecting place, and giving weighty directions, which nobody pays any attention to. Hardwood floors in living room. Gramaphones and late dance records. Patent heating plants that don't work, and patent lighting arrangements that don't light. Magazines. Bored to tears.

Hunter's Parker—Does all the work himself, "except of course we have a man come twice a week to cut the lawn, and then we have him for a few weeks in the spring to do the heavy work of putting in the garden." Boasts on the street car that "mine were up two weeks ago." "All we can eat all summer." "We are about two weeks ahead of any other part of town, sheltered from the lake you know." "Strawberries as big as walnuts." Hotbeds in spring to beat his neighbor if possible. Thinks death preferable to life in Lakeside. Scotch, but friendly and neighborly. Presbyterian. Nonchalantly wears American beauty roses in fall after frosts come. "Have 'em until snow flies." Gardening not avocation, diversion, or source of profit, but disease and gardeners a cult. Always knows exactly what to do for any pest or in any emergency. Garden always annoyingly successful. Owner always annoyingly urbane and smiling over it. Most maddening type of other citizens.

Plain Gardener—Quietly efficient, early training on farm perhaps. About $5,000 to $7,000 home. Small patch in back yard. Works evenings while wife gossips with neighbors. Wife mows top of lawn while he cuts terraces. Seldom boasts of garden, but gets solid pleasure from it. Few radishes, little head lettuce, early peas, and some flowers. Shirt sleeves and office clothes. Pipe. Talks war news over back fence with German neighbor and doesn't even get huffed.

Real Farmer—There ain't no such animal. J. E. R.

What the Child Is Learning

High School Mathematics.

Next to English, the most important study in the high school course probably is mathematics. Readin' and 'rithmetic still form the basis of the student's work after he leaves the grammar grades.

If a boy or girl intends to enter college upon finishing high school, three years of "math" must be taken, but otherwise two is all that is required.

The freshman is given a course in Mathematics I, or Algebra. This work involves a study of theorems, factoring, quadratics and algebraic fractions.

Starting in the sophomore year, the boy receives his first instructions in plane geometry. Geometry text books are followed closely, but in addition to the work prescribed by authors, the student must work out 100 "originals."

Juniors take the next step, starting with a study of advanced algebra, which lasts through the first semester, and then taking up an elementary course in solid geometry. Surds, imaginary numbers, the theory of quadratics and exponents, the binomial theorem, and linear systems, are some of the things taken up in class.

The last semester of the junior year is devoted to work with solids, and the student must work out between 150 and 200 original problems, which make him familiar with elementary solid geometry.

Fourth year "math" is elective, and is recommended for boys who want to become engineers, and girls who intend to take college courses after finishing high school. The first semester of the senior year is devoted to advanced algebra, including a study of multiple roots, co-efficients and fractional and negative exponents.

The final semester of the high school is given over to a study of plane trigonometry, usually known as "trig." The six trigonometrical functions are taught the student, as well as circular measurement of angles and the mysteries of right and oblique triangles.

Duluth high schools rank with any in the United States, as far as the work in mathematics is concerned, and all college requirements are fulfilled.

TWO MEN FAINT; SLIGHTLY INJURED

Joseph Baldridge and Henry Fores Are the Victims.

Two men were slightly injured last night when they were seized with fainting spells, one being taken to St. Luke's hospital and the other to his home.

Joseph Baldridge, 216½ East First street, driver for the Helmbach Lumber company, dropped from his wagon at Twenty-first avenue east and First street just as O. M. Helmbach, son of W. P. Helmbach, principal director of the company, was passing in an automobile. Mr. Helmbach took the injured man to the hospital.

Henry Fores, age 35, a shoemaker employed at 216 First avenue east, fell as he was standing on the street near there. He was taken to police headquarters and attended by Police Surgeon Harry Klein.

ITALY'S ENTRANCE WILL SHORTEN WAR

Russian Foreign Minister Believes Influence Will Be Great.

Petrograd, May 26, via London.—"Italy's entry into the war will make the war much shorter in duration; it will have an enormous influence on the attitude of neutral countries and it will lead to the rapprochement of states whose interests seem at present to be opposed," said Serglus Sazonoff, the Russian foreign minister, on being interviewed by the correspondent of Reuter's agency.

"In any case," the foreign minister continued, "no hostile power can henceforth be reinforced at the expense of any neutral country whatever."

Concerning Bulgaria, M. Sazonoff said he did not believe that she would move against Russia under any circumstances. He declared that the Italo-Serbian relations were perfectly amicable, and that Russia's task with regard to Serbia would not be fulfilled unless Serbia received a free outlet on the Adriatic.

"I declare," added the foreign minister, "that Serbia will have free ports which shall be absolutely her own."

Regarding reports of a separate peace, M. Sazonoff said numerous attempts in that direction had been made, and not only on the part of Austria, but all had failed, and he added that anything of that character was absolutely impossible.

Stick This On Your Spindle

A Nurse says:

"I have been a trained nurse for some fifteen years, and like many nurses, drank strong coffee. About two years ago I had to call a halt. I missed my coffee until some one recommended Postum, which I have used ever since, recommending it to many of my patients."

A Teacher says:

"I have been a coffee drinker ever since I can remember. I have been teaching school for sixteen years, and became more and more nervous. I could not sleep. After reading some of your literature I decided to try Postum. I have been using it about thirty days; my nerves have improved; I have no headache; sleep peacefully, and am able to do my school work better."

A Doctor says:

"I often find it necessary to prohibit the use of coffee for my patients, and have advised the use of Postum with good results to the nervous system and digestive apparatus."

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

As Old as Your Arteries

YOUTH is a state of mind. Old age is preventable if taken in time. You are just as old as your arteries. The color of your hair, or the quantity thereof is a secondary detail. The cardinal factor is the elasticity of the arterial wall.

Sooner or later, according as one lives, the wall of the artery thickens, becomes rigid, inelastic, permeated with a calcium deposit. The medical name is arterio-sclerosis; the common name is hardening of the arteries; the original name was simply old age.

One man is as old at 35 as another is at 55; the prematurely aged man merely lives his life all in a few years. Short-lived families owe nothing to heredity; they have merely acquired the habit of living themselves to death. You may depend upon it, premature old age is invariably a matter of poisoning. The poison may be taken into the body ready-made, as in alcoholism, tobaccoism, lead poisoning or certain bacterial infections; or it may be manufactured by the victim himself in his own alimentary canal, as in over-eating, corset-wearing and sedentary habits.

Hard Work Not Injurious.

"He worked himself to death" is only a phrase. It looks well in print, but it never tells what brought the man to an untimely end. Work alone is good for the arteries; it is the resort to stimulants of one kind or another that wears out a circulatory system. And by "stimulants" we really mean narcotics—drugs which reduce the man's consciousness of fatigue—such as alcohol, tobacco. Competition, greed and worry contribute their share to the toxemia which is essential in the production of hardened arteries.

But the greatest common factor is intestinal toxemia. This brings the question down to diet. We are what we eat. The herbiverous animal is longer lived than the carniverous. Animal protein, that is meat, contributes the most favorable medium for the culture of colon bacilli in the alimentary canal. The by-product of colon bacillus growth is a toxin or a group of toxins which poison the host. Metchnikoff's great theory, that the implantation of Bulgarian lactic bacilli tends to override colon bacillus growth in the canal, only goes half way. The radical anticote for colon bacillus intoxication is a diet which does not encourage colon bacillus culture, and such a diet, as has been demonstrated experimentally in the laboratory as well as practically, is a vegetarian diet.

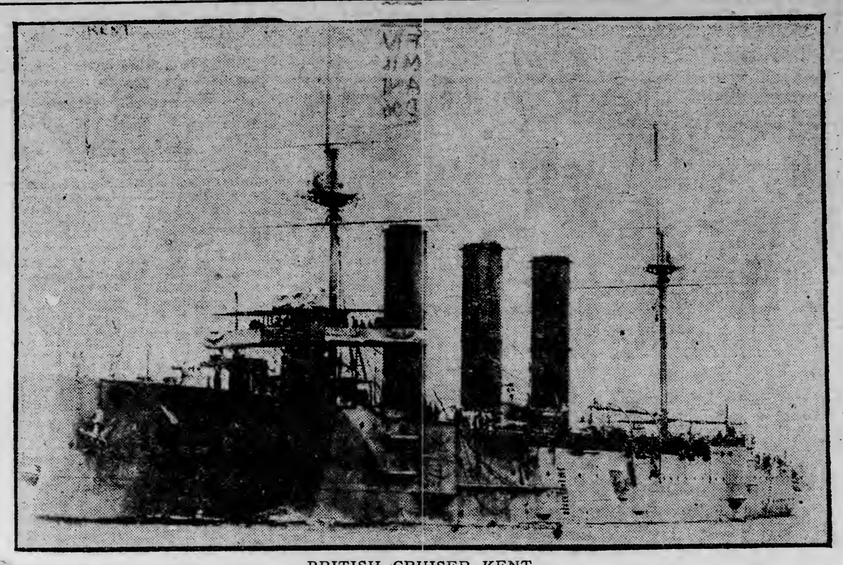
BRITISH CRUISER ARRIVES AT VICTORIA, B. C.



BRITISH CRUISER KENT.

Victoria, B. C., May 26.—The British cruiser Kent, commanded by Capt. Allen, reached Victoria yesterday. The Kent was one of the vessels which participated in the battle last December near the Falkland islands in the South Atlantic, when the German squadron under Admiral von Spee was defeated by the British vessels. According to stories told by members of the Kent complement, the cruiser was coaling when the enemy fleet appeared. They said the Kent ran out of fuel while chasing the German cruiser Nurnberg and that every available scrap of woodwork on board was utilized to keep up steam until the Kent overtook and sank the enemy craft.

FORMER DULUTH "Y" SECRETARY WILL VISIT HERE THIS SUMMER

Edward D. Ranck, former secretary of the Duluth Y. M. C. A., and Mrs. Ranck, who have been at Johannesburg, Africa, for the last three years, are on their way back to Duluth and will arrive here some time in July. They will visit with Mrs. Ranck's mother, Mrs. E. Robinson, 427 West Third street, for several weeks.

Mr. Ranck left Duluth about three years ago to take charge of the Y. M. C. A. at Johannesburg, where he was general secretary of the association.

An account of the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Ranck from Johannesburg on April 10, in the Johannesburg Star, follows:

"An enthusiastic gathering of prominent city men and members of the Y. M. C. A. assembled on the occasion of the departure of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Ranck, who left by the Natal mail on Saturday evening to catch the S. S. Hellenic, sailing from Durban. Among those who gathered round the carriage were Messrs. Robert Raine, Harry Holmes, Raper, Smith, Gunnion, Gillies, Black, Bailey, Newman and about 100 others. As the train steamed out, the whole throng sang, 'God Be With You Till We Meet Again.' Johannesburg can ill spare men of the type of Mr. Edward Ranck, who, during the three years he has acted as general secretary of the local association, has done splendid work."

EDWARD D. RANCK.

"THROUGH WITH POLITICS" AND "BACK TO THE FARM" FOR STEVENS

Duluthian Will Move Family to Mora After Forty-Four Years' Residence Here—Will Manage State's Biggest Stock Farm.

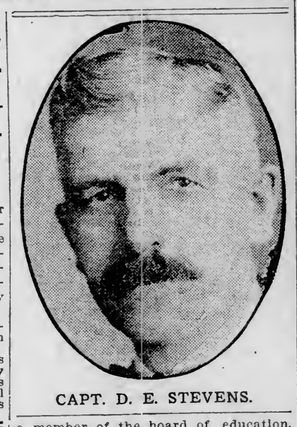
After making Duluth his home for the last forty-four years, Capt. Darwin E. Stevens and his family are leaving the city to establish themselves at Mora, Minn., where Mr. Stevens will take charge of the management of the big stock farm owned by H. R. Elliott, Duluth packer.

Capt. Stevens left for Mora last evening. His family will join him within a few days.

During his long residence in this city, Capt. Stevens has been closely associated with civic affairs and has ben more or less active in political circles. He served for nine years as a member of the board of education. Under Sheriff Melning's first administration, Capt. Stevens served three years and one half as a deputy sheriff. Several years ago he also served as alderman. For many years, he was a tug captain in the local harbor.

In his new position, Capt. Stevens will become manager of Minnesota's largest stock farm. It comprises some 2,500 acres near Mora, Minn., and is stocked with between 400 and 500 head of cattle, about 400 pigs and forty or more mares and colts of trotting stock. The farm is owned and controlled by H. R. Elliott of this city, proprietor of the Elliott Packing company. Capt. Stevens will have charge of a farm crew of about thirty men.

Capt. Stevens stated yesterday that he was "through with politics," and that he was not seeking appointment for any office. "My name has been mentioned for humane agent" he said, "but I am not in the race for that or any other position."



CAPT. D. E. STEVENS.

Mr. Morterud has been an active worker and booster for the West end. He has taken a lively interest in the work of the business men in planning social affairs and entertainments for the West end people.

Figures That Tell the Story

In 1914 sixteen Chicago stores spend $2,944,250.13 in newspaper advertising.

Their combined gross business exceeded $150,000,000.

On this basis the productiveness of newspaper advertising is apparent.

Its cost of two per cent is offset by the very great reduction of the per cent for rent, due to increased business.

The year these figures were recorded was not supposed to be a good business year.

Newspaper advertising rightly done is the surest promoter of good times we have anywhere.

OPERATING CRUSHER AT FULL BLAST NOW

Escanaba, Mich., May 26.—The Oliver Iron Mining company has instructed employes here to operate the crushing plant at North Escanaba at full capacity. It is the first time in four years that the plant has been operated at high pressure.

Two additional grades of ore are to be handled at the plant this year, and it is expected that the amount of ore crushed will be nearly twice as large as last year. Most of it will come from the Menominee range. For some years past the Dober mine has furnished practically all of the ore treated at the Escanaba plant.

Be Sure Your Baby Gains Each Week

And you'll know he's well and happy. If he isn't at least a few ounces heavier each and every week—you're giving him the wrong food, or, strange as it sounds—you're not giving him enough.

Perhaps your breast milk is getting too thin for that growing little body. Perhaps you're giving the baby cow's milk he can't digest and that may bring sickness—even consumption—to your baby.

You cannot know whether the cow is healthy or the dairy clean. And even if it is, the milk would put a leaden burden on the little bit of baby stomach.

If your own breast milk is not enough, add one feeding a day of

Nestlé's Food

Then make it two feedings a day and so on until the baby is weaned entirely on Nestlé's.

From the top of his little head to the tips of his pink toes—every part of your baby is nourished by NESTLÉ'S.

NESTLÉ'S is made from the milk of cows we know are healthy, in dairies kept absolutely sanitary. All the harmful, heavy parts have been changed and those things your baby needs, that are not in cow's milk, are added — all in just the right amount. But three generations of healthy, happy babies speak best for Nestlé's.

Send the coupon. It will bring you, FREE, a box of Nestle's Food—enough for 12 feedings—and a book about babies by specialists.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

PLAN TO TEST NEW DRY LAW

East Grand Forks Brewery Distributers Expected to Make Fight.

Expected to Continue to Operate, Thereby Starting Test Case.

East Grand Forks, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—A test of Minnesota's option law as it relates to the operation of brewery distributing stations within dry counties, probably will grow out of the election Monday, by which Polk county was made dry.

It is understood that the twelve local brewery distributing stations will continue to operate, which will bring on the test.

It is also understood that the East Grand Forks brewery in this city, and the Kowold brewery at Crookston, will continue in operation, maintaining their business on the basis specified in the option act.

If the brewery distributing stations maintain their position, a rather interesting legal battle is anticipated. The optionists of Polk county are so strong in numbers as evidence by the election in which they obtained a majority of over 1,100, that they probably will be unwilling to permit the operation of the brewery stations if there is any method of saving the depots.

Large Monthly Shipments.

One local brewery agent says shipments in a single month from one depot have aggregated as high as $50,000, these shipments being made into the great state of North Dakota. When it is considered that there are twelve such depots in the city, all of them doing a big business, the importance of the local branches is the more evident. Polk county drys are rapidly laying plans for the holding of a jubilee to celebrate their victory.

Border City Wedding.

International Falls, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Vivian Thompson and Fred La Valley of this city, were married at the Catholic church Tuesday morning by Father F. J. Kheen. Both are popular young people. They will make their home here as Mr. La Valley is employed in the paper mill. Miss Annamae Dannaher was bridesmaid, and Stanley Thompson, best man.

Miss Elizabeth Kibbey is visiting her parents here after having returned from a trip to Europe and the Orient. She lectured twice on Japan at the high school.

LARGE LAND SALE IN NORTH DAKOTA

State Will Offer 63,000 Acres First Two Weeks of June.

Bismarck, N. D., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sixty-three thousand acres of North Dakota land will be offered for sale at auction during the first two weeks in June by the state land department. Sales will be held in the county seats of the following western counties of the state:

Stanton, Mercer county, June 2, 9,000 acres appraised at from $12.50 to $16 per acre.

Manning, Dunn county, June 4, 11,000 acres, appraised at from $12 to $25 per acre.

Dickinson, Stark county June 3, 14,000 acres, appraised at from $12 to $25 per acre.

Bowbells, Burke county, June 8, 3,500 acres appraised at from $12 to $18 per acre.

Crosby, Divide county June 9, 17,500 acres appraised at from $12 to $25 per acre.

Williston, Williams county, June 11, 8,000 acres appraised at from $12 to $25 per acre.

The purchasers of this state land are required to pay one-fifth of the purchase price in cash and the remainder in four payments, one payment each five years. Interest is charged at the rate of 6 per cent and is collected annually in advance. No interest is payable at the time of the sale and the only amount aside from the one-fifth of the purchase price is $5 to pay the cost of making out the contract.

Must Bring Appraised Value.

The land offered for sale is all appraised before the sale and none of the parcels will be sold for any amount less than the appraised value. None of the state land is sold at private sale and none of the coal land of the state is offered on account of a constitutional provision requiring that all coal land must remain in the possession of the state. There were thousands of acres of land in the above mentioned counties which have been withdrawn from sale when it was discovered that they were underlaid with heavy veins of coal.

During the past few years the bidding for the state land has been spirited and in very few cases have they been sold for the appraised value, in many cases going far beyond it. In many cases when land was sold in the eastern part of the state over $60 per acre has been realized.

NEW OIL INSPECTOR AT GRAND FORKS, N. D.

M. J. GEORGE.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. J. George of Grand Forks has been appointed oil inspector in charge of this port of entry, succeeding M. W. Day.

George was secretary of the state senate last winter, and he formerly was chief clerk of the house of representatives.

NORTH DAKOTA IS PROTECTING BIRDS

Both Song and Insectivorous Class Shielded By Statute.

Fargo, N. D., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bird life, not alone the game varieties, but all kinds of feathered visitors to this state, is receiving more protection than ever before in the history of the state. The game board and wardens, in addition to protecting the game birds, exercise a careful guardianship over all protected song and insectivorous birds.

State Society's Work.

The State Audubon society is doing much educational work and there are prominent individuals all over the state greatly interested in the movement. The schools are co-operating and pupils are being taught the cruelty of ruthless slaughter of birds and the high economic value of many varieties and the pleasures derived from the song birds, until a more widespread interest is being taken than before.

MILWAUKEE FAMILY OF THREE ASPHYXIATED

Man, Wife and Mother-in-Law Found Dead With Gas Jets Open.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 26.—John A. Schneider, and his wife, aged 50, and mother-in-law, Wilhelmina Pinske, aged 80, were found dead at their residence, 618 Hubbard street yesterday afternoon.

The gas range and gas jets throughout the house were turned on. None of the members of the household had been seen since last Saturday.

The gas from the turned on burners of the kitchen range was aflame and the bodies of Schneider and his wife were literally roasted, when discovered through the breaking into the premises by Patrolman John Niederkorn. The body of Mrs. Pinske, the mother-in-law, was found in a front room, clad in a night dress.

Murder and Suicide.

The police and coroner's employes believe the case to be one of double murder and suicide.

Mrs. Schneider, it was learned, jumped from a viaduct into the Milwaukee river about five years ago. It is thought—she may have been demented recently and turned on the gas. Another theory is that her husband committed a double murder and took his own life.

A note was found on a table directing a local undertaker to take charge of the remains.

BOWMAN, N. D., IS LARGE EGG MARKET

Bowman, N. D., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bowman is rapidly developing as one of the most important egg shipping points in the state. Frequently more than 50,000 eggs are shipped daily from here, with prices ranging around 16 cents per dozen, which means ready money for the farmer and enables those who are making a success of the chicken business to keep on a cash basis and pay the operating expenses of the farm at this period of the year when there is no money coming in from grain crops.

NORTH DAKOTA FIRE FIGHTERS' ANNUAL MEET

Wahpeton, N. D., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The thirty-second state association meeting and tournament of the North Dakota firemen will be held here June 22, 23 and 24. There are now 232 fire departments in the state regularly affiliated with the state association under the laws of North Dakota and eligible to participate in the distribution of the state fund created from the tax imposed on the fire insurance companies doing business in North Dakota. The program for the annual meeting this year will be slightly changed and some of the old tournament features will be abandoned, but there will be more association work.

Give the Kiddies all they want of

Clicquot Club

Pronounced Klee-ko

Made in America GINGER ALE Best in the World

THERE is no purer, more wholesome hot-weather drink than this altogether delightful beverage. It is perfectly safe to drink when you are overheated, as the mild stimulus of the ginger overcomes that "ice cold" shock.

Clicquot is real ginger ale, made of the best Jamaica ginger, the juices of limes and lemons, cane sugar and the cold water that bubbles up from the deep, rock-bottom Clicquot Springs. This water is mildly laxative.

Each bottle holds enough to satisfy several small-sized thirsts, or two large-sized ones. Show your skill in mixing drinks. Clicquot Club Ginger Ale mixes attractively with almost anything drinkable. Keep a bottle or two on ice, and let the children "treat" at home.

The Real Suffrage Thought of Women

Motherhood is the thought uppermost in woman's mind. And with it, of course, comes the question of comfort, of helpful aids and influences. Among the best of these is a well known external remedy, "Mother's Friend," It is gently applied to the surface muscles. These are lubricated, toned, made pliable so they stretch as nature requires it without the strain and pain on cords and ligaments. This influence extends through the myriad of nerves to deeper surfaces, the internal organs. And thus a period of repose must reflect itself not only in the mind of the mother, but upon the babe to come.

Young mothers who have used "Mother's Friend" have written to say how rejoiced they were at the absence of morning sickness, extreme nervousness, and other distresses of which they had heard and feared. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at any drug store. Simply apply it over the stomach muscles and rest assured of perfect safety and comfort day and night. Write to Bradfield Regulator, 403 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their handsome and instructive book.

LARGE LAND SALE IN NORTH DAKOTA

State Will Offer 63,000 Acres First Two Weeks of June.

Bismarck, N. D., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sixty-three thousand acres of North Dakota land will be offered for sale at auction during the first two weeks in June by the state land department. Sales will be held in the county seats of the following western counties of the state:

Stanton, Mercer county, June 2, 9,000 acres appraised at from $12.50 to $16 per acre.

Manning, Dunn county, June 4, 11,000 acres, appraised at from $1.- to $25 per acre.

Dickinson, Stark county June 3, 14,000 acres, appraised at from $12 to $25 per acre.

Powers Lake, Burke county, June 8, 3,500 acres appraised at from $12 to $15 per acre.

Crosby, Divide county June 9, 17,500 acres appraised at from $12 to $25 per acre.

Williston, Williams county, June 11, 8,000 acres appraised at from $12 per acre.

The purchasers of this state land are required to pay one-fifth of the purchase price in cash and the remainder in four payments, one payment each five years. Interest is charged at the rate of 6 per cent and is collected annually in advance. No interest is payable at the time of the sale, the only amount asked from the purchaser being the one-fifth of the purchase price to cover the cost of making out the certificate.

Must Bring Appraised Value.

The land offered for sale is all appraised before the sale and none of the parcels will be sold for any amount less than the appraised value. None of the state land is sold at private sale and none of the coal land of the state is offered on account of a constitutional provision requiring that all coal land must remain in the possession of the state. There were thousands of acres of land in the above mentioned counties which have been withdrawn from sale when it was discovered that the winter underlaid with heavy veins of coal.

During the past few years the bidding for the state land has been spirited and in very few cases have they been sold for the appraised value, in many cases going far beyond it. In many cases when land was sold in the eastern part of the state over $60 per acre has been realized.

The schools are co-operating and pupils are being taught the cruelty of ruthless slaughter of birds and the high economic value of many varieties and the pleasures derived from the song birds, until a more widespread interest is being taken than before.

MILWAUKEE FAMILY OF THREE ASPHYXIATED

Man, Wife and Mother-in-Law Found Dead With Gas Jets Open.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 26.—John A. Schneider, and his wife, aged 50, and mother-in-law, Wilhelmina Pinske, aged 80, were found dead at their residence, 618 Hubbard street yesterday afternoon.

The gas range and gas jets throughout the house were turned on. None of the members of the household had been seen since last Saturday.

The gas from the turned on burners of the kitchen range was adjune and the bodies of Schneider and his wife were literally roasted, when discovered through the breaking into the premises by Patrolman John Niederkorn. The body of Mrs. Pinske, the mother-in-law, was found in a front room, clad in a night dress.

Murder and Suicide.

The police and coroner's employees believe the case to be one of double murder and suicide.

Mrs. Schneider, it was learned, jumped from a viaduct into the Milwaukee river about five years ago. It is thought she may have been demented recently and turned on the gas. Another theory is that her husband committed a double murder and took his own life.

A note was found on a table directing a local undertaker to take charge of the remains.

Clicquot Club

Pronounced Klee-ko

Made in America GINGER ALE Best in the World

THERE is no purer, more wholesome hot-weather drink than this altogether delightful beverage. It is perfectly safe to drink when you are overheated, as the mild stimulus of the ginger overcomes that "ice cold" shock.

Clicquot is real ginger ale, made of the best Jamaica ginger, the juices of limes and lemons, cane sugar and the cold water that bubbles up from the deep, rock-bottom Clicquot Springs. This water is mildly laxative.

Each bottle holds enough to satisfy several small-sized thirsts, or two large-sized ones. Show your skill in mixing drinks. Clicquot Club Ginger Ale mixes attractively with almost anything drinkable. Keep a bottle or two on ice, and let the children "treat" at home.

The Real Suffrage Thought of Women

Motherhood is the thought uppermost in woman's mind. And with it, of course, comes the question of comfort, of helpful aids and influences. Among the best of these is a well known external remedy, "Mother's Friend." It is gently applied to the surface muscles. These are lubricated, toned, made pliable so they stretch as nature requires without the strain and pain on cords and ligaments. This influence extends through the myriad of nerves to deeper surfaces, the internal organs. And thus a period of repose must reflect itself not only in the mind of the mother, but upon the babe to come.

Young mothers who have used "Mother's Friend" have written to say how rejoiced they were at the absence of morning sickness, extreme nervousness, and other distresses of which they had heard and feared. Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at any drug store. Simply apply it over the stomach muscles and rest assured of perfect safety and comfort day and night. DOOKS LOSE LOPSIDED CONTEST TO SUPERIOR

Final Game of Series Perniciously Grabbed By Hectic Count.

Posten Driven From the Mound By Fusillade—Cadreau Finishes.

Superior took the final game of the Athletic park series from the Dooks yesterday by the score of 12 to 4. It was a weird and wild game, with errors and hits mixed in a fashion to yield the greatest possible number of runs.

Posten started for the Dooks, but was derricked in the fifth round after allow nine hits and nine runs. Cadreau came on and finished up the battle.

Leone started knolling for the swampers, but gave way to Benton in the third round. The Dooks were not hitting Leone with any special malice, but the youngster was as wild as a March hare.

With Swalm down in the second, Glass strolled and counted when Girth belted the pill over the left field barrier for the first local home run of the present season.

Burgwald walked in the next round, advanced on McGee's death, moved along on a single by Curtis and then came all the way home when Collins permitted the ball to roll between his legs.

In the third round O'Brien and Sweeley drew passes. Posten lofted to Bassey. Brown walked and all three runners counted when Buddy Croake carelessly tripled to the flag pole. Wolfe singled past third and Croake dusted the pan.

Nothing daunted Superior came back in the fifth and counted six runs. The side batted all the way round, four hits, several wild pitches and several errors being sponsors for the even half dozen scores. In the seventh Girth secured his third hit of the matinee, was sacrificed by Berger, moved up on Benton's infield out and counted on a wild pitch. Burgwald had walked and moved to second on the erratic fling. McGee singled and Burgwald counted. McGee pilfered both second and third. Curtis walked and while he was being run down between the paths McGee crossed the Rubicon. That was all the scoring for the day—but it was quite enough. It required something like two and one-half hours for the completion of the contest.

Little Girth of the opposition featured the pastiming with his hitting, slashing the pellet for a home run, triple and single out of three times up.

Another feature of the game was the chasing of foul balls by Joe, the well-known ground keeper. Joe is down to weight this year and faster than ever. Kids desiring to cop a ball rather than get into the park for retrieving it, like a high-bred Gordon setter, are hereby warned that Joe will run them to death, throw them, perhaps spank them and in the end secure the ball.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 26.—Jeff Smith, Australian pugilist, has been barred from all further fistic contests in that country, according to a cablegram received by Tom S. Andrews, local sporting writer and boxing promoter, from "Snowy" Baker.

The action against Smith was taken by the directors of the Stadium company, Ltd., after an exhaustive inquiry into the Jeff Smith-Darcy contest, of a few weeks ago. Not only was Smith disqualified but his percentage of $2,400 was given to the Red Cross fund.

Mr. Andrews' information is to the effect that the Smith-Darcy contest was not "on the square."

BROADEN BASEBALL GAMBLING CRUSADE

Chicago, May 26.—The police campaign against baseball pools was widened last night to include the arrest on lottery charges of cashiers of restaurants, who have been offering tickets to local baseball parks as prizes to patrons.

It is said the arrests grew out of charges made by persons recently arrested in connection with baseball pools who asserted the ticket-premium system was as much a violation of law as their alleged offenses. The police assert the arrests were made to establish test cases on the application of the statutes and city code covering lotteries.

BOXING FATALITY IN ST. PAUL; PRINCIPALS HELD

St. Paul, Minn., May 26.—John Neu, an 18-year-old boxer, is being held without bail by the police, pending the result of an investigation into the death of John Simmer, 18, who died yesterday from injuries sustained in a boxing exhibition with Neu last night.

PITCHER POSTEN DRAWS BASEBALL VACATION

White Sox Hurler Will Go to Park River, N. D.; Burmeister Due Here; Pulford Said to Own Stock in Winnipeg Club; Patterson May Go.

In one game of the present season Posten, the Palisade, Minn., hurler looked so good that Chief O'Brien was impelled to exclaim in accents loud and clear, "This bird has more stuff than George Cunningham." At the close of yesterday's game the Posten boy was chastened and then hastened to Park River, N. D. Thus do we see that life is a continual shift, its vicissitudes kissing one on the forehead today and sticking a rough boot on your neck tomorrow.

If Posten is a good boy and behaves himself at Park River and learns to control his fast one, maybe he will be the trip to Winnipeg and St. Boniface and Grand Forks, and there will be things to talk of up at Park River after supper. Dinner, you say—not, supper in Park River.

John Burmeister Is Due.

Large and florid John Burmeister, president of this here league, is due at the Head of the Lakes some time today. John is expected to be one of the imposing figures at the opening of the season at Hislop park.

Magnate Steece has hired a band, has a warranted brand of oratory on tap and has made other preparations for the opening of the home season in the band box.

The man who stepped hastily from the insurance game into the warm and tenacious clutch of baseball has confidence in his team. The three defeats sustained at the hands of the White Sox have not shaken the confidence of Owner Steece. The former Minneapolitan believes that he has a fast aggregation of baseball players and, moreover, believes his boys will be well up in the race.

Funny If It Is True.

In speaking of the new owner of the Superior baseball team, it might be stated that Mr. Steece let some remarks fall yesterday, which if true, throw a comedy baseball film into the slide of current events.

"I have been given to understand that Webb disposes of part of his interests to Pulford," said Mr. Steece. "I have been informed that Pulford owns a large share of stock of the Winnipeg club." If this information handed down the line to Mr. Steece is rock ribbed with authenticity, then the whole situation is pregnant with rich and spicy humor.

Patterson May Be Ousted.

Roy Patterson, at one time star pitcher for the Duluth team and more recently performing in the same capacity with the Chicago White Sox and the Minneapolis team of the American association, may draw the blue envelope as manager of the Winnipeg team.

Rumors in this ornery connection were bruited about a bit yesterday. Some one close to Gale Brooks, it is said, will pack his portmanteau and hike to the Peg to assume command of the situation. The rout of the joke team that Horace Webb recruited for the largest city in the Northern league circuit has been most emphatic.

A winter of discontent, as Will Shakespeare has it, passed, vituperation was hurled thither and yon, a baseball scandal was paraded in nether garments, and the upshot of the whole measly mess seems to be that Mr. Webb is out, after being in the seat of command but a few weeks, and Pulford is in—part way at least—and Winnipeg has an awful team.

New Schedule Promised.

Magnate Blume is inclined to the belief that a new running card will be made for the Northern league. If a shift is made in the present arrangement of games, St. Boniface may after all remain in the league.

It is said that President Burmeister is of the opinion that continuous baseball for Winnipeg—which would mean merely St. Boniface playing when the Peggers were on the road and the Peggers consorting at home when the Chefs were away—will prove better than the present arrangement.

War, bad weather, or something has been responsible for small turnstile reports at both Winnipeg and St. Boniface, and President John is laboriously working to do all in his power to at least remedy the situation to the best of his ability.

Superior and Virginia today receive their first taste of 1915 Northern league baseball. Fort William opens the season on the Ore Diggers' grounds, and, as stated previously, the dashing Dooks will clash over in the Swamp district today.

NORTH DAKOTA A. C. BALL TEAM CHAMPS

Fargo, N. MANDOT DUE TO ARRIVE

Frenchman Will Spar Three Rounds at the Auditorium.

Joe Mandot and Tommy Walsh are expected to arrive in Superior some time today. The New Orleans Baker boy is scheduled to spar three rounds at the Auditorium this vening.

Joe will workout with Eddie Lenney, his sparring partner. The Frenchman has been working in Chicago and his work here will merely serve to keep Joey on edge for the bout of Friday evening.

Walsh writes that Mandot expects to win. On form, comparing the two boys in their showing against Pal Brown and figuring that Freddy Welsh beat Watson with something to spare and had nothing on Mandot, the contest should be Mandot's. The French boy should prove too clever a boxer for the husky and hard-hitting little redhead.

Walsh is on the trail of a bout with Champion Welsh.

ADAMS SCHOOL TEAM IS MAKING GREAT RACE

Blue and White Baseball Aggregation Wins Again; Followers of Eastern Division Teams Banking on Ability of Washington and Jefferson Teams.

It begins to look as if the Adams team is making a dash for the pennant in the Western division of the Duluth Grade School Baseball league that will prove very difficult to check. The blue and white warriors yesterday defeated the Monroe school team by the score of 17 to 5, thereby increasing their hold on first place.

The Emersons won both games of a double-header from the Lowells, the first game 9 to 4 and the second 7 to 5. But one game was played in the Eastern division of the league, the Washington team defeating the Franklins by the decisive score of 15 to 4.

In the Western division the Bryants and Lowells are scheduled to meet today at Duluth Heights and the Irvings and Jacksons are due to clash on the Thirty-second avenue west grounds.

The Lakesides and Washburns are due to fight it out on the Forty-seventh avenue east grounds, while the Jeffersons and Franklins will play at the Fifteenth avenue east and Fifth street grounds.

All of the teams deserve credit for the race they are making. Players on the teams that have been more or less out of the running continue to show the same enthusiasm and spirit as the kids on the teams that are fighting neck and neck for the title in both divisions.

Followers of the Adams team believe that the pennant is coming to the West end, while cohorts of both the Jefferson and Washington teams of the Eastern division are enthusiastic over the chances of either of these teams in the big series that will be staged in the ball park for the city grade school championship.

MEMBERS OF NEW CABINET

Lord Kitchener Retains Post of Secretary of War Therein.

Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of Admiralty, Succeeding Churchill.

London, May 26.—Lord Kitchener retains the post of secretary of war in the new coalition cabinet, which has received the approval of King George. The new first lord of the admiralty will be Arthur J. Balfour. Winston Spencer Churchill, former head of the admiralty, is given the portfolio of chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster.

Herbert H. Asquith retains the premiership and Sir Edward Grey the ministry of foreign affairs. David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer in the old cabinet, will be minister of munitions in the new one.

The constitution of the new cabinet follows:

Prime minister and first lord of the treasury, Mr. Asquith; minister without portfolio, Lord Lansdowne; lord high chancellor, Sir Stanley O. Buckmaster; lord president of the council, Lord Crewe; lord of privy seal, Lord Curzon of Kedleston; chancellor of the exchequer, Reginald McKenna; secretary of state for home affairs, Sir John A. Simon; secretary of state for foreign affairs, Sir Edward Grey; secretary for the colonies, Andrew Bonar Law; secretary for India, J. Austen Chamberlain; secretary of state for war, Lord Kitchener; minister of munitions, David Lloyd George; first lord of the admiralty, Arthur J. Balfour; president of the board of trade, Walter Runciman; president of the local government board, Walter Hume Long; chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster, Winston Spencer Churchill; chief secretary for Ireland, Augustine Birrell; secretary for Scotland, Thomas McKinnon Wood; president of the board of agriculture, Lord Selbourne; first commissioner of works, Louis Harcourt; president of the board of education, Arthur Henderson; attorney general, Sir Edward Carson.

Redmond Offered Place.

The official announcement on the new cabinet says:

"A place in the cabinet was offered to John Redmond, the Irish National leader, but he did not see his way to accept it.

"The prime minister has decided that a new department shall be created to be called the ministry of munitions, charged with organizing the supply of munitions of war. Mr. Lloyd George has undertaken the formation and temporary direction of this department, and during his tenure of office as minister of munitions will vacate the office of chancellor of the exchequer.

"It is understood that Mr. Henderson will assist the government in matters relating to labor questions, especially those arising out of the war.

"The king has been pleased to confer upon Viscount Haldane of Cloan, (the retiring lord high chancellor) the order of merit."

The cabinet is composed of twelve Liberals, eight Conservatives, one Laborite, Arthur Henderson, and one non-partisan, Earl Kitchener. Thirteen members of the old cabinet remain in office. Of these, Mr. Asquith, Sir Edward Grey, Earl Kitchener, Mr. Runciman, Mr. Birrell and Mr. Wood retain their old portfolios.

Two Surprises.

The promotion of Sir Stanley Buckmaster, whose greatest activities during the war have had to do with the management of the official press bureau, to the high honor of lord chancellor and the acceptance by Winston Spencer Churchill, formerly head of the admiralty, of the merely nominal duties of the duchy of Lancaster, are two distinct surprises.

The most prominent figure who retires from public life is Viscount Haldane. His affiliations with Germany and the continued newspaper attacks based on these, made his retirement as inevitable as Prince Henry of Battenburg's retirement some time ago from the admiralty for the same reason. Viscount Haldane received an expression of the government's confidence by the bestowal of the order of merit upon him.

The retention of Lord Kitchener as head of the army, while David Lloyd George with the newly created portfolio of the ministry of munitions, relieves him of the responsibility of managing the supply department, and also A. J. Balfour's acceptance of the admiralty, were fully expected.

The cabinet undoubtedly includes the strongest men in public life. Whether they will prove correspondingly strong as a working body, is a question, the answer to which the country will anxiously await.

Little Enthusiasm.

As might have been expected, the new cabinet, while it meets with no strong disapproval by the editorial writers in the London morning papers, raises but little enthusiasm in any quarter. The most that is accorded is a disposition to give the new government every opportunity to prove its worth.

More disappointment is noticeable among the Liberal than the Conservative papers, mainly at the disposition of Viscount Haldane and the appointment of Sir Edward Carson as attorney general.

The Daily Chronicle calls the latter a bad appointment and says it is worse than a mistake to name Sir Edward for this portfolio.

The Liberal papers are irritated that Sir Edward representing the "minority party in Ireland" should be in the cabinet with the Nationalists not represented. The Daily News says that John Redmond's absence from the ministry will make even more striking the incongruity of Sir Edward Carson's presence in it as Sir Edward's lieutenants during the war have "abated none of their rebellious sentiments."

Other appointments much criticized include that of Mr. Balfour as first lord of the admiralty the ground being taken that the giving of this portfolio to him deprives the nation of the services of Lord Fisher. The elevation of Sir Stanley O. Buckmaster also is criticized.

Some dissatisfaction is also expressed that the new cabinet instead of being smaller, is larger than the old one, and also at the loss of David Lloyd George as chancellor of the exchequer. It is understood, however, Mr. Lloyd George's appointment as minister of munitions is only temporary, and that he will come back to the chancellorship when the question of munitions becomes less acute.

IN FAVOR OF BREAKWATER

Commercial Club Committee Will Present Arguments for It.

Capt. McDougall and H. R. Spencer Named to Prepare Them.

At a meeting of the Commercial club committee on rivers and harbors held yesterday afternoon, the chairman, Capt. Alex McDougall, and H. R. Spencer, a leading admiralty lawyer of Duluth, were appointed a sub-committee to draw up a paper presenting Duluth's arguments in favor of a breakwater for the protection of the Duluth entry to the harbor. Capt. McDougall has long been an advocate of a breakwater, and, in fact, is probably the pioneer in advocating it. Mr. Spencer, long connected with marine affairs of the Great Lakes, is also strongly in favor of a breakwater, and as a proctor in admiralty, is conversant with the desires of the shipowners whose craft must do business in this harbor.

That a strong paper will be the result of the efforts of this sub-committee is regarded as a foregone conclusion.

Won't Be Heard.

How far the central canal advocacy has gone is a question at this time, but it is understood that any effort to bring it up at the meeting of June 10, which has been called by Maj. E. D. Peek, United States engineer, to consider the breakwater matter, will be promptly checked, for the meeting on that date will consider nothing but the matter which has been announced for consideration.

Capt. McDougall said today that those advocating a central canal and the closing of the two already constructed, might as well save themselves their trouble, for, he said, that idea has been so badly exploded that it would be difficult to gather enough fragments to put together a respectable issue.

Respect the Remains.

"The central canal scheme is so dead," said the captain, "that those who are trying to exhume the remains should be ashamed of themselves. At any rate, they cannot bring it up at the meeting of June 10—that is certain. Both cities at the Head of the Lakes have taken an unmistakable stand against the idea, the dock owners having emphatically put their seal of disapproval on it, and the vessel interests refused to consider it.

"That we need a breakwater, and need it badly, and as soon as the machinery of Uncle Sam can be made to install it, is not at all a question. We have had too many illustrations to even have ground on which to debate the matter, and the best thing that can be done is stop this foolish and chimerical idea of a central canal—for it cannot be obtained—and let us get together strongly enough to convince the government that the breakwater is a vital necessity."

Germs Can't Stay With This Treatment

No Impurities Can Retain A Foothold—They're Driven Out.

The action of S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, is direct from the moment it enters the stomach. Unlike food that must be acted upon by the digestive juices, S. S. S. goes at once into the blood, and in less than five minutes has traversed the entire circulation.

It now rapidly spreads its medicinal action in the fine network of blood vessels and is like giving the blood a thorough bath, to overcome eczema, blood risings, boils and other eruptive conditions. It can not harm any part of the system. It does not lodge in the joints as do mercury, arsenic and other minerals frequently to be found in blood remedies. It is a natural medicine for the blood, just as essential to health if germs have gotten the upper hand as is nutritious food if after a spell of sickness the body calls for nourishment. Wherever you go you are sure to meet some one who used S. S. S. for the blood and is a willing witness to its wonderful power to overcome blood troubles. You can obtain S. S. S. in almost any drug store in the U. S., a significant fact as to its worth and its sterling reputation. Get a bottle today. It will do you good. Write to The Swift Specific Co., 104 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., if the directions with the bottle do not fully cover your case.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 26.—The John Donovan killed by the Yaqui Indians in Esperanza, Sonora, Mexico, was not John F. No word has been received from the missing brother, however, and Miss Donovan may ask that a search be started for him. He was heard from last in December in Santa Anna, Cal.

CHINESE MERCHANTS BOYCOTT THE JAPS

Chin Joon Says Countrymen Believe Nipponese Are Bluffing.

Chinese merchants are boycotting Japanese products in favor of goods manufactured in the United States, according to Chin Joon of the Quong Chong Hai company of this city. Chin returned this week from a year's visit in Canton. While in the Orient he was married. He left his bride in China.

"The Chinese think that the Japs are bluffing," he said. "They realize that the Chinese are not afraid to go to war if necessary. I don't think that the Japs will go much further with their proposals."

Chin resides at 21 North Fifth avenue west. He is a cousin of Chin D. Ong, proprietor of the Mandarin cafe and leader among the Duluth Celestials.

DRUG AND CHEMICAL PRICES ARE SOARING

The prices of many drugs and chemicals have made great advances because of the war, according to Duluth druggists. This applies particularly to drugs that were imported up to the time of the war.

Coal tar products in general, it is said, have gone up from 25 to 30 per cent during the last thirty days. Saltpeter is used in many drugs, and the use of this product for gunpowder has caused a scarcity for such "unnecessary" uses as making drugs.

Chemicals are affected as much as drugs by the war, and there is nothing to indicate that prices will be lower until after the war. The cost of citric acid has jumped about 100 per cent since the war began. Asperin has gone up 50 per cent and salts have made some advance.

The only solution for high prices is the manufacture of all drugs and chemicals in America and it would take from five to ten years to thoroughly establish this business in America, it is said.

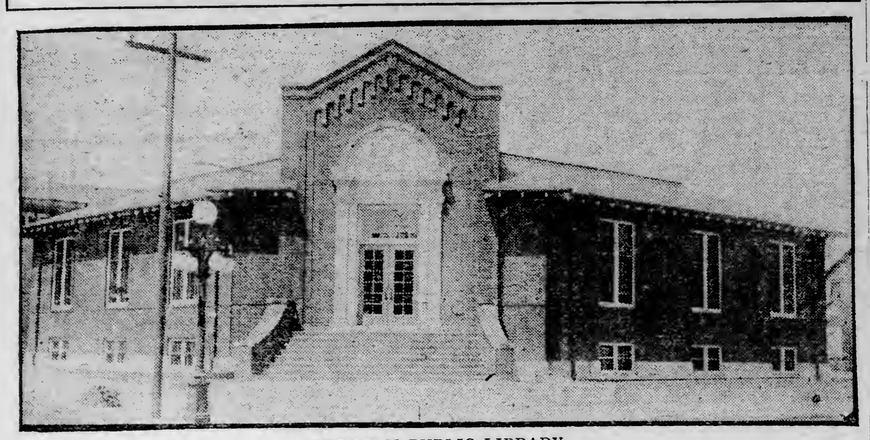
ON THE IRON RANGES

WHERE EIGHTH DISTRICT FEDERATED CLUBS ARE MEETING



CHISHOLM PUBLIC LIBRARY.

WINDING UP CLUB WORK

Final Session of Eighth District Federated Clubs Is Being Held.

Dr. Sara McLaren of Duluth Is Elected Treasurer of Organization.

Chisholm, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The delegates to the meeting of the Eighth District Federated Women's Clubs that began here yesterday afternoon are winding up the session in the public library this afternoon, when the next meeting place will be chosen and various odds and ends of the session cleaned up. Miss Anna Shelland, county superintendent of schools of Koochiching county, will read a paper on "The Welfare of Our Rural Citizens."

Prof. Maria Sanford of Minneapolis, who was to have spoken this afternoon on "The Need of Universal Peace," gave her address last night, so that feature of the concluding program was eliminated and Miss Sanford left for home today. A number of others who have been attending the session departed today, and after the morning session quite a number of those remaining enjoyed auto rides about the village.

Officers Elected.

As Mrs. Peter Oleson of Cloquet holds over another year as president, no election to that position was made this morning.

Those elected today were: Mrs. F. C. Correll of Big Falls, vice president (re-elected); Mrs. Thomas T. Gill of Virginia, secretary (re-elected); Miss Nellie Z. Peterson of Chisholm, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Abrahamson Hill, city federal secretary; Dr. Sara McLaren of Duluth, treasurer.

Mrs Peter Oleson presided at this morning's session, which was devoted largely to a round-table discussion participated in by Mrs. D. H. Williams of Duluth, Mrs. C. B. Watkins of Cloquet and Dr. Sara McLaren of Duluth, led by Mrs. Harold Ferguson of Duluth, on the subject of "The Women's

MISS ANNA SHELLAND.

Clubs in Community Service." The discussion brought out many good points.

Mrs. G. R. Ayers of Ely read a paper on "Our Immigrant Sister," which was followed by a violin solo by Edward Hagen of Chisholm. Mrs. Edward Slaten of Deer River discussed "A Civic Clean-up Day," and Mrs. J. S. Simpson of Minneapolis told "Why the Other Half Should Vote." The paper scheduled to be read this morning by Mrs. Correll of Big Falls was not given.

Following the morning session the meeting adjourned for lunch and sight-seeing, and resumed the final session shortly after 1 p. m., with indications of soon winding up the work.

Tuesday Evening's Session.

Last evening's session was held in the library, Judge Hughes of Hibbing, being the principal speaker.

The session opened with a selection by the orchestra, which was followed by a vocal solo by Miss Winnifred Hayes of Chisholm. Miss Maria Sanford, who was urged to give an address and responded with a short talk on the war, praising the peaceful attitude of the United States as compared with the brutality of the European nations engaged in combat. At the conclusion of her speech, Miss Sanford was presented with a large bunch of American beauty roses.

World Control Movies.

Judge Hughes in his address touched on the war, and the moving picture shows, advocating municipal ownership of the movies, owing to the great influence they exercised for good or evil on the minds of growing boys and girls. He related instances of boys being tried in the courts of the country for crimes committed by suggestions received from moving pictures. On the other hand, many pictures are shown that have educational features hard to surpass. From this subject the speaker touched upon the influence of the home environment over children and advised the careful supervision by parents of the company kept by their children. Intoxicating liquor was blamed for 75 per cent of the crimes tried in the courts and Judge Hughes strongly went on record for total prohibition, stating that it was his wish to see the liquor business stamped out of the country entirely. He concluded his address with a glowing tribute to Miss Sanford and received enthusiastic applause.

Mrs. Stella Prince Stocker of Duluth, entertained with Indian songs in costume.

A short play, "The Work House Ward," in which Miss Helen Rahja, Miss Mildred Hodgins and Miss Margaret Leary took part was next given, the acting of the participants being particularly brilliant.

William Douglas Smith with a vocal solo and Miss Winnifred Hayes, a piano selection, concluded the program for the evening.

TWO LOCATIONS ASK FOR LIGHT

Leetonia and Lavina Residents Petition Hibbing Board.

Hibbing, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Residents of the Leetonia and Lavina locations have petitioned the water and light board for electric current. A committee was appointed to investigate to find out the cost of making the extension to the locations and the number of consumers and probable amount of current used.

The Great Northern Power company through its representative, Mr. Underwood, who appeared at the board meeting last night, offered to sell the village the electricity and extend it to the Leetonia. The company also asked the board to submit a proposition to furnish electricity for a forty-horse power motor at the North Una mine. This, it was said, will greatly lower the rate for the village should it extend the service to Leetonia.

According to Leetonia residents there are more than 100 houses ready for electric connections at that place besides a motion picture show.

Hibbing Concerns Bid Low.

Bids for 7,000 tons of coal for the water and light plant were opened. The Hibbing Lumber company bid low on the coal and also on 40-foot cedar poles for electric wires.

Applications for the superintendency of the power plant were received from H. W. Goyes of Niles, Mich.; H. A. Watson, in charge of the Kalamazoo village plant, and V. A. Harding of Kansas City.

EVELETH SCHOOLS TO GIVE EXHIBIT

FINDS SEWER OVERCHARGE.

Duluth Engineer Tells Virginia Council What He Found.

Virginia, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Wilson, former Duluth city engineer, who was engaged by the local city council to examine and report on the construction of the Sixth avenue sewer by the Lawrence-McCann company, reported to the council last night that the sewer job, which has been completed at a cost of $118,232.96, actually represents but $112,095.95 worth of labor and materials.? He said he had found a number of longitudinal cracks in the sewer. He believed that a one-inch mortar cushion should have been laid under the pipe.

Because of different ways in which the contract may be construed, Wilson said that the actual difference in the overcharge might be reduced to $6,137. The six-foot sewer was completed last fall.

Mr. Wilson recommended that the council demand a guarantee of service for at least a year from the contractors.

TWO HARBORS SCHOOL EXHIBIT BEING MADE

Pronounced Best Display Ever Made By the Schools.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—People thronged into the Minnehaha school building last night where the annual school exhibition is being held and gazed with wonder and admiration at the work done by the students of the local schools during the past school year. There are exhibits of various kinds in sewing, art, needlework, domestic science, manual training and agriculture. Every student in the city schools as well as students of surrounding country schools are represented by some sort of work.

One of the most interesting things is in the agricultural department, something new and different from any previous year. A model dairy farm of sixty acres, is very cleverly and artistically laid out, each square foot representing an acre. The model shows the cropping system which is most profitable for the dairy farmer in this county. The plan is a scientific one and the suggestions will undoubtedly prove a benefit to all farmers who see it. According to the plans of this farm a net profit of $1,500 per year or more should be realized off it. It should be stocked with twelve dairy cows, four head of young stock, three horses and 100 chickens. A. A. McPheeters is superintendent of the agricultural department of the local schools and his theories of proper farming methods in Lake county have already worked wonders among the farmers.

Manual Training Display.

The manual training department of which Mr. Wegner is instructor, is up to its usual high standard, although during the past school year not so much attention was directed toward making furniture as in past years, but more stress was directed to practical work such as improving machinery, repairing school rigs and in general keeping up the repairs of school property. Mr. Wegner states that the manual department of the school has saved much money for the schools during the last year by this means.

The work in the manual training department of the lower grades is very interesting and is claiming much attention.

The sewing department is very attractive, showing all kinds of wearing apparel for women made by the girls.

The display in the cooking department is very commendable. This class numbers about 100 girls who can cook. The exhibit includes all kinds of pastries, canned fruits, meats off all kinds, and in general everything that is ever cooked.

The drawings are also very good and cover hundreds of square feet of wall space throughout the building.

The exhibition will continue this afternoon and evening. A large crowd is expected to visit the exhibition today. It is pronounced the best exhibition ever held in the local schools.

Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

HEALTHIER HIBBING

Is Expected to Result From War Upon Village Filth.

Hibbing, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—The death rate in Hibbing was lessened today as the result of activities of residents cleaning up their back yards. That the removal of garbage and other filth in back yards, in which flies breed, will show a decided decrease in deaths this year is the opinion of Dr. C. F. Morsman, health officer.

"The importance to sanitation of a municipal house cleaning lies for the most part in the elimination of the breeding places for the house fly, correctly called the typhoid fly, the doctor said. "All garbage and refuse piles furnish most excellent hiding and hatching places for this active, disease-bearing nuisance.

"There is every evidence to show that these insects are directly responsible for the spread of many diseases. "Prevention is the cheapest way to ward off any evil or disease. The health slogan of today is not to 'swat the fly' but to 'prevent the fly.' To do this we have only to expoil its breeding places, or in other words to do away with garbage, manure, refuse and filth."

WOMAN FILES CLAIM.

Wants $15,000 of Eveleth's Money for Alleged Injuries.

Eveleth, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Notice has been served on the city of a claim for $12,000 for personal injury by Mrs. Miina Wiinlkainen, who alleges that she was severely injured April 25 by a fall on Garfield street caused by a depression in the walk between Roosevelt and McKinley avenue.

WOOD ARRESTS THREE.

Hales Them Before Gilbert Justice of Peace for Lawbreaking.

Eveleth, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Game Warden George Wood visited the lakes south of Eveleth Sunday and arrested three Eveletheans for violations of the game laws. Catching undersized perch, catching bass out of season and fishing without license were the charges brought against the accused, who were tried before Judge A. R. Anderson at Gilbert Monday.

Lawrence Lavigne pleaded guilty to catching a black bass out of season at Long lake and paid a fine of $10 and costs.

Tom Pelosich was found guilty of catching undersized perch at Long lake and paid $10 and costs.

August Mergone was found guilty of fishing at Ely lake without a license and paid $10 and costs. Mergone is a resident of Fayal, but has not been in the county long enough to establish a legal residence. An attempt was made by the warden to catch Mergone and a partner dynamiting fish, but the evidence was not procured.

ALL VIRGINIA GOES TO OPENING BALL GAME

Virginia, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—All Virginia appears to be out to the ball park this afternoon for the opening game in the Northern league, when the locals are playing the Fort William team. As the afternoon is a holiday, many places of business are closed and despite chilly weather a great throng is at the grounds.

NERVOUS CHILDREN

From early spring until July is the time that St. Vitus' dance usually develops and nervous children should be carefully watched during that time for symptoms of the disease.

Irritability is one of the first signs noted. The child frets, is quarrelsome, cannot be amused and does not sleep well. The jerky movements and weakness characteristic of the disease come a little later. The patient becomes pale, languid, has little appetite and is usually constipated. Such a child should not be allowed to study but should be kept quiet, given a nutritious diet, remain out of doors as much as possible and take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. If unusual symptoms develop or if the nervousness continues to the point of hysteria, a physician should be called. In most cases the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is sufficient. Without treatment, St. Vitus' dance may became chronic.

Parents of nervous children should write to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a copy of the free booklet, "Nervous Disorders, A Method of Home Treatment" and a diet book called "What to Eat and How to Eat." Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with directions for use.

INJURY MAY PROVE FATAL

Youth Run Over By Wagon Heavily Loaded With Gravel.

While driving a heavy load of gravel to be used on the new Miller Trunk road yesterday about noon, Cecil Harris, aged 15, was jarred from his seat when the wheels struck a rut and fell beneath the wagon, one wheel passing over his hip.

Severe fractures of the hip bones and internal hemorrhages may result fatally, according to Dr. J. J. Ecklund, attending physician.

The Harris boy is the son of Charles Harris, a farmer living at Canyon, on the Miller Trunk road. He has been employed by the county for some time, while a gang of men was at work building the new road.

At the time of the accident his wagon was loaded very heavily, having about two tons of gravel, and his hip was badly fractured. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital yesterday afternoon. Attendants at the hospital reported that he was improving slightly today.

DOYLE TRIES FOR FREEDOM

Old Offender Wants Eleven Years Cut From Prison Sentence.

Patrick H. Doyle, whose career as a horse thief, forger and burglar has kept him behind prison bars most of the time during the last seventeen years, is making another attempt to have courts cut off eleven years of his time and set him free.

In the district court of Washington county, where the state penitentiary is located, Doyle, through his attorney, Theodore Thompson of Minneapolis, has sued out a writ of habeas corpus to be discharged from the prison.

A hearing on the petition was had before Judge P. H. Stolberg yesterday. Doyle's attorney attacked the constitutionality of the statute under which his client had been sentenced and argued that as Doyle had already served the minimum time for his last conviction, he is entitled to be discharged.

Sent From Duluth.
Doyle was sent to prison from Duluth on April 1, 1911. He had pleaded guilty to a charge of grand larceny in the first degree. The indictment to which he entered a plea of guilty alleged, however, that he had been convicted of previous felonies and, in accordance with a statute covering the case, Judge Dibell sentenced him to serve fifteen years in the penitentiary.

The statute under which the indictment was drawn provides that in cases where a prisoner has been convicted of a felony in a former proceeding, it may be so alleged in a subsequent indictment. A conviction under such an indictment authorizes the court to give the offender a sentence double to that which might be given if prisoner was a first offender.

Law Is Drastic.
The usual punishment for grand larceny in the second degree is from one to ten years in state's prison. Under the former conviction statute, the offense is punishable from two to twenty years.

Appearing for the state at the habeas corpus hearing at Stillwater this week, C. L. Weeks, assistant attorney general, argued that the statute under which the sentence was passed is constitutional and that the judgment of the trial court should not be disturbed. Judge Stolberg took the matter under advisement and remanded Doyle back to the penitentiary.

On His Fourth Stretch.
Doyle is now serving his fourth term at Stillwater. He started his career of crime at St. Cloud, Minn., when he was sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary for horse stealing. On Oct. 8, 1909, he began serving a five-year sentence for stealing a cow, committed from the Minneapolis courts. In June, 1909, Doyle was sent up for two more years for forgery at Sauk Rapids.

Shortly after his release from the prison in 1911, Doyle drifted into Duluth. There he met with one John W. Melvin, alias John M. Appleby, who had served twenty-seven months in the North Dakota penitentiary. In March, 1911, they broke into the tailor shop of Alfred Olson at 1805 West Superior street and stole eleven suit patterns, valued at $165, and a $25 overcoat. The theft was committed in the night time.

Doyle and Appleby pleaded guilty to an indictment drawn under the former conviction statute. Appleby was given eight years and Doyle fifteen.

Asked Shorter Sentence.
Immediately after his conviction, however, Doyle had his attorney seek to have the court cut down the sentence. Walter B. Moer of this city, since a suicide, appeared in this case. Mr. Moer's body was identified by a scrap of paper found upon his person on which the name of Doyle appeared. Judge Dibell denied the motion to set aside the conviction and sentence.

WEST DULUTH HIGH SCHOOL BOYS LEARN TO BE PRACTICAL MACHINISTS AND IRON WORKERS

THE DENFELD HIGH SCHOOL MACHINE SHOP.

THE FOUNDRY ROOM.

For the first time in the history of education in West Duluth a class of boys yesterday afternoon witnessed and assisted in taking off a "heat" from the miniature cupola in the basement of the R. E. Denfeld high school. The foundry, of which the cupola plays an important part, was operated yesterday and several articles to be used in repair for machines about the school were made by the boys pouring the molten metal into the prepared molds.

Twelve boys, members of the junior and senior classes, dressed in overalls and jumpers, moved rapidly while the iron was being run out of the cupola. Heavy ladels were carried with rapidity from the furnace to the molds and the material poured before it was given time to chill.

The foundry is but one department of the manual training equipment of the Denfeld high school. It is the starting point for the material that will find its way to the machine shop and later from there to the place where the article will ultimately be used.

At the "heat" yesterday castings were made for a part of a lathe as well as a lever of a machine that was broken. Special core plates that were found to be necessary were also made.

One of the photos above shows the boys at work pouring the molten metal into the molds. The other scene is that of the machine shop when the boys are at work at the lathes.

Patterns Made By Boys.

The patterns used for the molds were made by the boys in the woodworking department of the school. In the future it is planned to make every iron article necessary in and about the school or in case one has been broken to replace with pieces made in this department.

The equipment at the Denfeld school is considered to be the most up-to-date of any high school in the country. The cost of the machinery and other equipment was about $15,000.

"This investment must return a dividend," said S. A. Foster yesterday afternoon in speaking of the work being planned by the department. "We have here the best of equipment and the material for furnishing the boys with practical knowledge of the iron and wood-working industry. It is our intention to plan next year to turn out many articles needed by the school board. The boys are more interested in making something that is useful than in some article that can be hung on a wall for decorative purposes only.

"The dividends are payable by the practical learning that the pupils receive. This modern machinery cannot lie idle. The greater number of boys take much interest in industrial work and there is nothing better than this to give them a practical insight into the mechanical trades."

Ernest W. Hanft, a practical foundryman from the Clyde Iron works, had charge of the work at the school foundry yesterday afternoon. Mr. Hanft was there for the purpose of starting the work off on a scientific as well as practical basis.

The manual training department is under the direction of C. B. Avery.

MISSION CREEK CASE ON TRIAL

C. A. Krause Asks Damages Because of Overflow Stream.

In action brought to trial before Judge Ensign and a jury in district court this morning, Charles A. Krause is seeking to recover $450 from the city of Duluth on a claim for damages to his property in the suburb of Fond du Lac by reason of the overflowing of Mission creek a year ago.

On May 28, 1914, heavy rains caused the creek to overflow the artificial channel which was provided as a water passageway by the city a number of years ago. As a result of the inundation, the foundation of his house was damaged, he says.

The city denies any liability in the matter. John H. Brigham appears in the lawsuit as attorney for Mr. Krause, who is an old resident of Fond du Lac, and City Attorney Henry F. Greene and his first assistant, John E. Samuelson, appear as counsel for the municipal corporation.

HAVE LIBRARY SITE; NOW UP TO "ANDY"

City Will Ask Steel Magnate for $30,000 Donation.

A check for $4,300 was turned over by the city council this morning for the new West end library site at Twenty-third avenue west and Second street and within a few days Mayor Prince will write to Andrew Carnegie, the steel magnate, for a donation of $30,000 to pay for a public library building.

The council held a special meeting this noon in City Clerk Borgen's office and a resolution introduced by Commissioner Voss, authorizing the payment of $4,300 for the site, was unanimously approved. Mayor Prince and Commissioners Voss and Silberstein were present at the meeting. An ordinance appropriating the money from the permanent improvement fund was passed several weeks ago by the council.

The money was turned over to P. George Hanson & Son, owners of lot 867, and the Western Land Association, owners of lot 365, block 89, Duluth proper, Second division.

Mayor Prince said immediately after the meeting that he will write at once to Mr. Carnegie, making a formal request for a library building. A copy of the deed will be sent to the steel magnate, proving the city's ownership to the proposed site. In addition the city must guarantee 10 per cent of the cost of the building for its maintenance during the first year. This has also been arranged for, the mayor said.

Almost Inconceivable.

WHEAT SLUMPS SHARPLY ON BETTER CROP NEWS

Markets Break on Lack of Inquiry and Weakness in Southwest.

Flaxseed Firm With Good Crushers' Inquiry and Limited Offerings.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 26.—The market was weak at the close, scoring a further sharp break on a slump on the Southwest boards.

May wheat closed 3½c off; July 3c off, and September 1½c off. May durum closed unchanged; July ½c off, and September 1¼c off.

Oats closed 1½c off at 51½c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.16@1.17, and barley unchanged at from 66c to 76c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¾c off at 62¾c asked, and July ¾c off at 63½c asked.

Puts on Minneapolis July wheat closed at $1.44½, and calls at $1.48⅝ asked.

Slackness in milling and export inquiry led to weakness in the wheat market today. Without the development of any selling pressure, quotations sagged steadily of their own weight, and at the end of the first three hours' trading a decline of nearly 3c was recorded in the July future.

Crop damage news from the Southwest was not so lurid as it had been, though estimates were out that from 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 bu loss in the winter wheat yield would be shown in the next government report. There were also advices of rains in many sections of the Southwest, and it was intimated that the harvest in Southern Kansas would be ten days late, so that cutting would not be general down there before about July 1.

Reports from the seaboard were to the effect that while wheat demand for export had been dull of late, strong inquiry for oats is being met with, and that four steamers with a capacity of 1,300,000 bu had been chartered yesterday, mainly for English ports. The war situation through Italy's entry into the struggle is said by exporters to be exercising a bearish influence. Italy is reported to have been buying grain under cover for some time, and is now said to be fairly well supplied, so that no special demand is coming from there at the present.

Clearances of wheat and flour were liberal again today, amounting to 967,000 bu. The oats cargo was large, aggregating 1,026,000 bu.

Duluth grain men say that operations in the wheat market here must necessarily be quiet for some time in view of the fact that there are no stocks remaining to trade in, while receipts will only be of a dribbling nature between now and harvest time. Reports from over the Northwest are favorable, except that warm, dry weather is now desired.

May wheat opened ⅛c off at $1.55¾, and declined 1c more up to the noon hour. July opened ¼c off at $1.51⅞ and broke 1¾c more. September opened ¼c off at $1.22 and declined 1c more.

Operations in durum were merely nominal, and its market did not move either way. May durum was pegged at $1.53 and July at $1.55.

Flaxseed Strong.

While business in flaxseed was light, the market was firm on the more bullish views of holders. Crushers were reported in the market for small lots to cover immediate requirements, and the trade is sitting tight pending a definite line-up of the acreage sown to the seed in the Northwest.

May flax opened ½c off at $1.96, and closed unchanged at $1.96½. July opened unchanged at $1.98½, and closed ½c up at $1.99; September opened unchanged at $2.01¾, and closed ¼c up at $2.01½ bid. October opened ¾c up at $2.01, and closed ¼c up at $2.01.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1¼c off at $1.77½; July 1¾c off at $1.79¾, and October 1½c off at $1.82¾.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed 1¾c up at $1.37⅞ and London 5½c up at $1.95¼.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Minneapolis cash market was irregular, with demand limited as buyers are against the premiums. No. 1 northern blue stem was quoted at 10@12c over July, with elevators paying ½c over May for velvet chaff if delivered in elevator by Friday. Otherwise there may be very little demand for it. Flour sales were moderate. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.59½ to $1.60½ and No. 2 northern at from $1.55½ to $1.56½. Wheat stocks in Minneapolis elevators decreased 260,000 bu in four days.

Price Current says: "Needed rain has fallen over the dry area and in time to help the growing wheat and oats, and to give the corn a good start. Too much rain has injured some wheat in the Southwest, a number of Texas counties reporting damage. Some damage has been caused by chinch bugs, but wet weather is very destructive to the insect. Damage to wheat by Hessian fly has been amply confirmed and the area covers half of Kansas, two-thirds of Missouri and half of the big wheat counties of Illinois and Indiana, with some damage to Southern Michigan. On the whole, the loss from this pest may amount to from 50,000,000 to 60,000,000 bu. Prospects at present are for a yield less than last year on an acreage 10 per cent larger than that harvested then."

Russell's News Bureau, New York, says: "Active chartering was reported for oats cargoes yesterday, four vessels being taken with a total capacity of 1,200,000 bu. The charters were mainly for English ports. Rates were steady and there was a good business in general cargoes. A report from London states that constant chartering of vessels for transportation of the Indian wheat crop is being done and that some scores of vessels are under contract."

• • •

Le Count wired from Manhattan, Kas.: "From Topeka here wheat is improving, and shows a fairly good condition. Some badly infected wheat in McFarland territory will be very light, but in general prospects are fairly good and with favorable conditions to maturity will make about 17 bu. Terrific rains yesterday washed out much corn and destroyed lots of alfalfa, but did little damage to wheat."

Foreign Crop Summary.

United Kingdom—Crops are doing well after good rains. The acreage will not be up to expectations. Stocks of wheat are increasing.

France—The crop outlook is very satisfactory, but acreage shows a material decline. The government has requisitioned all wheat both old supplies and growing crop.

Russia—Crop outlook on the whole is favorable, but southern districts want more rain. Supplies have increased moderately.

Roumania and Bulgaria—Crop outlook is favorable on an increased acreage.

Greece—The crop promises a yield much in excess of last year. Dry, warm weather is wanted.

India—Wheat is freely offered but is firmly held. Seeding for the new crop is being delayed owing to heat and dryness.

Australia—Further beneficial rains have fallen and the agricultural situation is flattering.

Italy — Harvesting prospects are maintained. Weather is seasonable and supplies are fair.

Hungary—An official report says the crop outlook is good with a fair increase expected.

Germany—Advices from Berlin report a greatly increased acreage for both winter and spring crops. The government has commandeered all growing crops.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Market dull and easier with brilliant weather in United Kingdom and quiet demand for winters. Expectations of liberal shipments to the United Kingdom this week are entertained.

"American damage reports are viewed with interest, but as yet have caused no noticeable revival of buyers. Winters are idle, while Canadian is held at 3d advance. Political developments are favorable to the allied interests and this, for the moment, is causing conservatism. Corn is firm with spot market steady and parcels at fully 3@6d advance. Unfavorable weather in Argentine, American offers and dearer Plate offers helped the advance."

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following closing letter from Chicago: "Weakness in May as result of liquidation by longs, and hedging pressure made a sick market after a firm start. St. Louis, Omaha, Kansas City and St. Joseph are rushing wheat for delivery on May contracts and in case it cannot get in store in time for delivery it can be delivered on the track during the last business days of this month. Some messages from the southwest claim great improvement in conditions as a result of rains, while Texas and part of Oklahoma claim damage from the same source. Political news assumes a dominating influence again. We advise sales of September wheat on all hard spots."

NOTE—The average highest and lowest temperatures are made up at each center from the actual number of reports received, and the average precipitations from the number of stations reporting in the state.

NOTE—Weekly summaries of condition in the grain region will be telegraphed from Washington, April 13, and each Tuesday thereafter during the growing season, except that this summary will be telegraphed and published on Wednesday whenever the preceding Monday is a holiday.

Summary of Weather and Crop Conditions in the Corn and Wheat Region for the Week Ending May 25.

Washington, May 26.—In the winter wheat belt the weather continued generally favorable for plant development and all portions now have abundant soil moisture, but the crop continues short though improving south of the Ohio river, and continued fly activity is reported in Indiana, Illinois, Missouri and Eastern Kansas, and complaint of lodging and rust damage in Oklahoma. In Central and Western Kansas, Nebraska and Texas the crop is in fine condition.

In the spring wheat states the crop is advancing satisfactorily under favorable conditions.

In the corn belt the cool and wet weather was generally unfavorable for germination, growth and cultivation and fatoreal cut-worm activity. Considerable replanting necessary.

Ranges, meadows, oats and truck made satisfactory progress, but wetness caused considerable damage to alfalfa where harvest is in progress. Frost and freezing in northern and mountain districts caused some damage to tender vegetation and fruit.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Bearish Cables Cause Wheat to Sag After Upturns at Outset.

Chicago, May 26.—Bearish cables made the wheat market sag today notwithstanding some upturns at the outset. Liverpool reported that damage reports from this side were offset by the belief that the war outlook favored Great Britain and her allies. After opening ⅛c off to ½c up, the market here suffered a moderate all-around decline.

Decided further setbacks ensued when the news was out that an American steamer had been torpedoed. May broke more than 6 cents being affected in addition by lack of export call. The close was steady at 1½ to 5½c under last night.

Wet weather in Iowa and Nebraska gave some strength to corn. The market, however, tended later to reflect the weakness of wheat. Opening prices, which varied from ⅛c decline to ¼c advance, were followed by a slight general setback.

Further declines took place when wheat weakened. The close was heavy at ⅝ to 1¼c below last night.

Oats eased off under scattered selling.

Higher quotations for hogs lifted provisions.

• • •

A Calumet, Mich., wire said: "According to the terms of the five years working agreement between Hancock and Quincy, Quincy buys from Hancock 75 acres of land at a depth of more than a mile for $191,000, the highest price ever paid for mineral land at such a depth in this district. This land is commanded by Quincy's No. 4 and 7 shafts. Hancock would be unable to enter the territory sold for at least fifteen years. Hancock will use No. 7 Quincy shaft half the working hours to open ground. Hancock could not enter otherwise reach it for seven years. Hancock shareholders are gratified with the agreement as it means early returns on the investment and puts Hancock at once among the big producing mines of the district."

A New York wire said: "Much depends for the immediate future of the copper stocks on the action which the Utah directors will take on Thursday when they meet to consider the dividend. Unquestionably, earnings justify an increase, but it does not appear that anything has been settled. Chino directors are also scheduled to act some time before the end of the week."

• • •

At London, spot copper sold at £76 15s, up 15s; futures at £77 5s, up 15s, and electrolytic unchanged.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Again Dominated By Fears of Further Foreign Complications.

Severe Declines in Less Prominent Specialties Near Close.

New York, May 26.—Further heaviness in war contract shares marked today's early dealings on the stock exchange. New York Airbrake declined 4 points and losses of 1@2 points were scored by Pressed Steel Car, Crucible Steel, Westinghouse and kindred issues. Canadian Pacific was heaviest of the high-priced railways, losing 1½, with material recessions in Union Pacific and Reading. Interborough common and preferred were the only exceptions to the general tendency, rising 2 points. A moderate rally ensued before the end of the first half hour.

The recovery which followed an early period of heaviness today was suddenly reversed before the end of the first hour. Confirmation of the reported torpedoing of an American ship off the Irish coast caused precipitate declines of 1 to 3 points, mainly in war specialties. While the news gave rise to renewed apprehension respecting international conditions, no disorder accompanied the setback, which was arrested by prompt support. The liquidated condition of the market also served to offer resistance to bear pressure. By noon another moderate rally resulted in a further readjustment of prices on a minimum of dealings. Bonds were steady.

United States Steel and other leaders made further recovery in the early afternoon, but even these issues were sensitive on slight increase, receding again on small offerings. Trading became more apathetic with the progress of the session.

Today's dull and heavy stock market again was dominated by fears of further foreign complications.

Severe declines in the less prominent specialties occurred in the final hour. The closing was heavy.

TRAIL MARKED BY MONUMENT

Route of Braddock Expedition to Fort Duquesne Perpetuated.

Unveiling Under Auspices of Society of Colonial Dames of Virginia.

Alexandria, Va., May 26.—Marking the point from which Maj.-Gen. Edward Braddock and his force of British regulars and Virginia troops, with Col. George Washington as aide-de-camp, departed from here in April, 1755, on the disastrous expedition to take Fort Duquesne, the present site of Pittsburg, Pa., in the war against the French and Indians, an interesting monument was unveiled here today by the Society of the Colonial Dames of Virginia.

Many members of the Society of Colonial Dames, the Daughters of the American Revolution and other patriotic societies from various parts of Virginia, the District of Columbia, Maryland and Pennsylvania witnessed the presentation of the monument to officials of the city of Alexandria. Many of those present will take part tomorrow in the unveiling of a similar monument at Winchester, Va.

Old British Cannon.

One of the old British cannon abandoned here by Gen. Braddock surmounts the monument. For many years the cannon had stood upright in the earth at one of the city's street corners as a marker and was an object of interest to sightseers. By an act of the city council several years ago, the ancient piece of ordnance, brought from England by Gen. Braddock when he came out to Virginia as generalissimo of all the British forces in the American colonies in the war against the French, was turned over to the Mount Vernon chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. That organization today formally presented it to the Virginia Colonial Dames under whose auspices the monument was erected.

Forming the base of the monument and mounting the old cannon are other relics of by-gone days in the shape of cobblestones which for more than a century had served the city of Alexandria as paving in some of its principal streets and which show the ruts worn by the artillery and transport of the Northern armies during the Civil war. The stones are said by tradition to have been laid on Alexandria's streets by Hessian soldiers captured in the war of the Revolution by the Continental troops.

Tablets of Bronze.

A bronze tablet on one side of the base of the monument bears this inscription:

> "This monument marks the trail taken by the army of Gen. Braddock, which left in April, 1755, to defend the Western frontier against the French and Indians. Erected by the Society of the Colonial Dames of Virginia, May 26, 1915."

On the opposite side of the boulder-embedded base this inscription appears on another tablet of bronze:

> "The cannon used here was abandoned by Gen. Braddock at old Alexandria, April, 1755. The cobblestones composing the mount were taken from the streets of Alexandria where they were placed in 1785 by act of the Virginia House of Burgesses."

Gen. Braddock's expedition, plans of which he related to Benjamin Franklin in a conference at Fredericktown, was to march to Fort Duquesne, "After taking Fort Duquesne," the general is quoted as saying, "I am to proceed to Niagara; and, having taken that, to Frontenac if the season will allow time, and I suppose it will, for Duquesne can hardly detain me above three or four days; and then I can see nothing to obstruct my march to Niagara."

Braddock Mortally Wounded.

In the battle at Fort Duquesne, July 9, 1755, Gen. Braddock was mortally wounded. Col. George Washington was the only member of his staff to escape unhurt. The British and Colonials lost 977 officers and men killed or wounded out of 1,459 engaged, while the French loss was trifling, and only the genius of Washington saved the survivors from massacre.

Gen. Braddock died July 13, 1755, at Great Meadows, about sixty miles from Fort Duquesne, to which place the remnants of his army retreated. He was buried at a point now seven miles east of Uniontown, Pa.

N. P. LOOKS FOR BETTER BUSINESS

Crop Prospects Expected to Cause Heavy Merchandise Shipments.

Duluth officials of the Northern Pacific assert that while there has not been much change in the traffic situation lately, substantial betterment is counted upon during the next few weeks.

Present crop conditions through its territory are reported to be brilliant and that is expected to be reflected shortly in heavier shipments on all lines of merchandise and manufactured goods from the Head of the Lakes.

The Northern Pacific is considered to have put behind it a satisfactory year's earnings record in face of the general slowing down in business that followed the outbreak of the war last summer. It is estimated by experts that the company should earn better than 7½ per cent on its $248,000,000 stock outstanding in the twelve months ending June 30, next, compared with 7.93 per cent last year. In spite of a decrease of $5,600,000 in gross income in the nine months ended March 31, net earnings were less than $600,000 behind the previous year.

Operating expenses were cut down to 58.2 per cent of gross earnings or 3 per cent less than during the same period in 1914, while at the same time maintenance expenditures were slightly larger than a year ago. Gross revenues of the road for the full year are estimated to reach $62,883,000 and the balance available for dividends is placed at $19,055,000, equal to 7.6 per cent on its stock.

KETTLE RIVER DROWNING

Arnold Wilkes of Minneapolis Loses Life at Sandstone.

Sandstone, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arnold Wilkes, who came here last Saturday from Minneapolis for a visit with former schoolmates, was drowned Monday evening at about 7 o'clock in Kettle river, below the power dam. He ventured into the cold and swift-running water for a swim, got cramps and went under. His companion gave the alarm immediately for assistance, but the body could not be found. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wilkes, were notified at once, and are now here awaiting the finding of their dead son's remains. He was about 18 years of age.

CEMENT PLANT MEN LOOK OVER GROUND

Universal Company Representatives Visit Duluth; Will Operate Next Year.

A. G. Carlson, mechanical engineer of the Portland Universal Cement company; C. S. Fletcher, superintendent of the sack department; George Low and O. M. Lindahl, also in the employ of the company are registered at the Spalding today.

They are here on routine business. "We came here," said Mr. Fletcher, "to look the ground over, to get our bearings and to gain some idea of how to proceed to make plans for the operations of the plant at Gary.

"The company will operate next year, I believe, and we will make several trips to Duluth in the meantime. There are many details to attend to, and our present trip is merely one involving a study of routine detail."

BAUDETTE MEN HURT

When Automobile Turns Turtle While Dodging a Dog.

Baudette, Minn., May 26.—(Special to The Herald.)—An auto belonging to Elmer Moorehead of this place turned turtle near the International Lumber company in Spooner when the driver turned out of the way of a dog. James Rands sustained a broken leg, Vic Reynolds a broken arm. Herb Sanborn a broken nose and Elmer Moorehead received several bruises. Mr. Reynolds was contemplating buying the machine from Moorhead and they were giving it a final test. The machine was damaged somewhat.

Austin, a big sheep owner of Slope county, returned a verdict of manslaughter for causing the death of Anton Gyotai a year ago. The boy got into an altercation with the homesteader and struck him over the head with a cane, causing death.

ITALIAN SOLDIERS AFTER SHARP FIGHTING ARRIVE WITHIN THIRTY MILES OF TRIESTE

GERMANS BRINGING UP STRONG REINFORCEMENTS FOR ANOTHER ADVANCE ON THE RUSSIAN LINES

ARMIES IN WEST BACK IN TRENCHES

Heavy Losses on Both Sides Stop Advances in the Open.

Germans Make Rapid Progress in Encircling Przemysl Fortress.

Russians Admit Extent of Retreat From Dunajec to San.

London, May 27.—Notwithstanding the superb weather the contenders in the Western arena of hostilities, realizing the terrible losses even an insignificant advance entails, have reverted, generally speaking, to the trench warfare of the winter and it is Galicia in the east, the Dardanelles, and perhaps the Italo-Austrian frontier which are most likely to furnish spectacular developments during the next fortnight.

The Russians at last have admitted the extent of their retreat from the Dunajec to the San, and while they profess that the Austro-German rush has been held up and that Przemysl is in no danger, they pay tribute to the impetus and spirit of the advance of their antagonists at the same time that they laud the smoothness of the Russian retirement, which they are calling as masterly as that of the allies from Mons.

DANGER FROM FLOODS PASSED IN MISSOURI

Kansas City, Mo., May 27.—All local streams were receding today and it was believed danger of floods in the low sections of the city had passed. Residents living along Turkey creek, who abandoned their homes last night, when an overflow was feared, were moving back this morning.

Reports from a number of points in Kansas and Missouri continued to tell of high water and unprecedented rains.

At Springfield, Mo., workmen were busy today clearing the streets of uprooted trees, broken wires and other debris which accumulated last night during a heavy storm. A number of houses were shaken from their foundations.

WEATHER HAS SLIPPED A COG

Unseasonably Cold in Many Sections of United States.

Records for Many Years Broken; Frosts Do Damage.

Washington, May 27.—Killing frosts throughout the lake region and the Middle Atlantic states broke May weather records of many years last night and promise unseasonable cold for the next twenty-four hours.

Reports to the weather bureau this morning indicate heavy damage to fruits and vegetables throughout that section particularly in the interior of New York.

In the parlance of the weather bureau experts, "a strong high area" over the lake region which arose to block the path of a storm from western Canada was responsible for the early summer phenomenon.

While frost is probable again tonight in the lower lake region, New England and Middle Atlantic states, warmer weather is promised Friday in the path of fair weather from the Ohio valley and the lower lake region.

While ice was being formed on standing water and crops were frozen

FEAR HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE

Six Dead Reported From Storm in Two Oklahoma Towns.

Communication With the Stricken Districts Is Cut Off.

Fort Smith, Ark., May 27.—Six persons are reported dead, two at Talihina, Okla., and four at Checotah, Okla., as a result of the storm which swept Western Arkansas and Eastern Oklahoma last night and early today. Reports reaching here from Antlers, Okla., assert that more than sixty persons were injured at Talihina.

Wire and rail communication in the stricken district is almost impossible, and some estimates place the loss of life at a large figure. Property damage is heavy and, it is said, will reach more than a million dollars.

Fears of serious floods also are increasing. The Arkansas river here today had reached 25 feet, 3 feet above flood stage, and the Poteau river, a tributary, was a raging torrent. A cloudburst was reported at Poteau, Okla., but the extent of the damage had not been learned this morning.

Tornado in Missouri.

Springfield, Mo., May 27.—A tornado, accompanied by a heavy rain, struck Springfield about 10 o'clock last night, unroofing buildings and strewing the streets with trees and wires. The damage will aggregate many thousand dollars.

Instruments at the government weather bureau registered a wind velocity of seventy-eight miles an hour during the tornado. Several persons were injured by flying debris.

The tornado came from the southwest. It raced through the entire city, tearing the roof off the Bank of Commerce building, damaging scores of smaller buildings and orchards. Lightning set fire to several homes simultaneously, and the fire department was delayed by debris in the streets. The heavy rain prevented a spread of the flames. A stretch of the St. Louis & San Francisco tracks at Neosho near here was washed out.

CONFIDENT SPIRIT PREVAILS IN ROME

Italians Preparing to Make Without Complaint Any Sacrifice Necessary.

Rome, May 26, via Paris, May 27.—Except for the flags which fly, not only from every house but almost from every window, Rome gives little indication of being the capital of a country which has entered upon a great war. While the entire nation was eager for the conflict, a spirit of calm confidence has followed the stormy scenes which were enacted from the time the Salandra cabinet resigned until it was restored to power and the demonstrations of rejoicing which followed until the opening of hostilities.

It is apparent that the nation is preparing to make without complaint whatever sacrifice the war may bring.

INCLINED TO MINE THEORY

Steamship Officials Do Not Think the Nebraskan Torpedoed.

Cause of Damage Will Not Be Known Until Vessel Docks.

Washington, May 27.—Messages received by the state department today from Ambassador Page and Consul General Skinner at London and Consul Frost at Queenstown, failed to say definitely whether the steamer Nebraskan had been torpedoed or had struck a mine.

One of the dispatches said the Nebraskan's American flag had been hauled down five minutes before she was struck, although her name was painted on her sides in letters six feet high.

Believes Ship Struck Mine.

E. H. Duff, counsel for the company owning the Nebraskan, communicated with the New York offices today and later at the state department said the circumstances of the affair, particularly the damage to the bow of the Nebraskan, indicated to him that the vessel struck a mine. The steamship officials with whom he talked in New York had the same view, although they had very little information. He said that no steps had thus far been taken with a view to protest, or representations.

The American naval attache at London has been sent to Liverpool to examine the Nebraskan's hull.

Consul General Skinner's message follows:

"Green, master of American steamer Nebraskan, in wireless addressed to me via London, reports:

"'Nebraskan passed Fastnet rock Tuesday, 4:33 p. m., from Liverpool, bound for Delaware Breakwater, in ballast. At 8:24 p. m. when steamer was about forty-eight miles west half south from Fastnet she experienced violent shock followed instantly by terrific explosion, bursting hatches and throwing hatch beams, cargo derricks and twisted iron into air, filling lower hold forward completely with water. Crew immediately took to boats.

Return on Board.

AIRMEN DROP MORE BOMBS NEAR LONDON

Another Zeppelin Raid Made on South End at Thames' Mouth.

Entire Town Illuminated By the Bursting of Incendiary Shells.

One or Two Persons Killed and Several Injured During Attack.

South End, England, May 27.—Another Zeppelin raid was made upon this town last night and it is reported that three persons were killed by bombs which were dropped.

The entire town was illuminated by the bursting of shells dropped by the aircraft. The material damage caused appears to have been less than on the occasion of the last raid.

A revised count shows that only one person was killed, Mrs. May Fabin, who was here on a visit. A number of people were injured.

South End, which is a municipal borough and popular seaside resort at the mouth of the Thames, forty miles east of London, has been the target of Zeppelin raiders several times in the past six months. On no previous

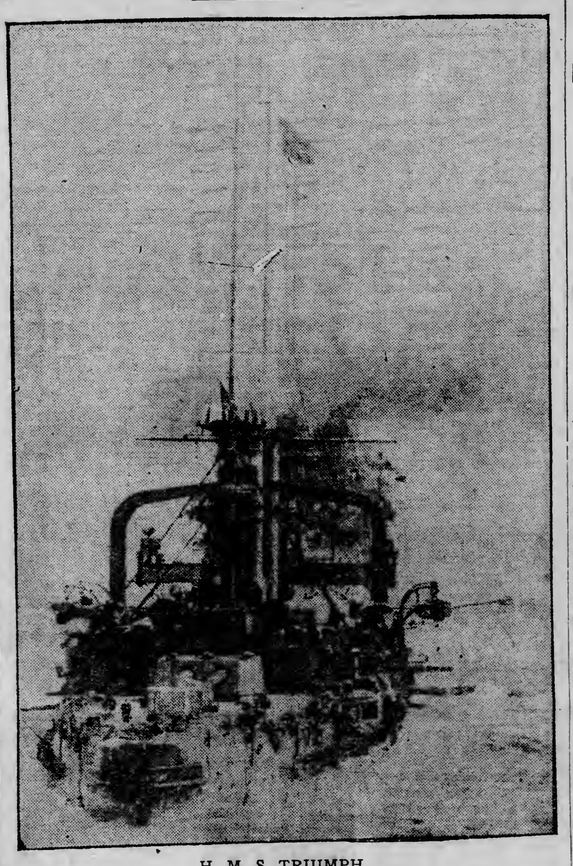
STRICT NEUTRALITY BY SCANDINAVIANS

London, May 27.—Sweden, Norway and Denmark have sent to Italy, Germany and Austria following their declarations of war, formal notification of the Scandinavian nations' determination to maintain strict neutrality.

TURKS ARE TERRORIZED BY RENEWED ATTACKS

Paris, May 27.—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Athens dated May 26 says the action of the allies against the Turkish positions in Dardanelles straits is continuing vigorously. Reinforcements are constantly being brought up. The Turks appear to be terrorized by the incessant renewal of the attacks. These indicate to them the absolute determination of the allies to force the straits. From time to time the British and French artillery throws a veritable hail of shells on the Turks.

BRITISH BATTLESHIP TRIUMPH TORPEDOED



H. M. S. TRIUMPH.

London, May 27.—The British battleship Triumph has been sunk in the Dardanelles. This official announcement was made last night.

The disaster to the Triumph is described in a brief statement by the admiralty, which says that, while operating in support of the Australian and New Zealand forces on the shore of the Gallipoli peninsula Tuesday, the Triumph was torpedoed by a submarine, and sank shortly afterwards.

The majority of the officers and men, including the captain and commander, are reported to have been saved. The submarine was chased by destroyers and patrolling small craft until dark.

Sank in Seven Minutes.

Berlin, via London, May 27.—A Constantinople dispatch to the Tageblatt says that the British battleship Triumph was sunk by a single torpedo, and that she disappeared in seven minutes.

Built in 1902.

The battleship Triumph was built at Barrow in 1902 for the Chilean government, but was purchased by Great Britain in 1903. She was laid down under the name of Libertad, and was a sister ship of the Constitution, which also was purchased from Chile and re-christened Swiftsure. Since the present war broke out the Triumph has been in operation in both far eastern and European waters. As flagship of the

AIRMEN DROP BOMBS ON GERMAN FACTORY

French Air Squadron Sets Fire to Manufactory of Explosives.

Paris, May 27.—A French aerial squadron composed of eighteen aeroplanes, each one carrying fifty kilos (110 pounds) of projectiles, this morning bombarded a chemical factory at Ludwigshafen on the Rhine, opposite Mannheim.

Fire broke out in several of the factory buildings as a result of this bombardment.

This factory is one of the most important manufactories of explosives in all Germany. The French aviators were in the air for six hours, and covered more than 400 kilometers (240 miles).

This expedition against an important German military establishment was the French reply to the attempts of German aviators on the city of Paris.

This information was contained in the French official statement given out by the war office this afternoon.

TROOPS NOW AT TOWN OF MONFALCONE

First of Austrian Wounded Are Arriving at Seaport of Trieste.

Italian Troops Capture Cormons and Are Now Marching on Gorz.

Many Airships Gathered at Venice to Protect the City.

Geneva, Switzerland, May 27, via Paris.—A strong Italian advance guard today crossed the Isonzo river after a sharp fight with an Austrian force and arrived before the town of Monfalcone, which is thirty miles from the Austrian seaport of Triest. The first of the Austrian wounded are now arriving at the latter place.

The Italians also attacked at several points along the forty miles of the Carinthian frontier.

BATTLE RAGING.

A battle between the Italians and Austrians now is raging around Ploken and also west of the Praedil pass in Austria.

In Adige the fighting has been limited to skirmishes.

Italian forces which penetrated the Tyrol at Candino and other Italian armies which captured Cormons, have reconstructed the railway and are now marching on Gorz, the capital of the Austrian crown land of Gorz and Gradisca.

AVIATORS ACTIVE.

Both the Austrian and Italian aviation services are very active along the frontier. Many machines have been gathered at Venice to protect that city. A parseval airship arrived by rail at Trent yesterday from Munich, Bavaria. A Zeppelin balloon is reported to be preparing to follow it shortly from Friedrichshafen.

Heavier guns have been mounted on the Italian gunboats on Lake Garda.

Several regiments of Bavarian Alpine troops yesterday crossed Brenner pass, which is 4,485 feet high, bound for Bozen.

Between Salsburg and Innsbrueck forty-five trains are passing daily, transporting men and material. Swiss patrols are marking the eastern frontiers of Switzerland with flags to prevent incidents.

FLOUR HEARING TO BE HELD IN WASHINGTON

Washington, May 27.—The hearing on definitions and standards for various kinds of flour, to have been held at St. Paul, has been postponed until June 5 and transferred to Washington. The entire joint committee on definitions and standards, composed of representatives of the Association of American Diary, Food and Drug Officials, the Association of Official Agricultural Chemists and the United States department of agriculture, will hear the discussion.

ANOTHER CASE OF DROPPING THE PILOT.
The Old Man Will Do His Own Steering From Now On.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The war again has been carried to the shores of England. German aeronauts attacked South End, forty miles from London, last night, and after raining bombs on the town, escaped, pursued by British aviators. The British admiralty announced two women had been killed by bombs, although dispatches direct from South End assert only one woman was killed. One or more Zeppelins took part in the raid. The property damage was not large Aviators of the allies have inflicted heavy damage recently on German positions in Belgium. A message from Ostend says fifty German soldiers were killed by a bomb dropped on that city from an aeroplane.

Notwithstanding their heavy losses in men and warships, the allies are continuing incessantly the campaign which aims at the conquest of Constantinople. An Athens dispatch states that they are constantly bringing up reinforcements, and that the Turks are greatly impressed with the unremitting vigor of their assaults. There is no evidence, however, that the allies have been able to extend greatly the field of their operations on Gallipoli peninsula.

The Italians have as yet encountered no serious opposition in their invasion of Austria. It is believed the Austrians will fall back on the Isonzo river, and there attempt to halt the movement toward Triest. The first heavy fighting of the campaign is expected along this line.

NO FURTHER ACTION ON UNION SEMINARY

Presbyterians Will Let Matter Rest for the Present.

Rochester, N. Y., May 27.—So far as the 127th assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States is concerned, no further action will be taken on the Union Theological seminary. The movement to offer resolutions disclaiming any intention of implying moral turpitude on the part of the seminary's directors and providing for a committee to investigate New York presbytery has definitely been abandoned.

Today the assembly proceeded to dispose of routine business, receive decisions in judicial cases and reports of standing committees, preparatory to the closing services tomorrow. Atlantic City probably will be chosen for the 128th assembly.

One big question will be taken up at tonight's session, that of extending the work of the Board of Freedmen to the negroes of the North, and placing the responsibility of leadership upon negroes themselves.

ITALIAN WITH ALLIED SOLDIERS MAY SERVE IN TWO ARMIES

Enlisting in the allied army at the beginning of the war, when there was a possibility of Italy being aligned against England, France and Russia, Emilio Debernardi, brother of Angelo Debernardi, 210 West Second street, Duluth, may serve in two armies before the war ends.

Emilio, who is an Italian citizen, was the proprietor of a barber shop in Paris when war was declared, and, inspired by the general enthusiasm in the French capital at the time, enlisted in the Italian legion of volunteers and was sent to the front with the French under Gen. Joffre.

Carlo Boggio, 210 West Second street, an uncle of Debernardi, is a lieutenant in the Italian reserve and will return to his native soil and join the colors as soon as the call for reserves is sent out by King Victor Emmanuel.

In a recent letter from Emilio, the brother learned that he was "in the trenches, 'somewhere' in Northern France."

"I thank you for your gift, which has made possible several luxuries," he said. "We now are drinking a little bottle of wine to your health, and to the success of the allied army."

Soldiers in the trenches work twenty-four days out of the month, and then are given a rest, according to the letter, which says the man are very well cared for and comfortable.

Both Debernardi boys are from Rivoli, Piedmont, Italy.

BRAZILIAN MINISTER ENTERS COMPLAINT

Charges Carranza Commander With Seizing Food Intended for Civilians.

Washington, May 27.—The Brazilian minister in Mexico City forwarded to the state department today a complaint from the international committee that a Carranza commander had seized 600 tons of corn bought for destitute civil population of the capital. The state department at once instructed Consul Silliman at Vera Cruz to make representations to Gen. Carranza. The food situation in Mexico is desperate and the international committee has been making great efforts to relieve it.

Officials assume that the seizure was at Puebla although the dispatch did not say so and that coincides with a dispatch to the Carranza agency here today saying Gen. Gonzales had established a headquarters at Puebla for the campaign to reoccupy Mexico City. It adds that large quantities of food were being gathered for relief of the city when the Carranza forces entered.

SIXTY-FIVE "COPS" SEARCH FOR "SUSIE"

"Susie," wearing a pink baby ribbon 'round her snowy throat and carefully washed and combed, has disappeared.

Susie's owner has been searching for her every place since May 25, and today sixty-five blue-coated policemen were notified and asked to help in the hunt.

Every meal time Mrs. Paul A. Karas, 309 West Superior street, goes to the door and looks in all directions and calls, but so far no Susie has appeared to take her place at the Karas' family table and enjoy her meal.

"SUSIE."

When officers started out on their beats this afternoon, they stopped long enough to look at a picture of Susie, which Sergeant Albert Weber kept for reference, and each policeman looked along his beat and inquired for a forlorn, looking little white collie dog with a black spot over one eye.

In the meantime Susie is probably seeking new worlds and wondering how she can find her way back to her mistress.

COURT TO DISPOSE OF RAID VICTIMS

Woman to Be Arraigned; Two Discharged; Seven Forfeit Bail.

Charged with keeping an unlicensed drinking place, May Manske, proprietress of a rooming house at 110 West Second street, which was raided by police late Tuesday night, will be arraigned before Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting this afternoon.

She is one of the eight women and two men arrested, whose cases will come up for trial. Dorothy Francis, age 21, actress, and Ruth Rench, age 25, domestic, arrested in the Manske woman's rooms, were charged with vagrancy yesterday but later their cases were dismissed.

They were held to testify against the Manske woman, according to police.

Florence Stone, 319 West Superior street, who was arrested the same night, forfeited $100 bail when charged with keeping an unlicensed drinking place. Four women and two men, arrested with the Stone woman, also forfeited their bail.

CHINA'S WEAKNESS INVITED INSULT

So Says President Yuan Shi Kai on Signing of Jap Treaties.

Pekin, May 27.—The text of the two treaties and thirteen notes signed on Tuesday by China and Japan was published today. An official statement from the foreign office says the treaties contain no secret clauses.

President Yuan Shi Kai issued a proclamation in reference to the treaties, in which he said:

"Our rights and privileges in Manchuria have suffered enormously. We are ashamed and humiliated but our weakness invited insult. Let all the people unite and work harmoniously for the supreme object of saving the country."

Berg, age 74, pioneer resident of Duluth, who died at his home, 317 North Twenty-second avenue west, early yesterday morning, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the West End Undertaking parlors, 2118 West First street. Rev. Stemple White will conduct the services. Interment will be made at the Scandia cemetery.

TEN YEARS' CHASE ENDS

Duluthian Finds His Runaway Wife in North Dakota Town.

She and Her Alleged Affinity Are Under Arrest.

After a ten years' chase across the continent, during which time he lost his farm, and one of his children died, Robert Twaddle of this city last Saturday located Mrs. Margaret Twaddle, his wife, in Brockett, N. D., and this morning she and Richard Witte were arrested and taken to Devils Lake, N. D., to answer a charge of unlawful cohabitation, according to dispatches received this afternoon from the North Dakota city.

Mr. Twaddle was in Duluth last Saturday morning, visiting with his father, George Twaddle of 711 Twenty-first avenue west, when he received word that his wife was in Brockett. He immediately took a train for the North Dakota town, and this morning the pair were found together and arrested on the complaint of the Duluth man. They will be tried at Devils Lake.

Mr. Twaddle, his wife and three children were living peacefully on a farm in Hermantown ten years ago, when one day, according to the husband's charge, she and young Witte, who was but 20 years old at the time, disappeared. The young man was living on an adjoining farm and had been very friendly with the Twaddle family.

At first the father remained at home and cared for his farm and the three small children. One day while he was at work on the field, one of the children, George, 6 years old, was shot by the other while playing with a rifle. Realizing that it was impossible to care for the children alone he gave them to his parents and started out on a search of the runaway pair.

At first the chase led to Canada, then to the Pacific coast, back to the range towns, to the Southwest and finally to North Dakota. For some time past Mr. Twaddle knew that they were in North Dakota, but he was unable to locate them. He returned to Duluth several weeks ago and on Saturday received word in answer to one of his queries and he immediately left for Brockett, where he now claims he found his wife and Witte living together.

Mr. and Mrs. Twaddle were married in South Superior about nineteen years ago. She was about 25 years old when she ran away, six years older than Witte. Mr. Twaddle has two brothers and a sister living here, besides his parents.

Herald Want Ads are steadily increasing in usefulness. This is truly the "get-together place" of Duluth.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get At the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested food, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

"STAR—The Pocket-Pal of All Good Fellows"

Men Who Chew Are Men Who DO

NO men more fully enjoy the jolly companionship of good chewing tobacco than the foresters who conserve America's standing timber.

These big, brave, brawny men, as ready to fight a forest fire to a stand-still as they are to take a twenty mile "hike" in the dead of night, are STAR pluggers as well as STAR chewers.

They find STAR mighty pleasant company when they're alone—and when they meet a traveler they're glad to pass their plug to him. They know that STAR is good for one and better for two.

Each STAR plug is thick with a thickness of long lasting, mellow chewing leaf that just suits to a "T" the taste of Americans. Each STAR plug weighs a full 16 ounce pound, every time. Each plug is made clean and kept so; a STAR plug won't dry out like a thin plug—and the taste lasts. It will just take you but a few seconds to cut off a chew of STAR and get it into your mouth—to understand why STAR is the leading brand of the world.

MAY INVESTIGATE CHARITIES' COST

Commercial Club Committee Would Prevent Waste of Donated Money.

In an effort to bring charitable demands on the people of Duluth within a reasonable limit, the committee on charitable organizations of the Commercial club may decide to conduct an investigation into the cost of administration of the institutions which people generally are called upon to support. F. W. Paine, chairman of the committee, says that the committee has just begun to find out necessary information regarding the various charities and considers the cost of administration as one of the most important items of expense.

"If, on further information, it seems to us that the administration of these charities is unnecessarily high," said Mr. Paine today, "we will look into them. Cost of administration is a very important matter, for if it reaches unreasonable size it constitutes a waste of the money which Duluth people subscribe for the support of the charities. The largest amount of money possible should be devoted to the actual relief of the charity and the least possible amount expended in administering that relief. Waste must be stopped so that the money obtained is profitably and properly spent."

Mr. Paine announced that blanks containing questions concerning the financial needs, the cost of administration, the methods of obtaining funds and the use of them, will be sent out to various institutions depending on public bounty for their support. The replies will be filed at the club offices and people who are solicited to donate may consult this data to find out conditions. Mr. Paine declared that it is not the purpose of the committee to publicly condemn any charity, but the committee reserves the right to issue or refuse indorsement cards to solicitors. A card will signify indorsement of the charity, and lack of one will leave the matter optional with the donor.

Co-operating with the plan of the Commercial club, Bishop McGolrick of the Duluth Catholic diocese has issued the following letter regarding soliciting for Catholic charities:

"In accordance with the efforts of the Commercial club to prevent imposition on the charitable people of Duluth, I wish it to be fully understood that those collecting for any Catholic charity must be able to show a letter from the bishop of the diocese. "Persons clad in the garb of priest or nun have gone around under the pretense of collecting for orphans or other institutions and the business man has given freely without investigation. Such givers need protection."

COLORADO COUPLE IS HAPPY NOW

In a little town in Colorado there has happened a "near" miracle. A man cured his wife of a running varicose ulcer and they are the happiest couple in the state. Four boxes of Allen's Ulcerine Salve did it. (Name and address on application).

Allen's Ulcerine Salve is one of the oldest remedies in America and since 1869 has been known as the only salve powerful enough to reach chronic ulcers and old sores of long standing. Because it is so powerful it often heals burns and scalds without a scar in a remarkably short time.

Allen's Ulcerine Salve heals from the bottom up and draws out the poisons. If applied on new cuts and sores it heals in one-third the time that common salves and liniments take. Sold by The Spencer Pharmacy Co., and other leading druggists.

WILL KEEP CLOSE TAB ON CONTRACTS

City Would Make Contractors Repair Pavements When Possible.

As a precaution Commissioner Farrell of the works division has requested City Attorney Greene to prepare a table, showing exactly when all the contracts expire on the various paving jobs throughout the city.

In this way Mr. Farrell expects to keep close watch on the old pavements and to enforce repair clauses wherever possible. Many pavements, he said, need repairs and he will insist on the improvements being made by the contractors when it is possible under the contract.

The contract on the East Superior street pavement expired last year and as a result, there is now some doubt whether the city can make the contractor, P. McDonnell, repair the thoroughfare without cost to the city.

In order that there will be no such situation on the other contracts Mr. Farrell proposes to have a complete list, showing when the improvements were made, the features of the contract and when it legally expires.

Almost Inconceivable.

COUNTRY ENTERING ON NEW ERA OF PROSPERITY, SAYS LEGISLATOR

H. H. Harrison of Stillwater, one of the leading members of the last state house of representatives and a real friend of Duluth, was in the city for a few hours today, and left this afternoon for Ashland, Wis., where he has interests. Mr. Harrison has property here also, and his visit was purely one of business.

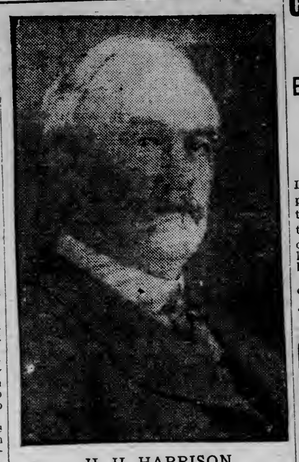
The Stillwater representative was one of the most picturesque members of the lower house, and also one of the most popular, even though he did not hesitate to condemn—in strong terms, too—measures which he thought were departures from a sane course. Mr. Harrison is generally called "Uncle Henry" in Stillwater, and his gruff kindliness soon caused the members of the house to apply his title of affection, and during his two terms in the legislature he became "Uncle Henry" to every member.

As a legislator, Mr. Harrison was a vigilant and forceful champion of sane economy in state affairs, and his efforts were directly responsible for the defeat of many an extravagance at the last session.

The Stillwater man is a great believer in Duluth, and looks confidently to this city to develop wonderfully in the future. He proved his friendship for Duluth repeatedly during his two terms in the legislature.

Today Mr. Harrison expressed his pleasure over the success of the Duluth traffic commission to reform the preferential rate structure, which for years, he declares, has held Duluth back from her legitimate place in the business world and has put the Twin Cities forward at the expense of this city.

As to business in general, Mr. Harrison declares that conditions indicate that the country is on the verge of a great era of industrial activity and prosperity.



H. H. HARRISON.

COLUMBUS IN PAGEANT

Italians of State Will Gather in Duluth Next Fall.

Already Planning Big Celebration of Christopher Columbus Day.

Several thousand Italians, from all parts of the state, will assemble in Duluth, Oct. 12, for the third annual celebration of Christopher Columbus day.

For the last three years Italians in the state have observed this day officially. In 1913 the Minneapolis colony was in charge of arrangements, while the following year the parade and services were held in St. Paul.

The Columbus societies of Duluth already have started plans for a monster pageant commemorative of the explorer who is called the discoverer of America. An executive committee has been appointed, as follows: Attilio Castigliano, chairman; F. M. Bocchiardi, secretary; Joseph De Marco, assistant secretary; V. Mainella, treasurer; Enrico Casola, assistant treasurer; Guiseppe Bianchi, C. Jannetta and Grand Marshal Antonio Schiros of Hibbing.

This committee, in turn, has just appointed the officers who will be in charge of the ceremony. They are: Attilio Castigliano, honorary grand president; A. G. Fiskett, president; Ralph Marotta, honorary president; Domenico Signorelli, Dr. E. C. Vercellini, Rev. J. Zarilli, C. E. Vasaly, and Domenico Benda.

Grassi, Frank Benda; advertising and printing, Guiseppe Bianchi, Carlo Jannetta, Peter Summers and Edward Furni; reception, Ercole Casola, Ralph Fisketti and Filippo D'Andrea; banquet, Eugenio Fiskett, Carlo Uzzolo and Luigi Picketti; parade, Carlo Uzzolo, Frank Fida and Enrico Casola.

Rogers & McLean are the low bidders on paving Kenilworth avenue from Vermilion road to Livingston avenue, and Sussex avenue from Snively road to Kenilworth avenue.

The bids were opened this morning by Secretary Culver of the public works division and in all probability Commissioner Farrell will introduce a resolution at the council meeting next Tuesday awarding the contract to Rogers & McLean on their bid of $8,982.45.

The other bids follow: George R. King, $9,409.30; J. D. O'Connell, $9,047.95, and August Bodin & Son, $10,765.40. The streets will be paved with concrete.

LABOR CONDITIONS AT PORTO RICO

Commissioner at Island Continues His Testimony on Affairs.

Washington, May 27.—J. C. Bills, Jr., commissioner of labor of Porto Rico, today continued his testimony before the Federal Industrial Relations commission as to labor conditions in the island. He declared that conditions in Porto Rico were bad, but that every effort was being made to improve them.

President Gompers of the American Federation and other officers of that organization also testified.

Mr. Bills denied that the labor department and other branches of the government in Porto Rico generally supported employers in disputes with the workers.

Martin Travieso testified along the same lines.

"I do not hesitate to say labor conditions in the islands are a disgrace," he said, "but that is due to the work of centuries. It is due to the ignorance of our people and to the excess of population in the islands. The labor supply is far in excess of the demand."

PAVING JOB BEGUN.

Contractor Puts Crew to Work on Minnesota Avenue.

Work was begun this morning on the paving of Minnesota avenue, from Twelfth to Thirty-eighth street. This is the second pavement started this year, the other being Woodland avenue.

Thirty men were hired this morning by the S. R. Okes Construction company and the officials in charge expect to increase the crew to fifty men within a week or ten days.

The new pavement will be of concrete and will be laid on the left side of the thoroughfare, connecting with the stretch built last summer from the canal to Twelfth street.

COUNSEL COMPLETE BRIEF FOR FRANK

Embodies Minute Chronology of Case for Prison Commission.

Atlantic, Ga., May 27.—Counsel for Leo M. Frank today practically completed the brief they will present to the Georgia prison commission when the hearing on Frank's petition for commutation of his death sentence to life imprisonment is opened before that body here Monday.

The attorneys said the brief would embody a minute chronology of the case from the discovery of the murder of Mary Phagan, April 27, 1913, and would assign these three basic reasons for Frank's appeal:

First—The doubt of Judge L. S. Roan, trial judge, as to Frank's guilt, as expressed when he denied the first motion for a new trial several months after the original verdict.

Second—The dissenting opinion by Chief Justice Fish and Justice Beck of the Georgia supreme court, when Frank's motion for a new trial was denied.

Third—The dissenting opinion of Justice Hughes and Holmes of the United States supreme court in Frank's habeas corpus proceeding before that body.

CONFESSION WILL NOT SAVE BECKER

No Disclosures About Men Higher Up Would Avail, Says Perkins.

New York, May 27.—No possible disclosures of police corruption or revelations of the identity of the man or men higher up in the division of money paid for police protection—no plea Charles Becker can make will save him from the electric chair, if District Attorney Perkins can prevent it, according to announcement made by Mr. Perkins today. In making his announcement, Mr. Perkins took official cognizance of a current rumor that Becker, facing death for causing the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was willing to confess all he knows if his life should be spared. Becker's second conviction was affirmed by the court of appeals and his execution set for the week of July 12, or if custom is followed, July 16, the third anniversary of the Rosenthal murder.

"This thing might as well be settled once and for all," Mr. Perkins said. "No confession implicating officials however high, for giving or taking bribe money, would warrant an application for an appeal for clemency to the governor for one convicted of murder in the first degree.

"Important as it may be that public officials should be punished ruthlessly for misconduct in office, it is more important that the instigators of murder should be punished for their acts."

MONDAY WILL BE HOLIDAY

Stores Will Close All Day in Honor of Veterans.

Exercises in Schools Friday; Services in Churches Sunday.

Duluth will have a double holiday starting late Saturday, while citizens of the city pay tribute to G. A. R. veterans with Memorial day services.

A monster parade, two public meetings, church services, and a banquet to the old soldiers, are included in the plans for the three-day celebration, as announced by T. F. Upham, president of the Citizens' Staff.

Beginning tomorrow with services in all the schools, when the children will hear addresses by old soldiers, this commemoration of the service rendered the country by the men who fought in the Civil war will be one of the most impressive in the city's history.

Special services will be held in various churches, Sunday, and many veterans, members of the J. B. Culver and Willis A. Gorman posts, will attend the First Methodist Episcopal church, it is planned.

Monday will be observed by the city as Memorial day, although Sunday is the date set for commemorative services. All the stores and all the schools with the exception of the normal school, will close.

Exercises at the Auditorium and Central high school will follow the parade, which starts at 10 a. m. from courthouse square. The Auditorium services will be adapted to older persons, while that at the high school has been arranged more particularly for children.

Mayor W. I. Prince will preside at the Auditorium and Rev. U. S. Villars will give the principal address. An original reading: "The First Minnesota at Gettysburg" will be presented by Miss Laura Frankenfield and State Senator Richard Jones will read Lincoln's "Gettysburg address."

W. W. Huntley, president of the Citizen's staff, will preside at the high school services.

Orations will be given by Richard Duffy, Vincent J. McKinnon and Irving Grover. Music will be furnished by the Bryant school orchestra, and Capt. W. H. Smallwood will present flags to the school companies.

As a special feature of the parade the Sons of Veterans have arranged an ambulance corps, which will be on duty during the march. Members of the corps, wearing the red cross, will be stationed along the line of march, prepared to give first aid treatment to any of the old soldiers or others who may be overcome. Special ambulance services also has been arranged.

H. C. Foster, commander of the Sons of Veterans, announced today that a meeting would be held at Memorial hall, courthouse, Friday night, to complete plans, and he has sent out a call asking all former Sons of Veterans, as well as those eligible for membership in the order, to be present at the meeting.

Monday afternoon services will be held aboard the U. S. training ship Gopher under the auspices of the Ladies of the G. A. R. and the Women's Relief corps. They will drop flowers on the water as a tribute to those who have lost their lives in naval service.

"The greater part of Monday afternoon will be passed at the cemeteries, where graves of veterans who have "gone before" will be decorated by their former comrades.

BRIGHT OUTLOOK IN METAL MARKETS

John A. Percival Optimistic Over Situation in Copper and Spelter.

John A. Percival of the Butte-Ballaklava Copper company, who is back in Duluth after a trip to various parts of the country, stated today that the copper mining situation is the best it has been in years.

"The average price of spelter for ten years was 5.75 cents," said Mr. Percival. "I noticed just the other day where the American Zinc company had disposed of a large order at 19 cents. I believe the average price now is around 16 cents. Quite an advance, eh?

"Naturally this rapid and somewhat remarkable increase in the price of metal has had its effect. The foreign demand has influenced the price. Many of the large smelting of Europe are in the war zone. I believe that the demand for copper will continue for some time after the European conflict is over. I cannot see how it could be otherwise. The production of smelters that have been destroyed in Europe was enormous. It will require some time to replace that output."

HELD TO GRAND JURY.

J. R. McKinnon Said to Have Held Officer Who Was Being Assaulted.

Held at police headquarters since May 21 on a charge of interfering with an officer John R. McKinnon, aged 21, was arraigned before Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting this morning and waived examination, being bound over to the grand jury under $500 bail.

McKinnon was arrested Saturday after Earl S. Spooner, aged 25, companion, had seriously injured Patrolman James Woods in a fight starting when the officer tried to arrest him for disorderly conduct. McKinnon is alleged to have grabbed the officer's arm and distracted his attention just before Spooner struck him.

Officer Wood has been confined to his home since the attack, and Police Surgeon Harry Klein reported today that he showed but little signs of improvement. The officer sustained a concussion of the brain when thrown to the sidewalk on his head by Spooner and his left side was paralyzed. The injuries will not cause a permanent disability, it is believed.

Spooner has not been arraigned, pending the officer's recovery.

ROTARIANS SMART UNDER CRITICISM

Discuss Reception of Their City Mediator Plan at Weekly Luncheon.

The Rotary club members, who held their weekly luncheon at the Spalding hotel this noon, are evidently chafing under the criticizm which their "city mediator" plan has been receiving from community clubs and from the newspapers, for most of today's session was spent in counter-criticism, especially of the newspapers.

E. P. Burg, who is chairman of the committee that had in charge the formation of the proposed mediator body, made his report to the Rotary club today, and then proceeded to object to criticisms made in recent newspaper editorials of the proposal to create an intermediary council to advise the city commissioners on public wants and needs.

E. J. Filiatrault backed up Mr. Burg's criticisms and enlarged on them, especially as to newspapers. He then dilated on the success of the annual fall industrial expositions, and gave credit for it to the unity attained among the clubs of the city. H. W. Armstrong spoke emphatically against the mediator plan.

As to the latter, no action was taken other than to put it over one week until further light could be thrown upon it. Up to the present, most of the community clubs that have discussed the plan have refused to sanction it. Other clubs are still to act.

PARTICULAR ABOUT THE AILMENT.

The Popular Magazine: A colored lawyer in a Southern town was arguing a case which had to do with the breaking of a will made by an old negro man. The attorney contended that the old darky, in addition to many physical ailments, had been weak-minded when he had made the will.

The court asked the lawyer several questions about the physical troubles and mental condition of the dead man, and to all these queries the lawyer answered briskly.

"Now," asked the court finally, "did this old man have any lucid intervals?"

"Well, as to dat, jedge," replied the colored lawyer after a considerable pause, "de opinion seems to be dat it was mostly a case of ankilosed knee."

WORK FARM SENTENCE FOR POOL HALL BURGLAR

Fred Gedenberg, who on the evening of May 16 broke into a pool hall conducted by Fred Hill at 212 South First avenue east and helped himself to ninety pennies, ten cigars, two packages of cigarettes, a can of smoking and a plug of chewing tobacco, drew a 90-day sentence at the work farm when brought before Judge Dancer in district court this afternoon.

Gedenberg was held on a charge of burglary in the third degree, but Mason M. Forbes, assistant county attorney, consented to receiving a plea of guilty to a charge of larceny from a building, a lesser offense. The burglary charge was dismissed after the court had disposed of Gedenberg.

Officers found the lock on the rear door of the pool hall broken and upon entering the building found Gedenberg inside. He was arrested on a charge of burglary. This was Gedenberg's first offense and as the burglary charge would not permit of a work farm sentence, the county attorney's office consented to accept a plea to a lesser offense.

CONFESSION WILL NOT SAVE BECKER

No Disclosures About Men Higher Up Would Avail, Says Perkins.

New York, May 27.—No possible disclosures of police corruption or revelations of the identity of the man or men higher up in the division of money paid for police protection—no plea Charles Becker can make will save him from the electric chair, if District Attorney Perkins can prevent it, according to announcement made by Mr. Perkins today. In making his announcement Mr. Perkins took official cognizance of a current rumor that Becker, facing death for causing the murder of Herman Rosenthal, was willing to confess all he knows if his life should be spared. Becker's second conviction was affirmed by the court of appeals and his execution set for the week of July 12, or if custom is followed, July 16, the third anniversary of the Rosenthal murder.

"This thing might as well be settled once and for all," Mr. Perkins said today. "No confession implicating officials however high, for giving or taking bribe money, would warrant any application for an appeal for clemency to the governor for one convicted of murder in the first degree.

"Important as it may be that public officials should be punished ruthlessly for misconduct in office, it is more important that the instigators of murder should be punished for their acts."

A Washington dispatch announces that John R. Kunzelman of 516½ Lake avenue north, has received a patent on an auxiliary step for car platforms. The step takes the place of the stools which are used in most railroad stations to enable passengers to step on and off the trains, and is attached to the lower step of the train. It can be dropped to any level lower than the regular step and is self-adjusting. When folded it is out of the way.

WORK FARM SENTENCE FOR POOL HALL BURGLAR

Fred Gedenberg, who on the evening of May 16 broke into a pool hall conducted by Fred Hill at 212 South First avenue east and helped himself to ninety pennies, ten cigars, two packages of cigarettes, a can of smoking and a plug of chewing tobacco, drew a 90-day sentence at the work farm when brought before Judge Dancer in district court this afternoon.

Gedenberg was held on a charge of burglary in the third degree, but Mason M. Forbes, assistant county attorney, consented to receiving a plea of guilty to a charge of larceny from a building, a lesser offense. The burglary charge was dismissed after the court had disposed of Gedenberg.

Officers found the lock on the rear door of the pool hall broken and upon entering the building found Gedenberg inside. He was arrested on a charge of burglary. This was Gedenberg's first offense and as the burglary charge would not permit of a work farm sentence, the county attorney's office consented to accept a plea to a lesser offense.

FOURTH OF JULY PLANS FAVORED

Mayor Receives Suggestions for Flag-Raising, and Other Features.

Reports received by members of the city commission on the proposed Fourth of July celebration show that the citizens are in favor of the plan.

Mayor Prince has received a number of suggestions on the Independence day program, and these will be presented to a committee to be appointed within a few days.

The program most generally favored is a flag-raising, addresses and a band concert to take place on the courthouse lawn and a display of fireworks from a scow on the lake.

As soon as Mayor Prince feels that the public wants a civic celebration he will take the matter up formally with the city commission and prominent citizens, for the purpose of working out an all-day program. A committee of about fifteen will then be appointed to arrange the details.

Other suggestions made are that the afternoon program be held either in Lincoln park or at the curling club and that the display of fireworks take place in the harbor, directly in front of the boat club, where the grandstand could be turned over to the public for that evening.

"THREE WEEKS" NOT AS WICKED AS PAINTED

In all probability no action will be taken by the city officials to stop the motion picture, "Three Weeks," now being exhibited at the Zelda theater.

It was said at the city hall this morning that no formal complaints had been made and that no action would be taken unless strenuous objections were made against the picture and it was proven that there are portions that should be suppressed.

An inspection of the picture this morning showed that it is far from being as sensational as many have been led to believe by glaring posters.

BUTTER BURGLARS MAKE FRESH HAUL

Duluth's butter burglars made another haul last night, this time getting ten pounds of the fresh creamery variety from the grocery store of G. G. Elfstrand, 1132 East Ninth street.

Two men, evidently the heads of large families, because of their valuation of butter, have broken into various grocery stores recently, and each time the theft has consisted of several pounds of the best creamery grade. On May 14 they secured about twenty-five pounds at the store of A. E. Arntson, 1001 East Eighth street.

Mr. Elfstrand, when he reported the burglary to Lieut. E. H. Barber at police headquarters this morning, was unable to estimate his loss, but after an inventory reported that ten pounds of butter, some cigars and candy and about $3 in nickels, dimes and pennies was missing.

WEST DULUTH BUILDERS

THOMAS G. BELL.

Thomas G. Bell, 425 North Central avenue, is one of the latest "ringers" in West Duluth. His pet theme is baseball and he owns up to having at one time been "some pitcher."

"I'm not going to try to 'ring in' on some team, but if I am asked I'll try to do the best I can," he said, when asked if he had any special aspirations that way, shortly after his arrival here.

Mr. Bell came here from Two Harbors with his brother two months ago. He is a former college baseball pitcher and has played in some of the semi-pro teams throughout this state. He has already promised to hold the mound position for the team representing the West Duluth council of the Royal League in its game against the Zenith council on July 25.

The first thing he did when he arrived in West Duluth was to join the Commercial club. He says that if a person intends living and doing business in a community a person has to be one of the community's boosters and help other boosters by belonging to the commercial organizations.

SUPERIOR

NAUGHTON TRIAL BEGINS.

Jury Drawn in Election Case and First Witness Testifies.

The drawing of jurymen to try Joseph Naughton for the second time on a charge of giving illegal returns of election was completed in the superior court in Superior at 11 o'clock this morning. The first witness in the case to be called was W. J. Leader, county clerk.

Mr. Leader was still under cross examination when adjournment was taken at noon. While on the stand this morning, Mr. Leader identified the ballots of the Second precinct of the Fourth ward. He admited that there had been discrepancies in all of the precincts of the city in the totals as returned by the judges of election and as compared with those found during the official count. He also said that in none of the precincts had the difference been so great as that shown in the Second precinct of the Fourth ward.

Two Years for Theft.

C. E. Johnson, who was brought to Superior from Grand Rapids, Minn., on extradition papers, pleaded guilty in the Superior court yesterday afternoon to stealing two dentists' instruments and a quantity of cocaine from the office of Dr. N. Booth. Judge Charles Smith sentenced the man to two years in the state's prison at Waupun.

Five Buildings Condemned.

Five buildings in Superior were ordered abated as nuisances and dangerous to the community by the city commission yesterday afternoon. The proceedings were taken on recommendations by Fire Chief Olaf Johnson.

The buildings declared nuisances and ordered repaired in thirty days or be razed, are at 523 Hughitt avenue, 2208 Elmira avenue, 2206 Elmira avenue, 3508-10 North Sixteenth street and 1812 Fifty-eighth street.

Saloon Will Close.

Superior will undoubtedly lose another of its saloons. The commissioners yesterday ordered Valentine Manlak, a saloonkeeper on Connor's point to appear before the commission on June 4 to show cause why his license should not be revoked. Manlak was found guilty early this week of selling liquor last Sunday and paid a fine of $100 and costs in police court. Police Chief Mackinnon has recommended that the license be revoked.

PREPARING NEW BILLS OF LADING

Railroads Making Arrangements to Meet Cummins Law Requirements.

The railroads of the country are, just now, getting out new bills of lading to meet the requirement of the Cummins "no liability limit" law, and are also changing some of their classifications. The Duluth traffic commission wishes to warn shippers in this part of the country of the coming change and to guard themselves in using the old bills of lading, which stipulate a liability limit, which, if removed, will call for a 10-per-cent extra charge for freight.

The roads are expected to make some announcement in the near future as to what shippers can do with the old bills until the new ones are issued.

The Cummins law, passed during the last session of congress, prescribed that railroads could not place a liability limit on goods placed in their hands for shipment. The old bill contained the stipulation above mentioned, and for a time it was thought that under the rules the roads could automatically demand an increase of 10 per cent under the new law. The matter was carried up to the interstate comimerce commission, which ruled recently that they could not, and the roads agreed to waive any claim they might feel they could make. The new bills of lading will be the result.

CIVIL SERVICE BILL KILLED BY SENATE

Wisconsin Solons Do Not Approve of Milwaukee Club's Measure.

Madison, Wis., May 27.—The senate today killed the Milwaukee city clubs bill placing all Milwaukee county institutions under the civil service system by a vote of 15 to 16.

The bill was defended by Senators Fairchild, Arnold and Skogmo and opposed by Bennett and Marlin. A move to reconsider the vote failed.

The senate passed a bill appropriating $2,000 to pay John A. Aylward and Michael B. Oldbrich for services in defending Insurance Commissioner Ekern in proceedings brought by Former Governor McGovern to oust him two years ago.

A bill to exempt from taxation dwellings owned by colleges and occupied by members of the faculty was engrossed.

The senate engrossed the Cunningham bill to give counties all the revenue from automobile licenses and it was then re-referred to the finance committee. The bill deprives the state from any share in the motor revenue.

When the assembly reached the Donnelly bill to apply the non-partisan election principle to county offices in Milwaukee, the author offered an amendment to make the application of the principle state wide.

Upon request of Assemblyman Kubasta, the bill and amendments were laid over until next Wednesday.

The assembly passed a resolution shutting off all committees except the finance committee from offering new bills after June 1.

Both houses adjourned until tomorrow.

To Make Hairs Vanish From Face, Neck or Arms

Keep a little powdered delatone handy and when hairy growths appear make a paste with some of the powder and a little water, then spread over hairy surface. After 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and it will be entirely free from hair or blemish. This simple treatment is unfailing, but care should be exercised to be sure and get the genuine delatone, otherwise you may be disappointed.—Advertisement.

POPE'S VOICE WAS UNHEEDED

Pontiff Writes Cardinal of His Efforts to End the War.

Prayers Will Continue More Frequently and More Fervently.

Rome, May 26, via Paris, May 27.—"The hour which we are traversing is painful, but our prayers will go out more frequently and more fervently than ever to those who have in their hands the fate of nations," is a declaration made by Pope Benedict in a letter to Cardinal Vannutelli, published in the Osservatore Romano, the Vatican organ. The pontiff recalls his first encyclical, in which he urged the belligerent nations to make peace, but points out that his voice was unheeded and the war continued until "the terrible conflagration has extended to our beloved Italy."

The pontiff says he wanted to hold a consistory early in June to discuss with the sacred college matters of importance concerning the government of the church, but unfortunately the distressing events made this impossible.

Heart Bleeds.

"While our heart bleeds at the sight of so much misery," the pope writes, "we have not neglected to continue our work for relief and the diminution of the deplorable consequences of war."

The pope then recalls his efforts for the exchange of wounded prisoners unable to fight again. The needs of the soul, he writes, especially attracted his fatherly attention, and exceptional facilities were consequently afforded all chaplains called under the colors or attached to the Italian army in any capacity.

Three Days' Fast.

The pope then exhorts all Catholics to practice with him for three days a strict ecclesiastical fast, and he accords a plenary indulgence applicable also to souls in purgatory.

Continuing, the pope writes:

"I wish that the echo of our voice might reach to all our children affected by the great scourge of war and persuade all of them of our participation in their troubles and sorrows. There is little of the grief of the child that is not reflected in the soul of the father."

In concluding his letter to Cardinal Vannutelli, the pope gives his apostolic blessing to all the cardinals.

Steamer La Salle to Shipyard.

The steamer La Salle, belonging to D. T. Helm of Duluth, arrived in port yesterday afternoon and went to the shipyard at Superior for repairs. She was damaged slightly by running into a dock at Knife River, where she was delivering a cargo of coal. One plate was broken on her side, and will be replaced at the yard. She will not have to go into the dry-dock.

WOULD IMPROVE LONG YEAR LAKE

Chisholm Council Urged to Make It Beauty Spot.

Chisholm, Minn., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—At the village council session yesterday afternoon J. J. Hayes spoke to some length on the need for improving Longyear lake, the only big lake on the line of the Mesaba trolley line, thereby assuring to Chisholm many gatherings that now go elsewhere. He strongly urged making it an ideal lake resort.

Frank G. Harris stated he knew of parties who were putting money into attractions on the lake and at the park that would employ fifteen men and women during the summer and that they should be considered.

Trustee Mahne said that he thought lights should be provided and that the park should be made attractive for the people who needed recreation. It was suggested that the matter be left to the streets and sewers committee.

Mr. Hayes interjected, "That means another month's delay. Why not put it off until next election. This putting things of such slight moment off makes me tired. It is almost impossible to get five members of this council together. The money needed for the work amounts to practically nothing." The matter was left in the hands of the streets and sewers committee, with instructions to report at Friday afternoon's meeting.

All renewals of liquor licenses were granted as applied for.

Transfer of liquor license from Albert Maninen to John Fane was held over to the next meeting.

For Leo Frank.

A resolution asking the governor of the state of Georgia to commute Leo M. Frank's sentence was adopted on motion of Trustee Mahne, seconded by Trustee Ulrich.

Walter Brown, on behalf of the Spanish-American war veterans, asked that the council give the use of the band and to donate flowers to decorate the graves of the departed at the local cemetery. President Fugere declared Monday, May 31, a legal holiday and granted the request for flowers. The council also offered to assist in the observance of the day as far as possible.

William Masters applied for permission to transfer his gasoline tank from Second avenue to the rear of his new garage on Lake street; request granted.

The application of Arthur Martois for a position as stenographer or other clerical work was filed.

The monthly financial statement showed the amount of outstanding village warrants to be $539,800.

The treasurer's report was read and accepted.

The application of John Grugland for the position of dog catcher was placed on file.

Woman Wants Damages.

Mrs. Anna Steinbach served notice of a personal injury suit for $500 for injuries sustained through falling into a post hole at the corner of Chestnut and Walnut street; referred to the village attorney.

John Eldivick also wishes the village to pay him $3,000 for injuries sustained through the alleged negligence of the village in maintaining a dangerous water main excavation; referred to the village attorney.

A complaint from Gust Anderson on the stopped up condition of the sewer main on Elrch street was referred to the streets and sewers committee.

A bill for $561 from Joseph Grams was allowed.

Several cigarette license renewals were allowed.

Trustee Mahne drew the attention of the council to the darkness of some of the village streets and expressed the fear that more damage suits would result from the over-economical policy of the council. The matter was referred to the streets and sewers committee.

Chief of Police Mergeron requested that the council purchase hats for the patrolmen for use in summer.

A discussion on the matter of paying for the hauling of ashes separate from the garbage, introduced by the contractor, John Enrice, resulted in referring the matter to the next meeting.

A prolonged discussion on the testing of cows for dairy purposes, introduced by Mr. Allen of Allen Bros. dairy, resulted in the matter being turned over to the health board.

FOURTEEN BLOCKS WILL BE IMPROVED

Two Harbors Council Plans Lot of Work for This Year.

Two Harbors, Minn., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council at a special meeting last night further discussed improving the alley south of First avenue between Poplar and Cedar street, a continuation of the action started last year when property owners asked to have the work done.

There were two propositions for the improvement submitted by City Engineer Morris: To pave it with concrete, to cost approximately $1,200, and to improve it with crushed rock with concrete gutters, which would cost approximately $1,500. According to the specifications the alley is to be sixteen feet wide. Many abutting property owners were present and the work was discussed in detail. A communication was read from President F. E. House of the Iron Range railroad, stating that the company was willing to expend not to exceed $600 on the improvement of this alley. The railroad owns all the property abutting the south side of the alley. It was finally decided to improve the alley by paving it with concrete. The work will commence within a couple of weeks and will be under the supervision of the city engineer and the street commissioner.

To Improve First Avenue.

The matter of improving First avenue was also discussed with several of the property owners present, a petition for this avenue improved is now being circulated among the property owners and will be presented to the council next Monday evening. This is the main avenue in the city and in its present condition, during wet weather, is a miserable mudhole and in many places impassable. The proposed plan is to improve it with crushed Princess Patricias caught it very badly, rock macadam with concrete curbs and and I am afraid nearly every one will gutters. Definite action will be taken get it one way or another. Managed to on this job after the petition is received from the property owners.

A petition was received from a majority of the property owners on Tenth avenue asking to have that avenue improved this summer. City Engineer Morris presented plans and specifications for this work, which were duly approved and adopted by the council. According to the engineer's estimate, it will cost approximately $6,000 to improve Tenth avenue. The improvement will take in six blocks. The street is to be twenty-four feet wide and will have a twelve-foot stretch of crushed rock in the center of the street. According to the plans, Tenth avenue will be constructed the same as Fourth avenue, with a parking between the curb line and sidewalks.

The question was raised relative to the width of the sidewalks to be put in on Tenth avenue. Some of the councilmen thought it would be advisable to make the walks five feet wide instead of six feet, as they are in other parts of the city. They claim that it would look just as good and would be just as serviceable. The matter was not finally settled, but will be taken up with the property owners to get their sentiment.

With the work decided on last night the city now has all the work that can possibly be handled this summer and possibly more. In all fourteen blocks of streets will be improved and one block of alley besides all the sidewalks which will have to be put in. The city will do all the work by day labor under the supervision of the city engineer and the street commissioner.

A hearing for the proposed improvements of Poplar and Maple streets from Seventh avenue north to the south side of Eleventh, will be had at the next regular meeting of the council.

Why Do French Women Always Look Young?

In France mothers and daughters look like sisters. How are the women there able to retain their youthful looks until long past middle age? Is it because they are much given to the use of mercolized wax? This wax possesses a remarkable absorbent property which quickly removes the fine particles of cuticle which are constantly dying and which are the immediate cause of an old-looking complexion. Thus the livelier, healthier, younger skin beneath is given a chance to breathe and show itself. Try this treatment yourself. Most likely it will not require two weeks to make your complexion as clear, soft and beautiful as a young girl's. Just one ounce of mercolized wax (all American druggists have it) usually does the work. The wax is put on nights like cold cream and washed off mornings.

Another valuable secret with which the French are familiar is how to quickly remove wrinkles. One ounce of powdered saxolite dissolved in a half pint witch hazel, makes a marvelously effective astringent lotion. The face should be bathed in this daily until even the deepest lines are affected.—Advertisement.

I am in a hospital now, but don't think it is my final destination. Will write more soon. Best luck to all."

CLOUDY

The day is starting out most encouragingly: Sunshine, no wind, balmy air, and all that and everybody good-tempered. Now if it only lasts all day. Some of these mornings are rank deceivers. They start out great and the air is a poem; then clouds appear and pretty soon it's all off.

A year ago today was fine. The sun rose this morning at 4:19 and will set this evening at 7:50, giving fifteen hours and thirty-one minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The barometric depressions centered over Oklahoma and Alberta caused showers Wednesday or last night over central, southern and northwestern districts. Heavy rains fell over Southwestern Illinois, Missouri, Arkansas and Nebraska. Cooler weather prevails over Middle and North Atlantic states, Southern Lake region, Mississippi and Missouri valleys and the Southwest. Light to killing frosts occurred last night in Michigan."

The building which J. B. Fredrickson has had under construction for some time past, is completed and a neat little confectionery store has been opened therein. The building is situated on the Max Shapiro lots, east of the opera house.

The management of the Pioneer hotel has again been assumed by the owner, Alfred Wadman. Many repairs are being made and with the addition of a coat of paint which is now being applied to the exterior, the building presents a much improved appearance.

The D. R. Burgess cigar factory, situated east of the City Bakery, has been repaired this week, new sill being put in and other necessary repairs being made. William Nein has charge of the factory for Mr. Burgess, who has business interests in Bemidji.

I. Goodwill is building another cottage at his place up the lake. Each season, Mr. Goodwill finds it necessary to add to the number of cottages.

A NON-ALCOHOLIC TONIC

Many people need a tonic at this time of year, old folks, weak folks, thin people, people who are run-down from too much work—and vacation still many weeks away. Nervous people also need a tonic but cannot safely take alcohol.

A non-alcoholic tonic that will build up the blood and strengthen the nerves is what most people need and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are exactly that.

The one symptom of thin blood that everybody recognizes is pallor. It shows so gradually that other people are liable to notice it before you do. But it is important that you should notice and heed the warning because the thin blood that causes the pallor betrays some drain on the body or some poisoning by its own waste materials that, if not corrected, will result in physical breakdown and ill health.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills not only build up the blood but they have a direct strengthening action on the nerves. As they are free from narcotics and any harmful or poisonous drugs they are safe for every member of the family.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Write today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood" and, if your stomach troubles you, ask for a diet book also.

BLIND PIGGING IS DEFENDANT'S PLEA

Virginia, Minn., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Setting up that he ran a blind-pig at his boarding house and the plaintiff knew it, Mike Pocrnich, who is being sued in district court by the Duluth Brewing & Malting company for $500.10, in an answer filed in district court today, raises the point he violated the law and plaintiff could not recover.

The bill of the brewery shows that between March 14, last year, and Jan. 21, last, it delivered beer to the value of $1,030 and also holds his note for $387. Part of this indebtedness has been settled and the brewery seeks the balance. The answer filed by the defendant is something new in judicial procedure here and raises a point never advanced on the range, if anywhere else, that a blind-pigger could not be legally sued for a bill of that sort. On the strength of the defendant's admission, it is expected a prosecution will follow.

MISSING MINING CAPTAIN LOCATED

Virginia, Minn., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The mystery surrounding the disappearance from Ely four weeks ago of Capt. Burke of the South Chandler mine, formerly prominent in mining circles here, has been cleared up by a letter his wife has received from him, according to word from Ely. He writes he is in New York where he has been suffering from aphasia or lapse of memory and is now better and on his way to England. It was feared he had met with foul play.

VETERAN ENGINEER TO QUIT SERVICE

Virginia, Minn., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—When J. C. Meyers, veteran engineer of the Missabe railroad, pulls his passenger train into Virginia next Monday, he will have completed forty-eight years of railroading, and proposes to quit. He is a war veteran, and will join in the celebration of Memorial day here. He has been with the Missabe road for twenty-two years, and began his railroading in Keokuk, Iowa, in 1867.

Hibbing Woman Sues.

Virginia, Minn., May 27.—Abbie C. French is the plaintiff in an action for divorce from William C. French filed in the district court. The grounds are cruel and inhuman treatment, non-support and desertion. The Frenches were married in June 1902. They reside in Hibbing and have no children. The case will come on for trial at the next term of the district court in Hibbing.

Tower Man Hurt.

Tower, Minn., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Matt Nemaninch wears a bandage on his head, the result of being thrown from a rig when the Trout Lumber company's driving team ran away a few days ago. Mrs. William Haley and a couple of lady friends had shortly before left the rig, when the horses became unmanageable, and in turning a corner, Matt was thrown out and rendered unconscious. That he escaped more serious injuries is remarkable.

Chisholm Chief Out.

Chisholm, Minn., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief of Police Bergeron is on the streets again, little the worse for the mishap of last week, when he was severely burned about the face through the blowing up of a drain pipe which he was cleaning.

Hibbing Pocket Pool.

Hibbing, Minn., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—George Cusciatto defeated Earl St. Julien in the pocket billiard tournament at the Ideal hall last night. The score was 100 to 73. Tonight Dave Gabardi and Elmer Jackson will play.

Duluth Central Basket Ball Girls Will Be Awarded "D" Sweaters Soon

CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL BASKET BALL TEAM.
Edna Morterud, Marion Lutes, Ila Whitesides, Ruth Fisher, Harriet Kugler and Beatrice Henly.

"D" sweaters will be awarded soon to those who played on the Central high school girls' basket ball team this year. The young women who won the letters are shown in the picture.

Very little was heard of girls' basket ball at Central until this year. Games were played with Proctor high school, Two Harbors high school, Denfeld high school, normal school, and the Y. W. C. A. The Central team won every game. About $50 has been raised from the four games played in the Central gymnasium. There probably will be two positions open on the team next fall.

The second team has done good work and although it played only one game, with the Y. W. C. A. first team, the high school girls were winners. The team hopes to schedule out-of-town games next year.

The first and second team closed their season by giving two masquerade parties, one in the gymnasium of Central high school and the other at the Lakeside school.

Relates Early Indian History

W. E. Culkin Tells of Red Men of Lake Superior Region at Women's Meeting; Gives Interesting Traits and Traditions; Tells of Radisson and Refutes Errors Regarding Indians.

W. E. Culkin's talk on "The Early History of Lake Superior Indians," which he gave yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the women of the First Methodist church that was held in the church parlors, included a history of the Ojibways and their neighbors, the Dakotas; the explorations in this region, and the history of Chief Biaufwah, the great warrior who lived for a time at what is now Duluth.

Radisson and the Fur Trade.

Mr. Culkin cited as reliable references for the study of the Indians at the Head of the Lakes the "Memoirs" of Radisson and "The History of the Ojibways" by William Warren. Radisson, who with his brother-in-law journeyed from one end of Lake Superior to the other, returned to Montreal with furs he obtained in this part of the country. He quarreled with the French authorities and entered the English service. On his way to England to lay before Charles II. a plan to finance the fur trading business he wrote an account of his travels in the Lake Superior region, but the "Memoirs" disappeared and were found about twenty-five years ago in a library in England. Antiquarians agree that Radisson was the first white man who was ever on Lake Superior.

William Warren, who wrote an excellent history of the Ojibways, now called Chippewas, was born on the Point. His father's people came over in the Mayflower, and he was of French and Indian descent on his mother's side. Warren, who was the first member of the legislature from the territory of Minnesota, had the full confidence of the Indians, who would tell him stories of their tribe which they would tell to no one else. It was his close association with the Ojibways that enabled him to write such a true account of the tribe.

Ojibways or Chippewas.

"The name 'Ojibway' means literally 'to roast until puckered up,'" Mr. Culkin explained. "The name probably was applied by the enemies of the Ojibways in reference to their burning their enemies. We call them Chippewa, but the meaning of the name is the same, the difference in the names being due to a different pronunciation. The Ojibways came from the East to the Head of the Lakes, where they divided into two tribes. After 300 years' separation those at Nett Lake and those in the vicinity of Duluth can speak together, but that is about all. The great enemies of the Ojibways, or the Chippewas, were the Dakotas, now called Sioux, who held Central Minnesota and the headwaters of the Mississippi.

"It was in 1660, 170 years after Columbus discovered America, before white men reached Lake Superior, although there was a clear stretch of water furnished by the St. Lawrence and the lakes, and the trip could have been made from Quebec to the Head of the Lakes in three or four weeks. In 1660 New England was pretty well along. Miles Standish was dead, Priscilla was about 60 years old and John Alden was a judge, Boston had 3,000 or 4,000 inhabitants, New York was a flourishing town and Jamestown was a hamlet. To be sure before 1660 the Indians of this region had heard of the Spaniards and the French."

Mr. Culkin touched upon the early explorers of this part of the country, the well-known Champlain and McKenzie, who landed at Isle Royale, probably will arrive next month. Miss later became an Arctic explorer, discovering the river that bears his name; and the Jesuit missionaries, Father Allouez and Father Marquette.

Refutes Two Errors.

The speaker refuted two common mistakes: that the Indians have been exterminated to a great extent and that the squaw was her husband's slave. He said that between the Rio Grande and the Arctic region there are as many Indians as when Columbus discovered the country. He explained that the Indian women were considered slaves because the New Englanders who considered outdoor work for women degrading thought the squaws were treated as slaves when they saw them planting corn while the men took life easy. Proof that the squaws were not slaves was their right to divorce themselves.

"The meaning of Biaufwah, the chief who lived at what is now Duluth, is 'one we were looking for,'" Mr. Culkin explained. "He was born at Ashland. In 1698 his father, who had the same name, organized a party of about forty men and their wives and paddled along the shore to a point about forty miles west of Ashland. One day, while the chief was away hunting, the Foxes attacked the settlement and killed all with the exception of a very old man and the little Biaufwah. The old chief went to the Foxes and made an eloquent appeal that the life of his little son be spared, offering himself if they would spare the child. The Foxes spared the life of the boy, who returned to his tribe at Ashland and later came to Duluth, which he made his headquarters for his great warfare. He lived to a great age.

"There is not a lake, a bay or a swamp in this part of the country that does not bear an Indian name," said Mr. Culkin, who gave the names the Indians have applied to Duluth, Minnesota Point and other places in this neighborhood.

Indian Characteristics.

The speaker concluded with a tribute to the Indian's character. "An Indian will not steal unless white men have taught him to steal, and he will not lie unless white men have taught him to lie," he said. "His philosophy is, 'I don't know whence I came; I don't know where I am going. I shall take life easy and enjoy myself while I am here.'"

Woman Refuses Raise in Salary

New York, May 27.—The Ladies of the Maccabees of the World changed their name in convention here today to the Woman's Benefit Association of the Maccabees, received the refusal of their supreme commander, Miss Bina West, to accept an increase in salary to $10,000 a year, considered a resolution commending the espousal of woman suffrage by their 187,000 members and voted to proceed with the construction of a new home office building.

This building will be located in Port Huron, Mich., and will cost $150,000, the sum to be raised from revenues from property already owned by the organization. In refusing to accept $10,000 a year, Miss West told the delegates that her greatest remuneration was the pleasure she derived in working for the association.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Let Children Get Dirty.

A little boy and girl who have been accustomed to visit me in my back yard paid me a call early yesterday morning. They have always been the personification of neatness and have invariably impressed me as being too clean. Too clean because their starched dresses and plump legs, dressed in white socks, seemed to forbid their rolling about in the dirt and sand as is the custom of most children to do.

I have often invited these children to try the swing or the hammock, have offered them spades and trowels so that they might dig in the garden and have a share in the mud-pie making and the building of castles and forts, but they have shyly backed away from my advances and contented themselves as on-lookers at the various parties that have been held by a small young man in my back yard.

Watching these children as they stood apart from the rest of the happy, noisy crew, laughing, and oh, how dirty, I have come to feel that their good mother is making a great mistake. By insisting that they keep clean at the expense of their natural and harmless desire to engage in strenuous play, even though it does mean the destruction of apparel and dirty hands and faces, she is depriving them of many hours of keen enjoyment, the like of which never comes to them twice in a lifetime.

Children are, as a usual thing, too much dressed up. Only last Sunday, I saw parents with their young hopefuls headed for places of recreation and pleasure. Many of the parents undertake these outings to give their children a "good time." The first thing they do is to dress the children up in such a manner that positively forbids their enjoying themselves. From the beginning to the end of the trip they are constantly warned to look out for their new shoes, to stop rubbing their elbows on the car seats or window sills, to please not crush their best hat and a dozen other admonitions that do not contribute an atom to a good time from either a young or old point of view.

But I almost forgot to tell you about my little friends when they paid me their last visit. They were the dirtiest looking little people that I had seen in a long time. "What will your mamma say?" I asked, really fearing for them when their mother should behold them. "Mamma is away; Aunt Mary is taking care of us," they piped up. Of course this explained their condition. But they looked happy and certainly made the most of their opportunity to wallow in the dirt.

her shell-pink waist with which she was wearing a tie of contrasting shades. "Well, I'm glad you like the ink spots," she said, and then explained she had bought ink of different colors with which she colored the last water in which she washed her blouse. "I have pink, blue and lavender," she said, and they transform my one waist at will. The coloring is rinsed out easily at the next washing."

magazine stories in what time I could find. One cold day in January, 1912, I found myself out of a job. I realized that, although more than a hundred of my tales had appeared in periodicals, the public was still a little dense over the fact that I was an author. So I sat down and wrote 'Seven Keys to Baldpate.'

"'Seven Keys to Baldpate' was intended to be for the elect a satire on the 'best-seller' type of fiction, and for the non-elect, a thriller to conjure money from their pockets. With one happy exception—Mr. George M. Cohan, who dramatized the story—the elect failed to grasp the satire, but the lovers of thrillers rallied in sufficient numbers to cover my disappointment. And as they rallied, the thing that I alone had known for twenty years began to get abroad. I'm an author!"

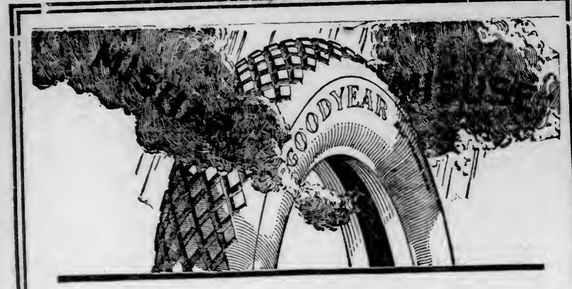
Theater Gossip.

Earl Derr Biggers, who wrote the story from which George M. Cohan made the play of "Seven Keys to Baldpate,"

WROTE IT AS A SATIRE.

which the Baldwin Players are presenting at the Lyceum this week, admits that he wrote it as a satire on "thrillers," but the audiences which see the play become so interested in the thriller that they forget the satire. Here is what Mr. Biggers says of the story in the June Strand magazine:

"During my last two years at Harvard I sold a large number of stories to the magazines. From college I went to a Boston newspaper, and still did



Mishap—Misuse

The Only Clouds That Ever Dim The Glory of Fortified Tires

Goodyear tires, like other tires, meet with ill-luck at times. No doubt some men are judging them by some such rare exception.

To them we say this:

Remember that men have tested nearly five million Goodyear tires. The tests have covered 15 years. Long ago those tests placed Goodyears at the top, and they've kept there ever since.

Last year men bought about one Goodyear tire for every car in use. Doesn't that show that men in general have proved these tires the best?

In Five Ways

Goodyear Fortified Tires have five exclusive features. We spend on them millions of dollars to reduce your tire upkeep and trouble.

One combats rim-cuts, one blowouts, one loose treads. One makes the tire secure. And one combats punctures and skidding by our double-thick All-Weather tread.

In those ways, at least, Fortified Tires excel all others.

Lower Prices

Now these super-tires offer still greater value. On Feb. 1st we made another big price reduction. That's the third in two years, totaling 45 per cent.

"BEYOND THE POINT OF ROCKS"

PLAN CONCERT AFTER PARADE

Crowds in West End Will Be Royally Entertained Friday Night.

Mayor Will Crown May Queen; Line-up of Parade Announced.

After the parade in the West end tomorrow night, the crowds will be entertained by concerts by the bands and singing. The Svea Glee club will give some selections, following the passing of the parade, at the corner of Twentieth avenue west and Superior street.

Capt. K. A. Franklin, who is marshaling the parade and laying out the order of march, has been busy during the last week, and last night announced just what the lineup of the parade would be. Among some of the features will be the degree staffs of Duluth camp, No. 2341, M. W. A., and the uniform rank of the Sons of Sweden lodge, No. 170, Vasa Order. The Duluth Central high school cadet corps, as well as the West End beautifying clubs of the Adams, Bryant, Ensign, Lincoln and Monroe schools, will also march. These, with the mounted police at the head, followed by the Third Regiment band, will comprise the first division.

Band Will Lead.

The second division will be headed by the Zenith City band, following which will come the "Queen of May," Miss Inga Brende, in a handsome float; the city officials in automobiles; girls of the clean-up and beautifying clubs, in floats; the Svea club in special floats; the industrial features, and as a wind-up feature will be the West End Tramp orchestra.

The parade will form on Twenty-ninth avenue west at 7 o'clock, and will start its march at 7:30 o'clock sharp. The line of march will be to the Point of Rocks and then will countermarch to Twentieth avenue west. At this point Mayor Prince, assisted by other city officials, will perform the function of crowning Miss Brende "Queen of May."

Following this ceremony the bands will continue playing at various points in the West end between Twenty-third avenue and Garfield avenue. The Svea Glee club will also sing a number of selections at various points of the district.

Business is to be entirely suspended. Storekeepers will keep their places of business open, but they will be open only for the public to inspect the stores.

WEST END BUILDERS

N. JOHN SETTERLUND.

A man who uses his middle name when that name is John and modestly allows the "N." which might suggest something romantic, to remain silent, is a rarity. But such is the case with N. John Setterlund, one of the aggressive young business men of the West end.

"I might have dropped the 'N.' entirely, but my parents placed it there when I was christened," said Mr. Setterlund. "I have always considered the name John more appropriate."

Mr. Setterlund has been in business in the West end for ten years. He is taking a lively interest in the activities of the merchants and is chairman of the committee which will have charge of the next luncheon to be held by the business men in June.

BAPTISTS WILL GIVE RECEPTION

Churches and Pastors Will Pay Honors to Rev. Carl E. Oberg.

Members of the various Baptist church congregations of the city will hold a reception tomorrow evening at the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, in honor of Rev. Carl E. Oberg, city missionary for the Baptist denomination, and his family. The affair will begin at 8 o'clock.

A program will be given in the auditorium of the church in which leading members and pastors of the different churches will take part. A program of music is also being arranged.

Following the program the reception will be held and supper served in the basement of the church by the women's organizations.

Rev. Mr. Oberg was selected last fall to become missionary for the city of Duluth for the Baptists. He has been in Duluth since Jan. 1. He came here from Willmar, Minn.

INJURED BY EXPLOSION.

John Rose Sustains Severe Scalp Wounds While Clearing His Land.

While at work clearing his farm east of Woodland yesterday afternoon, John Rose, age 60, was thrown to the ground by the force of a powder explosion. He sustained severe scalp wounds, but his injuries will not prove serious, according to Dr. Robert Graham.

He was found on the ground unconscious a short time after the accident, and was taken to St. Luke's hospital. It was not discovered whether he put too large a charge of explosive under the rock he was blowing up or stood too near when it was fired. Hospital attendants reported that he was improving today.

FRANK HAD NOTHING TO DO WITH "MURDER NOTES"

Atlanta, Ga., May 27.—Albert S. Osborn, a hand-writing expert, submitted a report to Governor Slaton yesterday, expressing belief that Leo M. Frank had nothing to do with the "murder notes" which played an important part in his trial. In his original report, Osborn had stated the notes might have been written at the suggestion or with the collusion of Frank.

After subsequent study, however, Osborn declared his conviction that James Conley, the negro who testified he wrote the notes at Frank's dictation, did not have "intelligent assistance" in preparing them.

CASUALTIES AMONG CANADIAN CONTINGENT

Ottawa, Ont., May 27.—The name of Lieut. Osmond Julius Wheatley of Livermore, Cal., appears among the wounded in the list of casualties among the Canadian contingent issued here yesterday. Lieut. Alexander Henry Mackay Paynton of Saskatchewan was killed in action. In the wounded list were five lieutenants: John Malcolm Diamond, Toronto; William Dubleton Holmes, Victoria, B. C.; Wilfred Neville Knowles, Okotoks, Alberta; A. Laslain MacDougall Fisher, Montreal; Wilfred Mavor, Toronto.

presented herself at the humane society's office in the courthouse. "Mr. Mattson wanted $10 for the damages the two cows did to his garden, and I simply did not have the money."

"I finally talked Mattson out of one of the cows," said the chief, when he returned. "It took me an hour to do it, and then he agreed only on condition that he be allowed to keep one of the animals.

"When I got Mrs. Kmiech home the whole family was out to say good-by. As I drove away they yelled: 'We'll have milk for breakfast, anyway.'"

DRAINAGE LIENS MUST BE ASSUMED

State Lands to Be Sold Subject to These Assessments.

St. Paul, Minn., May 27.—State land purchasers in the future must take their acres subject to all drainage liens, according to an opinion submitted to State Auditor J. A. O. Preus yesterday by Attorney General Smith.

Mr. Smith says that when lands have been improved by drainage at public expense they should be re-appraised before sale. When such re-appraisement is made, there should be deducted from the value of the land itself the amount of the ostensible lien for the building of the ditch, which benefits the land and enhances its value.

The attorney general adds that no lands against which such a lien is recorded should be sold without notice to the purchaser, publicly given, of the existence of such a lien.

"The appraiser," says the opinion, "after finding the value of the land as it would be unencumbered, but enhanced by drainage, should deduct therefrom the amount of the encumbrance which the recorded lien shows. This would give the minimum price for which the land can be sold."

The attorney general says that this is not an ideal plan, nor one fully supported by the statutes, but it seems to be the only practical solution of the problem.

Almost Inconceivable.

Marquette, Mich., May 27. — Bert Hixson, local freight agent of the South Shore railway for the last eight years and a resident of Marquette the last twenty-four years, during all of which he has been in the employ of the railway's freight department in Marquette, has resigned, to take effect June 10. LONG IDLE FURNACE WILL GO INTO BLAST

Marquette Plant Getting Ready to Resume After Shutdown.

Marquette, Mich., May 27.—The Pioneer furnace in North Marquette, which has been closed down for nearly a year past, will go into blast again within a month or six weeks, according to Austin Farrell, general manager of the Pioneer Iron company.

The resumption of operations after the long period of inactivity due to business depression is welcome news to Marquette people, as it will give work to many men who otherwise would have no steady employment.

Preparations to put the furnace in blast have been in progress the last few weeks. Considerable repair work is being done. The stack is being relined and numerous improvements about the building are being made.

Start About July 1.

Mr. Farrell can set no definite date for the resumption of operations, other than it probably would be about July 1 or shortly thereafter. All repairs must be completed before the plant can go into blast, and there is much work of this nature still to do.

The opening up of the Marquette plant does not mean that the company will close its furnace at Gladstone, Mr. Farrell said. The Gladstone furnace has been in operation continuously throughout the winter months, and will likely continue in blast through the summer without interruption.

Find Missing Man's Bones.

Menominee, Mich., May 27.—A. H. Graiclend, while fishing along the Little Cedar, stumbled on some object while making his way through the brush along the shore. He looked down and saw a human skeleton. Investigation disclosed the fact that the bones were those of John Houck, an aged man who left home three years ago for the cows, and never came back. The cause of his death is a mystery.

WALKS FOURTEEN MILES FOR HELP

Woman Carries Babe; Cows Held for Damage; McKercher Recovers One.

Carrying a 10-months'-old baby, Mrs. Julia Kmiech walked fourteen miles yesterday to ask the Duluth Humane society to help her in rescuing two cows belonging to the Kmiech family, so that her children, her crippled husband and herself would not starve.

Mrs. Kmiech, who lives near Gnesen, said that their two cows had strayed into the cabbage patch of Peter Mattson, a neighbor, and that he was holding them until she paid $10 to cover damages to the growing vegetables.

Chief of Police R. D. McKercher took Mrs. Kmiech and her child home in his automobile, stopping at the Mattson farmhouse en route and finally persuaded the irate gardener to give up one of the beasts.

"My children are starving for food and milk," said Mrs. Kmiech, when she presented herself at the humane society's office in the courthouse. "Mr. Mattson wanted $10 for the damages the two cows did to his garden, and I simply did not have the money."

"I finally talked Mattson out of one of the cows," said the chief, when he returned. "It took me an hour to do it, and then he agreed only on condition that he be allowed to keep one of the animals.

"When I got Mrs. Kmiech home the whole family was out to say good-by. As I drove away they yelled: 'We'll have milk for breakfast, anyway.'"

Mrs. Kmiech and her children farm the forty acres of land they own, as the husband is unable to work.

THIS IS CERTAIN

The Proof That Duluth Readers Cannot Deny.

What could furnish stronger evidence of the efficiency of any remedy than the test of time? Thousands of people testify that Doan's Kidney Pills have brought lasting results.

Home indorsement should prove undoubtedly the merit of this remedy. Years ago your friends and neighbors testified to the relief they had derived from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. They now confirm their testimonials. They say time has completed the test.

Mrs. Lee Wilson, 2418 W. First St., Duluth, says: "Often when I caught cold in my kidneys it started my back aching and made my kidneys weak. Doan's Kidney Pills have never failed to cure me quickly and surely and I am willing to give credit where it belongs. You can keep on publishing the endorsement I gave Doan's Kidney Pills some time ago, in return for the lasting benefit they have brought me."

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE
by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

"Mrs. W." asks: "What can I do for a long continued case of constipation? I have headache and dizziness and my complexion is sallow. At night I can't sleep I'm so nervous."

Answer: Continued constipation affects the blood and makes it impure. You need a good blood purifier and laxative. Use three-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). They aid digestion, act on the bowels and clean and purify the blood.

"S. F. E." writes: "I have a very severe case of dandruff. My scalp itches and my hair is coming out in handfuls. Please tell me what to do."

Answer: Get a jar of plain yellow minyol at your drug store. Wash the hair, and while still wet, rub well into the scalp the plain yellow minyol. Rinse out thoroughly and your scalp will feel clean and active. Repeat this treatment three or four times after washing, and in a few weeks all your dandruff should disappear and your hair become healthy and soft.

"Corpulent" asks: "What will overcome corpulency? I am so fat as to be in my own way. I'm short of breath and cannot stand exercise."

Answer: To reduce safely, use five-grain arbolone tablets. They are the most reliable reducers I could prescribe. Many are pleased with results from arbolone.

"Misery" writes: "I have been a worn out man for the past few months. I am only 37 years old, but feel more like a man of 60. My physical and mental forces are much impaired. I do not seem to be able to think clearly. I am much depressed all the time and my usual ambition and energy seem to have died. I have headache and pains in my back."

Answer: Your condition is identical to thousands of others brought to my attention yearly. Yes, your physical and mental forces are, as you say, much impaired, but you need not be alarmed over your condition. The use of three-grain cadomene tablets should soon put you back in normal condition and fit to combat any troubles. Cultivate regular habits of living.

"Mite" asks: "I seem to be shrinking in size. I am very pale and thin. I do not feel sick, but I'm very weak. I want to increase my weight."

Answer: You are anaemic and the food you eat does not properly nourish your system; three-grain hypo-nuclano tablets cause proper food assimilation and increase weight and strength. Take them with your meals. Sold in sealed packages.

"Mrs. Ella M." writes: "Please prescribe for me again. This time for my kidneys. I have chills and fever, look bad, have puffs under my eyes and my urine is dark in color and of bad odor. Sometimes my back hurts."

Answer: You may have a severe case of kidney trouble. You should get almost instant relief and permanent benefit from the use of baimwort tablets. I have prescribed these in numerous cases of kidney trouble and they have given excellent results. Most drug stores carry these tablets and they come in sealed tubes with proper directions.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

GRAND FORKS FAIR OFFERS

Many Good Features to Be Shown at Annual North Dakota Show.

Many Different Racing Events, With Prizes Offered for Livestock.

Grand Forks, N. D., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary Don V. Moore of the North Dakota state fair, which will be held here this year, announces a big automobile day as one of the fair's striking attractions.

Automobile polo and auto races between Louis Disbrow, Eddie Hearne and Johnny Rhemy have been obtained and they will be staged during the last day of the fair, July 20 to 24. There also will be other entries.

Secretary Moore believes the North Dakota fair this year will excel previous expositions, both because of the attractions billed and because of the large number of special departments created.

Premium offers in the beef breeds in the cattle department this year are announced at $700, with $192 for state breeders for the shorthorns. The rest of the beef breeds are placed at $500 and $192 for state breeders.

Same Special Prizes.

Several special prizes also are being provided. The North Dakota Livestock association has made an offer for the best steer; the Aberdeen-Angus association has contributed $100; the American Hereford Cattle association has put in $200 and R. A. Candor of Cogswell has offered a fine trophy cup for the best exhibit of beef cattle by a non-professional breeder.

Offers in the open class draft horses total $543 with special offers from the Percheron society. The Great Northern cup for the best team of draft horses also will be up for competition.

The race program calls for seven pacing and two trotting events, with $4,500 in purses. Probably the biggest event on the card will be the free-for-all, and with the Canadian racing game suspended, a large number of fine horses are expected to be entered from that section.

BRAINERD PHONE ROW.

Rival Telephone Officials Appear Before Chamber of Commerce.

Brainerd, Minn., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The proposition of having another telephone system here by granting a franchise to the Tri-State Telephone company, operating under the name of the Minnesota Telephone company, was discussed at a big meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, resulting in the members voting down the proposition.

In the discussions between Fred Speechly of St. Cloud, district commercial manager of the Northwestern Telephone Exchange company, and Secretary Randall of the Tri-State, were revealed much of the manner of doing telephone business. The chamber, by rising vote, voted in favor of the council granting the Minnesota Telephone company a franchise. Then a ballot was taken and the motion was declared lost.

The report of the advisory committee of the chamber was adopted, which recommended not granting a telephone franchise to any competing company, and expressed the opinion that there should be a revision of rates by the Northwestern company, especially on a four-party line, so as to bring the rate down to $1. The Minnette bill governing telephones was discussed. Secretary Randall said the two reasons for having another system were inadequate service and high rates charged.

Mayor R. A. Beise said that if two telephones were a nuisance he did not mind paying for them if they brought more business. The council has displayed considerable interest in the new telephone company and some have expressed themselves in favor of it. The franchise was given its first reading May 17. If passed, it will barely come under the wire before the Minnette law takes effect.

DRY MAJORITY OF POLK INCREASED

Change in One Precinct Makes Majority Vote 1,144.

East Grand Forks, Minn., May 27.—(Special to the Herald.)—The Polk county majority for the "drys" in Monday's option election was increased to 1,144 from 1,091, when the returns from Northland township were corrected.

This township, originally listed as casting 11 votes for the drys and 80 votes for the wets, really gave the wets only 22 majority, thus increasing the lead maintained by the drys.

Plans for the proposed celebration by the drys of the county have not been completed.

The Polk county board to canvass the election returns will meet at Crookston tomorrow.

STEVENS POINT CAN REBUILD DORMITORY

Wisconsin Senate Postpones Bill Aimed to Prevent Such Work.

Madison, Wis., May 27.—Stevens Point will be permitted to build its normal school dormitory by action of the assembly yesterday in indefinitely postponing the repeal bill offered by Assemblyman Hoffman of Calumet county. The last legislature appropriated $100,000.

The McGowan bill to prohibit teachers and students in all schools from smoking cigarettes upon penalty of dismissal or refusal of a diploma was killed, 35 to 32.

Advancement was given to the Weber bill limiting the meaning of conspiracy in labor disputes. The courts may not grant injunctions unless there is imminent danger of destruction of property.

Final passage was given the Ballard bill, exempting farmers from the workmen's compensation law. Mr. Ballard claimed there are 175,000 farmers in the state who wanted the exemption.

Advance Budlong Bill.

Advancement also was given the Budlong bill, killed last week, exempting $1,200 for the property of Mexican and Civil war veterans from taxation. After reconsidering its previous adverse vote the senate advanced the Grell bill permitting saloons to open after the closing of the polls on election days, but refused to reconsider its action in killing the Austenbacher bill to permit municipal authorities to use their discretion in the matter of revoking saloon licenses in cases where sale to minors is charged.

The senate rejected the Bichler substitute to the election pamphlet repeal bill and Skogmo substitute offered today and finally deferred action until tomorrow.

FORMER FORECASTER AT ST. PAUL IS DEAD

St. Paul, Minn., May 27.—Patrick F. Lyons, who was for thirty years weather forecaster of St. Paul, died at St. Joseph's hospital Tuesday night after a short illness. Mr. Lyons came to St. Paul from St. Louis, Mo., in 1875. Ten years ago he resigned and since then lived in seclusion. He was 70 years old and a bachelor. He was one of the organizers of a chapter of the Knights of Columbus in St. Paul ten years ago and held an honorary membership in that order.

ESCANABAN'S "WAR WIFE."

Marries in England and Will Bring Wife Home.

Escanaba, Mich., May 27.—Marvin Burnham of this city has returned from the battle front in Europe.

Soldier Burnham was stationed at Salisbury Plains when the request was made in England that soldiers marry before they go to the front. Marriages were performed on a wholesale scale. Soldiers were not charged for the ceremony, he says.

Burnham married a blue-eyed Irish girl, lived with her a few months and then was called to the fighting lines. Burnham, after he recovers from the rheumatism which he contracted in the trenches, intends to bring his wife to this country, or to return to her in England.

DONS MALE ATTIRE LOOKING FOR WORK

Little Falls, Minn., May 27.—A young girl wearing male apparel was taken in custody Tuesday afternoon by Special Officer Friesinger at the Northern Pacific passenger station. She was taken to the county jail and gave her name as Meadow Hoehne and said she lived between Minneapolis and St. Paul and was on her way home.

She said she had been unable to find work as a girl so had adopted boy's clothing as a means of securing work and had been traveling about looking for something to do. She had a ticket to Minneapolis in her possession. Some of the ladies of the Civic league furnished her with proper attire and she was sent home.

WAR'S AFTER EFFECTS

Feared By Former Americans in Canadian Northwest.

Milton, N. D., May 27.—Special to The Herald.)—Changed business and economic conditions growing out of the European war worry former Americans, now farmers and claim-holders in Northwestern Canada, according to E. Prom, a local banker, who has just returned from that section.

The Americans, says M. Prom, fear the after effects even as much as they do the immediate results.

Since the recent heavy rains throughout western Canada, the crop prospects are regarded as satisfactory.

THE FOURTH OF JULY IN DULUTH.

Is the Fourth of July in Duluth this year to be a dull, tame loafing day, or is there to be a suitable celebration of this immensely significant holiday?

It looks very much as though there were going to be a real celebration.

That's encouraging. The city commissioners have taken the idea up with creditable enthusiasm, and we imagine they will have no difficulty in communicating that enthusiasm to others. There must be a great many patriotic Americans in Duluth who resent the stale, flat and unprofitable state of neglect the Fourth has been permitted to sink into, and who will join hands eagerly with anybody that will start something.

All it needed was somebody to start it, and that the commissioners appear anxious to do. Indeed they have started it, and are already calling for ideas. There ought to be plenty of those, and there should be no difficulty whatever in framing a suitable program for the day.

Then there should be no trouble in getting together a strong committee to handle it, for any citizen, no matter how eminent or how busy, should be glad to enlist in such a cause. It is going to take a little money, too, but that ought to follow, with the right kind of a sub-committee to go about and dig it up.

Duluth ought to have the biggest Fourth of July celebration it ever had, and if the start that has been made is followed up that is precisely the sort of celebration it will have.

Either the British are unfortunate in their choice of names for war ships that are to be blown up, or the enemy is unfortunate in those it picks for destruction. Or maybe it's the ships and their crews that are unlucky. Seems as if there must be some queer twist to it somehow.

A NEIGHBORHOOD COMMITTEE.

The Duluth Commercial club had another good thought that promises to be useful and helpful when it conceived the idea of forming a Northeastern Minnesota committee to handle questions of peculiar interest to the northeastern counties of Minnesota.

Moreover, out of the club's resident and non-resident membership President Cotton was able to select a strong and representative committee of men from the Iron Ranges and from Lake, Carlton, Itasca and Crow Wing counties.

The development problems of this section are peculiar to itself, and the interest of one is the interest of all. No step that benefits any of these neighboring counties and communities can fail to help Duluth and St. Louis county. Nothing that helps Duluth and St. Louis county can fail to benefit these neighboring communities and counties. There is work for this committee to do, and its membership is a guaranty that that work will be done, and well done.

Why don't they try naming a battleship the "Lilac," or something like that?

THE FRANK CASE.

We regret to notice that The Duluth Herald, usually wise and conservative in its judgment, has been so much impressed with the maudlin sentiment aroused in favor of Leo Frank, the Atlanta Jew who is sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Mary Fagan. The Herald declares that he was not proven guilty. However, the jury was unanimously of the opinion, in their verdict, that he was. It was a most dastardly crime, and if Frank did not kill Mary Fagan, then who did? Will The Herald please answer?—St. Cloud Times.

The Herald does not know who killed Mary Fagan.

The Herald does not know that Leo Frank did not kill her.

The Herald does know that the evidence on which the jury found its verdict of guilty wouldn't convict a hobo in a Minnesota court.

The Herald does know that throughout the trial there was a fury of public prejudice, fanned by Jew-baiters, by mob elements and by part of the Atlanta press, which beat unceasingly upon the jury.

The Herald does know that the judge who heard the case doubted Frank's guilt, and that a former supreme court justice of Georgia who frequently sat on the bench with the trial judge has just declared his own belief in Frank's innocence, and given testimony that the trial judge, who is now dead, not only doubted Frank's guilt but believed in his innocence.

The Herald does know that the killing of Mary Fagan was a hideous thing, not to be justified on any conceivable ground; but it also knows that that shameful wrong cannot be righted by another injustice—the legal murder by an innocent man.

And, finally, The Herald does know that it is more important that the processes of justice shall be safeguarded against injustice than that any single crime, no matter how heinous, shall be punished, and that to hang this young man Frank on the evidence disclosed against him would be a blot upon the state of Georgia in the stain of which the whole nation must share.

May's coolness doesn't seem to have discouraged the optimists who are looking forward to June.

THE NEBRASKAN.

The American tramp steamer Nebraskan, in ballast from Liverpool to Deleware Breakwater, either struck a floating mine or was hit by a torpedo off the Irish coast Tuesday.

It is the part of wisdom and patriotism—as well as justice—to postpone judgment until it is definitely known what happened to this vessel.

It is incredible that German submarine officers would be guilty of the stupendous folly of torpedoing another American vessel, at this time above all times. It is still more incredible that if by chance such a thing has happened it happened by official sanction.

It is much more likely that the Nebraskan hit a floating mine, and that seems to be one of the regular incidents to travel in war zones.

The master of the Nebraskan, in his brief report to his owners, indicates no knowledge or opinion as to what happened to his ship. It was not seriously injured, and no lives were lost; though of course if the vessel had been deliberately torpedoed that would not greatly lessen the gravity of the offense.

The forming of judgment and the expression of opinion on this incident should wait until definite information is in hand.

"Alcohol needs all the good reasons it can find," says the Chicago News paragrapher. Maybe that's why it steals the reasons of so many people.

MINNESOTA'S WEALTH.

The department of commerce of the census bureau, in its figures on the national wealth lately made public, shows Minnesota's wealth to be $3,547,000,000—a figure above those of Michigan and Indiana, and just below those of Missouri, New Jersey and Massachusetts.

It's a fine and impressive figure, and the relative position of Minnesota among the states is gratifying indeed. It comes to $2,673 per capita, and the average for the whole country is only a little more than $1,800 per capita.

Yet, if Minnesota wills it, it is only the beginning.

Let Minnesota bring its acres now under cultivation up to the maximum of their capacity.

Let Minnesota settle and develop her millions of rich idle acres.

Then to the impressive billions of the 1915 census report will be added billions still more impressive.

Somehow one wonders how long Italy could have got along without that additional territory if this war hadn't started.

A GOOD PLAN FOR ANY TOWN.

Virginia, we learn from the Virginia newspapers, has decided that it wants a boys' club.

Then, judging from what we have observed of Virginia's enterprise and public spirit in the past, a boys' club Virginia will have.

It's a good idea for Virginia, or for any town. Boys are going to have their recreation, and if they can't get it in one place they will get it in another place. To provide a well-equipped place where they can get their indoor recreation under wholesome leadership is to safeguard them against the necessity of finding it under less wholesome auspices.

Virginia has gone after this plan with characteristic vigor and practicality. A well selected committee has been appointed by President M. A. Murphy of the Commercial club, and it has already begun the necessary foundation work of enlisting individual support.

The Herald wishes success to this scheme. It will make for better boyhood, and that means better citizenship for the future. It will make Virginia a better place to live in from the boy's viewpoint, and that will foster a home pride which will again strengthen the citizenship of the future. It will make for a sounder, stronger and better community life and a truer public spirit. Virginia can make no mistake in getting behind this project to a man—and woman.

This latest entry in the war game may reasonably be supposed to create a personal interest in affairs for the shade of Julius Caesar.

The "Ways of Freedom"

Editorial in the New York Evening Post.

It was a Frenchman, M. Lemaitre, who some years ago reminded the world that it would have to take the defects of liberty alongewith its blessings. The ways of democracy cannot be those of absolutism. Endless debate, political agitation, popular outcries, a certain amount of wasted energy—these things, said he, are the "moeurs de la liberte." We are often tempted to deplore what seems to be the inevitable inefficiency of a democratic form of government, and sometimes envy the relentless order and deadly precision of an autocratic organization; but we have to make our choice between the essential principles of the two. If we go in for political freedom we have to put up with some of its "ways" that are not pleasing. A tyranny is smoother working, but not for that reason would we prefer to be subjected to it. With all its faults, we love the political system of liberty.

These homely truths are just now getting a fresh and striking illustration in England. In the midst of a war which is straining the resources of the British empire, partisan discussions break out violently, a bitter press campaign is set on foot against the government, a recasting of the cabinet is forced, the wisdom of the entire military policy of the country is challenged, and it might seem to an outsider as if English public life were falling into chaos. These things are certainly not edifying. They make a bad impression abroad. What becomes of the boasted unity and determination of England in fighting this war to a finish, if parties fall to quarreling, statesmen begin gibing at each other, and powerful newspapers set about railing like a very drab? Well, all that need be said is that this is the English way. It has been bred in the bone for centuries. That a man should not boldly say what he believes; that the government should compel assent and put down critics by force—those are the unthinkable things in the long English tradition. It is asserting itself today, with the nation bowed under the burden of war, just as it did in the Crimean war, the Boer war. It is one of the ways of English freedom.

If you want an example of the other thing, you have only to go to Germany under war conditions. A "neutral" observer, with special knowledge and unusual facilities for obtaining information, has been writing to the London Times a series of letters on the state of mind of the German people. In general, he has given them high praise. So he does in his latest letter, in which he deals with the attitude of the working classes towards the war. This is not easy to determine, for several reasons. Occasional private complaints are heard, but, as a rule, "official and semi-official versions of things are accepted blindly." Moreover, there is a "military prevention of all serious propaganda adverse to the war." Many workingmen are discontented with their small share in the huge profits of the war industries, but "strikes are not permitted." It is known, too, that the press is held under rigid governmental control. It is not merely a question of censorship of news, but of restricted editorial discussion. Suspension or suppression hangs over the head of the too daring newspaper. In short, almost all the means of free public expression are denied. A German merchant cannot even go out and offer a premium for gold; if he does, he is in danger of being at once clapped into jail. Such an overflow of bad temper and unpleasant charges against the responsible rulers as we are now witnessing in Great Britain would be wholly impossible in the Germany of today. The contrast between the two nations could not be more glaring. The German machine is running at high speed with scarcely a sign of friction; the English groans and creaks as if it were about to fall to pieces.

It is not. Everybody knows that these acrimonious debates—these unseemly squabblings—do not in the least indicate a relaxing in England's purpose. Even the German comments show that the real significance of what is going on is not lost. At first a certain encouragement seemed to be derived by Germany from the English political upheaval. But second thoughts brought the reminder that such things had occurred before, and that they only represented England's customary fashion of floundering through to her object with a great deal of ill temper and much lost motion. The very men who are kicking up the needless row are the loudest in affirming that the nation is bound to see the war through. There is a great deal of political confusion and dust visible, but behind it all the attentive eye can see the unbroken British resolution.

We shall not weary our readers with any weighing of the advantages of the method of liberty over against those of the system of centralized and rigid control. As individuals make their choice between them so do nations. And it would be a rash man who, if he had the power, would impose the same form of government upon all the world. In political variety, too, there is a charm. But for us Americans the choice was made long before any now living were born. This nation is committed to the ways of freedom. Open criticism and unfettered debate may seem to hamper us, now and then, but they are in the blood of America, and cannot be got out. We grumble at them when they get in our way, but woe be to the man who seeks to deprive us of them! We want organization and we want efficiency; it is not to be admitted that they are inconsistent with democracy; but, above all, we want liberty.

Why the Harvest Hand Hastened.

Kansas City Star: Here is a Sumner county harvest hand story: Last year a lot of harvesters were working in a big wheat field when it began to sprinkle. The harvest hands dropped their work and ran for some sheds a half mile away. One man made a terrible sprint for it, reached the sheds first and when they came up they found him exhausted and unconscious. The farmer and the others worked to restore him and finally did. The farmer said: "What on earth made you run so fast?" "I was afraid," said the harvest hand feebly, "that it would quit raining."

Couldn't Prove It By Him.

Pittsburgh Press: "It—er—seems," said he regarding the unfortunate with scientific interest, "that the attacks of fever and chills appear on alternate days. Do you think—is it your opinion—that they have, so to speak, decreased in violence, if I may use that word?" The patient smiled feebly. "Doc," said he, "on fever days my head's so hot I can't think and on ague days I shake so I can't hold an opinion."

An Unfair Question.

Chicago News: Politician—"Congratulate me, my dear, I've won the nomination."

Wife (in surprise)—"Honestly?"

Politician—"Now what in thunder did you want to bring up that point for?"

German Diplomacy

By Satoyard.

Washington, May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was in 1861 when, in Kentucky, father was arrayed against son and brother against brother, just before blood had been spilled in the mighty conflict between Union and Secession, that George D. Prentice, the famous editor of the old Louisville Journal, uttered these mournful words:

"The bow of Ulysses lies unstrung and the only hand with the cunning and the strength to bend it is cold in death in that honored tomb at Lexington."

The great publicist was speaking of his idol, Henry Clay, who had composed what might have been a fatal quarrel in 1833 and who had preserved the Union by the Compromise of 1850.

And today the patriotic German with fervent love of the Fatherland might in like terms invoke the mighty name of Bismarck whose genius for diplomacy did more to create the present German empire than did the genius for war of von Moltke. Had a Bismarck been at the helm the war might have come, but ere a gun had been fired German victory would have been assured.

I recently read a book by one of Bismarck's successors in the chancellery, Prince von Buelow, in which this opinion is advanced: There are but two perfect organizations, the creation of human effort; one is the Roman Catholic church and the other is the Prussian army, or words to that effect. But diplomacy is the right arm of the sword, and the summer of 1914 found the German chancellery in the keeping of the greatest architects of blunder since the statecraft of the House of Stuart destroyed that dynasty.

Bismarck never began the spoliation of Denmark until he assured himself that England would not interfere. He did not wage war against Austria in 1866 until he assured himself that France would not interfere. He did not engage with France in 1870 until he assured himself that Russia would not interfere. To create the Triple Alliance he encouraged France to be aggressive in the Mediterranean; that excited the jealousies and the fears of Italy, and then Italy became the ally of Germany and of her hereditary enemy, Austria, and thus secured to Germany tranquility to wax more powerful physically and more opulent financially.

A Bismarck would never have gone to war in 1914 until he was absolutely assured of the neutrality of England, for if Germany is overthrown as the result of the present war it will be the work of the British navy. Victory after victory has come to Germany on land in Belgium, in France, in Poland, but her flag has been swept from the seas and that was what struck the purple from the body and the crown from the brow of Napoleon Bonaparte.

When Bismarck fought France in 1870 our South, that gave sympathy to France, was comparatively a negligible political quantity, whereas our North was practically unanimous in its sympathy with Prussia. It is true that some of our fellow citizens turned a shifty penny selling arms to France after Sedan, and arms that came from United States arsenals at that. Carl Schurz raised a terrible row about it in the senate of the United States and assailed Gen. Grant's administration with the fiercest of eloquence and the most powerful logic. Conkling and Carpenter, Sherman and Morton went down before him; but the German vote repudiated Schurz and supported Grant against Greeley, because France was already licked when she got the guns and munitions from America.

That case was very different from the present. It was a real breach of neutrality for the arms were sold from our arsenals to agents of France. Had they been manufactured by private individuals and sold to France, as is the case at present, Schurz would not have had a peg to stand on.

Forty-five years ago our republic was comparatively weak, but the moral support it gave Prussia was of considerable importance. Von Moltke, while expressing unbounded admiration for the military genius of Robert E. Lee, had nothing but contempt for the prowess of both the Northern and the Southern soldiers of our big war, just as the Prussian staff looked with disdain on the British soldier at the beginning of the present war.

But in 1915 our nation is great and powerful. We are a warlike people in this—you can make a veteran of the American soldier sooner than you can of any other race. Canada in the present war proves that. Then it was of the utmost importance that Germany court our good will, that would lend her more real service than half a dozen big victories. Had a Bismarck been at the head of affairs you may be sure he would have so managed the situation that Germany would have as much support in the way of sentiment from us as the enemy received.

But the foreign office at Berlin appears to be contemptuous of the good will of neutrals, and if Germany is defeated much of the blame will be laid at the door of German diplomacy. Bismarck had the highest respect for the opinion of neutrals. That is why he would not allow a greater geographical spoliation of France in 1871. And there is pretty well authenticated tradition for it that he gave most reluctant assent to the annexation of Alsace-Lorraine; not for any magnanimity in the man, for he had none, but from profoundest policy. That spoliation gave to France the active sympathy of tens of thousands in Europe and elsewhere who otherwise cared not a rap for the quarrel. That spoliation made this war.

Bismarck knew the value of everything and he was too great to despise the smallest thing.

The bow of Ulysses lies unstrung. Is there a German with the cunning and the strength to bend it? Time will tell.

Bromidioms of the Bridge Table.

New York Mail: "If I'm a little rusty at first, you'll have to excuse me; I haven't touched a card in six months."

"This is the first time I've played in quite a while, but it'll all come back to me as soon as we get going."

"See there! I never have a finesse go right for me."

"Well, I took a chance. If the clubs had been divided I would have made my contract and one over."

"Don't let's play the high spade bids. It's just like telling your partner what you have."

"The playing is easy enough for me, but I get confused about the bidding."

"Do you know, I don't think there's nearly so much bridge played as there used to be. People go out to moving pictures these days instead of sitting at home and playing cards."

"Have you played this new thing—nullos, or however you pronounce it? The trouble with it is that just as soon as you put it into the game nobody wants to play anything but nullo hands."

As Industry Sees Booze

Editorial in the Kansas City Times.

One hundred physicians of Harrisburg, Pa., have signed their names to a petition asking the legislature of that state to pass the local option prohibition law. It is more than a mere petition for the passage of a bill; it is one of the strongest arraignments of the liquor evil that could be imagined, for its anti-liquor declarations are based upon the harmful results of alcoholic drink as observed by the 100 physicians in their professional practice.

Among the bad results of the use of liquor as set forth by them are diseases of the mind and body and crime and disease in the children of drinking parents.

The physicians of West Chester, Pa., recently presented a similar anti-liquor declaration to the Chester county court, urging it not to grant any liquor licenses because of the diseases caused by liquor drinking.

The Carnegie Steel company of Pittsburgh is distributing among its thousands of workmen a pamphlet warning that the use of alcoholic drinks lessens the efficiency of the working man, and is the most prolific cause of accidents in its steel mills.

The Anaconda Copper Mining company recently posted in its mines the following bulletin:

Never go to work after drinking liquor, and if you must drink, Stay Home. Experience has proved that a great many accidents are caused from drinking intoxicating liquors. It will be remembered that from Sept. 1, 1914, to Sept. 14, all saloons in Butte were closed; that from Sept. 14 to Sept. 24 they were open only from 8 o'clock in the morning to 7 o'clock at night, and that for the remainder of the month they were open only from 7 o'clock in the morning to 10 o'clock at night. The accident records of the Anaconda Copper Mining company show the following significant figures: Number of accidents per ten thousand shifts: July, 6.22; August, 11.25; September, 4.21; October, 7.58; November, 6.07.

The Illinois Steel company, the Hershey Chocolate company, the Diamond Match company and several branches of the Standard Oil company have forbidden the use of any alcohol by their employes, or have ordered bonuses to those who will pledge themselves to abstain. Dr. W. Stewart Whittemore of Boston, factory inspector of the New England Confectionery company, has made the following statement:

Small quantities of alcohol, such as would produce no visible signs of intoxication, are yet sufficient to interfere with mental alertness. The effect of these small doses on the consumer is that he is unable to concentrate his mind as closely on his work as when he is free from alcohol. He becomes careless, and is apt to take chances which he would not think of taking in his natural condition. The result is that the wage earner who has a "drink or two" on his way to work is making himself liable to injury.

A few years ago the reformed drunkard was the strongest advocate of temperance. Today it is the "captain of industry" who argues most strongly against drinking.

Fighting the Dandelion

Indianapolis News: "Oldest Inhabitant" will be hard put to it to recall a spring when that arch-enemy of the lawn, the dandelion, was more plentiful than it is this year. City yards are overrun with it and to such an extent that, in hundreds of instances, all effort toward eradication has been abandoned. Hopeless as weeding it out seems to be, nothing could be worse than to give over the attempt in that direction. It may be futile to try to uproot it, but there are still various weed eradicators—most of them patent preparations—in the form of sprays, and these, if used judiciously and immediately, will go far toward ridding the sward of the yellow invaders. There are also several patented implements designed to pierce the crown of the plant and, in the same operation, inject a poisonous compound that immediately kills the weeds. Use of this is generally effective and affords an easy, speedy method of disposing of the dandelion and other objectionable weeds.

But even without resorting to these sprays and mechanical devices, it is still feasible to take some steps to prevent a further increase of the pest next year. Do not let it go to seed. By setting the blades of the lawn mower so that they will cut two inches above the surface of the ground, the yard can be mowed daily if necessary, and the dandelion blossoms cut off as rapidly as they appear. This, of course, prevents their going to seed, to spread their progeny over a broader area. It should be remembered, too, that the extraordinary invasion this spring is due in great measure to past neglect. For this the city and private residents are responsible, for the city has done little, if anything at all, to keep the weeds from gaining a foothold on street parkways which it is supposed to care for. Had the weeds been mowed last season, as now advised, the increase would be little noticeable this year.

Many persons ignore the faot that the best way to keep the weeds out of the lawn is to keep the grass in. To this end fertilizer must be applied generously and regularly—preferably commercial fertilizer, which conveys no weed seed to the sward. Mowing must be practiced oftener, with the mower blades set higher than is generally the case, and the roller must be used four or five times during the spring and summer. In April, and even in early May, the best grass seed procurable—which, it should be added, is the cleanest, heaviest in weight (never weighing less than twenty pounds to the bushel) and, consequently, the costliest at first, but the cheapest in the long run, and never the cheap box mixtures so often exposed for sale—should be sown, raked in, rolled and kept moist until germination.

Hay at 16 bones a ton,
Other prices upward run;
He's a lucky sonofagun—

The Same Feeling.

Lowell, Mass., Courier-Citizen: The Japanese appear to feel toward China about the way Germany feels toward the rest of the earth.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Scattered comments taken from Minnesota papers.

Dead Right.

Montevideo Leader: A town that never has anything to do in the way of public amusement is in the cemetery. Anybody who will do nothing for his town is helping dig the grave. A man who will knock his town is furnishing the coffin. The one so selfish as to have no time from his business to give to city affairs is making the shroud. The merchant who never advertises is driving the hearse. The man who is always howling hard times is preaching the funeral service. And thus the town lies buried, free from sorrow and free from care.

Hop to It.

Little Falls Transcript: It has been demonstrated many times that warnings do no good. There is but one way to put a stop to the driving of automobiles by children. The law is plain. Why not enforce it? Other cities do.

Sigh for the Happy Past.

Fairmont Sentinel: The Luverne Herald comes up smiling with this mendacious piece of inaccuracy. "Slowly but surely the people of Minnesota are coming to see the big mistake of the primary and non-partisan laws." When it is explained that after being in session 100 days, no serious attempt was made in either branch of the legislature to repeal or materially alter either of the laws mentioned, the presumption of the Herald will be appreciated. The old standpat crowd will never cease to sigh for a return to the halcyon days when the party boss was the whole thing.

Field for the Jitney.

Litchfield Independent: The jitney bus ought to solve the problem of cities that need street car systems and are unable to get them because they are not quite up to the mark in population.

Beaten By Californians.

Fairmont Sentinel: California, under a new law, has non-partisan state and county officers. Sensible thing. What rank idiocy it is to select a man to perform important work because of his politics or his religion. Such a rule applied to private business would be considered ruinous, and everybody, except a few mossback politicians of the Markhannalan age, admits it. If the legislature had been disposed to pay the slightest attention to Governor Hammond's recommendations and desires we would have non-partisan state officers in Minnesota and the state would have been the gainer thereby.

Would Destroy a Profession.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The jury system would be all right if the best men were selected as jurymen—and it might help to have a law that no man should be selected oftener than once in ten years for jury duty. This would distribute the duties and bar the repeaters and hangers-on.

Doesn't Care a "Honk."

Long Prairie Argus: We have noticed that the average automobile owner doesn't care a hoot what you say about him or his family—but if you want to start something, just say something about his car.

Isn't It Awful?

Albert Lea Standard: According to the records more people are buying automobiles this year than ever before. Another evidence of hard times and depressing influence of the Underwood tariff bill.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

If any man will come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me.—Matt. xvi, 24.

I must deny myself and take Jesus himself as my life; I must choose. There are two lives, the self-life and the Christ-life; I must choose either of the two. "Follow me," says our Lord; "make Me as your rule of conduct, give Me your whole heart, follow Me, and I will care for all."—Andrew Murray.

We talk about being surrendered to the will of God. When you get into your carriage you surrender yourself to the horse, but you hold the reins and make him go where you want to. It seems that we surrender to God's will, but try to hold the reins and do God's will by doing our way.—A. J. Gordon.

The clay has no option but to be what the potter would make it; but, somehow, you and I possess the marvelous power of saying "Yes" and "No" to God. If you say "Yes," then you have the blessedness of the beatitudes; if you say "No," "Woe to him that striveth with his Maker!" God wants to make you, but you have the power to resist, and you have used it.

A great Christian worker, when dying, was asked the secret of his saintliness. He modestly disclaimed any title to saintliness, but he said, "The secret of my life is that I have said 'Yes' to Christ." I think I hear that clay saying "Yes" to the potter every time He touches it. With all your heart say "Yes" to Jesus Christ, and let Him have a chance to make you over again.—F. B. Meyer.

There are two things which we must uphold and hold fast—the sacrifice of Christ upon the cross and the priesthood of Christ in heaven.—Andrew A. Bonar.

Some Anachronisms.

Atlantic: It is a question, parenthetically, whether it is truly sportsmanlike to live in a quaint old colonial cottage with a furnace and electric lights. I have heard amateurs of the colonial declare that they would willingly die before they would live in an electrically lighted colonial cottage. The anachronism horrifies them: they would have death or candles. Probably they feel the same way about a furnace and a bathroom. Yet I have no doubt that the builders of this colonial cottage would have opened their hearts to all these inventions; and I am not sure that they would have regarded as anything but funny the idea that their own kitchen paraphernalia would some day be used to decorate my dining room. I go further. Granting that electric lights, a furnace and a bathroom are anachronisms in this quaint old colonial cottage—what am I but an anachronism myself? We must stand together, the furnace, the electric meter, the porcelain bathtub, and I, and keep each other in countenance.

Patriotism?

Boston Transcript: Rather unexpected was the reply of a Mrs. Tommy Atkins to a gentleman who inquired if her husband was at the front.

"Yus," she said, "an' I hope 'e'll serve the Germans as 'e served me."

NEW HOUSING CODE NOT BACKWARD STEP

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your account of council proceedings of Monday night you state that the council repealed the housing code passed Jan. 27, 1913, and "heard the first reading of a new housing ordinance introduced by Mayor Prince and prepared by a general committee of citizens and city officials." The impression that one not familiar with the proceedings gets from this statement is that the new code differs substantially from the old code, and that the old code did not accomplish the purposes for which it was framed. The fact of the matter is that the new code is only the old code with a few amendments tacked on to it to clear up ambiguities and make provision for objectionable sections relating to 25-foot lots. In fact, the new code has even gone a step beyond the old code by increasing the yard space in the case of tenements from 10 to 12 feet, and in adopting the graduated percentage basis for area of lot permitted to be covered, instead of a straight minimum of 60 feet in the case of interior lots.

The present housing code has been adopted as a model by many other cities and indorsed by such high authorities as Lawrence Veiller, director of the National Housing association, and Charles E. Ball, director of housing in Chicago, and Duluth would be taking a reactionary step were it to change any of its most important and vital principles. I make this statement in justice to those who framed and introduced the old housing code. In fact, the various organizations that met to suggest changes to the code admitted it to be a wise measure and sound in all of its most important features. Very truly yours,

E. A. SILBERSTEIN.

BISHOP WARNS AGAINST FRAUDULENT COLLECTORS

To the Editor of The Herald:

In accordance with the efforts of the Commercial club to prevent imposition on the charitable people of Duluth, I wish it to be fully understood that those collecting for any Catholic charity must be able to show a letter from the bishop of the diocese.

Persons clad in the garb of priest or nun have gone around under the pretence of collecting for orphans or other institutions and the business men have given freely without investigation. Such givers need protection.

QUESTION OF ETHICS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Supposing a man ran a saloon and his license would expire July 31, 1915.

He also owned a small barber shop next door and it being very evident that the county would go dry at an election May 24, he goes before the village council and makes application for and is granted a saloon license for the barber shop with the assurance that the council would transfer the new license to his present saloon as soon as his old license expires. Would such action on the part of the council be legal? Certain members of the council are leading dry advocates. What do you think of the moral side of such an act? READER.

Carlton, Minn., May 25.

The Editor would not care to pass on either the legal or moral aspects of such a hypothetical question.—The Editor.

UNFIT FOR ADULTS IF UNFIT FOR CHILDREN

To The Editor of The Herald:

I will be grateful for a little space in your good Open Court column to inquire if there is not some society in Duluth whose duty it is to prevent immoral plays and pictures being shown in the theaters in Duluth. The Zelda theater for some weeks past has been advertising, through the columns of our daily papers, and in front of the theater, various pictures to which children under 16 are not admitted." It surely cannot be conducive to good morals in people who happen to be over 16 to behold a picture that is so low and immoral that a person of 16 would be polluted by it. It is a nice advertisement for strangers to behold on coming into the city a large banner across the front of a theater in the very heart of the city bearing the words "Children under 16 not admitted." The last picture to be shown, "Three Weeks," if I remember rightly, when in book form was not allowed on the main shelves of our public library, and was even denied the use of the mails, shortly after the first publication of the book. I would respectfully ask that some one with authority, and who has the good name and morals of our fair city at heart, would take steps at once to forbid pictures of this kind being shown at any theater in future.

Thanking you in advance for the space permitted. Very truly,

MALCOLM STUART.

Instant Hair Stain Better Than Slow "Restorers"

Nothing Will Ever "Restore" Color to Hair. It Must Be Stained If the Color Is to Be Changed—Don't Be Deceived By Slow Acting Dyes Under the Guise of "Health-Restorer" and Such Misleading Names.

Some folks would have you believe that they have discovered some marvelous combination that will "restore" the color to gray, streaked or faded hair, without staining it. No such preparation has ever been discovered. Many preparations are advertised in this deceiving way—but they all depend upon sulphur, lead, silver or other dangerous minerals for gradually dyeing the hair.

There is only one preparation so far as we know that is entirely free from all of these highly dangerous and poisonous drugs. That preparation is called "Brownatone." It is so easy and safe to apply that the wonder is that anyone ever uses anything else.

"Brownatone" instantly tints the hair to any shade of brown (or black) that may be desired. If the gray shows on your temples or is streaking your hair—if the ends of your hair are lighter than the balance, or if for any reason you wish to stain all or part of your hair—try "Brownatone."

Gentlemen use it for beard or moustache.

All this without the possibility of detection, failure or harm to either hair or scalp.

No previous experience whatever is necessary when you use "Brownatone." Just brush or comb it into the hair.

A sample and a booklet will be sent you (from manufacturers only) upon receipt of 10c.

All of the leading drug stores sell "Brownatone." Two sizes, 25c and $1.00. Two shades—one for golden and medium brown and the other for dark brown or black.

Insist on "Brownatone" at your hairdresser's.

Prepared by The Kenton Pharmacal Co., 527 Pike St., Covington, Ky.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

Requests have been received for the following poems:

"The Vampire" from Mrs. E. A. of Iron Mountain, Mich. This is a copyright poem and can be found in any volume of Kipling's poems.

"Ostler Joe" from Frank Palmer of International Falls.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems:

"The Battleship Maine" from Mrs. Joseph Cuskey of Spooner, and B. Wurtzburger of McGregor, Minn.

The Battleship Maine.

Many homes are filled with sorrow and sadness,
Many hearts are filled with anger and pain.
And our country now lies in deep mourning,
For the heroes of the battleship Maine.
Some are sleeping 'neath the waters of the harbor
Some repose beneath the mounds of Cuban clay.
Though our country now cries aloud for vengeance,
On the shores of Havana far away.
Chorus.
The moon shines fair tonight along the waters,
Where the heroes of the Maine in silence lay.
May they rest in peace the loved ones who are sleeping,
On the shores of Havana far away.

Some were thinking of their mothers, wives and sweethearts,
Some were dreaming of the loved ones left at home.
Though perhaps some lad who left the old folk thinking
Is roaming now from far across the foam.
When suddenly there came a loud explosion,
Our good ship shattered deep out in the bay.
And thus three hundred noble sailors perished
On the shores of Havana far away.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

G. Olson, Hibbing—(1) On what basis is taxation established, and what is a mill equivalent to in cents or dollars? Is it based on the actual or taxed value of a person's personal property or real estate or every hundred, or how?

(2) What is the proper way to proceed for a person to lodge a complaint seeking reduction in taxes? Who are the proper authorities to consult in this case and where is their head office? This case would come under Koochiching county.

Which is the proper way to do, either to pay taxes as per statement and then lodge the complaint, or to postpone payment until decision is rendered in the case.

A mill is one-tenth part of a cent. If your tax rate is thirty mills it is 3 cents on the dollar, or 3 per cent. The taxes are based on the assessed value of your property, about 40 per cent of the real value. On personal property you are allowed an exemption of $100. The time to make a complaint is after you receive notice of your assessment. You cannot change the rate of taxation, only the assessed value of your property. Write to the county auditor of your county and ask when the board of equalization meets to hear appeals. If your tax is large enough to engage an attorney, take his advice about paying. Otherwise pay the tax to avoid penalties and try to have the assessment lowered for another year.

What the Child Is Learning

The High School Language Courses.

Latin, French and German are the three principal languages taught in Duluth high schools as a part of the regular course. A student may take four years' work in Latin and German, and three years of French.

In the freshman Latin course the history, geography and ethnology of ancient Rome is studied as an introduction to the study of the language itself. Latin grammar, with the idiomatic expressions common in Latin sentences, forms the basis of the first year work.

Next Caesar's stories of his campaigns beginning "Gallia est omnes divisa in partes tres," familiar to practically every American boy or girl who has entered high school, are read. The students learn of the conqueror's three Gallic campaigns, his invasion of Germany, and his first and second invasions of Britain, during the second year in high school.

Juniors take up Cicero as their text, reading the four Catilinarian orations, the oration on the Manilian law and the one Pro archia. The course is planned so that the work in Cicero is completed six weeks before the end of the semester, and this time is spent on Ovid.

The next year's work, as usual in all high schools, includes a reading of the first two books of Vergil's Aeneid.

The French course includes one year's study of grammar, and two years of reading work. A minimum of 400 pages of novels, comedies and stories is read the sophomore year, while 600 pages are read by the junior class.

The German course is very similar in its outline. The freshmen are required to read fifty pages, and memorize 300 lines of verse, with their study of grammar. The sophomores read a short novel, and about 200 pages of short stories, and begin sight reading.

In the third year German compositions, sight reading, and memory work are included in the course. The student must read 400 to 500 pages of plays or stories, and memorize half a dozen poems. Fifty pages of sight reading are required.

In the senior year the student has familiarized himself with the German language sufficiently so that he is required to reproduce stories and discuss them in German. Short German compositions are written in class, and for presentation in class, and the reading list is increased to from 600 to 800 pages.

Mr. Gardener, Now Is the Time to

Mr. Gardener, now is the time to put in all of the hardier varieties of plants.

If settled weather comes next week, put in everything. Tender, heat-loving plants, however, should be protected by covering with a newspaper at night.

Hot bed or greenhouse plants should be "hardened off" before setting in the field. They are hardened by giving them all the air possible and by reducing the amount of water. Cabbage and tomatoes have a bluish cast when hardened.

Peas and beans may be planted between rows of newly set raspberries to advantage.

All bedding plants may go into the ground after June 1.

Almost Inconceivable.

FINDS CONDITIONS IN WEST BETTER

Fewer Men Unemployed Now, Says I. Freimuth on Return From Trip.

Business conditions on the West coast are improving, and the thousands of jobless in that part of the country are gradually finding work or leaving, according to I. Freimuth, prominent Duluth merchant, who returned yesterday from a five weeks' tour of the West and a visit to the two expositions. He was accompanied by Mrs. Freimuth.

"I heard little trouble reported because of the jobless," said Mr. Freimuth. "There had been much trouble before I reached the coast, but I was informed that the problem has been largely solved and the situation is less acute.

"If local boosters will get the spirit of San Diego people, who had the courage to bond themselves for $3,000,000 to have an exposition of their own, the rich territory near Duluth will be developed in short order.

"While the Panama-Pacific exposition is larger, the San Diego display is more creditable and is repaying its promoters for the sporting chance they took. Both expositions are wonderful in their beauty. California is at her best and makes a fine hostess.

"I expected to find much 'yellow peril' talk because of Japan's war operations in the Far East, but nobody seemed to be worrying. I also was interested to find that the 'yellow peril' is only partly yellow. The Japanese are not popular with California people, who fear them, but a Chinese is considered a fine fellow and timber for excellent citizenship."

FIFTY ELKS WILL TAKE WIVES ON TRIP

Duluth Lodge Will Send 150 Members to Faribault in June.

Fifty women will accompany the Duluth delegation of Elks to the annual state convention of the B. P. O. E. to be held at Faribault June 17 and 18.

Thomas Sexton, assistant secretary of the Duluth lodge, made the announcement last night and declared that the local party would contain about 150 members of the order. Fifty will take their wives, he said. The trip to Faribault will be made on a special train, four sleepers and an observation car having already been chartered for the delegation.

The Duluth delegation, it was announced, will endeavor to land the 1916 convention of the state body for this city and an active campaign will be conducted by all the members of the local lodge at the gathering next month. The Commercial club has indorsed the plan and circulars and buttons are now being prepared to aid the local Elks.

Arrangements for the trip are in the hands of the following committee: William Burgess, chairman; Edward Stevens, John C. Swan, George S. Munsey and Walter W. Bowe.

The local delegation will leave Duluth on the afternoon of Wednesday, June 16, returning here Saturday morning.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

Written for The Herald By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: MAY 30.

2. Sam. vi; Psalm 24: David Brings the Ark to Jerusalem.

THE CONNECTION.

David has now turned his attention to national worship, and he is none too soon with it. After his reign began the Philistines assail him and in two engagements he routs them. Then he captures the stronghold of the Jebusites on the hill on which Jerusalem afterward was built. The ark had been taken in battle by the Philistines before and he now brings that back. Meantime he has been doing a dangerous thing, building up a harem after the manner of Oriental rulers. The ark was captured by the Philistines and taken with them, first to Ashdod, then to Gath and next to Ekron, but trouble came to all those cities, till they sent it back to the country of Israel. It remained in the house of Abinadab seventy years and from there David started to take it to Jerusalem, but the ox that was drawing the cart stumbled and Uzzah, one of the men, took hold of the ark to steady it and was smitten dead. That alarmed David and he left the ark with Obed-Edom for three months and the latter was much blessed from its presence. Then David went after it again and brought it, as we learn from today's lesson.

THE LESSON.

I.

The Joyful Return. 12-15.

"And it was told King David, saying, Jehovah hath blessed the house of Obed-Edom, and all that pertaineth unto him, because of the ark of God. And David went and brought up the ark of God from the house of Obed-Edom into the city of David with joy. And it was so, that, when they that bare the ark of Jehovah had gone six paces, he sacrificed an ox and a fatling. And David danced before Jehovah with all his might; and David was girded with a linen ephod. So David and all the house of Israel brought up the ark of Jehovah with shouting, and with the sound of the trumpet."

1. PRECAUTION.—David was determined to conform to the exact requirements of the Levitical law this time. He was all the more anxious to get the ark back because of the prosperity in Obed-Edom's house while the ark was there. He was anxious also because it was necessary to a complete tabernacle service. It had been taken out of the old tabernacle years before when Israel went out to fight the Philistines and then the tabernacle had been removed from Shiloh to Nob, later to Gibeon and now a tent was erected on Mt. Zion and made ready for the ark. Let us bear in mind that the ark was the little chest put in the original tabernacle and contained the two tables of the law, the golden pot of manna and Aaron's rod that budded. That chest was put in the Most Holy room and on it stood the cherubim. David wanted to form a national religious center so as to attract the people away from their idol worship to which they were sorely tempted. In order that there might be no other tragedy like that of Uzzah he had the priests to carry the ark on poles over their shoulders.

2. TRIUMPH.—It was truly a triumphal procession. Note four things—their trial of the method by taking six steps until they could see if it pleased God; then the glad sacrifice of thanksgiving when David saw that God was pleased; his rapturous dancing, whirling about in front of the ark like a dancing dervish. His elation was not surprising nor censurable; the general joy, as the thousands of people marched in somewhat military order and gathered numbers as they went. It was a sort of ecstacy, with David especially. The rest of our lesson is from the 24th psalm, supposed by many to have been composed by David for this special occasion, as were psalms 15 and 68.

II.

The Approach of the Conqueror. 1-6.

"The earth is Jehovah's, and the fulness thereof.
The world, and they that dwell therein.
For He hath founded it upon the seas,
And established it upon the floods.
Who shall ascend into the hill of Jehovah?
And who shall stand in His holy place?
He that hath clean hands, and a pure heart;
Who hath not lifted up his soul unto falsehood,
And hath not sworn deceitfully.
He shall receive a blessing from Jehovah,
And righteousness from the God of his salvation.
This is the generation of them that seek after Him,
That seek Thy face, even Jacob. Selah."

1. OWNER.—The ark once contained the commandments of God and it so represented God that David thought of it as the King Himself approaching. His ownership was complete as all things were built by Him, things and people. The parallel verse gives the old conception of the earth resting on ocean depths. This is an anthem, sung by two choirs, one without, one within.

2. FITNESS.—David sees the King typically approaching the sacred place on the hill and at once he thinks of His fitness and the question of the fitness of others including himself. The choir without asks the question of the choir within. To stand in the holy place at ease and rest and even to "ascend" the hill leading to it would require the right kind of person. What sort is he anyhow? The psalmist has the outer choir ask the question to get it clear in mind, ask it twice by means of the Hebrew parallel form of verse, and the answer comes frankly. Two qualifications are required, outward morality and inward purity, "clean hands" and a "pure heart." He knew the outward depends on the inward. The sign of the inward is that he does not "lift up his soul to," which means to yearn after, the thing that is false, unreal, not based in truth and reality. The test of the outward is the way one acts toward other people. He will not swear to the false thing, because he not only has it in him to be true but he has too great a regard for his neighbor to mistreat him. Two rewards will come to him—special blessings from God and righteous dealings, even as he deals rightly with people.

The choir without responds that this is the very kind of a crowd, or generation, now seeking entrance, seeking the God of Jacob.

III.

Welcome to the Conquerer. 7-10.

"Lift up your heads, O ye gates;
And be ye lifted up, ye everlasting doors;
And the King of glory will come in.
Who is the King of glory?
Jehovah strong and mighty,
Jehovah mighty in battle.
Lift up your heads, O ye gates;
Yea, lift them up, ye everlasting doors;
And the King of glory will come in.
Who is the King of glory?
Jehovah of hosts,
He is the King of glory."

1. PARLEY.—The figure seems to change a bit. They are now before the city gates and the inner choir has become a sentinel. The officer bids the gates open, gates so old in history as to be called "eternal." Kings always had gates enlarged or torn down for their entrance as conquerors or honored guests. The sentinel asks who he is and the officer replies with noble characterizations of the king. It meant David; it meant Him who was typified by the ark, who not only dwelt in it symbolically but had led David in recovering it. David had God in mind. Maybe he had the Lord Jesus dimly in mind.

2. ENTRANCE.—The reception is implied as a certainty. It was due to the nature of Him who sought entrance, due to His achievements, due to His wishes. God stands before us in the place of David seeking entrance into human souls. Jesus is returning to heaven after His work of conquest on earth and is welcomed by the hosts there.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

A rose will fill a room with perfume, and a canary will fill it with song, whether the inmates smell and listen or not; but you may lay a Bible on a sitting room table, or hang the motto, "God bless our home," on the walls, and leave them there for a generation, and they will affect you as little as the figures of the carpet, unless you put forth some effort to get the good out of them. And so, if God blessed Obed-Edom and his household, it was because they appreciated the ark, and reverenced it, and made use of it.—Goss.

If I were a young man again, and had the choice between a father who would leave me an inheritance of half a million dollars on which to begin business, and a father so poor as to leave me no money, but only the memories of simple, earnest family worship in the home, with a Christian life and character corresponding, I would unhesitatingly say: Give me, as a start in life, the latter.—Butler.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. How can we give religion the central place in the nation?
2. What are the objections to a state church?
3. Are our poetical hymns impractical or untrue?
4. Is there need of more worship of God today?

Millions More for Home Travel

Americans spend scores of millions of dollars in Europe each summer.

Not only are great sums spent in traveling, in hotels and in luxuries, but fortunes are spent for merchandise.

This money stays at home this season, and that means more business for us.

Just another straw which shows the blowing wind of prosperity. —

Business will be good this summer for those who go after it—and the names of the present "live ones" will be found in the advertising columns of The Herald.

It is said that Connie Mack doesn't use profane language, but after looking at the standing of his baseball club some of us are inclined to question this statement.

The mere announcement that Sam Langford and Sam McVey are to fight once more, is taken to mean in pugilistic circles that the boys have become fast friends again.

WINNIPEG TEAM NEARLY MAKES WORLD'S RECORD.

In the seventeen games played to date by the Winnipeg team a total of sixty-eight errors have been accumulated. In modern league baseball this must hover somewhere in the neighborhood of a world's record. The giddy climax of the error making upon the part of the players recruited by the new officials at the Peg came on May 22, when in a double-header the lowly Peggers made sixteen errors. In another game nine miscues were made. It is said that new players will join the team shortly. The start of the Winnipeg team is unfortunate for those interested in the game in the largest city of the league and also unfortunate for the Northern league.

COLLEGE BASEBALL

New Haven, Conn., May 27.—Formal announcement was made last night by Yale baseball officials that Right Fielder Hanes will not play in any more baseball games for Yale, as it is believed Princeton's protest over his eligibility is well founded. Hanes played one year as a substitute and another as a regular of the University of North Carolina before coming to Yale, which makes him ineligible for the Harvard and Princeton series on account of the three-year rule. This is his second year on the Yale nine. Rhett will probably take Hanes' place.

WHITE SOX WIN EASILY

Superior Drops Opening Home Game By 10 to 2 Score.

O'Brien, Williams and Tauman Wallop Out Home Runs.

Baseball for the 1915 season was formally introduced to Superior yesterday along with a rather bitter pill of accompaniment. The season was properly and appropriately ushered in, a band, parade, a few well chosen remarks, etc., and then the Duluth White Sox went out and defeated the Swampers by the mean and wholly inconsiderate score of 10 to 2.

Turner, one of the new twirlers of the White Sox, was knolling against Connelly first and Williams last. Neither the red-headed Connelly or Williams proved in the least effective. Duluth gathered fourteen blows, bunching hits in the fifth round, while the Swampers could accumulate but seven nicks off the offerings of the tall Turner.

O'Brien, Chief William and Tauman of Duluth hit for home runs. Tauman added a double and single to his bingle collection of the day. Dad Ford replaced Jimmy Collins in center field after James held an exciting altercation with Manager Fred Curtis. Ford was the only man on the Duluth team failing to get a hit.

Led by a band, the members of the two teams and some of the prominent fans paraded down Tower avenue. One of the features of the parade was a huge baseball on a truck. The ball was twelve feet in diameter. President John Burmeister was present.

Virginia Wins Opening Home Game of Season By 6-to-3 Score.

Virginia, Minn., May 27.—Virginia opened the home season here yesterday in appropriate fashion by defeating the invading Fort William team by the score of 6 to 3. The hitting of Brokaw was responsible for the victory of the Ore Diggers, his timely clouting scoring runs in the sixth and eighth innings.

More than 2,000 persons witnessed the game. Virginia declared a half holiday, a parade preceded the game and Mayor Boylan officiated.

ERRORS LOSE ANOTHER GAME FOR PEGGERS

Winnipeg, Man., May 27.—It was the same old story told again yesterday—Winnipeg lost to Grand Forks by the score of 10 to 4. While Park was hit hard by the visitors, errors behind his pitching contributed to the visitors' score. The fielding of the home club was wretched.

FARGO WINS CLOSE GAME FROM CHEFS

Chicago played an uphill game and went ahead of New York by bunching their hits when the Easterners became unsteady. Faber, who had won seven straight games, retired, and Scott pitched Chicago to victory. The batting of Pipp and the fielding of J. Collins and Weaver were features. Score:

MIKE TAKES TEN ROUNDS EASILY

Leo Houck, Eleven Pounds Overweight, No Match for Phantom.

New York, May 27.—Mike Gibbons of St. Paul defeated Leo Houck of Lancaster, Pa., in a ten-round bout here last night, taking the honors in every round.

The men had agreed to meet at 156 pounds. Houck weighed 165 pounds, eleven pounds more than Gibbons, but the latter refused to claim the weight forfeit.

Throughout the contest Gibbons sent in left and right hooks to the head and body, making Houck miss. Houck's blows had little effect.

Ball Player Not Allowed Claim Against Portland Club.

Cincinnati, Ohio, May 27.—The national baseball commission yesterday affirmed a decision of the national board in disallowing the claim of Player L. A. Pape for $660 against the Portland club of the Pacific coast league.

Pape contended that he was entitled to salary for the unexpired period of his contract, he having been released in mid-summer under a five-day release notice clause. His claim was based on the allegation that he did not read his contract, and did not know the five-day release notice clause was in it.

SWIMMING CAMPAIGN TO BE STARTED IN DULUTH

Local Y. M. C. A. May Become Affiliated With American Life Saving Society; Boys and Girls and Men and Women to Be Taught to Swim; Make Duluth an Aquatic Center.

The swimming committee of the Y. M. C. A., composed of Louis Ardouin, chairman, W. C. Allen and Harry George, met yesterday afternoon and decided to start a "Teach Another to Swim" campaign in Duluth.

It is the intention of the members of the committee and Physical Instructor Albert Olson of the Y. M. C. A. to have the association affiliated with the American Life Saving society under the auspices of the international Y. M. C. A.

Members of the committee are going to start on a vigorous campaign to boost swimming here. There are a number of crack swimmers in the city, the pool at the Y. M. C. A. is large enough for record-making, and Chairman Ardouin declares there is no reason in the world why Duluth can't send swimming teams to some of the big meets of the country.

Younger boys of the city are to be encouraged in learning to swim. Every effort is going to be made to get a large number of men and boys interested in the movement. Also it is intended that the women and girls of the city will be included in the movement, the tank at the Y. W. C. A. being used for the purpose of instruction.

The "Teach Another to Swim" campaign promises to assume large proportions. In the end, if the plans of the committee materialize, Duluth is going to become recognized as one of the real swimming centers of the country.

DULUTH MAY CONTEST AGAINST HARVARD EIGHT

Crimson Crew Has Been Offered Expenses to Coast in Event It Defeats Yale; Poughkeepsie Crew May Also Go; If Duluth Wins at National Its Senior Eight May Also Compete at Coast.

BY BRUCE.

Yelling through the megaphone thusly—

"On the right of the course, ladies and gentlemen, is the University of Harvard eight. In the center is the famous national championship eight of the Duluth Boat club of Duluth, Minn. On the left is the ——."

Pardon us, Bo, but is this a dream, a myth, or merely a fairy story?

No, most certainly not. It's like this—

Yesterday little yellow wire messages crossed and recrossed the wide stretch of territory that separates the Western coast from the settlement contiguous to the Atlantic water front. The little yellow slip informed the rowing officials of Harvard that in the event of its eight defeating Yale all the expenses of the crimson crew would be paid to the Pacific coast.

Also—get this—the expenses of the winning Poughkeepsie crew will be paid to the Pacific coast.

Now, then, here comes the rub—Duluth has an offer on file, emphatic and incisive; the local eight will go for expense money—and it may even go if it has to pay its own way to the stretch of sand beach kissed by the specific Pacific.

If Harvard defeats Yale and Cornell or Columbia or Syracuse slugs in ahead on the famous old Poughkeepsie course, it might be that the Duluth senior eight will row silently up to a stake boat, out there in the West, and line up awaiting the starting gun with some of the greatest and most classy rowing company in the world.

It Is Up to Duluth.

As it was pointed on in these pages some time back, Duluth can this season equal the record of the national by copping the senior eight contest. Officials of the Panama-Pacific exposition, in their enthusiastic desire to stage a great national eight-oared championship contest, could hardly overlook an eight that in three successive years had won three national contests.

So that's the lineup; there is the big, golden-tinted possibility that looms in roseate hue, dangling like the image of the golden fleece before the orbs of Jason, to be striven for by the members of the Duluth senior eight.

In passing let it be stated that James E. Ten Eyck is working every string, is exerting all the influence he can command, and is letting no stone remain in his path of progress toward the securing of a meeting in the big American eight classic that the Pacific coast people are lining up.

PERSONAL recommendation counts a lot—and the right kind of men are glad of every chance to do their fellow men a favor.

You see it illustrated evey day—users of the Real Tobacco Chew telling friends the glad tidings about the small chew that satisfies.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW IS NOW CUT TWO WAYS!! W-B CUT IS LONG SHRED. RIGHT-CUT IS SHORT SHRED.

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

"Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste."

Duluth sending an eight to the Pacific coast, if there is a chance for the local eight to contest against college eights recognized as champions of the collegiate rowing world for the present season.

A victory over one of the crack college eights would be a brilliant feather in the already brilliant plumage of the Park Point club, a victory worth going a long way to achieve.

In the meantime there is much work to do at home. There is the shaping of the eight and preparation for the Northwestern and National.

Ten Eyck is not underrating either St. Paul or Winnipeg in the regatta that will be staged here in July. The Minnesota Boat club officials are going to make a great effort to sneak back into the seats of the mighty this season. While Winnipeg has lost through the grim call to arms that has rung throughout the dominion, still the Canadians are liable to come down here with a real eight. They have a way up there of developing great crews when the prospects are the bleakest.

This promises to prove the greatest year in the history of the Duluth Boat club—if Ten Eyck can put the right kind of crews on the water. There is the great incentive to win the third straight senior eight race at the National—and there also looms brightly the prospect of racing against two of the crack college eights of the land.

All right, Jim and the gang, more power to you.

TENNIS DATES ANNOUNCED

It was decided yesterday to play the Duluth Boat club's men's singles and doubles and ladies' singles and doubles on the Oatka courts, starting on July 7 and extending through to July 17.

The Northwestern tennis tournament is scheduled for Deephaven, Lake Minnetonka, starting on July 24.

The Head of the Lakes tennis tournament will start on Aug. 13 and the Minnesota state tennis tournament will be held at White Bear, starting on Aug. 28.

There will be four courts ready at Oatka on Saturday. Play is expected to begin then. Plans were completed yesterday for a handicap tourney at the boat club that will be held throughout the month of September. The rankings of the players will be made public at that time and the handicap play will be based on the standings achieved by the local players throughout the season.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Quacks to Prevent Disease

At first blush, it hardly seems possible that a quack would voluntarily prevent disease. One would naturally expect something else from a quack. Yet one of the foremost sanitarians of America actually proposes the idea of utilizing certain well-known quacks in the campaign against malaria and yellow fever.

Most every one knows that malaria is carried only by mosquitoes and that yellow fever is spread in the same way. If the mosquitoes can be driven out there will be neither malaria nor yellow fever in the country. And Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, commissioner of health of Pennsylvania, would use the quacks to drive out the mosquitoes.

To obviate the use of a star and foot-note let us hasten to explain here that the quacks Dr. Dixon suggests for this purpose are ordinarily known as mallard ducks. These ducks are no more interested in public health than any human quack, but they are inordinately fond of mosquitoes and they are great travelers. Hence they will cover a greater territory than mosquito-eating fish and are correspondingly more effective exterminators of disease-carrying mosquitoes. In districts where the anopholes mosquito still abounds it is a serious question whether the slaughter of ducks by sportsmen should be permitted.

How to Exterminate Mosquitoes.

Dr. Dixon has used ducks to keep down mosquitoes in swamps which could not be easily drained, but he declares that he never appreciated the high efficiency of the duck as an enemy to mosquitoes until he tried some practical experiments with them. He built two dams near together on the same stream, each covering 1,400 square feet. In one he placed twenty mallard ducks; in the other a large stock of goldfish. For several months the one ranged by the quacks remained entirely free from mosquitoes, while the goldfish pond was swarming with larvae and adult insects. Then ten well fed mallards were placed in the mosquito-infested pond, and they immediately began to feast upon the tempting larvae, preferring the tidbits to any other food offered them. At the end of forty-eight hours no pupae could be found. Of course, the motion of the water made by the swimming of the ducks drowned some of the larvae, but for the most part the insects were devoured.

Here is one more argument in favor of the camera and against the gun for the true sportsman. Every time a waterfowl is shot for the sake of sport a few million disease-carrying insects, more or less, get a new lease on life—and some innocent person gets another chill.

Little Boy's Earache—My little boy, 5, had severe earache several weeks ago. It was his first earache. It passed away, but a few days ago he complained again, and this time it is worse and stays longer. Please advise me about it. There is a little discharge.

REPLY.

There is but one safe thing—have the doctor examine the boy's ear, nose and throat. Practically all ear trouble in children comes from adenoids, diseased tonsils or chronic or acute trouble in the nose. Don't drop stuff in the ear without medical advice. The condition is dangerous.

* * *

Bad Heart—I am troubled with shortness of breath after any exertion, like going up stairs or walking against a wind. Is this due to weak heart action? Is there a remedy for a weak heart?

REPLY.

Not necessarily, but probably in your case. You should have a complete physical examination, including careful chemical and microscopical urinalysis. There is no remedy safe for self-medication.

* * *

Fear of Surgery—An orthopedic surgeon has advised an operation on the shoulder of our little girl, aged 4. There has been something the matter since birth. He says it is not in place, and must be replaced by manipulation or possibly cutting under ether. Is there not danger that cutting the cords will leave the arm weak? Is ether dangerous for a child of her age?

REPLY.

Don't delay another week. If you knew how exquisitely careful the surgeon is in such work you would have no fears. Ether is absolutely safe for a child of her age.

FIGHT FANS ARE EAGER

Capacity Crowd Expected at the Mandot-Watson Scrap.

Former Gives Exhibition Contest Before Duluth Enthusiasts.

On the eve of the battle, interest in the ring encounter between Joe Mandot and Red Watson, to take place at the Grand in Superior tomorrow night, has been stirred to such a pitch that the biggest crowd of boxing fans ever turned out of Duluth will cross the state line to help swell the crowd that will attend the fistic entertainment provided by the Twin Ports Athletic club.

Joe Mandot, Southern lightweight champion and one of the leading contenders for Freddie Welsh's crown, last night at the Auditorium boxed before a crowd of more than 1,000 excited fight bugs. Eddie Laney, an Eastern boxer who is temporarily located in Duluth, slammed through three rounds with the New Orleans French market boy. It was a fast three-round exhibition and gave the fans a chance to see Mandot in action before the scrap tomorrow night.

Watson Completes Training.

Red Watson completed his training in Superior yesterday. The California boy is in fine shape and is down to the required 135 poundage, demanded of him by Mandot. Mandot is lighter and will enter the ring at about 133 pounds. From his battle with Pal Brown, Watson is well known as a real battler of the Nelson type. Watson is one of the most aggressive fighters in the lightweight class and packs what is considered by many critics the hardest punch of any boy in the division.

Mandot is picked by local fans as the winner because of his cleverness, but friends of Watson look for the ruihsng tactics of the Western boy to slow up Mandot and if Watson ever lands his haymaker squarely there is apt to be a knockout with Red on the winning end.

When Mandot and Watson enter the ring tomorrow night they will go in for one of the toughest sessions that ever graced a ring across the bay. Both boys have been tried out against the best lightweights in the world and they have always given a satisfactory account of themselves.

Both are ambitiou sand seek a match with Freddie Welsh over the marathon route. Mandot in some quarters is looked upon as the successor of Welsh. Other critics pick Watson as a coming champion. To win tomorrow night means fame and fortune for the red headed boy from the Pacific coast. Mandot has to stave off defeat to save his reputation. They are boxers of the style the fans like to see and they are trying from the opening round until the last bell.

Two Extra Features.

In addition to the main event the promoters have arranged two other bouts which promise to share honors with the headliner. Kid Billings, a Superior boxer who is coming into prominence as a result of his good showing in Superior and Milwaukee rings, will tackle Frankie Snyder of Sycamore, Ill., who is rated as a fairly clever boy with a healthy wallop in his right mitt. In an eight-round opener Young Stewart, a Duluth featherweight, will stack up against Mickey Towers of Superior.

Harry Stout of Milwaukee, well known referee, will officiate. Henry Ribanek, the Duluth man recently appointed a member of the Minnesota boxing commission, will be at the ringside to see how they do it in Wisconsin.

BREAKS INTO NO-HIT NO-RUN HALL OF FAME

Muscatine, Iowa, May 27.—Pitcher Ross of the Muscatine Central association club yesterday pitched a no-hit, no-run game against Cedar Rapids. The locals won by a 5-to-0 score.

Only two Cedar Rapids men reached first throughout the nine innings, both on walks, and both died on the initial sack.

PASSENGERS LAND IN NEW YORK CITY

Seventy-Seven From Ryndam Brought Into Port By Battleship.

New York, May 27.—Seventy-seven passengers saved from possible death when the Holland-American liner Ryndam collided early yesterday with the tramp steamer Joseph J. Cuno off Nantucket shoals lightship, were brought safely to port last night by the battleship South Carolina, which participated in the rescue.

The Ryndam, conveyed to Ambrose lightship by the battleship Texas, reached the harbor before her passengers arrived and anchored down the bay. She was drawing thirty-six feet of water and much of her cargo, containing foodstuffs for Holland, valued at $1,000,000, was destroyed. A hole in her side below the water line about the width of a plate was stopped with canvas. The Cuneo, damaged was proceeding under her own steam to this port.

The steamer Thomas J. Millard, carrying friends and relatives of passengers and officers of the Holland-American line, went down the bay to meet the South Carolina, and take on board the rescued passengers.

The Ryndam left here for Rotterdam Tuesday with 54 cabin and 23 third class passengers. The crew numbered about 150. The Cuneo left Boston Tuesday night for Baracoa, Cuba. Shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday morning, in a heavy fog, the steamers rammed each other. The wireless operator of the Cuneo sent out a signal of distress.

TRADE MENACE FROM THE CANAL

Fred Stevens Says Mississippi Valley Will Be Badly Hit.

St. Paul, Minn., May 27.—"You now realize that this section is up against a very serious condition because the Panama canal has been completed. It is a serious condition, moreover, that must grow worse."

Important menace to the trade of the Twin Cities and, indeed, of all the Mississippi valley, had been outlined by former Congressman Fred C. Stevens before he made this statement to the St. Paul Association of Office Men gathered at the Commercial club for the last dinner of the season.

"Now, before the canal was opened, the Mississippi valley supplied 75 per cent of the transcontinental freight destined for the Pacific coast. Already we have lost one-third of this business, which has been gained by the East. And that is only the beginning. More and faster ships are being built. The former average of thirty days by sea from coast to coast has been reduced, in some cases, to no more than twenty days.

Forced to Reduce Rates.

'Already the water competition in effect and in prospect is forcing the railways to reduce their rates.

"Even now the low rates by sea have given Pacific coast cities the trade of a territory extending several hundred miles inland. Those cities can provide for such territory the products of Europe and the East more cheaply than we can ship similar products into the same territory.

"Hence we know that the completion of the canal will not work to the advantage of the valley. It was this reason I opposed, as bitterly as I could, the proposal of granting free canal tolls on coast trafic. It has appeared to me exceedingly strange that business men of these cities should have favored the free tolls, which would simply have taken money out of their own pockets.

Some Offsets.

"Yet there are some offsets to be expected against the adverse effects of canal traffic. The Federal government is constructing a twenty-four and a half-foot canal at the Soo; the Canadian government is building two thirty-foot canals that will permit sea-going vessels to enter the upper part of Lake Huron. Through the new Soo canal such vessels will come on directly to Duluth. The whole section hereabouts must thereby be benefited greatly."

OLD-TIME DULUTH THEATER MANAGER HERE

W. H. Reaney, old-time Duluth theater manager, was in the city yesterday for a few hours and was greeted by old friends. Mr. Reaney is "ahead of" the Yankee Robinson circus and Texas Bill's Wild West show, and is in this territory arranging dates and contracts at various points for the appearance of the big attraction, which features Carl Hoffenback's trained wild animals.

Mr. Reaney, a dozen years ago, was manager of the old Metropolitan theater, which was located where the Soo depot now stands, and prior to that was connected with the Lyceum theater and was manager of the bill-posting company, representing his uncle, L. N. Scott, the pioneer theater man of the Twin Cities.

Mr. Reaney has been on the road with different shows since that time, but for four years has been with the Yankee Robinson aggregation and is making his fourth trip for that combination now. The Yankee Robinson show is a three-ring circus, and during the last year has increased its equipment by twelve railroad cars. It is one of the chief competitors of the Ringling Bros.

IDEAS CONFUSED ON ICE CREAM

Health Director and State Dairy Inspector Tell What It Should Be Made of.

What is ice cream?

Hardly two persons agree on what combinations make up this palatable substance and now that the summer season is here this question again looms up.

Some skeptical ones have declared that ice cream may be a mixture of moistened milk powder and furniture glue, with several flavors.

But the public, from the innocent babe to the public official, knows ice cream as a palatable substance of extremely low temperature that tickles the palate.

However, Health Director Fahey says that ice cream is—or rather should be—a mixture of pure milk and cream, sugar, gelatine and some flavor.

Robert North, state dairy inspector, says that ice cream must not contain impure milk or cream, not less than 12 per cent butter fat, must not be colored, powdered or treated in any way that will make it harmful.

Noah Webster says that ice cream is cream, milk or custard, flavored and frozen and that the term was first used by Shakespeare.

WILL ATTEND SIXTIETH ANNIVERSARY DINNER

A. Wray Withrow, manager for the H. Poehler company, Board of Trade building, will go to Minneapolis tomorrow night to attend a banquet to be given Saturday evening at the Minneapolis club in observance of the sixtieth anniversary of the founding of that firm, one of the oldest grain firms in the West. The dinner will be given by Alvin H. Poehler, a member of the firm, to thirty men who have been identified with the company for years. Mr. Withrow has been with the H. Poehler company for thirteen years.

The H. Poehler company was formed by Henry Poehler, who was a member of the first state legislature, that of 1858, and afterward a member of congress. He came to Minnesota in 1853 after an ocean voyage of fifty-three days from Germany to New Orleans. He joined the forces of Maj. Joseph R. Brown and visited the Indian country, establishing the trading firm, H. Poehler & Co., at Henderson, Minn., in 1855.

He had contracts from the Federal government to supply army posts at Fort Ridgely, which afterward figured prominently in the Indian uprising and massacre of 1862, and at Fort Totten on Devils lake, in what is now North Dakota.

LIVED SEVENTY-TWO YEARS IN MINNESOTA

Minneapolis, Minn., May 27.—Mrs. Missouri Pratt, who came to Minnesota in 1843, only two years after Mr. Pettijohn's arrival, was buried yesterday at 2 p. m. from Simpson M. E. church. She died Sunday at her home here.

In 1842 Mrs. Pratt's father, Isaac Rose, came from Dubuque to Lake Pepin to work in the pineries, and brought his family with him. They spent the winter there and then went to St. Paul. In 1852 Missouri Rose was married to Job Pratt of St. Paul. In 1854 they moved to a farm near Richfield, where they lived until 1895, when they moved to Minneapolis.

Mr. Pratt died in 1897. Mrs. Pratt leaves three daughters, Mrs. Rosa Jacobs of Washington, Mrs. Emma Wells of Hensler, N. D., and Miss Ida Pratt of Minneapolis.

PIMPLES SPREAD ALL OVER HEAD

Severe Itching and Burning. Red and Sore. Kept Awake at Night with Itching. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Head All Healed.

3508 N. Hamilton Ave., Chicago, Ill.—"My scalp trouble began on the lower part of my head with severe itching and burning, forming into lumps or pimples which spread all over my head. These would itch something terrible, getting red and sore and after some time they got hard. My trouble always seemed to be worse. Nights when I would take down my hair and comb it the scales were so thick that I would have nothing but scales in my comb.

"I had had the trouble six months when I heard about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. The itching had kept me awake at night but when I used the sample I had better rest. I bought a box of Cuticura Ointment and bar of Cuticura Soap and used them every night and morning for four weeks. My head was all healed and I would never wash my head now with anything else but Cuticura Soap." (Signed) Miss Helen Beyer, July 30, 1914.

CENSOR NOW CHANCELLOR

Promoted From Press Bureau to "Keeper of King's Conscience."

Sir Stanley Buckmaster Is Now the Lord High Chancellor.

London, May 27.—To be promoted in a day from the thankless post of director of the press bureau to "keeper of the king's conscience"—from chief censor, the target of the countless critics, to lord high chancellor, the highest judicial position in the empire, with a salary of $50,000 yearly, and a pension of $25,000 yearly for life, is the change which has come in the career of Sir Stanley O. Buckmaster.

When he kissed the king's hand at Buckingham today, he received the great seal turned over to the king yesterday by Viscount Haldane, who established a precedent two years ago by going to America, leaving the seal out of the hands of its authorized custodian. The circumstances of Sir Stanley O. Buckmaster's promotion attracted wide discussion, even in this day of startling changes due to the formation of the coalition ministry.

Declined By Lord Simon.

It is understood the seal of the house of lords was declined by Sir John A. Simon, the new head of the home office, who perferred a political to a judicial career.

His name is also linked in gossip with that of David Lloyd George as a possible prime minister some day. Sir John Simon was the attorney-general and his declination made way for the solicitor general, Sir Stanley Buckmaster. Sir John Simon is the second man in British history to decline the woolsack, which is the seat of the lord high chancellor as presiding officer of the house of peers, Sir Henry James, afterward Lord James, being the first.

Sir Stanley Buckmaster's promotion has caused considerable adverse criticism. It is understood that Sir John Simon will assume general supervision of the press bureau, retaining Sir Frank Sweetenham and Sir Edward T. Cook, the present assistants.

Seals Presented.

King George held a privy council this morning, at which the seals and the warrants of office were handed to the new members of the cabinet. Subsequently the first meeting of the new coalition cabinet was held.

The king has conferred knighthood upon Frederick Edward Smith, solicitor general in the new ministry.

WEATHER HAS SLIPPED A COG

in the East warm showers were playing over the central valleys.

Cold Makes New Record.

Philadelphia, May 27.—The thermometer in this vicinity went as low as 44 degrees during the night. The weather bureau said this was a record for low temperature on May 27. Unusually cold weather was general in Pennsylvania. In the northeastern part of the state there was a heavy frost. Hazelton reported that ice formed on the mountain tops.

Killing Frost.

Watertown, N. Y., May 27.—A killing frost prevailed in this section last night, doing great damage to gardens. The official thermometer touched 32. The loss is expected to amount to thousands of dollars.

Little Damage Done.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 27.—The frost which visited Western Pennsylvania last night did little if any damage to orchards and gardens because they are well advanced.

Frost in Ohio.

Youngstown, Ohio, May 27.—Northeastern Ohio was visited by a heavy frost last night. Reports from many districts indicate that the damage done to fruit and vegetables will amount to thousands of dollars.

Frost in Michigan.

Detroit, Mich., May 27.—Frost was reported in various places throughout the state early today. A high wind, which prevailed during the night, however, is believed to have prevented serious damage to growing crops.

Ice at Lockport.

Lockport, N. Y., May 27.—A killing white frost which put a coat of ice on standing water last night in this vicinity, did severe damage to the strawberry crop and ruined upwards of 5,000,000 tomato plants already set out. Grapes were also affected.

Damage From Frost.

Ogdensburg, N. Y., May 27.—Widespread damage is believed to have resulted from frost in this section last night. At 8 o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 34 degrees. The ground was frozen hard, and tender vegetables were blighted.

BRITISH BATTLESHIP TRIUMPH TORPEDOED

British Asiatic squadron, she participated in the bombardment of the German base of Tsing Tau, China, last October and was reported to have been damaged by the shell fire of the German forts.

After the fall of Tsing-Tau, the Triumph returned to European waters, and early in the present year, began operations with other units of the allied fleet against the Dardanelles. In the latter part of April, the Triumph bombarded the Turkish trenches on the western end of the Gallipoli peninsula, and afterward went into the Dardanelles to shell the trenches from a different angle. Here she came under the fire of a Turkish howitzer battery on the Asiatic shore which dropped sixteen shells around her and threw missiles on board. Little damage was done by the shells, however, and only two men, a stoker and a blue jacket were wounded. The battleship silenced the Turkish battery before retiring.

Bombarded Forts.

A few days later, while landing operations were progressing the Triumph, with other warships, in addition to covering the landing bombarded the forts in the Dardanelles to prevent reinforcements reaching the Turks from the sea of Marmora. The Triumph was credited in the official reports with having set fire to the town of Maidos during this bombardment. The Triumph, which was commanded by Capt. Maurice E. Fitzmaurice, was a vessel of 11,985 tons and of 12,500-horse power. Her crew of officers and men in times of peace numbered about 700 men. The vessel carried four 10-inch, four 7.5-inch guns and fourteen 14-pounders and four 6-pounders. In addition she carried two 18-inch torpedo tubes.

The Triumph was 436 feet long and had a speed of about 20 knots.

With the sinking of the Triumph, five allied battleships have been accounted for in the Dardanelles by Turkish gun fire, mines or torpedoes. Of these losses, the British have sustained four—the Triumph, Ocean, Irresistible and Goliath. One French ship has been sunk—the Bouvet. In addition several other allied battleships have at various times been struck by Turkish shells and forced to retire from the fighting.

for Liverpool. About 1:25 a. m. met two vessels sent by British admiralty in answer to our wireless call. One has been in attendance ever since.

"It was dusk when the explosion occurred. Flag had been hauled down five minutes before. Steamer's name printed on both sides of the ship in letters six feet. Had no warning and saw nothing."

Ambassador Page sent the following message:

"Admiralty have reported from Queenstown that the Nebraskan is now on her way to Liverpool, under her own steam and is being escorted. I am sending naval attache to Liverpool to examine the ship, which it now appears was outward bound from Liverpool to Delaware Breakwater when she was torpedoed."

Give no Details.

The message from Consul Frost said the ship had "struck a mine or torpedo," but gave no details. As soon as the dispatches were received at the state department they were forwarded to the White House and immediately placed before President Wilson. As they did not make it certain whether the steamer had been hit by a mine or a torpedo, they left unanswered the principal point that the president and his advisers want made clear. They expect further reports from the naval attache. Pending receipt of clearer explanations, no action will be taken.

Passes Queenstown.

New York, May 27.—The American-Hawaiian Steamship company, owners of the American steamer Nebraskan, damaged by a mine or torpedo off Fastnet last Tuesday, received cable advices today, it was announced, stating that the Nebraskan had passed Queenstown at a speed of eight knots and was due to reach Liverpool tonight.

A British admiralty boat, the advices said, was convoying the Nebraskan. Officers and crew of the steamer presumably were at their posts aboard. The message was not from Capt. Green, a representative of the line said, but was received from the line's British connections. No word has been received from Capt. Green since his brief message of yesterday announcing that the Nebraskan had either hit a mine or been struck by a torpedo. It was thought that Capt. Green would cable fuller details on his arrival at Liverpool.

Whether it was mine or torpedo that crippled the steamer was not disclosed in advices received here today. On the line's behalf, it was said that this point probably would not be determined till the vessel had been placed in drydock at Liverpool, if then.

The line's officials here, it was said, had made no arrangements to drydock the ship, having left the entire matter of the Nebraskan's repair and the determination of the nature of her injury to their British representatives.

AIRMEN DROP MORE BOMBS NEAR LONDON

occasion, however, have the results been serious.

Several Zeppelins.

Some reports say that two, and others that three Zeppelins took part in the raid. It is, however, impossible to give the number accurately because of the heavy clouds through which the moon shone but dully at the time of the attack.

The noise of the propellers of the airship was first heard shortly before 11 o'clock. Then came at once the shock of the explosion as the bombs rained down from above. Some of the missiles were incendiary, and threw out bright flares of light.

Crowds assembled in the streets of South End to view the raiders. The only fatality, the killing of Mrs. Fabin, occurred while the woman was leaving a street car. It is recalled that on the previous raid the only victim was a woman.

British aeroplanes went up in pursuit of the raiders, but were not successful in overtaking them. Some time later two Zeppelins were seen over Burnham-on-Crouch, seven miles to the northeast of South End, but no more bombs were dropped.

Two Women Killed.

London, May 27.—The secretary of the admiralty has issued a statement on the South End raid, which, contrary to the dispatches from South End says two women were killed in the air raid on that place last night. It reads:

"Last night a Zeppelin visited the east coast, and bombs were dropped on South End. The casualties reported today are two women killed and one child badly injured. Very little material damage was done. Aeroplanes and seaplanes proceeded in pursuit of the enemy, but the Zeppelin succeeded in escaping in an easterly direction."

Unitarian Meetings.

Boston, May 27.—The annual meeting of Young Peoples' Religious association of Young Peoples' Religious association attracted the delegates to the Unitarian anniversary week gatherings. In addition there were on the program meetings of the Unitarian Fellowship for Social Justice, the Free Religious association and the Unitarian Historical society and various conferences.

GERMANS BRINGING UP STRONG REINFORCEMENTS

spurt, the Germans and the Austrians now are bringing up reinforcements and fresh ammunition and another great battle will be fought to determine whether the new lines to which the Russians have fallen back are tenable.

According to the Germans the encircling of Przemysl is progressing in that they have forced another crossing of the San only eleven miles north of the fortress and extended considerably their line east of this river.

No Important Engagements.

Italy and Austria are now engaged in the familiar roles of issuing contradictory official communications relative to the border fighting, but it is claimed that there have been as yet no important engagements. Of the 250 miles of common frontier between Italy and Austria, it is estimated that only one-fifth is of a character for critical military operations, and Italy's forces now in the field are following the course dictated by geographical necessity, one army driving toward the river Isonzo and Triest and the other into the Tyrol, where the rough country precludes any decisive engagements at so early a date.

London was but little disturbed at the raid last night of a Zeppelin airship at South End. Such raids have ceased to be a novelty—and the result this time was similar to that of previous visits, that is, a few noncombatants were killed or injured and the material damage was slight.

French Statement.

Paris, May 27.—The French war office issued a statement this afternoon as follows:

"Belgian troops last night repulsed two German attacks, one to the north and the other to the south of Dixmude. The first was driven back by a counter attack, and the second was stopped by artillery fire.

"In the sector to the north of Arras two engagements took place last night. To the southwest of Souchez we took possession of one of the trenches of the enemy near the chateau of Carleul-leu, taking at the same time some prisoners, including one officer. To the east of Neuville St. Vaast the Germans advanced to an attack, but they were checked by our artillery.

"At various points along the front, notably near Reims and in the Vosges, there were yesterday artillery engagements. One of our aerial squadrons, composed of eighteen aeroplanes, each one carrying fifty kilos (110 pounds) of projectiles, this morning bombarded at Ludwigshafen, on the Rhine, the factory of the Baden analine chemical products establishment, one of the most important manufacturers of explosives in all Germany. The results reported are proof of the efficacy of the bombardment. Several of the factory buildings were struck by the projectiles of our men and a number of fires broke out. The aviators were in the air for almost six hours, and they covered more than 400 kilometers (240 miles).

"This expedition against an important establishment is the French answer the attempts of German aviators on Paris."

German Statement.

Berlin, May 27, via London, 3:50 p. m.—The German army headquarters today issued the following statement:

"Regardless of their great failures of May 25, the French repeated their attempts to break through our lines between Veremelle and the Lorette hills. Very strong forces were brought forward for an attack along a narrow stretch of ten kilometers (six miles), but the attacking force everywhere was repulsed. We are in full possession of our positions. An uncommonly large number of fallen Frenchmen are lying in front of our trenches.

"Further French attacks were directed late in the evening against our line of Souchez-Neuville.

"South of Souchez the battle has not yet come to a conclusion.

"During a reconnoitering expedition north of Dixmude (Belgium) we took one officer and twenty-five Belgian prisoners.

"Further enemy advances at Soissons and in the forest of Le Pretre were repulsed.

"An air attack was successfully carried out by us on the fortifications at South End on the lower Thames.

"In the eastern theater there has been no change in the situation.

"In the southeastern theater an attack by our troops progressed to the northeast of Przemysl and in the district of Stry. The booty and yesterday's results cannot be fully estimated."

DANISH STEAMER IS PREY OF SUBMARINE

Betty Sent to Bottom of North Sea By German Torpedo.

South Shields, Eng., May 27.—The Danish steamer Betty was torpedoed by a German submarine in the North sea yesterday and went to the bottom. The members of her crew were rescued and have been brought to the Tyne.

The Danish steamer Betty was 281 feet long and of 1,267 tons net register. She was built in 1912, and was owned in Copenhagen. She sailed from Baltimore April 10 for Copenhagen, where she arrived May 8.

Torpedoed and Shelled.

Cardiff, Wales, May 27, via London.—The steamer Morwenna of Montreal was torpedoed and shelled by a German submarine at midday of Wednesday at a point 160 miles west by south of St. Ann's Head.

One member of the crew of the vessel was killed, while three were wounded. The others have been landed here.

The Morwenna was bound from Cardiff for Sydney, Cape Breton, in ballast.

The Belgian trawler Jaqueline picked up the crew.

WOMAN IN CHICAGO MYSTERIOUSLY SHOT

Physician Held for Death of Woman in Her Home.

Chicago, May 27.—Dr. Eva S. Shaver was held by the police today to explain the shooting in her home last night of Miss Anna Johnson, who was said to have come to the physician's home from Ludington, Mich., a week ago.

The girl was found, with a bullet wound in her head, in a room occupied by Clarence Shaver, a son of the physician, who has disappeared. W. C. Harvey, who lives at the Shaver residence, and who found the body, but who, the police say, failed to notify them until several hours after the shooting, was arrested.

A revolver owned by young Shaver was found tightly clutched in Miss Johnson's left hand. The fact that the bullet which caused death entered the right side of her head puzzled the police. Three bullets had been fired from the weapon. Two of them were found imbedded in the wall.

Clarence Shaver returned home after being away all night, and, with his mother, was to be questioned later in the day by the police concerning their knowledge of the events which led up to the shooting of Miss Anna Johnson in the Shaver home.

DAMAGED STEAMERS LIMP INTO NEW YORK

Ryndam and Cuneo, in Collision at Sea, Reach Port.

New York, May 27.—The Holland-American liner Ryndam was safe in port here today with passengers and crew once more on board after a collision and a narrow escape from destruction early Wednesday morning off Nantucket shoals lightship. The Norwegian freighter Joseph J. Cuneo, which rammed the Ryndam abaft the foremast, was creeping in with ten feet of her bow crumpled by the impact. Aided by a rising tide the Ryndam made her pier shortly before 7 o'clock.

Bow Badly Smashed.

The Joseph J. Cuneo steamed slowly into port, a cripple, an hour after the Ryndam docked. There was no mistaking that the little steamer had been in a collision. Her bow was smashed, her plates crumpled, bent to port and forced back till both anchors were jammed in the hawse pipes and she was down by the head where the sea had rushed in the forepeak. Otherwise, her captain pointed out, she was all right, her engines and machinery being undamaged.

"What can I say?" inquired Capt. Aamodt when asked for a statement. "I am glad no lives were lost and nobody was hurt."

The Cuneo will be repaired here.

ABANDON ALL HOPE FOR MILLIE BAKER

Mother of Duluth Singer Files Petition to Close Her Estate.

Relatives of Miss Millie Baker, the Duluth singer, who was aboard the steamer Lusitania when she was sunk off the coast of Ireland by a German torpedo, May 7, have evidently given up all hope of her being among the rescued.

Mrs. Mary Anne Baker, her mother, yesterday filed a petition with the probate court asking that she be granted letters of administration. She is the sole heir at law.

The circumstances surrounding the supposed death of Miss Baker are of such a nature that some difficulty may be encountered in securing positive proof of death, or proof beyond the existence of a reasonable doubt. Miss Baker at one time was though to have been among those who were rescued from the sinking steamer, but investigations have failed to confirm the rumor.

In view of the fact that the complete list of the survivors of the ocean tragedy has never been compiled, some difficulty may be experienced in producing legal proof of her death. Just what degree of proof will be required will not be known until the matter comes on for a hearing before Judge Gilpin in the probate court.

The estate consists of personal property valued at $2,600. The property consists of corporate stock worth $2,000, wearing apparel valued at $500 and household goods estimated at $100.

The petition for administration states that Miss Baker was 26 years old and that she died "on the high seas near the coast of Ireland" on May 7.

Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell are attorneys for Mrs. Baker, who is seeking appointment as administratrix of her daughter's estate.

VIRGINIA'S FOURTH PLANS PROGRESSING

All Committees Are Working Harmoniously for Success.

Virginia, Minn. May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Fourth of July celebration to be held here this year will be one of the biggest affairs ever pulled off on the range, according to present plans. All the committees are working harmoniously with Chairman C. L. Eaton of the general committee to make it a success. The Canadian Northern will help out by allowing posters on its trains. It will be advertised in flaming posters in all towns along the line of the Canadian Northern railroad. As was done last year, the advertising committee will ask the co-operation of the Canadian Northern Railway company, which last year had distributed and posted in all towns from Virginia to Ranier and those towns south of Virginia for about thirty miles, bills and posters.

Hibbing, Eveleth, Buhl, Mountain Iron, Chisholm and Gilbert will be invited to attend the Fourth of July celebration. The big drawing card of the day will be the double-header between Virginia and Fort William league teams.

Either Eveleth or Hibbing will be asked to hold their celebration Saturday, July 3, so that each celebration will draw an attendance from the other city.

MARKETS UP AT THE CLOSE

Wheat Rallies at Finish After Recording Sharp Slump Earlier.

Flaxseed Still Weak on Lower Cables and Light Crushers' Call.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 27.—The market was strong at the close, with good general buying. July showed special strength.

May wheat closed 1¾c off; July ⅝c up, and September ¼c up. May durum closed 2c off; July 2c off, and September 1¾c up.

Oats closed unchanged at 51½c for on the track; rye 1c up to unchanged at $1.15@1.17, and barley unchanged at from 66c to 76c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¼c off at 62½c, and July ⅛c off at 63¼c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis July wheat closed at $1.45¾, and calls at $1.49-1.49⅛ bid.

Drastic adjustment in the Chicago May situation, led to a break extending to 2¾c in the local wheat market during the first three hours' trading today. The quotation in May wheat at Chicago broke 8c to $1.42¼ and a further squeezing out of the water is regarded as due. The spread between May and July there still stands at around 18c.

An interesting situation in May also exists at Minneapolis, and a readjustment there is on the cards, too. May is still quoted down there at a premium of around 8c over July.

Apart from the May future flurry, business in all the American wheat markets was quiet today. Exporters have been holding back awaiting developments during the last few days and buying by Eastern millers has been on a limited scale. Minneapolis millers have on the other hand been in the market steadily for grain, realizing that supplies are likely to fall below requirements between now and the marketing of the new crop. The liberal premiums paid of late for cash wheat down there has led to the routing of considerable quantities to that point, and receipts at the Head of the Lakes have fallen off correspondingly. Today only 10 cars were inspected here against 49 a year ago, while at Minneapolis 263 cars came to hand compared with 124 last year.

Reports regarding the outlook for the spring crop continue cheerful. An authority today said that conditions over the Northwest are perfect, and an increase of from 8 to 10 per cent in wheat acreage over the whole territory was estimated. "The Northwest has a big crop coming," said the report in concluding.

The market was strong at the start on higher Liverpool cables. May wheat opened ¼c up at $1.53, sold up ¼c more, and then broke to $1.50. At the noon hour, the quotation stood at $1.50¾. July opened ¼c up at $1.49¼, advanced ⅝c more; broke 2⅜c, and then rallied to $1.48⅞. September opened ⅛c up at $1.21, and gained ⅝c more after selling off to $1.20½.

Business in durum was limited. May durum opened 1c off at $1.52 and held there. July broke 1½c to $1.53.

Flaxseed Weak.

Business in flaxseed, was again in limited proportions and its market was weak. Crushers showed lack of interest, and they picked up small lots on recessions. There was no special news out in the day. Lower cables were a factor.

May flax closed 1¼c off at $1.95¼ nominal. July opened ¼c off at $1.98⅝, and closed 1¼c off at $1.97¾ bid. September opened unchanged at $2.00½ and closed ¾c off at $2.00¾. October opened 1c off at $2 and closed ¾c off at $2.00½ bid.

At Winnipeg May flax closed unchanged at $1.77½. July ⅛c off at $1.79¾, and October ¼c off at $1.82¾.

At Buenos Aires flax closed 1¼c at $1.35⅞ and at London 1½c off at $1.92½.

MARKET GOSSIP.

At Minneapolis—Cash demand was slow. Market was weak. One northern Blue Stem sold at 10c over July, and velvet chaff, 2@3c under May. Flour trade was quiet. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.52 to $1.57, and No. 2 northern at from $1.49 to $1.54. Wheat stocks in Minneapolis elevators decreased 280,000 bu in five days.

Northwestern Miller says: "Crop situation in Northwest is nearly perfect. Minnesota, Dakotas and Montana have ample moisture. Wheat acreage in Minnesota and Dakotas is estimated at 8 to 10 per cent larger than 1914. Northwest has a big crop coming."

In view of the splendid results obtained from bread made of American wheat flour, the Italian government has decided to plant 10,000 acres of American seed for experimenting.

* * *

In France heavy rains continue. Crop prospects have gone back materially. Broomhall's agent reports that the final yield must of necessity be very disappointing.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The price United Kingdom and Continental buyers will pay for wheat during the concluding weeks of the season will depend very largely on the weather. There appears to be sufficient supplies coming forward to supply consumptive demand for importers for the present, but reserves carried over will be light everywhere, and the new crop will be wanted to fill depleted reserves. Italy's entrance into the war may change the aspect from an importer's standpoint, but ravages of war has been severe and this is bound to tell on final yields. "Weakness in America and Buenos Ayres yesterday was only partly reflected here this morning.

"Corn was steady with offers light. Spot and cargo markets were firm. Argentina advices are bullish, but were offset by a quiet demand. The amount of Argentina corn available for export will not exceed 153,000,000 bu. Great difficulty is being experienced in filling contracts even for late June."

Le Count wires from Beloit, Kansas: "From Manhattan to Solomon there is some light wheat, but conditions have improved largely since last there. From Solomon here, wheat is in splendid condition. It has just started to head here and from Solomon here wheat will average 20 bu if it matures properly. Country is flooded but wheat is not seriously injured."

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following closing letter from Chicago: "Extreme weakness displayed in the old crop future was the feature today. A prominent elevator house sold May freely, followed by stop-loss selling by commission house longs. On the other hand, there has been a steady absorption of July and September by commission houses, on reports of excessive moisture in the Southwest. Crop news was rather mixed. Seaboard reported a better inquiry on the break, with considerable business being closed. Northwest stocks are decreasing rapidly, and they will no doubt be in the market for new crop hard wheat as soon as movement starts. We favor sales of September and July on all rallies."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Excessive Rains Give Strength to More Active Deliveries of Wheat.

Chicago, May 27.—Excessive rains that meant serious injury to crops gave strength today to the more active deliveries of wheat. The May option, in which trade was almost at a standstill, proved weak as a result of large shipments on the way here to be tendered on the current month's contracts. Prices for July and September were somewhat affected by cables being unresponsive to yesterday's sharp declines on this side of the Atlantic. The market here, after opening 1c off to 1c up, scored material further gains in the deferred months.

A subsequent big break in quotations for May pulled down prices for the rest of the list to some extent, but the new crop months soon rallied. The close was steady, 5½c down to 1c up compared with last night.

Serious complaints as to field conditions in Iowa had a bullish influence on corn. It was said the planted acreage in Iowa might be greatly reduced. Opening prices which varied from ⅝@¼ to 1⅜c higher, were followed by additional upturn.

A little reaction which resulted from the setback in wheat was not of a lasting sort. The close was firm at 1c to 1¼c net advance.

Oats developed firmness with other cereals. Advances, however, were relatively small.

Provisions took the same course as grain. An upturn in the hog market was a decided help.

ADVANCES ARE SHADED

Stocks Start Higher But Variable Tendencies Are Soon Shown.

Trading Mainly Professional and Inconclusive; Closing Is Firm.

New York, May 27.—Very material advances, chiefly in the copper group were recorded at the outset of today's dealings in stocks. The rise in the metal shares, which had its basis in prospective increased dividends, averaged a point or more. War stocks including Westinghouse, Crucible Steel and the locomotive issues, also made similar gains. Reading was the only railway investment stock to gain as much as a point. Local tractions, yesterday's strong feature, rose 1 to 1½. Canadian Pacific made only slight response to its strength in the London market.

The stock market manifested more variable tendencies today towards the end of the first hour, trading becoming dull and prices in numerous instances shading appreciably. There was another recovery from this movement, under leadership of United States steel, but fresh selling induced apparently by a 2-point decline in Canadian Pacific, resulted in a second reversal. Renewal of liquidation in minor railways caused Rock Island to make a new low record, with further weakness in the debenture. Missouri Pacific fell a point on rumors affecting the note extension plan. Bonds were steady.

Missouri Pacific and Rock Island became acutely weak in the early afternoon, shares of both roads making further declines while the junior bonds showed losses of 1 to 4 points. Standard stocks were half way between high and low prices of the morning.

Trading in stocks today was again mainly professional and inconclusive. Coppers were the chief feature.

The Pacific group moved contrarily in the later dealings, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific falling back while Great Northern and Northern Pacific advanced. The closing was firm.

Whereas, The facts of the Leo M. Frank case came before only one Court, the lower Court, the upper Courts having confined themselves strictly to questions of law, and

Whereas, The presiding Judge of said lower Court, who heard all the evidence in the case and had the best opportunity to study the witnesses for both sides, expressed himself of record that he was not satisfied as to Leo M. Frank's guilt, and

Whereas, We believe with the trial Judge that the evidence in the case does not prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Leo M. Frank is guilty of the murder of Mary Pagan, and

Whereas, Said Leo M. Frank is sentenced to die on the 22nd day of June, 1915, for said murder,

Be it Resolved, Therefore, That this Commission, in Council, respectfully ask the governor of the State of Georgia to use his influence to pardon said Leo M. Frank or to commute his sentence from death to life imprisonment.

We, the undersigned, Edwin Romberg, President, and L. B. Lehman, Secretary, do hereby certify that we are respectively the President and Secretary of The Enterprise Iron & Land Company, a corporation of the State of Minnesota; that at the annual meeting of the Stockholders of said corporation, held at the office of the Company at Chicago, Illinois, on the Eighth day of March, 1915, at eleven o'clock A. M., at which meeting more than a majority of the shares of the capital stock of said Company were represented, the following resolution was duly adopted, more than a majority of the capital stock of said Company represented at said meeting being voted in favor of said resolution, to-wit:

"RESOLVED, That Article Five (5) of the Articles of Incorporation of this company be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows:

FOR MUTUAL HELPFULNESS

Great Forces of Peace Are Being Marshaled, Says Davies.

Chairman of Federal Trade Commission Addresses Conference.

Washington, May 27.—"The genius of Europe is addressed to war; the spirit of the Americas is turned toward peace. This council of the Americas is held to marshal the great forces of peace into conditions that make for mutual helpfulness."

This was the keynote of a speech today before the Pan-American financial conference by Joseph E. Davies, chairman of the Federal trade commission.

"It is suggestive of great promise," said Mr. Davies, "that the expressions from the nations here represented all contain the recognition of the fact that the permanency of our future relationships and the profitableness of them to us all, must depend upon the degree not alone of mutual profit, but of mutual confidence which we have in the integrity of the motive of the others. Trade, like confidence between men, must be founded upon good faith between the parties.

Bespoke Spirit of America.

"The statement of the greatest proponent of peace in the world, the president of the United States, made at Mobile, Ala., a year ago, bespoke the spirit of America in denying the desire of the United States to attain by conquest a fraction of land of this continent other than what it now possessed. The splendid service, the generous spirit and unanimity of action of Argentina, Brazil and Chile in the Mexican mediation conference and the enactment of peace treaties, give pledge of the sincerity and good faith in the common purposes and ends of the republics of this hemisphere in their dealings with each other.

Industrial Development.

"Great industrial developments are imminent in the different nations of this hemisphere. They will and should be fostered. But it is fortunate that in the republics represented in this conference there is identity of attitude as to the relations of government to industry and to its citizens. It has been instinctive to Democracy to recognize that monopolistic private development is the negation of democracy; that industrial private monopoly is industrial tyranny; that profession of political freedom is hypocrisy unless freedom of individual opportunity through government is preserved. Every republic on this continent holds private monopoly to be indefensible and intolerable and antagonistic to the spirit of republican conceptions of government.

Not Confined Locally.

"Unfair methods of competition to destroy rivals are not confined to local monopoly, but may be participated in by nations as well. There is no logical or ethical distinction between governments and individuals or corporations if engaged in such practices. They are equally intolerable.

"No less in the financial developments arising from international relations is there promise of permanent relations through the establishment of dollar exchange. Dollar exchange differs from dollar diplomacy. The idea of dollar exchange contains no suggestion of diplomatic differences or conflict of interests, which might engender distrust and strained relations between the governments involved. Commercial advantage for the benefit of all, not service to the advantage of the few, is the end and purpose of government participation in dollar exchange.

In Favor of Steamships.

Representatives of the South American republics on the transportation committee appointed by the Pan-American financial conference met early today, and Dr. Samuel Hale Pearson, delegate from Argentina, announced they appeared unanimous in their desire for a corporation to run steamships from the principal ports of the United States to South America.

Dr. Pearson said that definite form could not be given to the plan until it was assured that the United States government or private capital in the United States would participate. He may remain in the United States for some time in an effort to push the plan through.

Secretary McAdoo today received a telegram from the National Association of Manufacturers, expressing hearty greetings to the delegates, and the hope that the conference will result in increased co-operation between the Americas in finance, commerce and industry.

MARINE

EXCURSIONS BEGIN IN JULY.

Steamer South American Will Leave Duluth on First Trip July 6.

The excursion season for the Chicago, Duluth & Georgian Bay line will begin from this port on July 6, at which time the steamer South American will take its first of the year's tourists out of Duluth. The route of the steamer, which carries passengers only, after leaving Lake Superior, takes in the passage south of the Manitoulin islands through Lake Huron to Owen Sound, thence to Penetanguishene, one of the approaches to the famous Muskoka country, and then to Parry sound, passing through the great island district of Georgian bay. From there the steamer goes to Chicago, connecting at Mackinac with the South American's sister ship, the North American, which goes to Detroit and Cleveland.

The company looks for more tourist business this year than last, for the same reason that other passenger lines are expectant of the same thing, the fact that the war in Europe will confine sightseers to this continent.

TRADE MAKES GOOD GAINS

Manufacturers and Jobbers in the Duluth District Well Satisfied.

Business Broadens in West; Working Staffs Being Enlarged.

Sentiment in business circles over the Duluth district is optimistic and general improvement in trade is reported by manufacturers and wholesalers.

In practically every branch the volume of orders being placed is said to compare favorably with last year at this time, and collections are satisfactory for the season.

A gratifying manufacturing development came in the shipment by the Duluth Boiler Works this week of seven cars of hydraulic equipment to the Montana Power company for use in water power development to be utilized in operating the Milwaukee road through that state by electric motive power. It is estimated that the electrical installation by the railroad will entail a capital outlay of $10,000,000.

Before the shipment of the last few days, the Duluth company shipped nearly twenty cars of hydraulic material to Montana and it is still engaged upon its contract from the Anaconda Copper company's subsidiary at Great Falls.

"Our plant has been busy ever since last fall upon local and outside work and steady employment has been afforded to from 75 to 100 men," said F. J. Dacey, treasurer of the company today. "General spring marine work was also about up to the average, so that we have had no cause for complaint."

Horseshoe Factory Busy.

The Diamond Calk & Horseshoe company has been another busy concern this season, its plant on Grand avenue having been operating to capacity for some months back on Eastern and Western orders.

Otto Swanstrom, manager of the company, who has returned from an Eastern trip, expressed himself as feeling sanguine regarding the general industrial outlook. He averred that orders have bulked up well ahead of last year in the aggregate and that good business is also being taken from Spokane territory.

Duluth Shoes for Alaska.

F. E. Church, manager of the Northern Shoe company, averred that factory operations have been upon a capacity basis for some time back, and that future orders have been taken in sufficient volume to assume a continuance of that condition through the summer months.

A substantial shipment of shoes was made to Alaska recently from the local factory. An additional salesman has just been taken on by the company to cover the Far West, and through the agency of an extra man, good business is being developed over Northern Wisconsin. It is the company's intention to add two more traveling salesmen to its force after July 1.

Furniture Trade Good.

Substantial betterment in the furniture trade was advised by the De Witt-Seitz company. The output of the company's mattress factory has been increased this season and heavy shipments of Sanomade mattresses have been made to points in Southern Minnesota, including to the Twin Cities, where the trade had hitherto been monopolized by dealers there. Inquiry from Montana is also said to have been prominent of late, and indications are regarded as favorable for record business materializing from Western Minnesota and North Dakota, provided nothing happens to cut down the present bright harvest prospects.

C. U. Reltan, manager of the Duluth Paper & Stationery company, reported marked expansion in trade during the past month. "Shelves of retailers all over the country have been depleted and they are now showing confidence in stocking up," he said. He looks for a busy season from now on in paper, stationery and building material lines. That company has been making good shipments over the ground it has been covering this spring. Arrangements are being made to put on an additional salesman shortly to cover new territory.

Candy Factories Active.

Manufacturers of sweets are also sharing in the business upturn to the fullest extent. The National Candy company and Winkler Bros.' manufacturing departments have been employing a large number of hands this season. The demand for their special products is said to be broadening and orders are being taken from over a wide territory.

BISHOP'S CONFERENCE.

High Churchmen From Five States to Meet at Marquette.

Marquette, Mich., May 27.—(Special to The Herald.)—A conference of the Episcopal bishops of five states will be held here, the headquarters for this diocese, June 24 and 25. The conference embraces what is known as the great lakes province.

There are fifteen bishops in the province. Those expected to attend are Bishop G. Mott Williams, Marquette; John H. McCormick, Western Michigan; Charles D. Williams, Michigan; Charles P. Anderson, Chicago; Reginald H. Weller, Fond du Lac, Wis.; William W. Webb, Milwaukee; William A. Leonard, Ohio; Edward W. Osborn, Springfield, Ill.; M. E. Fawcett, Quincy, Ill.; Boyd Vincent, Southern Ohio; John H. White, Michigan City; Joseph M. Francis, Indianapolis; Coadjutor Frank Du Moulin of Ohio; Theoddore I. Reece, Southern Ohio, and William E. Tall, bishop suffragan of Chicago.

DULUTH GIVES INDIA KEY TO SUCCESS.

The secretary of the Duluth Commercial club this morning received a letter asking that a copy of the by-laws, constitution and annual report of the club be sent to Suchet Bingh, B. S. C., of Punjab, India, who is now in New York. Mr. Bingh is in the United States studying industrial, civic and mercantile conditions and is striving to get a line on what the leading cities are doing through their commercial organizations to forward their interests.

The Duluth Commercial club has been named in the list of the leading commercial bodies of the United States; hence the request. Col. Eva sent the required information at once.

OBITUARY

Ernst Albrecht, senior member of E. Albrecht & Son, furriers, who came to St. Paul in the days when the city was at the edge of a wilderness and skins of animals, trapped or shot in the vicinity, were the company's chief stock in trade, died May 25, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. PERSONAL.

DO YOU STILL OWE

A balance of, say, $100 on your piano that you purchased from some retailer or so-called factory representative? If you had made your purchase here at the factory warerooms, you would, no doubt, have been paid up in full by this time, owing to the fact that your piano would have cost you $100 less. Remember that the dealer who buys his pianos from the various manufacturers can not compete in price and quality with the firm who manufactures and sells direct.

Investigate our easy payment plan and rent proposition.

AUSTRO-GERMAN ADVANCE IN GALICIA CHECKED

ITALIANS STEADILY PUSHING THEIR WAY THROUGH AUSTRIA WITHOUT MUCH RESISTANCE

ARTILLERY COMBATS ON THE BORDER

Additional Territory Occupied Along Tyro and Frieuli Front.

Successful Hydro-Aeroplanic Raids Made on Trieste-Nabresina R. R.

Troops Continue to Advance North to Mouth of Chiese River.

Italian troops are pushing steadily into Austria, along the line running north of the Gulf of Trieste. Apparently the Austrians have as yet offered no serious resistance, although further west there has been severe fighting. An official statement from Rome announces the occupation of the Austrian town of Grado and states that a squadron of Italian aeroplanes successfully attacked the Trieste-Nabresina railroad, probably cutting the line. Additional territory along the Tyrol frontier has been occupied.

Occupy More Territory.

Rome, May 27, via Paris, May 28.—A successful raid upon the Trieste-Nabresina railroad by a squadron of Italian hydro-aeroplanes, together with the occupation of additional Austrian territory along the Tyrol frontier and on the Frieuli front, are reported in an official statement issued tonight by the Italian war office. It is stated that an artillery battle is raging between the Italian fortified positions on the Trentino front and those of the Austrians.

The communication follows:

"On the Tyrol-Trentino front an artillery combat continues between our fortified positions and those of the enemy at Tonale and on the Asiago plateau. To the north we have extended the territory occupied up to the mouth of the Chiese river in Lake Idro, and have occupied the rugged, mountainous zone extending between Lakes Idro and Garda.

"Notables of Tezze in Valsugana and other occupied parts presented themselves to our authorities, expressing sentiments of patriotism and the devotion of the population.

"Our Alpine troops continue successful combats on the Carniolá front, where we are capturing prisoners.

"On the Frieuli front we occupied Grado, where the population welcomed us enthusiastically.

"During the night of the 26th-27th a squadron of hydro-aeroplanes raided the enemy's territory, throwing bombs on the Trieste-Nabresina railroad, causing damage and, it is believed, interrupting the line. In spite of the violent musket and artillery fire of the enemy, the squadron returned safely."

Captain Now Thinks Submarine Fired at Steamer Nebraskan.

Ship Arrives at Liverpool and Shows Results of Explosion.

Washington, May 28.—American government officials today awaited with keen interest the affidavit of Capt. Greene of the American steamship Nebraskan, regarding the explosion that damaged his ship off the coast of Ireland on Tuesday night. Ambassador Page at London had cabled that the captain's sworn statement concerning the incident had been given to Lieut. Powers, naval attache of the embassy at Liverpool, and that it would be forwarded at once.

In unofficial advices received here the captain, who arrived with his ship at Liverpool last night, is quoted as saying that, although he saw no submarine, he was certain that the ship was torpedoed. Officials have been unable as yet to determine from advices received up to date how the Nebraskan was damaged.

An examination was to be undertaken on the Liverpool dock today by Naval Constructor McBride to deter-

SUNLIGHT IS VISIBLE

Clouds of Distress, Suspicion and Hostility Are Now Breaking.

Outlook Better Than for Year, Says Judge Elbert H. Gary.

New York, May 28.—"The clouds of distress, suspicion and hostility are breaking. In the rift we may see the sunlight of better things and better conditions," said Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, in his address as president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, at its eighth general meeting held here today at the Waldorf Astoria.

"As you know," said Judge Gary, "during the last three years I have not been especially encouraged as to the immediate future, but as to the long future I have been a consistent optimist, for reasons which have been given from time to time. Assuredly we may build our hopes and expectations on the opportunities which this country offers. It seems to me at the moment the outlook for improvement in our lines of activity are better than they have been for more than a year. This is undoubtedly in part the result of increased exportations at fair prices, due to the European wars, but in my opinion also because of a change in sentiment toward business, which now seems apparent. The captain of industry will again become popular in the United States, and this sentiment has been brought about by the efforts of business men to satisfy the public in regard to their reasonable demands. HAS NOT BEEN TOLD OF HUSBAND'S DEATH

Mrs. Nelson W. Aldrich Seriously Ill at Her Home; Will Probated.

New York, May 28.—With the announcement that the will of Nelson W. Aldrich had been probated at Warwick, R. I., it became known today that his widow, Mrs. Abby P. Aldrich, is so seriously ill at her home here that she has not been told of her husband's death.

Mrs. Aldrich collapsed when her husband was stricken several weeks ago and her condition has not perceptibly improved. Under the will she and three children, Edward B. Aldrich of New York city, Lucy T. Aldrich of Warwick Neck and Richard S. Aldrich of Province, are executors and become trustees of the estate.

It is said the estate would not exceed $5,000,000, instead of the $30,000,000 estimate made previously. The will was probated yesterday.

The heirs and legatees of the estate are the only persons interested, inasmuch as there were no public bequests and only members of the family figured in the probating of the will. The entire estate is left to members of the family.

"Nearly all the officers and men were saved."

The battleship Majestic was a vessel of 14,900 tons and of 10,000-horse power. Her officers and crew, on a peace footing, aggregated 757.

Heavy Rains Falling Over Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri.

Danger of Floods as Disastrous as 1903 Grows Greater Hourly.

Rivers Out of Banks and Parts of Many Cities Inundated.

Kansas City, Mo., May 28.—With rain continuing to pour over Kansas, Oklahoma and Western Missouri and all streams in the section rising rapidly the danger of a serious flood, possibly as disastrous as that of 1903, today became greater every hour.

Trouble in Kansas City centers in the Argentine and Armourdale sections of Kansas City, Kan., in the Blue River valley district on the eastern edge of the city and in the Rockhill district an exclusive south side residential section where Brush creek, a drainage stream, has flooded the lower floors of numbers of homes. Throughout the night furniture vans scurried and splashed through the threatened districts, removing furniture and persons to safety. Squads of policemen and firemen have been stationed at danger points.

All trains arriving here from the west today were late, many of them being annulled.

ASPHYXIATING GAS USED IN THE EAST

Teutonic Allies Cover Their Offensive in Ossowetz Region With It.

Petrograd, via London, May 28.—Use by the Teutonic allies of asphyxiating gas to cover their offensive in the Ossowetz region is reported in an official statement issued last night by the Russian general staff. Austro-German attacks all along the line between the Upper Vistula and the left bank of the San are reported to have been repulsed with heavy loss to the attackers. A very stubborn battle is said to be continuing on both banks of the San, between Przemysl and the Lubaszkowa river, as well as between Przemysl and the great marshes of the Dniester. The Russians claim to have inflicted enormous losses upon their antagonists on the 25th on the entire front from the Dniester marshes to Dolina. The capture is claimed of many prisoners during counter-attacks.

TEUTONIC ACTIVITY IS TRANSFERRED WEST

Preliminary Operations Under Way on Long Fighting Line Extending From Baltic Southward Near the Prussian Border.

Austro-German Forces Encounter an Unyielding Wall in Russian Defense From Jaroslau to Roumanian Frontier.

Petrograd, May 28, via London.—The Austro-German advance in Galicia having been checked, there appears new signs of widening German activity on the long fighting line from the Baltic southward. This front runs east of the East and West Prussian borders, bends eastward to within thirty miles of Warsaw and passes on into Southern Poland. Preliminary operations are now under way along this line, over which were fought during the fall and winter some of the most deadly battles of the war.

The most important of these operations are the resumption in a determined manner of the bombardment of Ossowetz, and artillery battles and cavalry engagements near Edvabno and generally along the Narew front. Here as in the Bzura region before Warsaw, the German maneuvers have not developed sufficiently as yet to reveal whether they are preliminary to offensive operations of a serious character, or merely constitute another of the numerous demonstrations which periodically develop and subside without affecting the situation materially.

Unyielding Wall.

Reports reaching Petrograd from the Galician front indicate that the Austro-German forces have encountered an unyielding wall in the Russian defense from Jaroslau all the way to the Roumania frontier. Nevertheless the Teutonic allies continue assaults over the whole length of this line, with as great determination and energy as ever. Particularly strong German forces with heavy artillery are massing on the roads leading eastward in the direction of Lemberg.

Germans Retire.

After violent artillery fire, the Germans on Tuesday advanced to Tomanovitz, a village three miles east of Gusakow, which lies southeast of Przemysl. After a fierce battle which continued throughout the day, the Germans retired, and according to Russian staff officers, they left 2,000 dead behind them. The German soldiers led in the assault, sheltering themselves under large shields, but they were forced back by the fire of the Russians.

At about the same time an attempt was made to break through the valley of the San near Radymno, south of Jaroslau, but this effort failed. On Wednesday Russian positions along this whole region were subjected to the fire of German artillery of all dimensions. The regions of Stry and Dolina also were marked by battles of unusual violence.

Przemysl Threatened.

London, May 28.—The fortress of Przemysl, garrisoned this time by Russians instead of Austrians, is once more threatened with investment. Just as the Russians, after surrounding Przemysl and starving out its Austrian garrison, forced the surrender of the fortress on March 22, so Austro-German troops, who have driven a wedge through Central Galicia, are now attempting a double flanking movement, and with growing intensity of attack are seeking to encircle Przemysl from the north and the southeast.

According to Vienna reports progress is being made in both directions, and if the advance is not checked Przemysl will either be isolated from the rest of the Russian army, or the Russian troops which fell back to the San will be forced into further retreat.

Position Serious.

This situation in Galicia is unques-

JACKSON FIRST SEA LORD OF ADMIRALTY

Successor to Lord Fisher Not Very Well Known to Public.

London, May 28.—Admiral Sir Henry Bradwardine Jackson has been appointed first sea lord of the admiralty to take the place of Admiral Lord Fisher, who resigned recently, owing, it is said, to differences with Winston Spencer Churchill, then first lord of the admiralty. Admiral Sir Arthur Knyvet Wilson will remain with the board of admiralty in an advisory capacity.

Admiral Jackson, who succeeds Lord Fisher as first sea lord of the admiralty, is not very well known to the general public, but in the service he has long been considered "the cleverest man in the navy." He is the only naval officer who is a Fellow of the Royal Naval society, to which he was nominated in 1901 for his research in electrical physics. His sea service as an admiral has not been extensive, but he is familiar with all the latest scientific developments of hostilities at sea, and enjoys the fullest confidence of the navy.

ALLIES OPTIMISTIC AT DARDANELLES

Daily Arrival of Troops and Ships Assists Greatly in Operations.

London, May 28.—The allies are described as "buoyantly optimistic" concerning the operations in the Dardanelles, owing to the daily arrival of reinforcements of troops, ships and guns, in a dispatch to the Times from Moudros. The Turks are said to be short of heavy ammunition and to be using shrapnell filled with pebbles, as well as shells with an inner casing of wood instead of more effective projectiles.

Men from the front report that the Turks on May 21 attempted to capture Australian positions at Gaba Tepe. Describing this attack, the Times correspondent says: "The first onset began at 3 a. m., and for twelve hours the enemy attacked in serried columns in a series of desperate assaults, yet at 2 p. m. the Australians were able to signal that they 'were holding easily,' and at 3 o'clock they counter-attacked, driving the enemy back with the bayonet and pursuing him in the open to his entrenchments with great slaughter. The Turks lost 2,000 killed and 5,000 wounded. The Australians' casualties, though heavy, were light in comparison.

REPLY OF GERMANY WILL ASK UNITED STATES A QUESTION

London, May 28, 3:30 p. m.—The Evening News published a dispatch from The Hague giving reports from Berlin that Germany's reply to the American note will be presented tomorrow.

"It will be of a temporizing character," the dispatch continues, "and will ask the United States either to affirm or to deny that the Lusitania carried ammunition destined for the allies."

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

The German submarine campaign, which has been active during the last week, has resulted in the sinking of another British vessel. The steamer Cadeby was sunk yesterday off the Scilly Isles by the shell fire of a submarine. The crew of eighteen men and the four passengers were saved.

Occupation of Urumiah, Northwestern Persia, by Russian forces is announced by the Caucasian army staff. Capture of the city was effected after battles near Dilman and Buchkala.

In their northern campaign the Russians are still being closely pushed by the Austrian and German armies. Official reports from Vienna state that successes have been won in the district of Przemysl, the capture of which would be a serious blow to the Russians. The Petrograd war office, however, views that situation in Galicia optimistically, saying the Teutonic allies have been checked, and that their attacks all along the front from the Upper Vistula to the San have been repulsed with heavy losses to the attackers.

HAS FONDNESS FOR TRAVELING BAGS

Dan Luzaich Can't Resist Trunk or Even Carpet Bag.

SUITCASES, telescopes, trunks and even carpet bags interest Dan Luzaich, age 25, for he has been arrested half a dozen times and each time it was for stealing a traveling bag or ransacking a trunk.

He was interrupted by H. Cline, night clerk at the Sixth avenue hotel, shortly after 1 o'clock this morning as he was busy with a large pile of trunks.

When Cline entered the room Luzaich was half buried in a high trunk.

"That your trunk?" he asked.

"Sure," said Luzaich. Cline started to leave, but noticed that other trunks had been disturbed, and called the police. Luzaich was sentenced to sixty days in jail for vagrancy by Judge F. H. Cutting this morning.

Luzaich, alias Lee, stole his first suitcase in Duluth in December, 1913. He tried it again June 1, 1914, and was caught.

On July 8, 1914, after escaping from the work farm, he stole a satchel in St. Paul, and again was caught.

A month ago he "repeated" at Devils Lake, N. D., and again he was captured.

LONG TIME TO LEARN.

Another Jitneur Arrested for Not Having Rear Light on Car.

"It's taking these jitney men a long time to learn that they must have rear lights in working order, and that they must not run by open street car gates," said Capt. A. G. Fiskett at police headquarters.

The twenty-fifth man to pay a fine this week for operating at night without a rear light to show his license number was Charles Erickson, 31 South Sixty-fourth avenue west, a jitneur. It cost him $5 when arraigned before Municipal Judge F. H. Cutting.

Erickson was arrested in West Duluth last night by Patrolman Ek, who has the shortest name in the Duluth directory.

"JOY IN MUDVILLE" FOLLOWING VILLAGE'S GAME WITH CITY TEAM

"It is alleged" that Superior "cops" were victors in a ball game yesterday afternoon at Athletic park, the score being 12 to 5.

Ten men from Duluth's police force opposed the Superior aggregation, but officers refused to talk for publication at headquarters this morning when asked if the across-the-bay bunch made their twelve runs in six innings, and if their score was 3 instead of 5.

"They say" that Chief McKinnon's men played with a professional and three semi-professionals, and the alibi was accepted by friends of the Duluth force.

"There is joy over in Mudville this morning," said Traffic Officer George Wood, "but I'm getting up a team that will put the finishing touches on Capt. Oscar Olson's speed boys."

"We will call ourselves Duluth Police Team No. 2 until after the first game," he said, "and then we'll be known as No. 1."

This is the lineup of the new team, which wants a game with the "regulars" at once, for fun or for a $100 side bet:

Jailbirds were betting on Team No. 2 this morning.

EXODUS FOR THE HARVEST

Oklahoma Now the Mecca for Hundreds of Unemployed Men.

Federal Labor Bureaus Are Co-operating With the Farmers.

Unemployed men at the Head of the Lakes are beginning to make the annual shift to the harvest fields of the Southwest. In Oklahoma, Federal officials say, fully 16,000 harvest hands will be needed about June 5 to cut and shock the bumper winter wheat crop.

Harvest Begins in June.

Some time ago the Federal department of labor sent out word that the harvest in the Southwest would require a large number of men early in June. The call was forwarded to various postoffices and the postmasters gave wide publicity to the facts. Postoffices with Federal labor bureaus have co-operated with the farmers as much as possible, and the result is that hundreds of men are heading toward the ripening wheat fields.

Postmaster William E. McEwen has received numerous inquiries from unemployed men here regarding work in the harvest fields. Many of these job seekers have been referred to C. L. Green, an immigration bureau official and expert on labor, stationed in Kansas City, Mo. He has been placed at Kansas City to handle the rush of men during the harvest season.

Mr. Green's duty is to help place unemployed hands and give information as to the best places for securing work. By this information many men will be able to go direct to the farm community where help is needed instead of going where men are congested and little work is available. Many men spend their last cent for car fare while others "beat" their way on the freights. When such men reach their destination they can ill afford to wait a long time for work or journey to another place.

The labor situation in Duluth is not so serious as it was a few months ago and there are fewer idle men here, but there are still men who are unable to get work. But the general improvement in conditions in other cities has helped keep down the influx of unemployed men, and, if this influx is shut off, it is believed Duluth can take care of its own unemployed.

WITHDRAWS LOW BID ON CITY WORK

Next Lowest Bidders Will Get Contract to Lay Mains.

Carl J. Greenlund, who submitted the lowest bids on laying gas and water mains in several streets, yesterday withdrew his proposals, and this morning Manager Reed of the water and light department sent a communication to the council recommending the award to the next lowest bidder.

The bids are on laying mains in Sixty-second avenue west, from Greene to Bristol street; Piedmont avenue, from Fourth street to Fourth alley, and in Sixth street, from Twenty-third to Twenty-fourth avenue west. The proposals on the last two mains follow: John Hedberg, $602.50; Gust Hiner, $620; J. R. MacLachlan, $578.75, and C. J. Greenlund, $419. The contract will be awarded to Mr. MacLachlan.

The bids on the Sixty-second avenue west jobs are: John Hedberg, $468.70; Gust Hiner, $507.50; J. R. MacLachlan, $481.40; A. Hedenberg, $486.20; Rieback and Parvinen, $409.20; C. J. Greenlund, $302, and Simon Johnson, $462.80. Rieback and Parvinen will be awarded the contract.

Mr. Greenlund in a communication to Manager Reed stated that he had made an error in compiling the estimate for the two jobs and that as a result would withdraw his bids.

Silberstein Decides "Movie" Film May Continue Engagement.

Commissioner Silberstein of the safety division announced this morning that the motion picture film, "Three Weeks," will be permitted to continue its engagement in Duluth.

A personal representative of the commissioner visited the theater yesterday afternoon, he said today, and no objectional features were discovered in the picture. Mayor Prince said that he received a similar report from several who visited the theater yesterday.

The officials are of the opinion that the advertisement not allowing children under 16 years of age is merely a scheme to draw the crowds.

WANTS DAMAGES FOR FALL ON WALK

For personal injuries which she sustained in a fall from a board walk leading from the rear door of the premises which she was renting from Richard C. Sloane, Mrs. Hattie Ryckman, aged 48, is seeking to recover $5,200 from her landlord in a lawsuit brought to trial today before Judge Fesler and a district court jury.

On the evening of May 17 last, Mrs. Ryckman alleges that she fell from the walk in question and badly injured her left ankle. Some of the bones were broken, she says.

Wharton & Wharton are attorneys for Mrs. Ryckman and Charles E. Adams is appearing as counsel for the landlord.

WOULD BUY SITE FOR NEW STATION

Iron Range Road After Land Near Lakewood Pumping Station.

Purchase of a strip of land adjacent to the Lakewood pumping station is sought by the Duluth & Iron Range railroad for the purpose of erecting a new station for the village of Lakewood. This land is owned by the city and the matter will be taken up by the commissioners at their meeting next Tuesday evening.

President House discussed it with D. A. Reed of the water and light department, and in a communication to the council the latter recommends the sale of the property. Mr. Reed states that the new station will be on the north side of the tracks, alongside the roadway, and that it will be an improvement to the community, as a substantial structure is planned.

The strip of land desired is 50 feet wide and 1,130 feet long and lies to the north of the pumping station. It comprises in all 1.3 acres, for which the city paid $200 an acre in 1911.

WOULD HELP FOREIGN BORN

Federal Authorities Would Co-operate With the Public Schools.

Immigrant Children Will Be Registered at Their Destined Homes.

A plan to secure earlier action in the work of Americanizing immigrant children has been devised and will be put into effect through a bureau operated by the immigration department and the National Board of Education. The plan is to have the immigration authorities report all children arriving in America to the school authorities of the city for which they are destined.

Definite instructions for the new bureau have not been received by the school or immigration authorities here but the general idea meets with their approval.

In speaking of the matter Supt. Denfeld said: "The new idea ought to work out nicely. It is the best plan that could be put into effect to assist in training foreign children to American ideas."

It is said that about 160,000 children arrive on American shores each year. About 85 per cent of these are children of non-English speaking parents. Many come from Greece, Italy, Russia, Lithuania and Poland.

According to the new-formed bureau many of these children will be put to work immediately unless authorities take them in hand, and without proper training their progress in attaining American standards of citizenship would be greatly hampered.

MILL CITY ROBBERY.

Cedar, Minn., Man Relieved of $422 By Two Women and Man.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 28.—Two women, aided by a man, drugged and robbed Frank Moore of Cedar, Minn., of $422, according to a story he told the police after he was found wandering about the streets in a dazed condition Wednesday night.

While walking along Hennepin avenue that evening he said he met a man who invited him to a hotel.

At the hotel he asked for a drink of water and then left in company with the stranger. As they were passing an alley on Hennepin avenue two women stepped out and dragged him in. Moore said he put up a fight but having only one arm he was overpowered. The man he said went through his pockets. He said he did not remember what happened afterward.

SCRUB BODIES WITH FOLIAGE

How Russian Soldiers Are Provided With Bathing Facilities.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Radzivilov, Poland, May 10.—Every day in the trenches around B., west of Warsaw, sees detachments of some 200 Russian soldiers scrambling through the forest in the rear for an evergreen sponge with which to scrub their bodies in a bathing train nearby. Like school children on a picnic, the overwrought soldiers, after having dwelt for a week under almost continuous fire, frolic in the woods as they vie with each other in finding the best piece of foliage which can be used as a rude sort of sponge or brush.

The bathing train to which they then repair is made up of a string of nine baggage cars along the railroad line running from B., to Warsaw. The cars are provided with steam pipes after the manner of a Turkish bath, and the floors are grooved to let the water run off freely. Although each car easily accommodates thirty soldiers at a time, all nine cars are occupied day and night as one lot of men after another arrives for the weekly bath, which is compulsory.

The first stage of the bath is a disinfecting car where the soldiers leave their clothes and rid themselves of the vermin.

After an hour in the Turkish bath, the bathers proceed into a car at the other end of the train, where clean linen is supplied and where their disinfected uniforms have been brought, to be claimed by checks. The soldiers finally emerge from the last car, shaved, sleek and smiling.

The village of B., is also interesting as a Red Cross center. This bureau also takes the form of a train, where in international sleeping cars, with every luxury known to travel, are stationed a staff of doctors and nurses. There is also an operating train at this point but only the most serious cases are taken there. The field hospital, however, which is a large circular tent, is commonly crowded with the wounded.

One of the nurses in this field hospital is a Madame G., whose husband commands a division which is operating only a few miles from where she is caring for the wounded. Many of the patients whom she treats belong to her husband's division. Another nurse comes from the Baltic provinces, and her brother is fighting in the German army. But if her allegiance is divided, not a sign of this appears in her painstaking efforts to make the wounded comfortable. She has initiated a series of checker contests in the hospital tent, and this sport has become so popular that one sees almost every day a long line of freshly wounded waiting for their turn at the game.

"BEYOND THE POINT OF ROCKS"

CAUSES OF DELINQUENCY

Child Labor and Roaming Streets Scored By Rev. H. J. Wolner.

Former Reformatory Head Relates His Experiences to Big Audiences.

Allowing children to roam the streets at all times and starting them to work at too early an age are the principal causes of the filling of the reformatories, according to Rev. Hans J. Wolner of Virginia, who last night lectured before a big audience at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street. The speaker was in the city under the auspices of the Men's club of the St. Peter's Episcopal church. He spoke of his experience while superintendent of instruction at the St. Cloud reformatory.

"There is to be found in every boy and girl latent elements that have to be guarded against and others that have to be encouraged," said the speaker. "Neglect by parents causes the greater part of degeneration among the children. The child is allowed to roam the street at will and to come in contact with the worst element of the street. The parents probably start the child working at too tender an age, and both tend to the child's degeneracy and ultimate landing in the reformatories or prisons.

"I found in Elmira, N. Y., that 88 per cent of those incarcerated had had no childhood. Sixty per cent of that number had cruel and absolutely bad parents and 96 per cent of the parents were below the high school grades in education.

"I found in my work that cities were hotbeds of crime. Ninety-eight per cent of the inmates at the Elmira reformatory came from cities."

Rev. Mr. Wolner said that boys and men between 16 and 30 years are admitted to St. Cloud reformatory and that the cell house system of administration is pursued. He suggested improvements in the surroundings as well as reformatory guards and attendants. He said that the salaries paid guards or attendants were not sufficient to attract educated men to take up the work and that none who were not on a higher moral and educational plain were capable of uplifting those who are down.

ALL DETAILS ARRANGED

West End Men Expect Celebration to Be Great Success.

Keep Eyes on Weather; Mayor Will Crown May Queen.

The eyes of West end merchants have all day been turned skyward in hopes of favorable weather for the big celebration to be held in this end of the city tonight. Every detail to make the affair the biggest kind of success has been arranged and a record-breaking crowd is expected.

At 7:30 o'clock sharp the program will begin. The parade will start east at that time from Twenty-ninth avenue west along Superior street. Bands will play popular airs.

No one is to go away disappointed. While the floats and industrial part of the parade are moving through the crowds, from many of the rigs will be thrown candies, peanuts, apples, cookies and other delicacies.

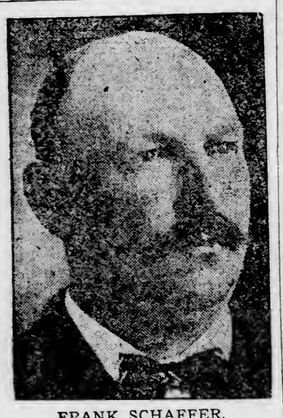
The big event of the evening will follow at the close of the parade. This will be the crowning of the "May queen" in front of the Rex hotel. Here Mayor W. I. Prince, accompanied by the other members of the city commission, will crown Miss Inga Brende the "queen of May" and will present to her a handsome token in behalf of the merchants.

FRANK SCHAFFER SERIOUSLY ILL

Former Alderman Unconscious for Two Days From Stroke of Paralysis.

Frank Schaffer, formerly alderman from the Sixth ward, and one of the best known business men in the West end, is very seriously ill at his home, 2728 West Third street, having suffered a paralytic stroke from which he has been unconscious for two days.

Mr. Schaffer, who has been, apparently, in excellent health, arose at the usual time Wednesday morning and went to the basement to attend to the furnace. There he evidently felt overcome by a dizziness that has bothered him for years whenever he would stoop over for any length of time, and went to the first floor, for a few moments afterwards another member of the family, on going into the kitchen, found Mr. Schaffer limp in a chair and unconscious. He has not regained consciousness since.



FRANK SCHAFFER.

Dr. David Graham, who was called, pronounced the case paralysis. It has affected the whole right side, and just what chance Mr. Schaffer has for recovery is a question.

Mr. Schaffer has lived in Duluth for thirty years and is well known all over the city, but particularly in the West end, where he is engaged in the bottling business. He served several terms as alderman from the old Sixth ward, and has been a leading Democrat of the city for many years. He has been very active in politics and has also taken a leading part in business and other civic matters.

West End Briefs.

Rev. J. J. Daniels, pastor of the Swedish Mission church, will leave today for Rush City where he will attend a mission meeting held by the Swedish Mission synod of the state. He will return home Monday.

Rev. Malcolm Magnuson of Gordon, Wis., will occupy the pulpit of the Swedish Mission church Sunday morning. He will also speak to the Young People's society at 5 o'clock. In the evening the services will be conducted by Fritz Hjelm, a divinity student, and a member of the local church.

The Young People's Society of the First Swedish M. E. church will entertain this evening at an "experience" social in the church parlors. A feature will be a statement from each member of how they earned a dollar.

The social planned by the junior society of the Central Baptist church for this evening has been postponed for a week.

Rev. Carl E. Oberg, city missionary for the Baptist denomination, and Mrs. Oberg will be guests of honor this evening at a reception planned by the Baptists of the city at the First Swedish Baptist church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street. A program has been planned.

Mr. Thompson has been a resident of the West end for nearly twenty years. Three years ago he was one of the moving spirits in the forming of the "Young Old Timers' association" which admitted to membership those residents who had been in this end of the city for fifteen years or more.

His studio in the Anderson building has become the favorite meeting point for young men of this organization as well as political clubs and other societies that have had at heart the welfare of the community.

Mr. Thompson has taken an active interest in the work of assisting the business men in holding their monthly gatherings as well as assisting in the celebrations planned in these meetings.

DISEASE IS SPREADING

Health Director Issues Statement Regarding Scarlet Fever.

Within the last few weeks scarlet fever has spread rapidly and Health Director Fahey this morning issued a statement, in which he warns the public against the disease and also urges prompt medical attention and early reports. Symptoms of the disease are also explained.

Dr. Fahey's statement follows in part:

How Disease Is Contracted.

"The virus of scarlet fever is contained in discharges from mouth, throat and nose; possibly also in discharges from open sores. It is most abundant during the period of eruption, but may persist for a long time. During or even after convalescence, it may undoubtedly be given off from mucous membranes when no abnormal condition whatever is discoverable. This virus may be transmitted from one person to another, either directly, as by coughing, sneezing, kissing or other actual contact, or indirectly by articles which have been in contact with the discharges just mentioned and are still infected by them.

"How long, after contamination, fomites remain dangerous is not known with exactness, as the germ of scarlet fever has not been isolated. There is reason to believe that this germ is longer lived than the germ of diphtheria, or of measles, or of whooping cough, and is more resistant than they are to heat, cold, sunshine, or moisture.

"Early diagnosis, prompt reports, immediate isolation of cases at the hospital are the fundamentals. In this work, the friendly co-operation of private physicians is indispensable and invaluable.

"When shall quarantine be lifted? Cases undoubtedly differ in the persistence of their infectivity. The best way seems to be to fix a minimum period applicable to all cases, and to prolong this when the case demands it. At the present time, thirty days is the minimum. Many suspects, where the evidence is insufficient, or otherwise unsatisfactory, are held for shorter periods and with varying restrictions.

Hard to Diagnose.

"One great hindrance to effective work against the spread of scarlet fever, is the difficulty of making a diagnosis of any of the exanthemata. The symptoms may be so trivial that the patient does not suspect the nature of the indisposition; no physician is called. Many people, after exposure to scarlet fever, suffer from a sore throat, nothing else. A positive diagnosis here is impossible. Many people have a life-long immunity to scarlet fever; many are immune at one time and susceptible weeks, months, or years later. It is reasonable, therefore, to suppose that there may be surface invasion of mucous membranes by this germ for wholly indeterminable periods without the production of any local or general infection.

"It is well to bear in mind that the immunity from an attack of scarlet fever is not invariably permanent. One meets, from time to time, cases of perfectly characteristic scarlet fever which give indisputable evidence of a previous attack. Such cases are rare and there is, of course, always a chance for error. One should be particularly suspicious of the accuracy of either the present or the former diagnosis where the interval between the two attacks is less than five years."

Many People In This Town never really enjoyed a meal until we advised them to take a Rexall Dyspepsia Tablet before and after each meal. Sold only by us—25c a box.

BRILLIANT COLLEGE FUTURE IS PREDICTED

President Hansel of Fargo College Is Optimistic at Inauguration.

Fargo, N. D., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—A greater Fargo college was the subject of the address of J. W. Hansel at his inauguration yesterday as president of the institution. Proudly referring to the history of the institution during its first twenty-five years, he forecasted greater things for the present quarter-century. He called attention to the fact the college was the first educational institution established west of the Red river, the first in the state, that it had grown with the city and the state and was a true pioneer in the educational field.

Financial Outlook.

Discussing the financial condition of the college the new president showed that through the sale of some lands belonging to the college that all indebtedness had been wiped out and the college now had its building and grounds valued at over $200,000 entirely clear of all incumbrances. In addition to the $116,000 raised by the citizens of Fargo on the proposed half a million endowment J. J. Hill of St. Paul had promised $50,000 when the endowment fund reached $250,000. About $40,000 had been donated by private citizens elsewhere than in Fargo, and educational organizations in the East had promised material support. It was also stated that there were prospects that certain citizens would endow new chairs of learning at the college and that a movement would soon be started for new buildings to include two dormitories for the girls and the boys.

Calling attention to the impossibility of his succeeding either in raising the half a million endowment fund or in making the college a great educational success without the hearty support of the people of Fargo and other friends of the college, the new president made an earnest appeal for the co-operation of everyone in the movement.

Others Who Spoke.

President R. M. Pollock of the board of trustees presented President Hansel and Chancellor Walters presided at the ceremony. Former Chief Justice Spalding, Superintendnt of Public Instruction Taylor, Gov. L. B. Hanna, Rev. Dr. Beard, Bishop Tyler of the Episcopal church, President Weld of the Moorhead normal, Secretary Hardy of the Commercial club and Rev. Mr. Halobot, representing the alumni of the college, made brief addresses preceding the inaugural address by President Hansel. Each spoke in a most enthusiastic manner of the future possibilities of the college.

Yesterday afternoon there was a musical concert given by the Fargo Conservatory and under Director Stephens of that institution.

Last evening there was an informal supper to which a large number of the friends of the institution were invited and the chief address of the evening was made by Dr. Henry Churchill King, president of Oberlin college. A number of the alumni of Oberlin came here from over the state to welcome the head of their alma mater.

While Dr. Hansel had been elected to the presidency of Fargo college more than a year the formal inauguration had been postponed for various reasons, the chief one being his absence in the east in the financial interests of the college a greater part of the time.

ROSS SUCCEEDS NEW POLICE CHIEF AS HUMANE OFFICER

John G. Ross, for the last fourteen years clerk of the Duluth municipal court, was, yesterday afternoon, appointed agent of the Duluth Humane society to succeed R. D. McKercher, who resigned recently to become chief of police.

The appointment was made at a special meeting of the nominating committee of the society held late yesterday afternoon at the court house. Mr. Ross will take charge of the office next Tuesday.

"Mr. Ross stood out over the field of candidates as the best man for the appointment," said Chief McKercher. "In my opinion the selection of the committee was a wise one."

ARE FOR TESTING LICENSE RULING

Moorehead Saloon Men May Attack Attorney General Smith's Decision.

Moorhead, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The ruling of Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith of Minnesota regarding the authority of city administrations to issue licenses to saloons after a county has been voted "dry" may be tested in the courts.

Some time ago an opinion was given by the attorney general that city councils could issue no licenses under such conditions. Clay county recently voted "dry." The saloon licenses expire July 1. The county option law of Minnesota provides that saloons may be operated for a period of six months after the county votes "dry."

Some of the Moorhead saloon men believe the Moorhead council should issue licenses after July 1 good up to Nov. 17, which would be six months after the election in Clay county. The matter is being taken under discussion and it is stated that some leading attorneys believe the saloon men can compel a renewal of the saloon licenses for a period between July 1 and Nov. 17, the opinion of the attorney general to the contrary notwithstanding.

Mayor Would Veto.

Here it is claimed the majority of the council would favor an issuance of licenses for that period if convinced it was legal, but Mayor Vincent is a "dry" man and would probably not sign the licenses unless mandamused by the court. It is probable such action may be started. It is understood some of the present saloon men will make applications for licenses, put up the money required in actual cash, file bonds that cannot be attacked and then bring an action to compel the issuance of the licenses.

Washing Won't Rid Head of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advertisement.

PRESCRIBES AMOUNT OF OATS FOR SOWING

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, May 10.—No detail is too small to be overlooked by the government in its measures to make the most of the food supply. A formal order of the Federal council even prescribed the amount of oats that might be used in sowing this spring, setting it at about 10½ bushels each hectare, which amounts roughly to 4 1-6 bushels an acre.

An appeal has gone out to the farmers to use drills as much as possible in sowing, since a greater amount of seed than that prescribed is generally used in broadcasting, the system still employed by the greater majority of German farmers. Farmers who own drills are asked to lend them to their less fortunate neighbors.

FAKED WAR PICTURES PUBLISHED IN LONDON

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, May 10.—Another case of alleged faked war pictures has been exposed by Der Tag, an illustrated daily published by the Lokal-Anzeiger company.

The London Daily News in its edition of April 2 printed a picture of a big crowd of men standing in line, each with an empty metal bowl in his hand. Above the picture was the inscription: "German worker feels the pinch," and below it the following explanation: "The above crowd lining up for rations is a familiar sight in Germany. It reveals one aspect of our naval power."

Alongside of this picture Der Tag reproduces its original taken from its own issue of Aug. 13 and bearing the inscription: "How we treat interned Russians and French; they are standing in line waiting for their food to be given out." The two pictures are identical in every respect.

THIEF RIVER FALLS FIRE CHIEF BURIED

Thief River Falls, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of the late Louis Lonson, chief of the fire department, who died Tuesday morning, was held yesterday afternoon. The fire department attended in a body, and the stores and other business houses of the city were closed from 2 to 4 o'clock. Flags were displayed about the city at half mast.

Restorative Treatment For Nervous Men

Coming from a source of unquestioned authority on the ailments of men it is presumed to be infallible, while the profession generally indorse the ingredients and prescribe them in many different forms of various diseases. The following formula is highly efficient in quickly restoring in nervous exhaustion, melancholia, anxiety, timidity in venturing, dizziness, heart palpitation, trembling limbs, insomnia, thinness, cold extremities, tired-all-in feeling and general inability to do those natural and rational acts upon which depend a man's success and happiness in social and everyday life.

The instructions for obtaining in three-grain tablets are simple, as a physician's prescription is no longer necessary, because the tablets do not contain any opiates or habit-forming drugs. Just ask for three-grain cadomene tablets, in sealed tubes, with full directions for home use. Astounding nervous force and equilibrium follow the treatment, no matter how serious the case, and the joy of a healthy body and strong nerves is soon experienced.—Advertisement.

SUBMARINES INEFFECTIVE

Half of Those Assigned to U. S. War Maneuvers in Trouble.

Secretary Daniels Will Make Thorough Investigation of the Causes.

Washington, May 28.—With unofficial reports indicating that half of the twelve submarines assigned to participate in the war game with the Atlantic fleet were at least partially ineffective, Secretary Daniels announced his determination to make a thorough investigation to find the cause of, and, if possible, a remedy for the too frequent breakdowns of the navy's underwater craft.

"With the growing importance of the submarine as an instrument of warfare," said the secretary, "I feel that too much attention cannot be paid to this branch of the service, and every effort of the department will be directed to improving the records made by the submarines during the recent maneuvers. The submarine is still in experimental stage, and the boat of two years ago, as compared with those now in active service abroad, is probably even more comparatively obsolete than an automobile of three years ago.

Suffer From Breakdowns.

"Of the twelve submarines which came to New York for the maneuvers, one was unable to proceed and the various others suffered from breakdowns necessitating repairs of greater or less importance, which took them out of the game for varying lengths of time. Reports, unofficial, give a number varying from five to seven as the total submarines effective during a certain period of the maneuvers.

"What I am most interested in is finding out whether these breakdowns were such as may be expected in more or less experimental boats, or whether they were due to faults of construction that should have been remedied, or defects in our system of reporting and making repairs. It is my intention to immediately investigate this matter, and spare no effort to remedy anything which is possible of being remedied."

BELIEVES IT WAS TORPEDO

mine if possible whether the Nebraskan was damaged by a mine or a torpedo. Pending the receipt of the constructor's report decision as to action of the American government will be deferred.

Arrives at Liverpool.

Liverpool, May 28.—The American steamer Nebraskan, which was disabled Tuesday night by an explosion off the coast of Ireland, arrived here shortly before midnight. The captain said:

"I saw no submarine, but am certain it was a torpedo which hit us.

"Moreover, a submarine could not have failed to see our name and nationality, which was outlined in huge letters on our sides."

The members of the crew of the Nebraskan were agreed that the explosion was undoubtedly caused by a torpedo.

The forward part of the ship is completely wrecked. Below her water line the bottom has been torn away, and standing beside the fore hatchway, one looked down at water which had risen almost to the coaming. The ship was saved from sinking by the strength of her No. 2 bulkhead, which had held back the flood and buoyed up the ship. Considerable damage was done to the deck and fittings. The steamer's derricks were blown away by the forces of the explosion.

Captain's Theory.

Capt. Greene of New York, captain of the Nebraskan, told this story of the damage to his ship:

"We left Liverpool Monday. The next night, forty-eight miles off Fastnet, at 8:24 o'clock, we were torpedoed. Only ten minutes before we had hauled down the American flag, but it was quite light, and the submarine must have seen the big white letters on our sides, which read, 'Nebraskan of New York.'

"I was below at the time. There was a terrible shock, which threw everybody aboard off his feet. Immediately afterwards came a tremendous explosion, which slightly injured two quartermasters and the boatswain, hurling the derricks thirty feet high, and blew up the hatches.

"The ship rapidly filled with water in the lower hold, and she commenced to settle. We thought the ship was lost, and got into our four lifeboats. Two armed British vessels came up in reply to our distress signals.

"As the vessel still floated, we returned aboard and made a more careful examination. We found the No. 2 bulkhead holding firm, and decided to remain aboard and try to bring the ship into Liverpool under her own steam, which we accomplished successfully."

Submarines In Vicinity.

Crookhaven, Ireland, via London, May 28.—Captains of Crookhaven schooners and fishing boats, who were in the vicinity of the American steamer Nebraskan when she was damaged by an explosion Tuesday evening, claim to have witnessed the torpedoing of three small fishing boats while they were shooting nets. Soon afterward, they say, they saw a steamer flying the American flag going west. Then they heard a loud report followed quickly by a second after which the steamer began blowing her whistle to summon help.

The fishermen say two patrolboats soon appeared and then they lost sight of the steamer.

Capt. McCoy of a schooner which arrived here last night reports that he twice sighted a submarine.

DISASTROUS FLOODS FEARED IN SOUTHWEST

dicate that the situation there is grave. The Grand river is out of its banks and a section of Pattonsburg is inundated. The village of Santa Rosa, near Pattonsburg, is entirely under water and has been abandoned. The Platte river at Platte City is more than a mile wide and it is reported that one person was drowned there early today.

Tracy, a town near Platte City, also is menaced and most of the inhabitants have sought higher places.

Muskotah, Kan., reported yesterday entirely surrounded by the flood waters of the Delaware and Little Grasshopper rivers, today was still in danger, but it was believed the inhabitants had all been removed to safety.

Water Receding.

At Springfield, Mo., the high water was reported to be receding.

Joseph Perry, 21 years old, was drowned near Platte City, Mo., when he and his father attempted to cross the swollen Platte river.

The local United States weather bureau announced that the crest of the Missouri river flood probably would reach here tomorrow, with the river at a stage of twenty-four feet. It was asserted that no fears need be entertained for the main residence or business sections of either Kansas City, Mo., or Kansas City, Kan.

Serious in Iowa.

Des Moines, Iowa, May 28.—Serious flood conditions along the Des Moines river and in Des Moines were threatened today as the result of unusually heavy rains yesterday and last night. In the low-lying sections of Des Moines the flood stage had been passed and the residents were leaving their homes.

A report from Fort Dodge said that the Des Moines river was overflowing its banks.

Worst Flood in Years.

Little Rock, Ark., May 28.—The worst flood in recent years is sweeping the Arkansas valley, according to all reports received today. Lowland farms are inundated; crops and farm buildings have been damaged seriously; railway service is maintained with difficulty in some places; the lives of many residents of the lowlands are imperiled and the crest is not yet in sight.

Danger Abates Somewhat.

Kansas City, Mo., May 28.—Although grave reports were received last night and early today from places in Kansas, Oklahoma and Western Missouri, fears of serious floods as the result of the continued rains had abated somewhat today.

The local United States weather observer today issued a report asserting that "all rivers and streams in this section are within their banks except at Kansas City and below." It pointed out that the crest of the high water in the Missouri river would be about twenty-four feet and it is expected to reach here tomorrow.

ANOTHER BRITISH BATTLESHIP SUNK

1895, carried four 12-inch, twelve 6-inch and sixteen 3-inch guns and twelve 3-pounder guns. In addition, the vessel was armed with five 18-inch torpedo tubes.

The sinking of the Majestic makes the fifth British battleship lost in the Dardanelles campaign, and the second by a hostile submarine, the Triumph having been sent to the bottom in the Gulf of Saros last Wednesday. The French also have lost one battleship in the Turkish campaign—the Bouvet.

Submarine Menace.

The submarine menace is growing both in the Aegean sea and in home waters and these vessels promise to take an active part in the operations in the narrow waters of the Adriatic where, as in the Aegean, numerous islands afford good shelter.

While the warships are able to escape them in the waters around the British Isles, with the increase in their numbers, the carrying on of sea-borne trade becomes more and more hazardous. The admiralty still believes the American steamer Nebraskan, now on her way to Liverpool, was torpedoed, and in addition, the British steamer Morwenna, bound from Canada, and the Danish steamer Betty have been sunk by submarines. Only a few days ago, the commander of a submarine informed a Danish captain that he had no orders to sink Danish vessels.

Mine-Layer Sunk By Explosion.

Sheerness, England, May 28.—Three hundred and twenty-eight persons lost their lives here yesterday when an explosion occurred on board the steamer Princess Irene, a mine laying vessel, which was lying in the Medway off Port Victoria, undergoing repairs.

In addition to her crew, which numbered 250, there were seventy-eight shipwrights on board the steamer when at 11:15 o'clock yesterday morning, a terrific explosion was heard from the ship, followed by a high burst of flame and a column of dense smoke.

When the smoke had cleared away, the steamer had completely disappeared. Only some floating wreckage marked the spot where she had been laying. Flying debris was scattered for great distances. Many men on ships in the vicinity of the Princess Irene were injured by debris and fragments of the wreckage were picked up as far away as Maidstone, fifteen miles distant from the scene of the explosion.

Only one body has thus far been picked up from the Irene.

dividuals, or the nation, whose standard of conduct conforms to the golden rule will on the average secure the largest pecuniary success.

"There has recently been manifested a disposition to blame the business men of the country for not openly and vigorously protesting against influences which were calculated to prevent the natural and reasonable progress of economic effort. Men of prominence and recognized ability have stated in unmeasured terms that it is not only the right but the duty of the business men of this country to boldly and persistently advocate their claims and defend their rights. They have been charged with undue timidity for neglecting to appeal to the sense and fairness of the general public whenever assailed without good cause.

Another Side to the Question.

"That there has been some ground for these criticisms will not be doubted; but there is another side to this question. The business man has not been alone in his seeming cowardice. There are others largely responsible for the general conditions, and therefore under obligations to work for the advancement of the public interest, who have been reluctant to express their real convictions. Reference is made to some of the statesmen of prominence and ability whose disposition for fair play is unquestioned. On occasions when their voices, if heard in legislative halls, would seem to have been influential, they have remained silent.

"In times gone by there have been reasons for the hesitancy of the business man in boldly proclaiming his rights. The conduct of business by many men (though small in number compared with the total) has not always been up to the standard of propriety. This is not a new subject; it has been frequently adverted to by many of us during the last ten years. As a consequence there has been considerable prejudice against business interests, particularly the larger ones; indeed, it has been worse than useless to speak in favor of the protection and growth of business, for the words would be ineffective. So it is not difficult to understand why, for a period of years, business men in this country suffered in silence.

A Change For the Better.

"There is no intention at this time to modify or minimize anything that has heretofore been said by way of admission that there was need of reform in business methods. On the contrary, the fact should be emphasized that we must be honest and fair in our treatment of all questions submitted to our consideration and decision. But as I have said before more than once, there has been in this country a decided change for better business methods and, therefore, in the attitude of the general public towards the men in control. There never was any such disregard of the rights of others by business men generally as was frequently charged. It has always been the effort of the large majority to be correct; but the suffered more or less for the misconduct of a few. However, in recent years there has been little cause for complaint; and the general public understands and appreciates these conditions.

"With the advantages possessed by this country, on account of its location, climate, natural resources and immense wealth, it is not too much to insist that it should have been continuously more prosperous financially, commercially and industrially than any other nation on the face of the globe. Capital should have been protected, labor constantly employed at liberal wages, business enterprise encouraged, extensions and improvements continued without interruption, the wealth and population should have increased more rapidly and as a result all the people would have been happier and more contented and more contented towards each other. Moreover, the standing and influence of this nation throughout the world would have been improved. It is difficult to realize at this time what might have been accomplished if all the opportunities for reasonable success had been grasped.

Unjustifiable Assaults.

"The opinion is ventured that lack of continuous business prosperity and success in this country for a number of years has, in part, been the direct result of undue, ill-considered or unjustifiable assaults which have been made by government agencies or by the erroneous and unwise policies of different branches or departments of government. The results have shown to a demonstration that business success has not been fostered or encouraged as it ought to have been; that the vast possibilities of the country for increase in wealth have not been fully utilized. On the contrary, instead of trying to bring about co-operation between the government and the people in a determined effort to better the conditions of all, there has been, in a substantial degree, an open hostility to business which has paralyzed many of its legitimate efforts. While, as heretofore admitted, there has been cause for complaint on the part of the government, it is believed that few, if any, cases have been found which could not have been satisfactorily and properly adjusted by personal and friendly, though persistent, efforts without any open or advertised hostility which was certain to lessen confidence and to unfavorably affect large numbers in no wise connected with the matter in question.

"It is not intended to be specific nor to do an injustice; but included in the terms used are speeches by men in office, investigations by various departments and bureaus of government, including subordinates and grand juries whose services were brought into action on special occasions by the department of justice, and committees appointed by congress and legislatures. You who are present will make application of what has been said to individual acts, so far as the facts may warrant. Whether or not it is justified, there has been a feeling on the part of a large portion of the people of the United States, and also those of foreign countries, that there has not been a well-defined and persistent policy on the part of the government to co-operate with and to promote the interests of the business man to the full extent reasonable; and, on the contrary, that the policy of some of the governmental agencies, both national and state, in their effect, at least, have been to interfere with, to delay and obstruct natural progress; to punish and destroy rather than to regulate and encourage.

Should Encourage Business Enterprise.

"The time seems to be opportune, first, to reiterate that the business men throughout the country must give no cause for complaint in the management of their affairs, but must continue to live up to the standards of propriety; and second, to insist that on those conditions the governments, with all their agencies and influences, shall co-operate with the business interests and aid them in establishing credit, in extending commerce, in increasing capacity, in the development of natural resources, in adding to the comfort of themselves and those with whom they may be connected and for whose welfare they are more or less responsible. If this shall be the recognized effort of the national and state governments, what can we not properly say of the value of our property, of our future prosperity, the position of our credits, the stability of good conditions and the standing of our nation? And this attitude on the part of governments we believe the people of this country are demanding and have a right to demand, and they will not be satisfied with less."

Referring to the European war and the necessity of the United States preparing for the conditions arising out of the return of peace, Judge Gary said:

"Probably all of us will agree that, up to the present time, the attitude of the president with respect to this question has been admirable. He has shown himself to be a true patriot and a wise statesman. In my opinion, the United States has not been called upon to do or to say anything with reference to the war or any of the participants which has not been said or done. Every duty devolving upon the United States has been performed. We may have sympathies or prejudices or notions concerning specific acts or expressions on the part of some or many of the foreign nations, but, in my judgment they have not required and do not require any act or expression on our part which has not been done or made. We have fulfilled every obligation imposed upon us by any or all treaties or agreements expressed or implied. When the questions which have been discussed and the final and logical conclusion shall have been reached in the light of all the evidence, including the full history of the transactions involved, I think it will be found the above statement is fully justified. It is to be hoped, and I think we may expect, that nothing will occur to disturb the international relations existing at the present time between the United States and each of the foreign nations.

Must Keep Neutral.

"It is unthinkable that we should become involved in war with any of the foreign countries at this time. We have no inclination, nor have we the ability, to engage in war. We can prepare, and we should prepare as rapidly as possible, so that if obliged to defend ourselves we cannot be overcome. Some of the belligerent nations are now suffering because their soldiers are not furnished with adequate equipment or supplies. They were not prepared at the beginning of hostilities, perhaps because war was not expected; but even so, they probably did not immediately after war was declared use the diligence required to supply their necessities as they now appear. We may learn by their misfortunes. But war should be the last resort. When the present combat shall have ceased we must be on a friendly footing with all the nations. If our financial and business conditions are such as we claim they may and ought to be, we may be profitable customers of each of the foreign nations, in supplying our necessities and comforts, and they in turn will patronize us. There will be, no doubt, vigorous competition and the foreign nations will do their utmost to secure and retain the trade of agricultural countries who are large importers of manufactured products. However, it is not active competition we fear, provided we are properly protected by our government. All we need and all we ask is an open field and a fair chance, on an equal basis, to compete with all nations for a reasonable share of the world's business. We extend to the people of all foreign countries the hand of business friendship, and we ask for their friendship in return. And we seek for similar reciprocal relations between the leading political forces of the United States and ourselves to the full extent that we deserve."

ITALIANS STEADILY PUSHING THEIR WAY THROUGH AUSTRIA

Carinthia. They have taken three of the lower mountain passes and fourteen villages.

Italian forces supported by gunboats on Lake Garda have captured several hills to the north of Mount Baldo. Their object is to flank the Austrian fortifications at the mouth of the Adige river, and also to advance on Mori. Two Austrian aeroplanes attempted to bombard the Italian gunboats on the lake, but they were driven off.

The new 75-millimeter Italian guns, said to be an improvement on the French model, are reported here to have been used with conspicuous success. At a point in Carinthia they are said to have silenced an Austrian battery served by Bavarians.

Another incident of the fighting in the high mountains is the case of an Italian lieutenant who, with eighty-five men, in a passage of the Agno valley held at bay for one hour a company and a half of Bavarians, armed with Maxims. Italian artillery finally arrived and scattered the Bavarians. The lieutenant, however, had been killed. Other dispatches reaching Geneva set forth that the Italians are bringing up heavier guns and are attacking the Austrians forts along the Tyrolese frontier.

The Italians have captured Col Tonale near Mon Falcone, which is being bombarded. They continue their advance in the Isonzo valley. Most of the fighting now is on Austrian territory. The Austrians are described as mounting more guns in the Alpine passes facing Valteline.

Another dispatch reaching here says that large forces of Austrians and Germans are assembling in the vicinity of Bozen, about thirty miles north of Trent, where they will be formed into the Twelfth army corps.

AUSTRO-GERMAN ADVANCE CHECKED

tionably of great strategic importance at the present time and even the British press concedes that the position of Przemysl is serious. It is described as the key to the whole Russian position in Galicia and its fall will mean that the railroad running eastward to Lemberg, the main artery of the Russian supplies in this region, will fall into Austrian hands. Reports that this railroad line already has been severed are still without confirmation today.

Fighting along the Austro-Italian frontier still is in the development stage. There is virtually no change on the western battle front and the British and the French admit that the Turks are so strongly entrenched on the Gallipoli peninsula that only siege warfare can be waged there.

German Statement.

Berlin, May 28, via London, 3:30 p. m.—A reverse at the hands of the Russians in the fighting along the River San, in central Galicia, is announced in today's statement from the war office. It is said the Germans in the region of Sieniawa, on the left bank of the river, were forced back and lost six cannons. The German positions, according to this announcement, were not defended by strong forces.

The text of the statement follows:

"In the western theater: Fourteen officers and 1,450 Frenchmen were taken prisoners and six machine guns were captured since the 9th of May. These belonged to the French army corps operating at a vital point where attempts were made by the enemy to break through our lines northeast of the Lorette ridge. Southeast of Lorette ridge the French renewed attacks on parts of our line last night, but were repulsed.

"At Ablain a battle is raging.

"The enemy also attacked in the forest of Le Pretre last night. After prolonged artillery preparation and bitter hand-to-hand fighting the engagement ended in a severe defeat for the French.

"In the Vosges mountains the enemy succeeded in establishing himself in a small trench forming part of our position to the southwest of Metzeral.

"A French attack at Reichsackerkopf, north of Muehlbach, easily was repulsed.

"Eighteen French aviators yesterday attacked the open town of Ludwigshafen (Bavaria). Several civilians were killed or wounded by bombs. The material damage done by the raiders was slight. The leading armored aeroplane was forced to land at a point west of Neustadt and afterwards the commander of the squadron of aircraft also fell into our hands in the neighborhood of Nancy. Our aeroplanes caused a separate aeroplane to fall at Brunstatt and they set fire to the hangars at Gerardmer (eighteen miles south of St. Die).

"Eastern theater: On the Dubysa our troops again commenced the offensive. An attack conducted on both sides of the Bigh road between Rossiany and Erigola was crowned with good result. We captured 3,120 Russians. On the remainder of the front Russian night attacks were repulsed at several points.

"In the southeastern theater: To stop the advance of the Teutonic allies the enemy tried with fresh forces brought forward from other war theaters to attack at several points on the right bank of the River San. These attempts failed. Only in the region of Sieniawa were weak divisions forced back on the left bank of the San. On this occasion about six of our cannon could not be withdrawn in good time.

"In the district northeast of Przemysl we are still progressing favorably on both sides of the River Wyszynia. In addition to the booty reported May 25, about 9,000 additional prisoners have been taken and 25 cannon and about 20 machine guns have been captured."

French Statement.

Paris, May 28, 2:35 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon issued the following statement on the progress of hostilities:

The counter-attacks of the enemy against the positions taken by us near Angres continued last night but were repulsed.

"At Ablain-St. Nazaire, our troops yesterday followed up their offensive movement with distinct success. Masters of the cemetery, they took possession early in the night of all the group of houses nearby, but especially of the parsonage, which had been strongly protected by the enemy. Subsequently they took by assault the German trenches along the road which runs from Ablain-St. Nazaire to Moulon-Malon, to the southeast.

"Here they were subjected to a violent counter-attack during the night but they held all the ground in their possession and inflicted heavy losses on the enemy. At the break of day they moved out in an easterly direction and took possession, in the direction of Souchez, of an important German work, called the Fort Des Quatre Boqueteaux. Here the fighting was very spirited, and the enemy suffered a serious check. The number of prisoners reported yesterday is considerably over 200 and includes seven officers. We captured in addition about twelve machine guns. This morning at the taking of the fort we made some more prisoners. The exact number has not yet been reported. We also captured some war material.

"The bombardment reported yesterday by the Germans from Ecurie and Roclincourt continued all night long, but it was not followed up by an infantry attack.

"In the environs of the Forest of Le Pretre we delivered an attack yesterday evening which resulted in our gaining ground. At the same time we took about sixty prisoners, including several officers.

"There has been nothing new on the remainder of the front."

RUSS OCCUPY PERSIAN CITY

Force Their Way Into Urumiah After Fight With Turks.

News That City Has Been Opened Pleases Presbyterians.

Petrograd, via London, May 28.—Urumiah, Persia, has been occupied by the Russians after an engagement with the Turks in the direction of Dilman and near Bachkala, according to a statement issued by the general staff of the army of the Caucasus.

Presbyterians Pleased.

New York, May 28.—Officials of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions welcomed the news today that the way to Urumiah had at last been opened. The city has been beleaguered since Jan. 2, last, according to their reports, and during that time no foreigner has been able to reach it.

For more than three months persistent and continued efforts have been made on behalf of the board to send succor to the Christians at Urumiah. Expeditions from Dilman, it was said, have repeatedly endeavored without success to penetrate through the Kurd-infested section lying between that city and Urumiah. Two messengers, natives, dispatched from Urumiah by Presbyterian missionaries, have reached the outside world with stories of tremendous hardships sustained by the population there.

Send World Aid.

These messengers were sent back over their perilous road to convey to the beleaguered missionaries the tidings that everything possible was being done to aid them. Whether they succeeded in reaching the city was unknown to officials of the board today. Representations have been made in several instances, it was said, to the state department at Washington by individuals of the board calling attention to the plight of the Christians at Urumiah and Ambassador Morgenthau at Constantinople, the board was advised, has received Turkish assurances that the Christians would be protected.

Now that Urumiah has fallen into the hands of Russians, relief will be possible by expeditions sent from the north through the Russian lines. Such relief would be transmitted as speedily as plans could be perfected for doing so, officials of the board stated today.

ATLANTIC LINER IS ASHORE; ALL SAVED

La Champagne Badly Damaged Near St. Nazaire; 900 Taken Off.

Nantes, France, May 28.—The steamer La Champagne of the French trans-Atlantic line is ashore near St. Nazaire.

She is badly damaged. The 900 persons on board have been taken off.

La Champagne was engaged in trans-Atlantic trade between Central and South American ports and France. She was last reported as having sailed from Colon on May 7.

The steamer was built in St. Nazaire in 1886. Her net tonnage is 3,068. She is 493 feet long and 52 feet beam.

A plot to blow up La Champagne was reported last February in a dispatch from Madrid to a Paris newspaper. According to this dispatch, officers of the vessel stated, on her arrival at Coruna, Spain, from Mexico, that the plot had been frustrated by a wireless message. This message was said to have conveyed the information that a man on board, believed to be a German, intended to destroy the vessel. The man was arrested, and, the dispatch said, five dynamite bombs were found in his trunk.

Not Torpedoed.

Paris, May 28.—Officials of the French line here say that all the passengers on La Champagne have been landed at St. Nazaire, and that there is no need of anxiety as to the safety of the vessel. They state she was not torpedoed.

STATE LOSES IN LIME CREAM CASE

St. Cloud, Minn., May 28.—The North American Storage company of Paynesville, charged with a violation of the law prohibiting the use of lime in cream, was found not guilty in district court. The state was unable to connect the lime that was found in the cream with the employes of the company.

Duffy's Is Good for Run-Down People

MRS. MARY CARMODY

As a tonic for run down people, Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is reliable. This lady gained strength and weight by using Duffy's as directed.

She wrote as follows:

"About a year ago I was down with a very heavy cold and I had a bad pain under my shoulder blades. I was under the care of different doctors but did not improve. I was so weak I could hardly stand, and I could not keep anything on my stomach. A druggist near where I lived advised taking a tablespoonful of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey with an egg in milk before meals, and after following his advice I found that I could eat; I overcame my weakness, and gradually gained in weight. I believe that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey as a tonic for run down people is a great thing, and I recommend it to my many friends in Brooklyn and New York. I cannot praise Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey too much." —Mrs. Mary Carmody, 116 N. Elliott Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

taken just before mealtime stimulates the mucous surfaces and little glands of the stomach to healthy action, improving the digestion and assimilation of the food and giving to the system its full proportion of nourishment. This action upon the digestive process is of great importance, as it brings to all the tissues and organs of the body the nutriment necessary to their sustenance and indirectly to the whole system strength and vigor. It is prescribed by doctors and is recognized as a family medicine everywhere.

ABSOLUTELY PURE & UNADULTERATED TRADE MARK

To Absorb Freckles and Other Blemishes

Every spring numerous inquiries are made by girls seeking some reliable recipe for removing freckles. Last year very favorable reports were received from many who had used mercolized wax during the freckling season. The wax seems to possess unusual properties which completely absorb the freckles, with no harmful effect. The complexion improves wonderfully, becoming as soft as a rose petal, and as delicately tinted. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any druggist's, spread a thin layer of it over the entire face every night for awhile, washing this off in the morning. For rough, spotty skin, sallowness, blackheads, pimples, and all cutaneous blemishes, this treatment is superior to any other.

Springtime also brings wrinkles to many sensitive skins that are much exposed to winds and changing temperatures. To a half pint witch hazel add an ounce of powdered saxolite, which quickly dissolves. Bathe the face in this; the effect on a wrinkled skin is remarkable.

HEAVY FIRE LOSS IN SAMPLE ROOMS

About $2,000 Damages Sustained From Blaze in Mesaba Block.

A considerable loss was sustained by the Twin Ports Clothing company, 405-407 West Superior street, directly below the Tonskemper sample rooms. After the fire had burned through the floor the salvage corps was unable to prevent damage by water and smoke. M. Cook, manager of the Twin Ports company, was unable to make an estimate of the probable loss this morning.

TO ADJUST FIRE LOSS.

Insurance adjusters are expected to arrive in Duluth this evening to commence work in adjusting the loss sustained by the Twin Ports Clothing company in the fire that did considerable damage to the Mesaba block late Monday evening. While the fire was confined to the second floor, the salvage corps was forced to batter down the door leading into the Twin Ports store on Superior street, and their stock suffered considerably from the heavy smoke and water that emanated from the floor above.

ITALIANS ORGANIZE

Federation Will Be Formed By Lodges and Other Organizations.

State Convention Will Be Held on Mesaba Range in August.

Italian lodges and organizations in the state are to be organized into a federation, following a decision made at a recent meeting of the Christopher Columbus society of Duluth and the ranges. Attilio Castigliano, Italian consular agent for the Head of the Lakes district, will superintend the formation of the body.

Letters will be sent to the president of each of more than twenty Italian organizations in Minnesota, asking that delegates be sent to a convention which will be held during August on the Mesaba range.

"The twenty or twenty-five Italian organizations in this state have a combined membership of several thousand," said Mr. Castigliano today, "and a federation of these societies naturally will serve to direct the interests of Minnesota Italians in an effective way.

"It is my belief that all organizations will be glad of an opportunity to join an organization of this kind, and we expect to accomplish a great deal more when the federation is complete.

"Other organizations, based on similar principles, have been formed in other states," he stated, "and they have done a splendid work along the line of inspiring in members the spirit of the coming American citizens."

Queen or Dairy Maid Ambition the Same

In the expectant mother's mind there is no limit to what the future has in store and yet during the period of expectancy, much depends upon the physical comfort of the mother. One of the best aids is a remedy known as "Mother's Friend." Applied over the muscles, it penetrates to the net work of nerves, relieves the pains incident to stretching of cords and ligaments, makes them pliant, induces daily comfort, restful nights, a calm mind and pleasant anticipation. You use it with your own hand, apply it as needed, and at once feel a sense of relief.

Mothers who have learned all this from experience tell of the blessed relief from morning sickness, the absence of strain and the undoubted healthful influence imparted to the coming baby.

Get a bottle of this splendid help today. Phone your nearest druggist or send for it. Then write Bradfield Regulator Co., 404 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a valuable book of instruction for expectant mothers.

CROWDS SEE PUPILS' WORK

Handicraft Exhibit Shows the Skill of School Children.

Several hundred persons, parents and friends of pupils at the Salter, Endion and Jefferson schools, visited the manual training, sewing and cooking exhibit at the Salter school last evening.

To Jack Kenney, an eighth-grade student at the Salter school, was awarded first prize in the wood work contest of the annual exposition. Second honors went to John Hoxie of the Endion school eighth grade, while William Hoskins of the Jefferson eighth grade was awarded third place. The first prize was a jackplane saw, the second a crosscut saw and the third a beveled hammer.

Edward F. Geiger, director of manual training in city schools, will make the awards at the Salter school tonight, the last night of the exhibit.

Furniture adaptable to any home, and enough to completely equip a residence, was displayed last night as the work of the various pupils. Tables, foot-stools, desks, hall trees and cabinets were shown in the exhibit, under the direction of Frank J. Gottwald.

Work of the cooking classes of seventh grades in the same schools is an interesting feature of the exposition. Cakes, vegetable dishes, cookies, doughnuts and other dainties are on display. This exhibit is in charge of Miss Mildred Works.

Sewing classes also have an interesting exhibit, many mothers being surprised at the work of their daughters. This division of the exposition is in charge of Miss Lucretia J. Belting. In addition to the manual training, cooking and sewing, the art classes of the three schools have a large exhibit.

ROOSEVELT FALLS AND BREAKS RIB

Colonel Has Accident While Attempting to Mount Horse.

New York, May 28.—It became known yesterday that Col. Theodore Roosevelt met with an accident on Monday last, at his home at Sagamore hill when, as he was trying to mount a horse, he fell and broke a rib. The discovery of the broken bone was made by the colonel's physician, summoned when the twinges the colonel felt afterward convinced him that something more than a wrench was the trouble. The colonel was immediately bandaged tightly about the body and except for the inconvenience and trifling pain, the accident has caused him no trouble. The only interference with his activities has been with his daily horseback ride.

Col. Roosevelt met with the accident as he was about to throw his leg over the saddle of his favorite mount. His foot slipped and he came down heavily on his side.

EXTENSION COURSE IN ACCOUNTING

Local Office Men Will Continue Work Started By State "U."

There will be an extension course in accounting for Duluthians this year, according to an announcement made yesterday by George Gross, chairman of the educational committee of the Duluth Association of Office Men.

Because of the fact that the last legislature made no appropriations for extension courses, the state university planned to discontinue the work in Duluth. Local office men requested that a course in accounting be continued and promised to obtain a class of twenty-five students for the opening of the school work next fall.

Officials at the state university agreed to this plan and now that a class of twenty-five is assured, the course will open as usual next September.

The education committee of the office men's association consists of Mr. Gross, William Haig, Thomas Lee, Jr., J. W. Hanson and S. S. Tischer.

INCREASED TAXES LEVIED BY NORWAY

Expense of Maintaining Neutrality Exhausted the Available Surplus.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Christiania, May 3.—At the beginning of the war the finances of the Norwegian government were in the best condition for many years, but the sudden drop in receipts from import duties and the extraordinary expense of maintaining sufficient army to protect neutrality soon exhausted available surplus and forced the enactment of war measures to meet a prospective deficit. Although incomes in Norway were already paying a tax of about 10 per cent annually, an increase was made in the rate on incomes over $1,500. Additional property taxes were also fixed.

Today the government also put into effect a war tax amounting to from 15 to 20 per cent of the value upon cigars, cigarettes and snuff. So far no tax has been fixed for smoking and chewing tobacco. Such a heavy war tax has been fixed on matches that their price will be doubled. Government officials estimate the yearly revenue from the tobacco tax will aggregate $400,000, while it is expected the income from the match tax will be $250,000. As the import duty on tobacco is heavy, tobacco dealers predict the trade will not carry the additional burden and anticipate a decided decrease in trade.

President Adams Offers $5.00 for His Wife's Beer

John Adams, 2nd President of the United States, was the progenitor of admittedly the most distinguished family in America. In a direct line from him came a President of the United States, a famous lawyer, a famous statesman, a famous writer, a successful artist and numerous other individuals of his lineage who achieved renown.

In a letter dated May 22, 1777, to his wife Abigail Adams, complimenting her on her skill as a brewer of fine lager beer, President Adams wrote: "I would give $5 for a gallon of your beer."

Note:—Professor Atwater is his "History of New Haven Colony" says: "A brew house was regarded as an essential part of a homestead, and beer was on the table as regularly as bread." That beer is a wholesome food is testified by the fact that every American athletic record is held by men whose diet includes beer.

Born in Quincy, Mass., 1735. Graduate of Harvard College, Member of Bar, Commissioner to France, Minister Plenipotentiary to Great Britian, Vice President under Washington, President of U. S. Died 1826

FITGER'S KIESELGUHR FILTER AN INNOVATION IN BREWING

Heretofore all bottled beer was pasteurized, it being the only method known that would "keep" bottled beer. But while pasteurization keeps beer, unhappily it also robs it of that delightful flavor and aroma which distinguishes fresh beer drawn from the wood.

Fitger's Natural Beer, filtered by the Kieselguhr filter,* the first of its kind in America, gives you what is seemingly a contradiction, a natural draught beer in bottles. The Fitger Kieselguhr filtration preserves the full natural character, taste and aroma of the natural beer, as drawn fresh from the wood, and adds a clear and sparkling brilliancy which Kieselguhr unfiltered beer cannot possess.

MANY JITNEYS WILL DROP OUT

New Ordinance Expected to Eliminate Half of Those Running.

Added Expense and Wear on Cars Will Narrow Down Field.

At least half of the jitneys now operating on Duluth streets, it is believed, will drop out when the new ordinance goes into effect on June 19, according to reports received at the city hall.

Many of the drivers declare that they are unable to pay from $100 to $150 as an insurance premium and that they will operate their cars up to the day the ordinance goes into effect. Officials at the city hall are of the opinion that the present total of 100 jitneys will drop down to about fifty within the next four weeks.

In addition many jitney drivers report that their cars are beginning to show the hard wear from continuous operation on the streets, and this, too, is given as a reason for the reduction in numbers in the near future. One driver recently turned in a jitney permit, because his car was losing in depreciation more than he could earn.

The jitney ordinance was passed on May 17 and will go into effect four weeks from tomorrow morning, when all jitneurs must have a regular license, which will be granted only to those who have taken out liability insurance and who have received a favorable report from Commissioner Silberstein of the safety division.

Duluth business men have asked the commissioner either to amend the ordinance or make a provision that will compel each driver to obtain liability insurance covering collisions and damages to public and private property. He plans to take this up with each driver when he makes a formal request for a license.

Up to the present time but one driver has filed his insurance policy with Commissioner Silberstein.

MARQUETTE COUNTY HAS FARM BUREAU

Marquette, Mich., May 28.—By the organization of the Marquette County Farm bureau, which will have charge of the activities of the expert, the supervisors took the final step necessary to introduce the farm agent plan in Marquette county. The plan of organization, which makes the county board the advisory body of the bureau, is unique, according to Dean R. S. Shaw of the Michigan Agricultural college, who addressed the supervisors briefly on its merits. The officers of the bureau are: President, D. W. Powell, Marquette; vice president, F. E. Keese, Ishpeming; secretary and treasurer, Frank G. Jenks, Marquette.

Accused of Arson.

Winona, Minn., May 28.—B. F. Wolff, a leading dairyman and feed dealer of Preston, has just been indicted by the Fillmore county grand jury on two counts charging third degree arson. He set fire to his barn and feed mill, it is alleged. He has pleaded not guilty, and will be tried at once.

REAR LIGHTS AT LAST.

Street Flushers Equipped With Lamps After Years' Effort.

It took Secretary Mullin of the Duluth Auto club more than two years to have red lights placed in the rear of the street flushers.

Last night the flushers appeared on the street with the red danger lights, and this morning Mr. Mullin came down to the city hall profuse with thanks and expressions of gratitude.

"I tried for the last two years to get those lights," said Mr. Mullin, "but never succeeded. It took Commissioner Farrell just a few days to comply with my request, which was nothing more than reasonable."

MAY SECURE FINAL POSSESSION OF FLAGS

Merritt and Jackson Schools Eager to Win Memorial Prizes.

If the Merritt and Jackson schools win the flags for presenting the best appearance in the Memorial day parade next Monday morning, they will come into permanent possession of the banners.

These flags were first presented in 1913 and they have been won twice by the Jackson and Merritt schools, and according to the original regulation, a school comes into premanent possession of the banner after winning it for three successive years.

One flag is awarded to the best appearing school west of the Point of Rocks and another to the one making the best appearance of the schools east of the rocks.

The flags will be awarded to the winners at the Central high school exercises following the parade Monday. Judge W. H. Smallwood will make the awards.

NO TYPHOID PATIENT LEFT HERE BY SHIP

There were no typhoid fever victims dropped off at Duluth by the steamer Kirby before she started for the downlake trip, according to Health Director Fahey.

Reports from Houghton, Mich., state that the steamer Kirby dropped five of its crew at points on the Great Lakes and that all these suffered from typhoid fever, one of the men having died at Ashtabula, Ohio, last week. In addition, Duluth is named as one of the points where a fever victim was left, but Dr. Fahey denies this.

The dispatch from Houghton follows:

"Houghton, Mich., May 28.—Quarantine officers yesterday detained the steamer Kirby, after removing from the vessel a member of the crew suffering from typhoid fever. Two weeks ago, one of the crew afflicted with the disease was left here on the steamer's eastbound trip. Thereafter one case of typhoid was left at Duluth, one at Ashtabula, which case proved fatal; one at Sault Ste. Marie, and the fifth case on the return trip of the boat here yesterday."

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., May 28.—The following decisions were rendered today by the Minnesota supreme court:

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.
Judgment Modified.

State of Minnesota ex rel; Duluth Diamond Drilling company, relator, vs. District Court of St. Louis county, respondent—

1. Hearings under the Workmen's Compensation Act are to be held at the time and place fixed by the judge, regardless of the time and place of holding the regular terms of court.

2. Where the employer has actual knowledge of the happening of the accident and of the resulting injury, the giving of notice thereof is not necessary.

3. The court has jurisdiction of all proceedings arising under the act, and the making of a demand upon the employer for compensation is not a condition precedent to the power of the court to entertain such proceedings.

4. The finding that the claimant was totally disabled at the time of the hearing is not sustained by the evidence.

5. The allowance of attorney's fees is not authorized by the act, but the court may allow statutory costs although designated in the order as attorney's fees.

Judgment modified.

TAYLOR, C.

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

Austin J. Meagher, respondent, vs. Joseph G. Fogarty, appellant—

1. A partnership is a contractual relation, in which two or more persons, as principals, for the purpose of joint profit, combine in some enterprise their capital, labor and skill, or some one or more of these things. Each may contribute only labor or skill. An agreement of land brokers to "go into business together" and divide profits and losses, followed by transaction of joint business, constitutes the formation of a partnership. The evidence in this case is sufficient to sustain a finding that plaintiff and defendant formed such a partnership.

2. The evidence is also sufficient to sustain, a finding that they made a partnership settlement by which defendant agreed to pay plaintiff $1,250.

3. The fact that evidence was improperly rejected when first offered is not reversible error if the evidence was later received.

4. The reception of evidence which is merely a repetition of evidence previously received without objection, cannot constitute reversible error.

5. An instruction to the jury that they should rely on their own recollection and belief in preference to those of the attorneys in the case is a proper instruction.

Order affirmed.

HALLAM, J.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Judgment Affirmed.

State of Minnesota, ex rel, the Minnesota Loan & Trust company, etc., relator, vs. probate court of Hennepin county, et al, respondents—

1. Under the provisions of general statutes 1913, pages 7237, 7238, 7239, 7243, the surviving spouse who has consented to her husband's will, and codicils added thereto, cannot arbitrarily withdraw her consent and elect to take under the statute instead of under the will.

2. Where the husband procures his wife to consent in writing to his will and to codicils added thereto there is cast upon him the affirmative duty of making a fair disclosure of his property so that she may have knowledge of the effect of the will upon her rights and intelligently determine whether she will consent; and if such disclosure is not made, the surviving wife not being guilty of inches, and not being precluded from doing so by contract or estoppel, may after his death rescind her consent and elect to take under the statute.

3. Upon the record before us a case was presented permitting the wife to rescind her consent and renounce the will and elect to take under the statute.

Judgment affirmed. DIBELL, C.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Free From Error.

Joseph Tyrn, etc., respondent, vs. Robert J. Cheney, etc., appellant—

Where an oral estimate or bid upon work is given, to be followed by a written bid, and a mistake in the price is made in the latter, the one to whom the bid is offered cannot by an acceptance make a contract if he knows of the mistake and the bidder's ignorance of its occurrence.

In such case the bidder, having performed the work in ignorance of the mistake, may recover the reasonable value, upon proof that the other party, cognizant of the mistake, nevertheless, in bad faith, directed the work to be done when he knew that the bidder believed the written bid conformed in price to the oral bid previously given.

The record examined and found free from prejudicial error.

Order affirmed. HOLT, J.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

John J. Daily, as administrator, respondent, vs. St. Anthony Falls Water Power company, appellant—

1. The complaint and evidence examined and held to disclose, in point of substance, a right of action for the negligent failure of defendant to warn and instruct plaintiff's intestate, an inexperienced servant, of the dangers incident to his work which were known to defendant and not known to his servant.

2. Where the pleadings and evidence in a cause show a substantial right of action, judgment notwithstanding the verdict will not be granted for defects in the evidence, when it appears from the record that such defects may be supplied on another trial. Cruikshank vs. Insurance company, 75 Minn. 266, followed and applied.

3. Held, further, following Koski vs. Railway company, 116 Minn. 127, that where the trial court submits a case to the jury on a ground of negligence which does not show liability, but the pleadings and evidence make a case on grounds not submitted, a new trial, and not judgment notwithstanding the verdict, is the proper remedy.

Judgment affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Evidence Sufficient.

Dottie Pierce, appellant, vs. Rudolph Babler, et al., respondents—

Evidence held sufficient to sustain a finding that the defendant Joslyn was an innocent purchaser of certain land obtained by the defendant Babler of the plaintiff by fraud.

Order affirmed. DIBELL, C.

RAMSEY COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

Irene Mitton, as administratrix, respondent, vs. Cargill Elevator company, appellant—

A certain declaration held, on the facts stated in the opinion, admissible as being a part of the "res gestae." The evidence justified the jury in finding that the superintendent of defendant requested plaintiff's intestate to turn off the engine in the engine room of the elevator of defendant.

In making this request defendant's superintendent, on the evidence, acted for defendant, and not for himself personally, and in obeying the request plaintiff's intestate was performing a service for defendant. The decision on the former appeal to this effect, and holding that defendant owed plaintiff's intestate the duty to use ordinary care in relation to guarding the stairway and machinery, adhered to.

The evidence justified the jury in finding defendant negligent, in finding that the death of plaintiff's intestate was caused by the negligence of defendant, and in finding that plaintiff's intestate did not assume the risk and was not guilty of contributory negligence.

There was no error in refusing requests for instructions, or in the instructions as given.

Order affirmed. BUNN, J.

RAMSEY COUNTY.
Evidence Insufficient.

Andrea Russo, respondent, vs. Joseph Alberto, et al, defendant, Joseph Alberto, appellant—

Evidence examined and held insufficient to sustain the finding of the trial court that there was a sale of merchandise by the plaintiff to the defendant.

Order reversed. DIBELL, C.

LAC QUI PARLE COUNTY.
Order Affirmed.

1. The parties to a written contract for the construction of a dam discovered that the dam contracted for would not span the river, being twenty feet too short. As the result of a meeting of plaintiffs and defendant's city council, the dam was constructed so as to span the river. The issue as to whether the contract was changed and modified or abrogated was properly submitted to the jury.

2. Defendant's home rule charter providing that, "Whenever it is proposed or determined by the city council to contract for the purchase of any commodities or any services to be performed, the estimated cost of which shall exceed the sum of three hundred dollars, the council shall advertise for proposals or bids to furnish such commodities or perform such services. * * *" held not to forbid the making of changes or alterations in the plans of a valid written contract for the construction of a public work, when the right to make such changes or alterations is reserved in the contract itself.

3. Where a valid written contract provided that no claim for extra labor or material should be allowed unless ordered in writing by the city, and also provided that the city should have the right to make alterations in extent, dimensions, form of plans or location of the work, these provisions are independent, so that where changes or alterations are made, necessitating an increase in expense, the contractors are entitled to recover the value of the necessary labor and material, even though no written order therefor has been given.

4. Certain assignments of error relating to the admission of testimony and the charge of the court examined and held that, if any error was committed, defendant was not prejudiced thereby.

5. Record examined and the evidence held sufficient to sustain the verdict.

Order affirmed. SCHALLER, J.

CROW WING COUNTY.
Judgment Affirmed.

North Star Land company, appellant, vs. Charles M. Taylor, respondent—

In 1868 F. owned the land in controversy. In 1872 W. became the owner; and while such he, purporting to act as attorney in fact for F., the former owner, executed and delivered a warranty deed to a purchaser for the recited consideration of $100. Defendant succeeded to the rights of the purchaser, took possession of the land in 1903, and has ever since remained in possession and improved the same. It does not appear that W's. title was of record when he executed the deed as attorney in fact for F., nor is the existence of any power of attorney shown. In 1905 the heirs of W. quit claimed to plaintiff. In this action to determine adverse claims, it is held that plaintiff, claiming under W., stands in his shoes and is estopped from asserting title as against defendant to whose remote grantor W. executed and delivered, as attorney in fact, an authorized and inoperative conveyance.

Judgment affirmed. HOLT, J.

CENTER FOR SHIPPING

Duluth Recognized in East; Butter and Egg Output Greater.

Good Supply of Fruits and Produce on Local Market.

That Duluth is becoming more fully recognized in the East as a shipping point for butter and eggs is attested in the increased shipments made so far this season on the package freight steamers plying between here and Buffalo.

It is intimated by the Bridgeman-Russell company, Victor Produce company and other local interests in the trade that the inquiry on this market for butter and eggs from the large produce operators in the East has broadened materially this spring. Producers in this territory are thus being enabled to realize much higher prices than would have been the case had not Duluth won out in its fight for refrigerator facilities on the freight boats. Hopes are now entertained that the boat lines will soon find it necessary to increase the number of carriers equipped for the service.

Good Sale of Butter.

A good demand for butter from the East is now being met with by dealers here and its market is firm. Quotations in creamery are unchanged at 28 @30 cents a pound and it is thought probable that butter will be taken into storage next month at around that basis. In view of the heavy demand, no material decline is expected during the next two or three weeks at least, though the make is increasing.

While eggs are unchanged at 19@ 21 cents a dozen, the market in them is slightly easier. With the storage season now nearly over, a moderate decline is thought to be on the cards. Consumption is heavy and Eastern call is reported exceptionally good.

Strawberries More Abundant.

As the season advances the range in fruits and greenstuffs is improving, and prices are gradually working cheaper.

Strawberries are the feature in fruits today, according to the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company and the Stacy-Merrill Fruit company. Berries are now coming to hand from Missouri and their quality is better than the earlier offerings from Tennessee. Quotations are up slightly, due to the good demand.

The first car of Mediterranean sweets and Valencia oranges was received in Duluth yesterday. They are firm and well colored, and are being offered at lower prices than those prevailing for navels in which supplies will be about cleaned up next week. The lemon market is firm with a slight advance looked for. Bananas are declining on account of increasing South American importations. Ben Davis box apples are still selling freely, and supplies of them are exceptionally large for this late in the season.

Vegetables Cheaper.

Green vegetables are plentiful and prices are coming down, with better receipts of home-grown stuff. Texas tomatoes will be on the market next week and dealers say that a considerable decline in their prices may be looked for. Texas onions and Mississippi cabbage are to be had at lower quotations. Missouri cauliflower is one of the dainties in the vegetable line on the market today.

Minnesota potatoes are quoted at 60 cents a bushel, and higher prices are expected till new tubers make their appearance. A smaller acreage is reported to have been grown to potatoes in the South this season, so that a higher range in them than a year ago is forecasted.

Lamb and Mutton Up.

In meats, lamb and mutton have advanced 2@3 cents a pound, with supplies reported light. The market is also strong in beef, veal and pork, but no advances have been made in their figures.

Receipts of live poultry are limited and the coops coming in are being promptly snapped up. Quotations through the list are unchanged from a week ago.

MAYO PROPOSAL MEETS APPROVAL

Attitude of Board of Regents Expressed in Committee Report.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 28.—Approved by the executive committee of the university board of regents, the now complete text of the new proposal for an affiliation of the $1,500,000 Mayo Foundation for Medical Education and Research at Rochester with the graduate school of the university has been made public.

The proposal has the official approval of a committee made up of every regent on the board except Dr. William J. Mayo, one of the donors of the foundation money, who is not a member of the committee. It will be discussed at a public hearing called by the regents for June 6, but the attitude of the board is expressed in the report and the Mayo affiliation for a temporary period of six years is a certainty unless unexpected obstacles arise.

Terms of Proposal.

The proposal as it now stands provides for the establishment at Rochester by the regents of graduate work in medicine, places the regents in complete control of such work, provides that the $1,500,000 fund with interest for the six years temporary period shall become the absolute property of the university when a permanent relation is made and stimulates that "a part" of the income shall be spent at Rochester, but that all the money need not be spent there.

In its report the executive committee discusses the problem of graduate work in detail and announces that under the new arrangement the university will be enabled to undertake something entirely new in graduate medical education—the training of medical specialists on a systematic basis in work leading to degrees in various specialties.

SEARCH CONTINUES.

Queenstown, May 28.—Although the search for bodies of victims of the Lusitania disaster is being continued, the prospect of recovering any more of them is becoming very slight. The steam trawler Cygnet, returning here yesterday from a trip that extended to Fastnet, reports that she found no bodies.

Passing over the scene of the disaster, the crew of the Cygnet dropped on the sea a quantity of beautiful flowers which had been donated for the purpose by Lord and Lady Barrymore.

TRAINING SOLDIERS WHO HAVE LOST ARMS

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, May 15.—Soldiers in hospitals of the Somme, who have lost an arm, are being trained in the use of the remaining member by Leon Coblence of Abbeville, who, during thirty-five years' experience, has developed a marvelous dexterity with one arm. Monsieur Coblence lost his arm in a railroad accident. Little by little he became able to dress himself, make his toilet, lace his shoes, tie his cravat, peel fruit, do his own gardening and trim his own finger nails. He swims, rides a bicycle, plays the piano and has a license as a conductor of a motor car. Now he is spending his time in the hospitals wherever there are convalescents lacking an arm, showing them how they can get along in life nearly as well as if they had two.

COLLEGE YOUTHS REVIVE MUSTACHES, BUT TRIMMED IN CHAPLIN STYLE

Are you wearing your Charlie Chaplin mustache this morning?

The famous mustache—popularized these many months on the movie screen—has invaded Duluth. It is here in full bloom.

It—the mustache—has arrived in the person, or rather, on the person of Samuel Gomberg of 1912 Greyslon road, who arrived in the city yesterday for a short visit with his parents. Right there in the middle of his face is that little stubby growth.

According to the wearer, it is almost impossible to turn around in any of the college towns without seeing a score or two of little fuzzy growths with tall men, short men, fat men, thin men, old men and young men, walking behind them, or rather, very much attached to them.

A few years ago college men started the mustache craze and now it is being revived again, but only in the shape of the fuzzy little growth that the famous movie star always wears. The Chaplin walk has also come in for attention of imitators and no dancing program is complete unless one of the numbers has for its feature the Chaplin step. You know what that is, of course; both feet—they must be large—at right angles and then a sudden jump and a quick turn.

WOULD FORM FREE-THOUGHT SOCIETY FOR DULUTH AGNOSTICS

Duluth is likely to have a "free thought" society, if the efforts of C. H. Eshleman of 421 Fifth avenue west are successful. Mr. Eshleman is a free-thinker and wishes to get in touch with others who are of the same shade of belief as he, with the idea of forming a society for the discussion and promulgation of the principles of Rationalism. He says that such a society will have the backing of the National Rationalist association, and of the Truth Seeker, the agnostic and free-thought weekly of New York city.

In a statement which Mr. Eshleman has given out he enumerates the principles of the movement, and which would govern a local society, as follows:

"The aim is study and to teach religion and morals.

"No beliefs regarding supernaturalism will be required of members.

"Organizers consider that it is not enough to hold correct ideas on these subjects, but that there should be an organization so that free-thinkers may deepen and stimulate their own ideas and also assist each other in thought and in conduct.

"The main principles of the national association are these: Rationalists negate the supernatural but affirm the natural; they negate every superstition and affirm every demonstrated fact; they favor freedom of thought, speech and the press, assembly, science, art, education, literature and religion and they favor a system of morals based on the reason and conscience of mankind today."

He adds that women and children, as well as men, are desired in the movement; and that if a society is formed here, it will probably be called a Rationalist society and will be similar to free thought organizations in the Twin Cities and other large centers.

PROBLEM TO BE SERIOUS

French Textile Industries Despoiled of $300,000,000 By Germans.

Resumption After the War Will Present Great Difficulties.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, May 15.—Three hundred million dollars lost by the textile industries of Northern France in raw materials and manufactured products taken by the Germans as booty of war—that is the estimate given the Associated Press by an authorized member of the most influential textile corporation in France and an authority on industrial subjects.

What the total loss, including damages to plant and to buildings, may amount to, there are no indications, for many rumors of the transferring of valuable machines to Germany have not been confirmed. The above estimate is based on confirmed facts only. It more than bears out the estimate of the German publicist, Ludwig Gangofer, who, after a visit to the German front, told the Muenchner Neueste Nachrichten that the war booty sent from Northern France to Germany in the form of cereals, sugar, metals, wool, leather, etc., amounted to $500,000,000 during the first six months of the war. It is supposed that his figures were based on the requisition price said to be very inferior to the market value. On the latter basis the actual total would be far in excess of the German figures; the estimate for the textile industries alone would so indicate.

Took Woolens and Linens.

It is known that the Germans took nearly all the raw material and finished goods in the great woolen manufacturing centers of Le Coteau, Roubaix and Tourcoing, where America buys heavily of the finer woolen fabrics. They also emptied the linen factories with the exception of those at Armentieres, where they were driven back too soon, and at Lille, where they have recently begun to requisition these products.

The territory occupied by the Germans contains more than 80 per cent of the woolen and linen industries of France; the consequence is a shortage of all these products. The army is seeking hundreds of thousands of canvas for tents that these industries are unable to supply. Cotton, tried as a substitute, proved unsatisfactory.

Great Financial Problem.

"The financial problem resulting from this state of things," according to this authority, "will require most serious study after the war. A commercial and industrial activity such as we have never seen will be witnessed in France, but the setting in motion again the industrial machine will be attended with great difficulties. One manufacturer in the occupied territory has lost raw material and finished goods to the value of 5,000,000 to 10,000,000 francs. The banks have advanced him a half million francs. The security for that advance is gone. That man will say after the war: 'I am not played out. I want to put my industry on its feet again,' but where will he find the means, since he has already hanging over him a debt of 500,000 francs and the goods that secured it are in Germany? It is a serious problem, but it will be solved.

"Another great difficulty is in the restoration of our plants, the replacing of our machines. Under existing conditions it seems likely that it will take two years for machine constructors to furnish what we shall require. Perhaps we shall have to call upon the American ingenuity to help us in working out the difficult problems, but they will be solved, for never was the spirit of our manufacturers and workers so strong as today."

SERBIANS USE AUSTRIAN GUNS

Better Prepared Than at the Beginning of the War.

Washington, May 28.—Lieut. Milovol Lozanitch of the Serbian army, in a letter to his sister, Miss Helen Lozanitch, now in the United States assisting the Serbian agricultural relief committee of America, tells of an attack made on the Austrians of an hour and a quarter's duration, in which half of his company was killed and wounded.

"This day, as you can imagine, was a most exciting and disastrous one for us," he writes. "One of the shrapnels exploded so near me that I was in the smoke, and my clothes smelt of powder. That was the day that I used the Austrian guns for the first time instead of the Turkish. You know I had two guns which were captured from the Turks during the Balkan war.

"The use of the Austrian guns created great confusion among the enemy. As you have seen yourself in Belgrade, the smoke from the Austrian guns is reddish-yellow, while the smoke from the Serbian guns is white; consequently when we began firing on their infantry, they thought it was their own guns and stopped firing. An Austrian officer, who was taken prisoner by the Serbians, told us that in one day three commanders were dismissed because of mistakes like this.

"One day we saw that the Austrians had left a battery imbedded in the mud, and immediately we brought up our oxen and, with the help of other soldiers, dug the guns out with all the necessary ammunition. The very next day we were firing at the Austrians with their own guns, and that was just at a time when our own guns were out of order.

"The Serbian army has had the most peculiar experience of all in this European war. Before the invasion, our army was short of everything, even ammunition. Now that the Austrian invasion is over and we have fought our many battles, we are better prepared than at the beginning of the war.

"On the way to Belgrade I passed over a thousand wagons, left by the Austrians, filled with tea and coffee. For over a fortnight our soldiers ate chocolate and smoked Havana cigars. We got beautiful uniforms and shoes, and I have a fine German rug for my horse. Near Shabatz, the Austrians left 250,000 kilograms of coffee and 25,000,000 rounds of ammunition. This is just twice as much as we used during the whole Turkish war. Up to now we have captured 193 guns and 60,000 rifles."

CHRISTENING PARTY IS GIVEN SURPRISE

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, May 10.—The regulations concerning the mixing of rye with potato flour and of wheat with rye flour apply as well to housewives as to bakers. Disregard of these regulations led to a disagreeable surprise for a christening party in Berlin. The mother had baked an elaborate cake to celebrate the occasion. Just as the guests were sitting down to the table, a police official appeared, demanded a slice of the cake, and, alleging that it was not lawfully made, confiscated it. A fine was later imposed.

TRAFFIC IN WOMEN AND GIRLS IN CHINA

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Peking, April 15.—A Reuter's telegram from Kwelyang states that "the Canton traders continue to carry on a traffic in women and girls, who are taken through the Tatanghsien district to Canton."

Conditions of poverty are so intense that it is a custom throughout the country for parents to sell children, either boys or girls, when they are unable to support them. As a rule, the parents of a child can obtain a number of dollars, according to the child's age; but in famine districts, where poverty is increased, prices have run to below 50 cents per child. In the large cities, however, to which the traders from the interior bring the children for sale, the price may run up, for a strong and good-looking girl in her teens, to over $50.

HELP FOR THOSE WHO NEED IT MOST.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer tells of a rarely practical experiment that is being organized by an Ohio ex-convict. Its purpose is to form an employment agency to help former prisoners get back on their feet.

Surely there is a field for such an enterprise.

A man commits a crime. Perhaps it is the climax of a career of thoughtless dissipation such as many a young man pursues, even though most of them stop well short of the climax. Perhaps it is the result of a momentary folly. Perhaps it is the legitimate outcome of a bad environment with its wrong perspectives and its ignorance. At any rate, he commits a crime, is detected, arrested, convicted, sentenced and serves a term in the penitentiary.

What does he face when he comes out? With the prison pallor on his face, with the tell-tale cheap prison suit, perhaps with a still more tell-tale prison gait if he comes from any one of several barbaric prisons in this country, and with a pathetically small store of funds, he faces a world that is suspicious, selfish, heedless. To "get back on his feet" is the thing above all things he wants to do; yet his route is up hill, the road is slippery, and suspicion and temptation combine to drag him back again. There is almost no public or quasi-public arrangement to help him start anew.

"Having served a term," says the Plain Dealer, "the organizer of the agency has a keen appreciation of the difficulties that confront a convict who, upon emerging from within the frowning brick walls of the prison, truly wishes to get an honest position and to keep to the paths of integrity. It is a situation probably not fully realized by one in any other condition. So the ex-convict has set himself the task of helping as many former prisoners on the way to the straightforward life as lies within the power of one man to accomplish."

This nobly public-spirited ex-convict has valuable ideas on the general subject, too. "There is no such thing as inherent criminal tendencies," he declares. "I had exceptional opportunity to study the so-called 'criminal class,' and I do not believe there is a man in the institution whose dereliction from the paths of duty cannot be traced directly to environment, use of drugs, circumstances, sudden passion or sudden and great temptation."

The old idea of the purpose of a prison was punishment. The new idea is not punishment alone, but reformation and rebuilding of character. The men who live in prisons are not strikingly different from those who live outside. Many outside, untempted or undiscovered, are potentially worse than a large proportion of those within the walls. The man who has learned his lesson ought to be less likely to commit crime—if he has a fair show when he gets out—than the man whose lesson is yet to be learned.

This ex-convict is doing a splendid work. He ought not to be compelled to do it alone. Indeed, is there any reason on earth why the state itself should not do it?

The fact that Roosevelt broke a rib when he fell merely emphasizes his strenuosity. Most men, under the circumstances, break nothing more than a section of the decalogue.

DULUTH'S CHINESE GUESTS.

On June 22 Duluth will entertain the party of Chinese merchants which is now touring this country, working from the West to the East.

Preparations for the suitable entertainment of these guests from the Orient are under way in the hands of the Duluth Commercial club, and no effort will be spared to make their stay here pleasant and interesting. This is as it should be, for this visit is in return for one made to China a few years ago by a party of Americans, and Chinese hospitality in every community visited made the trip memorable for those who took it.

In the fall of 1910 the chambers of commerce of the Pacific coast sent a delegation to visit China. Everywhere this delegation went in China it was received by Chinese chambers of commerce, by the viceroys and governors of the provinces and by the imperial government. The Chinese government and people made every possible effort to show the highest courtesy to these American guests.

It was decided immediately after this visit to send a delegation of Chinese merchants to the United States, but this plan was interrupted by the revolution of 1911, and was therefore not carried out until this year.

The government is taking a hand in the entertainment of the party, having sent E. T. Wilson, chief of the bureau of far eastern affairs, from the state department, and E. C. Porter from the department of commerce.

The members of the delegation are eminent citizens of China, mostly men prominent in mercantile affairs though some are high in official authority. The chairman is Chang Chen-hsun, who used to be Chinese consul at Singapore and who is now one of the most prominent business men of China with extensive interests in commercial and industrial enterprises. Others in the party represent cotton, woolen and metal industries.

While it may not seem that Duluth can gain much direct benefit from this visit, still Duluth's hospitality is not contingent upon the hope of gain, and its welcome will be unstinted. Yet even Duluth may benefit, for the purpose of the trip is to study ways and means of extending trade between the two countries, and there are possibilities in the Chinese trade from which all parts of this country may benefit.

FLAG DAY, JUNE 14.

June 14 is Flag Day, the one hundred and thirty-eighth anniversary of the Stars and Stripes.

This seems like a pretty good year to give the observance of this occasion a new impetus.

Under the Stars and Stripes, the birthday of which occurs on that day, are gathered in peace and well-being a hundred millions of people, many of them from the countries now at war.

In the red glare of the battle flame that is destroying civilization in Europe this glorious banner shines today with a new splendor. Its appeal to those who live beneath its folds has gained new poignancy.

Surely this is a year when Flag Day should be widely observed, when every citizen should regard his country's flag with a new affection, and dedicate himself to it with a new devotion.

FIGHTING WITH ASPHYXIATING GASES.

Germany continues to make effective use of chlorine gas in its attacks on the allies in Flanders, so the propriety of this method of warfare continues to be a valid subject for discussion.

In the discussion partisanship seems to be so far the prevailing factor. Those who want the allies to win affect to think that the use of gas is uncivilized, while those who want the allies to lose can see no wrong in it.

Meanwhile, those who maintain some semblance of neutrality confess themselves to be still puzzled by this issue. Between shrapnel, which shatters and maims and either kills men in horrible agony or leaves them terribly wounded to suffer on the field of battle, and asphyxiating gases, which kill swiftly and painlessly, the choice on the score of humanity seems altogether in favor of gases.

But even assuming that the use of gas instead of missiles is wrong, who is to cast the first stone?

Not the United States, for it is experimenting now with somewhat similar chemicals, intended for precisely the same use.

Not France, for France has been working for many months with a deadly secret explosive "capable," according to Popular Mechanics, "of destroying life on a scale not heretofore dreamed of, by the production of deadly asphixiating gases."

Not England, for English arsenals, like the French arsenals, according to the same authority have been working day and night in the manufacture of shells containing this deadly element.

Early last fall there were vague rumors that France was about to use "turpinite," the invention of Eugene Turpin, in this manner. Since then nothing has been heard of these reports. Now, according to Popular Mechanics, the reports have been confirmed by the French military authorities.

At the opening of the war the effects of exploding turpinite were familiar to laboratory workers. It explodes only by vibration, and at that time there seemed no safe way of firing it from a gun because the explosion was likely to occur before the missile got clear from the gun. In December a fieldpiece was invented, it is said, making it possible to fire shells charged with turpinite without danger to the firing party.

"When the shell explodes," says Popular Mechanics, "the gases caused by the explosion spread over the ground in a circle having a diameter of about a hundred yards. The gases produce paralysis of some of the vital organs of the body, with the result that EVERY LIVING THING within this circle is KILLED INSTANTLY AND PAINLESSLY, and so far as is known now there is no defense against nor antidote for the action of these gases.

"If turpinite does all that is claimed for it, trenches will furnish practically no defense against it. The gases from a shell exploding within fifty yards of the trench will simply settle into the trench and kill the men sheltered in it. Shrapnel-proof and bomb-proof covers will be of little use, for the gases will find their way through the smallest opening."

The purpose of war is to kill. The purpose of missiles is to kill. The purpose of gases is to kill. War is hell. One phase of it is little more moral than another.

But if there is blame attached to the use of asphyxiating gases, the only nations guilt-free apparently will be those unfortunate enough to lack facilities for using them.

Will there be a new Caesar to write new commentaries on the new invasion of the north country?

Dryasdust Seeks "Origins"

Editorial in New York Times.

Nothing alarms Dryasdust so much as a figure of speech or a nickname that does not rest on facts, mathematics, or statistics. Nothing so disturbs him as a phrase he does not understand; and he does not rest until he has evoked an "origin" for it. One of his worshipers writes to the World protesting against "to the manner born." It should be "to the manor born—that is, born on the estate, and therefore familiar with the place." "Manner," pursues Dryasdust, Jr., "is acquired, and one cannot be born to it." No, and one cannot be born with a silver spoon in his mouth; it would choke him, Dryasdust. Nevertheless, he is born with a manner, abhorrent as such flights of fancies are to your precise soul.

The original Dryasdust who invented this "origin" to plague unborn generations—for his descendants will be persisting in their pedantic folly about the phrase long after we are all dead—slid gracefully over the fact that when Hamlet used it he was not talking about a manor, but about a palace, in which the manner or custom of getting drunk was being punctiliously observed; he was, in fact, delivering a lecture on temperance, which he admitted was against the manner and custom of that palace. "Is it a custom?" asked Horatio, referring to the spree about to begin; and Hamlet said:

> Ay, marry is't:
> But to my mind—though I am native here
> And to the manner born—it is a custom
> More honor'd in the breach than the observance.

He went on to denounce this old manner or custom as a "hoary-headed revel" which made the Danes "traduc'd and tax'd of other nations," who "clepe us drunkards." However, what is that to Dryasdust? The fact remains, and it is the only fact that his eyes can see, that one can't be born with a manner. So, when some frisky and humorous Briton nicknamed melted cheese with the immortal and gloriously nonsensical title "Welsh rabbit," Dryasdust was pained and puzzled; it was not a rabbit, it was not any kind of game, it was cheese. Therefore he rested not until he had found an "origin;" and his descendants to this day painstakingly spell it "Welsh rarebit," and rest satisfied in the consciousness of culture. In our own time Dryasdust has outdone himself by seeking an "origin" for that profane British adjective "bloody;" it is, he joyfully trumpets after long subterranean delving, a "contraction of the mediaeval oath 'By our Lady.'" According to him, therefore, a mediaeval ruffler was wont to say, "Waiter, this check is too by-our-Lady high; I didn't order these by-our-Lady onions." Bosh, Dryasdust, bosh! Idioms, figures of speech, nicknames and slang are made in no such way; often they have no "origins" at all, in any such sense as you use the word. Off with your strait-jacket, Dryasdust, and your blinders, and look about you.

Seeking Our Sympathy.

Portland Oregonian: We have received a small pamphlet, entitled "Russia's Gift to the World," which seeks to bring home to western readers the true weight of Slavic contributions to science, literature and the fine arts. The little book is one among many symptoms of a warm desire on the part of east-Europeans to make themselves better understood in this part of the world than they have been heretofore. American sympathy has suddenly acquired an unprecedented value, for the best of reasons.

We are reminded by this pamphlet that the inventor of the "Non-Euclidean Geometry" was a Russian, Lobachewski by name, while another Russian, Hvolson, has written the best textbooks of physics to be found in any country. The Slavs have been among the foremost astronomers for many years. The observatory at Pulkova, which has been particularly active, has done an immense amount of good work. Americans will recall with pleasure that it was the Pulkova observatory which sent to our own celebrated astronomer, Simon Newcomb, a monumental vase carved from a mammoth block of precious marble to commemorate the completion of his great work on the motions of the planets.

There is a traditional friendship between the United States and Russia not only in matters of science, but in matters also of public policy. When we reflect upon what that country has accomplished with its handicaps of bad government and religious fanaticism we cannot help anticipating wonderful results when its people shall have finally won their liberties and come under the stimulating influence of democratic institutions.

Are We Going the Way of Imperial Rome?

From the New York Times.

Our purpose is not to rebuke, not to admonish, but merely to express sorrow and surprise when we direct attention to the publication by our well meaning and high minded contemporary, the Tribune, in a conspicuous form, of an article, entitled, "Pineapple Pot Roast," for this brief but cunningly devised appeal to the weaker side of human nature seems to suggest a recurrence, in an enlightened age, of the culinary and gustatory customs of an empire which succumbed to its follies. The imperial Romans cherished shocking heresies in regard to food and cookery, and where are they now?

Are we, after enjoying the benefit of centuries of experience, we who have lived down our once well deserved repute for bad cookery, mistakenly confused in the minds of some of our forebears with "plain living," to be doomed, after we have begun to learn how to live and eat, to follow the pitiful gastronomic course of a people who were much nearer to the crude beginnings of civilization? The Romans, according to veracious chronicles, cooked fish in honey, sweetened their butchers' meats, and thus destroyed their digestion, and with it their ability to battle against Fate.

"Pineapple pot roast" is not a pineapple roasted in a pot, but a piece of beef, edible and nutritious, ruined by contact on the fire with sweetened pineapple. A pot-roasted pineapple, by itself, might be as harmless if as unenticing as a fried strawberry, but beef cooked with pineapple, though it might have satisfied Lucullus in his years of expensive retirement, should certainly be shunned by less heroic moderns who would preserve alike their stomachs and their sense of the eternal fitness of things. You are advised to spread the hard heart of the pineapple, cut in squares, on top of the beef and start your cookery. Truly it is not only the pineapple that has a hard heart. You next—but let this counselor of bad living convict himself in his own words:

> Chop the slices fine and set away in an enamel dish, adding to them a dozen stoned raisins, a tablespoonful of sugar, and half a lemon very thinly sliced and seeded. When the roast is done and ready to serve, remove it to the platter and strain the gravy into a saucepan; thicken slightly with browned flour and butter, season with pepper and salt and add the pineapple mixture. Boil up once all together and serve in hot gravy boat with the roast.

Don't. Let the cook boil it up once altogether, if you cannot prevent her, but shun that hot gravy boat. Eat your pineapple-impregnated meat, if you must, and be thankful because it might be so much worse. Most of us would as willingly accept the Romans' favorite dish of "dormice sprinkled with poppy seeds and honey" as a satisfying meal of victuals. And this, as Col. Roosevelt recently had occasion to remark, is the Twentieth century.

The Word Fitly Spoken

Albany Journal: Did you ever stop to think that a pleasant smile and a kind word cost no more than a frown and a surly answer, and that the giver receives as much satisfaction as the recipient? It requires no more time and effort to reply, "Sorry, I don't know," to a question, than to growl, "How should I know?" and everybody about you will feel better for it.

In the closing days of the legislature, when Senator Henry M. Sage was played out from his hard work, it cost Senator Thomas H. Cullen, one of his Democratic opponents, nothing to step to his side and say, "I'll give you a lift, Henry, for I know you are tired out," and everybody who heard him felt a certain recompense for the long hours they were working.

One Sunday recently, an elderly woman dropped into police headquarters and asked Policeman John J. Sayers the name of a dentist who examined teeth free Sunday afternoons. Many might have treated her with indifference, for she was poor and unattractive, but the policeman spent some time looking over the newspaper advertisements and finally securing the information sought, escorted her to the door and directed her to the dentist.

Scores of pedestrians passed by a blind man on North Pearl street yesterday afternoon and paid no attention to him as he attempted to cross at Malden lane. Finally a well-dressed man left a woman he was with for a moment and escorted the unfortunate across the busy little thoroughfare.

A number of boys were playing at Livingston avenue and Ten Broeck street the other day when an elderly woman approached with a pile of wood on her shoulder which she was taking home. One of the boys went to her and carried the wood to her house, and while his companions at first were inclined to taunt him, one really expressed the sentiment of the crowd when he said, "You're all right, Bill."

On an A belt car during one of the recent heavy storms, an old man was worrying how he could get to the home of his son with a large package he had. Those sitting near learned from his talk that he was a stranger in town and was visiting his son with a present for his grandson. "I'll show you where he lives," spoke up a young girl. "But you'll get wet if you don't ride to the corner," objected her companion, "That's all right" she smiled, "it's only half a block out of the way."

That same afternoon an Arbor hill car was rolling along Livingston avenue above the Northern boulevard in the rain, and the passengers aboard were caught without umbrellas. The accommodating conductor stopped three times within one block to permit his patrons to alight near their homes. "I'll stop any place," he said, and some of these days he probably will get the promotion he deserves.

Just watch and see how many of these kind acts you will notice every day and judge for yourself if they are not worth passing around.

Italy's Problem

Editorial in Springfield Republican.

Those who look for swift and decisive results from Italy's action should look at a relief map of the Italian frontier. Strategically its position is the weakest in Europe. Because of its long coast line it is peculiarly vulnerable to attack by sea; because of its long mountain barrier, the keys to which are in alien control, it is peculiarly vulnerable to attack by land. Rome, which to guard itself had to conquer Italy, found that to guard Italy it had to control the Alps with turbulent tribes beyond. When united Italy was created the frontier was left weak by Austria's retention of Trent and the wedge running down into the very heart of Northern Italy at Lake Garda. For 150 miles to the east of the outlet which passes this lake on its way to the Brenner pass, Innsbruck and Bavaria there is not a practicable route for a railroad over the Alpine barrier which Austria controls.

Italy's first and paramount problem, having accepted the hazards of war, must be to guard its whole frontier, from the French boder to the Adriatic. Till that is provided for there is no surplus for use anywhere, and talk of sending one army against Vienna, another to the Dardanelles, a third through France against Alsace is futile. It is asserted that something like a million men are now under arms for the army of the first line, and when mobilization is completed the number may be doubled. Till that is accomplished, and it may take from a fortnight to a month, the initiative will lie with the Teutonic allies, and it is not to be supposed that the German general staff, with such ample warning, has not completed its plans.

Gossip may be wrong in giving the dour "old man of the lakes," Gen. von Hindenburg, command of the joint forces which are to operate against Italy, yet whoever commands, it is not the German way to wait to be attacked. The rich industrial part of Italy as of France lies within easy reach of an invading army, and never yet at the Italian maneuvers has the army of defense been able in the judgment of the umpires to hold its own. If the central allies can squeeze from their long battle lines enough men for a furious raid such as Hindenburg made again and again into Poland, the chances are that they will decide for a swift campaign of revenge against their former ally, and if they should succeed the fate of Belgium, whose sin was merely that she blocked the road to Paris, would be merciful compared with what Italy could expect. Such a coup would certainly be made if the frontier should be weakened by the dispatch of irrelevant expeditionary forces.

How great an army the central states can at the present moment dispatch against Italy cannot be estimated and German statements as to 680,000 men on the 484 miles of the Austrian frontier may have been meant to deceive. Germany has been making stupendous efforts this spring, and has in the field or ready for the field new forces of unknown strength. On the west the army is holding its own fairly well against the much-heralded "drive" of the allies in Flanders and France. In the east simultaneously with the joint offensive which defeated the Russians in Galicia, the Germans recklessly extended their lines still further by invading the Baltic provinces as far as Libau and Riga. If the slowness of the Russian army, now in a somewhat demoralized condition, and the possibility of temporarily stripping the trenches in the west are considered, it may be that with new troops and what Austria can recall from other fields without immediate disaster, a force can be concentrated against Italy which under a first-rate general will keep the Italian commanders busy.

Such a drive, weakening the line elsewhere, could not be kept up indefinitely, for the allies would seize the opportunity to exert pressure on all sides. But the campaign against Italy would be pressed all the more violently because the time was limited, and a blow at the heart of industrial Italy might be taken as worth some sacrifice of foreign territory held elsewhere. German strategy would not be governed by a desire for revenge, but victory in a swift Marengo onslaught would give ample opportunity to make Italy pay dearly for deserting its allies. This is the risk, and a very terrible risk, which must govern Italian strategy. But while the Italian fortifications are by no means so strong as those across the border, and while the length of the peninsula is a handicap in mobilization, the railroads of the northern plain are well adapted for concentrating troops to meet an invasion, and Italy's aerial service, trained in the African war, is highly efficient. With the lessons learned from the trench warfare of the past nine months, an attack from across the Alps should be successfully met unless reckless generalship leaves the way open for a blow.

Till that danger is met the Italians cannot safely engage in adventures. To strike effectively at Austria it is necessary to move to the east near the head of the Adriatic, where the ground is less difficult. A campaign against the peninsula of Istria and the naval base at Pola would be but a side issue, though not easy. An advance toward Vienna through Carniola, or an invasion of the Hungarian plain, would leave flank and rear exposed to a swift German onslaught through Tyrol and the Trentino. Even Switzerland is a menace that must be guarded. For all these reasons Italy's activity, though it will be intense, must be carefully limited in scope, or there is danger of incalculable disaster. But Italy is not unmindful of the fate of Louvain, and a nation which has waited so long to go to war has doubtless taken its precautions. The more cautious its policy, the more likely is the first fighting to be on Itallian soil; later there will be reserves for pressing an offensive which has no doubt been carefully studied.

He Wanted It Decided.

Ladies' Home Journal: "Ma! Ma!" bawled Freddie as the usual morning wash was going on. "Do my ears belong to my face or my neck?"

Ma temporized. "Why, what is the matter?" she asked.

"I want it decided now. Every time you tell Mary to wash my face or my neck she washes my ears too."

Easily Done.

Judge: Accepted Suitor—"Sir, I admit being a poor man, but I am determined to marry your daughter in spite of her wealth."

Her Father—"Oh, well, if that's the case, I'll just remove the obstacle."

What Peace Is.

Minnesota Editors Touch Up Politics

State Press Comment on the Coming Year.

Bumper Crop Predicted.

Stillwater Gazette: The statement is made by the Faribault Pilot that Hon. A. J. Rockne of Zumbrota has an ambition to be governor of the great and growing state of Minnesota; a laudable ambition, but one that requires the overcoming of many obstacles, first and foremost being others filled with the same ambition. There has always been a crop of gubernatorial candidates on the Republican side of the fence, failure of this crop never having been known. The following are suspected of having concealed on their persons a desire to occupy the governor's chair at the state capitol: Sam Gordon, Lewis Spooner, H. H. Flowers and W. E. Lee, besides a host of others who are just as anxious and stand just as good a chance of landing.

Down With the "s. l."

Redwood Gazette: Frank Day prefers Jim Tawney as United States senator instead of some "sycophantic lunkhead." We haven't a very clear idea of what a s. l. is, but we are pretty sure Jim must be preferable unless he has changed radically in the last few years.

Glued to the Seat.

Bagley Independent: Former Congressman Fred C. Stevens of St. Paul has been prominently mentioned as a likely Republican candidate for United States senator at the election next year to oppose Moses E. Clapp. Fred C. Stevens is no doubt a very capable man, but in undertaking to unseat Clapp is facing the stern realities, and speculation is rife as to whether he will be able to accomplish his purpose.

"Possibilities" Is Good.

Red Wing Republican: There is considerable interest throughout the country in the question of whom the Republican party will nominate for the presidency in the next campaign. As usual in that party there are numerous presidential possibilities. But there is no question as to who will receive the Democratic nomination.

We Seem to.

Park Rapids Journal: Congressman Lindbergh says he is not a candidate for any office—this year—but he might be next year when general elections are held. Do you get it?

All in the Family.

Madison Independent Press: Someone has started the story that Brother Bjornson will be a candidate for secretary of state to succeed the present incumbent. If Julius has concluded to quit, a change to Gunnar is entirely agreeable to this paper. Both are first-class newspaper men and the press will be well represented at the capitol in either event.

Inexpensive Pastime.

Baudette Region: Moses Clapp thinks he can be elected United States senator from Minnesota again. That's all right. It doesn't cost Moses a cent to think.

Why Couple These Two?

Grand Rapids Independent: "So many are the 'logical' Republican candidates springing up in the various parts of the state for governor that it might be a good plan to select an illogical candidate. Possibly he might be elected," says the Sauk Center Herald. Like frinstance Asa Wallace or Frank M. Eddy? Ed, what? Why not?

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quintius, the Sunshine Man.

As the hart panteth after the waterbrooks, so panteth my soul after Thee, O God.—Ps. xlii, 1.

Singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord.—Eph. vii, 19.

Lord, make my heart a place where angels sing!
For surely thoughts low-breathed by Thee
Are angels gliding near on noiseless wings,
And where a home they see.

Swept clean and garnished with adoring joy,
They enter in and dwell,
And teach that heart to swell
With heavenly melody, their own untired employ.
—John Keble.

Let your heart and desires continually hold converse with God, in heartfelt simplicity. Reflect on Him with feelings of love and reverence, and often offer up your heart, with all that you have and are, to Him, in spirit and in truth, as cordially and sincerely as possible. If through weakness or unfaithfulness you forsake this exercise, beautiful, all you have to do is, meekly and heartily, to begin again; and do not be weary of it, although in the beginning you may not find any great advantage from it, or make any rapid progress in it. It is not true that such a mode of life is hard; it is easy and pleasant to the spirit, and becomes in due time like a heaven upon earth. A little patience and courage alone are needed.—Gerhard Tersteegen.

Billy Sunday's Tact.

John Reed in the Metropolitan: How is it that Billy Sunday, who pledged 40,000 men to vote against liquor in the next election, can receive a eulogy from Walter H. Finley, the Camden saloon keeper and vice president of the New Jersey Liquor Dealers' association? Why is it that the members of the Penrose machine, who are tied up with the liquor interests of the state of Pennsylvania, support Billy Sunday when he preaches his blasting sermon on "Booze"? "Too many men in congress owe their election to the liquor interests," cries Billy. "Wherever I can I shall fight every man who wears the brewery collar."

But Billy Sunday is tactful. When he preaches against booze, he preaches against drinking, and not against politicians. He advises the people to vote for local option, which is just what the Penrose machine advises them to do. When he inveighs against graft, corruption and the evils of enormous wealth, he nullifies the lesson by something like this:

"I have nothing to say against the rich man. Solomon was worth about three billions of dollars if you reckon his wealth according to our standard of gold and silver. He could have hired Andrew Carnegie to black his boots, or J. Pierpont Morgan to dust his clothes and cut the lawn.

"But there's a lot of good-for-nothing lobsters think they are called by God to go up and down the country harping for a limitation of wealth and cussing and damning the rich man for every dollar he has, while they sit around and cuss and damn and never work.

"If you want to use your genius and ability to get all you can, and use the surplus over your own needs for the good of humanity, I hope you all will be millionaires."

In the same breath he curses child labor and striking working men, the greed of rich men and the envy of poor men. But he mentions no names.

The Testing.

When, in the dim beginning of the years,
God mixed in man the raptures and the tears
And scattered through his brain the starry stuff,
He said, "Behold! Yet this is not enough,
For I must test his spirit to make sure
That he can dare the Vision and endure.

"I will withdraw My Face,
Veil Me in shadow for a certain space,
And leave behind only a broken clew,
A crevice where the glory glimmers thro',
Some whisper from the sky,
Some footprint in the road to track Me by.

"I will leave man to make the fateful guess,
Will leave him torn between the No and Yes,
Leave him unresting till he rests in Me,
Drawn upward by that choice that makes him free—
Leave him in tragic loneliness to choose,
With all in life to win or all to lose."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

GOOD TASTE FORGOTTEN IN THIS FORM OF JOKING

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your edition of Wednesday, May 26, appeared an article announcing the outcome of the "Queen of the May" contest in the West end, and included in the list of young women who had received votes for the honors were those of at least two young women who had not entered themselves as contestants but who, judging from the text of the article had nevertheless received a number of votes.

Those who are brave enough to enter a contest of this kind should receive all due credit but there are many who shun any sort of publicity and their feelings in the matter should be given courteous consideration and especially so when they happen to be of the feminine sex.

It seems a pity that some people cannot understand to just what extent a practical joke can really go and still be only a joke. The entering of any woman's name in a contest in which she does not wish to take part is going beyond legitimate bounds and borders on the brazen.

The contest was fine for contestants but outsiders literally pushed in at the eleventh hour without their own knowledge cannot but be made the subject of talk as "also rans" and to be made the butt of alleged humorists is anything but pleasant.

The press is not at fault in accepting these names as they had evidently already been made the subject of "news" but those who so kindly thrust people into the limelight should have a taste of their own medicine. Theirs is anything but chivalry.

Signed,
TRUE HUMOUR.

LABOR CONDITIONS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In the article entitled "Called to the Italian Colors" in The Herald, the writer is afraid there will be a scarcity of laborers after those Italians join their colors. Now, I do not think there is any danger on that score. Far better that there should be a scarcity of men than they should have to work for starvation wages. I have in mind a young married man who was offered $1.25 a day, but he refused the generous offer, as he said he might as well starve doing nothing as starve working. I have lived in this city upwards of twenty-five years and I never saw so many good men who are willing to work if given a chance. I would like to know if the 600 men who petitioned the council for work have been provided for.

Yours respectfully,
FRED LOCKWOOD.

Duluth, May 26.

The council had no work to offer them.—The Editor.

NOTHING TO OFFEND IN "THREE WEEKS"

To the Editor of The Herald:

After reading all the news items yesterday, both in the News Tribune and The Herald Open Court columns, will say that I am a great picture fan, and consider myself somewhat of a critic. I visited the Zelda yesterday and brought with me four of my best friends. We witnessed the performance from the beginning to the end, yes, Elinor Glyn's novel, "Three Weeks." We saw absolutely nothing in the picture that could offend the most refined taste. I even sent my two daughters and told them to take their friends with them. That's what I think of "Three Weeks." I fully believe that any fair-minded person will agree with me.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems:

"Only Me" and "Allie Bain" from Miss Hazel Burr of Ontonagon, Mich.

Requests have been received for the following:

"Long, Long Ago" from Miss Hazel Burr of Ontonagon, Mich.

Allie Bain.

They're taking me to the gallows, mother; they mean to hang me high;
They're going to gather around me and watch me till I die;
All earthly joys have vanished now, and gone each mortal hope.
They'll draw a cap across my eyes, around my neck a rope.
The crazy mob will shout and groan; the priest will read a prayer;
The drop will fall beneath my feet and leave me in the air,
For they say I murdered Allie Bain and so the judge has said,
They will hang me to the gallows, mother, they will hang me till I'm dead.

The grass that grows in yonder meadow, the lambs that skip and play;
The pebbled brook behind the orchard that laughs upon its way,
The flowers that bloom in the old garden, the birds that sing and fly,
Are pure and free of human blood, and, mother, so am I.
But twelve good men have found me guilty, and so the judge has said;
They will hang me to the gallows, mother, they will hang me till I'm dead.

Lay me not down by my father's grave, for once I mind he said,
No child that stained his spotless name should share his mortal bed;
Old friends would look beyond his grave to my dishonored one,
And hide the verdict of the sire beneath the setting sun,
And I can fancy if near my corpse his battered limbs should lay,
His crumbling bones and frowning skull would shrink from me away.
But I never murdered Allie Bain, but so the judge has said;
They will hang me to the gallows, mother, they will hang me till I'm dead.

Poor little sister Belle will weep and kiss me as I lie;
But kiss her twice and thrice for me and tell her not to cry;
Tell her to weave a nice gay garland and crown me as of yore,
And plant a lily upon my grave and think of me no more.
Then tell that maiden whose love I sought that I was faithful yet.
But I must lie in a villain's grave, and she had best forget.
But I never murdered Allie Bain, but so the judge has said;
They will hang me to the gallows, mother, they will hang me till I'm dead.

The air is fresh and breezy, mother, the sun shines bright and high;
It is a pleasant day to live, a gloomy one to die;
It is a bright and pleasant day all earthly joys to grasp;
It is a sad and wretched one to strangle, choke and gasp.
But let them damp my lofty spirit and cull me if they can;
They'll send me like a rough to death; I'll meet it like a man.
But I never murdered Allie Bain, but so the judge has said;
They will hang me to the gallows, mother, they will hang me till I'm dead.

Lay me in my coffin, mother, as you sometimes saw me rest;
One of my arms beneath my head, the other upon my breast;
And place my Bible upon my heart, nay, mother, do not weep;
But kiss me as of happier days you kissed me when asleep.
As for the rest or for our route it's little do we reck,
But cover up that cursed stain, that black mark on my neck.
For I never murdered Allie Bain, but so the judge has said;
They will hang me to the gallows, mother, they will hang me till I'm dead.

But hark, I hear a mighty murmur amongst the joyful crowd,
A shout, a cry, a roar of voices, it echoes long and loud.
There dashes a horseman with foaming steed and tightly gathered rein,
She sits, she rocks, she waves her hand, good heavens, its Allie Bain.
The lost is found the dead's alive; my safety 'tis achieved.
She waves her hand again and cries, "the prisoner is reprieved."
Now, mother, praise the God you love and raise your drooping head;
The murderer's gallows of black and white is cheated of its dead.

Only Me.

A mother of fashion was being arrayed,
By her dainty French maid Barbette.
Her two little girls in the nursery played,
And one was her darling, her pet.
A cry from the room caused the mother to cry,
"Is that you my darling Marie?"
And the answer came back twixt a sob and a sigh,
"No, mamma, 'twas only me."

Chorus.

Only me, only me, wailed in a pitiful tone,
Wrung from an innocent baby's heart
That felt so much alone,
One got her kisses and kindly words,
That was her darling Marie,
One told her troubles to bees and birds,
That was only me.

Close by a cot on a midsummer day,
The mother's heart wakened at last;
The life of her baby was ebbing away,
And the tears of repentance fell fast.
"Mamma dear, do not cry, you needn't care,
It isn't your darling Marie,
Perhaps the angels will have love to spare
A little for only me."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

This department does not pretend to be infallible. It will endeavor, however, to answer questions sent to it by readers of The Herald to the best of its ability, reserving the right to ignore all that are trifling or of concern only to the questioner, or that ask for advice on legal or medical questions.

To receive attention, every inquiry must bear the name and address of the person sending it. This is not wanted for publication, but as an evidence of good faith.

Peter Myer, Duluth.—Will you please publish in your Open Court why June 14 has been designated as flag day. Also why is Betsy Ross so prominently mentioned in connection with the American flag? I will appreciate an answer to this very much, as your Open Court has always been one of the most interesting features of your paper to me.—On June 14, 1777, the continental congress adopted a new flag with thirteen stars on a field of blue in addition to the stripes. This was the original star spangled banner, and Betsy Ross of Philadelphia was the woman who made it.

Leonard Clement, Proctor.—Would you be kind enough to let me ask a question in your Open Court. Could the ant of Asia or Africa bore a hole in teakwood. Is the teakwood the hardest in the world? Are the white ant's jaws strong enough to attack teakwood?—Teakwood is not the heaviest wood, but it is generally believed to be the hardest. It is used as a backing for armor plate. The Herald has no reliable information on the subject, nor on the question of whether ants can bore into it. If you are enough interested, you might visit the Duluth public library and ask the assistance of one of the librarians in running it down. There are many valuable books there on both woods and woodworking, and on ants, and one of these would probably give you the information.

E. R. O., Cloquet.—Will the Editor, or some one of the disciples of Izaak Walton, tell me if there ever has been any bass caught in the bay at West Duluth or any place in the St. Louis river.—In the early days the bay offered good bass fishing. None are being caught there now.

D. W. Laurie, Ray.—After Italy had entered the European war your paper said eleven nations were engaged in the conflict. I can count but ten, which are as follows: Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy, Germany, Austria, Turkey, Belgium, Servia and Japan.

Please let me know the name of the other one.

Are Unitarians termed Christians?

Can any religious sect denying the divinity of Jesus Christ be called Christians?

Do Unitarians adore or honor Jesus Christ in any way?—Montenegro is the eleventh country. The Herald would avoid religious controversies in this column, and the other questions seem designed to open such a controversy.

What the Child Is Learning

The High School Science Courses.

Biology, with zoology, botany and a study of the human body, is given the freshman in high school, two hours of recitation and five hours of laboratory work being assigned each week.

A study of insect life and of plant life takes up the early part of the year's work. Later, as a windup to the course, the student becomes familiar with what is known as the chemical introduction to physiology.

In the junior year students planning to take engineering courses take a one-year course in physics, covering the requirements for entrance to college. It includes a study of the properties of matter; the mechanics of solids, fluids, sound, light, heat and electricty. Seventy-five laboratory experiments must be performed. Various problems dealing with the mysteries of specific gravity also are presented in class.

Seniors may take an elementary course in chemistry, corresponding closely to the course given many college students their freshman year. The laboratory and class work is combined as in the other two science courses. Some of the simpler problems, dealing with oxygen, hydrogen, the acids, bases and salts, are performed by each student. They also learn the properties of ammonia, nitric acid and nitrogen oxide, as well as some of the other more common chemical combinations.

Flame action, with an investigation of the properties of sulphur and carbon, are taken up later in the course. From this point on the boys are given a course dealing with the properties of coal and had to go back after them. He lowered the blades of his lawnmower, so it cut shorter, and undismayed he made another onslaught the next morning. Still some blossoms were missed. Once more he adjusted the blades. The lawn looked like a new convict's head. Again the dandelions dodged. Lower he set the blades, and still lower went the dandelion blossoms. He chased them into the ground, and when he found them burrowing out trenches for themselves and fortifying themselves underground by pulling rocks on top of themselves, he quit. Now he cultivates each little plant, and they are dying of prosperity.

The submarine warfare on dandelions is effective but hardly popular. You take a large, strong hunting knife, about six inches in length. Locate your dandelion, submerge the knife, and torpedo the root about six inches below the surface of the ground. This will sometimes discourage a dandelion for weeks at a time, and it has been known to kill it entirely.

Smothering dandelions with clover seed is expensive but rather effective. Something less than a quart of clover seed planted immediately around a dandelion plant will choke it to death in time, but at the present price of clover seed this is not a popular form of warfare. The ammunition bill is ruinous.

Out in the East end there lives a man who has an untried but promising plan for getting rid of dandelions. He proposes to capture a flock of rabbits while they are young and train them to eat only dandelion leaves. Then he will build a wire netting around his lawn, turn loose the rabbits and watch the slaughter. He is now raising his "dandelion hounds."

Dandelions have been poisoned. A solution of paris green, kerosene and salt will give a dandelion pernicious senemia, but it will carry sudden death to grass. There is only one sure way to handle the dandelion problem. Ignore it.

The Great Terrace Controversy broke out in Duluth last summer and threatened to rage through the columns of the Open Court. The Terrace Controversy is almost as old as the Shakespeare-Bacon fight, or the little affair dealing with the freedom of the will, or the setto between the egoistic and altruistic schools of philosophy. The problem is: Is it easier to stand at the bottom of a terrace and push a lawnmower up, or stand at the top and let it run down? Some exhaustive tests have been made by homecrofters on the upper sides of all Duluth streets, but the results have never been tabulated and analyzed.

The aphis fly will make an ordinary healthy, blooming apple tree lose all interest in life in a few days. Now is the time to watch for it. The aphis thrives on ordinary poisons. An aphis fly can swim in paris green solutions, and roll in strychnine, between bites on the tender green apple leaves. It is rumored that warm water—not hot—in which some whale oil soap and kerosene have been mixed, will ring down the curtain on the aphis fly. It ought to. Whale oil soap will run a Ford car, conceal all traces of a skunk farm or a tannery, and turn the stomach of a 10-year-old boy. It should at least make the aphis fly feel unwelcome. If you get too much soap or too much kerosene you kill the tree, but if you don't get enough you don't kill the aphis and it kills the tree, so it is a fair sporting proposition—about a fifty-fifty bet as to which kills the tree.—J. E. R.

The Amateur Homecrofter

Dandelions and Other Things.

The dandelion is indubitably of German extraction.

It has undeniable Prussian characteristics.

For sheer efficiency, a German army corps cannot be compared to the humble dandelion.

The little yellow flowers are the Uhlans of the front lawn—as persistent as a loose window sash on a windy night, and as adaptable as the new minister's wife.

One Dulunthian tried the blockade system of warfare on his dandelion crop. He figured that if he kept the dandelions from blossoming they would die of old age. Accordingly he started out this spring to prevent a single dandelion from going to seed on his lawn. The first night he laid the yellow heads low in countless hundreds. Morning saw a new crop of blossoms. With his trusty lawnmower he clipped them. Nightfall saw more yellow blossoms. Again he got out his trusty mower, and again he clipped, but they didn't fall so easily. He missed several and had to go back after them. He lowered the blades of his lawnmower, so it cut shorter, and undismayed he made another onslaught the next morning. Still some blossoms were missed. Once more he adjusted the blades. The lawn looked like a new convict's head. Again the dandelions dodged. Lower he set the blades, and still lower went the dandelion blossoms. The aphis fly will make an ordinary healthy, blooming apple tree lose all interest in life in a few days. Now is the time to watch for it. The aphis thrives on ordinary poisons. An aphis fly can swim in paris green solutions, and roll in strychnine, between bites on the tender green apple leaves. It is rumored that warm water—not hot—in which some whale oil soap and kerosene have been mixed, will ring down the curtain on the aphis fly. It ought to. Whale oil soap will run a Ford car, conceal all traces of a skunk farm or a tannery, and turn the stomach of a 10-year-old boy. It should at least make the aphis fly feel unwelcome. If you get too much soap or too much kerosene you kill the tree, but if you don't get enough you don't kill the aphis and it kills the tree, so it is a fair sporting proposition—about a fifty-fifty bet as to which kills the tree.—J. E. R.

BRITISH SUBMARINE AT CONSTANTINOPLE

Submersible Enters Harbor and Fires Torpedo at Transport.

London, May 28.—The British admiralty issues the following report from the vice admiralty in the Eastern Mediterranean;

"The submarine E-11, Lieut. Commander Martin E. Nasmyth, has sunk in the sea of Marmora, a vessel containing a great quantity of ammunition, comprising charges for heavy howitzers, several gun mountings, and a six-inch gun. She also chased a supply ship with a heavy cargo of stores and torpedoed her alongside a pier at Rodosto. A small store ship was also chased and run ashore.

"The submarine E-11 entered Constantinople and discharged a torpedo at a transport alongside the arsenal. The torpedo was heard to explode."

Cottonwood S. D., Fire.

Pierre, S. D., May 28.—Fire destroyed the hotel, a general store and three other buildings at Cottonwood. The fire is supposed to have been started by lightning. A cloudburst on the north fork of Bald river flooded that valley, and washed out several miles of Northwestern railway track in the vicinity of Phillips.

Counting the Cost of Living

EVERY housekeeper realizes that there is a certain degree of waste of food attributable to careless methods of preparation and lack of knowledge of suitable ways to use the left-over material. Likewise a certain proportion of the expense of food is wasted by reason of inadequate understanding of food values. In these days of scientific management and efficiency and increasing competition the housekeeper who would make a success of her job must study the caloric value of her bill-of-fare. Only in this way can she really save money and conserve the health of her family.

Just how to pursue such a study is a puzzle to most women. But it isn't a mathematical impossibility by any means. With a table posted in the kitchen, telling the exact amount of available energy obtainable in each different food item, it is not a great problem to figure pretty closely what a bill-of-fare is worth. And as soon as a woman acquires the habit of appraising her daily rations approximately she begins to save money on her weekly bills for necessities.

Economy Is Healthful.

The table of food values will be gladly furnished on request by the United States department of agriculture, Bulletin 142 and Bulletin 28 containing the information. Having requested the secretary of agriculture, Washington, D. C., to send these bulletins, the housekeeper proceeds to weigh up all the different kinds of food materials in the house, and record the exact amounts in a book, with the date and hour. For ten days thereafter she weighs everything bought and records it in the book. At the end of ten days she weighs all food materials left on hand and subtracts the amount of each item from the totals for that item. Thus she knows to an ounce how much of each food material her family consumes in ten days, and one-tenth of the different totals represents the average daily ration.

She now takes pencil and paper and figures the caloric value of the average daily ration, by reference to the table. Thus she learns the actual amount of energy furnished by the bill-of-fare. If it is more than reasonably necessary, considering the ages, occupations and health of the members of the family, she balances up and decides which particular items can safely be cut down. Mayhap she finds that the family is consuming one-fifth more food than necessary, or possibly she discovers that her bill-of-fare can be advantageously fortified by the addition of more nutritive materials while it is made less expensive by a judicious selection of varieties.

At any rate the experiment is bound to save money in one way or another, and this, too, with only good effects upon the health of the family.

Will Explain Symphony Orchestra Numbers

R. Buchanan Morton, organist and choir director of Glen Avon Presbyterian church, will give a lecture recital at the church Tuesday night at 8 o'clock on some of the numbers that will be given at the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra concerts. The lecture will be free and will be open to the general public as well as to holders of concert tickets.

Mr. Morton has planned his talk and illustrations not for trained musicians, but for persons who know little or nothing of music in order that they may have a keener enjoyment of the orchestra programs. He will play in full a few of the numbers that are on the concert programs and will give his audience ideas of the style and aims of several composers represented on the programs by playing and explaining their compositions, which, although not on the concert programs, are typical of their works.

He will play on the organ the overture from Wagner's "Tannhauser" that is on the Friday night program and Sibelius' "Finlandia," that is on the Saturday night program. The other organ numbers will be the allegro from Tschaikowsky's Sixth symphony, or as it is called frequently, "Symphony Pathetique," and Caesar Franck's "Piece Heroique." The last two numbers will not be played by the orchestra but are representative of the styles of the composers.

Mr. Morton will give examples on the piano of other themes on the orchestra programs.

Quickest Voter Receives Prize

Mrs. Alice Park, a California voter, invents schemes for advertising suffrage when she is away from home as well as using badges, labels on her baggage and a banner on her stateroom window when she takes a trip by water. On her trip this spring from Honolulu she added a suffrage map to her window display.

The captain of the steamship Manoa declared himself a suffragist and gave his approval to Mrs. Park's "Votes for Women" game. At the word "Go" six women ran to the end of the deck where there were six yellow ballots, six pencils, six banners and six tacks. Each contestant wrote legibly the name of a pioneer suffragist on her ballot, seized a tack and hammer and then ran back and nailed her ballot to the bulletin board. The quickest voter received a prize. The game was successful both as an amusement and an advertisement.

AMUSEMENTS

ILLUSION ACT AT GRAND.

New Show Has Many Excellent Vaudeville and Film Features.

The new bill that opened at the Grand yesterday has much more merit than any seen at that popular playhouse in some time. The crowds that were present afternoon and evening thoroughly enjoyed the show, and a big week-end attendance is looked for by the management.

Ching Yuen Lee and company put over an act of Oriental illusions that is in a class by itself. The Oriental cleverness in this line of work is shown to great advantage and the audience is kept mystified throughout the act.

The Clipper Trio of singers and comedians offered some lively comedy and kept the audience in an uproar.

Dumaix and Sloyd offer one of the cleverest turns on the bill. Their comedy is new and bright, and the monologue of the male member of the team is funny.

Alexander Brothers do a very entertaining ball balancing turn.

The photoplays are high-class. Helen Holmes is back again in another thrilling railway episode, "A Madman at the Throttle." The Hearst-Selig News Pictorial shows many interesting news events of world-wide interest, especially in the showing of the troops of different armies. A two-reel Broadway star feature film called "The Valley of Humiliation" is an excellent photoplay with fine photography and a clever plot. Several other films of an interesting character, round out the bill.

Theater Gossip.

Not since the Baldwin Players opened their winter engagement last January have more favorable comments been heard on a production than on "Seven Keys to Baldpate," which they are presenting this week. The play is a modern comedy-melodrama and had been seen but once in Duluth prior to its presentation by the Baldwin Players, and then at the road scale of prices. Most of the Baldwin patrons are therefore seeing the play for the first time, and they are seeing a production which compares most favorably with the road production. Three more performances will be given, tonight and tomorrow afternoon and night.

FROM ULTRA-MODERN TO OLD-FASHIONED.

Opening Sunday afternoon the company will present an old-fashioned love story, "Lena Rivers." It is a dramatization of the novel by Mary Jane Holmes, which was popular fifteen or twenty years ago. It will be a complete contrast to the plays of the last two weeks, and Mr. Baldwin expects it to appeal to those who like a simple, old-fashioned love story told in an old-fashioned way. It will be a new play to the younger theater-goers, and is expected to revive pleasant memories in the minds of the older generation, for Mary Jane Holmes' heroines had a vogue a few years ago that no modern heroines have attained.

* * *

Mary, Lottie and Jacky Pickford will all be at the Rex Friday and Saturday, in "Fanchon the Cricket." Of course, the adorable Mary is the Cricket and the star. This is the first time all three Pickfords have appeared together in one production and adds rather an unique twist to the play.

ALL THE PICKFORDS IN ONE PICTURE.

"Fanchon the Cricket," is the most famous of all the celebrated works of Georges Sand, the great French authoress. The Famous Players' Film company has been requested by many of "Little Mary's" admirers to present her in a film story of "Fanchon the Cricket." A glimpse at the screen is sufficient to understand the reason for these many requests.

In an effort to learn the reason for Mary Pickford's popularity, a north shore fisherman was given a ticket to the Rex to see the last Pickford show. On coming out he was asked: "How did you like the show?" His reply was "By Gosh—that little girl (meaning Mary) can have me anytime—let me know when she is coming again." The winsome smile, curls and tender eyes are the mischief makers.

"Three Weeks," from the novel of Elinor Glyn, is drawing far greater attendance at the Zelda than ever expected when the picture was contracted for. The Zelda management claims to be paying $1,000 for the rental of this film production for the four days. That is the reason for the advance in price. The film production follows the book closely. The manager of the Zelda has invited all the clergymen of the city, as well as all social reform workers to see the picture as his guests. This production will be shown today and will end a most successful engagement tomorrow night after the last performance.

"THREE WEEKS" DRAWING CROWDS.

FIRST CAMPUS "BABY" IS A. C. GRADUATE

Miss Margaret Keene Real Home Product of Farm College.

Fargo, N. D., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota agricultural college has one real home product graduate in the big class this year in Miss Margaret Keene, a daughter of Dean and Mrs. E. E. Keene.

In the early days of the big farm school the professors were all either young married people or bachelors. Prof. and Mrs. Keene had recently arrived and were temporarily occupying apartments in Francis hall, which was then partially used as a dormitory on the campus. It was in Francis hall on June 27, 1894, that Miss Keene was born.

She was the first campus baby at the college and quickly became a favorite at the institution.

The little Miss Keene rapidly grew into school age and took the grades in one of the Fargo city schools, after which she started in the preparatory department of the college, instead of the high school, and on June 8 she will graduate with the degree of B. S. in the home economics course. She is the only graduate of the Institution who was born on the campus.

In addition to a high standing in her class work for her degree, Miss Keene has been prominent in musical and dramatic circles at the college. She is now the leading lady of the Edwin Booth Dramatic club and also takes the leading part in the senior class play to be put on graduation week.

"SPECIAL" FOR JURORS

Taken to Grand Lake to Inspect Farm Damaged By Water.

A special train was employed this morning in transporting a district court jury to Grand Lake to look over premises involved in a lawsuit pending before Judge Dancer.

Joachim Bohnsack, Grand Lake settler, is suing the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company for $2,400 damages, claiming that his land had been overflowed by reason of the company's negligence in the construction of a culvert over a stream which crosses its right-of-way.

The culvert, it is claimed, was too small to take care of the flow of water from the creek in the spring season. In 1913 and 1914, water backed up and overflowed Bohnsack's farm causing $800 damage, he says. He asks for treble damages in accordance with the trespass statute.

Attorneys agreed that the jury should visit the place and arrangements were made for a special car and locomotive. The jurors in company with John McDonald, a court officer, and the attorneys, John Jenswold, Jr., for the plaintiff, and Howard T. Abbott for the defendant, left for Grand Lake at 9 o'clock this morning.

Trial of the case was resumed before Judge Dancer this afternoon. The expenses of the trip will be paid by the litigants.

Peggy Peabody's Observations

Some Women Worship Clothes.

How women do bow down to clothes, each one according to her intelligence and her idea of what represents a desirable wardrobe. I had an opportunity to witness a very striking example of this sort of thing one day this week. While it was amusing, it was a trifle pathetic from my standpoint, and also so abject an expression of clothes worship that I felt half ashamed for my sex. I remembered the next instant that those interested were little more than girls, and from all outward appearances of an order intellectually of whom you could not expect a great deal.

There were three girls, all about of the same age. One was tall and very slim and alarmingly dressed. Her companions were shorter, plainer, and more sensible figures. The tall girl looked as though she might have stepped out of a theatrical poster, a little the worse for wear.

But to her two admiring friends, the gaily dressed one was a veritable queen of fashion. They rapturously admired every single article of her apparel. Her shoes, with abominable high heels and laced up the sides, were declared to be the cutest things. Her very short skirt, a rather elaborate model, poorly cut and fitted, and of rather cheap material, was next discussed and sincerely admired.

But her hat, a gaudy affair ornamented with the cheapest of plumes, was the crowning glory of her toilette in their eyes, as well as hers. It was to her hat to which they raised their eyes at frequent intervals in undisguised admiration and envy. It was the one thing above all others that they coveted. Even the wrinkly gloves and ridiculously fashioned shoes paled into insignificance in comparison.

I watched the two girls, plainly and respectably dressed, as they catered to what they thought was a most fashionable acquaintance. She of the finery was bedraggled and dirty, as I noticed on closer observation. Her skirt and jacket were wrinkled and dusty, the ruching at her throat was yellow and muddy, and her gloves were soiled and out at the fingers.

The tall girl was undeniably pretty although her hair, abundant and beautiful, was not half combed, though an attempt at elaborate dressing had been made. I could not but marvel that her two friends found no flaw in her appearance, they were such clean, girlish figures themselves. But so the world wags and almost all of us bow down more or less to fine feathers or what passes for style and elegance.

WIDOW TO GET LEGAL TITLE

Mrs. Mary Bain and Six Children Win Second Action.

'Squatted' on Duluth Heights Property More Than Twenty Years Ago.

For the second time within three years, Widow Mary Cain and her six children have come into district court and satisfied a jury that they were entitled to a legal title to a tract of nine and one-half acres of land on Duluth Heights, which they "squatted" on more than twenty years ago.

A jury in Judge Fesler's division of the court this morning returned a verdict in favor of the widow and her children in their suit against the Highland company and Harry Gould to quiet title to the land, on the theory of "squatters' rights" and adverse possession.

The jury took the case about 5 o'clock last evening and spent twelve hours in deliberating upon a verdict. At the end of that time eleven had agreed to return a verdict in favor of the widow, and under the provisions of the five-sixths jury statute, a verdict was reached. John C. Currie, one of the jurymen, refused to sign the verdict.

Mrs. Cain was in court two years ago in the same lawsuit. At that time the jury found in her favor, but Judge Ensign, before whom the case was tried, refused to permit the verdict to stand. He set it aside and ordered a new trial. The second trial, however, has resulted in the same verdict.

The widow claims title by reason of the fact that she has occupied the land for more than fifteen years, and that, although the taxes and assessments were paid by the owner of the title, the Highland company, she has never been asked to get off the land and that she had never paid any rent.

The property involved is in the neighborhood of Thirteenth street and Eighth avenue west. It is valued at $500 an acre, or about $4,750. H. B. Haroldson and Theodore Hollister appeared in court as attorneys for Mrs. Cain and her children, and the defendants were represented by H. B. Fryberger.

TWO SENT UP ON BURGLARY CHARGE

John Mack and Andrew Niemiecka, the two men who broke into Sam Dahl's room at the Grace hotel on the night of May 6 and stole $5 from Dahl, appeared before Judge Ensign in district court this morning for sentence.

Mack was sent to the Stillwater penitentiary and Niemiecka to the state reformatory at St. Cloud. Both sentences were indeterminate. Each will serve from one to five years.

The two men were found guilty of the crime of burglary in the third degree after separate trials.

Max Lutzka, who pleaded guilty before Judge Ensign this week to a charge of having made an indecent assault upon the person of a 17-year-old girl, will be brought before the court for sentence tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

GETS VERDICT FOR INJURY

Mrs. Anna C. Lambert will recover $1,500 from the Duluth Street Railway company and the Culbertson Bros. company for injuries that she sustained in an accident at First avenue west and Superior street on the afternoon of Jan. 15, last. A jury in Judge Cant's division returned a verdict in her favor this morning, after deliberating all night. Mrs. Lambert sued for $5,000.

While crossing from the northeast corner of First avenue west and Superior street to the southwest corner she was struck and knocked down by a delivery wagon belonging to Culbertson Bros., which had, in turn, been bumped by an east-bound street car.

Both defendants denied liability. The Culbertson Bros. company is protected by the Employers' Liability Insurance company.

CONDEMNING LAND NEEDED FOR RESERVOIR

Condemnation proceedings to secure perpetual flowage rights over five small parcels of land needed for dam reservoir purposes were started in district court this morning by the Great Northern Power company. The company seeks to have the court appoint three appraisers to fix the awards of damages.

The company has already constructed a dam across the Cloquet river in the northeast quarter of section 15, 52-15. The reservoir capable of being created by the dam consists of about 5,000 acres. All rights except those sought in this proceeding have heretofore been obtained. The five parcels involved in the action comprise a total of 68.07 acres.

The owners, who are made defendants in the proceedings, are: Hattie Sorley, Carrie Holt, Edna J. Palmer, Emma L. Palmer, Wilhelmina Kunz, M. J. Moran, F. R. Johnson, H. C. Hill and J. B. Phelps.

SENATE KILLS BOSSHARD BILL

Provided for Communities in Wisconsin Voting on Liquor License.

Madison, Wis., May 28.—The senate aired its views on King Alcohol at length today, finally voting to postpone indefinitely the Bosshard bill to allow communities to vote on licensing the sale of beer and prohibiting the sale of whisky and other spiritous liquors or vice versa. The vote was 6 to 19.

For a half hour the senate argued on reconsidering the vote on the Bosshard beer and whisky referendum bill, the opponents of the measure desiring immediate action in order to forestall another vote when a full attendance would be present.

Senator Ackley, for the bill, moved a call of the house, which was ordered. The doors were closed and the senators locked in. Later the senate raised its call of the house and finally refused to reconsider the motion by which the Bosshard bill was killed.

The senate state affairs committee recommended concurrence in the Poole bill, prohibiting municipal authorities, except under state law, from requiring the tuberculin test as a means of regulating dairy products and in the Gamper bill prohibiting the killing of game birds from automobiles.

Both houses adopted resolutions to adjourn until Tuesday night at 7:30.

In the assembly, the abolition of oil inspection department was favored by the house by engrossment of the Mortensen bill 37 to 35.

The house advanced the Crosby direct marketing bill and concurred on the Baxter bill reducing the barbers' license fee from $2 to $1.

It passed the Gruenewald bill giving the dairy and food commission power to inspect cold storage plants and the Hambrecht bill on the joint guardianship of minors by parents.

By a vote of 41 to 29 the assembly non-concurred in the Besnett bill fixing July 1, 1917, as the date when the law shall go into effect requiring all teachers to have six weeks special training.

Governor Philipp has signed the Doble bill allowing licensed dealers to sell cigarettes to adults, but forbidding the sale to minors.

NEXT ASSEMBLY AT ATLANTIC CITY

Rochester, N. Y., May 28.—Final sessions of the one hundred and twenty-seventh general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States are being held today, but so much routine business was on the program that a night session may be necessary.

The general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States voted at its first evening session last night to hold the 1916 assembly at Atlantic City.

The resolution adopted Tuesday in which Dr. Charles H. Parkhurst of New York was censured for alleged encouragement given opponents of the prohibition bill in California, was reconsidered yesterday afternoon. Dr. Parkhurst's name was stricken from the resolution because of the question of the legality and propriety of naming a person not before the court.

LETTER FROM WAR TRENCHES

Beltrami County Farmer Hears From Former Gopher Man in War.

Fighting in French Army, Tells How Germans Invent New Methods.

Bemidji, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cesar Niogret, who last summer was an employe on the August Jarchow farm near this city, and who left on Aug. 15, to join the French army, writes to his brother, L. A. Niogret, owner of a farm at Nary of the methods of fighting in the great European war.

Mr. Niogret has been at the front ever since he joined the French army last August, with the exception for a short time spent in the hospital, as the result of a wound in his head from a bullet. The trench he was stationed in at the last time he wrote his brother here was the first trench and was within thirty yards of the Germans' first trench.

The troops alternate so that a man spends twenty days in the first trench and is then shifted to the back trench, gradually working up along the trenches until he is at the front again. Mr. Niogret has gone through this performance continually since his entering into service in the French army.

Much Bomb Throwing.

The war is carried on almost exclusively by throwing bombs from one trench to the other, the men being hid at all times making rifle fire impossible. If a man dares to raise his head above the trench he will be the victim of the enemy.

A unique method is used by the French in finding the location of the Germans in their trenches. A mirror is attached to a pole and hoisted above the trench. The soldiers then by looking up into the mirror can discover the position of the Germans in their trenches and can throw bombs in the section where the soldiers are. The Germans shot the mirrors to pieces whenever it is discovered, but in most cases it has been hoisted long enough to give the French the position of their enemies.

Mr. Niogret wrote that the Germans were continually discovering new tricks in warfare, one of which was throwing a bomb filled with poisonous gas into the French trenches. The French, however, soon discovered a way to lessen the deadly effects of the gas by tying cloths over their faces and now this practice has been stopped to a great extent.

Letters are received from Mr. Niogret about every three weeks, it taking this length of time for them to come from the war zone to the United States.

JOINT SANATORIUM PLAN CONSIDERED

Crow Wing and Aitkin Counties Are Discussing Idea.

Aitkin, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. Thabes of Brainerd and Commissioner Oberg of Deerwood, representing Crow Wing county, have been here this week conferring with the Aitkin county commissioners relative to the two counties uniting in building a joint tuberculosis sanatorium at Cedar Lake.

Both counties are confronted with the problem of caring for tubercular patients, but it is doubtful whether Aitkin county can do any thing in that line at this time. THOMAS WELLS DISCARDS CANE FOR FIRST TIME IN THREE YEARS

Popular Duluth Barber Quickly Checks Sciatic Rheumatism With Akoz Mineral.

Thomas D. Wells, a popular barber in the Fifth Avenue hotel, Duluth, who has a host of friends at the Head of the Lakes, after being practically laid up for three years with sciatic rheumatism, has received what he terms wonderful relief in a short time by using Akoz, the new California mineral rival of radium.

"For the past three years I have suffered severely with sciatic rheumatism," said Mr. Wells. "I have been practically laid up during that period. I have taken nearly all the remedies I have heard of for rheumatism. I have never found anything that has given me the wonderful relief that Akoz has. I have also tried several physicians without results.

"I had severe pains in my neck, knees and feet most all the time before taking Akoz. I am nearly free from them all now. I am walking without my cane—something I have not done for three years. I am feeling improved in every way and will cheerfully be glad to tell anyone about the wonderful remedy."

Akoz is not a patent medicine but a natural mineral that has proven very effective in the treatment of rheumatism, stomach, kidney and bladder troubles, piles, eczema and catarrh. Akoz is now being demonstrated at the Lyceum Pharmacy, Duluth, and other leading drug stores, where further information may be had regarding this advertisement.

Flush Your Blood Get it Cleansed

Remarkable Remedy That Works All Through Your Body

When you put a tablespoonful of S. S. S. into your stomach it gets straight into your blood. In less than five minutes it has become a wave of restorative influence wherever the blood has circulated. Does this read like magic? But it is absolutely true. Those powerful digestive juices in the stomach can not change the medicinal effect of S. S. S. The liver can not burn it. The lungs, skin and kidneys excrete it only after S. S. S. has set in motion millions of cells and nerves to throw off the countless germs that have infested every part of the body. And as S. S. S. continues to battle those troublesome pests that gather in the form of pimples, boils, eczema, acne, catarrh, rheumatism and other so-called blood disorders, it rouses into action a myriad of strange but well-understood corpuscles called luecocytes that actually devour or change or convert disease germs so they are readily and quickly cast out of the body. It is probably the best appreciated blood medcine known. You will find S. S. S. on sale in nearly every drug store in the U. S. Get a bottle today. And if your case is peculiar, write to the Medical Department, The Swift Specific Co., 105 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is conducted by a noted physician.

DOOKS DROP CLOSE GAME

Superior Wins the Second Game of Series By 5-to-4 Count.

Swamp Angels Score Four Runs in Last Two Innings.

Coming into the ninth with a one-run lead in the game of yesterday, Duluth permitted Superior to pile up two runs in their half of the round, the Red Sox annexing the contest by the score of 5 to 4.

"Sticks" Bryant made his first try in the box for Duluth and was found for fourteen hits. Brannon for the Red Sox held the Dooks to five blows.

Up to the eighth round it looked as if the Dooks would have little trouble in copping the game. Bassey and Berger hit the pellet over the paling in this lurid round and things began to brighten up a bit for the Superior bugs. McGee and Curtis singled in the ninth and then Kurke, hitting for Swalm, swatted a long hit to right and two runs were brought home.

All of Duluth's runs were garnered in the second round. Two hits, two passes and a double by Bryant counted the quartet of tallies. After that Brannon kept the situation pretty well in hand, although some fast fielding saved him several times from ticklish situations.

OLD ROMAN COMISKEY HAS A REAL TEAM

CHARLEY COMISKEY.

Not since 1906, the year the White Sox won the pennant in the American league and the world's championship, has Charley Comiskey's aggregation won a flag in the junior major. The acquisition of Edward Trowbridge Collins, the remarkable hitting of big Jacques Fournier and the managerial ability that is being shown by Clarence Rowland, are factors that have thus early in the season turned the Chicago team into a real pennant contender. Right now, though early in the season, it looks as if the White Sox were bound to be flag contenders.

NORWEGIAN TENNIS STAR COLLAPSES

Miss Bjurstedt Has to Default Because of Muscular Cramp Attack.

Morristown, N. J., May 28.—Miss Molla Bjurstedt, the Norwegian girl, who has been carrying all before her in the women's tennis matches in the East, was forced to retire in the third set of her match with Mrs. Frederick Schmitz in the tournament in the Morristown Field club here yesterday, because of an attack of muscular cramp. Her collapse is attributed in large measure to the fact that she has never completely recovered from a sprained right ankle which she received at the time she won the indoor championship.

Mrs. Schmitz scored a victory by default, as, although she offered to postpone the match, the referee ruled against the proposal. Each player had won a set.

ALL EYES ON HRUTFIORD

About 1,000 Central Fans Wish Track Athlete Good Luck.

Will Compete Against State High School Athletes of State.

The students of Central high school are waiting with an unusual amount of interest the results of the state interscholastic track meet, to be held on Northrop field, Minneapolis, all day tomorrow. The local enthusiasts are concerned chiefly with the showing that will be made by Hrutfiord, the Central captain and star. This is one of few state meets in which the local high school has made entries. Hrutfiord is entered in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, and the broad jump.

Only the very best athletes in the state will be entered in the meet, and the local star will have to work hard to even place. The general quality of track athletes all over the state this spring has been much above the average, and it is expected that some records will fall. Hrutfiord has done the 100-yard dash in 10 1-5 seconds in local dual meets and in 10 flat in practice. In the Denfeld meet he broke the school record in the 220-yard dash, covering the distance in 22 3-5 seconds, the mark of 23 1-5, held by Matt Brown, being the former record. He does twenty feet in the broad jump, this being the only other event in which he is entered. Hrutfiord is an all-round track athlete, but will not be able to enter in more than these three events because of the time required to run off the several heats. Hrutfiord has never taken part in a big track meet like this one, and he will probably be handicapped by a little nervousness. Despite this, the Central supporters expect that he will cause some trouble for the other stars. He was given a rousing send-off by about 1,000 of the school enthusiasts this noon, when he left for the Twin Cities.

When Hrutfiord returns, he will begin work with the squad in preparation for the annual Duluth-Superior interscholastic meet, to be held on the Denfeld grounds on June 5. In addition to the two Central hicks, the Nelson-Dewey, and the Denfeld school, it is the hopes of those in charge of the meet that Central high will take an interest in the affair and put in a representative squad. This will probably be done as the Fourth street school includes some unusually good track athletes, and the meet would then cause considerably more interest. Competition would then be very keen, and the various events would cause a great deal of interest. Superior high cinder men have been out all spring, and have been practicing hard with the hopes of carrying off the highest honors of the meet.

DULUTH PLAYERS ALL MAKING GOOD

Anderson, Marion and Miller Showing Real Ability in Federal and National Leagues.

Little George Anderson, who used to cavort in center field for the Duluth White Sox, is one of the .300 hitters of the Federal league. Not alone is Georgie starring with the war club, but his fielding has been the feature of many of the games played during the present season. In the last seven games Anderson has slammed the pill at the rate of .444.

From Duluth Anderson went to the International league and was with Providence for a while. When the outlaw league came into existence, Georgie made the leap. It is rather a peculiar circumstance that Don Marion, another former Duluth player, is also on the Brooklyn Federal team, while Otto Miller, or Mueller, as he was known here, is on the Brooklyn National league team.

Only recently Brooklyn papers had pictures of both Marion and Anderson, also running long stories about the two boys. It is not necessary to add here that Miller is one of the best catchers in the National league, and also possesses one of the greatest of all throwing arms.

Fans around these parts will ever remember the manner in which Miller used to snap the ball to first and third and the deadly way in which he threw to second. Miller, without a doubt, was the greatest catcher that ever went out of this league, although it was known at that time as the Minnesota-Wisconsin league.

DULUTH BOY "GOING GOOD" IN FEDERAL

DON MARION.

Don Marion, former Duluth White Sox pitcher, is twirling some great ball for the Brooklyn Federals. The big fellow has finally struck his stride and every start he has made this season has been really a masterly exhibition of pitching. Marion was accounted the greatest possibility turned out of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league.

JOE MANDOT THE CHOICE

Majority of Boxing Fans Believe Watson Will Be Beaten.

California Boy May Try to Rush Southerner Off His Feet.

BY BRUCE.

Louisiana Joe Mandot and Red Corbett Watson will tangle in the arena at the Superior Grand Opera house this large evening. It will be a case of a combination boxer-fighter against a simon pure fighter. Mandot can both box and fight; Watson is a fighter purely, laying claim to little boxing skill.

The Southern lad can go in and box, or he can manage his style to slugging. If the exigencies of the situation so demand, Mandot can stand toe to toe and slug with the rugged boys. In the case of the superlatively clever Freddy Welsh, Mandot boxed with the champion and is credited with earning a draw with the leading citizen of Pontypridd.

Watson is always dangerous. Any fighter who can flail away as hard as the little red-head must be put down in the problematical class. If Watson lands one of those wild swings on a vital spot of the anatomy of Joey, it might mean curtains.

Mandot's boxing skill combined with his hitting ability should turn the popular decision his way, if the bout goes the ten rounds. Tommy Walsh's boy can stand off and jab with a snappy left and he can also come in and cross with a wicked and accurate right.

On the showing of the two boys in previous bouts here, the majority of the followers of the sport have a liking for the Mandot end. Watson fought a remarkably even bout with Pal Brown and Mandot gave the range boy the cleanest lacing he ever received in his pugilistic career. On this one case of comparison the odds in the bout of tonight favor the Southern boy.

Kid Billings to Show.

In the semi-windup Kid Billings of Superior will appear against Mike Snyder. Billings is a welter of real promise. The youngster has done all that has been asked of him. His two battles with Johnny Salvatore stamped the Billings park youngster as a comer. In Mike Snyder, the Superior lad is going against a tough boy, a rough and ready mixer. A cleancut victory for Billings will stamp the suburbanite as a welter who is ticketed for real distinction in the 142-pound class.

Mickey Towers and Young Stewart will clash in the curtain raiser. Mickey Towers some time back was a favorite with the fans across the way. His entry into the roped arena this eve-

Mandot After Welsh.

The indefatigable Tommy Walsh is still on the trail of Freddy Welsh. The manager of Mandot hankers after a meeting with the champion over the twenty-round bout. Also Walsh would prefer the meeting in New Orleans, where decisions are permitted by the state law.

Should Mandot meet and best the little Welshman over the twenty-round route, the victory would prove immensely popular. Joe is a nice kid and a real fighter; Welsh, as the champion of the lightweights, is the least appealing of any of the recent holders of the crown.

The advance sale for the bout of this evening indicates a big house. Fans are coming from the surrounding country. Some reservations have been received from the Twin Cities. As usual Duluth will send over a large delegation.

Both fighters were entertained in Superior last evening. Today will be one of rest for both Mandot and Watson. The California boy will enter the ring about seven or eight pounds heavier than Mandot.

It is believed that Watson will attempt to carry the fight to Mandot and rush the Southerner off his feet, giving Joey no opportunity to box. In his meeting with Pal Brown, Mandot showed a versatile adaptability and an ability to meet any attack. If Red rushes he may run headlong onto that snappy right cross.

GRADE SCHOOL TEAMS IN GREAT PENNANT CHASE

Lincolns Are Right on Heels of the Adams Nine in the Western Division; Washingtons and Salters Are Making Game Fight to Hold the Fleeing Jeffersons in the Eastern Division.

Washington	9	3	.750
Salter	9	3	.750
Lakeside	8	4	.667
Endion	3	9	.250
Washburn	2	9	.182
Franklin	0	11	.000

There is some race in the Duluth Grade School Baseball league. There are three teams right in the running in the western division of the league, while the same case holds good in the eastern division.

Yesterday the Lincolns came out and administered a 21-to-5 drubbing to the Jackson school. The result of this game poked the Lincolns right up alongside of the Adams, there being but eleven points difference between the two teams.

Rivalry in the Western division is something intense. Should the Adams and Lincolns be the teams to play off in the Western division for the privilege of representing the division in the city championship series, the school kids of the western portion of the city, their daddies, their mothers, sisters, brothers and friends will go dotty with the sheer enthusiasm and excitement of the thing.

Turning over to the Eastern division it will be seen that while the Jeffersons are heading the procession, the Washingtons and Salters have a fighting chance. The Lakesides are also making a game effort to remain up with the leaders.

The Endion school won from the Franklins yesterday by the score of 8 to 5 and the Bryants defeated the Monroes by the score of 7 to 3.

Following is the schedule for today:

Bryants vs. Irvings—Fifty-second avenue west.

Lincolns vs. Lowells — Duluth Heights.

The Washington and Salter teams will play off a tie at the Twelfth avenue east and London road grounds.

DULUTH HAS REAL POOL

National Baseball Gambling Scheme Has an Agent Here.

Duluth is having its experience with the alleged baseball pool or lottery against which a nation wide campaign has begun. The tickets that have made their appearance here are those of The Weekly World. Tickets are supplied to subscribers. A subscriber is one who has ordered it at least one week in advance. Rules are printed covering the distribution of free premiums, the premiums running down from $1,500 to $75. The idea is to play a combination of the teams in the National, American and Federal leagues. There is both a high and low score combination. The card calls for combinations for each day and for the week.

On the card it is positively stated that no attention will be paid to mail communications. The holder of the card is instructed to see the local agent. There is an agent of The Weekly World here.

BASEBALL POOL ISSUES PAPER

Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 28.—The alleged baseball pool, members of which are under arrest in Chicago and New Orleans, operated extensively in Pennsylvania last year under the name of the Pastime Publishing company, but was forced to suspend by the district attorney of Luzerne county. John J. Kilcoyne, a former hotel man of this city, was at the head of the concern.

The company issues a paper called the "Baseball World" from an office in Allentown, Pa., and purchasers of the paper at 30 cents a week receive a baseball ticket as a premium. The paper, however, is not delivered with the ticket, but comes later and contains the names of the previous week's winners. The paper and the tickets are delivered to agents by messengers.

Nation-Wide Campaign.

New York, May 28.—Baseball authorities here see in the trial of William Rapp at Chicago and the arrest of two men at New Orleans the beginning of a nation-wide campaign against baseball pools. It was said today that the matter will be called to the attention of the district attorney in this city and the facts also will be presented to Governor Whitman with a request that action be taken to abate the practice.

President John K. Tener of the National league was outspoken in condemning pool betting.

"It should all be wiped out," he said, "for it is a fast growing menace to the community as well as to baseball itself."

Collect $100,000 Weekly.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 28.—The entire police force of Pittsburgh was today on the lookout for dealers in baseball pools under an order issued last night by Supt. W. N. Matthews, who declared such pools to be lotteries and therefore illegal. Under the law the crime is punishable by a fine of $1,000 and imprisonment in the penitentiary for one year. A campaign against the pools has brought out repeated statements that fully $100,000 is invested in the enterprise weekly by Pittsburg people.

"STICKS" BRYANT DRAWS SUSPENSION

Pitcher "Sticks" Bryant of the White Sox aggregation has drawn an indefinite suspension. The former twirler of the W-I league is not in shape and he will not be carried on the roster of the local club until he reports in good shape.

It is said that the injury to Bryant's arm is somewhat similar to that received by Handsome Clarence Grimm. O'Brien said today that Bryant would be given an opportunity to get right. The Dook is convinced that the tall boy is a real twirler when right.

There may be a reduction in the knoll staff. Just who will be let out remains a mystery. It is a case of the survival of the fittest.

INTERNATIONAL CLUB MAY QUIT NEWARK

New York, May 28.—Strong rivalry on the part of the Federal league with the International league club in Newark has led to many reports recently that Nowark was to be dropped from the International league circuit and the team transferred to some Connecticut city. The reports were revived yesterday, with Bridgeport as the city likely to get the club.

LONGVIEW TO OPEN SEASON

Tennis Courts of East End Club Ready for First Games.

Tennis play will begin on the Longview courts tomorrow. Both of the courts have been put in fine condition, and a number of improvements have been made as well. Despite the continued bad weather, the courts of the East End club are said to be in the finest possible condition for fast play.

It is planned by the officials of the club to hold a number of tournaments during the season. Tryouts for places on the team are open to every member of the club. That there will be keen competition for this honor is already indicated.

There has been an increase in the club membership during the winter months. With the great revival in the interest in tennis in general throughout the city, and the scheduling of several tourneys, it is believed that the season that will open tomorrow will be the best in the history of the Longview club.

Caretaker Paulson will be in charge of the courts again this season.

AMATEUR TEAMS TO PLAY DOUBLE BILL.

There will be a double-header in the Duluth Amateur Baseball league on Saturday at Athletic park. The Duluth-Edisons and the Canadian Northerns will play at 2 o'clock and the Duluth-Edisons will meet the members of the Duluth Street Railway team at 3:30.

On Sunday the Moose Lodge 505 team is booked to compete with the Canadian Northern nine.

All the teams of the league are going well at the present time and some good games are expected to result in the games of tomorrow and Sunday.

DULUTH SHOOTERS TO COMPETE ON RANGE

Some of the members of the Central and Northwestern Gun clubs will leave for the range tomorrow. The Missabe Gun club of Hibbing is going to hold a shoot Sunday. Some of the local shots have planned to compete. It is said that all of the cracks of the iron range have entered.

READY FOR THE BASS.

Many Duluth Fishermen Will Try for the First Catch.

Many Duluth fishermen are planning to get out to the surrounding lakes for the opening of the bass season tomorrow. Boulder lake, Island lake and various lakes on the range will be visited by the followers of the late Izaak Walton.

While the cold weather may cause the fishing to be somewhat off at the start of the season, local nimrods are confident that this will be a great year for bass.

It is expected that there will be more than 100 Duluth fishermen leaving for the various bass lakes today and tomorrow.

DULUTH BUILDERS' EXCHANGE HAS BASEBALL LEAGUE

A baseball league has been formed by members of the Duluth Builders' exchange, composed of teams representing the different lines. Those included are: Sheet metal, iron and steel, building material and bonding men.

The league will be opened officially next Saturday, May 29, at Diamond park, when games will be played between the sheet metal and building material men, and between the iron and steel and the bonding men.

President E. J. Zauft will pitch the first ball.

There is a great deal of rivalry among the teams; a cup has been put up and exciting games are promised.

SIR THOMAS UNFAVORABLE.

Shamrock's Owner Doesn't Like Resolute-Vanitie Trial Races.

Boston, Mass., May 28.—Sir Thomas Lipton, whose yacht, Shamrock IV, the challenger for the America's cup, is laid up in Brooklyn during the war period, does not regard with favor the proposed renewal of the trials this summer between the cup-defending candidates, Resolute and Vanitie, according to letters received by his friends in this city.

It is understood, however, by local yachtsmen that the Resolute and Vanitie will be raced as vigorously this summer as if a cup contest were pending next fall. It is admitted that a large majority of the tuning up contests in which the two yachts engaged last summer were unsatisfactory.

KAUFF INCIDENT CLOSED.

Disputed Game in Which He Appeared in National, Is Boston's.

Boston, Mass., May 28.—President James E. Gaffney of the Boston National league baseball team was officially notified yesterday by J. K. Tener, president of the league, that the disputed game with New York on April 20, in which the latter club attempted to play Kauff of the Brooklyn Federals, has been declared for Boston.

Although members of the board of directors, neither Gaffney nor President Hempstead of the Giants voted on the question, but Dreyfus of Pittsburgh, Herrmann of Cincinnati and Ebbetts of Brooklyn supported President Tener.

Race May Be Postponed.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 28.—Drivers and mechanicians who will ride in the 500-mile race at the Indianapolis motor speedway Saturday met last night and received their instructions from the officials who have charge of the contest. The superintendent of the naval academy, Capt. Fullam, will come with the middy team to see the game. Prominent generals and admirals, as well as government officials and army and navy officers of all ranks, also will be present.

IF you like macaroni, you will like Creamettes. The real difference is that Creamettes is more tender, has a rich new flavor of its own, and cooks in a much shorter time. Ordinary macaroni, as you know, takes from 30 to 35 minutes to cook. Creamettes cooks in from 5 to 8 minutes.

POSTPONED GAMES RECORD IN DANGER

Chicago, May 28.—The present month of May, from the standpoint of the baseball magnate, has been the worst in the history of the game, according to Federal league officials who announced this afternoon the eight postponements in the last sixteen contests scheduled for Chicago.

Weather bureau reports say that it has rained here twenty-one days out of the twenty-eight so far, which is believed to be a record. Every Eastern club in the Federal league suffered postponements of one or more games in Chicago on the present swing around the circle.

The other major leagues and the American association also have suffered heavily from postponements.

BOXER'S DEATH CAUSES SCANDAL

The death of a boxer named Simmer in a "sneak" fight in St. Paul Monday night is resulting in a scandal in police circles of St. Paul. It now transpires that the boxing contest was in the nature of a grudge fight and also that the lad who met his death had been in a fight in Minneapolis less than forty-eight hours previous to the one that ended fatally.

An officer on the beat where the bout was held, it is believed, knew that it was being held, yet took no steps to stop it. Evidence is being adduced to show that the bout was no accidental meeting, but was planned for several days, and that timekeepers, a referee and seconds were provided for.

Coming right on the inception of legalized boxing in Minnesota, the unfortunate fatality has cast somewhat of a gloom over the game. It is believed that the death of the young boxer will serve to put an end to the sneak fight for all time within the limits of the state.

MEETING MAY BE HELD TUESDAY

It is expected that the members of the Minnesota state boxing commission will meet in St. Paul on Tuesday. There will be no meeting of the commissioners this week. Henry Ribenack, Duluth commissioner, expects to leave for St. Paul Monday for the organization meeting of the commissioners.

"I have no definite ideas as to what rules or what course the commission will adopt," said Mr. Ribenack today. "The boxing law has provided no means of paying the expenses of the commissioners or the secretary of the commission. I don't think the two other commissioners care to pay their own expenses—certainly I don't. Some method of providing funds for the commissioners and their secretary will have to be provided. The 10 per cent of the gross that the state is to receive for each club for every bout held, is a pretty steep tax. I don't think it fair to ask the clubs to pay any additional tax. But funds must be provided in some way. Just how, it is rather difficult to say just now."

As to the number of clubs there will be in Duluth, or as to rules governing the conduct of the clubs, Mr. Ribenack stated that he could give no information before the commissioners meet.

RAILROAD LEAGUE.

Bottineau, N. D., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Organization of the Great Northern-Soo Baseball league was perfected at a meeting held in Kramer, attended by delegates from Maxbass, Newberg, Kramer, Upham and Eckman, and a schedule of games covering the summer season has been arranged.

John Martin of Maxbass is president of the league, E. L. Johnson of Newberg is vice president, and B. L. Howard of Russell is secretary and treasurer.

BAUDETTE IMPORTS PITCHER FOR CONTEST

International Falls, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—Baudette will send her baseball team here for games Saturday afternoon and Sunday afternoon. Pitcher Rube Johnson of Mason City, Iowa, has been sent for to twirl one of the games for the locals and Bowman will take care of the other. Baudette has a strong nine this season and will give the bunch from this city a hard rub.

A fast team has also been organized among the Trades and Labor union men and uniforms secured. A game between the city team and the new nine will be pulled off Monday afternoon and the Unionists have secured Young Bush of Brainerd, brother of the famous "Bullet Joe" of the Athletics, to do their pitching, and promise to put up a stiff argument.

Biwabik, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—People thronged the high and the grade schools last evening, where the annual school exhibition was held, and admired the work of the students during the past year.

There were exhibits of various kinds in sewing, art, needlework, domestic science and manual training. Every student in the local school was represented by some sort of work. The schools took up the Palmer method of writing some time ago and a wonderful change has taken place in the writing of all pupils. Mr. Pentilla states that he expects to have the road opened up this year.

Appetite Follows Good Digestion

Nearly everyone indulges their appetite and the digestive organs are abused, resulting in a congestion of poisonous waste that clogs the bowels and causes much misery and distress.

The most effective remedy to correct this condition is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a natural, pleasant-tasting remedy, gentle yet positive in action, and quickly relieves indigestion, constipation, sick headache, belching, etc. Drug stores sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, and in thousands of homes it is the indispensable family remedy. For a free trial bottle write Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ill.

CLAIM AGAINST ESTATE.

Virginia Woman Wants Large Sum From Charles Oberg's Estate.

Virginia, Minn., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—The claim of Mrs. Lena Halberg of Virginia against the estate of Charles Oberg, who formerly conducted a saloon here, was heard by Judge Gilpin at a special term of the probate court here Thursday. George Sloselius, Duluth attorney, represented the heirs of Oberg, and Edward Boyle appeared for Mrs. Halberg. Previous to Oberg's death, Mrs. Halberg claims to have advanced him, on various occasions, sums in cash, some of which he paid back, but at the time of his death he owed her $1,111.44.

She produced receipts showing that on one occasion she had left $800 for him with a liquor company of Duluth and on other occasions had made him cash loans.

While it was not generally known at the time of his death, Oberg had a family in Norway. He had been separated from them for twenty years. They were finally located and his estate is now in course of probate. It is of the estimated value of $3,000. The claim of Mrs. Halberg is the only one of consequence filed against it.

Big Drive Nearly Finished.

The timber composing this drive is perhaps the best cut in the county during the past year, and it is doubtful if a better body of pine is to be found on the headwaters of the Swan. As soon as this drive is out of the way, the logs going to the Johnson mill at Warba will be floated and that concern will start sawing with a supply in sight sufficient to run the plant until the freeze-up.

WHEN DINNER COMES

One Ought to Have a Good Appetite.

A good appetite is the best sauce. It goes a long way toward helping in the digestive process, and that is absolutely essential to health and strength.

Many persons have found that Grape-Nuts food is not only nourishing but is a great appetizer, and children like the taste of it and grow strong and rosy from its use.

It is especially the food to make a weak stomach strong and create an appetite for dinner.

"I am 57 years old," writes a Tenn. grandmother, "and have had a weak stomach from childhood. By great care as to my diet I enjoyed a reasonable degree of health, but never found anything to equal Grape-Nuts as a standby.

"When I have no appetite for breakfast and just eat to keep up my strength, I take 4 teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts with good rich milk, and when dinner comes I am hungry. While if I go without any breakfast I never feel like eating dinner. Grape-Nuts for breakfast seems to make a healthy appetite for dinner.

"My little grandson was sick with stomach trouble during the past summer, and finally we put him on Grape-Nuts. Now he is growing plump and well. When asked if he wants his nurse or Grape-Nuts, he brightens up and points to the cupboard. He was no trouble to wean at all—thanks to Grape-Nuts."

Des Moines, Iowa, reported 3.04 inches. The temperature has risen over the lake region, the Ohio and Upper Mississippi valleys and North Atlantic states, and it has fallen throughout the South and Southwest. Frosts occurred last night in Colorado and Wyoming."

ITALIAN PORTS IN DARKNESS AT NIGHT

Authorities Order All Lights Out; Extends to Inland Cities Also.

Rome, May 28, via the frontier and Paris.—In compliance with orders issued by the authorities all the ports on the Adriatic are now in darkness at night. This regulation includes Venice, Ancona and Brindisi, and it is being made to apply also to certain inland cities like Milan, Bologna, Verona, Brescia and Udine.

At these places the same regulations apply. Cafes, theaters and moving picture houses are closed; street cars run with only one light inside; carriages and automobiles are forbidden to use electric or gas lamps, and the use of brilliant lights inside houses is forbidden. Railroad stations are entirely dark.

The people are taking all this most gaily. At night groups of young men go through the darkened streets, shouting, joking and singing.

A special watch for aeroplanes is being kept at Bologna because of the location there of a very important factory of explosives. Signalling posts have been established on the famous Asinelli and Garisenda towers. From these points of observation there is telephone communication with the air craft detachments. Similar measures have been adopted at Milan.

MANY SIGN PETITION.

Ask Michigan Governor to Pardon Four Deputy Sheriffs.

Calumet, Mich., May 28.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is anticipated that at least 15,000 signatures of men and women of Houghton county will be secured to the petitions to Governor Woodbridge N. Ferris for the pardoning of Deputy Sheriffs Cooper, Davis, Groff and Polkinghorne, now serving terms in Marquette prison on conviction of murder in the Seeberville case.

The petitions were first circulated by a committee of Houghton county mothers to obtain mothers' signatures, only. Men of the county followed up with the idea and circulated petitions for signatures by fathers and then various miners' societies, led by the Croatian miners, got out petitions, as did the militia companies.

EATING BETWEEN MEALS

Do you know that the stomach needs rest regularly and that eating between meals is a common cause of indigestion?

Do you know what happens when you eat more than you can digest? What relation billiousness has to overeating?

Do you know that when the blood gets thin the digestion becomes weak, that good digestion is impossible unless the blood is rich and red, such blood as comes from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills?

These tonic pills and proper care in the diet will change dyspeptic, despondent, dragged-out people into energetic, hungry, cheerful men and women because Dr. Williams' Pink Pills build up the blood, making the stomach able to secrete the needed digestive fluids, and strengthen the nerves that control the delicate processes of digestion.

After you begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the first sign of returning health is usually an increased appetite. Then you find that what you eat causes no distress and if you exercise a reasonable amount of care in the selection of your food you will have no more trouble.

Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and a diet book called "What to Eat and How to Eat" will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

"WALK OFF WITH PLACE"

Burglars Strip Pawnshop of Watches, Revolvers and Guns.

An epidemic of burglars who specialize in grocery stores and pawnshops has struck Duluth, and every day police receive reports of new depredations.

Burglary on a wholesale scale was practiced by men who broke into the shop of Samuel Stein, 719 West Superior street, and "walked off with the place," last night.

Not a watch, revolver or gun was to be found in the place when the proprietor opened the front door this morning and prepared to receive customers.

An open back door, and a window nearby, also open, explained the deserted shelves and showcases. In addition to the watches and guns, six suits of clothes and a suit case are known to be missing.

Mr. Stein, in making his report to Police Lieut. N. U. G. Terry, was unable to give a detailed list of the stolen articles, but said he knew there were at least a dozen watches, and as many firearms, in the store last night when it was closed.

Police so far have no clew as to the identity of the marauders.

Wednesday night, burglars broke into the grocery store of G. G. Elfstrand, 1132 East Ninth street, and A. E. Arnison, 1001 East Eighth street, was robbed. Similarity of methods employed has led the police to believe that the same men are responsible for most of the work.

LUMBER MARKET NOW SHOWING IMPROVEMENT

Negaunee, Mich., May 28.—Lumbermen who operated camps in this part of the county last winter have begun to sell portions of their cuts. The market has been dull the greater part of the past several months, and the lumbermen have been holding their outputs for better prices. Veteran lumbermen now think that the improvement in the market, which they have been waiting for the past two years, has set in.

Former Gopher Convict Accused.

La Crosse, Wis., May 28.—Jake Scharpf, a check forger who has served terms in St. Cloud and Stillwater, and who was discharged from Stillwater prison on April 23, was arrested here yesterday on the charge of passing a worthless check for $25 at the store of John Koller.

MARKET IS STILL WEAK

Wheat Breaks on Poor Cash Demand and Weakness at Chicago.

Absence of Crushers' Support Leads to Fresh Slump in Flaxseed.

Duluth Board of Trade, May 28.—The market was still around the close, there appearing to be no rallying power. May wheat closed 2⅝c off, July 2¼c off and September ¾c off. May durum closed ¾c off, July 2½c off and September ¾c off.

Oats closed ½c off at 51c for on the track; rye 1c off to unchanged at $1.15 @1.17, and barley unchanged at from 66@76c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¼c off at 62½c bid and July ½c off at 63¾c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis July wheat closed at $1.43½ and calls at $1.47¼.

Limited cash demand and unsettlement brought about through closing operations in the May future, were responsible for renewed weakness in the wheat market today. Though the news of the day was generally bullish, the grain markets slumped from the opening without showing evidence of rallying at any stage. It was reported that Chicago operators with contracts outstanding had been able to rush in sufficient grain to make deliveries. Furthermore wheat on the tracks will be accepted as valid delivery, and receipts will be taken up till next Monday. Armour was reported to have been a liberal seller this morning, and he attracted a considerable following. Seaboard advices were to the effect that export trade was very much off-color, being influenced by liberal Argentine shipments and expectations of a better movement from India. Requirements at Liverpool were also said to be well provided for the time being. Bradstreets reported world's clearances of wheat last week at 6,253,000 bu and of corn at 1,326,000 bu. There has been almost a complete cessation in wheat shipments from Duluth down the lakes during the last few days. Yesterday just 10,000 bu was loaded out here, and 35,000 bu of spring wheat was listed as being taken on by package freight carriers today. Elevator stocks of wheat here have slightly better than held their own during the last five days, an increase of 3,000 bu being reported. This brings stores in the houses up to 2,486,000 bu.

Duluth grain men are watching the crop situation over the Northwest intently these days. So far reports are all to the good, it being agreed that the plant is well stooled and looks healthy in all districts. As regards the Southwest, advices of heavy rains in Kansas and elsewhere caused disquietude today, fears being entertained that rust would develop.

May wheat opened ⅛c up at $1.51¾ and it eased off 17⁄8c from that basis up to the noon-hour. July opened ⅜c up at $1.50¼, and then broke 2¾c. September weakened ½c to $1.21½.

Operations in durum were limited. May opened ½c off at $1.50½ and later recovered ½c. July opened unchanged at $1.52½, and broke 2c.

Flaxseed Breaks Sharply.

Trading in flaxseed was limited and its market featureless. Sharp declines were recorded, as crushers did not show any disposition to come into the market and the foreign boards remained weak. Some selling pressure developed.

May flax closed 1¾c off at $1.93½, nominal; July opened unchanged at $1.97¾ and closed 2¾c off at $1.95; September opened unchanged at $2.00¾ and closed 2¾c off at $1.98; October closed 2¾c off at $2.00½ asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 2c off at $1.75½ asked; July 2¾c off at $1.77¼ bid, and October 2⅛c off at $1.80½ asked.

At Buenos Aires, flax closed 3¼c off at $1.32¾ and London unchanged at $1.93½.

Fair export inquiry for new wheat flour was reported by the Duluth-Superior Milling company today. High ocean freight rates and low exchange are interfering with the working of business for immediate shipment. In the Eastern domestic markets some business is being put through for quick shipment. It is ascertained from careful investigation that French stocks of native wheat amount to 64,000,000 bu, and foreign purchases to 44,000,000 bu. It appears evident that this will more than meet requirements until Aug. 15. The government price paid for commandeered wheat was 55s per 480 pounds.

Spot market was irregular, unchanged to 1d lower, with cargo market dull, 3d higher early, but later easing to unchanged from yesterday on liberal Argentine shipments and forecasts of liberal shipments from India to the United Kingdom. Weakness in May delivery in America received favorable notice here. American private advices as to new winters continue bullish.

Le Count wired from McPherson, Kansas: "In this territory there is lots of poor wheat, also lots of perfect fields. All fields have improved greatly during the past week. Country is flooded with lots of heavy wheat lodged, but I think most of this wheat will raise when the weather clears up. This is one of the bad spots, but I think the territory from here to Salina will average fifteen bu with favorable conditions."

The Modern Miller says: "From two to four inches of rain have fallen this week from Kansas to Ohio, and small streams are out of their banks. The heaviest precipitation is reported from North Texas, with hail storms from Oklahoma, Southern Illinois and Indiana, where many wheat fields are under water in the low lands. Wheat is badly lodged in the fly districts."

The secretary of the Missouri Grain Dealers' association says he has covered the state pretty well. The western part has sustained perhaps 25 per cent damage, but he thinks the entire state will raise an average crop.

C. E. Lewis & Co., had the following closing letter from Chicago: "The early bulge which was induced by the excessive rains was of short duration. The advance was met with selling of May by prominent interests, while the offerings of deferred months increased on the decline, coming mostly from Eastern longs. Cash prices were easier for the soft grades while hard wheat was in better demand at slightly advanced prices. Sales were 200,000 bu to store. The seaboard reported that bids were in slightly below the market, but were canceled on the break. Foreign news was mainly bearish. The only sustaining influence for the present is the excessive rains. We advise sales of September wheat on all rallies.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Unfavorable Weather in South Gives Prices of Wheat Firmness.

Chicago, May 28. — Unfavorable weather today made the wheat market firm. Reports from Missouri and Kansas especially told of torrential rains, flooded fields and of grain beaten to the earth. Cable quotations, too, were against the bears. After opening unchanged to 1½c higher, prices here reacted a little but again turned upgrade.

Subsequently weakness developed owing to bearish crop opinion from southwestern railroad sources. There were also advices that shipments of new wheat from Texas had begun. The close was heavy at ⅞ to ¾c under last night.

Delays to planting and to deliveries from first hands tended to lift the price of corn. Besides, damage reports from Iowa continued. The opening, which ranged ⅛c to ½c higher, was followed by an interval of steadiness at the advance.

Later the market sagged with wheat. The close was unsettled at the same as last night to ⅛@⅜c down.

Oats took the same course as other cereals. The value of trade was only fair.

Lower prices for hogs weakened provisions. Transactions were chiefly in pork.

DULLNESS IN STOCKS

Delay of German Reply to United States Restraining Factor.

Canadian Pacific Is Weak Feature of the International List.

New York, May 28.—There were more gains than losses at the opening of today's market, but the improvement was mainly in stocks of minor importance, leading issues being neglected. Rock Island made further recovery of a point and some of the war specialties, coppers and motors, rose small fractions, but these were soon wiped out. Canadian Pacific was again the weak feature of the international list, losing over a point, despite its comparative firmness in London. Among the more obscure industrials Harvester corporation of New Jersey declined over 4 points. The entire list receded moderately soon after the opening.

Transactions in the first hour today barely aggregated 6,000 shares and of this total five of the leading speculative favorites contributed about 50 per cent.

Local traction shares were almost the only issues to retain their recent rise, most other stocks falling fractionally under yesterday's closing level. Canadian Pacific extended its decline to 1¼ points and Union Pacific lost a point. There was some short covering before midday, which helped to restore prices in a measure.

Pool manipulation in motors, which gained 1 to 2½ points, failed to enlist interest in the better known specialties. Bonds were steady.

Optimistic speeches on the outlook in the steel industry and declaration of a number of increased copper dividends failed to rouse the market from its stupor in the afternoon. Trading steadily diminished, with greater weakness in Canadian Pacific.

Dullness was the chief feature of today's market. Delay of the German reply to this government's note was a restraining factor.

Recovery of two points in Rock Island and losses of a point each by Chesapeake & Ohio and New Haven were the sole features of the final dealings. The closing was steady.

BANQUET SPEAKERS PROCLAIM DULUTH COMING "NEW PITTSBURGH" OF WEST

Steel Plant But Forerunner of Many Other Industries, Says Cotton.

Gives Vivid Picture of Ore Traffic to New Duluth Club.

Morals Praised By Bishop McGolrick; 200 Guests Are Present.

That the great Minnesota Steel plant is but the forerunner of many other industries that ultimately will locate in Duluth was the keynote of a speech given by Joseph B. Cotton, president of the Duluth Commercial club, at the fifth annual banquet of the New Duluth Commercial club last night. Optimism regarding Duluth's future was expressed by the speakers and the prophesy that Duluth will be the metropolis of the Northwest was made.

Two Hundred Are Present.

The affair was an unqualified success. Seats were provided for 200 guests and when the time came to sit down there were none vacant. The hall was prettily decorated with red, white and blue streamers, colored lights, in one end of the rooms a large monogram of the club, "N. D. C. C.," and last, but probably the most effective, the apple blossoms. At every plate were three handsome sprays. On each table were several vases filled with these beautiful flowers.

L. R. Taylor, secretary of the club, struck a popular chord in his address of welcome when he announced that it was "apple blossom time in New Duluth." The words had hardly left his mouth when the orchestra struck up the strains of "Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," and the crowd joined in singing the chorus, substituting the words "New Duluth" for that of "Normandy." He introduced County Attorney Warren E. Greene as toastmaster.

Mayor Lauds the Club.

Mayor W. I. Prince was the first speaker. He lauded the club for its activity and splendid hospitality. He said New Duluth had great possibilities before it. "We should be proud of Duluth," he said, "and we should be devoted to its interests." He enumerated many of the industries and advantages of the city and mentioned its cosmopolitan nature, which, he said, was a large resource. He remarked the resumption of activity at the steel plant and said that it presaged much.

"New Pittsburgh" of West.

Toastmaster Greene introduced Mr. Cotton as the man who did more than any other citizen of Duluth to bring the steel plant to this city. Mr. Cotton gave an eloquent speech in which he pictured Duluth as the "New Pittsburgh" of the West and the place where industries would within a short time begin crowding in and seeking locations. He predicted that it would be the head of navigation, not only for the lake traffic but for ocean commerce.

"More than thirty-five years ago," he said, "Duluth was unknown in the world of iron and steel. Here the magnificent beds of iron lay uncovered in mother earth until the first cargo of ore from the great Mesaba was shipped in the fall of 1892.

"There are a billion and a half tons of ore in this county for which the world may look for the next 100 years," he continued.

"We mine and ship from 30,000,000 to 35,000,000 tons of ore a year and 300,000,000 tons have been shipped since the opening of the Mesaba.

Visualizes Ore Traffic.

"You may better realize what the ore traffic is if your attention is called to the fact that it takes an ore train a mile and a half long to fill one of the large boats that goes down the lakes. The enormousness of the traffic can better be realized when you imagine a train with its locomotive in New York city and its caboose in San Francisco. Then think what six of those trains would be, and you have an estimate of the amount of ore that has gone down the lakes.

"We believe that we have been destined to be a great city. We lie here at the gateway of the Northwest. But for recent business stagnation and the European war which sustained it there would be additional railroad lines running out of our city.

"We should build up our city, but it can't be done unless we have industries for our people to give them steady employment.

"There were men who saw the time was coming when Duluth should convert the raw material that belongs in her midst. Some said it couldn't be done but no great decisive event was reached without years of grinding—so all hail to the pioneers of the irona and steel industry at the Head of the Lakes."

Speaking of the objection to bringing a steel plant, he said, "They said we hadn't the materials and that the weather was against us.

Will Be Great City.

"The truth is, Duluth has been discriminated against, but now there is an improvement for which the Duluth Commercial club is largely responsible. And one of these days you will find here a great city composed of citizens from every part of the world.

"Wacn agriculture, commerce, mining and manufacturing go hand in hand, making for a diversified community, then there will be great growth. The steel plant is the first unit. Other industries will come to manufacture products that will float down from Duluth to every nation.

"The world now is in the midst of a great war. None can foresee the outcome, but America is the bright, bright star which must lead the way to a permanent peace that some day will throw its mantle over the entire world.

"We must not be asleep to our opportunities," he said in conclusion. "We must develop our manufacturing and we must take the lands back of the hills, put them to the ax and plowshare and convert them into gardens in which requiems of peace only are sung."

Cleanest Moral City.

Bishop McGolrick spoke on "The Advancement of Duluth." He said that records show that this was the cleanest city in the United States morally. It provided a modern method of taking care of its prisoners, which tended to uplift instead of tearing down the man's character; its hospitals were of the best and that the only thing lacking was a free dispensary where poor patients might be supplied with their drugs free of charge.

In speaking of the commercial and iron industry, he said:

"Years ago I heard a professor of geology in the University of Minnesota say there never would be coal or iron found in the state. Not many years ago a friend bet me a hat that there would never be steel or iron manufactured in the city of Duluth. I need not add that I won the hat. The steel factory in New Duluth offers wonderful opportunities. The time is coming when many more men will be needed to run the plant here and that New Duluth will be a wonderfully prosperous city is my prediction."

"Hurrah for Duluth" Spirit.

Postmaster William E. McEwen advocated a spirit of "Hurrah for Duluth" for all of the people. He said that clubs in all parts of the city should co-operate in any project that would be to the advancement of Duluth. He said he approved a federation of the clubs, but opposed any so-called advisory organization for the commissioners.

"Duluth working men are the best in the world irrespective of their wage scale," McEwen said. "They work in the cool summer while others are obliged to discontinue, and this makes their productive capacity effective the year round.

"The iron and steel industry will make for the eternal prosperity of Duluth, giving employment to many men and aiding toward establishing a great city here. When I think of this I am prompted to shout, 'Hurrah for Duluth; it's the best city in the world.'"

Sacrifice for Fellow Man.

"The man who makes 'sacrifice hits' for his neighbor is the man worth while," said Watson S. Moore. Mr. Moore spoke on this subject and said that in every line of business men had that in every life something for the welfare to sacrifice something for the welfare of his fellow man and his community.

"The world moves on because of men who sacrifice themselves for their city, state and nation," he said. "It has been a big job to build up this steel plant in New Duluth. Now it is here and here to stay. Let us all work for its interests and make some 'sacrifice hits' if called upon."

A splendid musical program was given by Miss Esther Gomberg's orchestra. After the playing of "Tipperary," this popular air was encored several times, and on each occasion the guests joined in the chorus. Following this, "America" was played, and the entire crowd stood up while two of the stanzas were sung.

Musical Program.

The program included the following musical numbers: Vocal duet, "Barcarolle" (Offenbach), Misses Winnifred and Lola Tower, accompaniment by Miss Dorothy Thompson; violin solo, "Sextet from 'Lucia' (Donizetti), Theodore Schuring, accompaniment by Miss Hulda Erickson; vocal solo, "Will-o'-the-Wisp" (Sprofs), Miss Winnifred Tower, accompaniment by Miss Dorothy Thompson.

Among those who assisted in serving the supper were: Miss Sarah A. Smith, chairman of the committee of the ladies' society; Miss Ethel Becklinger, Miss Ethel Brand, Miss Esther Bystrom, Miss Florence Claussen, Miss Louise Smith, Miss Lena Moe, Miss Gertrude Larson, Miss Emma Erickson, Miss Genevieve Metcalfe, Miss Mabel Metcalfe, Miss Mabel Heliorious Mrs. A. WEST DULUTH BUILDERS

E. GEORGE KREIDLER.

Builders and buildings interest E. George Kreidler more than any other subject that might be brought up for discussion. He is said to have several in various stages—completed, under repair or in the course of construction.

"Erasmus" — this name has been dropped for the more common one of "George"—is one of the boys who "grew up" in the community. At one time he had aspirations to be a dispenser of drugs. Working as a drug clerk was not to his liking, so he entered the real estate business.

Mr. Kreidler's chief hobby outside of his business is curling in the winter and motoring in the summer. Kreidler nearly won a trophy one year while skipping a rink and he says he expects to win one within the next few years.

GETS $212 FROM CITY.

Property Owner Given Damages for Overflowing of Creek.

A jury in Judge Ensign's division of the district court, after thirty minutes deliberation this morning, returned a verdict for $212 in favor of Charles A. Krause and against the city of Duluth. Mr. Krause sued the city for $450 damages to his property at Fond du Lac, caused by the overflowing of Mission creek after heavy rains on May 28, 1914, a year ago today. The city was held liable because the artificial channel which had been constructed a number of years ago proved inadequate.

MARINE

MARINE PEOPLE HAVE SHORT PHONE NUMBERS

Easy to Remember But Have Their Drawbacks; Hard to Convince Operator; Bourke Has Unluckiest Number, By Request.

Not all of the telephone numbers connected with the marine business are short, but some people believe that concerns that have to do with the lake trade are more than proportionately blessed. They are easy to remember, but there is a drawback; there always seems to be. For instance, when one wants to call up "Bob" Kidd, something like this usually happens:

(Business of picking up the receiver.)

Operator—"Number please," or "What number?"—as the case or operator may be.

You—"Melrose 1."

Operator—"What number?"

You—"Melrose 1," each syllable emphasized, particularly the number.

Operator—"One? Just one?"

You (perhaps getting impatient)—"Yes, I said one—Melrose 1."

(Sotto voce—saying things to yourself.)

Finally you get Mr. Kidd—maybe. So you see a longer number would likely take less time to get.

Another case of the same kind is that of the Duluth-Superior Dredge company. That concern has Calumet 1 on the old 'phone and Cole 1 on the new, so you're up against it either way.

Then when one wants to get "Billy" Bourke—not the actress, but commissioner of lake carriers here—the call is another short one—Melrose 13. When the telephone numbers were changed some time ago, Mr. Bourke, with characteristic Irish defiance, asked for the unluckiest the company could find, so they handed him the limit.

The Western Transit company has Grand 14, but on the other 'phone there is an expansion into three figures. The Zenith Dredge company has Melrose 18 and Grand 66. The latter is a tongue-tier at times.

Other companies in the marine business all have three or more figures for their telephone numbers, but for the Pittsburgh Steamship company it is rather easy, for one simply calls for "eight hundred" and then asks the "inside central" for the person wanted.

"JIMMY" RONAN IS CALLED BY DEATH

Well Known and Popular Purser of Northern Navigation Co. Is Gone.

James H. Ronan, better and widely known on the Great Lakes as "Jimmy" Ronan, one of the oldest lake men, in point of service, on the lakes, is dead. He died at Sarnia several weeks ago, but the news of his passing has just reached here. He was 57 years old and is survived by his widow.

"Jimmy" Ronan was purser and steward on lake boats when scores of men now engaged in transportation business in any capacity were not yet out of school, and many of them not yet born. He was on the lakes all of thirty-five years ago, and probably more, for he started when a boy. He was purser and steward for the old Asia, which was wrecked in 1882 or 1883 on Duck island in Lake Huron but had been transferred from the Asia before the wreck occurred. That wreck was for years, the most famous lake disaster, as few were rescued. Mr. Ronan has also been purser of the old Campana, the United Empire, the Monarch, and each of the new boats of the Beatty line, now Northern Navigation company, as they came out. The Hamonic was the last steamer on which Mr. Ronan served. He had been in the company's office at Sarnia for two years at the time of his death.

Mr. Ronan was very well known in Duluth, and most popular here. Many Duluthians counted him as a personal friend and the news of his death is received here with deep regret.

HARBOR WATER RAISED BY WIND

The almost continuous wind from the northeast, which has been the prevailing character of the zephyrs, is having a marked effect on water levels at this end of the lake and in the harbor. Since the opening of navigation, and up to about ten days ago, considerable care had to be exercised by vessel masters to avoid grounding on small shoals that had formed in the harbor, the water level being from 10 to 15 inches lower than last year.

However, since this wind has been on the job, water has been forced up the lake until it has reached a stage that is much higher than usual. Stringers on docks, usually well out of the water, are now submerged, and boats are pretty safe in almost all parts of the harbor, the danger of grounding being perceptibly lessened.

However, marine men say, this condition will last only while the east or northeast winds prevail, and the water will recede as soon as the wind will have ceased blowing.

FIRST EXCURSIONS.

Steamers Chicora and Columbia Will Make River Trips Sunday.

The first river excursions will be held on Sunday and Monday, and Clow & Nicholson, owners of the steamers Chicora and Columbia are making preparations for handling large crowds. Monday will be a holiday and it is expected that thousands will spend the day at Fond du Lac and nearby points reached by these steamers.

The company has made many improvements up the river for the accommodation of picnicers, and has erected a new pavilion with a cafe in connection there.

The regular season will not open until about the middle of June.
